Once the two of them get married, Margaret will completely obey Travis, and then she can throw the blame, saying that it is Travis's meaning, and it has nothing to do with her.

Half an hour later, Avery did not return to her seat.

And the award ceremony was about to begin.

Emilio called Avery and asked, "Why haven't you come back yet?"

"I've already left." Avery replied, "You have seen Margaret's attitude. She has the same heart as your father. Even if I beg her, she will never be softhearted. So there's no need to find her alone."

"Well. Then you go back and have a good rest. Will you come to my dad's wedding tomorrow?" Emilio asked.

Avery: "Probably!"

After talking on the phone, Emilio told his father, "Avery's left."

Margaret sat next to Travis, and the smile on her face faded a little when she heard this.

...

Avery came out of the hotel and didn't go home.

She wanted to confess to Elliot, but she didn't have the courage.

She needed alcohol to embolden herself.

"Ali, please accompany me for a few drinks!" Avery said to the bodyguard.

Ali was stunned: "Boss, do you want to drink?"

Avery: "Well."

"I can't drink with you. I have to stay awake at all times. If I drink, Mike will definitely scold me to death." Ali didn't even think about it and rejected her, "Why don't you find someone else? If you can't find someone else, you can make a video call for your best friend and let her video watch you drink."

Avery: "..."

Chapter 2116

Hotel, the scene of the March Medical Award.

When the guests announced Margaret's name on the stage, the spotlight suddenly hit her.

In the warm applause of everyone, Margaret got up and walked towards the stage.

"I finally stood on this stage. When I was 63 years old, I got my dream trophy. I thought I would never get this award in my life. Because to get this award, The effort required and the reward may not be proportional." Margaret held the microphone in one hand and the trophy in the other, with an excited smile on her face, "But I waited."

There was thunderous applause from the audience.

After the applause stopped, Margaret took a deep breath and said again:

"Here, I would first like to thank my alma mater and my mentor for cultivating me. Second, I would also like to thank one person, this person is my fiance, Mr. Travis Jones."

Margaret said, and a spotlight hit the audience and fell on Travis.

Travis's smiling face was projected onto the big screen of the stage.

"During my long work over the years, it was he who provided me with uninterrupted financial support. Without his support, I might not be able to persist now. So I would like to thank him in particular." Margaret expressed gratitude to Travis, "Secondly, there are members of my research team who have paid silently. When they joined my team, we signed a non-disclosure agreement, and they could not tell anyone about our research, including now that we have succeeded, but everyone don't know their names. They were supposed to be on this stage with me...For their protection, I'm standing here today and accepting this honor."

"I'm really happy today, so there are a lot of words... I hope you don't mind."

The host smiled and said: "Ms. Gomez, we can understand your joy. We are also happy for you. I heard that your alma mater has awarded three winners of the March Medicine Prize. Do you know them?" People just wanted to find a topic to chat with Margaret, and didn't do much homework, so they didn't know the grievances between Margaret and Professor James Hough.

After asking this question, the smile on Margaret's face suddenly froze.

Under the stage, Emilio saw the smile on his father's face disappear instantly.

"The first two winners of the March Medicine Prize have passed away. I don't know the first winner, because the age gap is still quite large. As for the second one, I am quite familiar with him.” Margaret said these words always had a decent smile on her face.

Avery was sitting by the window of a restaurant, and the wine she ordered had not yet arrived. So she took her phone to watch the March Medical Prize presentation live.

In fact, Avery didn't want to watch the live broadcast. It was the news that popped up the live broadcast link, and she clicked on it.

As soon as she entered, she saw the host asked Margaret that question.

The last time she mentioned Professor James Hough in front of Margaret, Margaret was furious and very angry.

She thought that Margaret would turn her face this time, but she didn't expect Margaret to answer the question with a smile instead of being angry.

“James Hough is my senior but he passed away so long. I almost forgot what he looked like but I will not forget his influence on me. When he won the March Medical Prize, I swear in my heart. I, Margaret, will also work hard to get this award.” Margaret said and relieved, “Now I have done it. It's a pity that James Hough will never know.”

... The waiter held a bottle of wine to Avery's table.

After a while, the dishes she ordered were also on the table.

Ali sat opposite her, looking at the wine and dishes on the table.

“Boss, are you sure you want to drink?” Ali beat a drum in his heart, “Will Mike get angry when he finds out?”

“Ali, I usually never let him drink. If he dares to control me, I will scold him.”

Avery hasn't started drinking yet, but her eyes and tone seem to be drunk.

Chapter 2117

“Okay, drink it! I'll use water instead of wine to accompany you to drink.” Ali picked up the kettle and poured himself a glass of water.

Avery picked up the bottle and poured a glass of wine into the glass.

After the two clink glasses, they each drank.

Seeing her drinking so much, Ali worried that she would soon get drunk.

“Boss, I know why you want to drink. It must be because of Elliot, right?” Ali picked up the wine glass and poured her a small glass of wine.

According to the stance Avery filled herself with, within three cups, it is estimated that she would have to lie down.

“What does it have to do with Elliot? All my pain was never because of him.”

Avery held the wine glass with her fingers, and her voice was crying, “I only feel happy when I am with Elliot. My pain is because of someone wants to break us up.”

“Yeah. Look how awake you are!” Avery smiled and cheered to the bodyguard...

Ali: “What’s the use of being sober, and I can’t help you.”

“I’ll be very happy if you drink with me. I really thought about making a video call for Tammy just now... But thinking about it now, don’t bother her anymore. If she sees me drinking, she will definitely worry to death.”

“Boss, drink it! If you are drunk, you don’t want to worry so much.”

Two hours later, Ali returned home with Avery who was so drunk.

When the nanny saw Avery drinking like this, she panicked: “Ali, why did Avery drink like this? Who made her drink like this?”

Ali blushed: “Who else can she drink by herself.”

The nanny: “Ah?”

“Is Elliot at home?” Ali watched Avery walking towards the master bedroom.

“At home. Mr. Foster is in the room.” After the nanny finished, the door to the master bedroom opened.

The moment Elliot opened the door, he could smell alcohol coming from Avery.

The bodyguard passed Avery in front of him and strode into the room.

After putting Avery on the bed, Ali exhaled and walked to Elliot: “Mr. Foster, my boss drank too much. I can’t wake her up now. She might be drunk when she wakes up, be careful. Come on!”

Avery has never been so drunk before, and Ali doesn’t know how her wine tastes.

“Who did she drink with?” Elliot asked in a dark voice.

“Uh... She drank it herself. I didn’t drink a drop of alcohol.” Ali distanced himself.

“Did she say why she was drinking?” Elliot actually understood why she was drinking, but he couldn’t help but ask.

Ali scratched his head, thought for a moment, and decided to be kinder: “I think she might be jealous when Margaret won the March Medical Prize!”

“Mr. Foster, don’t think too much. You should rest at home. Now, my boss will definitely be able to solve your problem.” Ali said this wisely, then walked away.

Chapter 2118

Elliot entered the master bedroom and closed the door. In the bedroom, the smell of alcohol spread from Avery.

He walked over to the bed and took the shoes off Avery's feet.

Avery was lying on the bed, motionless and unaware.

Elliot knew that Avery was not a good drinker, but after knowing her for so many years, it was the first time he saw Avery so drunk that she was unconscious.

How sad Avery must be to drink so much alcohol.

Elliot sat on the edge of the bed, looking at Avery's blushing face, his eyes gradually moistened.

He didn't want to be her burden the most, but now, he was holding her breathless.

Seeing Avery in so much pain, his heart hurt even more.

If Elliot hadn't been resurrected by Margaret, if he had died a long time ago, Avery might have come out now, and she wouldn't have to be tortured like this.

Not long after, the nanny cooked sober soup and knocked on the door.

Elliot opened the door.

"Mr. Foster, why don't you wake Avery and ask her to drink some soup? I'm afraid she's alcohol poisoned." The nanny said worriedly, "Dinner is ready, why don't you go eat first! I'll wake her up."

Elliot couldn't bear to wake Avery up, so he walked out of the room.

He sat down in the dining room, turned on his phone, and the notification bar posted several news related to today's March Medal Award.

He casually opened one, and saw Margaret wearing a white dress, holding a trophy, standing on the stage, dazzling.

The smile on her face, the look in her eyes, shone with the light of a winner.

Because Margaret became popular, the media also interviewed her fiancé Travis.

Travis made his first response to the scandal that appeared on the LED of the Dream Maker Group Building a few days ago.

He said it was all about his former bodyguard slandering him. He didn't do those things and couldn't do them.

He said that the scandalous video of him appeared on the Dream Makers Group Building, not because he had a grudge against the Dream Makers Group boss, but because hackers infiltrated the Dream Makers Group's network that night.

He also said that he has a good relationship with the boss of the Dream Makers Group, and the two companies may have surprising cooperation in the future.

...

Elliot wanted to drink after reading the news.

Everything had become so magical.

Since Elliot was rescued from this accident and opened his eyes, everything has been out of his control.

He has become a puppet, and can only watch his loved ones sad and helpless for his situation, but he can't do anything about it. Although he is still alive, but this life is better than death.

After the nanny fed Avery a few mouthfuls of soup, she refused to drink it because of the headache.

The nanny came out with a bowl, and Elliot had already finished dinner.

"Mr. Foster, do you only eat so much?" The nanny saw that the dishes on the table didn't move much. "Are you worried about Avery? She drank two sips of soup just now. When she wakes up from sleep, she should be much awake.”

“Well.” Elliot walked towards the master bedroom. He entered the master bedroom and closed the door.

On the big bed, Avery frowned, her arms were on top of her head, and her breathing was particularly heavy. She should not be sleeping soundly.

Elliot walked over to the bed and sat down, looking at her face, recalling the bits and pieces with her.

After a while, Avery suddenly opened her eyes.

Chapter 2119

Avery saw Elliot’s face and thought she was hallucinating.

She reached out and touched Elliot’s cheek.

“Awake?” Elliot whispered.

Hearing Elliot’s voice, Avery was terrified.

“I... My head hurts... Elliot, my head hurts!” Avery patted her head with her palm, trying to ease the pain.

Elliot immediately held her hand and prevented her from continuing to shoot.

“Elliot...is it the same when you have a headache?” Avery gasped, frowning tightly.

“you didn’t know how to drink and you drank so much.” Elliot sighed helplessly, “Don’t drink it next time.”

“...But I see everyone else is drinking. I want to drink.” Avery rubbed her temples and paused, “Elliot, I seem to have something to tell you... Let me think... I suddenly can’t remember.”

Elliot looked at her drunk and still in pain, and his heart was twisted.

“Think slowly, don’t worry.” Elliot squeezed her hand and waited patiently for her.

“Elliot...What am I going to say?” Avery gasped, the more she tried to remember, the less she could remember, “I have something very important to tell you. Really, I really have something to tell you ... but I can’t remember anything now.”

Avery said with words in her mouth, the more anxious, and the end cried. And the more she cry, the more she sad, and the more uncontrollable it becomes.

As long as she still has a sense of reason, she can control herself not to be so sad in front of Elliot.

She has held on for so long, she can continue to hold on. But now the alcohol controls her consciousness, and all her words and deeds are out of control.

Elliot watched her cry into tears, and the tears fell out of control. He wanted to say something to comfort her, but couldn’t say a word.

Avery saw that Elliot seemed to be crying too, so she took his arm and struggled to sit up.

“Elliot, don’t cry... It breaks my heart to see you cry.” Avery was slightly awake, plunged her head into his arms, and wiped the tears off his shirt, “I...I cried just now, I was angry with myself, I drank too much... I can’t remember anything, I am anxious... It has nothing to do with you... It really has nothing to do with you...”

Avery was obviously drunk, but she was still worried that Elliot would find out that she was so sad because of him.

“Elliot, I’ll just sleep... When I sleep, I’ll be able to remember what I’m going to say to you...” She leaned against his chest, Smelling his familiar and unique breath, his heart was floating in the air, and he calmed down a little,

“Elliot, you hold me... I want you to hold me... I’m so sleepy.”

Elliot hugged her according to her words.

She closed her eyes with satisfaction and fell asleep in his arms.

Two hours later, Mike and Hayden returned home.

Chad and Elliot were sitting in the living room and seemed to be waiting for them.

“Chad, why are you here? When did you come here? You didn’t say anything.” Mike complained, “Where’s Avery? Didn’t she come back? But I see Ali smoking in the yard!”

Chad: “Avery is drunk and sleeping in the room. I’m here to pick up my boss.”

“Drunk?” Mike raised his eyebrows, “Why is Avery drunk? Also, where are you going to pick up Elliot?”

“I’ll take my boss to a party. I’ll be back in about two days.” Chad said blankly,

“If Avery wakes up, just tell her that.”

“Oh. Why is it so sudden?” Mike scratched his head and looked at Elliot, “Can’t you wait for Avery to wake up and tell her?”

“She’s going to the Jones family’s wedding tomorrow, and she doesn’t have time to accompany me.” Elliot replied.

His answer was watertight.

“That’s right!” Mike accepted his explanation, but was worried, “But why are you suddenly going to the entertainment? Can you be entertained with this body?”

Elliot’s eyes fell on Hayden’s face, but he didn’t listen at all what Mike said.

He waited until now just to see his son Hayden one last time.

Chapter 2120

Hayden felt that his eyes were bold and direct, which made people very uncomfortable. His usual eyes were much more reserved.

“My mother won’t promise to let you go out to socialize.” Hayden looked directly at Elliot, trying to stop him from going out. Otherwise, my mother will be anxious when she wakes up and sees that you’re not at home.

“Your mother supports my work.” Elliot didn’t expect his son to take the initiative to speak up, which was a bit unexpected, but he would not change his mind, “Hayden, your mother rarely makes video calls for your younger siblings recently, so you have to make video calls for them often.”

Elliot, what are you talking about? You asked Hayden to make video call for them, can’t you make it yourself? Don’t you have a mobile phone now?” Mike said, he felt strange, “Did you quarrel with Avery? Otherwise why does Avery get drunk? She doesn’t like drinking.”

“Mike, please accompany her to the Jones’s wedding tomorrow!” Elliot looked at Mike and explained, “It’s safer to go with her alone.”

Mike: “...”

“I’ve already eaten dinner, you guys go have it!” Elliot had already explained everything he wanted to explain, so he was about to leave.

If Elliot didn’t leave, he was afraid that something would happen.

He glanced at Chad, and Chad immediately received his meaning.

“Let’s go first.” After Chad said this to Mike, he left with Elliot.

Mike watched them leave, turned around, and looked at Hayden: “Do you think your father is a little weird? I can’t tell you what’s weird... It feels weird everywhere.”

Hayden didn’t know how to answer. He also thought Elliot was weird.

Especially the way Elliot looked at Hayden was a little scary.

“I think Hayden must have quarreled with your mother.” Mike said firmly.

At this time, Ali walked in.

“No. They didn’t quarrel.” Ali explained, “How could my boss quarrel with Mr.

Foster? Mr. Foster is her treasure now, and it's too late for her to take care of her carefully! Even if Mr. Foster takes the initiative to quarrel with her, she will only bear it, and she will never quarrel with him."

"You mean that Elliot took the initiative to quarrel with Avery?" A chill appeared in Mike's eyes.

"No, no!" Seeing Mike's misinterpretation, Ali blushed anxiously, "Mr. Foster has been recuperating at home. If he took the initiative to quarrel with my boss, you would have known it. You don't have to wait for me to tell you."

"Oh, let me just say, how dare he quarrel with Avery now that he is taking care of Avery?" Mike breathed a sigh of relief, and after a few seconds, frowned again, "You have been following Avery, do you know why she drinks?"

Ali: "This..."

"If you don't know, then don't do it! How could you not know about such an important thing?" Mike threatened.

Ali: "It's not about Elliot. When she wakes up, you can ask her! If she has any worries, she won't tell me. But I guessed it right away."

.....

Elliot and Chad went to the hotel.

"Boss, you're not going back tonight?" Chad cautiously opened his mouth to break the silence, "Avery is drunk, don't you take care of her? If she wakes up at night and sees you not there, she will definitely be anxious."

"Chad, I want drink." Elliot's eyes were as deep as ink, looking out the window, "You accompany me to a bar!"

Chad: "Okay. But you can't drink too much, I'm afraid your body can't stand it."

The two went to a restaurant near the hotel.

Chapter 2121

Elliot ordered two bottles of red wine.

He and Chad each have a bottle.

Based on Chad's knowledge of his alcohol intake, he definitely couldn't drink a whole bottle of red wine.

After drinking this whole bottle, he will definitely be drunk and unconscious like Avery.

Chad drank a glass of wine, the alcohol was on top, and he became more courageous.

"Boss, when you came out of Avery's house tonight, you stared at Hayden for a while. Your eyes were very straightforward." Chad said to himself, "You seemed to be eating Hayden. No wonder Hayden would take the initiative to talk to you."

"I usually didn't dare to stare at his face like this. I had never seen his face so carefully." Elliot lowered his eyes and looked at the red liquid in the cup. "I could see it clearly today. He looked more and more that he liked me."

"Yeah! Hayden was like you were carved out of a mold. Not only did he look like you, but his temper was also like you. you didn't look at it. Hayden seemed to be cold, but he actually had a fire in his heart, he knew who treated him well." Chad picked up the glass and clinked with Elliot, "Boss, don't give up, okay?"

Although Elliot didn't say anything more, but Chad could feel that Elliot was about to give up his life.

Elliot: "Chad, I thought you understood me."

"Boss, I know you are in pain right now. But I beg you, at least for the sake of the child, be patient." Chad squeezed the wine glass with his fingers. tight, and the heart tightens.

Chad wanted to say, he will find a way to tie Margaret, so that Elliot doesn't have to worry about being threatened by Margaret.

But it wasn't done yet, so Chad didn't say it.

"Drink!" Elliot took a sip of wine and swallowed the bitterness.

"Boss, Brother Ben hasn't married Gwen yet. You should at least wait...

Brother Ben is like a brother to you. How could you be absent from his wedding?" Chad racked his brains to get Elliot to deal with this. The world is a little more nostalgic.

Even if he can live another day, that's fine.

"Chad, don't persuade me, and don't tell anyone about this. After drinking this bottle of wine, I want to sleep well." Elliot drank all the wine in the glass, then picked up the bottle, pouring wine on his own.

Chad swallowed tears in his stomach.

After Elliot finished drinking, he lay on the table drunk.

Chad's wine was almost bottoming out, but he was not drunk at all.

He drank the last glass of wine, and then called someone from the hotel to help deliver Elliot to the hotel.

He opened a presidential suite for Elliot.

After sending Elliot to the room to lie down, he came out of the bedroom and stood in the living room to call the bodyguard.

"How's it going?" Chad asked.

"Margaret is now attending the celebration dinner at the hotel. I can't get in, so I can only wait at the entrance of the hotel." The bodyguard replied, "Mr. Chad, don't worry. I will definitely keep an eye on Margaret. Whenever I have the opportunity, I will act immediately."

“I’ll send a few more people to help you! This matter must be successful.”

Chad wiped his face and said hoarsely, “If it doesn’t work tonight, it must be successful before her wedding tomorrow. I don’t care what you do with it. No matter what you do, Margaret must be arrested!”

The bodyguard was puzzled by Chad’s fierce reaction: “Mr. Chad, is something wrong?”

Chad: “I can’t tell you. But things will only compare to you. Worse than imagined!”

The bodyguard was silent for a few seconds and said, “I see. If I can’t handle this matter, then I will resign automatically.”

“It’s not your resignation. If you can’t handle this matter well, you won’t resign or work. It’s over.” Chad didn’t want to be so straightforward, but the reality was like a sharp spear, hitting the point.

Chapter 2122

Banquet Hall.

Margaret and Travis together, holding wine glasses, toasted among the guests.

Travis was in high spirits and in good spirits today.

But no matter how good Travis was, after drinking several glasses of wine, his body couldn’t stand it anymore.

Margaret helped Travis aside and glanced at the time.

“Travis, it’s already eleven o’clock in the evening. Let the bodyguard take you back to rest! We have a wedding tomorrow, you need to save your energy.”

Margaret gently advised, “I’ll be here with the guests for a while. Just go back.”

Thinking of tomorrow’s wedding, Travis really wanted to stay up all night without getting drunk like he did when he was young, but as he got older, he had to obey.

Travis: "Okay! Thank you for your hard work. So late, I have to stay here to entertain guests..."

"Travis, I am very happy today, even happier than you thought." Margaret was bright and full of energy, "I promise it won't affect tomorrow's wedding."

Seeing her insistence, Travis could only let her stay here: "Okay! Then I'll go back to rest first. I'll tell the bodyguard that I'll see you at 12 o'clock. Go home."

"Well." Margaret sent Travis away.

After Travis left, Margaret returned to the banquet hall, chatted with some old friends, and then left.

Hotel entrance.

Elliot's bodyguard first watched Travis leave.

When Travis came out with the supporters of the bodyguards, the bodyguards also specially looked to see if there was Margaret.

Margaret wore a white dress today, which was easier to recognize.

After confirming that there were no women in white clothes in Travis's group, the bodyguard retreated to a dark place and continued to smoke.

Travis left, and it is estimated that Margaret should leave soon.

Tomorrow was their wedding, Margaret would definitely not play too late.

Avery fell asleep in a daze, and suddenly there was a burst of pain in her lower abdomen. She reached out and rubbed her eyes, then struggled to get up from the bed.

The bedside lamp on her side was on, so when she got up, she could clearly see that Elliot was not around.

Her drunkenness dissipated a bit. She picked up the phone and looked at the time, it was almost 12 O'clock.

Why is Elliot not in the room?

She walked quickly to the bathroom, and after using the toilet, she turned on the faucet, washed her face with water, then walked back to the room and turned on the chandelier.

She was alone in the room.

The big bed, where Elliot slept, was very clean, indicating that he never lay down tonight.

She came out of the room immediately.

Considering it was so late, the nanny was already asleep, so she knocked on Mike's door.

"Where's Elliot?" She spoke very fast and asked Mike, "Why isn't he at home so late? Where has he gone?"

Seeing her in such a hurry, Mike immediately grabbed her arm: "Come in and sit."

"I'm not sitting! Tell me where did Elliot go?!" Avery clenched Mike's arm tightly with her backhand, and her nails were about to dig into his skin.

"Chad said there was an entertainment, and he wanted to attend. Chad would accompany him at that time, saying he was going for about two days."

Mike explained to her truthfully, "Are not you going to attend Travis and Margaret wedding tomorrow? Elliot didn't have time to be at home with him, so he found something for himself. Elliot said you supported his work, so I didn't stop him."

Chapter 2123

"It's mainly Chad who follows him, so I'm not that worried." Mike added.

“Entertainment?” Avery muttered these two words, and was really worried, so she asked, “What entertainment? Where to participate in the entertainment?” “I don’t know. I also want to ask, but Chad did not say it. After all, it’s their business, how could they tell me.” Mike shrugged, “How about you call Elliot and ask?”

Mike’s words reminded her.

She immediately went to her room.

“Avery, are you sober? Are you dizzy? Would you like some soup? The nanny made you sober soup and put it in a thermos box. I’ll get it for you!” Mike chased after her and said this, go to the kitchen and get her soup.

Avery hurried back to the room, picked up the phone, found Elliot’s number and dialed it.

Hotel, Presidential Suite.

Chad heard Elliot’s cell phone ring in the living room.

He immediately went into the bedroom and picked up Elliot’s cell phone.

Seeing Avery’s call, he didn’t think much about it and answered the phone.

“Elliot!”

“Avery, it’s me.” Chad said, “My boss is asleep.”

“Where is he now? Where are you going to entertain? You know his body, how can he go to entertain?” Avery’s hands sweated anxiously, “Chad, tell me where he is? And I’m going to bring him back.”

“Avery, don’t worry. I won’t let him drink. I won’t let him stay up late. The entertainment we’re talking about is just business negotiation, not about the wine table.” Chad comforted her, “We still In Bridgedale, he won’t go very far. The reason why he wants to come out and live is to breathe a sigh of relief.”

“Sigh of relief?” Avery said quietly.

“Yes. You look at Mr. Foster too closely, he is very depressed every day. Let him take a breath outside!" Chad took off his glasses, feeling absurd for his nonsense.

He said so, Avery will definitely not insist on taking Elliot back.

But these words will hurt Avery's heart.

"Oh...you mustn't let him drink, and don't let him get tired. In fact, I'm not that opposed to him going out to stay for a few days. You can explain the reason to me, I can understand." Avery's mood relaxed, "Chad, you have been working hard to take care of him for the past two days."

"It's not hard. I heard that you were drunk, are you okay now?" Chad was a little embarrassed, "Avery, what I said just now is all my guess. It's not my boss."

Avery: "It's okay, I did look at him a little bit. I'm afraid that something would happen to him."

"I understand. I don't blame you at all, on the contrary, I thank you very much. Thank you for being my boss." Chad glanced at the time, "it's very late, you have to go to Margaret's wedding tomorrow, you should rest early!"

Avery: "Well."

Avery hung up the phone, raised her head and exhaled heavily.

Mike entered her room with the sobering soup, saw her lost soul, and sighed:

"Avery, what are you thinking?"

"It must be that I was drunk tonight and made him angry." Avery put down the phone. She took the soup bowl from Mike's hand, "Elliot doesn't like me being drunk."

Mike: "Then you're still drunk?"

Avery: "I originally planned to tell him tonight that I was going to marry Emilio. But I was drunk and didn't tell him anything."

“It’s not there yet! When Travis really threatens you, you can talk to Elliot again.” Mike waited for her to finish the soup, then took the soup bowl, “Go to bed early! I’ll talk about it tomorrow.”

Avery: “Hmm.”

At 2:00 a.m.

Chad’s cell phone rang rapidly.

Chad answered the phone, and the voice of the bodyguard was about to cry:

“Mr. Chad, Margaret is left! I’ve been guarding her at the door of the hotel, I swear I didn’t doze off, I didn’t see her coming out, But she’s not in the hotel anymore!”

Chapter 2124

The bodyguard waited until 2 a.m., seeing that Margaret had not come out yet, and felt that something was not right.

After all, Margaret was over 60 years old. How could someone of this age stayed up so late at night?

Besides, she had a wedding tomorrow, so it’s even more impossible for her to stayed up late.

So the bodyguard entered the hotel and asked if Margaret’s celebration banquet was over.

The hotel staff told him that the celebration banquet had ended as early as 12:00 a.m., and it had been over for two full hours.

The bodyguard didn’t know which link went wrong, and he was stunned.

Chad believed that the bodyguards did not nap, but something must have gone wrong.

calmly, "She's getting married tomorrow, and she should go back to Jones's house now."

The bodyguard: "Then I'll go to Jones's house to guard it now."

"You don't have a good chance to get down." Chad was a little pessimistic, "Travis must have strengthened security for their wedding. I asked you to kidnap Margaret, but I didn't let you take your life in it."

The bodyguard: "Mr. Chad, I won't give up before the last moment. The big deal is that I will pretend to be a servant and go to Jones's house tomorrow."

Chad: "Then you go back to the hotel to rest first, and then wait until dawn."

The bodyguard: "Well."

Villa, Master bedroom.

Avery turned on a bedside lamp and kept her eyes open, unable to fall asleep. Chad said that he took Elliot too closely, which made him want to go out to take a breath.

She wondered if she was really putting too much pressure on Elliot, causing him to gasp for breath.

But no matter what Avery thought, she felt that she could do it all over again, and she probably couldn't do better.

Avery was at a loss. When Elliot came back two days later, how could Avery get along with Elliot so that he would not feel depressed?

Avery was really clueless, and there was a throbbing pain from time to time in her temples.

She lay on the bed until 4:00 a.m., and the more she lay, the more awake she became. Thinking that it would be dawn soon, she got out of bed and went to the bathroom to take a shower.

At 6:00 a.m.

The Jones family servants got up and started busy.

Today was Travis and Margaret's wedding day. Travis was very concerned about this wedding.

Not only did they invite the photography team to follow the photo shoot early in the morning, but they also invited the best makeup stylist in Bridgedale to provide door-to-door service.

At the same time, Travis booked a six-star hotel close to the seaside, and invited all the guests he could invite over for two days of carnival.

A servant who has worked in Jones's family for many years, had the privilege of meeting Travis's previous weddings.

In the previous few weddings, Travis did not hold such a grand ceremony, because the woman he married was not as powerful as Margaret.

Half an hour later, Travis got up. The first thing he did when he woke up was to call Margaret and urge her to come back quickly and put on makeup.

At 11:30 p.m. last night, Margaret called him and said that she couldn't go back to Jones's house, because her daughter was reluctant to marry her and was crying at home alone, and she was going back to spend the last night with her daughter.

Travis listened to her sensational words, so he relented and agreed.

Who knows, now that the phone couldn't get through.

Her phone was off was she still sleeping and not getting up yet?

Travis took a deep breath and called the bodyguard who had been following Margaret.

After the bodyguard answered the phone, he replied: "After I took Ms. Gomez home last night, she asked me to go back and said me that I would pick her up in the morning, so I left after delivering her last night. I'll pick her up right away. “

Travis hung up the phone and went down to wash with the help of the servant.

“Master, Ms. Gomez may not get up yet.” The servant comforted Travis.

“I guess so. She usually sleeps a lot.” Travis felt a lot better when he thought about it.

After washing up, the servant will be sent to Travis’s room as soon as possible.

While eating breakfast, Travis answered the phone to receive blessings from friends.

After breakfast was over, the bodyguard called.

“Boss, I’m at the door of Margaret’s house now. I rang the doorbell several times, but no one opens the door. I can’t get through by calling her. What should I do now?” The bodyguard was a little anxious.

“No one opened the door?” Travis gasped and said without hesitation, “Break the door! Today’s wedding, she’s just dizzy!”

Travis will never allow any mistakes in today’s wedding.

Not even if it’s just late!

Travis didn’t hang up, so he heard the sound of the bodyguard shooting.

After the door was kicked open, the bodyguard quickly entered the room.

“Madam!” the bodyguard shouted, “Madam, it’s time to get up! The boss asked me to pick you up!”

There was no answer.

The bodyguard could only open the bedroom door without authorization.

The door was pushed open, and the bedroom was empty, with no one at all.

“Boss! Margaret isn’t here! There’s no one in her house!” The bodyguard panicked, “I brought her back last night and saw her enter the house with my own eyes. But now, there is no one in her family!”

Travis was calm. Blood attacking the heart, he felt that things were not going well!

How could a living person disappear out of thin air?

Did Margaret escape from marriage on purpose, or was she kidnapped?

Travis: "Send someone to find her right away! No matter what method you use, you must find her before today's wedding! Otherwise, I'll throw you to feed the wild dogs!"

"Not good! Master! Ms. Gomez's dress is missing!" A servant rushed to report the situation, "Ms. Gomez's dress and your dress are put together, and your dress is in, but Ms. Gomez's dress is missing!"

"Which dress is missing?!" Travis asked in a loud voice.

The servant: "That black... black dress! That's the dress for the ceremony! It's also the first dress to be worn today!"

Originally, Travis also suspected that Margaret was kidnapped, but now it seems that she was not kidnapped at all!

Otherwise, how could her dress disappear along with it?

There was only one possibility – Margaret left with a black dress on purpose!

Today was their big wedding day, which was also the grandest wedding in Travis's dozen or so marriages.

Almost the entire Bridgedale knew that he and Margaret were getting married today.

If Margaret really ran away from the marriage, his face would be completely wiped out!

He was embarrassed, how could he let Margaret go?

Did Margaret never think about this?

Was Margaret not afraid of death?

"Find... find her for me!" Travis's eyes were like copper bells, his eyes were scarlet, and his body was trembling, as if he was about to fall down at any time, "If you can't find her, you will all die for me!"

His voice was settled, and the servants in the family ran to find Margaret in panic.

Elliot's bodyguard, who had mixed in with the Jones family, saw the chaos in the Jones family, and immediately pulled a person to inquire about the situation.

After learning that Margaret was missing, the bodyguard immediately reported the news to Chad.

"Is there anyone else who wants to kidnap Margaret?" the bodyguard guessed.

Chad was completely confused.

Besides them, who else would attack Margaret?

Chapter 2126

"I think this marriage is mostly impossible." The bodyguard saw that the Jones family was in a mess, and gloated, "I don't need to continue lurking here."

Chad immediately said: "Not necessarily. Travis must have sent people everywhere to look for Margaret now. He has more power in Bridgedale than us, so you keep lurking there and see when they find Margaret. It's faster than you go looking for someone alone."

"Mr. Chad, what you said makes sense." After the bodyguard finished speaking, he hung up the phone.

Chad glanced at the time, it was only 7:00 a.m.

Elliot was probably still sleeping.

He walked to the door of the master bedroom, opened the door a crack, and glanced inside.

Elliot was still sleeping.

He drank too much alcohol last night, and it is estimated that he will not wake up until noon.

Chad also drank a bottle of red wine last night. But he had no other reaction except for the occasional headache.

He could soberly feel that he was not drunk. He used to drink so much that he would definitely get drunk.

Maybe it's because his alcohol intake has increased, or maybe because Margaret hasn't been tied back, he's been thinking about this all the time, and he can't even faint.

He wanted to brag to Mike that he didn't get drunk after drinking a whole bottle of red wine, and Mike would definitely not believe it.

He stood at the door for a while, then closed the door gently and returned to the living room.

After Jamie Curtis had breakfast, she called Elliot but couldn't get through.

Yesterday, Elliot asked Jamie to have an operation today to take out the special device in his brain.

Jamie didn't sleep well all night. Because it amounts to indirect murder.

It was Elliot who was killed.

Although Elliot voluntarily, there is still pressure in his heart.

Especially after Jamie couldn't get in touch with Elliot, she couldn't help but think wildly.

What happened to Elliot?

Did Avery know about this?

Can today's surgery still be performed as scheduled?

The same moment.

Avery was sitting in the dining room eating breakfast, and received a call from Emilio, who told her on the phone that Margaret was left.

Avery was stunned. She thought about all the possibilities that would happen after Travis and Margaret got married, but she never thought that Margaret would disappear.

“Could Margaret have been kidnapped?” Avery guessed.

“It shouldn’t be. I’ll tell you secretly that her wedding dress is missing. She should have sneaked away by herself.” Emilio whispered, “Margaret is really a magical woman. Yesterday, I showed my dad in public. What a conjugal love! As a result, she ran away from the marriage today, my dad was so angry that his blood pressure went up, and the doctor was giving him an infusion inside.”

Yesterday, Margaret thanked Travis when she accepted the award on the stage.

She threw a handful of dog food in public. Unexpectedly, she never thought of marrying Travis at all.

Avery couldn’t help recalling the last sentence and the last thing she said to Margaret yesterday.

Chapter 2127

At that time, Margaret smiled very brightly. She felt that Margaret was laughing at herself, but combined with what happened today, she suddenly found that Margaret might not be laughing at her at that time.

“Avery, why don’t you talk?” Emilio asked, “This is a good thing for you, right! Margaret ran away, and she didn’t marry my father, so my father’s future plans were all in vain.”

Avery replied: “It’s really a good thing. But where did she go? Where do you think she will go? Has she lived with your father all these years?”

“Yes, she has lived with my father for a long time. At first, I said It was because they lived together to take care of my dad, and later they said they were going to get married.” Emilio replied, “She is not in her blue house either. My dad has sent a lot of people to look for her. No one knows where she is going.”

Why does Margaret do this? If she really doesn't want to marry your father, she can absolutely refuse. Why did she say that she wanted to marry her?

She had already had a wedding banquet, but suddenly disappeared. It's like a child's play.” Qin An Ananne spoke up.

“Margaret is quite a strange person. For example, her wedding dress was originally red. A few days ago, she suddenly said that she didn't like red wedding dresses and wanted black. My dad hated black the most, but for the sake of convenience If you want her, let the designer make black wedding dresses.” Emilio explained this little detail, “Does anyone really like black wedding dresses? I think black is quite unlucky.”

Avery heard this After the remarks, an ominous premonition suddenly rose in her heart. “Shouldn't she be...”

“Should it be?” Emilio saw her pause and recalled her tone, “Don't you think she committed suicide?”

Avery did not have answer.

“She just won the March Medical Award and she has a bright future.

However, why did she commit suicide?” Emilio didn't think about it at all.

“Emilio, don't use your thinking to think about her.” Avery still suspected Margaret of committing suicide, “She told people that her biggest dream in her life was to win the March Medical Award. She won this award yesterday, which is equivalent to She has no regrets in her life.”

“If she has no regrets, she commits suicide? What logic is this?”

“Margaret has never been married and has no biological children in her life.

From the perspective of ordinary people, it is incomprehensible. Not everyone can Live according to the secular track.” Avery said and stood up, “Emilio, if there is news about Margaret over there, notify me immediately.”

Avery couldn't stay at home any longer. She wanted to go out and look for it.

Although she had no clue, but she felt too stuffy at home.

After hanging up, she put on her coat and came out of the house.

Ali took the initiative to open the car door for Avery and asked, "It's still a little early. Boss, are you going to the hotel where Travis got married?"

"Margaret is missing. I'm afraid today's wedding won't happen." Avery said.

His voice was cold, "I have a hunch, I suspect that she might commit suicide."

Ali: "Ah!"

Avery: "Margaret ordered a black wedding dress, and she disappeared with her wedding dress."

"Ah! It's scary!" Ali was horrified, "Boss, where are you planning to go?"

"I don't know either." Avery panicked, "I don't want Margaret to die. What should Elliot do when she dies? I haven't figured out how her device works yet."

Ali: "Then let's find Elliot!"

"I don't know where he is." Avery said, took out her mobile phone, and wanted to call Elliot.

At this time, she saw a new message on her phone.

The news was sent by Jamie: [Are you with Elliot?]

Jamie couldn't contact Elliot, so she sent this tentative message.

Avery misunderstood the meaning of Jamie's words.

She thought that what Jamie said 'together' was emotional, so she quickly replied: [Well, I will not be separated from him again.]

After she returned the news, Jamie called.

"Avery, you don't blame me, do you? Actually, I don't want to hide it from you.

He asked me not to tell you, so I didn't tell you. I know you two have a good relationship. As your senior, I hope you Hello ...”

“Senior, what are you talking about?” Avery was at a loss, “Why can’t I understand?”

Chapter 2128

Jamie was stunned.

“What are you hiding from me?” Seeing that Jamie didn’t speak, Avery immediately asked, “You two know each other? How did you two know each other? Senior, tell me!”

Jamie was puzzled: “Didn’t you say that the two of you are here together? So I thought you already knew.”

“We didn’t break up, but Elliot’s not at home now. He went out last night. He said he would come back in two days.” Avery explained.

Jamie did not expect this.

If Elliot knew that he had accidentally told Avery their secret, he would definitely be very angry, and he would definitely not let her help with the operation again.

“Since I can’t hide it from you, then I’ll tell you straight! He asked me to perform an operation on him today to take out the device in his brain.” Jamie quickly adjusted her emotions and said word by word, “Avery, I didn’t come to Elliot. He came to me.”

Avery: “He wants to die?”

“How could he really want to die? He just doesn’t want to be controlled by others, and he doesn’t want to see you so tired of his business.” Jamie explained, “Since you know about this now, then go and have a good talk with him!”

The phone hung up, and Avery raised her hand to dry her tears. she found

Chad's number and dialed it.

"Avery, have you heard about Margaret's disappearance?" Chad asked after answering the phone.

"Where's Elliot? Where is he? Are you two together?" Avery couldn't help but shouted at Chad, "Did you know that he was going to have surgery to remove the device?! Chad, I am so Trust you, but you hide it from me like this? If he hides it from me, how can you help him hide it from me? Do you also want to see him die?!"

Chad was shocked: "Avery, I don't know that he's going to take out the device! I really don't know! He didn't tell me about it!"

Avery got his answer and exhaled: "he didn't even tell you...Where is he now? Tell me where he is?"

"We were in the hotel. He had a drink last night. He has not woken up yet."

Chad told the truth, "Avery, I really didn't know he was going to take out the device in his head... I could feel his mood was rather pessimistic, so I-I'm also trying to reverse this passive situation. I don't want him to die more than anyone else." Chad defended himself.

Avery listened to his sincere tone and calmed down a lot: "Chad, take good care of him, and don't let him go anywhere. Send me the location, and I'll find you now."

Chad: "Okay."

After sending location to Avery, Chad immediately pushed open the master bedroom door, walked to the window and opened the curtains.

Avery is coming soon. It's not hard to imagine that there will definitely be a big storm next.

On the big bed, Elliot was awakened by the light outside the window.

"Boss, you're awake! Avery is coming soon, and she knows your plan. She is very angry.” Chad stood by the bed and reported to Elliot, “I don’t know where she learned that you are going to have surgery. Did you really plan to take out the device in your head?”

Elliot suddenly woke up.

“Where’s my phone?” Elliot sat up and started looking for his phone.

Chad immediately brought his cell phone to him: “Because you were sleeping, I turned it off for you.”

Elliot took the cell phone and turned it on.

Jamie’s missed calls and messages jumped out.

Jamie sent him two messages in total.

The first one is: [Why can’t I get through to your phone? Are you still having surgery today? Please reply.]

The second one came after a while: [I’m sorry, I accidentally leaked to Avery, she already knows it now.]

After Elliot read the news, there was a chill on his brows.

Chapter 2129

“Boss, wash your face, I’ll call you breakfast.” After Chad finished speaking, he quickly left the bedroom.

After calling for breakfast, Chad sent a message to Mike and told him about the situation here.

Mike: [I don’t think it’s surprising that Elliot did this, I was still shocked by his courage to die!]

Chad: [Avery was angry.]

Mike: [Can we not blow up? She guessed that she had been dreaming about trying to save his life for a while, but Elliot was going to die without telling her. If it were me, I’d blow up too.]

Chad: [But I can't completely blame my boss. My boss is afraid of dragging Avery down.]

Mike: [I know! I don't blame your boss. Your boss's problem is that since he's going to die, why don't he die quickly and let her find out, won't it pierce her heart?]

Chad: [Get out!]

Mike: [Get up! Watch Travis and Margaret's wedding later.]

Chad: [Did you just wake up? Margaret disappeared. I didn't get to see the wedding today.]

Mike: [D*mn it! How could she disappear?]

At this time, Chad's cell phone came in and a call came from Elliot's bodyguard.

Chad answered the phone immediately.

"F*ck! Mr. Chad, Margaret is dead. They have found Margaret's body!" When the bodyguard called Chad, he had already left Jones's house.

When Chad heard the news, the blood in his body became cold.

Margaret is dead... How can Margaret die?

Margaret is dead, what will the boss do?

If something suddenly goes wrong with the boss now, who will save the boss?

Thinking of this, Chad burst into tears.

"Mr. Chad, I've come out of Jones's house now. Margaret's body seems to be in the hospital. The hospital just called to say she was dead. Travis was probably dizzy, and now he's taken to the hospital." The bodyguard sighed, "I didn't expect it would turn out like this. This Margaret didn't know what to think, but she was looking for a short term!"

Avery received a second call from Emilio on the way to the hotel.

“Margaret is so scary! This woman is hiding so deeply!” Emilio sighed, “She was wearing a black wedding dress, holding the trophy she got yesterday, and died in front of Professor James Hough’s tombstone.”

Avery : “...”

“Her heart for Professor James Hough has never changed! She promised to marry my father, just to get my father to invest money for her. Now that she has gained fame and fortune, my father is very fond of her. Words have no value, so she can follow Professor James Hough with peace of mind.” Emilio said. He was shocked by Margaret’s behavior.

Avery’s brain was running at high speed.

Margaret was dead, so Elliot couldn’t rely on Margaret for everything in the future.

“Do you know where the various documents Margaret did during her lifetime?” Avery asked worriedly, “Are these things in Jones’s house?”

Emilio: “I don’t know. Let me tell you, maybe my father doesn’t know.

Because Margaret said before she died that she wanted to marry my dad today. My dad was completely kept in the dark. Margaret didn’t love my dad at all, so how could she leave such an important thing in Jones’s house? “

“Her daughter! Yes! She also has a daughter! Her daughter must know!”

Avery was full of energy, “Do you know where her daughter is? Is she still in that blue house?”

Emilio said with a headache: “Avery, Margaret must have made a detailed plan before she died. If she doesn’t want you to find it, you won’t be able to find it.”

Chapter 2130

“Also, my dad should also look for Emmy. My dad won’t just let it go.” Emilio said, "I look back now and find that Margaret has already made plans! She has always been in the next game. Big chess! She has known my dad for so many years, but she has never brought Emmy to meet anyone in our family."

Avery listened carefully, but she was thinking of a way.

"No one in our family has ever seen Emmy. Even if we find her now, it will be difficult. Because Emmy is Margaret's adopted daughter, Emmy has never been taken seriously by my father. Now it seems that Margaret's Everything will definitely be handed over to Emmy." Emilio said and continued, "My dad thinks he's smart, but he's never been Margaret's opponent."

"Emilio, if your dad finds out Emmy's whereabouts, please tell me in time."

Avery hesitated and said, "I didn't think that Margaret would end her life in this way. She didn't give anyone a chance to react."

Emilio: "Are you panicking? Margaret is dead, and Elliot is also miserable."

Avery: "I will think of a way."

Emilio: " Good luck."

The car stopped outside the hotel, Avery glanced out the window and hung up.

When Avery pressed the doorbell of Elliot's suite, Elliot was having breakfast but he had no appetite. He drank too much last night, and now his head is shattered, which is particularly painful.

After the doorbell rang, Chad immediately opened the door without thinking.

Avery stepped forward and said, "Chad, you go out first."

"Oh..." Chad glanced at Elliot nervously, then walked out.

Avery locked the door and walked to Elliot.

She looked down at Elliot condescendingly.

Elliot blushed when he saw Avery, so he put down the spoon.

“Want to die?” Avery sat down on the chair opposite him and asked him softly.

“Don’t die watching you marry Emilio?” Elliot raised his eyes and looked at her coldly, “I told you that if someone threatens you with me, please tell me as soon as possible. Did you do it?”

Avery was speechless and looked at him silently.

After a while, she asked, “When did you know about it?”

“When Emilio sent you a message, I saw the news before you.” Elliot picked up the milk cup and took a sip of milk, “I have been waiting until you confess to me, but you didn’t want to tell me at all.”

Avery: “Elliot, I...”

“No need to explain. Margaret is dead, no one can threaten you now.” Elliot seemed to get Relief, “I don’t have to rush to die.”

Avery felt sad when she heard his words.

“Chad said you drank a bottle of wine last night, and I think you really don’t want to live.” Avery could smell the alcohol on him now, but it could also be from her own, “I drank yesterday, It’s to gather the courage to tell you about me and Emilio.”

“Don’t mention it again.” Elliot didn’t want to hear anything related to Emilio.

“Well. Are you full?” Avery said, “come home with me!”

“Avery, I don’t want to live like a puppet anymore. I can do whatever I want.

Don’t worry about me.” Elliot looked at her gloomily, and his tone was cold, “Aren’t you very busy? Go and do your business.”

“What do you mean?” Avery felt as if Elliot was about to cut himself off.

Chapter 2131

“I’ll go home at night.” Elliot didn’t want to make a clean break with her, he just didn’t want to stay under her nose 24 hours a day, as if she had to protect him.

He felt so bad. He would rather die on the street than live like this again.

“Okay...as long as you’re still willing to go home.” Avery said, “you won’t drink anymore.”

“You go!” Elliot Put down the milk glass in his hand, and said, “I want to rest.”

Avery was startled, then got up and left.

Chad was very surprised to see Avery coming out so quickly: “Avery, my boss...”

“Elliot said he wanted to rest.” Avery looked at Chad and exhorted, “He gave birth to me now. Annoyed, it is true that I broke my promise to him at that time. So Chad, please take good care of him next. He said he would go home every night, please send him back to me every night.”

Chad nodded: “Although I didn’t know what happened between the two of you, it’s good to make it clear.”

“Margaret is dead, everything is over.” Avery didn’t want to mention it again, so she said, “I’ll go first.”

After Avery left, Chad returned to the room.

Chad: “Boss, Avery is left.”

“Why did Margaret die?” Elliot’s thin lips parted lightly, and he made a dull sound.

No matter how Elliot deduced it, he couldn’t understand Margaret’s behavior.

Chad: “Looking at Margaret’s appearance, she should have followed James Hough.”

Elliot shook his head: “Margaret and James Hough have never really been together. Even if Margaret loves James Hough deeply and wants to die, why didn't she die when James Hough died? Does she die after the award? In her heart, the March Medical Award is more important than James Hough."

"What Margaret is thinking, outsiders can't guess. I think her psychology may have been twisted long ago, whether it was for James Hough or for the March Medical Award. She should be a very extreme person." Chad analyzed.

Elliot: "If you won the award you dreamed of, would you die immediately?"

Chad: "I won't. I don't think most people won't. It's hard to get the honor you've always dreamed of, and thousands of people will live in the future.

Admiration, and inexhaustible glory and wealth, who would be willing to die!"

"Margaret wanted to win this award, wasn't it for the admiration of all people?

If she really does it for the benefit of mankind, she won't care whether she takes award or not." Elliot thinks Margaret is not as complicated as Chad thought.

Margaret could live with Travis for money, and promised to marry Travis, which just showed that Margaret was a very tacky person.

Such a person, if not for any accident, would never die when he could be at ease and enjoyment.

Chad: "Boss, what you said makes sense. But why did Margaret die so quickly? She didn't enjoy a day, she died in a hurry."

"This matter is either related to Travis or the March Medical Award." Elliot gave his own judgment, "Send someone to watch both sides."

"Okay." Chad hesitated for a while, then said, "I-I don't think this has much to do with Travis. Because Travis was hospitalized with anger after knowing Margaret's death. If someone killed him, he wouldn't announce the marriage news, and he would be so angry."

Elliot: "Even if Margaret was killed. It wasn't Travis who killed her, Travis definitely knew some inside stories."

...

In the hospital.

Travis slowly woke up after losing two bottles of medicine.

After waking up, Travis was furious: "Emilio, find Margaret's adopted daughter! Margaret deceived me! Although she is dead, I can still discredit her!"

Chapter 2132

Emilio looked at the beating flesh on his father's face and asked tentatively:

"Dad, did Aunt Gomez really say anything to you before this?"

"No! If she has said anything to me, what do you think? Am I still going to continue to hold the wedding banquet? I can't afford to lose this old face!"

Travis's blood pressure, which had finally dropped, was about to rise again.

"Dad, don't get excited. Margaret is dead, you must take care of your health."

Emilio advised, "You can rest assured in the hospital to recuperate. I have already invited people to entertain you at the wedding venue. The birthday banquet is over."

"Emilio, are you also watching my jokes?" Travis's emotions were forcibly suppressed.

Travis was strong all his life, and now, at this time, he knows better than anyone how embarrassed he is.

He didn't want people to see his embarrassed appearance. But after all, he was old, and when he got sick, he couldn't be strong even if he tried to be brave.

Emilio: "Dad, how could I see your jokes? The Jones family and I are both proud and humiliated. My wish is the same as yours, which is to make the Jones family stronger.”

“Ha ha ha! Margaret speaks nicely. One set, I coaxed around.” Travis was heartbroken and felt that he could no longer trust anyone.

“Dad, don’t think so much. I will send someone to get Emmy back. Anyway, Margaret owes you an explanation. I won’t sit back and let you suffer such a humiliation.” Emilio said righteously, “You take good care of your illness, and I won’t disturb you for now.”

After Emilio left, Travis called his confidant to his side.

“Margaret bought a house for Emmy before her death. You can find Emmy by checking the recent house transaction records!” Travis explained, “It’s not a pity that Margaret died, but the research results of the resurrection technique must be seized. Get it! As long as I have this thing, I can control Elliot and Avery. Besides, I can make countless money! Even without Elliot and Avery, I can become one of the best rich man in the world.”

Travis sighed, lay flat on the hospital bed, looked at the ceiling, and murmured: “Margaret, do you think that without you, I can’t show great ambitions? You underestimate me too much.”

Avery went to the hospital where Margaret’s body was kept.

She originally just wanted to take a look at Margaret, but when she arrived at the hospital, she learned from the medical staff that Margaret’s body was not carried away.

It was not that no one was willing to transport Margaret’s body away. Many of Margaret’s friends were willing to deal with Margaret’s funeral. After all,

Margaret was the winner of the March Medical Award. It was just that Travis sent people to guard the hospital. Except for Margaret's daughter Emmy, no one else was allowed to touch Margaret's body.

Travis wanted to use Margaret's body to lead Emmy out.

"Ms. Tate, do you know the contact information of Ms. Gomez's daughter?"

The nurse asked Avery, "Her body has been stored in the hospital, and she will not be able to rest in peace."

Avery: "I'm looking for her daughter too."

"Oh! Actually. In addition to Ms. Gomez's body, there are also Ms. Gomez's relics that need to be taken away by her family. The trophy of the March Medical Award is also in our hospital." The nurse continued, "It is impossible for Ms. Gomez's daughter not to see this sensational news, right? She hasn't come to the hospital yet."

Avery: "Maybe Margaret has already explained to her daughter."

The nurse: "Maybe! I really don't understand why Ms. Gomez chose to end her life like this. If I were her, I would definitely want to live longer."

Arriving at the mortuary, a cold breath came to her face.

The nurse walked in front and pushed Margaret's body out for Avery to see.

"Because the trophy is more important, our hospital helped her keep it. She died by injecting poison. Once this poison is injected into the body, it can make people die immediately. If it wasn't for the determination to die, it would not be injected at all. "The nurse explained, "I heard that the black dress on her is her wedding dress today. It's a pity, she was supposed to be the bride today."

Avery looked at Margaret's pale face, the corners of her mouth. Slightly upward, that smile seems to be laughing at the stupid people who are toyed with and applauded by her.

When Avery came out of the hospital, the cloudy sky seemed to collapse.

Chapter 2133

After Avery got in the car, Ali didn't ask her where she was going, and drove the car home directly.

Ali: "Boss, you look so bad, you should rest at home!"

Avery reached out and touched her cheek, and murmured, "Everything is too sudden, completely beyond my imagination. I feel so strange, but I can't tell what's so strange about it."

"It's very strange. I've been reading the news today, and the people who eat melons on the Internet are crazy." Ali glanced at the time, "Boss, go take a nap. Didn't you say Elliot would go home at night? When he comes back at night, the two of you must have a good talk. How can you have the energy to coax him if you don't sleep well?"

"Ali, you think I'm wrong?" Avery asked.

"Boss, you're right. Elliot is also right. What's wrong is creating people to trick people." Ali comforted her, "I know I can't blame you, and Elliot certainly won't blame you either."

Avery wanted to laugh after being persuaded by Ali.

Elliot was willing to come back, indicating that he didn't hate Avery in his heart.

Avery really didn't need to put so much pressure on herself. She went back to her room to make up for her sleep.

When she woke up, the sky outside the window was completely dark.

She found her phone and checked the time. It was 6:30 p.m.

No wonder she's a little hungry.

She got out of bed and came out of the room. The living room was brightly lit, as bright as day.

In the living room, several people were sitting.

Elliot, Chad, Mike, Hayden.

Four people, one sitting on the other, like a meeting.

When the nanny saw Avery coming out, she immediately walked to her side:

“Avery, I’ll wait for you to eat.”

“They didn’t eat?” Avery was shocked.

“Hayden said to wait for you, and Mike said to wait for you. Mr. Foster and Mr.

Chad didn’t speak. They haven’t spoken since they came here.” The nanny felt that their pressure was too low, so she didn’t dare to speak to them.

Avery immediately walked over, glanced at them, and said with a smile:

“Eating!”

“I have eaten with my boss.” Chad stood up from the sofa, “If there is nothing else, then I will go first. “

After Chad finished speaking and was about to leave, Avery immediately gave Mike a wink.

Mike immediately chased out.

Avery wanted to know Elliot’s current mood and his next actions, and only

Chad could know this, so Avery needed Mike to have a good relationship with Chad.

After Mike and Chad left, there was only a family of three in the huge living room.

“Hayden, let’s go eat!” Avery walked up to her son and took his hand.

Hayden let go of his mother’s hand, and looked at Elliot with awe: “If you want to die, just die, don’t affect our lives!”

Chapter 2134

“Hayden! How can you say such a thing to your father?” Avery didn’t expect her son to say such a thing to Elliot.

“I don’t want this kind of person to be my father!” Hayden replied loudly, “You didn’t give up on him, why did he give up? What else would he do other than cause trouble for you? He’s a jerk!”

Avery couldn’t contain the anger in her heart, and slapped Hayden.

It was the first time in her life that Avery beat a child.

Her hands were numb. Her heart hurt so bad she couldn’t breathe.

With tears in her eyes, she looked at Hayden with an incredible expression on her face.

She wanted to apologize almost instantly, but Hayden turned and ran away at a faster speed.

“Hayden!” Avery wanted to chase out.

The nanny came over and pulled Avery.

“Avery, you just hit him, he must hate you now. Just let the bodyguards go out.” The nanny advised, “Hayden is your son, he won’t be angry with you.

It’s fine when he figures it out. You go to eat first!”

Avery raised her hand to wipe away her tears, where is she still in the mood to eat?

She walked towards the master bedroom.

Elliot went to the dining room.

After a while, Elliot took his dinner and pushed open the master bedroom door.

Avery sat beside the bed, and when she saw Elliot walk in, she immediately reached out and wiped away the tears from her eyes.

“Let’s eat!” Elliot put dinner on the bedside table and sat down beside her, “No matter what Hayden says about me, I’m not angry. You don’t need to be angry.”

Apart from what Hayden said, Avery was uncomfortable because of what Hayden said. Out of control, she hit Hayden with her hands.

From the corner of Elliot’s eyes, he saw that her left hand was holding her right hand, and the palm of her right hand was very red, so she must have used a lot of strength to hit Hayden just now.

Elliot: “Is it the first time to beat Hayden?”

“He has been obedient since he was a child.” Avery’s voice was hoarse, “I have never seen such an obedient child.”

But Avery beat the most obedient child.

“When Hayden gets angry, you apologize to him. He will forgive you.” Elliot gave her an idea, “Eat first! The food won’t taste good when it’s cold.”

“Have you really eaten it?” She quickly adjusted her mood and looked at Elliot, “What are you doing today?”

Elliot: “Having a headache today, I slept in the hotel. I ate it.”

After receiving his answer, Avery felt a little more at ease.

Avery picked up her chopsticks and bowl and started to eat dinner.

“Actually, Hayden is so angry, not only because I never gave up on you, but also because he never gave up on you.” Avery took a mouthful of rice and explained to Elliot, “You disappeared in the basement in Yonroeville, and I was looking for you, and Hayden also kept going and was looking for you. Hayden must have been trying to help you get out of Margaret’s control. He never tells others about things in advance, we only know when he does a good job. For example, when he went to bribe Travis’s former bodyguard, it was revealed that Travis...This is what Hayden did.”

After listening to her words, Elliot felt more guilt than self-blame.

“I’m not saying this to say that you did something wrong. I understand how bitter you are. Elliot, it’s not that I don’t understand you. It’s just that no matter how hard it is, we have to live. Only by living can there be hope.” Avery expresses her inner thoughts.

Chapter 2135

“You still don’t understand me enough. I can bear hardships, but I can’t bear you to marry another man for me not at any time.” Elliot said firmly, “If there is such a thing in the future, I will still do something to disappoint you.”

Avery: “I see. I won’t do this in the future.”

Elliot: “Come on! Wait until you finish eating.”

Avery couldn’t eat it, but Elliot kept looking at her, and Avery had to eat her dinner hard.

After eating this dinner, Elliot was enlightened. For a while now, she had imposed her will on him, and maybe Elliot felt the same way.

“Let’s go outside for a walk!” Avery suggested.

Elliot: “Okay.”

“It’s a little cold outside, I’ll get my coat.” Avery glanced at the sky outside, then took out a slightly thicker coat.

Avery took out her coat, handed it to him, and took out another coat of hers.

After leaving the house, they walked towards the center of the community.

“I went to the hospital today to see Margaret’s body.” Avery held his big palm, his palm was very hot, “Travis’s people were guarding there, and no one was allowed to take Margaret’s body away. Only Emmy was allowed to take her body away. Emmy was taking care of you in that blue house before, right?”

Elliot: "Well. She cooked for me every day."

"Just for you? Nothing else?" Avery asked him. She was particularly interested in life during that period of time, but because it was not a pleasant experience, she never asked about it.

"Since I woke up, I am what you see now." Elliot replied, "Of course, the pain in the brain was obviously much more at that time, but it didn't affect anything."

"Oh...you two talked about God? What kind of person do you think Emmy is?" Avery asked, "Did she tell you her contact information? I have to find her. Travis is also looking for her. If only we could find her in front of Travis."

Elliot: "I haven't talked to Emmy. I don't know what kind of person she is."

Avery: "You didn't even talk? But when I went to pick you up, I saw that she seemed very nervous about you."

"Emmy talked to me, but I ignored her." Elliot remembered clearly, "You think she's nervous about me, that's your delusion. She may be nervous about herself. After all, you looked so vicious at the time, as if you were trying to flatten her out."

Avery blushed: "how can you describe me with such ugly adjectives?"

Elliot: "You said Emmy was nervous, but I was just analyzing it from her point of view."

"You might as well think about how to contact Emmy." Avery squeezed her hand, "Margaret's research results must be left to her. That is Margaret's most valuable asset. Now Travis is definitely not only staring at her, there must be many forces looking for her. Her current situation is very dangerous."

"I can't contact Emmy." Elliot told Avery to give up, "Don't bother looking for Emmy. No matter who gets Margaret's research results, don't be afraid. My life, Every day I live now is earned. Let's relax."

Avery: "It's good for you to live with this calm attitude, and it can save a lot of trouble. But you can't convince me to think the same as you. You are my exhusband. I'm not reconciled that you are just my ex-husband. I want to turn you back into a normal person, I want to remarry you and become your wife."

Under the street lamp, Avery's eyes sparkled like stars, dazzling.

The next day.

Accompanied by Chad, Elliot went to Tate Industries Bridgedale branch.

Chad was so drunk that Elliot frowned: "How much did you drink last night?"

Chad said in distress, "I drank a bottle with you the day before yesterday, and I didn't get drunk at all. So I tried it again last night, but I vomited." It's too embarrassing, so Chad changed the subject: "Boss, are you looking for Norah? I don't know if Norah is in the company, why don't I give her a call?"

Chapter 2136

"If you call her, maybe she can escape overnight." Elliot teased.

Chad couldn't help laughing: "You have seen Norah thoroughly."

Elliot: "If you can't see clearly after so many things, what's the difference between you and a fool?"

"Boss, what are you going to do?" Chad asked, "Now that Travis has no Margaret, there is no threat to you, so we don't have to worry about anything."

"Of course I won't let Norah go easily." Elliot's eyes became cold, "Even if Travis can still threaten me now, I'm not afraid. Instead of lingering on, it's better to get rid of all these people before dying."

Chad listened and frowned. "I thought Avery had a good chat with you last night."

Chad was particularly afraid to hear the word 'death' from him.

"I talked to Avery. She promised me that she would never do anything that would make me angry again.” Elliot said indifferently, “I’ll trust her again for now.”

Chad: “...”

Chad thought Avery taught Elliot a good lesson last night, so that Elliot would never dare to end his life easily in the future, but Avery was taught a lesson instead?

In the villa.

Avery should have met with the five experts she invited today, and then officially devoted herself to the research work. However, she beat Hayden last night, and she didn’t sleep much all night.

She got up early this morning and wanted to apologize to Hayden after Hayden got up.

As a result, Hayden didn’t get up late.

After Elliot went out, Hayden didn’t even get up.

She could only wait patiently in the living room.

At nine o’clock in the morning, Ivory called Avery and asked her when she would arrive. Only then she plucked up the courage and knocked on Hayden’s door.

She pushed the door open and glanced inside.

Originally thought that Hayden should sleep on the bed, but it was not what she thought.

Hayden sat at the desk and played with the computer. To be precise, he was playing a game.

Seeing this, Avery immediately walked in.

“Hayden, are you hungry? Mom brought you breakfast.” Avery put milk and sandwiches on his table, “Hayden, I’m sorry. Mom is wrong. No matter how angry mom is, mom shouldn't hit you. It's wrong to do it."

When Avery spoke, her eyes kept looking at Hayden's left cheek where she was beaten.

Ali went out with Hayden last night, took Hayden to the pharmacy to buy medicine, and wiped the medicine.

Avery doesn't know if it was because of the efficacy of the medicine, but the wound on Hayden's face was only a faint red mark.

"Mom, I haven't calmed down yet, please ignore me for now." Hayden was sullen and angry, still angry.

Avery understood his son's emotions, so she didn't plan to entangle.

"Then remember to eat your breakfast. I'm going to work and come back in the evening. You can call me anytime, or call Mike if you have anything."

Avery urged.

"Got it." Hayden replied.

Hayden was so sensible even when he was angry.

Avery felt uncomfortable for a while.

After coming out of Hayden's room, she found the nanny and explained to the nanny: "If Hayden doesn't leave the room at noon, remember to bring him food to the room."

Chapter 2137

The nanny: "Okay, don't worry, go to work!"

Avery: "Well."

Avery picked up her bag, put on her coat, and went out.

The temperature in Bridgedale has plummeted by nearly ten degrees in the past few days, as if passing autumn and entering directly into winter.

After she got in the car, she told Ali the address.

Ali asked, "Boss, are you and Hayden reconciled?"

"Not yet. I'm too much. If I were him, I wouldn't be able to calm down so quickly." Avery said calmly, "Hayden likes to eat chestnuts. When we come back in the evening, let's go buy chestnuts first."

"Well. He went to the pharmacy by himself last night." Ali said, "I didn't respond last night, and I just realized today why he went to the pharmacy. It's not that he feels a lot of pain, and you're afraid that the injury is too serious, and you feel guilty."

Avery felt even more uncomfortable when Ali said so.

"Boss, I know that you didn't mean to hit him. It's too embarrassing for you to be caught between the father and son. No one can do a job and family that is flawless and foolproof. Don't blame yourself." Ali comforted.

"Your mouth is getting sweeter." Avery said and glanced at Ali.

"Because my wife received the car from you, she is very happy. She asked me to serve you well." Ali blushed in embarrassment.

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Tell me what your wife wants in the future, and I'll buy it for her."

Ali: "Boss, don't do this. You're not afraid of other people's gossip? You might as well give me the money for the gift. I hand over the money to my wife, and my wife is happier."

Avery: "Hahaha, good."

Tate Industries Bridgedale Branch.

The arrival of Elliot and Chad caught Norah by surprise.

Margaret committed suicide yesterday, making the whole Jones family dumbfounded.

Norah's entire plan was messed up.

She originally planned to use the relationship between Travis and Margaret to get the Tate Industries into their own hands, and then try to get rid of Travis's control. Who knows, Margaret died, and now it is difficult for Travis to protect himself.

"Norah, is it an accident?" Chad said, breaking the silence.

The muscles at the corners of Norah's mouth moved, and the expressions on her face were colorful.

"Why didn't you say anything in advance when you came over? It's a bit surprising." Norah said, a smile on the corner of her mouth, "What's the matter with you coming here? By the way, Mr. Foster, how are you?"

"Are you? Do you always look forward to my death? When I die, you just want to find a way to take the Tate Industries as your own?" Elliot directly said this.

"The trust between us no longer exists, so you can humiliate me with the most vicious words. Even if I say the sky, even if you have no evidence at all, as long as you think I did the bad things, is it really me? Did I do it?" Norah complained for himself.

"Norah, how are your parents in Aryadelle?" Elliot seemed to have changed the subject.

Norah was stunned for a moment. After realizing what might have happened, she immediately walked to the corner, took out her mobile phone, and called her mother.

——Sorry, the user you dialed is temporarily unavailable, please try again later.

"What did you do to my mother?" Norah screamed in exhaustion.

Elliot: "As you said, the trust between us no longer exists. Even if I say the sky is breaking, even if you don't have any evidence, you doubted me for the first time. Why don't you call your adoptive father again?"

“No need to call! You must have caught them both together!” Norah clenched her phone tightly and gritted her teeth, “Elliot, I do things alone! What kind of men are my parents?”

“You finally admitted it.” Elliot looked at her with all his time, “I’m not a man, it’s not you, the poisonous woman who has the final say.”

“Elliot, you let my parents go! You let them go!” Norah burst into tears, “Win the king and lose the bandit, I failed, and I have more to die for! But my parents are innocent!”

“You do have more to die for. But before you die, you must do one thing for me.” Elliot said indifferently.

Chapter 2138

“Elliot, now my parents are in your hands, don’t say do one thing for you, even if it is ten Anything, a hundred things, as long as I can do it, I will do it for you. I only have one request, when I finish doing things for you, please let me live. My mother has diabetes, and my adoptive father was injured in the waist before. they can’t do heavy work. The two of them depend on me to support them, and if I die, neither of them will have a way to survive.”

Norah lowered her head, tears streaming down her face.

Chad watched this scene from the side, feeling very ironic. He didn’t sympathize with Norah at all.

In his opinion, Norah’s tears were crocodile tears.

If his sympathize with Norah and let her live, she will definitely come back to bite Elliot once she has a chance in the future.

“I asked the lawyer to draw up a document. After you sign the document first, I’ll consider whether I should give you a way out.” Elliot sat in the boss chair and looked at her lazily.

“What document?” Norah asked nervously.

Elliot picked up the phone, checked the time, but didn't reply to her.

Chad was very curious, so he leaned into Elliot's ear and asked in a low voice, “Boss, are you planning to abolish the gambling agreement?”

“Yes.” Elliot replied softly.

Their voices were not too loud, but just enough for Norah to hear.

Norah was now like fish on the anvil, even if she was told, it didn't matter.

She would know when the lawyer brings the papers in later.

“I can sign an agreement to abolish the previous gambling agreement.

Without Travis's help, I would not have been able to accomplish the goal you set.” Norah knew that she had no other choice.

Even if she didn't want to, Elliot would force her to sign the agreement.

Elliot doesn't want to have any connection with Norah now, nor does he want to see Norah have any connection with the Tate Industries anymore.

...

The villa that Mike bought for the five experts was about half an hour's drive away from where Avery lived.

The location of the villa was a little remote. The advantage was that the single-family villa had a relatively large area, which was especially suitable for doing research for them.

After Avery arrived, she found that there was no one on the first floor, but when she got to the second floor, she could hear their discussion.

The content revolves around the working principle of the device in Elliot's head.

“You're talking too much. If it is controlled by people, Margaret died yesterday, but isn't Elliot still alive and well?”

“Margaret is dead, but there are other people in her team. There must be other people who also have this technology. If it is not controlled by humans, how do you explain the theory through which this device works?”

“The brain is not the same as the heart!”

“I didn’t say the brain is the same as the heart, Didn’t Avery find Margaret’s research materials? I stayed up late to read these materials, this special device made by Margaret is equivalent to remodeling a ‘neuron’...”

“I have also seen Those materials are gone! This neuron made by Margaret is an ice-cold machine! That’s why I propose that this device is controlled by humans!”

Their arguments were in full swing, and Avery stood outside the door and listened for a while. Then, a knock on the door interrupted their quarrel.

“Avery, you came just in time! How is Elliot today?” Ivory pulled her to sit beside him, “Fatty said Elliot is now a living robot under human control. His words and deeds...”

Chapter 2139

“Hey! Who are you calling fat!” The expert who was called fat was a little angry.

“You are the fat man! Among the five of us, you are the fattest. Your real name is so long, who can remember it! Just call you fat!” Ivory said with conviction.

“Okay, a fat man is a fat man. It’s really hard to remember my name.” The fat man said angrily.

“Avery, you live with Elliot every day. You know best whether Elliot is a robot or not.” Ivory pulled back to the topic, “Is there anything unusual about his speaking habits and behavior?”

Avery said without hesitation, "I can tell you with certainty that Elliot is no different from before. He has his own independent thinking mode, including his conditioned reflex behavior, which is the same as before. He was not manipulated by humans. So this assumption can be crossed out."

The three senior of them at the head showed regretful expressions one after another.

"Ivory, have you read Margaret's research materials? What do you think?"

Avery asked.

"If it is the special device that keeps Elliot alive now, and Elliot's entire thinking pattern is the same as before, don't you think it's very contradictory? Didn't you say Margaret could control him? What did Margaret use to control him? A computer or a special remote control device?" Ivory put forward his own idea, "Now that Margaret is dead, you should find the thing that can control Elliot."

"Yes! I have the same idea as Ivory. As long as there is a controller, we can push it backwards and make the device in Elliot's head!" Someone echoed.

Avery also wanted to find the controller. The problem is that even no one knows where Emmy is now. How to find the controller?

"Avery, let's talk alone." Ivory pulled Avery out of the room.

"Is there anything you can't talk about in the conference room?" Avery asked.

"Because I can't use them." Ivory pulled Avery downstairs, "I want to see the device in Elliot's brain, please let me see it!"

"I had sent over the CT of his brain. Didn't you see it?" Avery wondered, "I remember it clearly, I put it in a cardboard box."

"No. I'm not looking at that CT film." Ivory leaned into her ear, whispered,

"Let's open his head and take a look at the device! Use a high-definition camera to record its appearance, so that we can do research? What

Margaret used remote control, it doesn't matter! The most important thing is The breakthrough is actually in Elliot!"

It's said that, Ivory's mind was very flexible.

This was a method Avery never thought of.

The reason why she didn't think about it was because Elliot was only operated on by Margaret. Now that he still has a wound on his head, his brain can't bear to open it again.

"Not now." Avery refused. "His brain can't handle it. I can't let him take risks beyond my ability."

Ivory: "Okay! I know it's not the time yet. By then, we haven't made a breakthrough yet, so just follow the method I said just now! I think he should agree, after all, we did this to save him."

Avery: "We'll talk about this later, but now we'll think of other ways."

At 5:00 p.m., Avery left from the secret research base of six of them and went to the city to buy chestnuts.

On the way, she messaged Elliot and asked him what he was doing.

Elliot quickly replied to her message: [At home.]

Avery looked at the message he sent and was stunned for a moment:

[Where's Hayden?]

He replied again in seconds: [Also at home.]

Avery felt a little suffocated.

Father and son were alone at home, would they quarrel again?

Chapter 2140

"Ali, go home first." Avery said to Ali.

"Didn't you buy chestnuts?" Ali wondered, "Is something wrong at home?"

"Elliot and Hayden are at home, I'm afraid they will quarrel again." Avery said worriedly, “Hayden still so angry to me. He must also be angry with Elliot.”

Ali comforted her: “When you didn’t come out of the room last night, they didn’t quarrel. Hayden only had an attack when he saw you come out.”

Avery’s temple hurt a bit: “I’m still worried.”

Ali: “Then let’s go back now.”

The villa.

The nanny gave Elliot a bowl of chicken soup, and then brought another bowl of chicken soup to Hayden’s room.

When the nanny brought soup to Hayden, she told Hayden that Elliot was back.

So Hayden came out of the room with the chicken soup.

This was his mother’s home, which was equivalent to his home. As Avery’s legal ex-husband, Elliot was an outsider in the family, so he won’t hide in the room and let Elliot saw jokes.

The nanny did not expect Hayden to come out. But seeing Hayden finally willing to come out, she was relieved. But when Hayden walked to the living room and saw Elliot, he gasped again.

Father and son meet each other, shouldn’t it be like last night...

“Hayden, why don’t I go out for a walk with you? You haven’t gone out all day today...” The nanny wanted to take Hayden Get out and avoid.

Hayden’s eyes were fixed on Elliot’s face.

Elliot’s heart beat faster when his son watched.

Elliot said to the nanny: “Go and get busy! I’ll chat with Hayden.”

“Oh oh... OK!” The nanny quickly walked towards the kitchen.

In the living room, only the father and son were left.

Elliot sat down on the sofa, picked up the soup bowl, and took a sip of soup.

Hayden also walked to the sofa and sat down. Not to be outdone, he picked up the soup bowl and took a sip of soup.

“Hayden, you can be mad at me, but don’t be mad at your mother. She blamed herself last night, tossing and turning all night and couldn’t sleep.”

Elliot broke the silence, “No matter how much you blame me or hate me, It’s okay. It’s okay if you scold me. But don’t hate your mother for that.”

Hayden: “Don’t try to sow discord there. You can’t sow my relationship with my mom!”

“You know I’m not trying to sow discord.” After drinking the soup, Elliot put the soup bowl on the coffee table and looked at Hayden calmly, “I don’t want you to hate me either. But I know I can’t change your mind. I can only tell you, I never thought of deliberately cause you trouble. On the contrary, I am most afraid of causing trouble for you, so I will make such a choice.”

“Only a coward would choose to use death to escape trouble!” Hayden said. He looked down on his behavior.

“You’re right. I’m not as good as you.” Elliot was willing to show weakness to his son, “I accidentally learned that Travis planned to use me to blackmail your mother into marrying his son Emilio. I can’t watch your mother marry someone else. And this makes me more uncomfortable than killing me.

Hayden, if you were me, what would you do?”

Elliot asked this deliberately, not only to know how his son behaved, but also to shorten the distance with his son.

“I will make those who threaten me pay a heavy price. If I die, I will let them be buried with me!” Hayden gave this answer without hesitation.

Elliot looked at him with a look of relief: “Even if I’m gone in the future, I don’t have to worry about your mother and your siblings being bullied. Hayden, I’m relieved to have you take care of them.”

Elliot's eyes were very gentle, and his tone was doting.

Chapter 2141

Hayden's face turned red.

“I think you're old. You're going to commit suicide because of that old thing.

It's stupid!” Hayden scolded him a little lower.

Elliot: “As people grow older, their temper does change. When I first met your mother, your mother suffered a lot of grievances with me. Of course, I was also very aggrieved at that time and I like your mother very much.”

Hayden didn't know much about their past.

So he suddenly heard Elliot talk about it, he thought it was very interesting, and he didn't interrupt.

When Avery came back, the living room was peaceful.

The nanny walked up to her with a smile and whispered to Avery, “the two of them didn't quarrel. Mr. Foster followed Hayden in everything and didn't give Hayden a chance to get angry at all.”

Avery breathed out silently.

“Boss, should I go buy chestnuts?” Ali asked behind her.

“Okay.” Avery responded, walked to Hayden and sat down, “Hayden, let mother see your face.”

Avery grabbed his hand and held it in her own. After thinking for a moment, she said, “Hayden, we can't look at your father in the eyes of normal people now. When people are sick, their minds are very fragile. Your father's condition is like a terminally ill person. His condition is worse than that of ordinary patients. So I have always been cautious, fearing that he will be stimulated.”

“It turns out that every time I was cautious, I was reminding him that he was not the Elliot he used to be...” Avery added, “We’ll just treat him as a normal person in the future.”

Elliot got up from the sofa with an embarrassed look: “Let’s go eat!”

“Mom, I just drank the soup, and I don’t want to eat it now. Go eat it!” Hayden took his hand out of his mother’s palm and walked outside.

“Hayden, it’s cold outside, you have to wear a coat!” Avery was worried and went to his room to get him a coat.

Hayden stood at the door of the villa, leaning on his side, waiting for his mother to bring his coat.

Elliot stood in the living room, also turned his body sideways, his eyes fell on Hayden.

Out of the corner of Hayden’s eyes, he saw that his father was looking at him, and he was very uncomfortable, so he lowered his head, raised his foot and kicked the stone that did not exist under his feet.

Not long after, Avery came out with Hayden’s coat and put it on Hayden.

“Put the mask on.” Avery took a mask out of the shoe cabinet and handed it to him, “Don’t go far, come back for dinner after a walk.”

Hayden put on the mask and walked out.

Avery watched Hayden walk away, and then walked towards Elliot.

Avery: “What did you talk about with Hayden?”

Elliot: “We talked about our past. I don’t know if we didn’t talk, but after chatting, I realized that so many years have passed.”

Avery: “Does he like to hear those things?”

“Didn’t you know? Have you told him about our past?” Elliot asked, “Hayden listened very carefully.”

“What is there to talk about in the past?” Avery cheeks were hot, and she thought about their past, and her face became even hotter. “Don’t you feel ashamed to tell your child this?”

“What is there to be ashamed of! At his age, he has already reached the age of first love. Maybe some day a little girl will lead him by the nose.” Elliot said what he was seeing everything, “My son is like me, and the person who can control him in the future must be a girl with a sweet personality.”

“Are you complimenting me indirectly?” Avery raised her eyebrows.

“It used to be sweet.” Elliot seemed to be reminiscing, and after recalling, he concluded, “You are more domineering now.”

Chapter 2142

Avery’s smile suddenly solidified.

“I also like your domineering.” Elliot added, “I used to think that I should protect you and our children, and I think it’s my duty. But now I can’t protect you, and I want you to protect me, causing me that it was difficult to accept mentally, so I was depressed for a while.”

“Then have you figured it out now?” Avery could feel a lot of relaxation from his light tone.

“Hayden taught me a lesson today.” He shrugged, “I feel like I might be really old.”

“Don’t think like that. Everyone gets old. When people get old, they are like old worn-out machines. It is inevitable that there will be a shaft.” Avery said and picked up the chopsticks and gave him a piece of beef, “Eat and drink well, I hope there will always be.”

“You went to see those experts today, do you think they are reliable?” Elliot expressed doubts about the person Mike found.

Avery put a chopstick of green vegetables in her mouth and chewed it slowly:

“I don’t know enough about it yet, so I don’t dare to make comments. But that Ivory Pepin is still very famous. I never thought he would come to help me.”

“He was attracted by the resurrection technique!” Elliot guessed.

“Yes. Like me, Ivory doesn’t believe in such a miraculous operation at all. It’s too sensational to bring people back to life.” Avery said and she changed the conversation, “Maybe our thinking has been solidified, so it is difficult to accept beyond things within the scope of her own knowledge.”

Speaking of which, Avery asked, “What about you? Did you go to the Tate Industries today? Have you met Norah?”

“Yes.” Elliot looked relaxed, “Avery, The Tate Industries is yours. It will always be yours. I won’t rob you of anything.”

Avery: “I know. I doubted you before, but then I chose to trust my own judgment.”

“When you have free time, transfer the company back to your name.” Elliot discussed with her, “Or Tomorrow!”

“So anxious?” Avery glanced at him, “I don’t think you need to transfer it to me. It’s fine under your name. You must have made a private will, right?”

When you made your will, give the Tate Industries to Layla. Just pull it.”

Elliot: “Okay.”

The hospital.

Norah came to Travis’s ward to visit him.

“Dad, how are you feeling today?” Norah put the flowers on the table.

“What are you doing here?” Travis asked. His face was sullen.

“My mother asked me to come and see you.” Norah calmly replied, “Also, I have good news for you.”

Travis’s eyes suddenly lit up: “What good news? You found Emmy? Finding Emmy is good news!”

“I don’t have any news about Emmy. I’m sorry.” Norah lowered her head in shame.

“Hehe, I knew you were useless! Even Emilio didn’t find Emmy, how could you find Emmy?” Travis glared at her contemptuously, “Tell me, what do you want to tell me?”

“Dad, do you still want the Tate Industries?” Norah asked seriously, “Today, with the attitude of giving it a try, I chatted with the top management of Sterling Group to achieve the goal ahead of schedule and whether I can immediately fulfill the promises in the gambling contract, the other side said yes. He didn’t even say to ask Elliot... So I asked him for a share transfer contract after the performance of the agreement.”

Norah opened the bag and took the contract from the inside and took it out and handed it to Travis.

“I have read the contract, and it matches the terms in the gambling agreement.” Norah said.

Travis gave the nanny a look, and the nanny immediately raised the head of his hospital bed.

“Dad, it’s actually the equivalent of spending your money to buy shares in the Tate Industries.” Norah explained, “I personally think that the Tate Industries is a company with great potential. You will never lose money if you buy it.”

“How much does it cost?” Travis put on his glasses and asked while looking at the contract.

Norah: “$14 billion.”

Travis frowned suddenly: “Norah, you really think I should spend so much money to buy shares of the Tate Industries?”

“Dad, if you give this opportunity to others, someone will be willing to pay the money.” Norah argued, “Now Elliot is busy with his life, and Avery is busy looking for experts to study his disease, the two of them have no time to manage the Tate Industries, so there is a loophole to take advantage of. If you don’t take this opportunity, what if Avery rescues Elliot? “

Travis couldn’t read the contract when Norah talked about this.

“Norah, are you sure what you said is true?” Travis had been busy with Margaret’s wedding these days and planning a bigger business, so he didn’t pay much attention to Tate Industries.

“I’m sure. If I’m not sure, how would I dare to tell you?” Norah was afraid that Travis would not believe her, so she said, “I have a good personal relationship with the vice president of Sterling Group. As long as Elliot didn’t ask him to target me, he wouldn’t. It’s embarrassing for me. And we are all here according to the gambling agreement I signed with Elliot. Even if Elliot makes trouble in the future, he will not take care of it.”

Travis stared at Norah, and after thinking for a few seconds, he decided to fight.

Because the prospects of the Tate Industries were far ahead of the MH Medicine.

Now even if he emptied out MH Medicine, he had to eat the big fat Tate Industries!

After all, Margaret was dead, and his plan was likely to be stranded.

Now it depended on whether the Tate Industries could succeed in this wave.

Travis: "Okay. I'll leave this matter to you. Once it's done, the Tate Industries will be handed over to your supervisor in the future."

Norah: "Thank you Dad. I will not disappoint your expectations. You have a good rest, and I will do it tomorrow. When it is done, I will see you again."

"You must report to me every day. If something goes wrong, do you know what will happen to you?" Travis said seriously.

Norah: "I understood."

After coming out of the hospital, Norah got into the car, turned on her phone, clicked on the ticketing software, and started to look back Airfare for Aryadelle.

The world is so big, but it seems that there is no place to live.

It's Norah's fault that she had too much ambition at the beginning, but her ability could not support such ambition.

The next day, in the morning.

Her card received $14 billion from Travis.

Because the gambling agreement was signed by her and Elliot, the money could only be transferred to the Tate Industries through her to complete the gambling agreement.

But in fact, Norah signed a cancellation letter with Elliot yesterday to terminate the gambling agreement.

This money, Norah was cheating!

It was Elliot who asked Norah to lie to Travis.

Because Travis loved money, Elliot wanted to make Travis bleed!

Norah looked at the number of $14 billion on the phone screen, and was about to burst.

In fact, she could take the money and escape to the ends of the earth, as long as she was determined not to let Travis find it, she would definitely be able to hide it well.

Travis was over 70 years old, and he would definitely die in a few years.

When he's dead, Norah won't have to hide anymore. But thinking that her parents would be killed by Elliot by doing this, and that she had to live through countless lives hiding like ants, her scalp felt numb.

After taking a deep breath, she made a quick decision.

Chapter 2144

Tate Industries Bridgedale Branch.

As soon as Norah got to work today, the secretary of the general manager's office notified the executives of various departments to have a meeting in the conference room.

The employees of the branch were basically recruited by Norah.

The highest-level leader they could usually come into contact with was Norah.

So when the meeting started, Chad informed everyone that after Norah had resigned from the company, everyone showed shocked expressions on their faces.

"Why did Ms. Jones suddenly leave?"

"She was fine at work the day before yesterday. She also discussed the Q4 sales with me... It's all too sudden."

...

Chad listens to everyone After speaking, he explained: "Norah quit the Tate Industries for personal reasons. As for her future development, you can ask her privately. From now on, she has no relationship with the Tate Industries. "

"Chad, isn't that the real reason? You don't need to tell us this kind of cliché.

If you don't tell us the real reason, Norah will not dare to tell the real reason.”

“Norah was fired by you, right?”

“Everyone is not a fool, before Elliot came, Norah was working well in the company, how could she leave by herself?”

“Norah was indeed fired, do you want to follow her?” Chad's expression was sharp and his tone increased a bit, “The main content of today's meeting, in addition to notifying you Norah's resignation, also informs you, There will be a lot of changes in the company's personnel in the future. After the new personnel manager goes to work, I will talk to you one by one!”

Most of the people in the company are Norah's confidants and must be eliminated!

After Chad's remarks were settled, none of the people below dared to ask questions like just now.

They have numbers in their minds. It was Norah who left today, and she may be killed tomorrow.

After the meeting, everyone else left the room one after another.

Elliot sat in the chair and didn't move.

Chad noticed that Elliot had been staring at him, so he suddenly said, “Boss, why are you looking at me all the time?”

“You performed well today. You are very imposing.” Elliot boasted.

Chad: “Maybe it's because I usually work in the Sterling Group, and I have a good relationship with everyone, and I don't have to worry about your presence in everything, I just need to do errands behind you...”

“The branch office will be handled by you. It's over.” Elliot entrusted Chad with a heavy responsibility.

“Okay. Don't worry, leave it to me! You can rest at home next, or go to accompany Avery.” After Chad put away the documents on the table, he leaned back against the conference table and chatted with him.

Elliot: “She’s very busy now, and I don’t want to disturb her.”

“Then what’s your plan? Do you want to go back to Aryadelle to see Layla and Robert? Or have the two of them be sent over... let them both come over. It’s the best. If you go back to Aryadelle, Avery will definitely be worried.”

“I do have this idea.” Elliot has missed these two children especially, “the two of them want to go to school, it’s better for me to go back to Aryadelle.”

Chad: “The primary school and kindergarten classes are not heavy.”

“Layla was about to enter junior high school. She was influenced by me and Avery before, and her studies declined a lot.” Elliot didn’t want to affect the child.

Chad said with relief, “Boss, the score is not so important. It’s useless to think about it yourself. You go back tonight to discuss with Avery and see how Avery arranges it. You can just listen to her for such trivial matters.”

At that time, there was a knock on the conference room door.

Chad immediately walked over and opened the conference room door.

It’s the front desk secretary.

“Mr. Chad, a woman came over and said she was looking for Mr. Foster. She said she was a relative of Mr. Foster.”

Chad frowned: “What relative? I’ll take a look.”

After Chad and the secretary left, Elliot turned on the phone to see if there was any news.

If relatives really came to him, they should have told him in advance.

But there was no news on his phone.

Explain that this so-called relative was not a relative.

Not long after, Chad strode over and reported, “Boss, that woman is Zion White’s wife. Zion White, do you remember? Your half-brother.”

When Elliot heard the man’s name, his face became gloomy.

He knew that Zion had always been in Bridgedale.

Zion is a person who has no ability, but his heart is higher than the sky.

“Why did his wife come to see me?” Elliot didn’t really want to see that woman.

“She asked you for money.” Chad replied, “She said that Zion failed to start a business and owed a lot of debt outside. Not to mention the debt, people don’t know where to go now. And the creditor found her here. There is a way to repay the debt, so she came to you for help.”

“How much does she want?” Elliot stood up from his chair.

Chad: “I didn’t ask. Should I ask now?”

Elliot: “You bring her here and I’ll ask.”

After bringing the person, Chad immediately walked out.

Zion’s wife was crying with tears all over her face, and she was out of breath when she spoke: “Elliot, I really have no choice...”

“When did you and Zion get married?” Elliot never heard of Zion’s marriage news.

“The certificate we got the year before last, we had the wedding last year. I’m five months pregnant now, but his whereabouts are unknown.” Zion’s wife burst into tears, “If it wasn’t for the creditor, I wouldn’t even know he owed so much money. 6 million, how can I have so much money?”

The woman looked pitiful, Elliot glanced at her slightly bulging belly, and moved with compassion.

“Give me the contact information of the creditor.” Elliot couldn’t confirm whether the identity of the woman and what she said were true. After all, Zion got married and did not invite him.

Zion’s wife immediately took out her mobile phone from her bag, found a number, and showed it to Elliot.

The hospital.

When Travis was infusion, the assistant hurried into the ward.

Travis was disturbed and immediately turned black.

“Boss! I found Emmy!” If there was no major news, the assistant would not dare to be so rude.

Travis’s eyes suddenly lit up.

He propped up the bed, trying to sit up.

The assistant and the nanny helped Travis sit up.

“I searched the city through the clues you provided, but couldn’t find Emmy’s house purchase information, so I sent someone to look for it in the neighboring city, and found Emmy in the neighboring city! This Margaret is really smart. She’s not bad for this daughter! Emmy’s new house is a villa!”

Travis’s face flushed with excitement: “You’ve done a great job this time!

Hurry up and arrest her! I want to ask her face to face!”

Travis added, “When I’m discharged from the hospital, I’ll reward you!” He told his assistant With admiration, “Emilio is not half as good as you!”

The assistant: “Boss, you have passed the prize.”

.....

Two hours later.

An old man dressed simply came to the Tate Industries and said that he had something to say to Elliot.

The front desk looked the old man up and down and felt that the old man might have mental problems.

How could someone as noble as Elliot know such a low-level person?

“If you don’t leave, I’ll tell the security to drive you away!” The front desk threatened.

The old man looked helpless: “I’m also entrusted by others, otherwise I don’t want to run so far... Then you have a message for Elliot... A girl asked me to tell him, saying Everything is fake.”

Chapter 2146

“What is true or false, what girl...?” Because the old man spoke with an accent, the front desk was more impatient.

At this time, the security came over and asked about the situation. “I think the old man’s mostly here to blackmail money! He said that the girl asked him to come to our big boss Elliot... How could our big boss know someone like him? he doesn’t know how to make up lies! It is estimated that he wants to rely on our big boss!”

The front desk was in a bad mood, “There was a woman this morning, she said she was a relative of the big boss, so I notified the general manager’s office, but the woman came to ask the big boss for money!” The front desk girl added: “My supervisor scolded me in private! He told me not to report anything in the future. If it is really a relative of the big boss, how come there is no phone call from the big boss?”

More things were worse than less things. It was not easy for them to work as ordinary people.

“This old man, this is not where he came from! Hurry up!”

The old man took a few steps back in fear, and then turned back in two steps.

He was not familiar with Emmy.

The old man was a cleaner in the community where Emmy lived. Before

Emmy was taken away, he happened to be cleaning near her house.

Emmy called The old man at the window and begged him to go to the Tate Industries branch to find Elliot and help her with the words.

After Emmy told the old man everything was false, the gate of Emmy's house was broken into by savage gangsters.

The old man was so frightened that he hurried to the community security.

But the security guard said that it was someone else's family business, and the property owner couldn't manage it.

As long as The old man thought of Emmy's desperate and frightened expression in the window, his conscience was disturbed.

So The old man took a long-distance bus to the capital and found the branch of the Tate Industries.

The old man didn't expect to be kicked out. He didn't know if the lady at the front desk will convey what she said to Elliot.

But The old man had done what he could, and he had a clear conscience. Half an hour later, Chad returned to the company after finishing the meal.

Elliot had already gone back, and Chad would handle the personnel changes of the Tate Industries's Bridgedale branch.

Chad just needs to dismiss Norah's confidants, recruit a new batch of people, and then he can let go when the company is running smoothly.

Entering the company, the lady at the front desk hesitated for a while, and then called out to Chad with a blushing face.

The front desk lady: "Mr. Chad, someone came over just now to look for the big boss."

Chad asked cautiously, "Who was it?"

“A middle-aged man dressed in ordinary clothes...middle-aged and old people...looked like He's in his fifties.” The front desk lady explained, “He should not be a local. He spoke with a heavy accent. He said that his girl has something to tell the boss...”

Chad quickly digested the information at the front desk what she said.

An old man from out of town said that a girl was looking for the boss...

“What about others?” Chad looked around.

“I thought the old man was lying, so I sent him away. I was a little nervous and didn't know if I was doing the right thing. What if the old man really knew the big boss?”

The front desk lady just wanted to use this little thing to chat with Chad.

Chad thought for a moment and said, “I'd better go check the surveillance.”

Chapter 2147

“Okay.” The front desk lady did not expect Chad to be so cautious.

Chad went to the monitoring room to take a look at the monitoring, took a picture with his mobile phone, and sent it to Elliot.

This old man, Chad looked very strange.

Chad didn't meet him before.

Elliot received the picture Chad sent, took a look, and returned a question mark.

Chad: [Boss, do you know this person? This person just came to the company to find you.]

Elliot opened the picture again, zoomed in on the picture, and glanced at the face in the picture: [I don't know. What was he doing with me?]

Chad: [The front desk said he spoke with a heavy accent and was a foreigner. Said a girl had something to tell you.]

Elliot: [I didn't know him or the girl. I am in Bridgedale and have no female friends.]

Chad: [Okay. Then leave him alone.]

.....

Hospital.

After hanging up the needle, Travis was refreshed, got out of bed and walked on the ground for a while.

Probably because he was too anxious, after walking for a while, he felt a little dizzy, so he could only go back to the hospital bed and lie down.

Not long after, Emmy was taken to Travis's ward.

Seeing Emmy's hands tied with ropes, Travis immediately glared at his subordinates: "What are you doing?! Emmy is my half daughter, you b*stards, how dare you treat her like this! Don't you hurry up and hold her hands? Let go!"

One of his men approached Travis and explained in a low voice, "Miss Gomez always wanted to struggle to escape, and we had no choice but to tied her up."

Hearing the reason, Travis immediately gave Emmy a brighter smile.

Travis: "Come down, I'll chat with Emmy alone."

The men immediately left the ward.

In the ward, only Travis, his assistant and Emmy were left.

Emmy looked at Travis helplessly: "Uncle Jones, I have no grievances with you, so why did you arrest me?"

Travis: "Aren't you Margaret's daughter? Answer me first, are you?"

"Yes. But I have never met you, and I am not half your daughter." Emmy distanced herself from him.

“Do you know how much Margaret has taken from me all these years?”

Emmy, don't pretend to be confused with me. If you and your mother are not guilty, why did you buy the house in another city? It doesn't matter if you are her own daughter or adopted daughter, she owes me, I can't just let it go.”

Travis sat up and looked at Emmy viciously.

Emmy lowered her head: “I didn't know about you and my mother. She didn't usually tell me this.”

“She and I were already getting married, and she and I were a community of interests. The interests were over!” Travis told her the interests, “Little girl, I didn't want to embarrass you. Your mother's suicide was planned. She could prepare a house for you before she died, so what about her inheritance? I mean everything related to her resurrection technique!”

Emmy shook her head sharply: “I didn't know. Mom didn't tell me this. She just bought me a house and let me support myself in the future.”

“Why? Possibly!” Travis did not accept this answer, “Did she not tell you about her academic research, how she can control Elliot?”

Emmy shook her head: “Uncle Jones, I am not a medical student, even if my mother told me this, I don't understand either. Maybe she knew I didn't, so she didn't tell me anything.”

Travis: “Emmy, I advise you to think about it again. If you refuse to tell me anything, I will definitely not let you go. You are still young and have not married and have children yet. Do you really want to sacrifice Margaret? Do you have a good time? Don't answer me first! Think carefully before you talk about it!”

“Uncle Jones, why don't you believe me? Your subordinates have already searched my house, if there really is my mother research's there. The relics have long been found by them.” Emmy said with red eyes, “Uncle Jones, even if you kill me, I can’t change what you want!”

Chapter 2148

Travis’s face becomes extremely gloomy!

“Emmy, a while ago, a shocking scandal broke out in my house. You must have heard of it, right?” Travis threatened, “Do you really think I dare not kill you?”

The society was sinister, how could it endure Travis’s cruel methods?

It would be a lie to say that she’s not afraid.

However, what she was afraid of was not what Travis would do to her, but rather death.

She and Margaret were different after all.

Margaret had lived most of her life, and she had seen all the scenery she should see, but her life had just begun, but it was about to end.

“Uncle Jones, before my mother died, she had a chat with me.” Emmy said after being silent for a while, “She said that she has achieved what she wanted, and she has no regrets in her life. Life is not about the length, but about the Width. She felt that she couldn’t live more brilliantly than the day she won the March medical award.”

“Did she really say that?” Travis was a little suspicious of life.

Travis felt that he and Margaret were the same people, but reality hit him in the face.

No matter what happens, Travis will never end himself like Margaret.

“Uncle Jones, there’s no need for me to lie to you. My mother really told me that.” Emmy took out a small white medicine bottle in her pocket, “She gave it to me.”

Travis immediately look at the medicine bottle in her hand. There were no words on the bottle, so he didn't know what medicine was inside.

Travis: "what is this?"

"This is what I asked her for." Emmy said slowly, opened the bottle and poured out a small white pill, "Uncle Jones, did you know why my mother adopted me?"

Travis wanted to say 'I don't care'.

Before he could say anything, Emmy continued: "I am congenitally colorblind. When I was one year old, my biological mother threw me in the trash can."

Travis: "..."

"There is no such thing in my world. There are only light and dark colors. I like to be in the dark, because only in the dark, I can feel safe." Emmy said, the corners of her mouth twitched, "Although I am not a disabled person, I am not a normal person. I won't have a good life, I can live here, I'm already satisfied."

Emmy said, and quickly swallowed the white pill in her hand.

Travis realized something and immediately scolded the assistant: "Pick out the medicine she swallowed! It must be poison!"

When Travis said this, Emmy swallowed the pill in her throat into her stomach.

Emmy smiled contentedly: "My mother swallowed this medicine to death. Even if you induce vomiting in my body now, I won't be able to live. Because...it's highly poisonous. Just a little bit, It can put people to death." After speaking, she slowly walked to the chair next to her and sat down, leaning her body on the back of the chair, waiting for death to come. Travis showed a look of panic.

The assistant stood in front of Emmy, at a loss.

“Boss, this...”

Travis clenched his hands tightly, his lips trembling.

This was completely different from what he imagined!

He thought that Emmy didn't tell the truth now, and when he tortured her for two days, she would definitely not be able to endure anything.

Who would have guessed that this girl was already prepared!

In the silent room, the atmosphere of death permeated.

Suddenly, a cell phone rang, breaking the eerie atmosphere.

“Boss, your mobile phone is ringing.” The assistant walked towards the cabinet, picked up Travis's mobile phone, and handed it to Travis.

Chapter 2149

Travis glanced at the call reminder, it was his lawyer.

Travis glared at Emmy in the chair.

Emmy's eyes had been closed, and Travis didn't know if he was dead or not.

But in Travis's view, she was already a dead person.

“Get her away! Bad luck!” Travis gritted his teeth and said to his assistant.

“Okay! I'll call someone to carry her away!” The assistant left the ward, called two bodyguards, and carried Emmy out.

Travis sat down on the hospital bed and answered the phone: “Did Norah get the contract?”

“Boss, I couldn't reach Norah anymore.” The lawyer said, “She originally told me that after calling the money this morning, she could get the equity transfer agreement of Tate Industries, but after we gave her the money, she ignored us.”

This critical attack made Travis faint and collapsed on the hospital bed.

“She... where is her person?” Travis asked while covering his forehead with one hand, panting.

“She said she would go to Tate Industries to deal with something. I went to Tate Industries to ask just now, and they told me at the front desk that Norah resigned from Tate Industries today.” The lawyer said and was confused, “I don’t know what Norah is right now. Have you transferred the money to the Tate Industries, because I can’t see the executives here. I can’t contact Norah, so I can only call you to report the situation.”

The door of the ward opened, and the assistant returned to the ward.

Travis was so angry when he saw him!

Travis: “Norah ran away! Aren’t you very close to her? Did she complicit with you for taking me $14 billion to run away?”

The assistant was shocked: “Boss, what did you say? Norah took away your money! How could it be possible! She didn’t tell me this!”

With a ‘bang’, Travis smashed the teacup on the table at the assistant go.

“Then what did she tell you?! Don’t think I don’t know about the two of you messing around together! If you don’t get Norah back for me, I’ll kill your whole family and let you see if I’m not. What a mess!”

The assistant knelt down with a ‘plop’.

“Boss, I am indeed bewitched by her beauty. But I never thought of betraying you. I have always been sober, women are just playthings, only by following you I can have a brighter future! It’s a gang, I will definitely run away with Norah instead of bothering to find Emmy.” The assistant hurriedly expressed his loyalty.

The assistant immediately got up and quickly left the ward.

Travis was dizzy, and the blood pressure controlled by the drug suddenly rose up.

His fingers trembled as he pressed the call bell.

Soon the nurse came and gave him blood pressure medication.

Just now, Travis felt the threat of death. If the nurse came a little late, he might have died.

He suddenly wanted to see Emilio as Emilio was his own son.

Outsiders are always outsiders. If something goes wrong, he still has to rely on his own son.

.....

Research Base.

Avery received a call from Emilio.

“Avery, something happened to my family.” Emilio just saw his father, but now his father fell asleep because he was exhausted.

“What happened to your family?” Avery wondered, “...Your father died?”

“Pfft! Do you dream of my father’s death?” Emilio couldn’t help laughing, “I’m disappointed, he’s not dead yet. But he must be as sad as death. Norah lied to him $14 billion. Now Norah is running away, and we don’t know where her hiding place.”

Avery: “...”

“By the way, Emmy is dead.” Emilio continued, “Everything is out of my dad’s control. It seems that there is a force that is helping you.”

Chapter 2150

Avery refuted his words: “There is no power, if there is power, it is our own power.” Paused Immediately, she reacted, “Emmy is dead?”

“Yes. Suicide by taking poison.” Emilio replied, “She and Margaret took the same poison. the mother and daughter had long expected this outcome, so she made preparations in advance.”

Avery felt a heart-wrenching pain in her heart.

Why is this happening?

All Travis wanted was Margaret’s resurrection technique. If Travis got what he wanted, he would not kill Emmy, so why did Emmy commit suicide?

“Emilio, before Emmy died, did she give Margaret’s things to your father?”

Avery asked.

“No. I wasn’t there. Emmy was already dead when I came here.” Emilio stood outside the door of the ward with a solemn expression, “My dad should not have 14 billion in cash, he must have borrowed money. If he can’t get the money back, I don’t think his blood pressure will go down.”

“Are you worried that your father is dead and his debts become your debts?”

Avery was in a bad mood, but Emilio felt the same. “As long as you don’t inherit your father’s estate, you don’t have to pay the debt for your father.”

“I didn’t think about it that much.” Emilio replied, “You know my relationship with my father. I have no feelings, and I have no feelings for him. I only have feelings for the wealth and halo that the Jones family gave me. I like to be the second son of the Jones family, and I like being called the second son of the Jones family. Do you think I am very Hypocrisy?”

“I understand your feelings. But Emilio, it’s better for people to rely on themselves. Whether it’s parents or lovers, it’s better to rely on yourself.”

Avery seemed to be persuading him, but she was actually persuading herself.

Emmy was dead, and now the breakthrough on Margaret’s side was completely broken.

In this way, she could only rely on herself and her team. This will make progress much slower. But there was also an upside.

That is, no need to worry about being threatened by anyone anymore.

“Thank you for comforting me.” Emilio felt a lot better, “I didn’t expect Norah to be so bold. This woman always exceeds my expectations. She and I are half-siblings. But I don’t have the courage she has at all.”

Avery: “What’s the use of the courage to do bad things?”

“Norah’s also better at work than me. My dad admires her more, but it’s a pity she’s a woman.” Emilio knew very well. He was lacking in his abilities, and he knew his strengths very well.

Travis’s patriarchal ideology was deeply rooted, his eldest brother had been abolished, and he was now the only heir to the Jones family.

Avery was puzzled: “Why did Norah suddenly think of cheating your father’s money?”

Emilio: “Maybe it wasn’t a sudden plan. If she can succeed once, maybe she has planned for a long time.”

Avery: “Such a large sum of money is enough for her to live happily ever after. Be happy.”

After talking on the phone, Avery couldn’t help but tell Elliot about it.

“I don’t know where Norah is hiding. We haven’t gotten revenge on her yet!”

Avery was unwilling.

“Who told you about this?” Elliot asked.

“Emilio told me. He also told me that Emmy died. It’s really a pity. That girl looks young.” Avery said regretfully, “Does Margaret really leave nothing behind? Or maybe Margaret and Travis have a bad relationship and would rather give things to others than to Travis?”

Elliot: "Norah has gone to Aryadelle."

His determined tone made Avery stunned: "Elliot, how did you know? Didn't she cheat Travis's money and abscond with the money?"

"No. She gave me the money what she cheated." Elliot said calmly, "How could I let go of those who hurt us?"

Avery suddenly realized.

It turned out that this was a trap set by Elliot!

These days, Elliot went to the company every day, not to deal with official business, but to design revenge against Norah.

Chapter 2151

"We don't need to deal with Norah next. Travis hates Norah to the bones now, as long as Travis finds Norah, Norah will definitely be worse than death."

Elliot analyzed the matter to her.

Avery: "Elliot, why didn't you tell me in advance?"

"Because I'm not sure if Norah will take the bait." Elliot explained, "She only transferred the money this morning. I plan to meet you at night to tell you."

Avery: "...How did you get her hooked?"

"After you told me that what happened in Yonroeville was her doing, I sent people to find her parents. Even if Margaret didn't die, I would Get revenge on Norah." Elliot said slowly, "But she took the bait, it shouldn't be entirely because of her parents in Aryadelle. From the moment she failed on both of us, there was no way for her to escape."

"Where are you now?" Avery listened to his methodical voice and felt that the former Elliot was back.

The familiar sense of security gave her a sigh of relief.

"Lunch break at home. Avery, I want to go back to Aryadelle to see the children." Elliot was woken up, he simply lifted the quilt and got out of bed, "I haven't seen them for a long time, I have to go back to see them."

Elliot wasn't talking to Avery to discuss, but to inform her.

Avery: "Elliot, I know you want to have children. We can ask the bodyguards to bring them here."

"They have to go to school. Usually they only have two days off on weekends." Elliot told her his thoughts, "Something happens to me if I stay here. I can't be trapped here just because I'm afraid of something happening."

Avery was silent for a moment, unable to refute him.

Avery: "Then I'll go back to Aryadelle with you."

"You invited a team to work with you. If you leave, will it be bad?" Elliot thought for a while, "I'll come back in a few days, and I'll be fine. "

Okay! Layla and Robert will definitely be very happy to see you. And Shea... You really should go back to Aryadelle to meet them." Avery figured it out, "you will leave tomorrow."

Avery: "Hmm."

After speaking, Avery looked at the phone screen and hesitated.

The $14 billion that Norah deceived from Travis is now in Elliot's hands. Does Avery want to tell Emilio about this?

Usually, no matter what happened to the Jones family, Emilio would tell Avery.

In all fairness, Emilio treated her very well.

After a brief hesitation, she sent Emilio a message and explained the truth.

Now that the matter is a foregone conclusion, even if the Jones family is told the truth, Travis will not change anything.

When Emilio saw the message she sent, she felt a huge sense of helplessness in her heart.

At the same time, the doubts in his heart were also resolved.

He said how could Norah be so bold and dare to tease Travis like this, it turned out that Elliot was behind the scenes.

Afternoon.

Travis woke up.

Seeing Emilio standing beside the hospital bed, Travis stared at him with scarlet eyes: "Did you find Norah? What are you doing here? Go find her!" "Dad, it's useless to find Norah." Emilio said calmly, "Your money has been transferred to Elliot by Norah. It's not Norah, but Elliot who calculated you. Of course, for Elliot, it's not a calculation, it's revenge."

Chapter 2152

Probably due to the too much stimulation today, Travis's psychological endurance has increased a lot.

After hearing what Emilio said, Travis didn't get sicker because of his anger. He stared straight at the white wall in front of him, and the entire portrait was enchanted and frozen.

Emilio looked at his father's absent-minded appearance, as if he saw his father suddenly aged ten years before his eyes.

This sluggish mental state did not exist in Travis in the past.

"Dad, this money should not be recovered. You still want to open it up!" Emilio spoke again, comforting his father, "How much did you borrow? We will pay it back later."

Travis said: "Emilio, I'm not dead yet! Even if Margaret and Emmy are dead, but it doesn't change that Elliot is now a living dead! I have never been afraid of anyone in my life! Elliot is richer than me. What's the matter, I'm going to fight with him!"

“Dad, you’d better recuperate first! Your health is the most important thing.”

Emilio said calmly.

“You’re such a jerk! You can’t relieve my worries at all. What else can you do other than give me a funeral after I die?” Travis said. His blood pressure has stabilized a little now, and he felt that he would not die in a while, so his temper had changed to extra large.

“Then I’ll go first.” Emilio didn’t want to get in his way here, nor did he want to get angry here.

Travis felt a little awkward when he saw that his son was leaving. He knew that what Emilio said just now was too ugly.

“Emilio!” Travis stopped his son, “Go and see Emmy. If she is really dead, then you go and handle her and Margaret’s funeral in person!”

Emilio: “What do you want me to do? Be more grand or simple?”

Travis pondered for a few seconds, and then said: “Of course it’s a bit more grand. Margaret is the winner of this year’s March Medical Award. I will list the guest list for you, and you will inform you one by one when the time comes.”

Emilio: “Okay.”

“Emilio, I will leave this matter to you, you must do it well.” Travis said earnestly, “You are my son, I have nothing to hide from you, half of the $14 billion is borrowed from the bank. I have to return principal with interest.”

Emilio felt like a mountain was on his body, and his mood became heavier.

Emilio: “Dad, you asked me to do a good job, it’s just a funeral, what can I do no matter how good it is?”

“Hehe, the funeral is just a cover! If it wasn’t for turning over, do you think I would hold a funeral for this mother and daughter? Now I can’t wait to pull Margaret's skin and slap her tendons! Let her never be born again!" Travis said this, his face flushed red, but he was in a good mood, "You go to the funeral first, the others I will arrange another person to do it. Whether our Jones family can turn over or not depends on this game!"

Emilio couldn't understand the mystery in his father's words, but seeing his father's full of confidence, he should have an idea in his heart.

After all, his father still doesn't trust him enough.

In the past few years, his father trusted most was Margaret.

It's a pity that Margaret was affectionate and politeness to him on the surface, but in fact he had other plans in his heart.

No, Margaret ruthlessly abandoned Travis when her goal was achieved.

Emilio felt that his father was actually quite pitiful. There was nothing he could do except take his anger on other people.

In the evening.

Avery returned home and showed Elliot the small gift she bought when Elliot came back.

Chapter 2153

"If you take it back to your two children, you say it's a gift you bought for them." Avery thoughtfully explained, "You disappeared for so long, and the two children were worried and sad, so you brought a gift back, they'll be happier."

Elliot took a look at the gift she bought.

The gift she bought for Layla was a beautiful hairpin.

"My daughter's hobbies haven't changed over the years." Elliot chuckled.

"Layla is pretty, she likes any kind of jewelry. She's still young, so it's not appropriate to wear necklaces, bracelets, etc., so hair clips are better."

“There are many such toys in Aryadelle, I can buy them for him when I go back to Aryadelle.”

“It doesn’t take up space, you put them in the suitcase.” Avery said, taking the two gifts and walking towards the master bedroom, “Is the flight booked?”

Elliot: “It’s fixed. We will take off at 11 o’clock tomorrow.”

“Okay. You have returned to Aryadelle. If you feel unwell, you must go to the hospital immediately.” Avery explained earnestly, “Elliot, actually I think the children should be fine fine if they came here.”

“Avery, I’ve already bought the ticket and I’ve already called Layla.” Elliot knew that Avery couldn’t let go of herself, so he reassured, “I’ll be fine. My body will be fine, I know. I feel like I’m no different from before.”

Avery: “Because you are at home now, you don’t have to travel long distances. It takes ten hours on the plane, and the feeling of weightlessness when the plane takes off and landed. I’m afraid You can’t take it.”

“Avery, according to what you said, I can’t go anywhere but stay here.” Elliot patiently persuaded her, “If I can only live so fragile, it doesn’t really matter.”

Avery: “You can’t. Think only of yourself, not my feelings and the child’s.”

The two entered the master bedroom, and Avery took out a small suitcase and packed him.

“I’m sure I’m not as vulnerable as you think.” Elliot followed behind her, watching her pack, “Actually, you don’t need to pack, there is everything at home in Aryadelle.”

“Then let’s go buy some gifts later! Pack a box of gifts and Go back.” Avery brought him a brand new set of toiletries and a spare set of clothes.

There’s plenty of space left in the trunk.

“Well, go for a walk after dinner.” Elliot thought that he was about to go back to see the two lovely children, and the corners of his mouth couldn't restrain his rise, "I'll give you that money from Travis!"

Avery blushed and turned to the side. Looking over at him: "What are you doing for me?"

"You have to spend a lot of money to find someone to study the device in my head together?" Elliot made a random excuse, "I'm already very uneasy for you to be burdened. I want you to spend money..."

"Don't do this... If you want to give money, then give it. I'll just take it." Avery got goosebumps, "You're still normal. One point, talk to me like before."

Elliot smiled and took out a bank card from his pocket and handed it to Avery:

"Travis owes a lot of debt now, I wonder if he can pay it off before he dies."

Avery: "Travis deserves it. If he didn't mess with us, we wouldn't harass him like this."

Elliot: "Yeah."

After dinner, the two went shopping and bought gifts for the children.

At the same moment, Emilio received the funeral guest list from his father.

Emilio glanced at the list and saw Avery's name in the list.

He wasn't sure if Avery would come to Margaret and Emmy's funeral, so he dialed Avery.

Chapter 2154

"Avery, in three days, our family will hold a funeral for Margaret and Emmy.

Can you come to attend?" Emilio asked, "If you don't have time, forget it."

"Your dad helps them. A funeral?" Avery questioned, "Your dad should hate Margaret to death, why did he help her with a funeral?"

"I don't know." Emilio really didn't know the reason. Besides, he didn't want to reveal Travis's plan to Avery anymore. Now the Jones family was in debt of $7 billion, a figure he couldn't imagine. He couldn't stand on the opposite side of his father and help Avery and Elliot.

"Oh...let's talk about it in three days!" Avery thought for a while, and replied,

"Is your dad okay?"

Emilio: "Not so good. He borrowed $7 billion from the bank."

"Emilio, You want to open up. That's his debt, not yours. You don't have to pay for him." Avery didn't know what to say other than comfort.

Because it was impossible for Avery to return the money to Travis.

Elliot told Avery that when Norah transferred money to him, according to his request, he noted the money for the purchase of the concept machine, so even if Travis went to court, he would not be able to get it back.

Travis could only go to Norah. And Norah didn't have so much money to return Travis.

Therefore, Travis could only eat this dumb loss abruptly.

As long as Elliot thought that Travis's half-life hard work had been pitted by himself, he would feel a sense of revenge.

Avery's mood was the same as his.

She couldn't be soft-hearted, let alone soft-handed, to a wicked person like Travis.

Emilio: "Avery, although my dad owes so much money, we will definitely be able to pay off the debt. You don't have to pretend to comfort me."

"Since you think I'm fake, why did you invite me to Margaret's funeral?" Avery retorted, "I'm not familiar with Margaret. I don't have any friendship with you either. If I have time to fake it with you, it's better to lie in bed and sleep for a few more minutes."

"I just called and invited you according to the list my dad gave me. if you don't like to participate then don't come." Emilio was in a bad mood, so he just kept talking.

"Okay, I see." Avery hung up the phone.

Elliot saw that Avery finished talking on the phone angrily, walked in front of her, and touched her hair: "Emilio?"

"Well. Emilio's mad at us." Avery put the phone in the bag, and said, "He is from the Jones family after all. Now the Jones family has almost been hollowed out, and his life has undergone great changes. I was not the same as him. Today's incident just made us all recognize this. One point."

Elliot: "I heard you say the funeral, Margaret's?"

"Yeah! Travis was planning to hold a funeral for Margaret and Emmy and wanted to invite me." Avery saw Elliot's face change, as if it was dangerous she immediately said, "I won't go. We and Travis have completely torn apart our faces. Travis must have no good intentions in inviting me."

"It's good that you have this vigilance." Elliot breathed a sigh of relief.

"I'm not stupid." Avery said and walked forward, "I just want to quickly crack the device in your head. I don't even have time to go back to see the children, where can I go to participate in Margaret's funeral?"

Elliot: "Well."

Two days later, Aryadelle.

Elliot came out of the airport and saw Ben Schaffer and Gwen at a glance.

"Brother!" Gwen shouted excitedly when she saw Elliot.

Chapter 2155

Before this, Gwen had never called Elliot so affectionately.

In the past, she always thought that Elliot was an invulnerable god, but after experiencing this incident, she found that Elliot was just an ordinary person with flesh and blood.

Elliot didn't expect that Gwen would suddenly change her name to call him brother, which was a little uncomfortable.

Elliot strode up in front of them, and before he could speak, Ben Schaffer followed suit and called out brother.

Elliot: "..."

"He is my brother, not your brother!" Gwen glared at Ben Schaffer, "I haven't married you yet!"

"Gwen, you have already agreed. I proposed, you have to marry me sooner or later." Ben Schaffer was not convinced, "You said before that you would marry me when you found your brother. Now that your brother is back, when will we have the wedding?"

Elliot: "Is the wedding ready?"

"It's ready! My parents prepared it." Ben Schaffer explained, "I should have prepared it, but after your accident, I'm really not in the mood to prepare for the wedding."

"Since you're ready, then you two get married as soon as possible!" Elliot meant that while he was still in good health, he could still see them getting married, so the wedding should be done as soon as possible.

Ben Schaffer couldn't understand his overtones.

Ben: "I'm not in such a hurry. Wait for Avery to solve your problem..."

"Her senior said that she might not be able to solve my problem for the rest of her life." Elliot asked Ben to think about some practical problems, "You are not young. Now, hurry up and settle down so your parents can feel at ease."

"Brother, why don't you ask me for my opinion? How do you turn your elbow out?" Gwen pulled Elliot's arm, "I'm your sister!"

Elliot was not used to Gwen being so close to him, so he pushed her hand away, "Ben Schaffer is the best choice you can find now."

"Isn't Ben just richer than me? I'm younger than him..." Gwen whispered softly.

"I know him well, and his advantages are not only reflected in economic aspects." Elliot explained to Gwen in detail, "Ben will not treat you badly. If you go out and find a man yourself, can you guarantee that others will always treat you well? "

How can you guarantee that Ben will always be good to me?" Gwen retorted to Elliot, "Unless you stay alive and become his boss."

"You are wrong." Elliot corrected Gwen, "I am not his boss, we two are partners."

Gwen: "..."

Ben Schaffer felt amused when he heard the words of the two brothers and sisters: "Okay, let's get in the car first! Elliot, Gwen has already decided to marry me, so don't worry about me. I can tell you for sure that I conquered her with my personal charm. It has absolutely nothing to do with my money."

Gwen broke down: "Don't you try going bankrupt now?"

Ben Schaffer: "..."

After the three of them got into the car, the car drove towards Foster's house.

"I thought Avery would come back with you." Gwen asked, "Brother, how long will you be back?"

"About a week!" Elliot replied, "Avery is very busy."

"Has the research progressed?" Ben Schaffer was concerned about the inquiry.

Elliot: "Margaret died, leaving nothing behind."

“This Margaret is really vicious! You have no grievances with her, why does she torture you like this? She can die, why not put the device in your head? Why doesn't she tell you about it clearly?” Ben Schaffer frowned, feeling that the matter was very difficult, “What happened to Travis?”

“Margaret didn't tell him any relevant clues. So I asked Norah to put him on the line. He will face huge debts next.”

“Find the solution.” Ben Schaffer prayed.

Chapter 2156

“You must never say such things in front of Avery.” Gwen felt that Avery was under a lot of pressure, “She didn't go back to Aryadelle with her brother, she must be more anxious about this matter than anyone else.”

“I haven't contacted her since I returned to Aryadelle. I know she's busy, so I don't dare to disturb.” Ben Schaffer said, looking at Elliot, “Elliot, I think you are in a good state of mind now, and you look fatter a little than before. Avery raised you well!”

Gwen: “My brother is fat? I think he is much thinner than before.”

“That's because you haven't seen Avery just pick him up. At that time, he was very thin, and he looked a bit scary.” Ben Schaffer added fuel to it, “I didn't dare to tell you at that time, I was afraid that you would feel bad.”

Gwen's nose was sour.

“Okay, your brother is back now, don't be sentimental.” Ben Schaffer said, reminding Elliot, “Shea heard that you came back today, and took the child to live at your house last night.”

Elliot heard Shea's name, the expression on his face suddenly softened a lot.

Not long after, the car arrived at Foster's house.

The car slowed down and slowly drove into the front yard.

In the yard, Shea and Wesley, Layla and Robert, Jun and Tammy, Maria and Kara... they filed out of the room.

when Elliot got out of the car, they all walked towards him.

It seemed like it's New Year's Eve at home.

"Why are you all here?" Elliot wasn't quite used to so many people surrounding him, "Layla, why didn't you go to school?"

"Dad, you've already died once, and you almost can't come back. If I go normally Don't you feel sad about going to school?" Layla looked at her father's face and said bitterly, "Fortunately you are back, otherwise I will have no father."

Layla said, her eyes were red.

Elliot immediately took Layla into his arms: "Layla, Dad should come back to see you sooner."

"Dad! Dad hugs me!" Robert saw his dad hugging her sister, he was instantly jealous and shouted.

When Elliot heard Robert's scream, he immediately let go of Layla and looked at his younger son.

But in just a few months, Robert had grown a little taller. Originally, his small face was chubby, but now he was not so fleshy.

"Why are your siblings still jealous?" Tammy teased, "Layla, don't argue with your brother."

"Hmph! Smelly brother! I won't let him!" Layla held Elliot's body and didn't let go.

Tammy: "Layla, I'm not partial to your brother, I'm afraid your father can't stand it."

After hearing this, Layla immediately let go of her father.

Seeing this opportunity, Robert immediately hugged his father's leg.

Elliot picked up Robert with one hand and held Layla with the other, and walked into the house.

"Dad brought you a lot of gifts. It just so happens that Maria and Kara are also there. Can the four of you share them together?" Elliot discussed with Layla.

"Dad, the three of them are children, but I'm not a child!" Layla retorted, "I'm going to junior high school, I'm a big kid!"

Elliot: "Okay, our Layla is a big child."

"Big kid! Not a big child! Dad, you are not allowed to call me a child!" Layla said seriously, "I don't want to be a child."

"Layla, you would always be a child in Daddy's heart. Because Daddy wanted to hold you up forever in the palm of his hand." Elliot looked at Layla's face that looked like Avery, and couldn't help but feel numb.

Others either sighed, or were blushing numbly.

"Elliot, are you so nasty to Avery? How could I hear Avery say that you don't have a few nice words in your mouth, and how come your daughter's mouth is like honey?" Tammy chastised Elliot.

Chapter 2157

"Tammy, you don't need to satirize Brother Elliot. Brother Elliot has gone through a near-death experience, and his mentality must have changed. Moreover, I think Brother Elliot doesn't speak love to Avery because he has done more."

Everyone's eyes turned to him.

"Uh... I mean, Brother Elliot is a doer, and he must take good care of Avery. Otherwise, can Avery follow him so determinedly?" Jun said, and picked up his daughter Kara. I want to take my daughter to the kitchen to find something delicious.

Kara hummed and pushed Jun away.

“I don’t want to play with you. I want to play with sister Layla, brother Robert, and little sister Maria!”

Jun was disgusted by his daughter Kara and was a little sad.

At this time, Elliot’s bodyguard came in with Elliot’s suitcase.

Elliot took the box from the bodyguard and opened it.

Inside was a box full of gifts.

The four little guys immediately surrounded the suitcase.

“Hmph, I think you want to share gifts!” Jun couldn’t help laughing as he watched his daughter’s two little hands grab gifts in the suitcase.

Mrs. Cooper brought the dishes to the table and called them to eat.

“How are you feeling now?” Wesley walked to Elliot and asked, “Is there any discomfort? If there is any discomfort, you must tell me in time. Avery sent me a message and asked me to ask you every day. “

“Avery is really worried about me going back to Aryadelle. But I’m not as vulnerable as she thought. I feel very good now. I’m very happy.” Elliot said, looking at Shea next to Wesley, “Shea, Even if I die, you have to live a good life. If I die before you, that’s normal.”

Shea was originally happy, but when she heard what Elliot said, she frowned:

“I don’t want you to die.”

Elliot: “Everyone will die.”

Shea: “I don’t want you to die in front of me.”

“This is beyond your control.” Elliot wanted her to learn to accept reality.

In the past, Elliot had protected her so well that her psychological endurance was particularly poor.

“Elliot, don’t talk to her about this topic. You are back now, and everyone is very happy. We won’t talk about such a heavy topic today.” Seeing Shea clenching her fist, Wesley interrupted the topic immediately.

While eating, Avery’s video call came.

It was late at night in Bridgedale now.

Elliot took the video call and saw that Avery was wearing pajamas, but she looked in good spirits.

“Avery, you haven’t slept yet?” Elliot asked, “Didn’t you say you don’t have to stay up all night and wait for me to report safety?”

“You didn’t report safety to me at all.” Avery complained, “It’s been an hour and a half since you arrived, and I haven’t seen you give it to me. I sent a message. Did you forget me as soon as you returned to Aryadelle?”

Elliot was stunned, then set the camera to the rear and showed Avery to everyone in the dining room.

When Avery saw so many people at home, the expression on her face instantly stiffened.

“Hahaha! Avery, you’re blaming him wrong. Ben Schaffer and I picked him up at the airport. After we picked him up, we dragged him all the way to chat, but he didn’t even have time to take out his cell phone. When he got home, he was caught by a group of people. I don’t even have the time to drink water when I am surrounded.” Gwen explained for him.

Avery: “Did you all ask for leave? Today is not the weekend!”

Gwen: “Yes! We have all asked for leave! It’s a pity that you and Hayden didn’t come back. It would be better if you two came back!”

Elliot felt that it was too noisy, so he took his mobile phone and left the dining room.

“Avery, don’t go to Margaret and Emmy’s funeral tomorrow.” Elliot reminded, “I heard that Travis was discharged from the hospital.”

Chapter 2158

Avery: “Didn’t you say that you didn’t take out your cell phone when you got off the plane? How did you hear that Travis was discharged from the hospital?”

Elliot: “When you made the video call to me, it happened that Chad sent me a message that popped up. Come on, I just saw this sentence.”

Avery: “So coincidental?”

“Well, it is such a coincidence. Do you think that after I got off the plane, I did not contact you, but contacted others?” Elliot had already smelled her through the airwaves.

“Okay, I believe you.” Avery leaned against the head of the bed and said lazily, “I won’t go to Margaret’s funeral. You can rest assured.”

Elliot: “Well. Layla and Robert have grown up again.”

“It’s not just our children who have grown up. I think Kara and Maria have grown up too.” Avery smiled knowingly, “We are getting old too!”

“As long as our hearts are not old, we will not be old.” Elliot didn’t want to. If he admit that he’s old, he will never admit that Avery is old.

Just like he looked at Layla, no matter how old Layla was, in his eyes, Layla was a child.

In his eyes, Avery would always be that confident and radiant woman.

“Looking at your radiant face, I’m in a good mood!” Avery looked at his bright face, and her heart followed him happily, “I knew I would have returned to Aryadelle with you.”

Elliot: "They are all looking forward to your return with Hayden."

"It's possible for me to go back, but Hayden forgets it. He must finish all his studies here before he can consider returning to Aryadelle to settle down."

Avery said, and laid down, "He seems to prefer to stay in Bridgedale. If he chooses to stay in Bridgedale in the future I will not object to settling in the country."

Elliot: "Well. Hayden can be wherever he wants. Anyway, the transportation is convenient now, and it is convenient to go anywhere."

Avery yawned, and when she reached out and rubbed her eyes, the hand holding the phone loosened, and the phone slammed onto the bridge of her nose with a bang.

She screamed in pain.

"Avery! Are you alright?" Elliot heard her scream across the screen, his heart almost stopped.

In the dining room, Layla heard her father's voice and ran over first.

Layla: "What's wrong with my mother?"

Following closely, others ran towards Elliot.

On the other side of the video call, Avery heard the commotion on Elliot's side, and wanted to get under the covers in embarrassment.

"Layla, mom is fine..." Avery covered her sore nose with one hand and looked at the camera sternly.

After her voice was settled, on the other side of the video call, everyone's faces rushed to appear on the camera.

"I'm really fine... I was lying down talking about the video just now, and the phone accidentally fell on my face." Avery couldn't help laughing and crying.

"Avery, is your nose alright?" Tammy asked with concern, seeing that Avery had been covering her nose.

“It’s alright, it’s just a little pain, not serious.” She took the hand covering her nose away and showed it to everyone.

From the video, it looks fine.

But Avery estimated that her nose would be blue tomorrow.

Tammy: “Then you should rest early! Don’t lie down with your phone in the future. What if it hits your eyes?”

“Well, I’m going to sleep. Go to dinner!” Avery said embarrassedly.

After hanging up the video call, Avery got out of bed and looked at her nose in front of the dressing mirror.

The nose looked red, and was not yet green.

She was too lazy to get the medicine kit, so she just lay down and went to sleep.

When she woke up the next morning, her nose was really blue.

After washing her face, she found a Band-Aid to cover the blue part of her nose.

While eating breakfast, she turned on her phone and a news pop-up popped up.

Margaret’s funeral and memorial service would begin promptly at 9:00 a.m. today.

Margaret, as the winner of the March Medical Award, would inevitably be attended by many people from the medical field at her funeral.

Avery actually wanted to go to the scene to see it, but she also knew that if it passed, there would definitely be potential dangers.

Chapter 2159

Travis was discharged from the hospital so quickly after being scammed for $14 billion.

It stands to reason that he should be dizzy with anger and blood pressure soaring.

Avery felt that things were not going quite right.

After glancing at the news, she clicked on Whatsapp and saw several photos sent by Elliot.

In the photo was a group photo of Elliot and his two children.

Their smiles were bright and beautiful, Avery looked at the photo, and the corners of her mouth rose unconsciously.

How much she wanted to go back to them immediately and lived with them!

“Mom, what are you looking at?” Hayden came over to have breakfast and saw his mother smiling, so he asked casually.

Avery immediately showed Hayden the photo on the phone: “Your father has already arrived home. This is the photo he sent.”

Hayden glanced at the photo, his younger brother and sister were smiling happily, and Elliot was also smiling happily.

“Hayden, what are your plans after graduation?” Avery wanted to know what her son thought.

“Mom, I’m still graduating early!” Hayden didn’t think about this issue for a while.

Life is not static. Even if Hayden makes plans for the future now, it may change when he really waits for that day.

Avery: “Yes. When I solve your father’s problem, I will go back to Aryadelle. Mom is very reluctant to be separated from you.”

“Mom, is your research almost over?” Hayden saw that his mother was so sad, so he felt solved this doubt.

Avery shook her head again and again: "It hasn't progressed yet. Hayden, do you think your mother is useless?"

"No! If there's nothing my mother can do, others can't." Hayden encouraged his mother, "Even if this problem can't be solved, Elliot won't blame you. If he dares to blame you, we will abandon him."

"Hayden, your father won't blame me. On the contrary, he has always been afraid of involving me. Everything I do now is done voluntarily." Avery smiled at Hayden.

"Mom, what's wrong with your nose?" Hayden stared at the Band-Aid on Avery's nose.

"I was lying on the phone last night, and the phone accidentally fell on my nose." Avery said calmly, "It doesn't hurt much, just a little blue. It will be fine in two days."

Hayden: "Be careful in the future..."

Avery: "Hmm."

...

In the hotel.

At 9 o'clock in the morning, the memorial service began on time.

Travis, dressed in black, stood aside and mourned with the guests who came to attend the memorial service.

After a while, a bodyguard strode up to Travis and whispered a few words.

Travis immediately left the scene with the help of bodyguards.

Emilio had been standing beside Travis this morning, but the voice of the bodyguard talking to his father just now was too low, and Emilio didn't hear anything.

After his father walked away, Emilio looked at his father's figure and quickly disappeared from sight.

What is Travis going to do?

From preparing for the funeral to now, Emilio has not figured out what medicine his father sold in the gourd.

Maybe his father usually scolded him right, Emilio was really stupid.

Travis went outside the hotel with the help of bodyguards.

In front of an ordinary car, Travis met the person he wanted to meet.

Margaret's research results were not researched by Margaret alone.

Margaret had a team of ten people, and everyone in this team was a leader in the medical field.

It's just that after Margaret successfully researched the resurrection, she dismissed the team.

Chapter 2160

Travis took advantage of Margaret's funeral to send an invitation to the team in the media, hoping they would come to give Margaret the last ride.

This was actually moral kidnapping.

But as long as the final goal could be achieved.

"Mr. Jones, I'm sorry, I'm late." The man in the car said.

"Mr. Otto, isn't it? The funeral is almost over, you have come here, it shows that you have the heart, that's enough. Let's talk alone!" Travis spoke to him.

"Mr. Jones, I didn't come alone." Otto took out a large flower basket from his side, "This is a flower basket that other members of our research team asked me to buy together."

"Okay! I'll let the bodyguard take it." Travis said, took the flower basket in his hand and handed it to the bodyguard, "Mr. Otto, let's find a quiet place to talk!"

Otto thought about it, and then got out of the car.

After the memorial service, the remains of Margaret and Emmy were sent for cremation.

The whole process was broadcast live by the media.

After Margaret's body was cremated, everyone sent Margaret's ashes to the cemetery for burial.

After this series of things are done, the guests go to the hotel and have a banquet.

Because Travis was away, Emilio entertained the guests.

In addition to people from the medical field, there were also people from the business world.

"Emilio, I heard that your father borrowed a lot of money from the bank to invest, is that true?" A man named Leland Sirois slapped Emilio sideways, "Your father promised me before that he would take me to make money together. All the money is ready, ready to buy shares at any time, but your dad went to the bank for a loan. Hey, don't your Jones family plan to bring people to play with?"

Naturally Emilio would not reveal the real situation of the Jones family, so he politely replied: "Uncle Sirois, I don't know much about what you said."

Leland Sirois: "Didn't your dad tell you?"

Emilio: "Well."

"Wasn't your dad hospitalized for high blood pressure a few days ago? How did Margaret's death hit him so hard? Margaret will die if she dies, as long as her research results are preserved? Margaret has real feelings? Otherwise, why does he have high blood pressure?" The man surnamed Sirois stared at the expression on Emilio's face, trying to speak out of his mouth.

Emilio couldn't resist being asked.

His father told him that if he talks too much, he will lose.

Leland Sirois: "Emilio! Look at the questions I asked you. When I ask you, you don't know. How will you inherit your father's property in the future? You still have to care more about your father. Hey, where is your father? I'm going to ask him about his physical condition!"

Emilio: "I don't know where my dad went. I always get along with my dad like this, he doesn't tell me a lot of things. I just need to do what he tells me to do."

Leland Sirois: "Emilio, you are too passive. If you want to do something big, you have to have your own plans and ideas. You can't always rely on your dad's words to move. You will inherit the Jones family in the future. Family property is also easy to be targeted."

"Uncle Sirois, I don't have to worry about you. My dad has been discharged from the hospital with high blood pressure. He is in good health now. When he comes over, I will tell you. He conveyed your concern." After Emilio finished speaking, he went to entertain other guests.

At this time, Travis entered the banquet hall with a smug smile on his face. Without knowing it, he thought it was a happy event today.

"Mr. Sirois, I just saw you chatting with Emilio at the door, what are you talking about!" Travis walked up to Leland Sirois, but looked at Emilio, "Emilio, come here." Emilio saw his father coming over, and immediately walked to his father's side.

Emilio: "Dad, just now Uncle Sirois asked me where you were. He heard that you were hospitalized with high blood pressure and was more worried about your health."

“Hahaha, Mr. Sirois, how do you think I look today? Not bad, right? It’s a minor illness. I forgot to take the medicine that day, so I got sick.” Travis said lightly, pulling Leland to eat, “Let’s sit down and eat and talk.”

Leland Sirois: “Let’s talk privately! Let’s have dinner first and talk later.”

Travis: “Okay! You called me last time and asked me to remember you for something good, but I didn’t forget it!”

Chapter 2161

Leland Sirois: “I told Emilio about this just now! I thought you were going to play by yourself, not bring me. It seems that I am narrow-minded! I will punish myself for three cups later!”

Emilio watched his father and the surname Sirois sit down at a wine table in harmony, and his brain started running at high speed.

It’s really nice to see the father’s appearance.

What was he doing just now?

What happened? Did he have any chips in his hand?

Emilio walked over quickly and sat down beside his father.

During the banquet, because there were so many people, they didn’t talk about business.

After the banquet, the two of them went to the private room to chat. Emilio had no way to follow up, so he could only go to the bodyguard beside his father to inquire about the situation.

Emilio: “What were you doing with my dad just now? Did you meet someone?”

He hadn’t gone to the private room with his father and the surnamed Xiao, he would have asked his father directly.

The bodyguard felt that it was okay to tell Emilio about it, so he replied truthfully: "Although Margaret is dead, there are other people in her research team. The boss found other people in her research team today."

Emilio's thoughts were instantly opened....

He didn't think about it at all, but his father did.

Not only did his father think of it, but he also successfully found other members of Margaret's team.

The members of Margaret's team had always been kept secret from the outside world. Outsiders had no idea who the core members of her team are, so everyone's attention had always been on Margaret.

Emilio did not expect his father to find a way in such a desperate and difficult situation.

It is estimated that Avery and Elliot did not expect it either.

Emilio instantly saw hope that the Jones family was saved.

However, according to his father's character, in addition to using this technology to make money, he would definitely seek revenge on Elliot.

Emilio couldn't help but want to contact Avery again.

He got angry with Avery three days ago because he felt that the Jones family was over, and Elliot was the culprit who brought the Jones family down, so he took his anger on Avery.

Now that the Jones family is about to turn over, his mood towards Avery has changed back to what it was before.

After hesitating for a while, he never had the courage to call Avery.

After a while, Avery took the initiative to call him as if she knew what he was thinking.

"Is something wrong?" Emilio asked in a cold tone, holding the shelf.

"I watched the live replay of the funeral just now. I saw that your dad left the scene shortly after the memorial service started. He never showed up again.”

Avery took advantage of lunch time to watch Margaret’s funeral Live playback.

She was mainly curious about the guests who came to the memorial service today.

“Avery, you are so shrewd. You have discovered such small details.” Emilio laughed and ridiculed, and his tone was not malicious.

“Will your father be hospitalized again?” Avery guessed.

“I only praised you for your shrewdness, but you said the opposite. Not only did my dad not stay in the hospital, but he also found a way to deal with you.”

Emilio couldn’t help it after all, and he missed the point.

Chapter 2162

Avery’s expression froze, and her heart tightened: “What method?”

“You guess.” Emilio betrayed her, “Avery, I won’t tell you everything about the Jones family. You should understand.”

Avery: “Well, you are the second son of the Jones family after all. I can understand that you are on your father’s side.”

Emilio: “I feel like you are mocking me.”

“Emilio, don’t make up your mind so much. I-I don’t think so. Even if you say that you have no relationship with your father, after all, blood is thicker than water, and you are the only heir of your family. Most people will make the same choice as you. ” Avery said calmly, secretly But she was thinking about what bargaining chips Travis got.

Emilio: “I also want to live on my own like you and Elliot did, but the ideal is full and the reality is very skinny. If I leave the Jones family, I don’t know how I should live.”

Avery: "Well, Emilio, you are still different from your father. Yes. If you inherit the Jones family in the future, I believe you won't be like your father..."

"My father is not dead yet." Emilio knew what Avery meant. He hoped that the chips the Jones family had would not hurt her and Elliot.

If the Jones family was under his control, Emilio naturally wouldn't do that, but now Travis was in charge.

"How did Travis find Margaret's research results? Since Margaret didn't love him, she shouldn't leave things to him." Avery will guess.

"It wasn't left by Margaret. Did you overlook a problem, that technology was not developed by Margaret alone. She had a team at the time. Now, my dad has found someone from that team." Emilio didn't want to explain it to her, but chatting with her, his heart opened naturally.

"So it is." Avery really ignored this.

She forgot about the people on the team who also knew more or less about the technology.

At the beginning, Margaret's laboratory was invested by Travis. It was naturally easier for Travis to find other people in the team.

"Avery, I can't help you this time." Seeing that Avery didn't hang up or speak, Emilio knew that she must be in a very downhearted mood, "You took away my family's 14 billion, if my father didn't think of this method, most of our family will go bankrupt. Even if what my dad did is dishonorable, what you have done will not be dishonorable."

"Emilio, the grievances between us and your family did not come from us cheating on your dad. The money started when your father wanted to take away the Tate Industries and the Dream Makers Group. It is no exaggeration to say that your father may also want to take away the Sterling Group. You must be aware of your father's ambitions. If it wasn't for your father's deception Too much, how can we get revenge on your dad?"

Emilio: "I know...I know that my dad messed with you first. But I still can't watch the Jones family go bankrupt. I won't be sad if my dad dies, but if the Jones family goes bankrupt, I can't accept it."

"Emilio, I didn't ask you to do anything for me. I'm very grateful for you to tell me this news in advance." Avery said, and a phone call came in.

She picked up her phone and saw a familiar name.

It was from Eric.

Eric had become more and more popular in the past two years, and the schedule had become more and more full. Occasionally he came to see her, and he just hurried to meet for a meal and then left.

A few years ago, he came back after surgery, and the work after his comeback was relatively relaxed and casual, considering physical factors.

Afterwards, the body recuperates almost, and the work intensity also increases.

Avery talked to him once, and he said that his body had returned to a normal level, and he wanted to live up to this love while he still had passion.

Chapter 2163

After hanging up Emilio, she answered Eric's call.

"Avery, are you in Bridgedale now? Have you eaten yet? I'll invite you to dinner." Eric stepped barefoot on the soft wool pad, stood in front of the huge French window, and called her.

Eric just arrived at the house in Bridgedale, and when he was free, he thought of asking her out.

"I've finished my meal. Are you here for work or vacation?" Avery asked.

"Vacation. And this time I have saved two years of leave. I can rest for at least two months.” Eric said this, and laughed happily, “I didn’t want to come here because you are here, I just came here.”

“But I’m very busy.” Avery told the truth, “you should have heard about Elliot, right?”

“Well, I heard about it. I also consulted a doctor I know well. The doctor told me that the Elliot thing is too ridiculous. You can directly ask the screenwriter to write a movie.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing: “It’s a bit ridiculous. But that special device is indeed in Elliot’s mind. And it can make him feel unbearable. “

“Can’t you take it out?” Eric raised his doubts, “If it were me, I would definitely not be able to be controlled like this.”

Avery: “Eric, don’t say such things in front of Elliot.”

Eric: “I won’t say this in front of him. I won’t dare to yell at him in the future. If he gets angry with me, he definitely won’t forgive me.”

“Not only will I not forgive you, but Layla won’t either. But the two of you won’t have a chance to meet. He’s back to Aryadelle now.” Avery glanced at the sunshine outside the window. What Emilio said, her brows twitched unconsciously.

“Is he still coming when he returns to Aryadelle? You must not worry about being separated from him for too long.” Eric knows Avery’s feelings for Elliot too well, “Actually, I came to Bridgedale this time because I was forced to marry.”

Avery: “Uh? Your parents forced you to get married?”

“They introduced me to a partner. This matter is almost like a life-and-death device in Elliot’s head. They passed through a friend who had known each other for less than a month. The friend said that There was a relative who was very good-looking and showed my parents the photo. My parents saw the photo and felt that the person was completely in line with their fantasy of their daughter-in-law, so they forced me to go on a blind date with that person.”

Avery was stunned when she heard his words.

Avery: “That person is in Bridgedale?”

“Yeah!” Eric said, “I won’t go to see that person!”

“I think since my uncle and aunt like that girl very much, it means that the girl must be good -looking. Not bad, why don’t you go see me! What if it’s suitable?” Avery advised, “Or, you can add your contact information first and chat on the Internet first. After the chat is suitable, you can meet again.”

Eric: “Add... .You can’t imagine that the person my parents introduced to me is a tough guy with eight-pack abs.”

Avery: “How could this be? How could your parents...”

“My parents thought he’s a woman. Because the introducer said it was a woman. I told my parents that it was a man, but my parents didn’t believe me.” Eric was confused by this absurd thing and didn’t know what to do.

“Then how do you know that person is a man? Haven’t you met before?”

Avery was puzzled.

“His profile picture was a guy with eight-pack abs, and his name was also a man’s name.”

Avery: “Eric, the profile picture does not represent a person’s true identity! Since the introducer says she is a woman, I don’t think she will be wrong.”

Chapter 2164

“But I have a very strong premonition that I think he is a man.” Eric told her his feelings. He has no close friends, so this matter has been kept in his heart.

“Why?” Avery felt that his parents would not cheat him.

Eric: “The feeling I got from chatting with him.”

“If the two of you are still chatting, you can ask her directly next time. Such an important question must be clarified.” Avery suggested to him and asked at the same time, “Does she know your true identity?”

Eric hesitated for a moment, then replied, “Maybe I don’t know. My parents told the introducer that I was a small anchor.”

Avery said, “Auntie and uncle are still quite cautious, so they definitely won’t introduce you to a man.”

“My parents are sometimes rational and sometimes a little dizzy. Do you know how they introduced this girl to me?” Eric said and, he turned around and picked up a water glass from the small bar next to him and took a sip, “They think I like you so much because you are a doctor. The girl they introduced to me is also a medical student. And she is from a medical family. It is said that People’s grandparents, grandparents, parents, and mothers all studied medicine. So they think that me and that girl are a match made in heaven.”

Avery: “...”

Eric: “The two of them seem to be lowered their heads now. I have to let me take a vacation to find that girl.”

Avery: “How old is that girl?”

Eric: “It seems to be 21 years old. She is in her third year.”

Avery: “Eric, since my uncle and aunt are so fond of this girl, if you don’t hate this girl. If she meets with you, you can actually meet and chat.”

“I don’t even know her/her gender now. Although I chat occasionally, it’s really awkward. Especially every time I see his masculine head portrait, I doubt myself..." Eric sucked in pain. breathed.

Avery: "Then calm down first and wait for the changes."

"Well. Am I annoying you? Compared with Elliot's matter, it's not a big deal for me at all." Eric said, "How could that be? I'm not busy all day long. If I were you, I would definitely be in a difficult position. After all, my parents are old and can't completely ignore their feelings."

"This is the first time they have forced me." This is where Eric is distressed.

"Actually, they didn't force me to marry that person. But they forced me to meet that person."

"What's that girl's attitude toward you?" Avery asked.

Eric: "Neither cold nor hot. She sent me a message every now and then. She should be forced by her family like me."

"If she doesn't care about you, you don't need to worry." Avery said, stunned. After a moment, she said, "but if she knows your real identity is Eric, she will definitely fall in love with you."

Eric: "I won't let her know my real identity. Before I get rid of this strange feeling about her, I will...I won't reveal my identity."

Avery: "Well. It's better to be cautious. After all, the aunt and uncle and the introducer have only known each other for a month."

Eric: "This is the most ridiculous part. My parents would rather trust outsiders than me."

"You send me the picture of that girl. I want to see why my uncle and aunt only saw the picture of that girl and liked her so much." Avery asked curiously.

"The photos that the introducer gave to my parents are particularly heavy on the beauty marks. I don't know how many layers of filters have been added on her face." Eric said, "Why don't I send you the girl's photo!"

Avery: "Hahaha! Send it to me together!"

After hanging up, Eric sent the girl's photo to Avery's mobile phone.

Avery clicked on the girl's photo and was immediately attracted. She understood why Eric's parents liked this girl so much.

Chapter 2165

This girl stood in the sun with a very bright smile. She wears eyes, her facial features look very comfortable, and her smile is extraordinarily friendly, giving people a particularly well-behaved feeling.

Avery saw the photo and liked it very much.

Immediately after, Eric sent her whatsapp profile picture.

The avatar of this girl was a muscle photo taken by a macho guy in the gym.

Putting these two photos together, the visual impact was particularly strong.

Avery couldn't help laughing. It's no wonder that Eric doubts life. If it was her, she would doubt life too.

At 3:30 in the afternoon, Travis and Leland finished chatting and walked out of the private room.

Emilio immediately stepped forward and supported his father's arm.

"Emilio, don't take what I told you back then! I'm afraid you don't care about anything and can't help your father." Leland seemed to be in a good mood, so Emilio's attitude was particularly warmed.

"Uncle Sirois, it's fine, I didn't take it to heart." Emilio replied, "Are you going to play cards or go to rest? Do you want me to take you there?"

"No. You take your father to take a break, don't worry about me, I'll find someone to play by myself." Leland said with a smile, gestured to Travis and strode away.

Emilio sent his father to rest.

“It’s too noisy here. Take me home.” Travis said to Emilio, “You must be curious, I talked to him about something. I’ll tell you on the way back.”

Emilio: “Okay.”

The father and son walked out of the hotel, got in the car and left.

On the way, Travis told his son about his plan to make money.

“Don’t say it’s 14 billion in the future, I can earn more money.” Travis has already pulled Leland into the game. Leland is very rich.

Let Leland take out the money first, start the project, and then continue to use the concept of “reviving the dead” to circle more money.

At that time, there will be more capital entering the market, and this project will not be yellow no matter what. Because both the poor and the rich are full of fear of death.

Everyone wants to prolong their lives as much as possible, so those who are able will definitely pay for it.

After all, the brand name of this technology was developed by Margaret, the winner of the March Medical Award. Who would question its authenticity?

Leland was not a fool. If it is unprofitable, how can he be so happy and generous to give money to Travis?

“Dad, can the people in Margaret’s team really reproduce this technology? I always feel that Margaret will not let outsiders know the core content of this technology.” Emilio put forward his own opinion, “Dad, you don’t be deceived by those people.”

“Emilio, you are still too young. Leland said you, you should reflect on it.” The smile on Travis’s face withdrew a little, and his eyes looked far ahead, “I am sure I will die. Even if there is a way to live a few more years, my body is still declining every year. I can't live to be a hundred and fifty years old, much less two hundred years old. When I die, How are you going to defend the country I made?"

"Dad, don't you believe in resurrection?" Emilio wanted to know the truth behind this technique.

"Even if it's true, its effect is limited. For example, a strong person like Elliot might be useful, but an old man like you might be useless."

Chapter 2166

"Emilio, sometimes a concept can make a lot of money. I don't necessarily need them to develop a complete set of technical achievements like Margaret. As long as they can develop a decent shell, It's enough for us to make money." Travis once again showed a triumphant smile on his face.

"How did you talk to the people on that team? How did they tell you?" Emilio's heart was tightly clenched.

If the people in that team had mastered Margaret's technology, then Travis would definitely threaten Avery and Elliot.

If the people in that team hadn't fully grasped it, Travis would have no way to threaten them.

"Only one came today, and I only had a brief chat with him." Travis leaned back in the chair and closed his eyes slightly, "He said that Margaret asked each of them to touch only a part of the content at that time, so they had to deal with the rest of the team. People are also found, and then there is drama."

"I knew that Margaret couldn't let other people know the core content." Emilio breathed a sigh of relief in his heart.

At least for now, his father will not trouble Elliot and Avery.

Emilio didn't want the Jones family to go bankrupt, nor did he want to see his father and Elliot and Avery as enemies.

No matter which side has the upper hand, they don't want to see them fighting.

"Emilio, you're not going to tell Avery about this, are you?" Travis suddenly opened his eyes and looked at his son in horror, "If you f*cking dare to reveal what I just told you, I will kill you directly, do you believe it?!"

Emilio blushed and shook his head violently: "Dad, I've already broken up with Avery. They cheated our family for 14 billion. From the beginning, I recognized it clearly, Avery and I are not the same."

"If you can't see clearly, you don't deserve to be the heir of the Jones family."

Travis said solemnly, "Emilio, everything you have now is given to you by me! Don't think that I will treat you as your eldest brother is abolished. Lifeblood! If you dare to confront me, I would rather kill you without an heir! The country I have fought for in my life is a symbol of my ability, and I don't make money to pave the way for anyone! In other words, you guys I don't care if I live or die! I don't care what happens to the Jones family after I die, I just need to enjoy my life!"

Travis's concept was different from that of most parents.

Emilio has long known that although he is the only heir of the Jones family, he is different from the only heir that everyone thinks. Because Travis treats him no different from before.

"Dad, I won't be so confused." Emilio also replied solemnly to his father, "I don't want to live in poverty again."

Travis: "Just be clear. If you leave me, leave Jones's house, you are nothing.

Emilio: "Well."

"Since the father and son are of the same mind, then Emilio, you can learn from me how to make money in the future." Travis experienced this high blood pressure hospitalization, and his thoughts have changed a little compared to before.

Margaret used to be by his side. Margaret gave him specially developed medicine every day, which made him full of energy every day, so he gave him the illusion that he could live for a long time. So much so that he never thought that he would rely on his son so soon.

From Margaret's death to today, Travis obviously felt that his body was not as good as before.

"Okay. I will definitely work hard in the future. I will try not to embarrass you."

When Emilio said this, he suddenly thought of Norah, so he asked, "Did you send someone to find Norah?"

"She went to Aryadelle." Of course Travis will not let Norah go. No matter where Norah goes to the ends of the earth, Travis will catch her back and take revenge for being cheated!

"Norah can't get along in Bridgedale, and she can't get along in Aryadelle."

Emilio couldn't guess how Norah would go next.

Chapter 2167

If Emilio was Norah, he would probably be so desperate that he wanted to disappear.

"I don't care if Norah messes up or not, I'm going to take her back!" Travis's eyes were full of murderous intent, "I hate people treating me as a fool in my life! Norah was afraid of Elliot, so he helped Elliot punish me, she thinks that I'm her biological father, so I won't kill her! Haha!"

From his father's words, Emilio already knew that once Norah fell into his father's hands, she would definitely die.

In the evening.

Easy home.

Calvin Emond held his mobile phone and talked on the phone in the living room. He was one of Margaret team members.

After Margaret's research was over, he gave all members of the team a large sum of money, and then disbanded the team.

Because when he joined the team, he signed a special agreement. Three years after the team was disbanded, no team members could find related jobs during this time.

The member who went to Margaret's funeral today was Otto Wiens.

It was Otto Wiens who called Calvin Emond.

Otto told Calvin about the benefits Travis promised him today. He wanted to pull Calvin into Travis's team.

After talking on the phone, Calvin said to his wife who was standing beside him listening to the phone: "Mr. Wiens went to see Travis today. Travis came up with a salary ten times higher than our previous salary, so let's make Margaret's research results. He also promised to give us shares in the company."

"Travis is so generous? With such a high salary, why are you still hesitating? Promise!" Calvin's wife asked him to agree without thinking.

Calvin shook his head: "Travis is not a good person. If I took his money and couldn't achieve the results he wanted, he would definitely not give us the money for nothing."

Calvin's wife: "You are not the only one participating, what are you afraid of?"

“You don’t understand... Margaret’s technology, even if the rest of us add up, it is impossible to copy it. We are just doing miscellaneous things for Margaret... Besides, I am not interested in that technology. I have doubts. I know very well that Margaret paid for the March Medical Award.”

Calvin’s wife: “Husband, Margaret is dead, what are you talking about? Travis is looking for you because he thinks you can do... “

Calvin: “But we can’t do it!”

Calvin’s wife: “Just make it clear to Travis. Let’s see what Travis has to say. I don’t believe Otto didn’t show off with Travis today.”

Calvin sighed, “Otto has a showdown with Travis, Travis asked us to try No matter whether it can be done or not, try it first and then talk about it. He also promised that after we sign a contract with him, we will give us the money first. The temptation given by Travis is too great, and I am flustered.”

Calvin’s wife: “It’s a fool to have money and not make money! Our daughter is going to get married in two years, and it will cost a lot of money. If you don’t take advantage of it now, you won’t be able to make money easily in the future.”

Suddenly, the main door opened, and a shadow appeared in the living room.

“Dad, you insist on your own ideas, don’t listen to my mother. Travis is not a good person, don’t steal the chicken and lose the rice.” Calvin’s daughter, Maggie Emond came out and expressed her opinion.

Maggie’s mother: “Maggie, What do you know? Money is the most important thing to survive in this society!”

“Mom, you love money so much, you earn it yourself! Why force my dad?”

After Maggie finished speaking, she knew that her mother would teach her a lesson, so she ran out with her bag on her back.

Running out of the house, Maggie found a coffee shop and sat down, took out her mobile phone, and sent a message to Eric who was introduced by her relatives in a depressed mood: [I heard that you have come to Bridgedale, you should not come to see me in the bar?]

Chapter 2168

A message pops up on Eric's phone.

— Maggie sent a new message.

Eric took a bath, wiped his hair with a dry towel, and when he heard the news reminder, he freed up one hand and picked up the phone.

Seeing the word 'Maggie', the corner of his mouth couldn't help but twitch.

Who has a blind date like her and found her directly for himself?

His fingers moved on the screen and replied: [No.]

Maggie: What is it? Didn't you come to Bridgedale?

Eric: [I came to Bridgedale, but not to find you.]

Maggie: [Oh, so what are you doing here? Work? travel? Which platform do you usually live stream on? What is the name of your account? I went to see.]

Eric immediately made up his mind that the opposite was a wretched and greasy man.

He took a deep breath, turned around to find the water cup, took a sip of water, and was shocked.

He thought of Avery's words of encouragement during the day, so he gathered up his courage and sent a message: [Are you a man or a woman? My parents said you were a girl, but the feeling you gave me made me feel like you were not.]

Maggie couldn't help laughing when she saw the message Eric sent.

The object that her aunt introduced her was quite funny.

Maggie's aunt said to Maggie that Eric's mother was very beautiful. After seeing Eric's photos, she was that Eric was very handsome. Her aunt said that such a handsome guy must be introduced to her. Although the young man's work is not on the table, it doesn't matter, Maggie will work in the future and let Maggie take care of the outside, and Eric will take care of the inside. After Maggie listened to what her aunt said to her, her outer focus was tender and inner.

She had never seen this man named Eric, but as a result, her aunt had already helped them to do a good job in the division of labor after marriage.

Oh no, she has seen Eric's photos.

It's a photo that her aunt asked her mother for.

After seeing Eric's high p photo, her heart was very complicated.

Because the photo was so powerful, Maggie couldn't see the real person of this person at all.

Why does she say that his photo is high p, because this person doesn't seem to be very smart, and he actually turned the photo p into the appearance of an idol star.

Although the photo after his post only looks like the star by six or seven points, anyone with a discerning eye can see that he is trying his best to imitate the popular star.

Afterwards, Maggie thought about it, maybe this little anchor's job is to imitate that male star.

After all, imitation was also a way of survival.

After she figured it out, she was able to talk nonsense with Eric calmly.

Maggie: [Regarding my gender, it's more complicated. I can't tell you in a few words. If you like a woman, you can treat me as a woman, and if you like a man, you can treat me as a man. As long as two people have the same mind, what is the gender barrier? Feelings can arise between humans and animals, right?

When Eric saw her reply, his three views were shaking! After the shock was over, he felt that what she said didn't seem to have much logical flaws.

Maggie: [Aren't you in Bridgedale? Let's meet another day! When you invite me to dinner, I invite you to take a bath! Time to show you my big muscles!]

Chapter 2169

When Eric looked at the word 'big muscles', it was difficult to imagine her as a woman.

He sent a screenshot of the conversation between the two of them to Avery, so that Avery could feel their chatting style.

Avery finally understood why Eric was so confused after seeing the screenshot of the chat he sent.

Avery: [Maybe she's a girl, but she subconsciously thinks she's a man.]

Eric: [Do women have big muscles?]

Avery: [Yes! If you search on the Internet, there are people who exercise all year round.]

Eric: [All right! She asked me to meet, do you want me to meet her?]

Avery: [Look at yourself. If you don't want to see her, I'm afraid it's not easy to explain to your parents, right?]

Eric fell into deep thought. It seems that he still has to meet Maggie. But he did not understand this matter, and his life couldn't return to normal.

Eric: [When are you free?]

Maggie flipped through her timetable, and after a while, replied to Eric: [How about the afternoon the day after tomorrow?]

Eric: [Yes. The place is up to you. Just send me the location.]

Maggie: [OK...]

.....

The next day.

Travis and Margaret's team met in their living room.

There were a total of six people in the team, and these six people were the most important people in the team besides Margaret.

After Otto introduced his colleagues to Travis one by one, he explained: "The others are not important, so I didn't call. It's also to save you money."

"Hahaha! Otto, I see that you are not only smart, but also capable. I will remember that you can help me call so many people. After this is done, I will definitely not treat you badly. At that time, you will all be My hero!" Travis looked at everyone one by one, remembered their appearance, and continued, "If you can completely reproduce Margaret's research, that would be great, but if there is no way 100% re-engraving, as long as it can produce half of the results, as long as it can scare outsiders who don't know how to do it, that's okay. Do you have confidence?"

"We are 50% confident and there is definitely no way to do 100% within time."

Otto thought for a while and replied, "Can you tell my colleagues about the treatment you told me yesterday?"

"Yes! I will pay you ten times the previous pay. As long as You sign a labor contract with me, and I can immediately credit the remuneration to your account. In the future, you are my people, and I will naturally ensure your safety, so I will assign bodyguards to each of you to ensure your safety. "

Travis said his thoughts, "Don't get me wrong! I'm not trying to spy on you, but many people are playing against you. Once your identities are exposed, your situation will become more dangerous. I will find a bodyguard. Protecting you is also for the normal promotion of my new career. As long as I make money, I will definitely let you make a lot of money!"

Travis's tone was full of sincerity, making it difficult to refuse.

Otto and a few old colleagues looked at each other for a few seconds, and then said: "If you are worried, you can reconsider. I will sign it today."

"Well, I will show you the contract. After you have read it and if you have any comments, please sign it." Travis asked Emilio to send the prepared contracts to them respectively.

After the six people got the contract, they looked carefully.

"Brother Emond, did I lie to you? Mr. Jones is still very sincere." After Otto read the contract, he said to Calvin, "As long as we can achieve 50% of the results, Mr. Jones will not be difficult for us."

"Hahaha, you are the people who have been doing research with Margaret for several years. How can I make things difficult for you? Even if you don't research anything in the end, I will not make things difficult for you. At most, let you return your rewards." Travis If so, everyone was relieved of their concerns.

After the six people signed the contract, they went to the new laboratory under the leadership of Emilio.

Chapter 2170

Aryadelle.

After Elliot rested for a night, he sent Robert to kindergarten first, and then sent Layla to elementary school early the next morning.

After arriving in elementary school, Elliot met Katalina. Katalina looked at Elliot with surprise. She knew that Elliot had returned to Aryadelle, but she thought that Elliot was relatively weak and had to rest at home.

Unexpectedly, Elliot looked like a normal person.

“Mr. Foster, are you in good health? I see your complexion, and I think you are fine.” Katalina greeted him.

“Well, I feel fine now.” Elliot changed his words, “I heard that you told Aqi that it was your cousin who planned what happened in Yonroeville. Up to now, I haven’t personally said my thanks to you.”

“Mr. Foster, you are too polite. Even if the victim is not you, but someone else I know, I should have spoken out. I did this not to make you thank me, but to make my own conscience better. So you don’t thank me with Miss Tate. Miss Tate has thanked me several times on whats aap.” Katalina said with embarrassment.

“Norah has returned to Aryadelle now. You usually pay attention when you go out. If Norah contacts you privately, you can tell Aqi at any time and don’t meet Norah alone.” Elliot reminded.

Katalina smiled and said: “Mr. Foster, I have already deleted her contact information. If she calls me, as long as I hear her voice, I will hang up immediately. I will not have any dealings with her again.”

Elliot: “Well. Go to work! When Avery comes back, we will invite you to dinner.”

After Elliot finished speaking, Katalina took Layla to the classroom.

After seeing his daughter entered the classroom, Elliot left the school with Aqi.

“Aqi, how far have you and Katalina developed?” Elliot asked after getting into the car.

Aqi’s face turned red with a ‘swish’.How can the boss ask such a sensitive question?

The boss never asked about his private life before.

The boss must be concerned about Katalina, but he is too embarrassed to ask Katalina directly.

"I-I made an appointment with her to climb the mountain this weekend... We booked a homestay at the foot of the mountain. We will spend the night outside..." Aqi blushed and told the date itinerary say.

Elliot glanced at him and didn't understand why Aqi was so shy: "It's good. Take advantage of the opportunity."

"Uh...she proposed to go hiking with me. I'm not really good at dating women. I-I think it's too much trouble. I usually rest, I like to sleep at home, or go to the gym to work out." Aqi fastened his seat belt, "Boss, where are you going?"

Elliot: "Go to the company."

"Okay. I was going to ask Katalina to spend the weekend Going to the gym, but she doesn't like the gym. She likes the outdoors." Aqi said, drove out.

Elliot: "Are you going to climb mountains far away?"

"It's not too far. It's in the city." Aqi said bluntly, "Katalina could have come back the same day, but she wanted to see the sunrise the next day. So she booked a homestay. Actually I prefer hotels, not B&Bs (Bed and Breakfast). But she likes B&Bs."

It could be seen that Aqi was very submissive to Katalina.

"Katalina might want to test you." Elliot remembered reading a passage,

"Someone said that if you want to see if two people are suitable, you can see if you go on a trip together."

Aqi: "I thought she just wanted to climb the mountain with me!"

“You don’t have to lower yourself to obey her. It’s suitable if it’s suitable, but it’s not suitable if it’s not suitable.” Elliot said, “If it’s not suitable, you are even married and divorce soon.”

Chapter 2171

“But I think you and Miss Tate are very suitable. Although the two of you are divorced, I never think that the two of you are really divorced.” Although Aqi hasn’t been in love much, he can see that Elliot and Avery get along Sometimes. He can see that they have each other in their hearts.

It was easy to see whether two people have feelings for each other.

“The situation between me and Avery is very rare. Most of them don’t get along after they get divorced.” Elliot reminded him, “Take advantage of this trip with her, you can also investigate to see if she is the one you are looking for your wife.”

Aqi: “Good boss. I’ll take a good look at it.”

“You don’t have to be too nervous. Just go with what you feel.” Elliot continued.

Aqi: “Okay.”

Not long after, the car arrived at Sterling Group.

After the car stopped in front of the building, Elliot opened the door and got out of the car.

Elliot hasn’t been back for months and it feels like he hasn’t been back in years. The familiar and unfamiliar feeling made him feel relaxed and heavy.

Entering the company, a group of executives immediately came to his office.

“Boss, you’re finally back! We miss you very much these days you’re gone.”

“There are always people outside that say you’re gone, but we still don’t believe it. We believe you’ll come back. No, you’re really back. “

“Boss, are you alright? Seeing your blushing face, you feel better than the last time I saw you!”

Everyone knew Elliot very well, so they spoke more straightforwardly.

“I’m in good health now. I’ve worked hard for you in the past few months.

From today, I will resume normal work. Even if I’m not in the company, I will work online.” Elliot told everyone, “If you suddenly can’t work in the future. If you contact me, you can contact Avery. Do you have her contact information?”

Except for Ben Schaffer, everyone else shook their heads left to right.

Elliot: “You can also ask Ben Schaffer.”

“Then let me add Miss Tate’s friend!” An executive said, “I have Miss Tate’s phone number, but I have never dared to contact her.”

“I also have Miss Tate’s number, I didn’t dare to disturb her.”

Almost at the same time, everyone opened whatsapp and applied to add Avery as a friend.

Bridgedale, half past ten in the evening.

Avery was on a voice call with Ivory Pepin.

When she was taking a bath just now, Ivory made three voice calls to her. If she hadn’t known that Ivory’s character was more impatient, she would definitely have thought that something major had happened.

“Avery, I’ve been researching it for days and nights. Really, the more I think about it, the more I think this may be a conspiracy!” Ivory told Avery of his bold idea, “Guess why Margaret Gomez died? Choose to die immediately after winning the March Medal? Don’t tell me that she is for James Hough, no matter how I think it is impossible!”

Avery: “Why is it impossible? Mr. Pepin, you don’t know them well.”

“I-I really didn’t know enough about them in the past, but after I came here, I studied it carefully. Margaret and James Hough have not had any contact for a long time. After all, James Hough has been dead for a long time.

Furthermore, according to Margaret’s previous acceptance In the interview, I judged her character, and she will never sacrifice her love for a man casually.”

Ivory’s tone was loud, as if he had good reasons to prove that he was right.

But he couldn’t come up with solid evidence.

“What exactly do you mean by the conspiracy?” Avery was not in a hurry to deny what Ivory said.

Chapter 2172

“This goes back to the question we discussed on the first day we met.

Regarding Margaret’s resurrection technique, does it really exist?” When Ivory mentioned this topic, he became excited, “Although Margaret took

When it comes to the March Medical Award, it looks very beautiful and awesome, but there is only one successful clinical trial example of her technology, and that is Elliot.”

Avery understood what Ivory was going to say.

“Avery, do you really think there is such a coincidence? People who have won the March Medical Award in the past, the drugs or technologies they developed have gone through countless clinical trials, and the success rate is very high, only in this way, in order to prove the great contribution to the society, so as to win the March Medical Award. But Margaret has only one successful case, doesn’t she find it ironic that she won this award? “

Avery did not answer. At one point, she was questioned. Second, she had long known through Professor Greens that the Margaret award was predetermined.

“As the most influential award in the medical world, it is too hasty to give Margaret the March Medical Award! Or are they treating everyone as a fool? If Margaret’s technology is very mature and can withstand scrutiny, why has it taken so long?, there is only one successful case? After Elliot was successfully brought back to life by them, Margaret immediately disbanded the team, which is even more strange!”

The question raised by Ivory made Avery also suspicious.

“This shows that after Margaret resurrected Elliot, she immediately contacted the judges of the March Award. After she was sure that she could win the award, she had no further plans.”

Avery explained her understanding, “Her behavior is really strange.”

Ivory: “Because there is no resurrection technique at all! The reason why Elliot is alive now is not because of the device she put in Elliot’s head! Avery, how about we make a bet? What do you want? I can give you the bet, I bet Elliot doesn’t need that device at all! Let’s take the device out of his head! If he takes it out, he won’t have any influence at all...”

Avery: “Mr. Pepin, I have also thought about the question you raised. I also hope that Elliot has never died. I hope more than anyone else that he is not controlled by anyone and is a normal person. But I dare not take that device rashly. If you take it out and something happens to him, no matter what bet you give me, I don’t want it.”

Avery will never forget the night when Elliot was controlled by Margaret and had a headache, “That device has an external controller. “

“I know! As long as you take that device out of Elliot’s head, he won’t need to be controlled by anyone!” Ivory insisted, “Avery, you still don’t trust me after all.”

“It’s pointless to argue about this. If you have someone you love, you will definitely understand my feelings.” Avery’s tone was calm, “Actually, I really really hope it’s what you said...”

“It’s what I said! It’s just you Don’t believe me. It’s a pity that the device is not in my head, or I’ll take it out and show you right now.” Ivory sighed, “Forget it, it’s useless to tell you this.”

“You are not allowed to go to Elliot to Say this! If you go to him and say this, he will definitely go crazy with you! No one can tell the real reason for Margaret’s suicide! We are not her, and our guesses are just guesses. Also, Travis has found other members of Margaret’s original team. They plan to restart the project! Whether this technology is true or false, there should be an answer soon.” Avery said.

“They started that project, obviously to make money.” Ivory said.

“They can make up a lot of lies, hire navy, and create a lot of ‘success stories’. I’m sure they will.”

“Mr. Pepin, It’s very late today, let’s not talk about this for now. We’ll talk when we meet tomorrow.” Avery said. She had a headache.

Of course, her reason was to hope that things were as Ivory said, and everything was an illusion created by Margaret.

What resurrection was just a fantasy bubble, a gimmick made by Margaret in order to win the prize. She also really wanted to take out the device in Elliot’s brain so that Elliot would never be tortured again.

Every time Ivory suggested to her to take out the device in Elliot’s brain, she would be crazy, but in the end, the fear of losing Elliot would prevail.

Avery hung up the phone and saw that there was a friend application on whats aap, so she clicked it –a string of friend applications of Sterling Group executives, which made her mistakenly think that she was confused.

Are these people hacked?

She stared at the phone screen for a few seconds, her fingers uncontrollably, and one by one agreed. She planned to find someone at random to ask what happened. Before she could send her message, the other party sent a message first: [Hello Miss Tate, the boss asked us to add you.]

Avery was confused: [Why did he let you add me?]

Elliot didn't tell Avery this.

Executive: [He said next time we can't reach him again, we'll find you directly.]

Chapter 2173

Avery: [Oh? Did he go to work at the company today?]

Executive: [Yes!]

Avery watched as the executive added a smiley face to every sentence he sent, which made her blushed with embarrassment.

Avery: [OK....]

Executive: [Then I won't disturb your rest.]

Avery: [Mmmm.]

After chatting with this executive, there were several greeting messages from other executives.

Avery took a deep breath and opened Elliot's dialog box: [Running to work so impatiently?]

Elliot looked at the smiling face she sent, and felt a cold wind blowing up his back.

He immediately replied: [I just came to see the company.]

Avery: [Oh, I didn't let you go to work, so be careful not to get tired. Have you bought a ticket to Bridgedale?]

Elliot: [No, I want to stay with the child for a few more days. Just wait until the weekend is over.]

Avery: [OK.]

Elliot: [You haven't slept yet? Staying up late every day is not good for your health.]

Avery: [I'm going to sleep.]

Avery: [By the way, Eric came to Bridgedale. He has a longer vacation this time, and he should stay in Bridgedale for a while.]

After she sent the news, she waited to see Elliot's reaction.

If it was before, Elliot would definitely come back to her soon after seeing such news.

She waited for a while without waiting for his reply.

She sighed and continued to send him a message: [Eric came to Bridgedale to meet his blind date. I want to see you next Tuesday at the latest.]

Elliot: [Good.]

Seeing Elliot's answer, Avery breathed a sigh of relief. She didn't mean to force him so tight.

Elliot felt that his health was fine, and it was human nature to want to stay at home for a while longer.

If Travis hadn't brought Margaret's original team under his command, Avery wouldn't be so upset.

Now Travis hasn't troubled them yet, which shows that the original team did not fully grasp Margaret's research results. But the people in the original team may study it at any time.

Avery was afraid that Travis would attack Elliot, so she had to get Elliot back to her side as soon as possible.

Chapter 2174

The next day, morning.

Easy home.

Maggie looked at the table full of rich breakfast, and asked her mother, Maxine Emond: "Mom, what's the special day today? During the New Year's Eve in our family, the breakfast was not so rich!"

Maxine: "They signed a labor contract yesterday, and Travis sent your dad's salary early this morning."

Maggie looked at her father in shock.

Such a big thing, her parents didn't tell her in advance.

Maxine: "Maggie, do you know how much your dad took this time? You can't imagine it. It's ten times more than what he took from Margaret Gomez before. I asked an agent to see the house, and our family is about to change to a bigger house!"

"Dad, why are you working for Travis? Travis is a pervert. Last time his scandal broke, didn't you scold him too? Did you forget it?" Maggie was afraid that her father would get into trouble with someone she shouldn't, so she was particularly opposed to her father working for Travis.

"Maggie, I asked your father to do this. Whose money is not earning? It's not just your father who does things for Travis! All of your father's former colleagues signed contracts with Travis..." Maxine raised her voice a few degrees and answered her daughter.

"Mom, what others do has nothing to do with our family. If Dad can't fulfill Travis's request, what will be the consequences? Don't you consider this issue? If my dad and his colleagues can develop a resurrection technique, why work for Travis? Wouldn't it be possible to make more money by going directly to the world's richest man to invest?" Calvin was embarrassed by the words of his daughter.

Maxine: "Maggie, you are right. But Dad has signed a contract with Travis. He also accepted the payment he paid, so there is no way to go back. He already said that if he can't fulfill his requirements, he just needs to return the money in the end."

"If that's the case, then give me your card. You can't spend a cent of the money in it. If you take it to buy a house now, and Travis will ask you to refund the money later, how will you refund it to him?" Maggie stretched out her hand towards her father.

Maxine took chopsticks and patted her daughter's palm.

"Your father's money is in your control? He has given me the card! I believe your father will not do anything unsure. Now that he has signed the contract, he must be confident." Maxine couldn't hand over the money, Will not go back.

"Maggie, don't worry. I've thought about it carefully, and there shouldn't be any problems. It's inconvenient for me to tell you about some of the content. It's because I signed a non-disclosure agreement." Calvin soothed his daughter's emotions, "Your mother has long been If you want to change the house, let her go to the house! If you are free, you can go with your mother."

"I'm not going." Maggie bit the bread and turned away from the unpleasant topic, "My aunt didn't give it to me. Did you introduce someone? That person has come to Bridgedale."

Maxine snorted: "I think that old woman is in a daze. She looks down on our family, so she introduced you to someone who doesn't even have a serious job. Didn't I tell you to ignore them? You want to be a doctor in the future, so how can you associate with such a messy man?"

"Wife, don't be so excited. Her aunt told me that that The young man is very handsome. The young man's parents are also decent people and have pensions. Since Maggie has contacted them, it means that the young man is not much worse. Falling in love is not marriage, let's leave it alone." Calvin was more tolerant towards her daughter.

Some girls are well-behaved and look very obedient. Generally, such girls are passive and have no opinion. But Maggie was the exact opposite. She was very assertive in her work, and had been particularly reassuring since she was a child.

"Don't worry about me. Even if my blind date is unreliable, it's easier to deal with than Travis." After Maggie finished speaking, she ate the bread, took a sip of water, put her bag on her back, and went to the entrance to change her shoes.

"Maggie, if you go to see that blind date, don't meet at night! It's not safe at night! It's better to ask your brother to accompany you." Calvin said to his daughter with a loud voice.

Chapter 2175

"Dad, don't worry! I will definitely not suffer." After Maggie finished speaking, she went out.

Maxine looked at the closed door and muttered, "It's really not a girl's college to stay. The other party is just a small anchor, and she is a top student in the medical school, so she doesn't know how to be reserved at all. Husband, don't you feel ashamed? "

Calvin: "Wife, anchoring is a very popular job right now. Do you think that the threshold for anchoring is very low? Then you are wrong. An anchor not only needs to look good, but also has to be able to speak..."

Maxine: "Okay. Come on, don't talk to me. I'm against it anyway."

"If you don't support it, then don't oppose it. What if the more you oppose, the more Maggie opposes you?"

Maxine frowned: "It is indeed possible. Then I'll reserve my opinion for now!"

...

Today is the day that Eric Santos and Maggie Emond agreed to meet.

Eric asked his assistant, Frank to meet the true face of 'Maggie' instead of him to see if the other party was a man or a woman.

On the other hand, Maggie asked his own younger brother, Ian Emond, to come over for the appointment.

The reason why Maggie pulled her brother over is because her avatar is her brother's fitness photo.

In the coffee shop, after Frank and Ian met, their eyes stared like copper bells, and their mouths could swallow whole eggs.

The two of them agreed, turned on their mobile phones, and checked the photos of each other sent to them by their sister and boss.

"I'm going! Are you too deceiving?" Ian held up the photo of Eric and looked at Frank's face carefully.

No matter how Frank look at it, his face doesn't match up with the handsome guy in the photo!

"If I'm cheating, then you're cheating! Aren't you a woman? Your Adam's shoppingmode apple is more protruding than mine! What are you doing?"

Frank also glanced at the photo of Maggie in his phone, although this The man's appearance was very similar to the woman in the photo, but the body was different and the gender was different.

apple

Ian said, "You're a scammer, right? My aunt said you were handsome, that's all? I thought about it, you have nothing to do with 'handsome', but you look quite 'angry'."

"Why are you so ugly? Although I'm not that handsome, I still have good features, right?" Frank was insulted, his cheeks flushed, "I thought you were a soft girl! I'm really disappointed."

"I'm also quite disappointed in you! Just your face! Worth, if you want to chase my sister... If you want to chase me, you're just imagining it!" Ian almost missed his mouth, immediately picked up the water glass and took a sip.

"I didn't say I wanted to chase you! I'm old... and I don't like men!" Frank almost leaked his mouth, then picked up the water glass and took a sip.

"Forget it, let's eat first! I'm hungry." Ian picked up the menu and started ordering.

"Okay, little brother. After this meal, please explain this misunderstanding to the elders. Otherwise, it will affect my life too much." Frank said.

"Don't worry, after this meal, we will never again. We've met." Ian vowed to speak.

Chapter 2176

Three hours later.

Frank returned to the boss Eric.

"Boss, it's really a pity, he's really a man! If it's fake, then the Adam's apple can't be faked." Frank said with a look of regret.

"Since he's a man, why did you stay out with him for so long?" Eric glanced at the time, "You two shouldn't go to the bath after eating, right?"

Frank shook his head: " No. But I saw his big muscles up close. After we both ate, he was sweating hot and took off his coat, so I could see..."

"So what? What did you two do outside?" Eric was puzzled.

The other side.

Ian handed the screen of his mobile phone to his sister.

"He took me to play games and passed the level! Although he doesn't look very good and is very fat, he has a good temper. He doesn't say swear words when he meets teammates who cheat in games. It can be seen that his character is very good. It should be good." Ian spoke highly of Frank.

Maggie lifted her arm: "So what? When you finally leave, shouldn't you make an appointment to continue playing the game next time?"

"Yeah! I'll let him take me!" Ian looked at his sister with his big's eyes, "Sister, don't cut ties with him first! You can't be lovers, you can be friends! As long as you treat him as a friend, It doesn't matter what he looks like! He invited me for lunch today! He ordered a large table of dishes for me, and I am so happy to eat!"

Maggie raised her hand to rest on Ian's forehead.

She didn't expect her brother to be so easy to buy.

Maggie: "Don't you want to stay in shape? You eat so much that you don't want to be in shape?"

"It's okay to indulge once in a while." Ian put an arm around his sister's shoulder, "Sister, I really think that man can be a friend! If we meet next time, let's go together!"

"You don't mean he is seriously cheating with us? you also said that he is chubby, I really can't accept a fat man..." Maggie didn't plan to meet her blind date again.

Ian: "Be a friend!"

"I don't need him to play games with me. Brother, you can make him brother yourself!" After Maggie finished speaking, she shook her hair, got on the electric car next to her, and put on her helmet, "I will be tonight. I have class, so I won't go home for dinner. Also, if my parents ask me about my blind date, don't say anything."

Ian: "Why?"

"They don't tell me anything, and I don't want to told them anything." Maggie was brooding about her father's promise to work for Travis.

She checked Travis's related news again today, and she found a revelation that Travis had borrowed billions from the bank.

For her, Travis was like a bottomless hole, and it was really unwise for her parents to get involved with such a person for the sake of short-term interests.

.....

Eric heard Frank talk about what happened after meeting with 'Maggie'. Not only did he not feel calm, but he felt even more disgusted.

Especially after Frank told Eric that Maggie was a vigorous and a little silly and sweet male college student, he couldn't look directly at the fact that he had a blind date with him.

"Boss, I have already told him, let him go back and make it clear to the elders, you don't have to worry about it in the future." Frank said, "But he asked me to continue to play games with him in the future, and I agreed."

"You're okay. Like him?" Eric glanced at Frank.

Chapter 2177

"Hahaha! Because he's good. He has thick eyebrows and big eyes. He is a year old brother. I'm so excited. I have a younger brother who is far worse than him." Frank explained embarrassingly, "Boss, as long as you don't put When he is a blind date, he is actually not so obsessed with it."

"It's not him, but the introducer." Eric picked up the water glass and went for a glass of cold water, "My parents must have told him. Even though my sexual orientation is normal, the introducer has to introduce me to a man. The most hateful thing is that the introducer actually took a picture of a woman to deceive us."

At this point, Eric paused, his bright eyes watching Frank: "You saw him today, he looks the same as the girl in the photo?"

Frank said, "I can't say they are exactly the same, after all, one is male and the other is female. But the facial features are not bad. After he saw me, he compared my photos with yours, and he almost screamed out in fright.

Hahaha!"

Eric has completely lost his curiosity about the blind date. After all, he already knew the real gender of the other party.

Frank said: "Boss, I think acquaintance is fate, don't we have to stay in Bridgedale for a while? Next time you have a chance, you can go and see for yourself."

"Next time? You still want to see him!" Eric asked Frank.

"It's not true... It's mainly because we deceived him, I don't feel very well."

Frank said, stretched out his hand and scratched his head, "I can't respond every time he calls me brother. Next time I hope he will call me Frank."

...

The new laboratory invested by Travis will be put into use soon.

In order to reassure investors, Travis invited Leland Sirois to visit the laboratory together.

Accompanied by Travis and Emilio, Leland Sirois came to the laboratory.

“These six people are the original members of the Margaret team. They are all core members of the original team. The others are my newly recruited elites in the medical field, and they will be their assistants.” Travis introduced to Leland, “ Mr. Sirois, you can rest assured that I will do things. I have already made a plan for the follow-up marketing and publicity. When the plan is optimized, I will send it to you.”

“Well. Margaret is dead, and this resurrection technique is not up to us. Even if there is no such medical technique in this world, we must convince everyone that it exists! Only in this way we can make a steady profit without losing money.” Leland Sirois invested 5 billion in Travis...

In order to show his sincerity, Leland made a one-time payment to the account of MH Medicine.

“If I don’t have the determination to win, how can I form a team so quickly? Mr. Sirois, I am more eager to succeed than you.” Travis was ambitious and full of confidence, “Margaret is the winner of the March Medical Prize, and I am Margaret’s fiancé, this is something everyone knows. Even if you don’t believe me, you will still believe in the gold content of the March Medical Award!”

Leland: “Haha, Mr. Jones, this is also the main reason for me to cooperate with you.”

Then they started roaming around the lab.

“Mr. Wiens, this is Mr. Sirois, our investor.” Travis saw Otto looking this way, so he introduced to Otto.

Otto Wiens immediately walked up to the two of them and greeted them politely: “Mr. Jones, Mr. Sirois, how are you?”

“Mr. Wiens, tell Mr. Sirois about your current work situation.” Travis found a chair next to him and sat down.

Otto Wiens immediately reported the current work situation to Leland one by one.

Finally, Otto Wiens said mysteriously: “We seem to have found a way to control the device in Elliot’s mind.”

Travis immediately stood up from his chair after hearing this “Then try it now! See if it works!”
Travis often dreamed of Elliot in his dreams these days.

Travis really hated Elliot so much!

Chapter 2178

“Elliot is now in Aryadelle. Even if it is useful, we can’t see it.” Emilio, who had been silent all the time, spoke at this time.

“Hehe, if it’s really useful, Elliot was tortured to death by us. Do you think the people around Elliot would not tell Avery? As long as Avery knows that something happened to Elliot, she will naturally find a way. Hahaha! It’s starting to be fun.” Travis said.

Leland Sirois was a little surprised: “Mr. Jones, we earn our money, so there is no need to be an enemy of Elliot, right?”

Leland Sirois didn’t know that Travis was deceived by Elliot of $14 billion.

It was impossible for Travis to tell such a shameful thing to outsiders. So he just made up reasons.

“I have a grudge with Elliot. It was Avery and Elliot who exposed my scandal before.” Travis looked gloomy, “Mr. Jones, you wouldn’t be so brave, would you? If we can control Elliot, then don’t Elliot and Avery just listen to us? Their money and their connections can be used by us. When our wealth surpasses theirs, do we still need to look at their faces?”

Leland Sirois was very embarrassed: "Elliot and I have no grievances and no enmity. I don't have to go through this muddy water."

"Don't worry. I can't fight an uncertain battle. I'm just trying now to see if I can control Elliot. If I can't, I definitely won't take the initiative to trouble him. My energy is limited now. Of course, all of it is used to make money." Travis said.

"If I can control Elliot, I won't do too much. After all, we now have our own way to make money. Elliot's thinking is too simple. Elliot's success depends not only on him, but also on the entire think tank behind him. Sterling Group is not owned by Elliot alone. If you want Sterling Group, I advise you to dream less. Don't lose yourself and lose your army again." Leland Sirois reminded.

Travis was much clearer than before.

Travis: "Don't worry, my focus now is on our project."

After speaking, Travis looked at Otto Wiens: "Take me to see the method that you said we can control Elliot."

Otto Wiens immediately led the way.

Emilio followed behind his father step by step to see the method together.

What he was most worried about, he didn't expect to happen so soon.

If the method of controlling Elliot was useful, his father would definitely torture Elliot to threaten them.

At least the $14 billion deceived by Elliot will definitely come back.

And Elliot's character may not be able to bear this loss.

It must be another bloodbath by then.

"Look, the pattern on this screen is the pattern of the device in Elliot's head. I can use the computer to trigger the device in his head." Otto Wiens explained in detail, "These buttons are contraction, relaxation, and electrical stimulation.

...Even if I can't kill Elliot, it should give Elliot a severe headache."

Leland Sirois frowned upon hearing Otto Wiens's words.

Isn't this thing the key device of the resurrection technique? How come there are only so many functions?

"Okay! Hahaha! Mr. Wiens, try it now!" Travis laughed, "Keep stimulating his brain, don't stop until Avery comes to me."

Otto Wiens hesitated, then replied: "Okay. I'll try it. It may not work."

"Mr. Wiens, I believe in you. You will definitely not disappoint me!" Travis said, and sat down in the chair next to him.

Aryadelle. 10 o'clock at night.

Elliot came out of the study and planned to go back to the room to take a bath and rest.

But the footsteps just stepped out of the study, and suddenly there was a sharp pain in the head!

He grabbed his head with one hand and propped himself against the wall with the other.

This pain was not unfamiliar.

When Margaret controlled him before, he threatened Avery like this.

Margaret was dead, who was manipulating him now?

His face turned pale with pain, and beads of sweat appeared on his forehead.

Chapter 2179

He gritted his teeth tightly, preventing himself from screaming in pain.

The two children have already slept, and now the quiet needles can be heard in the villa.

In his case, even if he went to the doctor now, it would not help.

Just wait for the pain to stop on its own.

He thought that as long as he endured, the pain would disappear after a while... But after half an hour, the pain still did not disappear.

He was on one knee, his body weight against the wall.

His thoughts began to wander, his body trembled uncontrollably... The only thing that didn't change was that he still clenched his teeth and made no sound.

It would be fine if he just died.

At least Avery would free in the future!

"Mr. Jones, if he continues to stimulate his brain with electricity, it will be lifethreatening for a long time." Otto Wiens kept staring at the time. After half an hour, Otto Wiens reminded Travis.

Travis glanced at his phone.

Avery didn't call herself.

"Dad, why don't I call Avery and ask!" Emilio was afraid of losing his life and it would not end well, so he approached Travis's ear and discussed, "Elliot is not with Avery. Even if he is in pain to death now, I'm afraid I won't tell Avery. I'll call Avery now and ask Avery to take a look..."

Travis was afraid that Elliot was really dead, and the money that was defrauded would not come back....

"Go and call Avery." After Travis finished speaking, Emilio immediately took the mobile phone and came out of the laboratory.

He found a secluded place and dialed Avery.

"Avery, hurry up and call Elliot, or call the rest of Elliot's family to see how Elliot is doing now." Emilio's tone was a little urgent, "People from Margaret's team said they found a way to control Elliot. Just now They tried it for half an hour, and I don't know if it worked."

Avery heard the words, and the calm on her face disappeared.

She hung up the phone and immediately called Elliot.

Elliot's cell phone rang, but Elliot couldn't answer it. Because he has fainted in pain.

The call was made, but no one answered, so the system hung up automatically.

An ominous premonition rose in Avery's heart.

If Elliot was fine, he would definitely answer the phone at this point.

Avery was so frightened that her heart twitched and her eyes became sour.

With trembling fingers, she opened the address book and found Mrs.

Cooper's number to dial.

Avery: "Mrs. Cooper! Is Elliot at home?"

Avery's voice made Mrs. Cooper get out of bed immediately: "Sir is at home!

He came back for dinner at night and didn't go out."

"Go find him quickly! I want to see him. I can't get through on the phone, I suspect that something has happened to him!" Avery said this, his voice already crying.

"Okay Avery, don't worry. He didn't answer the phone because he fell asleep. It's very late here." Mrs. Cooper comforted Avery, but her heart was already confused.

Mrs. Cooper trotted all the way to the second floor.

As soon as he was on the second floor, he saw Elliot who fainted in the corridor.

"Sir!" Mrs. Cooper forgot to talk on the phone and exclaimed as she ran over.

On the other side of the phone, Avery heard Mrs. Cooper's exclamation, and the picture of Elliot's accident already appeared in her mind.

Mrs. Cooper ran to Elliot's side and wanted to help Elliot up, but Elliot was too heavy, and Mrs. Cooper couldn't help him up by herself.

Mrs. Cooper ran downstairs quickly and called the bodyguard to help.

"Why did the boss faint? Could it be that he is sick? Did you call an ambulance?" The bodyguard hurried upstairs.

Only then did Mrs. Cooper remember that she had a mobile phone in her hand, and the call interface with Avery was still there.

"Avery, Mr. Foster is fainted! I'll call the ambulance first! I'll call you later!"

Mrs. Cooper said, hung up the phone and called the emergency center.

Not long after, Elliot was sent to the hospital.

Avery was not in the country, so she was anxious and had no choice at all.

She called Wesley and asked him to go to the hospital.

After that, she called Emilio back.

"You guys are too much!" Avery trembled slightly with anger, "Emilio, if Elliot has any mistakes, I won't let you go! I'll do what I say!"

"What happened to him?" Emilio could feel in her tone that something might have happened to Elliot.

"Elliot fainted! Now he's taken to the hospital!"

"Oh... my dad doesn't want Elliot to die. Avery, you definitely don't want Elliot to be tortured in the future, right? My dad also wants to. It's clear, as long as you return the money you swindled from my dad before, I can persuade my dad to stop bothering Elliot in the future." Emilio discussed with Avery, "If you think it's ok, I will now Just go and tell my dad."

Avery had no choice at all.

After thinking for a while, she agreed to Emilio's request.

If the money was returned to Travis, it would be worth it to stop the endless torture.

At least she doesn't have to worry about it anymore.

Emilio finished talking on the phone, returned to the laboratory, and strode to his father.

"How? Is there any effect?" Travis asked.

Emilio nodded: "Elliot fainted and was sent to the hospital."

"It's amazing! It has such a strong effect!" Travis was very satisfied and looked at Otto Wiens, "Mr. Wiens, you really didn't disappoint me. You work hard, I will never treat you badly."

After the laboratory inspection, Leland Sirois left.

Emilio and his father got into the car.

Travis lowered his face and asked, "What did Avery say?"

"Avery said she was willing to return $14 billion to us. Dad, if she returns the money to us, we will stop threatening them with this matter. It's not that I'm afraid of them, but I don't want to make extra troubles. Right now, our project has a lot to do. We concentrate on our own business, and we won't make less than them in the future."

"I'm tired of fighting with them. The main reason is that we can't keep up."

Travis leaned back in his chair, pondered for a few seconds, and then said,

"You tell Avery that in addition to the 14 billion, they must give me a compensation. As long as she can give me compensation, I will never threaten them again in the future."

Emilio knew that his father would not settle things so easily.

Emilio: "Dad, how much compensation do you want?"

Travis said without hesitation, "I don't want more, just $6 billion! Just round up my $14 billion and give me $20 billion together."

Emilio was frightened by this number and changed his face.

Father, this was the big mouth of the lion.

Even if Elliot and Avery were rich, it was impossible to give out so much money to Travis casually.

“Emilio, just tell Avery like this. If she doesn’t want to pay, then let her watch Elliot suffer!” Travis made up his mind.

Emilio saw his father’s resolute expression, and knew that his persuasion was useless.

Chapter 2181

After sending his father home, Emilio went to Avery.

Avery had already received a call from Wesley, and Elliot was conscious after being rescued.

She didn’t want to let this happen again.

So after seeing Emilio, she immediately took out a card from her bag and handed it over.

“There are $14 billion in it, you can go to the bank to confirm.” Avery frowned, with a heavy expression.

Emilio took the card and pursed his thin lips, feeling tangled in his heart.

“What’s the matter?” Avery saw that his reaction was a little weird, so she asked, “Did your dad ask for something else?”

“You know my dad too well.” Emilio smiled wryly, “He did ask for something else.”

Avery knew that Travis, the old fox, could not stop so easily!

Avery: “Do you want a company or...”

“He wants more money.” Emilio raised his head and looked at Avery’s face,

“He wants $6 billion more.”

Avery gasped sharply, and her face turned pale: "Where can I find so much money? Your father thought that Elliot knew about this rude request he made, and would agree to him?! He is dreaming!"

Emilio: "I know that Elliot will not be able to swallow this breath when he finds out. But on my dad's side, I can't convince him either. If I ask him Talking about this, let him say less, he will definitely suspect that I have an affair with you..."

"I can't take out so much money in a short period of time. Emilio, you should take this money first. Take it back to your dad. You tell him not to touch Elliot for now. I will slowly find a solution for the money he wants." Avery could only come up with this plan to slow down the army.

"Okay." Emilio agreed, and then asked curiously, "How is your research team doing?"

"No progress." Avery frowned, "After all, they haven't participated in the original team's research."

"Well... invite me for coffee!" Emilio said suddenly.

Avery looked at him puzzled: "Do you think I'm in the mood to drink coffee with you?"

"I can give you a little clue." Emilio said generously, "I don't want to see my dad make trouble with you."

Okay, I invite you."

The two found a nearby cafe and sat down.

Emilio ordered a cup of coffee and drank it slowly.

Avery held her mobile phone and glanced at it from time to time.

"Elliot should be fine, right?" Emilio asked.

"It's not life-threatening for the time being." Avery put down the phone and asked him in a low voice, "You just said you wanted to provide me with clues, what clues are you?"

"Can't you wait until I finish my coffee? I told you, you must leave right away."

Emilio laughed at himself, "I feel like I'm a fool person."

"Are you still pitiful?" Avery teased, "If it wasn't for your father, Elliot and I would not live at all. It will be a mess."

Emilio: "You can't completely blame my dad. Margaret chose Elliot."

Avery: "Your dad knew about it the whole time, they were accomplices!"

Emilio: "Oh, yes."

"So, What's the clue? Emilio, I'm running out of time, and when this matter is completely resolved, I'll treat you to coffee." Avery was thinking about Elliot, so she felt like she was sitting on pins and needles.

Emilio: "There is a man named Calvin Emond in Margaret's team. He doesn't really want to join the new team that my dad set up, but my dad has given too much. You can find him when you have time. You can't find a breakthrough from him!"

Avery took the words 'Calvin Emond' in her heart.

After coming out of the coffee shop, she immediately inquired about Calvin Emond's information with her friends in the circle.

Chapter 2182

"I know this person. He used to work at Bridgedale No. 1 Hospital. Then the hospital ran into problems, and then he resigned." An insider told Avery.

"Do you know his contact information?" Avery asked.

The insider: "No. I don't know him, but I have a mutual friend with him. I can ask you for his contact information. But what are you doing with him?"

Avery: "I have something to do with him. Please ask for help to your mutual friend.”

The insider: “Okay. I’ll tell you when I reply.”

Aryadelle.

After Elliot woke up, he looked at the ceiling of the ward and was stunned.

From the moment he opened his eyes, all the memories flooded into his mind.

A few days ago, the peaceful life seemed to return to normal, which made him have a beautiful fantasy.

The severe headache last night pulled him out of this illusion.

It must have been made by Travis.

He emptied Travis’s property, so Travis deliberately found a way to control him.

If nothing else, Avery must have been threatened when he had a headache last night.

“Brother.” A clear voice pulled Elliot back to reality from his chaotic thoughts.

He looked at Shea and wondered, “Shea, why are you here?”

After saying this, Elliot saw the sky outside through the window behind Shea.

It was bright outside, why did Shea come over so early? Or, she came to the hospital last night?

“I came with Wesley.” Shea grabbed Elliot’s big palm with both hands and looked at him worriedly, “I asked Wesley to go to sleep. I can’t sleep, so I’m here to watch you.”

Elliot’s nose Pantothenic acid, flashes of memories, back to a long, long time ago.

At that time, Shea was very weak and depended on him very much.

Unexpectedly, in the blink of an eye, he actually needed Shea to look after him.

“Shea, did Wesley listen to you in particular?” Elliot clearly wanted to say ‘Shea, I’m fine’, but as soon as he opened his mouth, he changed.

Shea nodded thoughtfully: “Brother, Wesley treats me very well. I think he treats me better than Maria.”

“Well...Shea, there is something for my brother. I want to ask for your help.”

Elliot held Shea’s hand with his backhand, “You promise me, okay?”

Shea’s heart suddenly panicked.

Although she didn’t know what her brother was going to say, she felt a conditioned reflex in her heart.

Because there was bottomless despair in her brother’s eyes.

She lowered her eyes, watching her elder brother hold her hand, feeling as if she was bound by something.

“Brother, what do you want me to do for you?” Shea spoke very slowly. When she said the last word, she raised her head and looked directly at Elliot’s face.

“Waiting for Wesley to come, you ask Wesley to help me take out the device in my head.” Elliot told Shea his request.

Afraid that Shea could not understand or miss, his speech rate was also very slow.

Shea’s eyelashes trembled, and her voice choked: “What will happen if you take it out? Brother, don’t lie to me. If that thing can be taken out, why wouldn’t Wesley not help you?”

Chapter 2183

Seeing the crystal tears falling from the corners of Shea’s eyes, Elliot raised his hand and wiped her tears with his fingers.

Elliot: "If I don't take it out, I'll be in pain. Shea, you definitely don't want to see me in such pain, right?"

Shea nodded sharply.

Elliot: "If there is another way, I will definitely try. But there is no way at all. I don't want to drag Avery. She has worked hard enough, and now she is busy day and night for her business, and has no time to rest. Shea, if you were me, you would also feel bad, right?"

Shea nodded again.

Elliot: "When Robert was born, he suffered from a special blood disease. You donated blood to Robert without telling everyone the truth. Even if you were to die, you were never afraid. Shea, you are not afraid of death, how could I be afraid? "

Elliot said this, Shea's tears fell like a broken thread.

About an hour later, Wesley bought breakfast and brought it.

Shea saw Wesley, and immediately took Wesley's hand and walked out.

"Shea, your eyes are red. Did you cry? What are you crying for? Your brother is awake!" Wesley looked at Shea's red eyes and touched her head.

"Help my brother get the things out of his head." Shea lowered her head and ordered Wesley.

The gentleness on Wesley's face suddenly disappeared.

Wesley: "Elliot asked you to tell me that?"

"My brother said he was in pain. He doesn't want to be in such pain anymore." Shea rested her head on Wesley's shoulder, choking in pain, "I don't want to see my brother in such pain. He never begged me... This is the first time he begged me for help. Wesley, I don't know how to reject him... If I reject him, he will definitely be sad."

Wesley Tears glistened in his eyes.

If he listened to Shea and helped Elliot take the device out of his head, causing Elliot to die, then Avery would definitely hate him.

But if he doesn't listen to Shea, with Shea's temper, he will definitely be angry with him.

From the time he knew Shea until now, he never dared to make Shea angry.

So the two of them have always been in harmony.

About half an hour later, Wesley entered the ward alone and talked to Elliot.

Elliot had already eaten breakfast and was leaning on the bedside and closing his eyes.

Hearing footsteps, Elliot opened his eyes.

"Elliot, why did you say that to Shea? Do you really want to live?" Wesley walked to the hospital bed and looked down at him.

Elliot's face was cool and calm: "I have already figured it out."

"What do you know?! You are trying to hide from Avery to die! If Avery found out, how sad would she be?"

"Don't take it She is here to scare me. Wesley, let me watch Avery being threatened because of me, making me a burden to Avery, and I am even more sad! If I had died in Yonroeville, then during this time I earned it all. I have nothing to regret." Elliot made up his mind, "I hope you will always remember clearly that you are Shea's husband, not Avery's. Who should you listen to without my teaching?"

Seeing that Wesley could not persuade him, a sadness rose in his heart.

"Your surgery is too complicated, I won't."

"Then you will find someone who will." Elliot continued, "The pain does not fall on you, so you stand on the moral high ground and ask me to live according to your ideas. Wesley, have you ever really considered my feelings?”

“Avery can live without me, and her children can live well without me. The earth will still turn around without me. I can’t be asked to live in pain just because I will suffer for a while without them. None of you have my pain.”

When Elliot said this, Wesley had an answer in his heart.

“Indeed, you have the right to choose when to end your life. I respect you.”

Wesley held back tears, “I will help you contact the doctor.”

“Thank you.” Elliot’s eyes darkened and he spoke with difficulty, “Don’t tell this matter to Avery. If she comes looking for me in the past two days, you can just excuse me, I don’t want to hear her voice again. “

Chapter 2184

Elliot is afraid that his determination will be shaken when he hears her voice.

“Let’s solve this matter as soon as possible!” Elliot looked at Wesley and said,

“Also, don’t tell my two children about this.”

Wesley turned and walked out of the ward with a gloomy face. His head hurts so much!

Being caught between Elliot and Avery, no matter what Wesley does, it’s all wrong.

Why let him be this villain?

“Wesley, what did my brother say?” Shea walked up to him and asked.

“Elliot still thinks that way.” Wesley frowned, “Shea, do you know that if we obey his advice, Avery will definitely break up with us if she knows it.”

Shea’s face paled: “What should I do? If only I could suffer for my brother.”

“Shea, don’t talk nonsense!” Wesley was very distressed when he saw her depressed and unhappy appearance, “Even if Elliot dies, you must live well. You still have Maria and me. You know, Elliot doesn't want to die either. He is in too much pain, and there is no solution..."

"Wesley, I know. He told me." When Shea said this, she pushed Wesley's arm away, "I'm going to accompany him."

Shea wiped away her tears and entered the ward.

Wesley watched the ward door open and close, and his heart was in a mess. Avery's painful face after learning about this a few days later appeared in his mind.

"Mr. Brooks!" A voice came from the side.

Wesley looked towards the source of the sound, it was Elliot's bodyguard.

"Do you have a cigarette?" Wesley asked. He was really distressed.

"Yes, you can smoke? Can't tell." The bodyguard took out a cigarette case, but didn't hand him a cigarette, "No smoking in the hospital."

"Go down." Wesley took his cigarette case and said, "Where's the lighter?"

The bodyguard took out a lighter from his pocket and handed it to Wesley, "I'll go down with you to smoke a cigarette! Looking at your face, it feels like the sky is falling."

The bodyguard has seen Wesley many times, and every time he sees Wesley, He was all calm and gentle, and it was the first time he saw him look so painful and tangled.

"You have been following Elliot, you should be able to guess what happened!"

Wesley strode into the elevator.

The bodyguard followed: "My boss fell ill last night, it must not be an accident."

"Well. He is determined to take out the device in his brain." Wesley told the bodyguard, "He told me to keep Avery and her two children a secret till the device out from his head.”

Although the bodyguard guessed it would be like this, it was still difficult to accept when Wesley said it.

The bodyguard: “Mr. Brooks, are you really going to hide from Avery?”

“Well.” Wesley exhaled heavily, “Brother Elliot begged Shea and Shea begged me. If I tell Avery, I can’t face Shea. Shea is different from Avery and she can’t be stimulated.”

The bodyguard: “Can Avery be stimulated? I will also be very embarrassed. No one else can change what my boss decides. Even if you don’t help him, he will find another doctor.”

Bridgedale.

Avery finally got Calvin Emond’s phone number after several tossing and turning.

She dialed the phone, and after a few seconds, the other party answered the phone.

Chapter 2185

“Hello, Mr. Emond, I’m Avery.” Avery said straight to the point, “I don’t know when it is convenient for you, but I want to ask you to meet.”

Calvin was stunned for a moment: “Ms. Tate, how did you get my number? We don’t seem to have mutual friends, do we?”

Avery: “We do have no mutual friends, but it is not difficult to get your contact information. This circle of my friend’s friend is so big. Maybe I know you.”

“Oh...Ms. Tate, do you have anything to do with me?” Calvin had guesses in his heart, but felt embarrassed, so let her speak.

“I have a very important matter with you. I think it would be better to meet and chat. Are you free at noon today?” Avery wanted to see him as soon as possible.

“I’m not free at noon. I’m not free at night...Ms. Tate, I’m not free on weekends either.” Calvin thought that Travis had sent bodyguards to follow him, clearly saying that it was to protect his safety, but it was actually monitoring.

If Calvin hadn’t been monitored by Travis’s bodyguards, he might have agreed to meet, but in this situation, he didn’t dare.

“Don’t you dare to see me?” Avery noticed, “Is Travis preventing you from seeing me?”

Calvin: “Ms. Tate, it seems that you know my current job. Indeed, I am working for Travis now. So don’t embarrass me.”

Avery: “Mr. Emond, how much did Travis give you? I’m willing to give you double! If double is not enough, I can give you ten!”

“This...” Calvin was startled by her tone.

Calvin’s work was not worth so much money.

Even if Avery insisted on giving him that much money, he wouldn’t want it.

Avery: “Mr. Emond, I know you signed a contract with Travis, but you can cancel the contract. I will pay the breach fee. As long as you can help me...”

“Ms. Tate, I’m sorry. If I rashly breach the contract, I’m afraid Travis will Take revenge on me. Please don’t embarrass me. I’m just a migrant worker. I just want to make some money and improve my family’s life. I don’t want to take advantage of anyone’s wealth. Thank you for looking down on me so much. But I really can’t help You.” Calvin said sincerely, and immediately hung up the phone without waiting for Avery to reply.

“Husband, who is it?” Maxine brought a glass of warm milk and put it in front of her husband.

Calvin: “It’s Avery.”

“Why did she call you?” Maxine was puzzled, “She doesn’t want to dig you, right?”

Calvin: “It’s a mess... I don’t know who told her that I’m working for Travis now.”

Maxine: “The circle is so big...”

Calvin: “She said the same thing. There are six of us and we’ve signed the contract together, why did she find me?”

“Husband, how do you know that she is only looking for you?” Maxine laughed, “It’s possible that she also found someone else! “

“You’re right. In this way, my heart is not so heavy. Do you know how much she will pay me? She said she will pay me ten times more than Travis.”

“My God!” Maxine exclaimed in horror, “Avery is so rich?”

Calvin: “She is Elliot’s wife, and she used to run a company. She must have more money than poor doctors like us.”

Maxine: “Husband, ten times the reward, aren’t you excited?”

Calvin shook his head: “she begged me to help her. If I took her money, I would be an enemy of Travis. Avery is a gentlewoman, and Travis is a sinister villain. I dare to refuse Avery, but I dare not offend Travis. Do you understand?”

Maxine: “If I knew earlier, I wouldn’t let you sign a contract with Travis. The money can be doubled in one day! Hey!”

“You don’t want money, I don’t like listening to it!” Calvin put down the milk cup and got up, “I’m going to work. If Avery finds our home, you must not accept her money. Otherwise, I will be really embarrassed.”

Chapter 2186

After Calvin left, Maggie came out of the room.

Maggie: "Mom, what are you arguing with Dad!"

"Do you know Avery? Avery wanted to pay ten times the price to dig your dad.

Now I feel that your dad will full of money!" Maxine sighed.

"I told you not to force my dad to sign with Travis! Now such a good opportunity can only be missed." Although Maggie had never met Avery, she searched for Avery's information on the Internet.

Avery was not only beautiful, but also had outstanding ability, and was recognized as a beautiful genius in the medical field.

If Maggie was allowed to choose, she would definitely hope that her dad would be on Avery's side.

"Aren't you an afterthought? Who could have predicted that Avery would find your father today? Besides, if your father hadn't signed a contract with Travis, maybe Avery would not have come to your father!" Maxine said stubbornly.

"By the way, your aunt called your father early this morning to tell you about your blind date." Maxine sat down at the dining table and looked at her daughter seriously, "Your aunt said that your blind date is rich."

Maggie looked surprised: "Why did my aunt say this all of a sudden?"

"Your aunt said that the other parent liked you very much. They were afraid that you would not go on a blind date with their son, so they said that the family is rich." Maxine couldn't see Maggie's blind date. After all, a small anchor with an unstable job, even if the occasional high income was not attractive.

But if the other person's family was rich, it's different.

"How rich are you?" Maggie pretended to be curious and asked casually.

Maxine: "It is said that if the two of you are married, you can choose the house in Aryadelle and Bridgedale. They will buy it."

Maggie was slightly shocked: "His family is so rich?"

"Listen to your aunt's tone, It should be very rich. The important thing is that the other party's parents like you. If you marry him in the future, there will be no problem with mother-in-law and daughter-in-law."

Maxine can't wait to see her daughter get married now, "Have you met that person? What are you? How do you feel? Tell me."

Maggie: "Mom, I haven't graduated yet. The marriage is a big matter. I plan to talk about it after graduation. I will call my aunt and ask her to reject Eric's parents proposal."

"Oh, it looks like you've seen it, but didn't like it." Maxine regretted, "I'm not the same person, I can't talk about it!"

Maggie: "No. It's mainly because of his appearance..."

"Men can't just look at their faces. It depends on his ability." Maxine decided to see the blind date with her daughter for the sake of the other party's wealth.

"Mom, it's fine if you torture Dad, why do you care about me?" Of course Maggie wouldn't take her mother to see Eric Santos.

Because of this, the fact that Maggie asked her younger brother, Ian to replace her on a blind date was exposed.

"What is torture? Your father doesn't think I'm torturing him! I'm all for the good of our family!" Maxine got angry, "It's rare that your aunt introduced you such a rich person. I may never meet such a high-quality object again."

Maggie: "Yesterday you said that my aunt was old and fainted..."

Maxine: "You little rascal, don't talk about this kind of thing outside!"

"Mom, I have class today, so I don't have time to take you to meet my blind date. And I had a showdown with him yesterday, so don't worry about other people's money anymore." After Maggie finished speaking, she immediately took a piece of bread and quickly Leave the restaurant.

After Maggie left, Maxine felt a lump in her heart.

Maggie is so beautiful, as long as she has a better attitude towards Eric, Eric will definitely be fascinated by her daughter.

Thinking of this, Maxine called Maggie's aunt and asked for Eric's contact information.

Chapter 2187

"I don't have Eric's number, but I can ask Eric's mother. Do you know how many Eric's mother likes Maggie? She even wants to go to Bridgedale to see Maggie with her own eyes! I told her not to scare Maggie, she just gave up."

Maggie's aunt smiled, and said, "You wait, I'm going to ask Eric's number."

Five minutes later, Maggie's aunt gave Eric's number to Maxine.

After getting Eric's number, Maxine went to pick up a glass of water first.

Maxine saved Eric's number in the address book while drinking water.

After saving, she pressed the dial button.

When Eric saw a strange call, he ignored it without thinking about it.

Maxine's enthusiasm took a bit of a blow. Hesitating whether to keep hitting, or wait and hit again later.

At this time, Eric's cell phone rang again. It was his mother who called him this time.

When Eric saw his mother's call, he immediately answered.

"Eric, Maggie's mother asked for your number just now. She might call you..."

"Mom, why did you tell others my number casually?"

thought of what happened just now. A stranger called, and his temples throbbed violently, "Why is she looking for me? Mom, what are you trying to do?”

“Eric, why are you so nervous? Maggie’s mother probably wants to help Maggie with reference. After all, Maggie hasn’t graduated yet.”

“I met that Maggie yesterday. He clearly promised me that he would make it clear to you. I didn’t expect him to say it.” Eric was a little angry, “He is a man. A real man.”

Eric’s mother: “Ah! What nonsense are you talking about?!”

“Mom, why don’t you believe me?” Eric felt a pain in his temple.

“Maggie’s aunt said that Maggie is a beautiful girl! That old lady looks very kind, and she can’t lie to me with such a thing.” Eric’s mother said here, and proposed a plan, “Wait later, Maggie’s mother will find you. You ask Maggie’s mother. I think Maggie may dress more like a boy, but she is actually a girl.”

Eric: “Mom...”

“There must be a misunderstanding here! Eric, if you don’t put this I feel uneasy when the problem is clarified. I don’t believe that the old lady will lie to me! Of course, I also don’t believe that you will lie to me! My’s mood is really tangled! Why don’t you meet Maggie’s mother face to face? Ask the matter clearly.”

At this time, Maxine’s phone called again.

Eric kept his mother’s call and took Maxine’s call.

“Hey, is it Eric? I’m Maggie’s mother, I called you just now and you didn’t answer. I called you to talk to you about Maggie. I heard that you are in Bridgedale on vacation. Are you free now? I want to treat you to a meal.”

“Aunty, I’ve already eaten breakfast, and it’s still early for lunch.” Eric spoke restrainedly.

Listening to Eric’s magnetic voice, Maxine could already feel that there was a handsome and heroic man over the phone.

“Then your aunty invites you to drink coffee, okay? Aunty heard that you are very handsome, and really wants to see you in person!” Maxine warmly invited.

Eric: “Aunty, who did you hear that I’m handsome?”

“Maggie’s aunt, she is the introducer of the two of you. She kept telling me that you were born very handsome. I’m worried that our daughter Maggie has a problem with eyesight, so I really want to see you with my own eyes.”

Maxine did not wait for him to answer, said directly, “Then let’s just say it! I’ll put on makeup now and go out immediately. When I find the location, I’ll send you the location.”

Chapter 2188

After making a unilateral decision, the Maggie’s mother hung up the phone.

Eric looked incredible.

Maggie’s mother was too strong.

She didn’t even listen to whether Eric was willing or not, so she forced him to meet like this, is it really okay?

Because Maxine hung up the phone, the call became with his mother.

Eric’s mother: “Eric? Why didn’t you speak?”

“Mom, a call came in just now.” Eric explained.

“Oh...Maggie’s mother called you, right?!” Eric’s mother guessed, and was a little excited, “What did Maggie’s mother say to you? Did you ask to meet her? Eric, if someone asks you to meet, you should clean up and go see someone.”

“Mom...you really don’t worry that I won’t be able to have a blind date, and others will break my story online?” Eric didn’t want to. Because of the hot search in private life.

Eric's mother: "If the blind date doesn't work, you won't suffer if it spreads out. Your fans will definitely think that Maggie is wrong, and they will definitely protect you!"

"Okay mom, don't talk about it, I'll go and this is the last time. In the future, don't arrange any blind dates for me. You force me to do this kind of thing, the first time it works, the second time it doesn't work." Eric and his mother had a candid showdown.

Eric's mother: "Eric, in all fairness, did your mother force you to see a beautiful girl before? In this world, not just a beautiful girl can make your mother feel good."

Eric wanted to say, 'he is a man', but he thought that his mother would not believe him, so he gave up.

After talking on the phone, Eric called his assistant, Frank.

Eric: "Frank, what should I do?"

Frank: "Boss, I can't help you this time. They are elders after all. And I have seen her photos. Women of this age are particularly difficult to fool."

Eric raised his eyebrows: "Do you mean to let me go in person?"

"If you don't go in person, when your aunt sees you and finds that you and the photo are not the same person at all, do you think she will call your mother right away?

If she take a picture of me and send it to your aunt, who sees me going on a blind date instead of you, what do you think aunt will react?" When Frank said this, he saw that Eric's face had turned blue.

"Boss, you want to be open. You are going to see the boy's mother, not the boy. When you see the boy's mother, you can say that it is impossible for you and her son, and let the family give up! You won't have to see their family again in the future." Frank gave Eric psychological construction and gave ideas.

Eric nodded: "I have to make it clear today. This incident has seriously affected my life. I'm not happy even taking vacations."

Frank: "Mmmm! Boss, if you don't want your aunt to recognize you, I can ask a makeup artist to give you a little makeover."

Eric: "How to make it?"

Frank touched his chin with a wicked smile: "If you don't want to be missed by their family, it's safer to make you ugly."

....

10:00 a.m.

Maxine found a cafe in the city center and sat down, and then began to wait for Eric.

She only knew that the boy she wanted to meet was Eric, and her voice was low and magnetic, and she was particularly recognizable.

She seemed to have heard his voice somewhere.

At this time, a melody sounded in the coffee shop, followed by a low, magnetic, and particularly recognizable male voice.

Maxine was stunned for a moment as if she had been electrocuted.

No wonder when she heard Eric's voice, she immediately decided in her heart that Eric must be a handsome guy. It turns out that his voice is somewhat similar to that of this well-known male artist!

An hour later, Eric came to the cafe.

Eric was wearing a black baseball uniform with a pair of washed-white jeans underneath, a pair of dirty shoes on his feet, a baseball cap that covered half of his face, and a mask on his face.

At first glance, Maxine couldn't see Eric's face at all.

After Eric entered the cafe, he saw a lady sitting by the window at a glance. The reason why it was so recognizable was because of this point, there was only one lady on the first floor of the cafe.

He walked to the lady and stopped: "Hello aunt, are you Maggie's mother?"

Chapter 2189

Maxine looked at Eric and looked at him from top to bottom.

Eric just wanted to let Maxine see his dirty shoes.

His assistant, Frank said that every time he wore dirty shoes and shook them in front of his mother, his mother would chase after him to change shoes in anger.

So Frank specially bought these dirty shoes for Eric.

Unexpectedly, Maxine looked at Eric and showed a happy expression to him.

"Not bad! Your figure is really good!" With that said, Maxine got started and patted Eric's leg, "These legs are really long!"

Eric: "..."

Eric didn't expect it that Frank's idea, not very good.

In order to prevent Maxine from continuing to do anything to him, he immediately walked to the sofa opposite Maxine and sat down.

"Eric! There was a song played in the cafe just now, and the singer's voice sounds like you!" Maxine said, inviting the waiter to order.

Eric immediately pinched his throat and coughed a few times.

"I want a latte without ice." Maxine said, looking at Eric, "Eric, what are you drinking?"

Eric: "Mocha."

After the waiter walked away, Maxine turned her attention to Eric's face again.

“Eric, you’re covering up so tightly that your aunt can’t even see your face!”

Maxine said, she immediately stretched out her hand and wanted to take off Eric’s hat and mask, “Don’t be shy to your Auntie, Auntie knows you must be a handsome guy just by looking at your figure!”

Eric stepped back to avoid taking off the mask and hat.

“Auntie, let’s talk about business first!” Eric cleared his throat and said, “I don’t have any plans to get married to your son…”

“My son?” Maxine’s face froze, “Did my son get into trouble?”

Eric gritted his teeth.

–Admit it!

The aunt is so quick to admit that her child is male!

“No, you’ve met my son?” Maxine said something was wrong, “My son is in school these two days! I have his timetable. When did you meet him?”

A woman of this age was not easy to fool.

“Auntie, your son is fine. It’s my problem. I really didn’t think about getting married.” Eric had already seen how precious his aunt was to his son.

If he revealed his dissatisfaction with her son, she would probably blow her hair out.

So Eric can only find reasons from his own side to refuse.

“You didn’t like Maggie, did you? Did Maggie talk to make you unhappy?”

Maggie was very good when I was a child. In the last two years, I started to be a little rebellious.” Maxine frowned, her expression regretted, and her tone contained a hint of pleading.

Eric: “Auntie, you don’t need to say it. I really don’t think about marriage now.”

“Well, I see it, you really don’t like Maggie.” Maxine sighed, then stood up.

Eric thought that Maxine was leaving.

Unexpectedly, Maxine turned around and walked in front of him, with a big wave of her hand, she took off the hat on his head!

Eric was stunned!

In the second Eric was stunned, Maxine took off his mask at a faster speed.

Chapter 2190

Fortunately, Frank was smart, and asked the makeup artist to paint Eric a relatively thick makeup.

This makeup was mainly to promote weaknesses and avoid strengths, deliberately making Eric's New Year pictures ugly.

So after Eric's face was exposed to the air, he only panicked for a few seconds.

Because the waiter came over with the coffee and glanced at him, but didn't recognize him.

He breathed a sigh of relief.

"Auntie is right. Eric, you are really handsome." Maxine looked at Eric's ugly face with a satisfied expression.

Eric felt an arrow in the knee!

He's already drawn so ugly, why does this aunt praise him for being handsome?

He took a deep breath, feeling mixed emotions.

"Auntie... your coffee has arrived." Eric glanced at the coffee over her side,

"You drink coffee!"

Maxine said 'oh' and returned to her seat.

"Eric, don't mention it, you not only sound like that male star, but you also look a bit similar!" Maxine frowned and patted her head when she said this,

“What is the name of that male star? I can’t remember his name for a while.”

Eric lowered his head, raised his coffee cup, and drank coffee.

“Eric, you are so handsome, and you are so polite and polite. Many people should like you, right? Why are you single until now?” Maxine looked at Eric in puzzlement.

“Auntie, I’m actually not very old.” Eric said awkwardly.

Maxine’s eyes lit up: “You’re not too old! Maggie is not too old!”

Eric: “Auntie, I thought what I just said was very clear.”

“Auntie knows what you mean. But Auntie thinks that you treat us well. There may be some misunderstanding in Maggie. In this way, auntie will bring Maggie over next time and see you again.”

“Auntie, there’s really no need.” Eric felt that it was just a waste of words and time to talk about it, so coffee is also a waste of time. He stopped drinking and got up directly, “Auntie, I have something to do. I’ll buy coffee and drink it slowly.”

Eric quickly put on his hat and mask and went to the front desk to pay the bill.

Maxine watched his tall figure walk away a little bit, and sighed infinitely in her heart.

At first, she thought Eric was not worthy of his daughter, but after meeting, she felt that his daughter might not be worthy of others.

His noble and cold temperament shows that he has received a good education, and his eyes are naturally high.

Maxine doesn’t want to let it go!

Eric doesn’t like Maggie, but his mother likes Maggie, as long as his mother likes Maggie more, she doesn’t believe that there will be no next chance!

At four o’clock in the afternoon, Maxine called Maggie and told her to go home after class.

Maggie: "Mom, I have a class at night."

"Ask for leave! Go and ask your teacher for leave now! Just say you are not feeling well, or that I am not feeling well." Maxine said forcefully.

"Mom, what's wrong with you?" Maggie asked worriedly, "I really have a class at night, do you see if I have time?"

"Maggie, I said I'm not feeling well, you don't even come back to see me. You have changed, you were not like this before. I used to have a little headache and you were worried..." Maxine sighed.

Maggie: "Mom, are you really feeling unwell? Where are you feeling?"

"I'm not feeling well anywhere! I suspect that I may be seriously ill. So, come back before 7 o'clock in the evening, okay?" Maxine suddenly thought of the time difference between Bridgedale and Aryadelle, so she changed her words.

Chapter 2191

"I don't get off class until 8 o'clock. Mom, if you are really uncomfortable, can I call an ambulance for you?" Maggie didn't want to delay the experiment at night.

"Oh, forget it, just pretend that I didn't call you! If something happens to me in the future, I don't need your siblings to care about me. I'll call your dad!"

Maxine finished complaining, hang up the phone.

At 7:30 in the evening, Maggie rushed home.

Maxine was sitting in the living room while eating melon seeds and chasing dramas.

Seeing her daughter come back, she picked up her phone and checked the time.

Maxine: "Didn't you say that the class didn't end until 8 o'clock? Why did you come back so early?"

"Didn't you say that you are not feeling well? I was not at ease, so I told the instructor to leave early." Maggie put down the backpack and looked at her mother, "I think you look very good!"

"Maggie, your mother is in good health! It's also thanks to you that you have the heart. You don't see your brother coming back." Calvin said, "Still My daughter is good. My daughter knows that she is distressed."

"Maggie, I have something to tell you. Let's go, let's go to your room and talk." Maxine turned off the TV and took her daughter to the room.

"Maggie, your mother went to see your blind date today!" Calvin raised his voice and told his daughter in advance.

"Ah?! Mom! You went to see Eric? Why didn't you tell me?" Maggie followed her mother into the room quickly.

After the door of the room was closed, Maxine took out her mobile phone and said slowly, "You said that you don't like Eric, so I was curious about what's wrong with Eric, so I asked him out. Maggie, it's not that you can't see him. Is it because he despises you?"

"Mom, did he tell you that?" Maggie frowned, not expecting Eric to be such a person.

"No! I saw Eric. He didn't say anything, and his quality was very high." Maxine looked at her daughter, "Eric is tall and handsome, and the family has money, so he must have seen it. I can't get you!"

Maggie: "Tall and handsome? Mom, are you sure?"

Maxine: "Of course I am! Not only is he tall and handsome, but he also has a very nice voice! If I were your age, I would definitely go after him!"

Maggie was speechless, turned around, and went to the bathroom.

Five minutes later, she came out of the bathroom and saw her mother talking about the video call.

“Mom, who are you talking to about the video call?” Maggie went straight to the closet, intending to take the pajamas to take a bath, “Go out and talk, I’m going to take a bath.”

“Maggie, come here, call Auntie.” Maxine called her daughter in a soft voice, “I’m making a video call with Eric’s mother, look at Eric’s mother, how beautiful! No wonder she gave birth to such a handsome son in Eric.”

Maggie: “!!!”

Maggie froze in place.

She has stopped contacting Eric Showdown, so why are the two mothers chatting?

Maxine pointed the camera at Maggie, and Maggie had to squeeze out a cute and cute smile out of conditioned reflex.

Maggie: “Hello, auntie.”

“Eric’s Mother, this is my daughter Maggie. She is a junior this year. She will graduate in one year next year. She has reached the legal age for marriage and can get married now. Of course it doesn’t matter. Yes, my daughter looks more beautiful in reality than in the photos. My daughter is pure now, isn’t she cute?” Maxine praised her daughter like she was promoting a product.

The smile on Maggie’s face froze.

–For the money of other people’s family, her mother really has no bottom line and principle!

–Obviously her mother was not like this before, why is the older she get more greedy for money?

“Maggie is so cute! No matter how you look, she looks like a girl!” Eric’s mother sighed.

Maxine was shocked: "Eric's mother, Maggie is a girl in our family! Does she look like a man?"

"Hahaha, I'm sorry, of course I believe Maggie is a girl, but my son doesn't. I know what I heard from who said that Maggie was a boy."

Chapter 2192

"Ah! Who? So abominable! My daughter is a real girl!" Maxine blushed with excitement. In order to prove that her daughter was a woman, she immediately raised her daughter's chin, "Look at my daughter! She has no Adam's apple."

Eric's mother: "She's a very beautiful and delicate girl. It's exactly the same as in the photo."

Maxine: "Hey! This is a big misunderstanding! No wonder I met Eric today, and Eric's reaction was so cold. It turns out that he misunderstood the gender of our family Maggie!"

Eric's mother: "Maggie, don't worry, I'll call my son later to clarify this misunderstanding."

"Then I'll trouble you! But I think it's better for them to meet again! As long as they meet, this Misunderstandings can be really solved." Maxine suggested.

Eric's mother: "I think this proposal is good! I'll tell my son later. Let the two of them make an appointment and meet again."

"Then please tell Eric. I'll wait for your news at any time." Maxine Spoke politely.

Eric's mother: "Okay. After I've agreed with Eric, I'll send you a message."

Maxine: "Mmmm!"

After the two chatted, they hung up the video call.

“Mom!” Maggie’s scalp was numb, “you’re going to see Eric, you can see it yourself...or you let me talk to him alone, you two elders don’t interfere, okay? Otherwise, you will fight. D*mn me, I won’t go to see him either!”

Maxine’s face changed instantly: “Why are you so disobedient now?!”

“Mom, I’m your daughter, not your toy. I have the final say on what kind of man I will find in the future. I’m not a commodity, why do you think others have no money, so you won’t let me interact with others and discover others...Now that you have money, you are shy to try to please others? Don’t you feel ashamed?”

Maggie blushed and said what was in her heart.

“If I don’t think you are my daughter, I don’t care who you marry? I don’t want you to marry well and live a better life in the future? You don’t understand mother’s painstaking efforts at all, and you still despise mother’s shame. I, I...” Maxine said, she suddenly dizzy.

“Mom, what’s wrong with you?” Maggie immediately supported her mother when she saw that her mother’s face was wrong.

At this moment, the door opened, and Calvin strode in and supported his wife.

“Don’t be afraid, Maggie, your mother has high blood pressure.” After Calvin finished speaking, he immediately helped his wife out of the room, then brought her medicine and fed her to eat.

“Dad, when did mom have high blood pressure? Why didn’t I know?” Maggie lost her temper in fright.

“The year you were in high school. Your mother said that she would go back to her mother’s house to live for a while. In fact, she was hospitalized because of high blood pressure. She was afraid that you would be worried, so she never told you. That's why I asked her to resign later. Too tired."

Maggie immediately lowered her eyes, thinking of what she said when she talked back to her mother just now, it was too impulsive.

"Maggie... Mom doesn't disrespect you... Mom just feels that money is more and more important... You need money for meals, you need money for illness, as long as you go out, you need it everywhere. Mom doesn't want you to work too hard as a girl in the future." After Maxine took the medicine, her mood was a little more stable.

Maggie: "Mom, I'm sorry. I won't be angry with you in the future. But you should let us handle the matter between me and Eric. I'll talk to him later. If we really can't talk, you can't force it."

"I-I didn't want to force it. If the two of you really can't get along, it's useless for me to force it. I think you don't seem to take this matter to heart, for fear that you will miss a good partner." Maxine said.

The other side.

Video call of Eric's mother and Eric.

"Eric, Maggie is really a girl! I just had a video call with Maggie and her mother, and I had seen them clearly..."

"Mom, how did you see clearly? Eric asked, "I've seen him too. He's a man. He just looks more delicate."

Eric's mother: "I looked at her throat. She doesn't have an Adam's apple."

Eric has never seen Maggie, but Frank has.

Frank said that Maggie's Adam's apple protrudes more than he does.

How did Frank get to Maggie's place, and Maggie didn't have an Adam's apple again?

Does this person have an Adam's apple or not?

“Eric, I’ve agreed with Maggie’s mother, you and Maggie will meet again. Make this misunderstanding completely clear. You are a man, don’t be so stingy. It’s just a matter of seeing more, you won’t lose anything.” Eric’s mother remembered Maggie’s pretty and cute little face was in a good mood, “She’s so cute! Even if you can’t fall in love with her, it’s good for you to be friends!”

Chapter 2193

After returning to the room, Maggie sent a message to Eric in a gloomy mood: [I heard that you met my mother today, my mother praised you for being handsome. Forgive my clumsiness, I really don’t see where you have anything to do with handsome.]

Eric heard the news reminder, so he hung up the video call.

Seeing the message from Maggie, he let out a cold drink in his throat. His fingers quickly jumped on the screen, and replied: [My mother said that she had a videocall with you just now, saying that you are a true woman. The proof is that you don’t have an Adam’s apple. Can you do magic? The last time we met, your Adam’s apple was bigger than an egg!]

Maggie: [If I don’t have an Adam’s apple, you’re going to have s-e-x with me?]

Eric: [You think too much!]

Maggie: [That’s it! You don’t care if I have an Adam’s apple or not. You quickly make it clear to your mother that you don’t like me anymore. I’m still young, I don’t want to fall in love, and I don’t want to get married.]

Eric: [If I could control my mother, would I come to you on a blind date? You are so powerful, why didn’t you tell your mother clearly? Your mother took the initiative to ask me out, and then took the initiative to make a videocall for my mother, aren't you more active?]

Maggie: [My mother has high blood pressure!]

Eric: [My mother has depression!]

Maggie: [? ? ?]

Eric: [? ? ? ? ? ?]

Maggie: [Is your mother really depressed?]

Eric: [Do you think I will curse my mother?]

His mother suffered from depression when he was seriously ill.

Maggie: [Alright! Seeing how beautiful your aunt is and how good-looking she is when she smiles, I really don't see your mother suffering from depression.]

Eric: [Your mother is in good spirits and high spirits, and you can't tell that she has high blood pressure.]

Maggie: [Eric, there is no point in arguing, can you find a way to solve the problem?]

After being silent for a while, Eric replied: [See you again! I'm going to slap your Adam's apple to my mom!]

This will make his mother die. He believed that his mother would not force him to find a man.

Seeing his news, Maggie was silent for a while, and then replied: [Even if I don't have an Adam's apple, you have to find a way to make your mother give up on me!]

Eric: [When the time comes to meet, then act accordingly!]

Maggie: [When will we meet?]

Eric: [The day after tomorrow. That's when we'll get it all sorted out!]

Maggie: [You better do what you say!]

.....

Aryadelle.

8:00 a.m.

Wesley took the doctor he found and met with Elliot.

The doctor looked at Elliot with a heavy face and asked, "Mr. Foster, have you really thought about it?"

Elliot: "Yeah. Let's do the surgery today!"

"I don't have any problems here, I'm just afraid..." The doctor was very embarrassed.

If he performed surgery on Elliot and Elliot died, would Avery and Elliot's men treat him as a murderer?

"I have written my last words. Everything is of my own free will, and it has nothing to do with you." Elliot saw the doctor's concerns, so he spoke to dispel his concerns.

Chapter 2194

"That's what I said, but there is still a big risk." The doctor frowned, "If it wasn't for Wesley looking for me, I really don't want to do such a thing. Obviously, Miss Tate can perform this operation on you."

When Elliot heard Avery's name, the peace on his face disappeared.

"Since you promised Wesley, the risk will naturally be borne by Wesley." Elliot said, and glanced at Wesley, "After I die, Avery will work hard for you."

Wesley was in a bad mood. After listening to his words, the mood was even worse.

"I will bear all the follow-up responsibilities. You can rest assured." Wesley assured the doctor.

The doctor: "Hey! Wesley, why do you have to do this? It's really a thankless loss! If your father knew about it, he would definitely..."

“Don’t talk about it. I can’t help it either.” Wesley thought to himself Suffering, who knows?

Shea was just outside the door of the ward. If Wesley didn’t listen to Shea, the future would be even more difficult.

“I know. Hey! Let’s do the surgery today! Let’s take a CT scan and I’ll see the film!” Elliot said, got off the bed immediately, very cooperative.

Seeing his quick action, the doctor was stunned for a moment: “Mr. Foster, you’re doing well now, isn’t it bad to live like this?”

Elliot’s expression didn’t change: “Go get a CT scan!”

The doctor: “Okay! But I suggest You’d better think about it before the surgery...”

Elliot: “If I haven’t figured it out, I won’t let Wesley find someone to operate on me.”

Doctor: “Okay! Mr. Foster, you are really not afraid of death!”

Elliot: “For a healthy person Said, living is a kind of enjoyment. For a person like me, living is only painful.”

Doctor: “Hey! I won’t advise you. You are such a smart person, why do you need others to help you make decisions.”

Elliot said with After the doctor left, Wesley walked up to Shea.

Shea’s mood was very low. Although she didn’t cry or make trouble, she was completely out of spirits.

Shea, sit down for a while!” Wesley took her hand and walked to the bench next to him to sit down, “This is your brother’s own decision. He will never be in pain again, this is also a relief. “

Layla and the others will have no father in the future. Avery will also have no husband.” Shea lowered her head and said in frustration, “I don’t have a brother anymore.”

Wesley: “Have you ever thought that in order to save Robert, you Almost died, and they thought they lost you forever. They are in the same pain as you are now, but their lives go on... Shea, you can be like them too.”

“Wesley!” Shea raised her head and looked at his face, “If my brother dies, I will never be happy again. If I will never be happy again in life, it’s better to die...”

“If you die, I will never be happy again.” What about Maria?” Wesley choked, “Shea, our daughter will be three years old soon, how cute she is! Don’t you love her?”

“I love her.” Shea said firmly, “I love you too and also I love my brother too.”

“Don’t think too much about it. Your brother won’t necessarily die. Don’t be so sad first, okay?” Wesley took her into his arms, “Avery called me last night and asked me about your brother’s condition. I said he was going to be hospitalized and was being examined in the hospital. Do you know how happy Avery was? She pulled me and chatted for a while, and she said that no one in her team believed that your brother would die without that device... The people in Avery’s team are all very powerful people in the medical field, let’s bet that their guess is true.”

Shea digested what Wesley said and nodded.

Bridgedale.

Avery checked Calvin’s information in the past two days and found that he was born in a medical family.

His father, his grandfather, his great-grandfather were all doctors.

And his great-grandfather once had a lot of achievements.

After checking Calvin’s information, Avery came up with the idea of finding him again.

Chapter 2195

After breakfast, Avery plans to visit Calvin's wife.

According to the data, Calvin's wife resigned from the hospital a few years ago and has not worked since then.

Just as Avery was about to go out, the phone rang.

"Eric." Avery answered the phone, "How is your blind date?"

Eric: "Are you free now? I want to meet and chat with you."

Avery glanced at the time, even if she was going to visit Calvin's wife, it's too early now.

Avery: "Okay! Have you eaten breakfast?"

Eric: "I'm full after a cup of coffee."

"Don't drink coffee on an empty stomach next time. Be careful that your stomach can't stand it. Let's meet outside. I'll treat you to breakfast." Avery said.

Eric: "Okay."

Half an hour later, the two met in a tea restaurant.

After ordering, the waiter left.

Eric took off his mask. He picked up the water glass and took a sip of water.

"Eric, looking at you, you don't seem to be very happy." Avery glanced at him,

"Have you met your blind date?"

"Well. This person is a man, but for a while, he's a woman, I don't know if he is a man or a woman." Eric complained to Avery, "I made an appointment with him to meet tomorrow. My mother forced me, I regret it now, and I don't want to go and see him. I still want Frank to help me meet him."

"Did you ask your assistant to go there last time you met someone?" Avery asked in surprise.

Eric: "Well. I really don't want to show up."

"I understand your feelings. Now that you haven't really shown up, things are difficult to solve. I'm afraid that things will be more difficult to solve if you show up." Avery helped him analyze.

Eric: "I thought so too. But my mother actually said that even if I can't be a lover with that person, I can be friends. I don't lack friends at all."

Avery: "Then what are you going to do tomorrow? Do you really let the assistant go to the appointment? In fact, you can also go together, you can just observe in secret."

"I think so too. So I chose to meet him at an outdoor music festival. When there are many people, I can hide in the crowd and watch, What the h-e-l-l is going on with him?" Eric said here, took out a music festival ticket, "Would you like to go together? We can go to listen to music together."

Avery took the music festival ticket and glanced at it...

Suddenly, she had an idea: "Eric, do you have any more tickets there?"

"Yes! How many do you want? I can get many." Eric asked.

Avery: "I just need one more."

Eric immediately took out another one from his pocket.

Eric: "Who are you going to give it to? Hayden?"

"No. I've been wanting to meet someone for a few days, but that person is controlled by Travis and dare not meet me. If I ask him to a music festival, there are many such people. Travis's people are not so good at staring at this place." Avery said. Her eyes suddenly glowed, "Eric, thank you for providing me with this good method."

Eric: "..."

He wanted to ask Avery to listen to music together, but she had other things on her mind.

That's it! Elliot's matter has not been resolved yet, so why is Avery in the mood to listen to music!

Chapter 2196

"Eric, you should focus on your blind date tomorrow!" Avery said, "After all Your mother attaches so much importance to this matter. You will see that person tomorrow, so you should observe more."

Eric: "Well. How many days has Foster returned to Aryadelle? How is he now?"

"He is in the hospital now. I feel at ease when he is in the hospital. If something happens, the doctor can observe it in time." Avery said in a relaxed tone, "I must make an appointment with Margaret's original team as soon as possible and find out what the mechanism is."

"Am I delaying you?" Eric could feel that this matter was very important to her.

Avery: "It's okay, I'll accompany you to have breakfast and then go back to work."

"Then go ahead and work! I'll ask Frank to accompany me." Eric said, "I'll talk about it when you're done with your work."

"Alright. Thank you for giving me tickets!" Avery put the tickets in her bag, "If everything goes well tomorrow night, I'll treat you to a big dinner."

"Then I'll wait for your good news." Eric said sincerely and watched her leave.

After Avery came out of the restaurant, she drove to the community where Calvin lived.

At 10 o'clock in the morning, she came to Calvin's residence with fruit.

After ringing the doorbell, the door opened shortly after.

Maxine stood indoors, looked at Avery's face, and was stunned for a few seconds.

"You, are you Miss Tate?" Maxine saw Avery's photo on the news.

It's just that looking at Avery's face in reality, it will be more vivid.

"Hello Mrs. Emond, I'm Avery Tate. I take the liberty to come to disturb you, and I hope it doesn't cause you any trouble." Avery said politely.

"Miss Tate, you're too polite! I already knew your name. It's too late to welcome you if you can come to our house! Come in." Maxine opened the door and invited her in, "Miss Tate, you don't need to change your shoes, just come in! I'm usually alone in our house, and it's relatively cold."

Avery: "Mrs. Emond, do you have shoe covers in your house? Your house is too clean, so I'm embarrassed to go in like this."

"What's so embarrassing! No one comes to our house usually, so no shoe covers are prepared at home." Maxine said, she pulled Avery into the living room directly, "Come here as soon as you come, why do you still buy so many fruits. It's quite heavy, right?"

Maxine took the fruit and put it on the coffee table.

Maxine: "Actually, I knew about your phone call to my husband two days ago. If you had called him earlier, I would have let him do things with you."

Avery: "Mrs. Emond, why not now? Breach of contract I'll pay the money."

"My husband is a more cautious person. You must know what kind of person Travis is. Our family is just an ordinary family, and it doesn't matter if we don't have connections. If Travis takes revenge on us, we will have nothing to resist. Maxine explained, "so please also ask Miss Tate to understand our difficulties."

"If you say so, I will understand. I can provide protection for your whole family.” Avery sat down on the sofa and spoke sincerely.

“Miss Tate, I can feel your sincerity. It’s just that my two children go to different schools, and my husband and my parents are still alive, and they are in our hometown. Our family is scattered everywhere. You have to protect our family but how many extra people to hire? This is too much trouble.” Maxine poured her a glass of warm water.

Avery took the water glass, finished the water, and put down the water glass.

“Mrs. Emond, if your husband has the opportunity to help me without being discovered by Travis, can you help me persuade him?” Avery took out a bank card from her bag and handed her over, “There are $5 million, you accept it.” Maxine was stunned. After a while, she immediately pushed the card back:

“Miss Tate, what are you doing? How dare I take so much money from you!”

Chapter 2197

“Don’t rush to return it to me.” Avery took out a music festival ticket from her bag, “Tomorrow In the evening, I will go to this music festival. There will be a lot of people at the scene. If your husband can come too, the money will be the information fee for you.”

“This...” Maxine glanced at the tickets for the music festival and said truthfully, “Miss Tate, even if my husband can help you a little bit, it’s not worth so much money.”

“It’s worth it to me. As long as there is a little useful information may save Foster’s life. Foster is very, very important to me. He is the father of my child and also my husband. So the $5 million is not expensive.”

Maxine was shocked by her words . She was moved by $5 million, so Maxine no longer struggled and accepted the bank card and tickets.

“Miss Tate, don’t worry, wait for my husband to come back. I will persuade him well. If he can't see you tomorrow, then I will return the card to you."

Maxine promised, "But don't worry, my husband listens to me very much. As long as I can guarantee that this matter will not be known by Travis's people, it will be fine."

Avery: "Don't worry, I will bring bodyguards tomorrow night to squeeze Travis's people away when there are many people."

Maxine: "Okay."

.....

In the evening.

When Calvin returned home, Maxine immediately pulled him into the bedroom.

"Husband, Avery came to my house to find me today." Maxine told her husband what happened this morning, "Avery is a good person, we must help her. You tell her what you know! Tomorrow night at the music festival, she will find a way to find you. It won't be discovered by Travis's people."

Calvin stared at his wife's face and looked carefully: "Wife, did she benefit you?"

Maxine: "Uh..."

"How much?" Calvin asked.

Maxine stretched out five fingers.

"500,000?" Calvin was shocked by this number.

Maxine shook her head: "Husband, it's not about money. Even if she doesn't give us that much money, I think you should help her. It's just that if she gives money, I can let me not care about the risks of this matter. After all, she promised not to let Travis find out."

"Isn't it 500,000?" Calvin's scalp was numb, and he guessed the number,

“Wife, why do you dare to accept such a large amount of money? You give me the money, and I will take it tomorrow and will go and give it back to her.” Maxine said angrily: “I don’t want to take so much. She insists on giving so much. What can I do? She said that the money is not expensive for her. She said so, there’s no reason to refuse.”

“Give me the money.” Calvin stretched out his hand with a firm attitude, “It’s not like making money. Since she said she can’t be discovered by Travis’s people, then I’ll go see her.”

Maxine: “Okay, I didn’t lose my money. I was really sad when my daughter said that to me yesterday. If you treat me like that, I’d feel very boring.”

“Wife, I know you’re doing it for our family. I don’t see you that way.” Calvin took the card from his wife, “You can earn what you should earn, but don’t take what you shouldn’t.”

.....

Aryadelle.

Hospital. Elliot’s surgery has ended.

After the operation, Elliot was immediately sent to the ICU.

He did not die immediately after the operation, which made the chief surgeon and Wesley relieved.

Next, just hoped for a miracle!

Otherwise, there was no way to explain this matter to Avery.

Chapter 2198

“Wesley, I don’t think we need to be too pessimistic.” The chief surgeon went back to sleep after the operation and woke up. Immediately came to the hospital and saw Wesley standing outside the intensive care unit, so he comforted him.

“Well. I’m not as pessimistic now. Before the operation, I really felt like the sky was falling.” Wesley hasn’t slept a lot for 24 hours.

Before Elliot started the operation, he had been insomnia and couldn’t sleep.

The chief surgeon: “Hahaha, although I fell asleep, I had a very long nightmare. I dreamed that Elliot died, and then Avery ran back to seek revenge for us. The two of us fled and fled all the way, embarrassed and nervous. Finally, we The two fell off the cliff together, and then I woke up.”

Wesley: “Your dream is indeed a little scary.”

The chief surgeon: “I have never had such a terrible dream in my life. It is not the first time to die in a dream, nor is it It’s the first time I’ve been chased by someone, but it feels especially scary to be chased by Avery.”

Wesley was about to speak when his cell phone rang.

He took out his mobile phone and saw Avery’s name.

“You pick it up! I’ll go check on Elliot’s condition.” After the chief surgeon said, he strode away.

Wesley answered the phone, and Avery’s voice came immediately.

“Brother Wesley, how is Elliot today? Can I make a video call with him?” Avery hadn’t contacted Elliot for a few days, and missed Elliot especially.

Wesley said that he kept his mobile phone at home and did not take it to the hospital.

Therefore, Avery could only learn about Elliot’s situation through Wesley.

Avery trusted Wesley very much, so she never suspected that there was anything unusual about Elliot’s current situation.

“Avery, I...” Wesley especially wanted to confess to Avery.

–Because now Elliot’s surgery has been done.

–The device in his mind has been taken out, cleaned up, packed, and sent to Bridgedale by mail.

–Elliot said that after the device was taken out, Avery would do research.

–Because it is an international express, after the express has been sent, it has not yet arrived at Avery's side.

–However, after estimating the time, it is estimated that it is coming soon.

Thinking of this, Wesley held back his words.

“Brother Wesley, what's the matter with you?” Avery saw that Wesley was hesitating to speak, so she asked, “Is Elliot all right? He keeps his mobile phone at home, why don't the driver and bodyguard send the mobile to him? Can't he play with his mobile phone now? “

Wesley: “No. Of course he can play with his mobile phone, but he just wants to meditate. What happened last time actually hit him a lot. I hope you can understand. How is the research over there?”

“There is no progress. Because none of them have contacted this kind of device. But I have contacted the people in Margaret's previous team. I can see him tomorrow. Brother Wesley, please, please, Take good care of Elliot, I have a hunch that I will soon know the secret of this device.”

Wesley's nose twitched.

The day after tomorrow at the latest, the device should be in Avery's hands. Even if Avery doesn't find anyone, she will know the secret of the device at that time.

“Yeah.” Wesley responded.

“Brother Wesley, is Shea okay?” Avery asked with concern.

Wesley: “She's okay. You don't have to worry about her.”

“Okay.” Avery breathed a sigh of relief, “Can't you really let me see Elliot?”

“I'll send you a picture of him later.” Wesley said.

“Okay! It’s good to have pictures.” Avery was satisfied.

Wesley took some pictures of Elliot before Elliot’s surgery.

Chapter 2199

Wesley saved those pictures that time and sent all to Avery.

Not long after, Avery received photos of Elliot from Wesley.

Avery enlarged a photo to see Elliot’s face.

He was lying on the hospital bed, holding a thick book in his hand, and was concentrating on reading.

Looking at the photo, Avery couldn’t help but raise the corner of her mouth.

It’s her being over-hearted.

Elliot is now in such a meditative state in the hospital, which is the most ideal state.

“Avery, I’m going to the music festival with Chad tomorrow, are you going?”

Mike knocked on her door, holding the tickets for the music festival in his hand, “I bought tickets for you and Hayden. Do you want to take Hayden to relax? What about your mood?”

Mike wasn’t sure if Avery would go.

After Elliot’s accident, Avery gave up all rest time and entertainment, and spent all day studying how to rescue Elliot.

Mike wanted her to relax.

“What a coincidence? I’m going there tomorrow night. I already have tickets. But I can’t take Hayden there.” Avery was in a good mood, “I’ll take Hayden next time.”

“Oh... ..who are you dating? Eric?” Mike guessed.

“No. But Eric is going there tomorrow. Maybe we can all meet!” Avery said, She was afraid that Mike would make a fuss about himself tomorrow, so she told him in advance, "You will see me tomorrow night. If I didn't say hello to you, don't say hello to me either, I'm going to meet the people from Margaret's original team tomorrow night."

"Understood. Don't worry, I won't hurt your good deeds. If you need my help at that time, you just need to shout my name, and I will definitely save you immediately." Mike said.

"I won't call you. I'll take the bodyguards tomorrow." Avery thought about it and said, "Did you ask Hayden if he wants to go? If Hayden wants to go, you can take him with you tomorrow!"

"Isn't he going to see you or not? If you want to go, he will accompany you, if you don't go, he won't go either." Mike asked Hayden.

Hayden's answer was this.

"Oh...then take him with you! If I go well, the chat should be over soon. I'll go to you then." Avery said after thinking for a while.

"Okay."

The next day.

Avery woke up early because she was thinking about the music festival at night.

After waking up, she turned on her phone, looked at Elliot's photo, and was instantly full of motivation.

At this point, Layla and Robert just finished school, so she dialed Layla's number and wanted to make a video with her daughter.

The video dialed over, and soon, Layla took it.

"Mom!" Layla's voice came clear, "Mom, did you call Dad? I haven't seen Dad for a few days, and Uncle Wesley didn't let us go to the hospital to see Dad. I'm so angry!"

“Layla, your father is resting in the hospital now. Don’t worry, it shouldn’t be long before your father will be fine.” Avery coaxed, “Will your mother go back to see you in a few days?”

“Okay! Mom, I miss you so much! If you don’t come back to see my brother and me, I can’t help but want to go to Bridgedale to find you! I know that Uncle Eric has also gone to Bridgedale.”

Avery: “Well, don’t worry, Mom wants you to go to school well. Mom will definitely go back to see you.”

After soothing her daughter, Avery put down her phone, picked up a rubber band from the bedside table, tied her long hair up, and got out of bed.

At 7:30 in the morning, she finished her breakfast and went out.

At 9 o’clock, a postman delivered a package to the door of the villa.

After the nanny signed for the package, she took the package back to the living room.

Chapter 2200

Mike heard the movement and came out of the room.

Seeing the package in the nanny’s hand, Mike immediately asked, “What is this?”

“Oh, she shouldn’t have time to shop online these days.” Mike was very curious, so he walked to the entrance and took a look at the package. “Huh?

This is a package from Aryadelle.”

The nanny looked at Mike and seemed to want to open it. After opening the package, she reminded him: “This is Avery’s privacy. When she comes back, let her unpack it by herself.”

The nanny was from Bridgedale, and people from Bridgedale paid more attention to personal privacy. So even though she knew that Avery had a good relationship with Mike, she still felt that it was wrong to do so.

Mike put down the package embarrassedly: "Well, I don't look at it. I won't open it without Avery's permission."

"Well. If someone opens your package without your knowledge, you'll be unhappy too." said the nanny.

Mike laughed: "It depends on who unpacks my package. If Avery and her children unpack my package, I won't be unhappy! They unpack my things as they please."

The expression on the nanny's face was stiff. After a few seconds of silence, she replied, "But Avery is not you."

"You are very welcome." Mike scratched his head.

The nanny: "What I said is the truth."

"Well, you think it's the truth, right? Do you still have breakfast?" Mike rubbed his stomach, hungry, "I've been eating a lot of dinner lately, why every morning? Will I wake up hungry?"

The nanny went to the kitchen to serve him breakfast: "In winter, your appetite is generally better than in summer."

"I thought your cooking skills were getting better and better!" Mike laughed and joked with the nanny.

The nanny blushed: "It just so happens that Avery has no appetite recently, and she has to throw out a lot of the meals she cooks every day. Then you should eat more in the future. Don't waste it."

After that, the nanny went to bring him a large bowl of noodles.

Mike looked at the sandwiches, milk, steamed sweet potatoes, eggs, and a large bowl of noodles in front of him, and the smile on his face froze.

"I can't eat this much. But I can take it away." Mike pushed aside the sandwiches, eggs, and steamed sweet potatoes. "You help me pack these."

The nanny: "Who are you going to take?"

Mike: "My friend. He was on a business trip in Bridgedale recently."

The nanny: "Oh, Chad, right?"

Mike: "Yeah! You remember his name, it's really good."

"Chad is handsome and polite, I-I like him very much." For this reason, the nanny gave Chad an extra egg.

At 9:40 a.m., Mike came to Tate Industries Bridgedale branch with breakfast.

Chad had a good breakfast in the morning, but received a call from Mike, who told him not to eat, and said he would bring him breakfast.

So Chad stopped after eating half of his breakfast and waited for him to deliver it.

"Is there something wrong with you? I don't waste what you eat, but mine is wasted!" Chad opened the lunch box, saw that it was full, and then glanced at the time, "If I finish eating this, I don't need to eat it at noon today."

"Then I won't eat it at noon! Let's have a big dinner in the evening, it's a treat for you!" Mike knew that Chad had already dealt with the Tate Industries's affairs.

"What's the matter? I can't get through to my boss on the phone, and he didn't reply when I sent him a message. I want to go back to Aryadelle, and without his order, I wouldn't dare to go back rashly." Chad smashed the eggshell, Peel the skin and shove it into his mouth.

"Don't choke." Mike took a bottle of water, twisted it open, and put it in front of him, "I asked Avery, Elliot was in the hospital recently, and he didn't bring a cell phone at all. You can only call Wesley. Contact him."

“I don’t believe he doesn’t play with his cell phone at all. Even if he doesn’t play with his cell phone, doesn’t he use a computer? Doesn’t it mean that he is fine now and has nothing to do?” Chad boasted that he knew Elliot very well.

Elliot was a person who couldn’t be idle. If his health was not serious, he would definitely work.

“He’s not the same as before. You can’t look at him with the way you used to think. He now even owns his own life in the hands of others. Don’t ask him about your work. Go ask Ben Schaffer, or your company’s Vice President.”

“I don’t like hearing you say that.” Chad glared at Mike, “If you can’t speak, don’t speak.”

Mike: “You said you’re not too young, why are you escaping from reality?”

Chapter 2201

Chad: “You shut up.”

Mike: “Okay! I won’t talk about him! Tonight we take Hayden to the music festival. “

Chad: “Yes! It’s more fun to go to that kind of place with more people.”

...

At 5 o’clock in the afternoon, Avery returned home to change clothes.

“Avery, I have your package.” The nanny told Avery about it immediately when she saw her coming back.

Avery responded, but didn’t go to get the package.

After she changed her clothes and groomed herself, she hurried to the music festival.

“It’s a package from Aryadelle.” Seeing that Avery didn’t respond, the nanny added, “Mike wanted to open it in the morning, but I stopped him.”

Avery smiled: "Thank you! I really like to unpack my package."

The nanny: "I don't think it's good."

"Yeah. This habit is really bad. But I know him well, so even if he unpacks my package, I won't be angry." Avery said and went to the bedroom.

Nanny: "I won't let Mike see your package, you won't be angry?"

"Of course not." Avery said, "You did a good job."

"That's good." The nanny asked, "I stewed it. Soup, do you want a bowl of soup?"

Avery: "No. I'm going out after changing clothes. Mike and Hayden shouldn't be at home tonight, so you can rest after dinner."

The Nanny: "Okay. "

After Avery changed her clothes, she went out with her bodyguard.

At the same moment –

Eric and his assistant got into the car and headed for the music festival.

Maggie rode an electric car with her younger brother Ian on the way to the music festival.

Calvin walked to the door to change his shoes, and his wife told him to be careful in everything, and don't be caught by Travis's people.

Mike took Chad to Hayden's school, picked up Hayden, and drove to the music festival.

five groups of people, rushing towards the same destination.

At the music festival scene, the crowd was surging, and the sound of music and all kinds of loud noises mixed together.

People who were accustomed to quietness come there and feel their eardrums vibrating.

Avery was not used to the overly lively atmosphere there.

So after she and her bodyguards arrived, they immediately started looking for Calvin in the crowd.

The bodyguards looked around, looking for Calvin as well as Travis's bodyguard.

It's a pity that they hadn't met each other and only had photos of each other, so it's a bit difficult to find them.

"Let's find them separately!" Avery said, "After you find someone, use your mobile phone to contact them."

At the same time, Eric and his assistant, Maggie and Ian were scattered by the crowd.

As soon as Calvin arrived at the scene, his head started to feel dizzy.

He noticed that the bodyguards Travis sent to stare at him had their eyes on the stage in front of him, so he immediately slipped aside and called Avery.

Chapter 2202

"Dad!" Maggie suddenly saw Dad's figure, so she quickly squeezed over.

"Dad! Why are you here?" Maggie was very surprised, "I knew you were here tonight, so I'll come with you!"

Calvin looked around and said in a low voice, "Maggie, keep your voice down. I'm hiding from Travis's bodyguard."

"Why are you hiding?" Maggie's voice decreased.

"I'm here to see Avery. She gave your mother a bank card, and I'll return the card to her." Calvin took her daughter and continued walking to the side.

Maggie: "Dad, why don't you give me the card, and I'll return it to her. So you don't have to hide, how tired!"

"Hey, I have other things with her." Calvin asked, "What are you doing here?"

Could it be that you are here to meet your blind date? I remember you don't like to come to places like this."

"Yeah! Eric asked for this place. Maybe he likes it! I said it all. I'm not suitable for him, my mother insists on forcing me to see him again, so I can only come! But this is the last time." Maggie said in distress, "There are so many people, how do you want me to find him!"

"Call him!" Calvin gave his daughter a suggestion, "How about I accompany you to meet your blind date first? Your mother praised him so much, I want to see if he is really that handsome."

Maggie: "Is my mother telling you this in private?"

"Say it! The night she went to see your blind date, she kept pulling me and talking. My ears are about to get calluses. If it wasn't for you who didn't like that person, I've wanted to meet for a long time. Since tonight is such a coincidence, I'll take a look with you."

Maggie looked embarrassed: "Dad, let's say goodbye! I called Eric to accompany me, so you don't need to come forward."

"Where's Eric? Why didn't you see him?" Calvin twisted head, looking around.

At this glance, Calvin vaguely saw a woman who was also looking around.

He had never met Avery, but he felt that the woman might be Avery.

"There are too many people here, and the two of us are crowded out."

Maggie said, took out her mobile phone, and wanted to call her brother.

"Maggie, I seem to have seen Avery." Calvin wanted to go and get things done first.

Maggie immediately looked in the direction her father was looking.

At this time, Avery also looked towards them.

“Dad, let me go with you to see Avery!” Maggie was suddenly nervous, “I want to go say hello to her.”

Calvin agreed.

Avery and Calvin looked at each other, and after confirming that the other party was the person he was looking for, Avery immediately called the bodyguard, told the bodyguard where he and Calvin were, and asked the bodyguard to pay close attention to suspicious people around him.

After Avery walked in front of Calvin and Maggie, her eyes first locked on Maggie.

Avery was more familiar with Maggie’s face than Calvin’s face.

Because Eric sent her a photo of the blind date ‘Maggie’ a few days ago.

The photo of ‘Maggie’ and the face of the girl in front of her perfectly overlapped.

Avery was very surprised and asked, “You are...”

“Hello, Miss Tate, I’m Maggie Emond, daughter of Calvin Emond.” Maggie immediately introduced herself, “I’m here. I said hello to you because I admire you very much.”

Avery: “Maggie? Is it the one who was looking for it?”

“Yes. My daughter’s name is Maggie, and I have a son named Ian Emond. Before the two of them were born, my wife and I discussed it. In the future, The boy’s name will be Ian Emond and the girl’s name will be Maggie Emond. And now her name is Maggie.” Calvin took his daughter one step ahead.

“It’s good! The name is nice, and your daughter is very beautiful.” Avery probably understood what was going on, so she asked Maggie, “Maggie, are you here to watch the music festival tonight? Who are you with? Huh?”

Maggie: “Uh... I came here with my dad.”

She was embarrassed to say that she had an appointment to meet her blind date here.

“Oh...” Avery said, taking out her mobile phone, “How about we add a Whatsapp? I think we may have a chance to meet in the future.”

Chapter 2203

Maggie was a little confused, she didn't expect Avery to be so friendly and so proactive.

She took out her phone from her pocket and opened Whatsapp.

Avery scanned her QR code for her.

Soon, the two added Whatsapp.

Avery almost couldn't help laughing when she saw that she had successfully added 'Maggie' as a friend.

“Maggie, the handsome guy in your avatar has a good figure! Is this your boyfriend?” Avery didn't expect that she would meet her blind date faster than Eric.

Moreover, according to Avery's naked eye observation, Maggie is definitely a girl.

“No. This is my younger brother. My younger brother prefers to exercise.”

Maggie's cheeks flushed slightly and explained, “Miss Tate, I got separated from my younger brother, so I will go to him first.”

After Maggie finished speaking, she walked away quickly.

Maggie dialed her brother's number, and the call was connected, but no one answered.

She called twice in a row, but her brother didn't answer.

She was suddenly anxious.

At this time, Eric's message came: [Have you arrived?]

Maggie was busy looking for her brother, so she wasn't very patient: [I was there a long time ago. I looked around in the crowd and didn't see you. Also, I don't like this kind of noisy place, the two of us really don't fit. So we don't have to meet. Later, you tell your mother that you have someone you like, so that your mother won't force you to go on a blind date.]

Seeing her reply, Eric immediately got angry: [Why didn't you say that you have someone you like? If I said that, my mom would take me back to show her.]

Maggie: [Eric, I haven't graduated yet.]

Eric: [You didn't graduate and it didn't affect your mother forcing you to have a blind date. That being the case, even if you say you have someone you like, your mother won't blame you.]

Maggie: [Makes sense!]

Eric breathed a sigh of relief. Finally, he didn't have to mess with her anymore! Even the entanglement on the Internet was enough to give him a headache.

After Eric talked with Maggie, he went to find his assistant.

Maggie went to find her younger brother.

Both of them wore masks, so when they passed by in the crowd, no one knew that the other was their blind date.

...

Avery and Calvin left from the music festival scene.

It was the seaside, and the sea breeze blew at night, which was actually a bit cold.

But Avery's heart was warm.

"Miss Tate, take the card back. I don't want it." Calvin returned the card to Avery, "I don't know much about the device in Elliot's head. I can tell you everything I know."

Avery: "If that's the case, then you should accept it. Otherwise, I'll feel that I owe you favor."

"Miss Tate, I really don't want it. I'm not short of money now." Calvin was firm, "I don't know much about that device. I only know that Margaret can be controlled remotely, but how it brought Elliot back to life, only Margaret knows."

Avery was stunned.

"Miss Tate, I am inclined that this technology does not exist." Calvin told Avery his judgment, "Of course, I am not sure if my guess is accurate."

Chapter 2204

After Avery got this information, her mood was indescribably complicated.

"Miss Tate, Margaret is here to win an award, and Travis is here to cheat money. Neither of them is to save people." When Calvin said this, he basically said everything he wanted to say.

"Mr. Emond, since you know that Travis is trying to cheat money, why do you want to join his team?" Avery felt regretful.

Calvin blushed: "Our family is not very well-off. After my wife resigned, I was the only one in the family to earn money. My son and my daughter are still in school, and I have to pay the family's elderly alimony every month..."

"Take this money." Avery forced the card to Calvin, "I suggest you still find a way to get away from Travis or you can just do nothing and just wait."

Calvin: "What are you waiting for?"

Avery: "Waiting for Travis's retribution."

Calvin understood: "Miss Tate, I'll go first. If there is anything else, we will call.”

Avery: “Okay.”

After Calvin left, Avery took out her mobile phone, originally wanted to call Hayden, but she thought about it and called Eric first.

Eric answered the phone quickly.

“Avery, are you done? I’m with Mike Hayden and the others now. In the front row.” Eric said.

“Aren’t you going on a blind date tonight? I met your blind date just now.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing, “Eric, I can tell you with certainty that Maggie is a girl, and she is very beautiful. She looks even more beautiful than in the photo.”

Eric: “???”

“Maggie is not only beautiful, but also looks quiet and gentle. Also, her Whatsapp profile picture is a photo of her own younger brother.” Avery told Eric everything she knew, “Eric, are you right? Haven’t seen her yet? She seemed to say that her brother was also here, she and her brother got separated, and said she was looking for her brother.”

“I’ve made it clear to her. I won’t have to meet her again in the future.” Eric was unmoved.

“Oh, if that’s the case, then forget it. I even added her on Whatsapp to see if it was her. It turned out to be her.” Avery said, “She’s really smart. It’s no wonder your mother likes her so much.”

“Avery, don’t talk about Maggie. Where are you now? Come and find us!” As long as Eric didn’t talk about the blind date, his tone became lighter.

“Okay.” Avery didn’t really want to go there, she wanted to go back to Aryadelle now.

But she didn't want to spoil the fun when she thought that everyone was rarely there tonight.

Calvin's words and the guesses made by Avery team made her want to take a risk.

But she didn't be in a hurry for the night.

Even if she wants to go home, she has to wait until tomorrow.

She came to the music festival scene, walked towards the front, and soon saw Mike and the others in the crowd in the front row.

She walked over and sat down beside Hayden.

"Where's Eric? He called me just now to say that he was with you."

Mike replied, "A singer friend of his took him away and said he would come on stage to sing later."

Avery nodded.

"How did you talk to that person?" Mike leaned into her ear and asked, "You don't seem to be so happy, don't you get any useful clues?"

"No. I have to go back to Aryadelle tomorrow. Hayden will leave it to you."

Avery explained to Mike.

"Oh... OK! Go back if you want to! We are doing very well here, you don't have to worry about it." Mike responded with a sigh.

Avery finished talking to Mike, then turned to look at Hayden: "Hayden, I'm going back to Aryadelle tomorrow. Do you want to go back with me? Of course, if your studies are heavy, you can go back when you are on vacation."

Hayden: "Mom, What are you doing back home?"

Avery: "Go back to see your father."

"Then go back." Hayden didn't want to go back to Aryadelle for the time being. He didn't help much when he returned home.

Chad heard their chat, so he interjected: "Avery, let me go back to Aryadelle with you! It just so happens that I'm almost busy with things here, and I plan to return to Aryadelle."

Chapter 2205

Avery: "Okay! Then you have an early rest tonight. I plan to book a flight back tomorrow at noon."

Chad: "Okay."

At this point, a loud melody sounded on the stage.

Everyone's attention was immediately drawn to the stage.

...

Frank met Ian after he separated from Eric.

At that time, Ian had just separated from his sister.

Probably by special fate, the two of them met soon.

After meeting, Ian took Frank and took him to play games.

Frank actually didn't want to take him, but he said 'brother' one by one, and he shouted very affectionately. Frank thought that the boss didn't really want to see him, so he could only reluctantly take him to play games.

Time passed minute by minute, and suddenly, a familiar singing sound came from the back of Frank's head!

"F*ck! My boss!" Frank immediately looked towards the stage.

On the stage, Eric was holding a microphone and was singing!

Really his boss!

"What's the situation!" Frank immediately ran towards the stage.

Ian also saw the dazzling man on the stage.

The promotion of the music festival did not say that Eric's annual meeting was coming!

“Ian, you little ba*tard where did you hide just now! I’ve been looking for you for a long time and can’t find you. I’m going to call the police in a hurry!”

Maggie rudely said.

“Sister, save me some face! There are so many people outside!” Ian pushed his sister’s hand away, covered his ears, and wouldn’t let him pull, “I met Brother Eric just now, and I asked him to take me to play games!”

“Eric? He is playing games with you?” Maggie frowned, “You two have been playing games together?”

“Yeah! It’s been half an hour. It’s a pity that Eric just now Singing.” Ian looked towards the stage.

“Eric, Eric...” Maggie read aloud and looked at the stage.

Ian said firmly, “Brother Eric’s mobile phone background picture is also him.”

“Oh...I have nothing to do with Eric. Don’t bother him in the future.”

“The two of you broke up, it won’t affect my game with Eric, right?” Ian was sullen, “I don’t play games every day. Old lady, you don’t have to be so strict with me, right?”

Go back! Dad is waiting for us outside.” Maggie said, pulling her brother to leave.

At this moment, her cell phone rang.

She picked up her phone and saw a video call from her mother.

She took over the video call, and her mother’s voice immediately came –

Maxine: “Maggie, have you seen Eric?”

Maggie: “No...”

Maxine: “Ah! I seem to hear Eric’s voice? Is it Eric singing at the stage?”

Maggie: “Yeah! Mom, when did you fall in love with him?”

Maggie said, pointing the camera at the stage.

Because all the people at the scene stood up and took their mobile phones to take pictures on the stage wildly, even if Maggie raised her mobile phone, she couldn't capture the picture on the stage.

Ian chuckled lightly, took the phone from his sister's hand, raised it easily, and showed his mother the picture on the stage.

"Ah! Isn't that Eric?! Ah ah ah! That is Eric!" Maxine saw the clothes and hat Eric was wearing on the stage, the same outfit she wore last time she met.

Chapter 2206

After Maggie heard what her mother said, it was as if an electric current hit directly.

"Where is Eric?" Ian stared at the front of the stage, unable to see him at all.

"On the stage! The one who sang on the stage...that's Eric Santos!" Maxine could not wait to fly from the screen to the scene.

"Mom, where is Eric on the stage! The one on the stage is Eric Santos, the big star!"

"Eric Santos is Eric, both names belong to one guy. My God! I said the last time I saw this guy, Why is he so familiar! It turns out that he is the big star Eric Santos!" After Maxine said this, her blood pressure rushed up, "No, no, no! I'm so dizzy...I Gotta lie down for a while..."

The video hung up.

Ian and Maggie looked at each other in shock.

Ian: "Sister, what's going on?!"

"How do I know what's going on! Isn't it that guy you went to see?" Maggie also fainted.

"Yes! that guy I saw was the fat guy! I was playing games with him just now!

It's not Eric at all! If Eric Santos was Eric, would I not know?" Ian Having said that, the dynamic music on the stage stopped abruptly.

on the stage, after Eric Santos finished one song, another singer walked up to the stage and put his arm around his shoulder.

“I just found out that my good friend Eric Santos also came to the scene. So I specially invited him to sing this song for everyone! Are you happy?!” After the singer finished speaking, she raised the microphone and faced the audience.

“Happy!” Under the stage, the voices were full of people.

“Eric Santos, why didn’t you come over and tell me in advance? Who did you come with today?” The singer chatted with Eric in front of everyone.

“Uh...I came with my assistant.” Eric said suddenly, “But there are too many people here, and my assistant is gone.”

“Boss, I’m here!” Off the stage, Frank turned towards The stage waved violently.

Not far away, Ian was stunned. His little brother turned out to be Eric’s assistant!

“Sister, Eric’s assistant is the Frank I saw!” Ian took his sister’s arm and spoke excitedly.

Maggie’s cell phone rang again, and it was her mother’s call.

Maggie picked up the phone.

“Maggie, I just called Eric’s mother and asked Eric’s full name... Eric’s mother told me that Eric Santos is Eric! Ah, ah, ah! Maggie! Ahhh! I think I might be going crazy!” Maxine’s cry made Maggie realize how absurd the whole thing was.

On the last blind date, she asked her brother to come forward, and Eric asked her assistant to come forward, so they never actually met.

“Sister, your blind date is Eric Santos?” Ian laughed when she heard what her mother said just now, “If I tell this story, others will think that I’m mad. How could our family be possible? Have something to do with a big star like Eric Santos?”

“Eric Santos, I can’t be with him.”

“I know. No matter how awesome Eric Santos is, it’s no use if you don’t like it.”

“No... People don’t look down on me at all.” Maggie patted her brother’s head awkwardly, “How could I not like Eric Santos? No one in this world would dislike him, right? Let’s go home! Don’t daydream “

Sister! Are you inferior?” Ian looked at the uncomfortable expression on his sister’s face and teased, “I haven’t seen you feel inferior before!”

Maggie: “You stinky boy! Stop making fun of me! If you let you Go on a blind date with Hepburn, do you feel inferior?”

Ian: “I...I don’t have low self-esteem! If what you said is true, I’d be happy to die!”

Chapter 2207

“Go back to sleep! There is everything in your dreams.”

...

Eric got off the stage, and the assistant immediately took him away quickly.

“Boss, how can you be so headstrong? We didn’t bring bodyguards out!”

Frank was scared to death.

Eric: “There are security guards at the scene to maintain order.”

Frank: “It’s not very safe! I saw Maggie...”

“What you saw is fake. Avery has seen the real Maggie, a very quiet girl, exactly as in the photo. She has a younger brother. Her whatsapp profile picture is the photo of her younger brother.” Eric has sorted out the matter, “What you saw should be her younger brother. I was forced to go out on a blind date by my family. I am also a victim.”

“What a victim, her blind date is you! If I were her, I would be too happy.”

Frank drove out of the car and left Noisy seaside.

Eric: “Frank, not everyone thinks the same as you.”

Frank: “I don’t understand. But I don’t need to understand. You and her will not have any interaction in the future.”

Eric: “Yeah.”

Soon after Eric left, Avery and his party also left the festival.

Mike actually wanted to stay on the scene, but Avery and Hayden were leaving, and Chad was going back to Aryadelle with Avery tomorrow, so he was too embarrassed to stay up late tonight with Mike.

Chad was leaving, and Mike wouldn’t have much fun here alone, so he went with them.

“Avery, are you going back alone? Go back, and then what?” On the way back, Mike asked Avery. He wanted to know Avery’s plan after returning.

“That person told me that Margaret might be pretending to be a ghost.” Avery replied, “so I want to take out the device in Elliot’s brain and try it out.”

“Oh...playing a Ñ.Övel.Ē.book ghost! If that’s the case, that’s funny!” Mike wanted to laugh and got angry again, “This is a big scam! People all over the world have been deceived by her! What the March Medical Award...and that Travis...”

“How do you know that they don’t know it’s a scam?” Avery asked back, “It’s only us and ordinary people who have been deceived.”

Avery’s words were too heartbreaking, and Mike gritted his teeth: “Then you're back home, take the things out of Elliot's head. If Elliot is all right, I'll be the first to let that old Travis go!"

"If Elliot is all right, you don't need to take action at all. Elliot will definitely take care of him."

"Avery, actually If this is the case, it is something to celebrate. Although we have been deceived during this time, we will never have to be threatened in the future. How wonderful!" Chad laughed, "Really, I heard the news. After that, my mood was the most relaxed and happiest moment of my time."

"Well, I'm actually in the same mood as you. If it wasn't too far away, I wish I could go home now."

"We can buy tonight. Ñ.Övel.Ë.book flight back home." Chad couldn't wait to go back.

Avery shook her head: "don't be so anxious. I called Wesley, Elliot is now living in the hospital, it's safe. We'll go back after a rest."

"Alright. I'll listen to your arrangement." Chad was in a good mood.

The car arrived home at 10:00 p.m.

The nanny had been waiting for them at home.

When Avery entered the house to change her shoes, the nanny said to her,

"Avery, the package on the cabinet is your courier."

Avery changed her shoes and glanced at the shoe cabinet.

Chapter 2208

The package was small. She picked up the package, which was light.

She carefully looked at the information on the order number. The courier was sent from Aryadelle, and the sender was Wesley.

Wesley?

When she Ñ.Övel.Ë.book saw the word 'Wesley', her nerves tensed. All curiosity was mobilized.

She found the knife and cut the package open.

“What is it?” Mike stood beside her, leaning his head in front of the package.

Hayden stood on the other side of Avery, wanting to see what was in the package.

The stuff was packaged in a light blue box.

When Mike saw the blue box, he immediately took the package from Avery.

“Looking at you, you don’t seem to know what it is. Let me open it! What if there is danger?” Mike said, opening the blue box.

As soon as the box was opened, the expression on Mike’s face was startled.

–What is this?

–Can’t read.

–Shouldn’t this be dangerous?

“Show me.” Hayden was afraid of danger, so he took it from Mike before his mother took it.

Avery frowned, watching things go from Mike’s hand to Hayden’s.

She felt that this thing seemed a little familiar...

Soon, an ominous foreboding occurred in her heart!

She immediately found her mobile phone from her bag and called Wesley.

Wesley has been waiting for her call.

So after seeing her call, Wesley answered the phone immediately: “Avery, did you receive the package I sent you?”

“Well. What is that?” Avery asked calmly, holding back her heart that was about to jump out.

She already had the answer in her heart, and she felt that the truth must be what she guessed.

“That’s the device in Elliot’s brain. Three days ago, I hired a doctor and took it out for him.” Wesley confessed the matter, “Avery, I’m sorry. I’ve never dared to tell you. Because I-I promised Elliot that I can’t tell you before the operation. After the operation...”

“What happened after the operation? It’s been three days since the operation, how is he?” Avery exclaimed hysterically.

Mike and Hayden immediately walked to Avery’s side and listened to her phone.

Wesley was still in the hospital.

“Avery, Elliot’s still alive. It’s just that he hasn’t woken up yet.” Wesley replied, “I called several well-known neurosurgeons in Aryadelle. They said that the reason why Elliot was still awake was because of him. His brain underwent two operations in a short period of time, resulting in relatively large damage and weakness. The doctor said that his life may not be in danger. The premise is that if he can wake up.”

Avery’s heart tightened and relaxed.

“Avery, I’m sorry. Elliot’s attitude was very firm. He would rather die than be controlled by others. He also didn’t want you to be threatened, so he made this decision.” Wesley sincerely apologized.

“Why do you listen to him like this?” Avery felt a little sad. She believed in Wesley so much, so she let Wesley stare at Elliot.

In the end, Wesley concealed such an important matter from her.

“Brother Elliot’s looking for Shea. He asked Shea to find me.” Wesley said helplessly, “You know, Shea listens to him the most.”

“I see.” Avery raised her hand to wipe away the tears from the corner of her eyes , “It’s okay to do it. Originally, I planned to go back to Aryadelle and take out the device in his brain. I met Calvin tonight, and he told me that the device might be used to deceive people.”

“So if Elliot had the surgery a few days later, he would know this important information.” Wesley regretted, “If I had known it earlier, I would have waited a few days. I wouldn’t be so nervous.”

Chapter 2210

“Oh...I’ll send you daily necessities when I go back!” Mike replied, “You wait and send me a list.”

Avery: “Well. Just wait for the bodyguard to deliver it. I’m done.”

“Okay. Let’s go first!” Mike didn’t help much by staying here. He doesn’t make trouble for her now, just help.

After they left, Avery went to disinfect, put on an isolation gown, and prepared to enter the ICU.

Elliot’s chief surgeon accompanied Avery in.

“Miss Tate, you don’t have to worry too much. We estimate that Mr. Foster should be able to wake up in the next few days.” The chief surgeon saw Avery in a depressed mood, so he comforted her.

“How many days are these days?” Avery asked seriously.

She didn’t know anything about Elliot’s situation, and the chief surgeon knew the most.

“I guess it will be within three days!” said the chief surgeon. “If he doesn’t wake up in another three days, it will be a little dangerous.”

Avery relaxed a little and suddenly became nervous.

“Miss Tate, I said that he will wake up these days because his vital signs are improving little by little. So there is still great hope.” The doctor in charge continued, “Margaret boasted. The resurrection technique is a proper deception! It’s a lie she created by taking advantage of people’s fear of death!”

If Elliot woke up now and was out of danger, Avery would dare to take the words of the chief surgeon.

As long as Elliot hadn't woken up, she couldn't be completely at ease.

“I've been chatting with Wesley these days, and I think Margaret chose to commit suicide immediately after winning the March Medical Prize. It's also for this reason. Because she can't get this prize at all! Once her lies are discovered, the trophy and honor will be taken back.” The chief surgeon said with certainty, “Margaret chose to commit suicide in order to keep this honor. In this way, even if her honor was taken back after her death, she would not know. She was not only good at deceiving others, but also good at selfdeception.”

“Your guess is well-founded. I hope Elliot can wake up within three days as you said.” Avery was more concerned about Elliot.

The two entered the ICU, and Avery saw Elliot lying on the hospital bed at a glance.

Elliot's face was haggard and pale, and he laid motionless and lifeless on the hospital bed.

If it weren't for the continuous pulsing of the curve on the instrument next to her, she would definitely not be able to stop thinking about it.

Because the chief surgeon was there, Avery could only restrain her excitement.

“Miss Tate, look at his statistics. It's pretty stable now. You just came back from abroad, haven't you recovered from the jet lag? I'm on duty tonight, so you can go back and have a good sleep first. Maybe he will wake up tomorrow.” The chief surgeon persuaded, “Do you know that you are important? Before you came back, Wesley was scared to death. He was guarded in the hospital every day and didn't dare to go back. I was afraid that something happened to Elliot and he couldn't explain it to you. Don't you still have three children? Go back and see the children!"

The words of the chief surgeon made Avery's nervous mood relax a lot.

Perhaps it was also because of seeing Elliot with his own eyes, and seeing that his current situation was indeed not as bad as he imagined.

Avery: "That's hard work for you."

"As long as Mr. Foster's book doesn't have an accident, the hard work is worth it." The chief surgeon said and sent Avery out of the ICU.

Foster family.

The villa was brightly lit.

After Mike and Hayden came back, they didn't plan to wake up the family.

But when Mrs. Cooper saw them coming back, she couldn't help saying a few words excitedly.

Layla was awakened and came out of the room in her nightdress with her hair down.

The moment her eyes met her brother's, her body felt like an electric shock, and her confused eyes suddenly lit up.

"Brother!" Layla screamed in shock, her sharp voice causing Robert, who was sleeping in the room, to shudder violently.

Chapter 2211

Mrs. Cooper was afraid that Robert would be frightened and cried, and immediately went back to the house to see Robert.

After a while, Mrs. Cooper walked out with Robert who was awakened.

Robert pursed his little mouth when he saw his sister hugging his brother.

"Layla, your voice just now almost woke up the living creatures in the entire villa.” Mike looked for a glass of water to drink.

“Uuuuu...Why didn't you book tell us in advance when you came back? No one told me you were coming back tonight before I went to bed!”

Layla hugged her brother tightly and complained to Mike.

“We're in a hurry.” Mike put down the water glass and glanced at the time,

“It's almost 2:00 a.m. Are you going to school tomorrow?”

“I'll ask for leave tomorrow! My brother finally came back, so I don't want to go to school!” Layla made a decision without thinking.

Mike teased: “Have you kept up with your academic performance?”

“I want to do well in the exam, I can do it anytime!” Layla puffed out her cheeks in dissatisfaction.

“Layla, go to bed. I'll take you to school tomorrow.” Hayden released his sister, “I'll leave after the weekend.”

“Oh... well! You take me to school tomorrow, and I'm going to introduce you to my good friends!” Layla thought that she would be able to show off her brother to her classmates tomorrow, and her mood suddenly took off .

“Brother, it's very late, let's go to bed together!” Layla pulled her brother and wanted to take her to her room.

Hayden pulled his sister's hand away: “Layla, we are not children anymore.

We can't sleep in the same room.”

She thinks there is something wrong with her and her brother sleeping in the same room.

“Layla, look in the mirror, you're not a little girl anymore.” Mike laughed while watching the play, “Look at your brother again. Although it is impossible for him to fall in love, he is faster than Your mother is tall. You even let him sleep in the same room with you. If it spreads out, people will laugh at him.”

“Humph! I really don’t like growing up!” Layla said.

“Sister!” Robert called out to her sister in a cute voice.

But Layla ignored him and went upstairs.

Seeing that his sister ignored him, Robert stared at Hayden.

“Robert, if you also want to sleep with your brother, that’s absolutely fine!

Your brother will definitely not refuse you.” Mike teased the little guy.

“I don’t want to sleep with Brother Smelly! Brother Smelly made my sister angry! Humph!” Robert snorted at Hayden’s face and hugged Mrs. Cooper’s neck tightly.

At this moment, a white light flashed outside the villa.

Mike immediately went to the door and glanced into the yard.

“Avery is back.” Mike was a little surprised. He thought Avery would stay in the hospital until Elliot woke up.

“Mom!” Layla ran downstairs frantically when she saw Avery coming back upstairs.

Robert followed and exclaimed: “Mom!”

Mike shook his head and was dazed by the noise.

“It is estimated that Elliot’s situation is not serious.” Mike walked over to Hayden and whispered to him, “I’m sleepy, I’ll go first.”

“You go!” Hayden looked indifferent.

“Oh, you live with your father, don’t you feel awkward?” Mike didn’t forget to joke before he left, “You also saw your mother’s feelings for your father. Of course, your father doesn’t have to pick on your mother. You still Let go of the hatred!”

Chapter 2212

Avery held Robert in one hand and Layla in the other, walking into the villa with a gentle smile.

Mike smiled and said, "Looking at you so relaxed, Elliot is okay?"

"It's okay." Avery said, "Are you going? Be careful on the way."

"You don't keep me." Mike complained.

"It's very late, don't be hypocritical." After Avery said this, she gave Robert to Mrs. Cooper in a good mood.

She was going to clean up the room for Hayden.

"Avery, the room that Hayden used to live in has been reserved, and it will be cleaned every other week. Just change the bedding and you can sleep." Mrs. Cooper hugged Robert and said, "If you come back with me first Just say it."

Avery: "It was a temporary decision to come back, it's more sudden."

"Well, it's fine. You take Hayden to the room. I'll take Robert to sleep first."

Mrs. Cooper said, looking at Layla, "Layla..."

"I'm going to see my brother's room. I'm not sleepy at all!" Layla didn't even think about it, she followed her mother and Robert to Hayden's room like a little follower.

"Mom. I'll sleep with you tonight!" Layla grabbed Hayden's arm, very clingy.

"Okay!" Avery also missed her daughter very much during this time, "I'll change the sheets and quilt cover for Hayden first."

Layla: "Mom, I'll help you!"

"Okay!" Avery took quilt from the cabinet The clean four-piece set came out, and then said to Hayden, "Hayden, go wash up."

Hayden put down his schoolbag, took out pajamas and daily necessities from the suitcase, and walked towards the bathroom.

After the bathroom door closed, Layla immediately complained to her mother:

"Mom, am I really big now? But I think I'm still very young!"

“Layla, do you still want to be with your brother, Hayden? Shall you sleep?”

Avery couldn't help laughing, “Although you are still a child in your mother's eyes, you and your brother Hayden have grown up.”

Layla: “Mom, I don't want to grow up. I want to be your baby forever.”

Avery: “You Always Mommy's baby.”

Layla: “I'll always be Daddy's baby.” Layla hugged her mother's changed sheet.

Avery: “Of course.”

Layla: “Mom, is Dad sick again? You don't tell me, but I can guess. If Dad is fine, why should he be hospitalized in the hospital?”

“Well.” Avery said frankly, “Your dad is in the intensive care unit now and hasn't woken up yet. If he can wake up, then he will be fine in the future.

Mom just went to the hospital to see him, and I believe he will wake up soon.”

Layla didn't expect her father to be so ill that he needed to be admitted to the intensive care unit.

Her eyes turned red instantly.

“Layla, you go to mom's room and wait for mom first. I want to chat with your brother Hayden alone.” Avery changed the four-piece suit and took it from her daughter.

Layla: “Okay!”

After Layla went out, Avery took the changed four-piece suit to the laundry basket.

After a while, Hayden came out of the shower.

Avery knew that it was very late, and it was not suitable for her son to take up too much rest time.

Avery: “Hayden, I want to chat with you briefly.”

Before Avery said what to talk about, Hayden had already guessed it.

Hayden: "Mom, I know what you want to say. Uncle Mike told me just now."

Avery was a little surprised: "Then what do you think?"

"The matter between you and Elliot is the matter of the two of you." As Hayden's age, his mind changed a lot. He said, "As long as you're happy."

Chapter 2213

"Hayden, you can think so, I'm really happy. I can feel that you have grown up. I am a little happy, but also a little reluctant. Because I know that in the future, your mother will no longer be able to shield you from the wind and rain, and you will leave mother and go to a wider sky."

Hayden: "Mom, no matter where I go, as long as you need me, I will come back to you."

"I don't need you to think about me. I only need you to be happy, to be able to do what you like, to meet like-minded friends...just like you don't interfere in my life and I will not interfere in your life in the future."

After opening up with Hayden, Avery returned to the master bedroom with relief. She saw Layla lying on the bed, holding a rag doll, smiling at her shyly.

Layla: "Mom, are you finished talking with my brother Hayden?"

"Well." Avery walked to the bed and looked at her daughter tenderly,

"because your brother and your father have not been reconciled for so many years. I hope they don't look like strangers anymore. People, don't be like enemies."

"What did my brother say?" Layla opened her curious eyes.

"Actually, from the time when your brother helped to find your father, I could feel that your brother has gradually let go of his hostility towards your father. Even if he doesn't show much concern for your father, at least he didn't put him down.” Avery touched her daughter’s head, “Layla, you have to go to school tomorrow, right? Go to sleep! Mommy is going to take a bath. Don’t wait for Mommy.”

Layla: “Well.”

Avery took the Pajamas and cell phone went into the bathroom.

She hadn’t slept on the plane, and it stands to reason that her body was exhausted to the extreme, but when she returned to Aryadelle to see Elliot and the child, she was even more excited.

Not only was she not sleepy now, but she was also a little excited. Even she wanted to drink a little wine.

She filled the bathtub with hot water, then took off her clothes and soaked her body in it.

Fatigue dissipated immediately.

She picked up her phone and checked the time.

It’s already 3:00 a.m.

In three or four hours, Elliot could get up.

Fragments of the past suddenly appeared in her mind.

She opened whatsapp, found Emilio’s chat box, and glanced at their last chat record.

If she had no memory of Emilio before, then after this incident, her feelings for Emilio are no longer unfamiliar and abstract.

Emilio secretly helped her many times. Without Emilio’s help, she would not have found Elliot so smoothly.

Thinking of this, she sent Emilio a message: [I’m back home.]

It was daytime in Bridgedale now, so Emilio quickly saw her news and replied: [I heard.]

Avery: [Who did you listen to?]

Emilio: [My dad.]

Avery: [Oh, when I was in Bridgedale, your dad sent someone to spy on me?]

Emilio: [Not really. You have so many bodyguards, if my dad sends someone to monitor you, your bodyguards will definitely find out. Time Air in Bridgedale has my dad's shares. As long as you take a Time Air flight, my dad will know your information.]

Avery: [Your father invested a lot.]

Emilio: [Elliot has invested a lot, right? Putting money in one basket is risky.]

Avery: [What else did your dad tell you?]

Emilio: [No more. His attention is no longer on you and Elliot. He has realized that he is no match for you. In addition to concentrating on new projects, he is now looking for Norah. Although the $14 billion had been taken back, he hated Norah to death.]

Avery: [Emilio, your dad's new project is going to be cold.]

Emilio looked at her message and didn't know how to reply for a while.

Chapter 2214

Avery sent him a photo in the past: [Your dad can no longer control Elliot and me.]

Emilio opened the photo and glanced at it. After realizing what it was, he immediately asked: [How is Elliot?]

Avery: [He is not dead.]

Emilio: [So the resurrection technique is fake?]

Avery: [Yes.]

Emilio: [I already guessed it. In fact, my dad should have guessed it. It's just that he wants to use this to make money, and even if he knows, he won't reveal it.]

Avery: [I know. I won't let him use this to make money.]

Emilio: [Whatever you want. I do not mind.]

Avery sent Emilio a message, just to inform him.

She doesn't care what Emilio decides to do later.

After that, they both cleared up.

Avery came out of the bathroom after taking a shower, and her daughter was already asleep.

She walked to the bed and touched her daughter's forehead. As if she didn't care much, her daughter was already slim, well-behaved and sensible.

She really wanted to press the pause button on life so that she could spend more time with her children.

In a flash, it was dawn.

Mrs. Cooper came to wake up Layla.

Layla suddenly jumped up after rubbing her eyes.

After getting out of bed, she quickly ran back to her room to wash and change clothes.

Avery followed her, and after she changed her clothes, she took a comb and combed her hair.

"Mom, go and get my brother Hayden up. He promised me to take me to school this morning," Layla begged. "He must still be asleep! He has to take me to school first!"

"Layla, you are so willing to shout Wake up brother?" Avery couldn't help laughing.

"What's so unwilling to do? After he took me to school, he can go back to sleep!" Layla took the comb from her mother's hand, "Mom, hurry up and call my brother!"

Avery turned around and went out.

She came to Hayden's room, Hayden had already got up, and the quilt was folded.

Avery: "Hayden, Layla said you promised to send her to school today."

"Well. I can already go out." Hayden just finished washing up.

Hayden put on his watch and glanced at the time by the way, there is still plenty of time now.

"Then you take her to school, I'll go to the hospital later." Avery said, "Hayden, do you want to go to the hospital to see your father?"

"Isn't he still awake? Let's talk when he wakes up!" Hayden was not disgusted to visit Elliot, but now that Elliot was in the ICU, it's really not suitable to meet.

"Okay." Avery was just testing his son's reaction, but now that she got his answer, she finally felt relieved.

After watching Hayden and Layla go out, Avery sent Robert to kindergarten.

"Mom, will you not leave in the future?" Robert raised his head and discussed with his mother seriously.

Avery: "Well... even if your mother leaves in the future, it won't be too long, okay?"

Robert pouted and sighed maturely: "My sister took me to the last sports meeting! It's not my sister's baby! I'm your baby!"

Avery's eyes were sour, looking at her son's immature face, she was a little funny and very sad.

"Dad doesn't know where he went!" Robert pouted and muttered unhappily.

Avery: "Robert, your Dad is sick and is in the hospital. When he is healed, he will go home."

“Oh...that’s it! Then shouldn’t I be mad at my father?” Robert seriously asked his mother.

Avery: “Yes! Don’t be angry with your father.”

“Mom, are you sick too?” Robert continued to ask seriously.

Chapter 2215

Avery embarrassed: “Robert, mother is not sick. But don’t be angry with mother, because mother is looking for a way to treat your father.”

Robert: “Okay...then I’ll be a little stingy.”

“Mmmm! You are really your mother’s good baby!” Avery thought her son was too cute, so she hugged him and kissed him on the cheek.

The kindergarten that Robert attends was in the commercial district of the community.

Drive there in five minutes.

After sending Robert to school, Avery asked the driver to drive the car to the hospital.

Elliot’s attending doctor said that if Elliot woke up, she would be notified as soon as possible.

She had been looking forward to it, looking forward to the good news that Elliot woke up when the phone rang the next second.

...

On the outskirts of the city, a guest bedroom on the second floor of a self-built building. On the bedside table, there were several bottles of melatonin.

Norah barely slept all night.

Melatonin was completely useless for her.

She was leaning against the window, a lady’s cigarette between her fingers.

Soot fell to the ground. Her nightgown was also full of ashes.

Ever since she knew Elliot was returning to Aryadelle, she had been paying close attention to Elliot's movements.

Until she found out that Elliot had surgery, her heart was up and down, and she began to wait for the follow-up news.

Unfortunately, after Elliot's surgery, there was no news.

At the same time, she also pays attention to the news of Travis from Bridgedale.

She knew that Travis hated her to the bone now, and as long as Travis found her, she would definitely die.

She doesn't want to die. So she sent her parents abroad immediately after returning home.

As long as Travis couldn't find her parents, she couldn't be threatened.

Aryadelle was not Travis's territory. As long as she kept her whereabouts hidden, she should be able to hide for a while.

In her dreams, she hoped that Travis would die suddenly, or that Elliot woke up after the operation and killed Travis.

As long as Travis died, she would be able to live an ordinary life in the future.

Unfortunately, God did not wish.

Sometimes the more afraid of something, the more something comes.

There was a sudden knock on the door, followed by a squeak, and the door was pushed open.

"Norah, I'm afraid you have to live in another place." It was the owner of the house who was also a friend of Norah's aunt, "Travis has already sent someone to your aunt's place. Did your aunt call you? Listen? Said that your aunt's house was smashed. I'm really afraid... why don't you go to a more remote place to avoid the limelight!"

Norah lived there and paid the owner a high room rate...

It's just that she also understood that although the other party wanted to make money, she didn't want to cause more trouble.

"Do you have any recommended places?" Norah took out a wad of money from her bag and handed it to the other party, "I won't hide forever. When Travis dies, I can make a comeback. You help me now, I'll remember In my heart."

"I'm afraid that Travis will not die in a while. I heard that he has some way of immortality..." The owner took the money and gave her advice, "You still have to think of a way or keep hiding, I'm afraid of your mental problems."

The owner looked at the cigarette butts all over the floor, and at her haggard face, worried that before Travis died, she would have problems first.

"I'm thinking of a way... I can definitely think of a way." Norah actually already had a solution in her heart.

It's just that Elliot didn't wake up, and this plan was not easy to implement.

If she wants to fight against Travis, either she has the chips to let Travis disregard the past, or she has the chips to let Elliot help him fight against Travis.

She thought about it, Travis suspected that he was seriously ill, cruel and inhuman, and he would definitely not trust her again.

Even if she has chips, Travis will kill her after getting the chips.

So she might as well put her bet on Elliot.

This was her only way out right now.

Although this so-called way out might be a dead end, she had no other choice.

Bridgedale.

Emilio told his father what Avery told him.

He didn't like his father, and like Norah, he also looked forward to the news of his father's death when he woke up one day.

Aside from this, he and his father were a community of interests.

He couldn't watch Jones's family have an accident.

When Travis heard the news, his face turned black and blue if he was hit hard.

He didn't care whether Elliot was dead or not, what he cared about was whether his new project could progress smoothly.

If Avery was really determined to stop him from making a lot of money, he didn't seem to be able to resist.

Although Avery had not won the March Medical Award, Avery had an extraordinary influence in the medical field.

"Dad, stop!" Emilio looked at his father's hideous face and persuaded, "Even if we don't do new projects, we can continue to rely on our own industries to maintain our current life as before. If we continue to do new projects, There will definitely be no good results."

"Emilio, what is your relationship with Avery? Why does she tell you everything!" Travis lit a cigarette, took a puff, exhaled a thick ring of smoke, and stared at him Looking at his son, "Didn't you say it's okay to have nothing to do with her? If it doesn't matter, she will tell you this? She can wait for me to invest a lot of money before hitting me hard, so I will lose everything."

Emilio's face flushed.

He must not let his father know that he had repeatedly tipped off Avery before.

“Avery asked me before and asked me to help her deal with you together. But I refused.” Emilio looked calm and weaved lies, “Dad, I have never told you about this. Because I think it is my duties. Now she and Elliot are finally no longer under your control, so she can’t help showing off to me.”

“Is that so?” Travis looked at his son and discerned the truth from his words.

“Yes. Dad, if I betrayed you, Avery wouldn’t be passive until now.” Emilio continued to explain, “I heard that Elliot’s surgery was done secretly behind Avery’s back after returning to Aryadelle. Avery knew about this. Before the incident, she was still trying to crack the device in Elliot’s head. She can only say that Elliot is too cruel. He is not afraid of death, what can he do that can’t be successful?”

“Okay, don’t say it!” Travis didn’t want to listen to Elliot How arrogant.

This time, it was just Elliot’s bet.

If Elliot really lived off the device in his head, he’d be dead by now.

People who didn’t even care about their lives, in Travis’s view, were complete idiots!

As long as people were alive, there were infinite possibilities.

When he die, he’s nothing!

“Dad, let’s return Uncle Sirois’s investment money to him! Take advantage of the fact that you haven’t invested too much yet.” Emilio continued to persuade, “I know you are not reconciled, and I am not reconciled. But instead of losing more in the future, It’s better to stop the loss in time.”

“Emilio, do you know how Leland Sirois will laugh at us behind our backs when we do this?” Travis’s face turned blue, and his voice trembled, “People live with their faces and trees live with their skin... “

“Dad, I’ll come forward. You can rest at home for a while. Or go outside for a relaxing vacation. If we insist on investing and wait for Avery to come forward and point out that what we are doing is a scam, we will lose even more, and the entire Bridgedale will lose more and People will laugh at us.”

Travis gritted his teeth and rubbed his head with one hand: “Avery... I really want to kill her immediately! Emilio, is there anything you can do? If you can kill Avery immediately, I can make a will immediately that after I die, I will give you all my property!”

Emilio's palms broke out in cold sweat.

“Dad, Avery is now in Aryadelle. Aryadelle is Elliot's territory. Even if Elliot is lying in the hospital, his life and death are uncertain, but Elliot's power is still there. We have no chance to attack at all.” Emilio pointed out the reality and let his father gave up.

“You useless thing! Let you kill Avery, you are afraid of death, let you find Norah, you have been looking for so long, why haven't you found her yet? Could Norah also pose a threat to you?” Travis All dissatisfaction, vented on the son's head.

Chapter 2217

Emilio lowered his head and let his father insult: “Dad, now it is basically certain that Norah is in Aryadelle.

“Now that she is sure that she is in Aryadelle, why can't she be caught? Don't tell me that Aryadelle is too big... If you and Norah's identities were swapped, I'm sure Norah would have caught her long ago You!” Travis said in disgust, “Emilio, if you want me to really reuse you and hand over the industry to you, you have to do something! Don't think you have my blood on your body, and I will give everything to you. You're dreaming.”

Emilio's reprimanded breathing became heavier: “Dad, why don't I go to Aryadelle. Let's see if I can find her.”

“Didn’t you just say you want to help me clean up the mess? You go to Aryadelle. Who will help me clean up the mess?” Travis has decided to stop the new project, but he is not reconciled, “Wait first. Isn’t Elliot still awake? What if Elliot can’t wake up and dies? If Elliot dies, We can say that Elliot died because he took out the device! This proves the effect of the device even more!”

At this point, Travis became excited.

“Okay, then wait.” Emilio said, “I’ll go to Aryadelle first. This will also make it easier to inquire about Elliot’s news.”

“Okay. You can go now. Emilio, if you can’t do anything well this time, Even if I donate all my property, I will not give you this incompetent waste!” Travis put pressure on his son.

Aryadelle.

In the evening.

Hayden went to school to pick up Layla from school.

As soon as Layla came out of the school, she saw the tall, thin figure of her brother Hayden.

“Brother!” Layla exclaimed, attracting the attention of the surrounding students and their parents.

Layla didn’t run towards her brother immediately after calling out her brother.

Instead, she introduced Hayden to her good friends: “That’s my brother.

Didn’t you say that you didn’t see him clearly in the morning? See him now! Is my brother super handsome? My brother is not only handsome, but also very good at studying!”

All the little girls showed their admiration to Hayden.

“Layla, why is your brother studying abroad?”

“Layla, aren’t you and your brother twins? You two should be the same age! Why are you still in elementary school and your brother has already gone to college?”

“Layla, your brother’s jumping is too fierce!”

...

Facing the chirping questions from her good friends, Layla felt a little pricked.

“My brother isn’t in college! The middle school he went to is an affiliated school of the university.” Layla blushed in embarrassment, but on second thought, it wasn’t a shame that her brother was better than herself.

Layla walked towards her brother. Several of her good friends also walked over with them.

“Brother, they are my good friends.” Layla introduced her good friends to her brother.

“Brother Hayden, can I add you as a friend?” a girl said, turning on her pink children’s watch.

Immediately following, other girls also opened their children’s watches.

Hayden: “.....”

.....

In the Hospital.

Elliot woke up after a few days of painful coma.

Chapter 2218

After waking up, everything in front of Elliot gradually became clear.

Where was that?

Elliot frowned, breathing hard.

He tried to move his fingers, and the fingers moved. He tried to lift his arm again, but the arm seemed to weigh thousands of pounds, and he couldn't lift it at all, let alone get out of bed.

He didn't dare to close his eyes, because thoughts kept popping up, reminding him of what happened before.

He had surgery to take out the device in his brain, he should be dead, but strangely, he felt alive now in his brain, he should be dead

Because the pain in his brain kept pulling on the nerves in his body rain kept pulling on

As well as the pictures he saw with his eyes, the sounds of instruments he heard with his ears, and the smell of disinfectant he smelled in his nose, all told him that this was the human world.

It felt so good to be alive. Although he didn't have the strength to act now, as long as he was still alive, there was still hope ---hope to recover, hope to see Avery, see children, see friends...

When Elliot found out that he woke up, A nurse immediately went to inform Avery.

Avery cried with joy, with an unreal sense of joy.

"Miss Tate, Mr. Foster is awake, go and have a look!" The nurse urged with a smile.

Avery came back to her senses and quickly followed the nurse to the intensive care unit.

Foster family.

After Hayden brought Layla home, Robert immediately took Layla's hand and pulled Layla to his side, forming a confrontation with his brother Hayden.

Robert had no relationship with his brother Hayden, and his brother was not so affectionate with him, so he must snatch his sister over.

"Robert, have you called your brother?" Layla picked up Robert and gave it to Hayden, "Call your brother quickly, or you won't have the gift."

Robert heard that there was a gift, and didn't even think about it, so he immediately obeyed. Shouting: "Brother!"

The corner of Hayden's mouth twitched unnaturally, and he said truthfully: "I didn't buy you a gift."

Hayden was so anxious to come back, where would he have time to buy a gift. Although he was free during the day, he made up his sleep at home during the day.

When Robert heard that he had been deceived, he hummed and felt aggrieved.

"Little Younger Brother, why are you crying! After dinner, brother Hayden will take us to buy gift!" Layla coaxed Robert very well. "Now think about what gifts you want, and go for it!"

In this way, Layla got rid of her clingy brother.

"Brother, if you don't want to pay attention to those good friends of mine, then ignore them. You don't need to take care of them with my face." Layla knew that for her brother Hayden, they were childish.

At that time, they wanted to add their brother's friend. The brother said that he didn't bring a mobile phone, but they didn't give up. They took out paper and pens from their school bags and took their brother's number away.

They use children's watches at school, but they actually have mobile phones when they return home in private.

"Layla, you're going to junior high school soon, so focus on your studies.

Don't think about messy things all day long." Hayden didn't take this matter to heart at all.

Even if those little girls really added his friends, they would be less interested in him before long.

"You always want me to study hard. Even if I study well and get admitted to the best university, what difference will it make when I graduate? After I graduate, I will either invest in entrepreneurship or find a job I like. Even if I don't go to school, when I'm an adult, I can still do this!" Layla asked.

"It is because you don't read enough that you are empty-minded and shortsighted, and say such things. Learning knowledge is not only to enable you to work and earn money after graduation, but also to enrich your spiritual level and vision." Hayden said.

Chapter 2219

Layla didn't want to talk about this anymore, because her head was starting to hurt.

"Brother, after dinner, you take my brother Robert and me out to buy gifts."

Layla changed the topic lightly.

"Okay. Think carefully about what gift you want. Go and think about it with Robert! I'm going to dinner." Hayden sent Layla away like Layla sent Robert.

In the Hospital.

Avery met Elliot.

After Elliot saw Avery, his eyes suddenly glowed.

It was not until this moment that he saw Avery and her eyes behind the protective goggles that he deeply understood that he was really alive.

"Elliot, fortunately you are awake, fortunately you are awake!" Avery choked, her eyes filled with tears, "You made such an important decision without hiding it from me, do you know how sad I am?"

The nurse reminded Avery: "Miss Tate, Mr. Foster finally woke up, don't scare him out."

The nurse's reminder made Avery hold back her words.

"Can Mr. Foster be transferred to the general ward?" The nurse asked.

Avery checked Elliot's current physical indicators, and then nodded.

Elliot had been in the ICU for almost a week, and the wounds from his surgery had slowly healed during the days he was in a coma.

was in no danger of life except that his body was relatively weak.

After transferring him to the general ward, Avery called the attending doctor and Wesley respectively to inform them of the good news.

Later, she told Mrs. Cooper the news.

Mrs. Cooper cried excitedly: "I knew Mr. Foster had good looks and would definitely survive! Did you tell Hayden and Layla? The three children went out to play after dinner."

"They went out at night. What are you playing?" Avery thought the children were at home.

"When Hayden came back this time, he didn't buy gifts for Layla and Robert. Layla and Robert wanted gifts, so they took Hayden out to buy them." Mrs. Cooper explained, "Don't worry, the bodyguards will go with you, and everything will be fine. "

Robert wanted gifts, so they took Hayden out to buy them." Mrs. Cooper exp

"Well. It's just that the temperature outside is a little cold." Avery was worried that the children would catch a cold. Especially Robert.

Although Robert looks healthy, he catches a cold if he is not careful.

Probably because of premature birth, even if he has been taking special care of him the day after tomorrow, his physique is still worse than that of ordinary children.

"I don't want him to go out either, but he insisted on going out with his brother and sister to buy gifts. I said he wanted to go out with him, but he didn't want me to follow." Mrs. Cooper smiled helplessly, "At first he was a little hostile to Hayden, but after a while I started sticking to Hayden."

I said he wanted to go out with him, but he didn't want me to follow." Mrs.

Cooper smiled

Avery was able to make up the picture that Mrs. Cooper said: "After all, they are brothers, so they must have feelings. Since they are out, let them have a good time!"

"After all, they are brothers, so they must have

After speaking on the phone, Avery has not made call to Hayden.

Elliot was still relatively weak. He didn't say a word since he woke up and closed his eyes to rest again.

When Wesley and the attending doctor came, Elliot fell asleep again.

"He stared at me for half an hour. He only closed her eyes before you came here." Avery spoke to them both.

"Did he say anything uncomfortable?" the attending doctor asked.

"He didn't say anything. I guess he's not very awake yet." Avery said, "But he should have remembered everything. He didn't speak, probably because he was afraid of being scolded by me."

"Hahaha! Miss Tate, since Mr. Foster is out of danger, don't scold him. If he doesn't take risks, we won't know that this is Margaret's scam."

Chapter 2220

"Yeah Avery, since he is awake, there should be no more problems in the future." Wesley followed the attending doctor Live together to persuade.

Avery glanced at Elliot on the hospital bed, and then asked Wesley to come out to chat.

Wesley knew that she would probably settle accounts with him in the autumn.

“Is Shea okay?” Avery first asked about Shea’s condition when she came out of the ward.

“She’s okay. I told her that Elliot would not die, and she slept well in the past two days.” Wesley said, feeling uneasy, “Avery, this is my fault, you blame me!”

Avery: “Brother Wesley, I said I don’t blame you, I won’t blame you. I called you out, not to accuse you. I just want to tell you that if this kind of thing happens in the future, you can actually think about whether there is a better way “

Wesley pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose: “Do you think there is a better way to do this? I thought and thought, but I really can’t think of another way.”

Avery calmly said: “You can tell me. If I knew that he would rather die and have to have surgery, why would I stop him?”

Wesley swallowed: “Avery, do you lack understanding of yourself? I think if you knew about this, You will definitely have a big fight with Elliot, and then stop him from dying.”

Avery: “???”

Wesley cleared his throat awkwardly: “If I misunderstood you, could it be that Elliot misunderstood you too? If he begged you to let you let him have surgery, why would he hide it from you? He must have considered the feasibility of telling you later, and he must have chosen to hide it from you because it would not work after telling you. “

Avery: “Brother Wesley, am I so tyrannical?”

“This is not tyranny. Because you love him, you can’t be rational about things related to him.” Wesley understood this.

Avery showed a smile that was uglier than crying.

“Avery, when you go out in the future, remember not to trust outsiders. You must not be fooled by bad people again.”

Wesley still had lingering fears when he thought of their experience this time, “It’s also because of your great fate, and thanks to Hayden’s brilliant intelligence, otherwise there will be nothing left. There is a chance to meet now.”

“I will be careful in the future.” Avery sighed, “Before, we wanted to find Haze too much. This time, such a serious thing happened, I saw it. Elliot should also see it. That child, I can’t find it, shows that she may really be dead. If she was still alive, she would be more than three years old now. If the people who raised her raised her to this age, they would definitely have a relationship.”

“You should have thought so long ago. It’s not that you didn’t look for this child, you have always sent someone to look for it. You have never given up this child. The best you can find, don’t if you can’t find it. So it affects my life.”

Wesley comforted, “You haven’t had dinner yet? I invite you to eat out as an apology for you.”

Avery touched his stomach and was indeed a little hungry.

.....

A plane taxied slowly on the airport runway, and after a while, the plane landed smoothly.

Emilio and the bodyguard slowly got off the plane. He came to Aryadelle this time, first to inquire about Elliot’s situation, and second to find Norah.

When he got out of the airport, his phone was turned on, and news about Elliot popped up.

It was Avery who sent him a message: [Elliot woke up.]

In just three words, Emilio's whole body became cold.

Elliot woke up, and Travis's life was not easy.

Travis had a hard time, and he also had a hard time.

The bodyguard hired a taxi from the side of the road.

After the two got into the car, the car drove towards the booked five-star hotel.

Emilio replied to Avery: [Congratulations.]

Avery didn't reply. She has nothing to answer.

From now on, she won't need Emilio's help for anything, and there will be no need for them to contact again in the future.

After a while, Emilio couldn't help but message her again: [I'm coming to Aryadelle. My dad asked me to come to Norah.]

Chapter 2221

Avery was full, clicked on her mobile phone when she was drinking water, and saw this message from Emilio.

She replied: [Do you have Norah's whereabouts?]

Emilio: [I only know that she is in Aryadelle, but I don't know where she is hiding. Do you have any news from her?]

Avery: [No. What if you find her?]

Emilio: [With my dad's temper, he would definitely kill her.]

Avery: [Your father is indeed such a person. Has his new project stopped?]

Emilio: [He is waiting for news from Elliot. He was still delusional, hoping that Elliot would die, so that he could continue his new project.]

Avery: [Can't your dad afford to lose?]

Emilio: [He has never lost in most of his life. But he can't afford to lose. I can't afford to lose either.]

Avery: [It's not that you can't lose if you can't afford to lose.]

Emilio: [I know. If I can't find Norah this time, my dad won't give me a penny of property. He said it himself.]

Avery: [If you are worried about your future livelihood, I can help you.]

Emilio: [No. I have hands and I can't starve.]

After Emilio sent this message to Avery, he took a deep breath and deleted the chat with her.

He found Norah's number and dialed it.

Not surprisingly, can't get through.

He only has Norah's number, and has no friends on her other social accounts.

So he tried to send a message to Norah: [I'm coming to Aryadelle, if you want to survive, let's meet! If you don't trust me, we can call first.]

Norah blocked all calls except his parents, but her phone could still receive text messages.

After she saw Emilio's message, a hope rose in her heart, but this hope soon died out.

Like Travis, she was suspicious by nature, and she didn't trust Emilio.

She and Emilio were half-sisters and younger brothers. There was no family relationship between them, only competition.

After a while, Emilio sent another message.

The hotel and address where he stayed. Attachment: [The $14 billion that my father was deceived by Elliot has long been taken back. He asked me to come to you, and if I said you were dead and didn't take you back to Bridgedale, he wouldn't blame me. Do you want to hide and hide like a mouse all your life, or do you want to solve this problem?]

After Norah read the text several times, she couldn't resist the temptation, and sent him a message: [I can't give you any benefit, why do you want to help me?]

Emilio: [Let's talk on the phone!]

Norah hesitated for a moment and agreed.

After a while, the two of them spoke on the phone.

Emilio: "Norah, I can let you fake death to escape this disaster. But you have to do one thing for me. If you think it's worthwhile, you can agree. If you think it's not worthwhile, you can refuse."

"What's the matter?" Norah realized. What Emilio asked himself to do was definitely not easy.

After being silent for a few seconds, Emilio replied, "Kill Travis."

Norah: "..."

Emilio: "You can't do this on your own. I will send someone to help you.

Norah, think about it carefully. Only when Travis dies can you truly be relieved."

Norah laughed and said sarcastically: "Don't say it as if you are all for my own good. Only when Travis is dead can you inherit the Jones family's property! Otherwise, you will always be Travis's pawn!"

Chapter 2222

Norah's laughter, stinging Emilio's heart.

Emilio didn't know that he was just a pawn of Travis. And it's still a useless pawn.

Travis never concealed his dislike for him.

Travis believed that everything he gave was given by himself.

If Travis wanted to take it back one day, he could take it back at any time.

It was like a rope was wrapped around his neck, and the other end of the rope was in Travis's hands.

"Since you don't agree, then forget it." Emilio's tone was calm, not angered by her.

"I didn't refuse just now!" Norah stopped laughing, calmed down, and quickly thought about the feasibility of this matter, "If I miss, Travis will know that I am not dead. Not only will I be killed by then. If he kills me, he will also know that you are deceiving him."

"You died and then came back to life, how can you blame me? Elliot died before and was not 'resurrected'?" Emilio said,

"Furthermore, no I'm 100% sure, I won't let you do it. If I just want you to die, there's no need to get on with me. Travis's suspicion is terminally ill, and if he's not careful, he'll be suspicious."

"Good. Travis is our common enemy, the enemy's enemy, and our friend."

Norah needed someone to hold a group, Emilio was indeed a good candidate.

Although Emilio couldn't protect her. Emilio was the only person who could get close to Travis.

"We are not friends, and we will never become friends in the future. After the matter is over, we will return to the bridge and return to the road." Emilio said coldly.

Norah: "Okay! Don't cross the river and demolish the bridge! I'll make it clear to you in advance. I'm not interested in your Jones family's property."

"Under the surveillance. Otherwise, Travis will find out that you are still alive, which will be very detrimental to me." Emilio told her his concerns.

Norah knew Emilio was right, but she instinctively didn't trust Emilio. Or rather, not so trusting.

She could conspire with Emilio to find a way to kill Travis, but she didn't want to live under Emilio's surveillance until things were successful.

What if Emilio betrayed himself in order to please Travis?

"Let me think about it! You also think about how to murder Travis. If you can come up with a detailed plan, I will trust you more." Norah said.

"Norah, you need my help now, not me. I'll give you three days at most. If you haven't figured it out by then, then we don't need to talk about our cooperation." Emilio simply finished, hang up the phone.

Norah stared blankly ahead, completely lost.

She has moved out of her aunt's friend's house. Her aunt's friend suggested that she go to a remote mountain area to hide.

It happened that her aunt and friend had an abandoned old house on the mountain, so she spent a lot of money to have her aunt and friend take her to this old and dilapidated house.

There are only two families around the old house, and these two families have also moved away, leaving only the dilapidated wooden house on the mountain.

Her aunt's friend promised her to bring her food and daily necessities every few days.

She had no better way than to promise. She has been in pain since she came to this dilapidated bungalow.

But even so, she still did not dare to agree to Emilio's conditions easily.

She didn't believe anyone except herself and her parents.

She believed that Emilio hated Travis as much as she did, but Emilio had no courage at all. The words Emilio just said might just be bait.

It is entirely possible that Emilio lured her out, and then handed her over to Travis for meritorious service.

At this moment, a flash of lightning split the night in half, and Norah trembled in fright at the sudden white light.

When she was about to check whether the doors and windows were closed properly, a 'boom', a thunderstorm completely shattered her sanity.

Chapter 2223

She stood stiffly on the spot, her hands clenched into fists, tears fell silently.

Today's downfall and embarrassment, she would never forget.

If there is still a chance in the future, she will never forget the shame she has endured now!

After a while, the rain fell, pulling Norah from hatred and pain to reality.

Rain was dripping down quickly from her head. Because the house was unoccupied all the year round, and the house was old, it leaked rain.

And there was more than one place where the rain leaked.

Using the dim light, she checked the house, and there were at least ten places leaking rain.

She hurriedly found a water basin and bucket, and hurriedly placed it in the leaky place to collect water.

At this moment, the screen of her mobile phone on the bed lit up, and a message came in.

.....

At the same time, outside a store in the city center.

"Wow! It's raining so hard! Brother, didn't we bring umbrellas?" Layla looked at the continuous rain in front of her, and pulled her brother's jacket with her little hand.

Bodyguard: "There is an umbrella in the car. But there is only one. I will carry Robert to the car first, and then I will pick you up."

After the bodyguard finished speaking, he took off his jacket and wrapped Robert.

Robert was tightly wrapped, only revealing a pair of big, dark and shiny eyes. Before he could resist, the bodyguard gave him a 'whoosh' and ran towards the parking lot with him in his arms.

"Brother, let's run over too!" Layla wanted to try the rain.

Mainly because her brother was by my side, she was happier, and she wanted to drag her brother crazy together.

When the time came to get wet, her mother would not just say her.

While Hayden was thinking, Layla had already taken his hand and rushed into the rain!

"Brother! I'm so happy! I'm so happy in the rain! It's even more fun to be in the rain with my brother!" Layla exclaimed excitedly in the rain.

Hayden was angry and helpless: "Don't cry if you have a cold tomorrow!"

"What's the point of crying when I have a cold! Just take medicine when I have a cold! You thought I was a child! I'm all grown up!" Layla didn't care.

Over in the parking lot, the bodyguard put Robert in the car, checked that he was not wet, and was relieved when he heard Layla's scream.

The bodyguard took the umbrella and turned his head, seeing Layla and Hayden running in the rain, the expression on his face suddenly turned to stone.

The brothers and sisters ran to the car, and Hayden immediately helped Layla into the car first.

"Didn't you two wait for me?" The bodyguard looked at them both soaked and their heads were big, “Hayden, Layla is ignorant, why are you letting her come around? If you two go back like this, I’ll be scolded must.”

Layla wiped the rain off her face with a tissue, then handed the tissue box to Hayden.

“My mom isn’t at home. She won’t be back tonight!” Layla still had a smile on her face, “I took my brother to the rain. If mom knows, don’t say it was my brother who took me. It’s raining.”

The bodyguard was speechless and choked: “Let’s go back first! If this happens next time, I’ll understand who to take away first.”

Layla pouted: “Occasionally it’s okay to rain. I don’t get the rain every day. I’m sure I won’t catch a cold...Ah!”

The bodyguard immediately turned on the heating in the car to the highest level.

Half an hour later, the car stopped in the front yard of Foster’s house.

Before Layla opened the door, she saw her mother through the window.

Chapter 2224

Seeing that Layla was afraid, the bodyguard couldn’t help laughing: “What are you afraid of, you throw the pot on your brother.”

“I don’t want it!” Layla frowned, “Besides, even if I say it was my brother who took me in the rain Yes, do you think my mother will believe me?”

“Then you can only be scolded.” The bodyguard gloated a little, but didn’t dare to be too obvious, “But don’t worry, I’ll be scolded with you.”

Layla took a deep breath, pushed open the door, and got out.

The rain was a little lighter now.

Avery and Mrs. Cooper came out to pick them up with an umbrella.

As soon as Robert saw his mother and Mrs. Cooper, he burst into tears.

“Mom, I’m hot... I’m going to die from the heat woo woo woo!” Robert’s face flushed with heat and tears welled up.

Avery heard her son’s cry and immediately ran to the door of the car.

Hayden untied Robert from the child safety seat, took him out, and handed him to his mother.

The bodyguard slapped his head sharply!

Just now, he was afraid that Hayden and Robert would freeze, so he turned the heating in the car to the highest level.

But he forgot to take off Robert’s coat!

Robert was wearing a thick down jacket and blowing the heat all the way, could he not be hot?

When Avery took Robert into her arms, she thought she was holding a ball of fire.

She didn’t have time to see Layla and Hayden, and immediately went into the house with Robert in her arms.

“Baby, why are you so hot?” Avery didn’t understand what happened, “could it be a fever?”

Avery took Robert into the house and immediately took off his coat and sweater.

The little guy’s autumn clothes were soaking wet!

Avery’s strings were tense, he took off his autumn clothes, and took a blanket on the sofa to wrap his son.

“It’s hot in the car... It’s dead hot! Woohoo!” Robert’s eyes were hazy with tears, and he was very aggrieved.

At this time, the bodyguard, Hayden and Layla entered the house.

Avery saw that Layla and Hayden's coats were wet and guessed what happened.

"Miss Tate, this is what happened." The bodyguard was going to report the cause and effect to Avery.

Layla walked quickly to her mother's side, and touched Robert's head with her little hand: "Brother, don't cry. We didn't mean to heat you. Your sister apologize to you, okay?"

Robert pouted, wanting to forgive her sister, A little hesitant.

"Layla, what's the matter?" Avery looked at her daughter.

Mrs. Cooper saw that the mother and daughter were chatting, so she carried Robert to the bathroom and planned to give Robert a bath.

"I took my brother to get in the rain, but my clothes got wet... Uncle bodyguard was afraid that I would catch a cold, so he turned on the heater in the car. We forgot that my brother was not in the rain and was wearing a thick coat." Layla confessed the matter honestly, "Mom, if you want to blame, blame me alone! It has nothing to do with my brother, and it has nothing to do with the bodyguard uncle."

Avery sighed, then glanced at Hayden: "Hayden, hurry back to your room Take a shower, don't catch a cold."

"Mom, don't scold Layla." Hayden is worried about his sister, plus he is a brother, he should protect her, "I took them out to buy gifts. I didn't check the weather forecast, I did not know it was going to rain tonight, so I didn't bring an umbrella."

"I'll educate Layla at most. I won't scold her." Avery said, "Go and take a bath! I'm going to take Layla to take a bath too."

Layla's hair was relatively long, and it was the housemaid who usually helped her wash.

Only then did Hayden feel relieved and prepare to go back to the room.

“By the way, Hayden, your father woke up.” Avery told the good news to the children.

When Layla heard the news, she exclaimed, “Ahhh! Is my dad alive?! Does he need to die?”

Chapter 2225

Avery: “Layla, keep your voice down. Your father is fine for the time being. But he is still relatively weak. So I can’t take you to the hospital to see him tonight. I’ll take you to see him tomorrow.”

“But I want to see him now!” Layla hurriedly pulled her mother and ran towards her room, “I’m going to take a shower soon...”

Avery: “Layla, your dad is sleeping now. We won’t be going tonight.”

“Then can I go see dad tomorrow morning?” Layla wanted to see dad too much.

“Yes. Then you have to go to bed earlier tonight.” Avery took her daughter back to the room. “Also, you can’t get wet like this in the future. Mom won’t be so worried when it rains in summer. It’s easy to catch cold in winter.”

“Mom, I’m not cold. My clothes are dry.” Layla was wearing a thin T-shirt that had been dried by the heater while she was in the car.

“You and your brother are not cold, but you made your brother cry.” Avery sighed, “didn’t your brother say it was hot in the car?”

Layla: “I didn’t hear him say it was hot! If he said it was hot, we certainly wouldn’t. It doesn’t matter to him.”

“Maybe your brother felt sorry for you when you got wet, so he didn’t say anything.” Avery guessed.

Layla thought differently, “I think my brother dozed off in the car and fell asleep. Then he was woken up by the heat when he got home.”

Avery felt even more distressed for Robert after hearing what Layla said.

But Layla and Hayden didn't mean to make Robert hot cry, so she couldn't blame them either.

After washing Layla's hair and drying it with a hairdryer, Avery went to see Robert.

Robert had already taken a shower and put on refreshing pajamas, and his spirit had returned to normal.

It was the heat rash that could be seen on the skin of the neck.

“Mom, look!” Robert had forgotten the unpleasantness of being hotly crying.

He slept in the car for a while and was now in good spirits. In his hand he held the toy robot that his brother Hayden bought him and showed it to his mother.

“My brother bought it for me. This robot will transform! It's super cool!” Robert said, picked up the remote control and started to control the robot.

“Robert, wasn't your father sick before? But he's getting better soon. Will mom take you to the hospital tomorrow morning to see him?” Avery squatted in front of his son and discussed with him.

“Okay!” Robert raised his head immediately, his eyes were black and clear,

“My brother bought me another gift, I'm going to give it to Dad!”

Robert said, and went to the shopping bag on the side of the coffee table, turned over a toy that resembled a flashlight.

“Look Mom!” Robert turned on the flashlight and shot it on the ground.

Suddenly, a cartoon picture appeared on the floor.

This was Robert's favorite cartoon character.

Robert pressed the switch, and a different picture suddenly appeared on the ground.

This flashlight was a small toy that projects pictures.

Avery could see that Robert liked this toy very much.

Avery: "Robert, keep the toys for yourself. Dad may not have the strength to open your toys now."

Robert: "Oh okay! My dad is so pitiful."

"Baby, dad is not pitiful. Let's go to see him tomorrow, he will definitely very happy." Avery began to imagine the warm picture when the children saw Elliot tomorrow.

Robert clapped his hands excitedly: "I don't have to go to school tomorrow?"

Avery couldn't help laughing and crying: "Baby, you don't like school so much?"

Robert thought for a while, then nodded: "How fun is it at home!"

Avery: "But there are no children at home to play with you!"

"There are so many toys at home to accompany me. I'm playing, I don't want children!" Robert's mouth was shriveled, and he said what was in his heart.

Chapter 2226

Avery thinks in a trance that Hayden and Layla were not gregarious when they were young like Robert, and were unwilling to go to kindergarten and play with other kids.

At that time, she was very worried about the physical and mental health of the child, especially Hayden, and was reluctant to say more.

Mrs. Cooper saw what Avery was worried about, so she smiled and comforted her: "Robert's age is very normal. It's not that he doesn't play with kindergarten children at all. He also has good friends in kindergarten, but he prefers to play at home. I sometimes take Robert to the community, meet other parents of children, chat with others, there are children who are less in love with school than Robert.”

Avery: “It can be seen that it is more lively and healthy.”

“Yeah!” Mrs. Cooper said, thinking of Elliot, “Is Mr. Foster completely out of danger? Will there be no more accidents in the future?”

“It should be no more.” Avery was not too sure, “Wait for a few more days for him to recover, and then give him a detailed examination.

“I follow you all in fear, and I’m almost scared of having a heart attack.” Mrs. Cooper sighed.

Avery: “We will definitely be more careful in the future. After all, we have experienced so many lessons, and it is time to have a good memory.”

“Well. You go to take a bath and rest early. I will take Robert to sleep later.”

Mrs. Cooper said.

Avery: “Okay.”

The next day, morning. Avery took three children to the hospital to visit Elliot. Unexpectedly, Ben Schaffer and Chad were in the ward.

“Why are you here so early?” Avery greeted them both, “It’s only after seven o’clock.”

“Brother Ben came over last night and stayed in the ward all night.” Chad said, “I just here.”

“Oh.” Avery glanced at the man on the hospital bed.

“That... Brother Ben, since Avery is here, let me take you back to rest!” Chad pulled Ben Schaffer and quickly exited the ward.

“Don’t leave in a hurry!” Avery was a little embarrassed. She didn’t come alone, she also brought three children, and they didn’t need to evade.

“Uh...or else, Brother Ben, go first! You have dark circles under your eyes, you have not slept last night, right?” Chad felt that the ward was too crowded, “Let the bodyguard take you back. I’ll come here again and I’ll go to work in the company later.”

As soon as Ben Schaffer left, Layla and Robert immediately moved to the side of the hospital bed and stared at Elliot on the bed.

Elliot was in a good mood when he saw the children.

“Didn’t you go to school today?” Elliot’s mind was blank, he had a lot to say, but he didn’t know what to say to the children for a while.

“Dad, it’s only after seven o’clock. I’ll go to school later.” Layla took her dad’s big palm and stared at the needle on the back of his hand, looking distressed,

“Dad, does your hand hurt? Ah? When can you be discharged from the hospital? When you are discharged from the hospital, take us out to play! I haven’t gone out with you for a long time.”

“Okay. When Dad is discharged from the hospital, Dad will take you wherever you want to go.” Elliot complied with his daughter’s request in every possible way.

Avery listened and couldn’t help but interrupt: “You must rest at home for at least half a year after you are discharged from the hospital. When your body is completely back to normal, think about going out again!”

Elliot frowned slightly after hearing this.

Seeing that Elliot was not satisfied, Avery was about to speak again. At this time, Layla took the lead and said, “Dad, you have to listen to my mom. Mom is a doctor, and what mom said must be right.”

“Elliot, what my daughter understands, you don’t understand.” Avery was angry.

“Avery, I will listen to you in the future.” Elliot’s face was gentle and his tone was full of patience, “As long as you don’t get mad at me.”

Chapter 2227

“Don’t say this in front of your children. We will talk about the two of us in private later.” Avery plans to wait After I send the child to school, I will have a good chat with him.

Elliot thought that he could escape, but looking at her appearance, he would inevitably be educated later.

“Hayden, when you come back this time, let’s play for a few more days!” Elliot looked at his son with a peaceful expression.

Hayden looked at Elliot’s sick face, and it was really difficult to confront him.

“You don’t mind me. You mind yourself!” Hayden was not very good at talking to him. Although his words were unpleasant, his tone was not as cold and stern as before.

“Well. Dad really has to take care of himself in the future. It can’t be a burden on you anymore.” Elliot blamed himself.

“Hayden didn’t blame you.” Avery was afraid that he would misunderstand his son, “Since Hayden came back to see you, he naturally didn’t hate you like he did before.”

Avery’s words all fell into Robert’s ears.

Robert was very puzzled, raised his head and looked at his brother: “Brother, why do you hate my father?”

Hayden: “...”

Avery hugged Robert embarrassedly and explained: “Your brother doesn’t hate your Dad.”

“Mom, what you just said, you said that my brother hates Dad.” Robert blinked his big bright eyes, never doubting that he heard it wrong.

Avery: "Brother did hate Dad a little bit before, but that was the past."

Robert didn't understand Avery's explanation.

Robert glared at his brother, staring fiercely.

"Okay, after seeing Dad, you can go to school! Your brother will send you to kindergarten." Hayden took Robert from his mother's arms and forcibly took him out of the ward.

Robert howled.

Avery was worried and wanted to go out.

"Mom, take care of dad! I'm going to coax my brother! When I coax my brother, I'll go to school!" Layla said, looking at her father, "Dad, listen to my mother, I'll be here with you after school at night."

"Okay." Elliot watched his daughter walk out of the ward, feeling a little nervous.

Avery walked to the door, watched the three children leave, and closed the door of the ward.

She walked to the side of the hospital bed, sat down on the chair next to her, and looked at the man on the bed with a calm expression.

Elliot's heartbeat accelerated as he watched, and his body temperature rose suddenly.

"What did you chat with Ben Schaffer?" Avery didn't rush to complain about him, but chatted with him.

"We talked about his marriage with Gwen. He said that they can only hold the wedding if I am healthy." He asked Avery, "I should be able to recover almost on New Year's Day, right? Or let them get married on New Year's Day.

Because I'm very embarrassed that their wedding has been delayed again and again.”

“What’s so embarrassing about it? They really want to have a wedding, and they can do it anytime. Elliot, don’t take risks for others in the future.” Avery borrowed Talking to him on this topic, “Haze, let’s stop here!”

After Elliot woke up, he also thought about these questions.

Elliot: “Avery, I won’t stop sending people to look for her.”

“Of course it’s okay to send people to look for her. But let’s not fall into other people’s traps. There are many people who know Haze. They secretly want to use Haze against us. There are not a few people.” Avery analyzed it with him.

Chapter 2228

Of course Elliot knew this. But he was not as nervous as Avery. Haze was also his flesh and blood, even if he lost his life because of looking for her, he will not regret it.

It’s just that he won’t say such things. Avery would definitely be angry if he did.

“Unfortunately,” his Adam’s apple moved up and down, regretting, “after so long, I still haven’t found any news about Haze.”

Avery: “I didn’t believe it before, but now, we can’t find her, we must accept the reality. “

Elliot listened quietly and didn’t answer.

“Elliot, let go of this knot! Life must go on.” Avery glanced at him and knew what he was thinking.

Elliot had always been able to do what he wanted and what he wanted to do.

He had never been bent over by difficulties, so he would not give up easily about finding Haze.

“Hmm.” He agreed. Because he didn’t want Avery to worry. He didn’t want Avery to continue to suffer because of Haze’s incident.

“Want something to eat?” Avery brought breakfast.

Mrs. Cooper got up at three o’clock in the morning to make soup, so that Avery would bring it over in the morning and give Elliot a taste.

“Mrs. Cooper originally wanted to come and see you together, but she didn’t sleep all night, just to make soup for you. It is said that the soup boiled on a slow fire is better. I think she is too hard, so let her have a good rest first.”

When the insulation box was opened, a strong fragrance wafted out.

Elliot’s appetite rose.

He raised the head of the hospital bed and let him sit against it.

About twenty minutes later, Gwen, Tammy, and Jun came to visit Elliot.

They were puzzled when they saw Chad standing outside the door of the ward.

“Avery is inside.” Chad scratched his head, “I’m embarrassed to disturb them.”

“But after my brother woke up, I haven’t seen him yet.” Gwen couldn’t help pushing the door of the ward open when he said this...

In the ward, Elliot was leaning on the bed, Avery was shaving Elliot with a razor in her hand.

With a curious expression, Gwen walked to the side of the hospital bed in two steps, staring at Elliot’s hands: “Brother, can’t you move your hands?”

Elliot raised his hands to show her in order to prove that his hands were all right.

“It scared me to death! I thought something was wrong with your hand!”

Gwen sighed in relief.

“Hahaha, Gwen, you are about to get married, can’t you see that this is the love between them?” Tammy laughed and joked, “There seems to be a strong smell of chicken soup in the ward. Avery, Have you brought chicken soup to Elliot?” Avery shaved Elliot with a blushing face and wiped his face with a towel.

“Well. There’s quite a lot. Would you like to try it?” Avery asked politely.

“Hahaha, the three of us have a taste, and your husband won’t have anything to drink.” Tammy sat down in the chair next to her, watching the excitement, “Look at Elliot’s mental state, it’s not bad! It’ll be fine in a few days. Have you been discharged from the hospital?”

“If he recovers well, he can go home to recuperate in a few days.” Avery said and took the washbasin towel to the bathroom and put it there.

Jun walked to the other side of the hospital bed, looked at Elliot’s face, and looked at it: “Brother Elliot, fortunately you are all right. I’m worried to death.”

Chapter 2229

“Don’t worry.” Elliot’s voice was very low.

“You don’t know how much Avery has to worry about in order to save your life.” Tammy scolded him, “You are more worry-free than your children. Layla is so good, Robert is so obedient! Not to mention Hayden, he has never made anyone worried.”

“Tammy, don’t talk about it.” Jun gave his wife a wink, “Brother Elliot is being tricked, it’s not Brother Elliot is willing. Don’t mention the past.”

Avery came over from the bathroom, opened the insulation box, and took out a bowl of soup with a spoon.

She sat down beside the hospital bed with a soup bowl, intending to feed Elliot.

“Actually, when I first heard that he took the device out of his head without telling me, I was really angry. I had already thought about how to scold him when I saw him. Besides, it would definitely be annoyed if I scold him. He must be beaten up.” Avery said cruel words in the calmest tone, “But the magic is, as soon as I saw him, I was not angry.”

A layer of cold sweat broke out on Elliot’s back.

He just thought she was going to scold him in front of them, and then beat him again.

“As long as he’s alive, everything else is trivial.” Avery scooped a spoonful of soup and fed it to Elliot’s mouth.

Elliot immediately opened his mouth and drank the soup she fed.

The soup was very fresh and not greasy at all.

“Avery, you’re right. If Brother Elliot dies, you can hate him and scold him, and I want to scold him with you. But Brother Elliot is not dead, not only is he not dead, but he is fine. Isn’t that a good thing? We don’t need to be angry.”

Jun agreed.

“Sure, if he dies, who will I scold for.” Avery couldn’t help laughing.

“Avery, you are reluctant to scold him now, and you will be reluctant when he is discharged from the hospital.” Tammy added, “He looks too weak now. If it were me, I would be reluctant to teach him now.”

The corners of Jun’s mouth twitched when his wife spoke too openly!

“Tammy, aren’t you going to work today? I’ll take you to the company!” Jun took his wife and walked out the door of the ward.

Now that Jun saw Elliot, he felt relieved.

“I made an appointment with Gwen to go shopping today. You have to go to work and go there yourself!” Tammy pushed Jun away and walked to Gwen’s side.

“Avery, then we won’t disturb you.” Gwen was very happy to see the two of them loving each other so much.

“Well, let’s go play! By the way, for your wedding with Ben Schaffer, you can just notify us directly when you have set a time. Even if Elliot can’t attend, I will bring the children to participate.” Avery said.

Gwen: “Okay. Ben’s parents want us to hold the wedding on New Year’s Day, but I think we have more time to do it before the Spring Festival. And I have a lot of work on New Year’s Day.”

Avery: “Then discuss it with Ben Schaffer.”

Gwen: “Well.”

Gwen and Tammy came out of the hospital.

“Gwen, why don’t you give your second brother and Avery your wedding on New Year’s Day!” Tammy suddenly opened her mind, “the two of them have never had a successful wedding since they met until now.”

Their last wedding was turned into a scandal by Elliot’s biological father.

Gwen didn’t think much about it, and immediately agreed: “Yes! I didn’t want to have a wedding on New Year’s Day. But like my second brother, can I get married on New Year’s Day?”

“I think he’s doing very well. If you’re afraid that his body won’t be able to take it anymore, you can let him sit in a wheelchair and hold the ceremony.”

Tammy became more excited the more she thought about it, “It’s a ‘rebirth’ gift we gave them both, what do you think?”

Gwen nodded excitedly, but soon frowned again: “The two of them may not be willing to make such a fuss.”

“It’s fine if you don’t inform them. Their previous wedding was too grand, so I gave it to them. Opportunity for the bad guys to make trouble. This time, we will wait for New Year's Day to send the two of them directly to the wedding venue." Tammy said this, and she raised her eyebrows, "Catch them off guard!"

Chapter 2230

Gwen thought Tammy's proposal was great. However, it might be more difficult to implement.

Now only the two of them knew about the plan, and they had to pull in the others to help.

Gwen: "I'll go back in the evening and talk to Ben to see if he agrees."

"Gwen, you have to look at his face? You two are not married yet! You must let him listen to you." Tammy said With the attitude of the person who came over, she taught her the experience, "You must be ruthless with men. Avery and your second brother Elliot are the best examples. Your second brother used to be crazy, but now he is not firmly in the palm of Avery's hand."

Gwen said jokingly: "Was it held by Avery in the palm of her hand? Avery not only shaves him personally, but also feeds him soup. If Ben Schaffer was lying on the hospital bed, I would not have the patience! It's not that my hand is broken and I can't move."

"Cough Cough! What if Ben Schaffer doesn't help?" Tammy was afraid that the plan would be ruined.

"He shouldn't help? We were helping Avery and my second brother. After all, their previous wedding was indeed destroyed. If I were Avery, I would definitely feel very sorry. If I can make up for this regret and don't worry about yourself, Avery should be very happy!" Gwen thought about it from Avery's standpoint, and felt that it could be done.

Tammy: "If you do it well, you will be happy. If you do it badly, it will be another matter. So it's definitely not good if it's just the two of us. You go back to discuss with Ben at night, and I'll discuss it with my husband."

Gwen teased: "Tammy, do you still need to discuss with your husband? Aren't you in charge of your family?"

Tammy's cheeks were hot, and she held her head high and said, "Of course my family is in charge of me. I'm Go back and arrange work for Jun."

Gwen: "Hahaha! In fact, outsiders can tell at a glance that your husband listens to you very much. The main reason is that he doesn't seem to have any opinions, while you seem to be very smart and very thoughtful."

"Gwen, you're really accurate. But my husband is not indifferent to anything."

Although Tammy liked to shout at Jun but her love for him had never changed.

When something bad happened, Jun's parents objected to the two being together. If he hadn't insisted on being with her, They would have long since separated.

Gwen: "There's such a thing! Then I'll have to look at Brother Jun in the future. "

"Haha! By the way, after you married Ben, didn't Jun want to call you sister-in-law?" Tammy suddenly felt that her seniority had been lowered, "Ben Schaffer is Jun's senior, and he called Ben Schaffer's elder brother. But it's affectionate."

"I see that Jun is very affectionate when he calls my second brother. You didn't call Avery a sister-in-law, did you?" Gwen said, "I have never called Avery a sister-in-law. I think calling Avery is a sister-in-law, people will call me old. Even if I get married to Ben Schaffer, you and your husband still call me Gwen! How kind to call my name!"

Tammy: "Well."

In the hospital.

After Avery fed Elliot soup, she scrubbed his body again, and then changed him into clean clothes brought from home.

After cleaning Elliot up, Avery sat down to rest. She took out the thermos cup and mobile phone she carried with her from her bag.

Chapter 2231

When drinking water, Avery turned on her phone and glanced at it.

Last night she sent a message to the head of the March Medical Award jury panel. She told the other party about Elliot, hoping that the other party could explain to the public as soon as possible.

Until this morning when she went out, she hadn't received a reply from the other party.

When she sent a message to the other party last night, it was daytime in Bridgedale.

Clearly, they were trying to avoid it.

Avery looked solemn, put the thermos on the table, and continued to send messages to the other party: [If you don't reply to me today, I don't mind coming forward to reveal this ridiculous lie to the public in person!]

About five minutes later, Avery's cell phone rang.

She immediately got up from the chair and said to Elliot, "I'll go out and answer the phone."

Elliot responded and watched Avery walk out of the ward.

Avery came out of the ward with her mobile phone and walked towards the safe passage not far away.

She took the call, and the voice of the head of the jury immediately came over the phone.

“Avery, I’m sorry. I dropped my phone during the day and took it to replace the screen. I just got it back from the maintenance department.” The other party’s beautiful rhetoric directly suppressed Avery’s emotions, “I was shocked by the news you sent. It’s unbelievable.”

“I also think it’s unbelievable. I thought I was going to prepare for Elliot’s funeral, but he woke up.” Avery’s tone was light, with a hint of teasing, “He is not only awake now, but also conscious, can eat and sleep, and will be discharged from the hospital in a few days.”

“Ah, this is really something to celebrate.” The other party said, “Greet your husband for me.”

“No need. Even if he’s not greeted, he can be fine.” Avery could tell from his tone that he was not a sincere person, “What are you going to do with the awards you give out?”

“Avery, this is not something I can decide alone. Hey, the March Medical Award has been established for over a hundred years. If we openly take back Margaret’s honor and tell the public that this is a misunderstanding, you will let everyone What do they think of the March Medical Award? Will everyone still believe in this award in the future? There are too many aspects involved in this matter, and I can’t give you a good answer right away.”

“I guessed that you would answer like this. As the leader of the jury, you have the most say, and if you have such an attitude, I don’t think you can find a better solution later.” Avery was very disappointed with them.

She could understand that the March Medal wanted to preserve a century of fame. But when they reviewed the materials submitted by Margaret and decided to give Margaret an award, did they ever think about the original intention of the March Medical Award?

“Avery, do you want to destroy the March Medical Award?” The other party said sadly, “Your teacher was the winner of the last March Medical Award! If you destroy the March Medical Award, you will also destroy what your teacher has won. “

“You’re wrong! In my heart, my teacher’s achievements are much higher than the March Medical Award! Even if the March Medical Award disappears, my teacher’s achievements in life will not disappear!” Avery snapped Retorted, “If you want to use my teacher to threaten me, then you are very wrong! If my teacher is still alive, he will definitely disdain this false honor awarded by you.”

“Miss Tate, I know you are full of Righteous woman, once I was like you. Don’t get me wrong, I’m not saying that I don’t have a sense of justice now. It’s that I have to weigh a lot of things. The money that was invested in creating this award has long been spent. Margaret is indeed eager for quick success, and I apologize to you.” When the other party said this, the conversation changed, “Miss Tate, you don’t want Mr. Foster to be used for experiments by outsiders, right?”

Chapter 2232

Avery hesitated.

Elliot has a strong self-esteem. If the outside world knows about this, he will be discussed all the time.

He has always kept a low profile, and definitely does not want these disgraceful things to spread freely.

“Miss Tate, I implore you to think about it again. I will discuss this matter with the rest of the organizing committee to see if there is a better way to solve it properly. Give us some time, okay? “Seeing that Avery’s mind was shaken, the other party immediately let both sides go down the steps.

“Okay, I hope you can think about it clearly.” Avery hesitated for a while, but her position did not change, “If you still insist on your own opinions, then neither the honor of my teacher nor the face of Elliot will threaten you. Come to me.”

“Okay, I know your determination.”

After the phone call, Avery returned to the ward.

There was not Elliot on the hospital bed.

“Elliot!” Avery exclaimed.

Her exclamation immediately attracted the bodyguards outside the ward.

“Miss Tate, what’s the matter?” The bodyguard asked nervously.

Avery: “Where are the others?”

“The boss didn’t leave the ward!” The bodyguards had been conscientiously guarding the door of the ward, not seeing Elliot went out.

Just when Avery was thinking about it, the door of the bathroom opened and Elliot came out.

Avery and the bodyguard were stunned.

Although Elliot had been operated on for a week, he had only woken up for two days. Everyone thought that he could only rest in bed and couldn’t get out of bed. Unexpectedly, he got out of bed and went to the bathroom by himself...

This gesture of freedom of movement of Elliot seemed to be discharged.

“Avery, who are you talking to?” Elliot preempted her.

If it wasn’t for Avery talking on the phone for a long time, Elliot wouldn’t have bothered to get out of bed.

Before Avery brought the child to visit him this morning, he still felt weak, lacking strength, and had a headache.

After drinking the soup she fed, and being bathed and changed by her, he felt as if his body had been injected with energy.

First of all, the pain in the head was not so much, and secondly, the physical strength had recovered a lot.

After recovering his strength, Elliot could not lie down in the hospital bed.

“Why did you get out of bed? Are you dizzy?” Avery helped him to the hospital bed and sat down. “You’re going to the bathroom, can’t you call someone? If you don’t want to call someone, you can ring the bell to call a nurse!”

Elliot: “I’m fine. I’m not dizzy. I just want to try it out to see if I can get out of bed.”

“Of course you can, but it’s better to get out of bed with someone to escort you. What if you fall down on the ground?” Avery urged, “I want you to be discharged earlier than you.”

Elliot: “Why?”

“Are you comfortable living here?” Avery retorted, “Don’t you want to be at home? You don’t want to open your eyes to see cuteness every day. Hayden said he would leave after this weekend. I hope you can be discharged before the weekend.”

“I can be discharged now.” Elliot looked at Avery seriously, “I’m not dizzy, just a little pain.”

“You get up.” Avery took his arm, “I’ll walk with you to see if your body can handle it.”

“Okay. Didn’t I stay in the ICU for several days? It is estimated that when I was in the ICU, my brain was injured. I’ve recovered a lot. It’s not that painful anymore.” With her help, Elliot walked out of the ward, “Avery, did you talk to Hayden again? I feel that his attitude towards me has improved a lot.”

“Well. In addition to my heart-to-heart with him, he has grown up himself.”

Avery said, “He knows the boundaries now. Knowing that my life is my life, and his life is his life.”

Chapter 2233

Elliot heard the words and looked at Avery with deep eyes: “You must be quite disappointed, right?”

Avery smiled: “Only a little bit disappointed. Because I know our children will always leave us.”

Avery: “Don’t use it like this. Look at this with pessimistic thoughts. They are not leaving us, but to complete their mission in this world.”

“When Layla leaves us in the future, I hope you can be so open-minded.”

Avery said this sentence After coming out, the calmness on Elliot’s face quickly disintegrated.

In the evening, Gwen returned to Ben’s mansion with the spoils of the day.

Gwen lived in his house now.

At first, Gwen was too embarrassed to move in. Later, when Ben Schaffer went to Bridgedale, Ben Schaffer’s parents called Gwen to come and live with them.

For Gwen, getting married to Ben Schaffer, apart from having a child and giving her a headache, was like the relationship between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law, she never worried about it.

Because Ben Schaffer’s parents were very kind and loving to her.

First, she was Elliot’s younger sister.

Secondly, her career had improved, and even if she didn’t rely on Ben Schaffer, she could live well.

It could be said that if Ben Schaffer missed Gwen, he might not be able to find such a young and beautiful wife in the future.

The two elders were satisfied with Gwen and relieved.

“Gwen, why didn’t you let Ben Schaffer go shopping with you? Are you exhausted from carrying so many things?” Juniper Schaffer hurriedly helped Gwen pick up the bag in her hand.

“I went shopping with Tammy today. Tammy didn’t bring her husband, and I’m embarrassed to bring Ben Schaffer.” Gwen took out the things she bought for the two elders, “Is Ben Schaffer back?”

Juniper: “Go back, he’s upstairs! Originally we said we would wait for you to come back for dinner, but he said you were eating out, but we didn’t wait for you.”

“I ate out with Tammy. Auntie, I went up to find Ben. It’s over.” Gwen wanted to tell Ben Schaffer about her and Tammy’s plans.

When Gwen went upstairs, Ben Schaffer came out of the study, and the two faced each other.

When Ben Schaffer saw Gwen coming back, he quickly finished the phone.

Ben: “Gwen, what did you guys buy so late?”

“Clothes, shoes and bags!” Gwen said lightly, dragging Ben Schaffer into the study on the second floor, “Ben Schaffer, let me tell you something!”

“What’s the matter? It’s so mysterious.” Ben Schaffer began to ponder when he saw that her expression was wrong.

Gwen was relatively young and couldn’t hold anything in her heart. Usually, she would say anything directly, instead of having a big move in her stomach like she does now.

“The wedding your parents prepared for us, why don’t you give my second brother and Avery a knot? My dad screwed up the last wedding of the two of them, so neither of them have a complete wedding. Avery must feel very sorry.” Gwen brought the matter up.

Ben Schaffer was surprised.

Although it didn't matter if Elliot and Avery gave the wedding to Elliot, Ben Schaffer thought that Elliot might not look down on the wedding planned by his parents.

Gwen: “Ben, I know you will definitely agree. It's just that your parents...”

“Gwen, you're not too hot to tell me this, are you?” Ben Schaffer pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose, “Did Tammy come up with it?”

Gwen nodded.

“This Tammy, I really dare to think about it!” Ben Schaffer laughed.

“Don't tell my second brother and Avery about this. Wait until the wedding day to inform them.” Gwen looked at his expression.

“If that's the case, that's pretty fun.” Ben Schaffer said, and nodded, “I have no problem.”

Chapter 2234

“I know you won't have an opinion, but you are going to tell your parents!”

Gwen urged, “And how to implement it, you have to help. Tammy and I are just making ideas, You don't want us to do everything, do you?”

Ben Schaffer stared at her excited look and asked, “What about our wedding? What are your plans?”

Gwen took out her phone, opened the calendar, and after a bit of flicking, she pointed to a time on the calendar, “Just this day! One week before the Spring Festival. After the wedding, we can go out for a few days for our honeymoon. After the honeymoon is over, we can come back for the New Year. What do you think?”

Ben raised his brows: “Is the honeymoon only for a few days? Gwen, are you too perfunctory? I remember that your second brother and Avery booked a honeymoon for half a month.”

“What are you doing compared to the two of them? Before the two of them I can remember that wedding very clearly. It was unprecedented and unparalleled. If you like to compare with them so much, why don’t you compare the scale of your wedding with them? We are getting married with the arrange of your parents, right? I arranged for my second brother’s wedding.”

Gwen said confidently, feeling a little sore in her legs, so she sat down in her boss chair.

Ben: “I originally wanted to prepare our wedding myself, didn’t you always regret it and couldn’t set the wedding date? My parents saw us procrastinating, so they helped us prepare...”

“I don’t blame to your parents. My main point is that you don’t compare yourself to my second brother. A week’s honeymoon is not too short. Why do you have to take half a month? Are you not tired of playing for half a month?”

Gwen usually needs to run around for her work. So she just wanted to stay at home on vacation.

Ben: “Why is it tiring on my honeymoon? I haven’t had a vacation for a long time. I want to take a good rest while on my honeymoon.”

“Yes, we can have a good rest at home. Then we will rest at home.” Gwen said.

Ben Schaffer’s face was unbelievable: “My parents will not leave until after the Spring Festival. If the two of us have our honeymoon at home, do you think they can agree? My mother told me before that she ordered us a luxury honeymoon package abroad.”

Gwen: “New Year’s Day My second brother’s wedding is for my second brother, and the honeymoon luxury package is also for my second brother!”

Ben: “...”

“If you are afraid of your parents, then we will find a hotel outside and have a good rest.” Gwen didn’t want to embarrass him.

Ben Schaffer: “Okay! You can’t stay at home anyway. Which couple do you see on their honeymoon and rest at home? Gwen, you are too unchaste! This is my first marriage, so you fool me like that.”

“It’s like I’m getting married for the second time.” Gwen thought about it for a second, she was indeed a little ashamed of Ben Schaffer when she offered to give the wedding to her second brother, “The honeymoon will be arranged by you then, okay?”

“It’s not too bad. My parents should have prepared the wedding on New Year’s Day. I’ll go and ask about the situation.” Ben Schaffer started to feel uneasy when he said this.

He didn’t know if his parents would be angry.

“Gwen, why don’t you go with me! If my parents scold me, you can still help me.” Ben Schaffer said humbly.

“You’re such a big man, you’re still afraid of your parents scolding you?”

Gwen didn’t dare to go with him, so she encouraged him, “Don’t worry, your parents love you so much, and they definitely won’t scold you.”

“My parents have never scolded me.” Ben Schaffer tangled, “I grew up...”

“That’s not what you said when you chased me before. You said that your parents almost didn’t talk to you in order to urge marriage. You cut off the relationship. They must have scolded you and more than once.”

“Okay, I’ll go.” Ben Schaffer took a deep breath and came out of the study.

Gwen followed him out secretly, but she didn’t dare to go downstairs.

About twenty minutes later, Ben Schaffer went upstairs with a stack of documents.

The past twenty minutes have been very quiet, without any quarrel.

Gwen guessed that the uncle and aunt should have agreed to give the wedding to her second brother.

Ben Schaffer came to the study with the documents and closed the study door at the same time.

“It’s all about the New Year’s Day wedding.”

Chapter 2235

Gwen frowned, took the document, and opened it

“Why is it so troublesome... Is it so troublesome for others to get married?”

Gwen looked back, “What are you doing, pick up your relatives? Do you still have to perform talent shows when you are in the middle of the night? What kind of nasty fun is your parents? Do you think my second brother will perform talent shows for you in public?”

Ben Schaffer: “This is the wedding my parents prepared for us.”

Gwen: “I know ...But don’t you feel ashamed that they let you show off your talents?”

Ben Schaffer: “No! What’s the shame. Isn’t it just singing, dancing and playing games? I’m very good at playing.”

Gwen stared Ben.

“I just checked it out, and when I arrived at the wedding scene, the bride sang love songs.” Ben Schaffer took a breath, “Not only that, but the groom appeared in a cartoon dinosaur headgear. When the time comes, he needs to be kissed by his mother. He will become the groom...”

Gwen: “I’ll go! Who designed this? It’s so childish!”

Ben: “My mother designed it.”

“I can’t tell, your mother is a showgirl. Just get married. How can it be like acting in a drama!” Gwen shoved the wedding table to him, “The wedding is for my second brother and Avery, it must not be like what your mother planned.”

“It’s all set. The lighting, music, staff, and the whole package at the wedding venue are all set.” Ben Schaffer told Gwen not to worry, “I haven’t seen any big scenes with your second brother. It will definitely not be difficult by then.”

...

Foster family.

Avery took Elliot home.

At noon, she took him to the downstairs of the hospital for a walk. Not only was he not tired, but his spirit seemed to be getting better and better.

So she took him for a checkup in the afternoon.

As Elliot said, during the days he was in the ICU, the injury on his head was recovering well. So after a brief thought, Avery allowed him to be discharged.

When the two children came back from school, they danced with joy when they saw their father at home.

“Your Dad can only rest at home now, and he can’t take you out to play.”

Avery vaccinated the two children. “On weekends, I can ask your brother Hayden to take you out to play.”

“As long as my Dad is healthy, I’m happy!” Layla said sensible, “Even if my Dad can only stay at home every day, I’m happy.”

Elliot: “Baby, you still pray that Dad can go out as soon as possible! Dad wants to take you out to play.”

“I think you want to go out to play, right?” Avery answered, “Your injury must be well rested. Otherwise, what if there are sequelae?”

“Avery is right. Brain injuries are not as easy as injuries elsewhere. Recover.”

Mrs. Cooper answered, “And it’s New Year’s Day soon. After New Year’s Day, the Spring Festival will be celebrated. Sir, I think it’s not too late for you to go to work after the Spring Festival.”

“Mrs. Cooper is right.” Avery said.

Elliot glanced at the two of them: “I used to recuperate at home for half a year. Do you know what people in the company say about me?”

Avery: “Is there anyone in your company who dares to talk about you?”

“Of course they don’t dare to speak to me, but they whispered behind their backs.” Elliot said helplessly, “They said you didn’t rest for so long when you had a baby.”

Chapter 2236

Avery laughed dumbly: “This gossip is too outrageous. When I gave birth to Robert, I took a break for at least half a year.”

Elliot: “You didn’t stay at home in the first place.”

“Go out. I’ll see your recovery then!” Avery helped Elliot to the dining room, “You can work from home after a while. As long as you don’t have a headache, I won’t let you do anything.”

“Do you still want to go to Bridgedale?” Elliot asked, “Didn’t you invite a team to be in Bridgedale before? Would you like to go and deal with the affairs of Bridgedale?”

“I can go or not. Originally, those people in my team have not believed in any resurrection. They keep suggesting that I open your head and look at the thing inside, but I did the operation considering you, and I'm worried it will hurt you..."

"Avery, sometimes you still have to believe in yourself." Elliot said.

Avery: "It doesn't make sense to talk about it now. If it wasn't you who was at risk, I would definitely be more sensible. As long as something related to you requires me to make a decision, I will be dominated by fear."

Elliot: "When you go out in the future, you can no longer be led by the nose."

Avery: "Okay."

...

"Oh, you two don't be nauseous!" Layla said, "In the future, when you two go out, it will be safe to bring more bodyguards."

"Layla, it's not the bodyguard's problem." Although Avery wanted to let go of this matter, but she felt that it was necessary to review it, "The reason why your father and I were calculated by others a while ago was because we wanted to find your sister Haze too much."

"Mom, haven't you found Haze yet?" Layla remembered this, and her face was inexplicably heavy.

Robert's eyes lit up and his voice was clear and asked: "Sister, do I have a younger sister?"

"Yes! She is a little younger than you. She was taken away by the bad guys.

Mom and Dad just left us just because they were looking for her." Layla explained the matter to her brother in an easy-to-understand manner.

Robert listened and pouted: "Why did the villain arrest my sister? Is it because she was disobedient?"

"When our sister was taken away, she was still a very small baby. How could she be disobedient? The villain is too bad, that's why they took our sister."

Layla explained angrily, "If I catch the villain, I have to kill him!"

"Sister, I will kill the villain with you!" Robert said, cried out.

Avery looked at the excited appearance of the two children, with mixed feelings in her heart, not the taste.

At that time, everyone in the Jobin family was dead, and even the murderer who made the murder case was not found out

When Kyrie Jobin was alive, he made too many enemies, and the possession of guns in Yonroeville was legal, so shooting cases were not uncommon in the local area. However, the Jobin family was well-guarded, and the criminals could easily break through the defense and successfully commit the crime. It must have been secretly planned for a long time, and insiders had long been placed into the Jobin family to respond.

"Layla, Robert, your mother wants to tell you that your sister Haze may be gone." Avery was afraid that the children would miss her sister, so she said, "Dad has been sending people to look for her over the years. But there is no news of her being found at all. It only means that she may be gone."

"This also shows that Elliot is not strong enough." Hayden, who had been silent all the time, suddenly answered.

Everyone's eyes 'swish', and they all fell on Hayden's face.

"Hayden, your father tried his best." Avery said.

"I know he tried his best, so I said his strength is not good." Hayden made no secret of his doubts about Elliot's ability, he said, "According to the information I got, Haze should not be dead."

Chapter 2237

The expressions on Avery and Elliot's faces suddenly froze.

"Brother! Did you find Sister Haze?!" Layla exclaimed.

“No. But I heard some news.” Hayden didn’t want to say this now.

It was because his mother said that Haze was dead, and he couldn’t help but say it.

“Hayden, what news have you heard?” Avery’s heart was hanging in her throat, and she felt that her breath was hot.

Elliot looked at Hayden, his voice trembling: “Hayden, where is Haze now?”

“I don’t know where she is, all I know is that she was not killed. The criminal group in Yonroeville knew that she was your daughter, so they didn’t put her with other children.” Hayden told them the news he had inquired, “That person only knew that Haze was sold to a rich man. The rich man spent a lot of money to buy a child, sure It will be raised, not killed.”

This topic was clearly beyond Robert’s understanding. Robert didn’t understand the meaning, but he understood the murderous intent. He was so frightened that he hurried into his sister’s arms.

“Brother, stop talking! Robert is terrified.” Layla hugged Robert, her voice a little crying.

Layla was also intimidated.

What to sell children, what to kill... These words made her shudder. It’s almost like listening to a horror story.

“Hayden, let’s talk in another place.” Avery got up from the dining chair and walked to Hayden.

Under the pressure of his mother, Hayden stood up and left the dining room.

Elliot thought for a few seconds, and then stood up, planning to listen to what Hayden had heard.

“Dad, don’t go! I’m so scared!” Layla looked at Elliot pitifully, “My brother Robert is so scared too!”

Elliot looked at the two trembling children, and his heart softened suddenly.

He walked up to the two children and coaxed softly, "Don't be afraid. Dad won't let the bad guys approach you. Haze was taken away by the bad guys because he wasn't with his parents."

"Dad, I'm worried about little sister Haze . "Layla worried, "But the person who took your sister must be very bad and bad. I don't want you and your mother to be hurt by bad people again. I don't want you to go to my sister, and I want her to come back to our house... ."

Layla cried tangled.

"Layla, don't worry. If there is news about your sister, we will definitely save her. Mom and I will not go there in person. We will send someone so you don't have to worry about us." Elliot has just been discharged from the hospital. Even if there is indeed Haze's whereabouts, Avery will definitely not let him find it in person.

"Dad, I don't want you to leave me anymore, and I don't want mom to leave me... Can you two stay by our side?" Layla blinked her big wet eyes and begged, "Uncle bodyguard accompanies me. He has more time than you have with me."

Elliot: "Layla, Dad promises you..."

"You have to promise me. Do you have the heart to see Robert like me and my brother?" When Layla said this, her small mouth pouted, and tears quickly fell from the corners of her eyes.

First floor study room.

Avery looked at Hayden and asked, "Who did you find out about Haze's whereabouts? Why didn't you tell me right away? You said Haze was sold to a rich man, and to which rich man?"

Chapter 2238

“Mom, do you know Sasha Johnstone, right?” Hayden looked into his mother’s eyes and asked.

Avery tensed up, with a layer of hatred on her face: “Of course I know! It’s her who tricked me and your father into the basement!”

“Norah bought her, so she did such a thing. I think She may know Haze’s whereabouts, so she has been sending people to look for her.” Hayden explained everything one by one, “Sasha Johnstone is a very smart woman, she received a large amount of favors from Norah. After she escaped from Yonroeville, she bought a fake identity to live.”

“Have you found Sasha Johnstone?” Avery’s heart was beating violently. Hayden shook his head: “I only found her boyfriend. She used a fake identity to make friends with her boyfriend.”

“Hayden, you are amazing. How did you find Sasha Johnstone? She used a fake identity, and you can find her all.” Avery admired his son’s means and ability from the bottom of her heart.

No wonder his son would say that Elliot is not strong enough.

Avery doesn’t think Elliot’s strength was not good, but Hayden’s mind was more flexible and his thinking was more divergent.

“I found her by her looks. After she escaped from Yonroeville, she went to a dance hall in the country named Carinovelle to sell alcohol. Before the people I sent out to find her, she ran away overnight. Her reaction ability is particularly strong, not too So I can catch her.”

“People like her who have been in a criminal gang must have stronger psychological quality and reflexes than ordinary people. I have met her before, and I think she is a very complicated person. It feels like she may really not know Haze's whereabouts, if she knew, she should have told me."

"Mom, they don't have a word of truth in their mouths." Hayden said indifferently, "No matter what they do or say, it is for their own survival."

Avery: "But Sasha Johnstone wanted me to help her before. Euthanasia."

"If she wants to die, she can die. Why does she want to be euthanized? Is it because she is afraid of pain!" Hayden sarcastically.

Hayden's words made Avery not know how to refute.

"Her boyfriend told you that Haze was sold to a wealthy family. Are there any other clues?" Avery's mood was not as desperate as before.

If Haze was really sold to a wealthy family, then there is a high probability that Haze would still be alive.

Hayden shook his head: "Her boyfriend doesn't know much. Sasha Johnstone just told him something vaguely. I don't know who the rich man is and what his nationality is. "

"Hayden, thank you for doing so much in secret. When your father had an accident, you silently helped a lot." Avery was so moved that she hugged her son.

Hayden was not used to his mother holding him like this, so he said, "Mom, I said I would look for my sister, and I definitely won't let it go."

Hayden let go of his mother and said bluntly, "I'm a little hungry, let's go eat!"

Avery: "You must tell me the news. I really want to get her back, but I paid a very painful price to your father before, which made me a little scared..."

"Don't be afraid, mom. Be careful in the future. It's over." Hayden comforted Avery, "If you have anything to do in the future, you can also tell me. This way, when you are in danger, I can find you as soon as possible."

Avey: "Okay."

In the hotel.

After waiting for three days, Emilio did not wait for Norah's reply.

He was a little disappointed. Because the plan he told Norah was the plan he really wanted to implement.

He doesn't want to endure the old thing Travis anymore!

But on his own, he didn't dare to do it.

If Norah joins, he would be more sure.

However, Norah did not believe him after all. Just like Travis never looked him in the eye.

In their eyes, he was a waste without the ability to rely on.

After taking a sip of red wine, Emilio dialed Norah.

Chapter 2239

Unexpectedly, the phone can be dialed. But no one answered.

"Young master Jones, we can call the police to check the location of her mobile phone." The bodyguard gave him some advice.

Emilio: "Yeah. That's what I mean too."

Norah was his sister, and the police would definitely help him find it.

Unexpectedly, things were far simpler and easier than he imagined.

He just provided her identity certificate and the parent-child relationship certificate between Norah and Travis, and the police immediately helped her find Norah's mobile phone location.

The location showed that Norah's cell phone signal appeared in a remote and backward mountainous area.

After getting the precise location information, Emilio took the bodyguard and went to find someone in person.

"She's brave enough to go to that kind of wilderness!" the bodyguard said and laughed.

“We came to Aryadelle to find her, which probably scared her.” Emilio leaned back in the seat and closed her eyes, “but her phone is on, I suspect something might have happened to her. Otherwise, she wouldn’t keep turning it on. She was smarter and more shrewd than me. My dad told me that if Norah’s gender was a man, he would like Norah more.”

“Young master Jones, Your father is always saying angry words. Norah is a b*tch, no matter how good she is, your father will not give her the family property. You can rest assured!” The bodyguard said.

Emilio responded.

After nearly four hours of running around, Emilio finally came to the foot of the mountain where Norah was.

“Young master Jones, why don’t you wait below and let’s go up to find her?”

The bodyguard was afraid that Emilio would not be able to climb up, so he spoke.

Emilio wanted to catch Norah himself. So after a brief hesitation, he took a step forward.

He has the location information of Norah’s mobile phone on his mobile phone. If he goes to look for it, he should be able to find Norah’s location soon.

“Young master Jones, be careful! This mountain road is too steep! It looks like a wild mountain!” The bodyguard said.

“Norah can climb up and live on it, what’s so scary about me!” Emilio encouraged himself.

After about half an hour, they climbed to the mountainside.

They found the small broken house where Norah lived. The door of the shabby house was left open.

Two bodyguards stood at the door and shouted a few times, but there was no response from the door.

Emilio gave them a look and let them rush in.

With a 'bang' sound, the bodyguard kicked open the wooden door!

They saw that there was no one in the wooden house.

"Norah doesn't seem to be inside!" The two bodyguards glanced at the house and replied to Emilio, "Young master Jones, there are some daily necessities in it, which should have been used by Norah!"

Emilio strode into the wooden house, The wooden bed was turned over, and under the pillow, there was Norah's mobile phone lying down.

"Why didn't Norah's cell phone take away? Was she kidnapped?" The bodyguard picked up her cell phone and glanced at it. There was nothing unusual, so he handed it to Emilio.

Emilio held Norah's cell phone with a solemn expression: "This is Norah's cell phone. She may have had an accident."

"Then what should we do? Should we continue to find her?" The bodyguard asked.

"Young master Jones, you can turn on her phone and see if there is any important information in it." Another bodyguard reminded.

Emilio pressed the power button and turned on the phone.

He clicked on the message and saw the exchange information between Norah and Sasha Johnstone.

Chapter 2240

Emilio was relatively unfamiliar with Sasha Johnstone, but he saw a name that made his eyes shine from the information they exchanged – Hazel.

Hazel is the daughter of Elliot and Avery.

The two of them went to Yonroeville to find Hazel before, so they were designed by Norah and almost died tragically in the suburbs of a foreign country!

After Emilio read the information of Norah and Sasha several times, he probably guessed Sasha's identity.

He was ecstatic when he got a treasure.

The first thought that popped into his mind was that if he told his father about it, he would be very happy.

After the idea came to him, he felt sad!

He clearly hated his father, and wanted to kill his father himself, so that no one would call him incompetent, and no one would use the Jones family property to force him to be obedient.

But why did he think of pleasing his father for the first time after he got such an important clue?

He can tell Avery this clue. If he wants benefits, Avery will definitely give him benefits very generously.

"Young master Jones, is there any important information on the phone?" The bodyguard saw that he was nervous, so he asked, "Should we go back to Aryadelle immediately, or continue to find Norah?"

Another bodyguard said: "Young master Jones, let's go back. If we keep looking for it like this, when will it stop? You just hand over Norah's mobile phone to your father, so you can do business?"

"Yes! You are the only heir of the old man, even if the old man thinks that you are not good enough, I will definitely not blame you. Why do you continue to suffer outside."

The words of the two bodyguards made Emilio's swaying heart settle a little bit.

If he wants to inherit Travis's property, he must stand in the same boat with Travis.

Even if he helps Avery, Avery will at most give him a certain benefit, but how can this benefit be compared with the Jones family's fortune?

Thinking of this, he took his bodyguards down the mountain.

"Where will Norah go? Did someone find her here before us and take her away?" When they descended the mountain, they chatted, "I think the old man wants to see Norah's body more than Norah's cell phone. "

"But Norah has disappeared on this mountain now, and we have no way to find her! Think about it, Elliot has been looking for his daughter for all these years, but hasn't he found it? The living are easy to find, the dead.It's difficult!"

"Well." The bodyguard responded to his colleague, then looked at Emilio, "Young master Jones, are we going back to Aryadelle today, or tomorrow? If we go back today..."

"Tomorrow Come on! It's getting dark when I get to the hotel later." Emilio was running around all day, and he was very tired at the moment. In addition, he wanted to calm down and think about what to do next.

At 7:00 in the evening, Emilio returned to the hotel.

After having dinner at the restaurant on the third floor, he and the bodyguard went back to their rooms.

After closing the door, he turned on Norah's mobile phone and read the information and call records inside.

This mobile phone is Norah's frequently used mobile phone. If there is no accident, she will not throw it away at will.

So Norah definitely had an accident.

That's fine, so that he and his father don't have to do it again.

After resting in bed for a while, Emilio picked up his mobile phone and found Avery's number to dial.

He has to go back to Aryadelle tomorrow. Before returning to Aryadelle, he wants to ask Avery to come out and meet.

The call went through and it took a few seconds to be answered.

"Emilio, what's the matter with you?" Avery was washing Elliot's hair.

Because of the wound on his head, his head has not touched water for more than a week.

Chapter 2241

And he has a cleanliness addiction, and has been clamoring to wash his hair.

Avery could only find a way to wash him.

The phone rang just now, and she didn't hear a sound in the bathroom.

Robert brought it with her phone.

If Robert hadn't handed the phone to her, she wouldn't have heard the ringtone at all, and she wouldn't have wanted to answer the phone.

"I'm going back to Aryadelle tomorrow." After Emilio said this, he waited for Avery to understand what he meant.

Avery turned on the hands-free phone and put it aside, and continued to wash Elliot's hair: "Have you found Norah?"

"No." Emilio said in a relaxed tone, "Are you free tomorrow? Treat me to a meal. Let's eat! Aryadelle is your territory."

Avery saw that Elliot's back muscles were suddenly tense, so she refused without thinking: "I don't have time tomorrow. Elliot has just been discharged from the hospital, and I want to accompany him. I can go to Bridgedale in the future. “

A disappointment rose from Emilio's heart. He just wanted to have a meal with her. Even if she wanted to take care of Elliot, wouldn't she even be able to spare two hours?

After all, Avery didn't consider Emilio a friend at all.

Back then in Bridgedale, when Avery needed to inquire about news from him, her attitude was not so indifferent.

“Okay! I know that I'm useless to you, and I won't bother you again in the future.” Emilio laughed at himself.

“Emilio, why do you say such things? If you just want me to invite you to dinner, I can invite you later. Now that Elliot has just been discharged from the hospital, I really can't go away.”

“Right? This kind of clumsy lie can deceive children, so why use it to prevaricate me? Forget it, I have nothing to tell you, goodbye.” After Emilio finished speaking, he waited for two seconds, wondering if she would explain.

But she didn't.

She just said goodbye.

The world in front of Emilio's eyes suddenly became clear.

He no longer hesitated, he knew what to do next.

After hanging up the phone, Elliot's hair was almost washed.

“Emilio invited you to dinner, why don't you go? I won't be so stingy that I won't let you go out to dinner with friends.” Elliot knew that Emilio had helped Avery, so he didn't hate Emilio that much.

“I don't know why he suddenly invited me to dinner. I made it clear to him in the message two days ago. Your problem has been solved, and I don't need to contact him anymore.”

Elliot: “Avery, you told him that. It’s too direct.”

“It’s not that I have to be so direct, but that we and Travis got into such a quarrel, and he can’t break away from Travis, so it’s better to draw a clear line.” Avery answered him seriously, “You haven’t recovered from your injury yet, so don’t think too much about it. I’ll blow-dry your hair first.”

“Avery, are you really going to take care of me at home all the time?” Elliot felt a little unreal.

“Otherwise? You need to rest, and I also need to rest!” While taking care of Elliot, Avery also relaxed herself.

In the past, it was too dark.

Elliot: “Yeah. I’m very happy to have you with me. I don’t feel like being sick is so hard anymore.”

“You’ve been discharged from the hospital, and your wounds will get better day by day.” Avery turned on the hair dryer, and the two of them had a good understanding say.

A few minutes later, Elliot’s hair was blown dry, and Avery put the hairdryer in the cabinet.

“Elliot, when you get better, let’s remarry!” Avery helped Elliot out of the bathroom.

Chapter 2242

Her tone was very flat, as if she was talking about a very easy little thing.

Elliot: “Have you thought about it?”

“Do you still need to think about this matter?” Avery asked him.

Elliot shook his head.

“Don’t shake your head. Did you forget that you have a wound on your head?” Avery sighed.

She knew Elliot’s intentions.

After so many things, it was enough to see a person’s heart.

“How about next Monday? Hayden said he would leave on the weekend. We went to the Civil Affairs Bureau on Monday and asked Hayden to accompany us.” Avery was particularly reluctant to part with his son.

“If you want to keep Hayden at home for a few more days, you can choose to collect the certificate next Friday.” Elliot saw her careful thought, so he suggested.

“I can’t keep Hayden by my side just because he listens to me. This will affect his studies. Do you know how tired Hayden is? What he has to learn in a year is two or three years for children of the same age. He just finished learning, or even more. I can’t influence his plans.” Avery said.

“What plans does he have?” Elliot knew very little about Hayden’s life.

“He must have his own study plan. Although I haven’t asked, I believe he is a person who has a plan for himself.” Avery said firmly, “Hayden is actually very similar to you. So whatever he wants, he will follow it.”

Elliot: “Hmm.”

Two days later.

Emilio returned to Bridgedale. After a night’s rest, his jet lag was basically reversed.

At 8:00 in the morning, he appeared at Travis’s mansion.

“Norah disappeared?” Travis was not satisfied with his trip to Aryadelle, so his face was very ugly and his tone was harsh, “Tell me how she disappeared? She is so big, she wants to meet people. I want to see the corpse!”

“Dad, I found her cell phone in her room.” Emilio took out Norah’s cell phone and handed it to his father, "Do you remember this cell phone? I saw She used it."

"I didn't pay attention to this kind of small problem. What did you give me her phone? Is there anything in it?" Travis casually picked up the phone and turned it on.

"Dad, do you know Sasha Johnstone? It's the female criminal that Norah bribed in Yonroeville. Norah asked the female criminal to deceive Elliot and Avery into the suburban basement and lock them up in the basement." Emilio followed the matter up. He explained, "It was Sasha Johnstone on Norah's phone who did all this. The two of them got in touch again."

The expression on Travis's face suddenly changed richly.

"Why did Norah contact this female criminal?" Travis asked flatly, and opened the information icon on the phone screen with his finger.

"Norah has nowhere else to go. She has lost Elliot's trust forever, and now she betrays you again. She has reached the point where she is desperately ill and seeking medical treatment." Emilio said sarcastically, "She wants to find Hazel, and then hug her tightly. Elliot's thigh."

"Emilio, how did you find her cell phone? How could her cell phone be left at home?" Travis asked suspiciously.

"I can't guess what happened. She was hiding on a wild mountain. There was no one living there. It took a lot of effort to climb up." Emilio knew that his father would be suspicious, so he was on the mountain at the time and took the video to show his dad.

After Travis patiently watched the video, he was less suspicious.

"There were probably beasts on that mountain. Norah might have been killed." Emilio analyzed, "I think the possibility of her being captured is relatively low. The way up the mountain is not easy.”

“Then leave her alone.” Travis now has Norah’s mobile phone, and Norah’s mobile phone has important information, Travis no longer cares about Norah’s life or death, “I didn’t expect this Sasha Johnstone to hide all the time in Bridgedale.”

Chapter 2243

“I didn’t expect her to be under our nose all the time. But if she doesn’t know Hazel’s whereabouts, then she is useless.”

When Emilio said this, he thought of himself to Avery This is also the case for Avery, and it is inevitable that she is a little bit heartbroken,

“No one would have thought that Sasha Johnstone knew everything.”

“Sasha Johnstone is not simple.

Elliot and Avery have been looking for her, but she can hold back and not tell them the truth.”

Travis looked at Norah’s cell phone and narrowed his fox eyes, “Norah easily attracted her again.

I should say that Norah is good at means, or this Sasha Johnstone has no eyesight! Instead, I am her, I will definitely choose Elliot.”

“Dad, for Sasha Johnstone, she may feel that Norah is more trustworthy.”

Emilio said, “The top priority now is to contact Sasha Johnstone.”

“Emilio, you can handle this matter. You take Norah’s mobile phone and go meet this Sasha Johnstone.

Whatever benefit Norah gives her, we can double it. We must draw her to our side.” Travis said, his blood boiled,

“If we can find Hazel before Elliot and Avery hold Hazel in their hand, then our new project will not have to die! This is our last venture!”

Emilio had different opinions.

Emilio: "Dad, in fact, we can be a little more conservative, so as not to be too aggressive and irritate Elliot..."

"Emilio, you are too much like your stupid mother! You really didn't inherit my courage and courage at all.

Wisdom." If Travis was not in a good mood, he would have scolded him long ago, "Small success can be achieved by luck, but great success must be achieved by extraordinary vision and courage."

"More attractive. As long as the project can be successful, it will definitely make a lot of money!" In order to make Emilio follow his orders, Travis drew a cake for him, "Once I succeed, it is only a matter of time before your future worth surpasses Elliot."

"Dad!" Emilio's chest heaved up and down quickly, after a brief struggle, he resigned, "Then do as you say!"

How could Travis not notice the change in his son.

Travis said in a soothing tone for the first time: "I am very pleased to see you grow up.

If you do this well, I will give you what you want in the future! But I will give you everything on the premise that you Must be good enough!"

Emilio: "Dad, I will try my best."

Travis handed Norah's phone to Emilio, "You use Norah's mobile phone to ask Sasha Johnstone to come out."

Emilio: "Okay."

.....

Aryadelle.

on Monday.

Avery and Elliot appeared at the door of the Civil Affairs Bureau early in the morning.

Hayden followed behind them both with a camera.

Avery arranged a task for Hayden today, which was to film the process of their remarriage.

Hayden was originally unwilling to take this task, after all, he is not a professional cameraman.

But his mother got up too early in the morning, and it was not easy to make an appointment with a photographer, so he could only reluctantly agree to his mother's request.

He stood behind his parents and photographed them filling out the form and getting the certificate.

When Avery got the red marriage certificate, a bright smile appeared on her face.

"No matter what happens in the future, I will not divorce you." Avery said.

"Me too." Elliot agreed.

Avery caught a glimpse of Hayden out of the corner of his eye, and a thought flashed in her mind.

She took two marriage certificates and shoved them into her son's hands,

"Hayden, a marriage certificate is required for divorce procedures, so I'll leave your father's marriage certificate with you. I forgive your father's daring to find you."

Chapter 2244

Hayden was forced to accept two marriage certificates, a little confused.

In other families, children leave things to their parents for safekeeping.

How did he come to their house and become his parents and hand over things to him for safekeeping?

Hayden was a minimalist, and all his valuables were in the school bag he carried with him.

In his schoolbag, there were only his notebook and mouse.

If his parents gave him the marriage certificate for safekeeping, he could only put their marriage certificate in his schoolbag.

Imagine going to school with his parents' marriage certificates on his back every day. What's the experience like?

"Hayden, have you bought a ticket?" Elliot was in a happy mood, so he mustered up his courage and chatted with his son.

"Bought the tickets for the evening." Hayden stuffed their marriage certificate into his schoolbag, and then handed the camera to his mother, "I may not have a good picture."

Avery took the camera and flipped through a few random pictures. After a moment, she boasted: "As long as you take pictures, it looks good."

"Because you are good-looking, you will look good no matter how you take it." Elliot flattered.

"You ate honey today, your mouth is so sweet?" Avery smiled and put the camera into her satchel, "Are you dizzy? Do you want to go home?"

"The weather is nice today, I don't want to go back." Elliot was so happy and relaxed.

Avery: "I asked if you were dizzy..."

"A little bit." Elliot said truthfully, "but it's not a pathological factor, it's happiness."

Avery and Hayden were remained silent.

"It's early for the celebration dinner, let's go out for a walk! See if you have anything you want to buy, or we can buy it while shopping.” Elliot was in high spirits.

Avery and Hayden looked at him with puzzled expressions.

Elliot has only had brain surgery for about ten days, but now he wanted to go out for a walk. He didn’t know if he was really not afraid of death or his body was really recovering well.

“I know you want to go shopping with your son and chat by the way, but forget about shopping! I’m afraid your body won’t be able to bear it. We can go to a bookstore or a teahouse.” Avery suggested.

Elliot felt that his son should not like boring places like bookstores or teahouses, “Let’s go and see if there is a technology exhibition or other interesting exhibitions!”

How could Avery not know what he was thinking.

“Elliot, it’s not suitable for you to go to a crowded place now.” Avery said patiently, “In the future, you will still have a lot of time to go to interesting places with Hayden. Today, let’s find a quiet place with few people.”

Seeing his father, Hayden seemed to want to argue with reason, so he said coldly: “Didn’t you promise Layla to listen to my mother? If you fainted outside, let us accompany you to the hospital to stay?”

“Okay! I’m afraid you will be bored.” Elliot explained to his son, “Hayden, where do you want to go, you decide! “

Hayden said without hesitation, “Go home.”

“Let me decide!” Avery said forcefully, “Let’s go to tea. Drink tea and eat snacks, you can also read books and listen to music. After a while at the tea bar, go to the celebratory meal. After the celebratory meal, go home.”

Elliot and Hayden responded in unison.

Not long after, the family of three came to a tea bar with warm decoration.

Avery chose tea, and Elliot chose dessert.

“Hayden, what do you want to eat?” Elliot took the dessert menu, walked to the sofa next to Hayden and sat down.

Seeing the father and son sitting together, Avery couldn't help laughing:

“Elliot, I'm afraid you will scare Hayden like this.”

Elliot looked embarrassed: “It shouldn't be? Hayden is so old.”

Hayden's face turned crimson.

At this time, a beautiful melody suddenly sounded in the tea bar.

Chapter 2245

After Avery chose the tea, she asked: “Elliot, do you know what language this is? It seems to be Italian. “

Elliot: “You guessed it right, this is Italian.”

Avery saw that Elliot's tone was so determined, and asked, “You can speak Italian?”

“I learned a little before. But I haven't touched it for many years, so I almost forgot.” Elliot Put the dessert menu in front of Hayden and let him choose.

“Why do you want to learn Italian? Don't you study architecture?” Avery knew that he knew Italian for the first time.

Avery had seen his bookshelf. There were many original foreign classic books on his bookshelf.

But Avery felt that Elliot bought those books just to collect or pretend, it didn't mean that he knew the languages of those countries.

“Because I liked an Italian architect very much, I bought the book because I didn't want to read the translation, I had to learn Italian by myself.” Elliot replied.

Hayden was clearly looking at the menu, but since Elliot started talking,

Hayden couldn't help but prick up his ears.

"As long as it's a translation published by a regular publishing house, it's generally not too different from the original. You go to learn a foreign language for a book. I think you love Italian, right?" Avery guessed.

Elliot flushed with embarrassment: "I think it's very romantic to express it in Italian."

Avery: "???"

Hayden looked at him directly in surprise.

"Why haven't I seen you speak Italian to me? Who did you confess to in Italian?" Avery saw that Elliot was so nervous that his face flushed, so she didn't plan to let him go.

Although it's an old story in the past, but now speaking it can relieve the boredom and deepen the understanding of him by the way.

"I just have that idea, and I haven't confessed to anyone." Elliot saw his son staring at him from the corner of his eyes, so he explained it seriously and rigorously, "You can understand that although I haven't been in love before, but in my mind I fantasized about an ideal love."

This statement was approved by Avery.

"Then try to confess to me in Italian now." Avery looked at him expectantly.

A white light flashed in Elliot's mind.

This...how embarrassing!

He hadn't spoken Italian for a long time, and he was very rusty.

Although it may be simple to say a few words, but let him say love words to her in front of his son, he can't say anything anyway.

"How embarrassing in front of my son." Elliot glanced at Avery with pleading eyes.

Avery said calmly, "My son doesn't understand Italian." Avery looked at Hayden and asked, "Hayden, you don't understand, right? I remember you didn't learn this."

Hayden nodded.

"Look, my son doesn't understand. You don't have to feel embarrassed to say anything nasty." Avery continued in an encouraging tone, "Go ahead! I'm ready."

...

Hayden randomly selected a few desserts from the menu, and then handed the menu to the waiter.

After the waiter left, Hayden took out his mobile phone and pretended to play with it.

The atmosphere was really weird.

His Mom and Dad were on a sweet date, and Hayden acted as a light bulb next to him.

Elliot took a deep breath, brewed his emotions, and then spoke love words to Avery.

With the melodious and romantic Italian love songs, he said a lot of Italian to Avery.

After he finished speaking, Avery nodded with satisfaction.

"Avery, I haven't practiced for too long, the grammar may not be so standard..." Elliot shyly said.

Avery said calmly and carelessly, "It's okay. I don't understand at all."

Chapter 2246

Elliot: "..."

He thought Avery knew Italian, so he tried his best to let him use Italian

Confess to her.

“Then you ask me to confess, doesn’t it show loneliness?” Elliot said angrily.

“How can it be lonely? I can feel your sincere feelings for me from your tone and eyes.

And Italian is really good. Maybe because you said it, I feel very good. Even if I don’t know what you said What does it mean, but it sounds like a pleasure.”

Avery responded to his confession seriously.

All his embarrassment melted away in an instant.

“Mom, do you want to know what he just said?” Hayden asked seriously.

Avery was stunned for a moment and said in surprise: “Do you know what it means? Didn’t you say you don’t understand?”

“I really don’t understand. But there is a simultaneous translation function on the mobile phone. When he said it just now, it’s recorded.” Hayden clicked on the simultaneous translation, so the Italian that Elliot said just now was translated into English.

——”Avery, it’s a pleasure to meet you. I’m very happy to spend the next day with you. I love you very much, I love you very much.”

After the mobile phone translation, Avery was stunned for a moment: ” Is it just these few sentences? but Elliot said a lot just now.”

Elliot’s face was a little red: “It’s just these few sentences in translation.”

“Oh...although it’s just a few simple words, it’s often the simplest language.

Can express the strongest feelings.” Avery spoke for him.

Elliot’s face turned even redder: “Because I only know these simple sentences.”

“Enough, just say you love me.” Avery gave him full affirmation.

Hayden silently stopped and looked at the scenery outside the window.

.....

At noon, during the celebratory meal, Avery looked over the photos taken at the tea bar, and then selected a few photos that she thought were better, and sent them to the circle of friends, with the accompanying text: [The sun is very good today, and the tea is very fragrant, the dim sum is sweet.]

There were tea and snacks in the photo, as well as a group photo of Elliot and Hayden that she secretly took.

Not long after this circle of friends was released, someone immediately commented –

Ben Schaffer: [Wow! First time seeing father and son in the same frame! Are they reconciled?]

Chad: [Hayden finally lost his murderous look, and he finally let go of his hatred! So moving!]

Mike replied to Chad: [Can you not be so exaggerated? What a murderous... Listening to see people.]

Chad replied to Mike: [Then you ignore what I said earlier and just read the last sentence.]

Mike replied to Chad: [What's so touching. It must be Avery who asked them to sit together. Hayden has listened to her since childhood, but now Elliot doesn't dare not to listen to her... Now that she tells Elliot to go east, Elliot will definitely not dare to go west.]

Ben Schaffer replied to Mike: [How on earth did you say such a beautiful thing so coldly and ruthlessly?]

Mike replied to Ben Schaffer:

Ben Schaffer replied to Mike:

Mike replied to Chad: [Chad help me! This old guy Ben hit me!]

Chad replied to Mike:

After Avery posted on the Moments, she took a sip of water, then turned on her mobile phone and saw the three of them arguing.

She looked drunk.

She put down the phone, rubbed her temples, looked at the father and son in front of her, and her mood returned to tranquility and beauty.

Chapter 2247

“Hayden, Dad has to admit that you are more powerful than Dad.” Elliot used milk instead of wine to fight with Hayden a cup.

Avery knew that Hayden better.

He ate soft and not hard.

Elliot is now willing to lower his stance to please Hayden and flatter Hayden.

Hayden will definitely not show Elliot’s face.

“You are you, I am me, there is no need to compare.” Hayden used to care about which of the two is more powerful, but now that he has done what he wants to do, and has a clearer goal, he doesn’t care who is more powerful.

Avery: “Hayden, you’re right. No matter who is more powerful, you or your father, both of you are my pride.”

Avery wanted to drink a glass of milk with them when she said this. At this time, the phone on the table rang.

The call was from Mike.

Avery had already guessed what Mike was calling her to say.

In her circle of friends, Mike was bullied by Ben Schaffer and Chad together, and Mike definitely wanted her to help him do justice.

Avery took a sip of milk and took Mike’s call.

“Avery, Hayden and Elliot are reconciled?” Mike didn’t believe the result, so he called specifically to ask.

“Yeah. Would you like to come and see for yourself?” Avery asked.

“Can I still believe what you said? Since the two of them are reconciled, that’s fine! You don’t have to worry about this problem in the future.” Mike accepted it quickly.

Avery jokingly said: “how can I hear your tone, I’m a little lost.”

“What am I missing, do I look like the kind of villain who can’t see your family reunion and beauty?” Mike’s tone was a little sour, “Forget it, let’s be honest, I’m really a little lost. Hayden’s favorite man in the past, it must be me. Now that he is reconciled with Elliot, I think it won’t be long before Elliot will take my place in his heart.”

“Mike, why do you have such thoughts? You are in Hayden’s heart, your status It can never be replaced by others. Just like your position in my heart, it is by no means that Elliot can easily replace it.” Avery gave Mike a boost. Mike felt better when he heard her words.

“Mike, you and Chad... Why don’t you stay in Aryadelle in the future! Hayden doesn’t need you to watch and take care of him all the time. I believe he can take care of himself.” Avery began to think about Mike future life.

Mike: “Why don’t you let Chad go with me to Bridgedale? Bridgedale is my motherland.”

“Chad doesn’t listen to me. You have to discuss with him.” Avery couldn’t help.

“Chad doesn’t listen to you, but Elliot listens to you! It’s better if you let Elliot let go.” Mike said, suddenly thinking of their group’s plan to let Avery and Elliot get married on New Year’s Day, so he said, “Don’t worry about our business. I will find you when I need your help in the future. As long as I don’t look for you, it means it's not a big problem.”

“I'll go again in a few days! I haven't had enough fun!” Mike replied, “You guys can play, I won't disturb you anymore.”

Bridgedale.

This winter has been extraordinarily cold.

Emilio successfully made an appointment with Sasha Johnstone using Norah's mobile phone.

Sasha fixed the meeting place.

The location she set was in a park that was usually crowded.

The trees in the park were covered in thick silver with snow and ice, and everything looked bleak and cold.

Emilio got out of the car wearing a woolen coat, and suddenly felt the cold air pierce through the layers of fabrics and into the pores.

Not far away, a figure wrapped in a long black down jacket turned around abruptly and looked at him.

After Emilio rubbed his hands, he strode towards the woman in black.

“Are you Ms. Sasha Johnstone? Hello, I'm Emilio, Norah's younger brother.

My sister is not feeling well today, so let me meet you.” Emilio walked to the woman in black and turned towards her Reach out.

Chapter 2248

The woman in black looked disgusted: “I feel that you are mocking me.”

“Ms. Johnstone, why don't we find a place to sit down and talk! It's too cold outside.” Emilio's frozen goosebumps came out...

“I'm not cold! If you still want to talk to me, talk outside.” The woman in black saw that Emilio was cold, but she didn't think about him at all.

“Okay!” Emilio turned to look at the bodyguard not far away, and ordered,

“Hurry up and buy me a down jacket!”

The bodyguard took the order and ran away immediately.

“What the h-e-l-l is going on with Norah? If she’s not feeling well, why did she ask me out?” the woman in black said dissatisfied.

“Ms. Johnstone, I didn’t mean to deceive you. My sister had an accident. We were all looking for her, but we haven’t found her whereabouts yet. We only found her mobile phone.” Emilio said, “Although my sister is gone, but we want to cooperate with you in the same mood.”

The woman in black said: “Cooperation? Do you know what your sister talked about with me?”

“I don’t know, but you can tell me. What benefits my sister can give you, we can give you that.” Emilio said straight to the point, “We only want Haze. As long as you help us find Haze, whatever you want, as long as we can afford it, we will definitely give it to you.”

The woman in black stared at her sly eyes. Emilio’s face looked and looked, as if thinking about whether to agree to him.

“I remember that you don’t seem to have the right to speak in the Jones family!” The woman in black teased, “Let your dad come to talk to me. Otherwise, don’t talk.”

Emilio didn’t expect her to be so arrogant. Not to mention that everyone knew that he had no real power in the Jones family.

Usually the people around him were flattering to his best. One mouth was Young Master Jones, and second was Second Young Master, which made him a little swollen.

“Ms. Johnstone, since you know that I don’t have real power, then you can guess that my dad sent me here. It’s the same thing that I came with my dad.” Emilio didn’t want to go back and tell his father that he couldn’t solve it. His father disliked him for his incompetence.

He wanted to do things well and impress his father.

“Of course it’s not the same thing. If you promise to give me the benefits and if your father doesn’t recognize it, then I can’t get anything?” The woman in black didn’t think about it, and rejected him, “Go back and tell your dad. Your dad sincerely wants to talk to me, so let him do it himself or, don’t say anything at all! I can let this secret rot in my stomach. After all, I have a cheap life, how can I live?”

Seeing Emilio stunned, the black-clothed woman continued, “If Norah hadn’t been looking for me this time, I wouldn’t want to bring up the old things!”

“Ms. Johnstone, don’t get excited. I’ll go back and tell my dad. My dad didn’t come in person, it’s not that he doesn’t care about this matter, but that he is old and his body is not as tough as before. Otherwise, he will definitely come to talk to you in person.” Emilio Soothe Sasha’s emotions.

“Isn’t your father drinking medicine all the time, I heard that the medicine he drinks can keep him young forever... Could the rumors be false?” The woman in black asked in a teasing tone, “Or Margaret died, didn’t he? Someone made that kind of medicine for him?”

Her words were too aggressive, making Emilio not sure how to answer.

“Ms. Johnstone, you and my father don’t know each other, right?” Emilio felt that she was very hostile to Travis.

The woman in black chuckled: “How could an ordinary person like me know such a noble person. After I fled and came to Bridgedale, I heard people around me often talk about his affairs.”

“Really. Besides, my father’s private life does not affect our cooperation. My father treats partners with sincerity, and you will know when you have contact with my father." Emilio tried his best to restore his father's image in his heart. "Okay! Then it's up to your father to come and meet me." The woman in black took out a pack of cigarettes from her pocket, "Do you want it?"

Chapter 2249

Emilio shook his head without thinking.

"You don't like my cigarettes?" The woman in black took out a cigarette and put it between her fingers, then took out a lighter in her pocket.

"No." Emilio took her cigarette case from her hand, opened it, and took a cigarette from it, "your cigarette is not bad. But it's mainly cold. Pull down the scarf, and your face is cold."

After She took out the lighter, She handed over her cigarette, and immediately set him on fire.

"I already said that we will meet in the park. Didn't you ask for it by yourself when you wore a coat?" The woman in black showed no sympathy for him at all. After lighting the cigarette between her fingers, she pulled off the scarf and mask on her face and started smoking.

Only then did Emilio see her face clearly.

Before Emilio came over, he saw Sasha Johnstone's photo.

Sasha Johnstone's photo was obtained from his father's investigation.

The photo of Sasha Johnstone that his father investigated was the photo that Sasha Johnstone archived when she was imprisoned in Yonroeville.

Photos could clearly see her facial features.

Emilio knew very well that Sasha Johnstone's facial features were not what the woman he saw before her.

"Are you really Sasha Johnstone?" Emilio asked in astonishment.

Emilio took out his phone, clicked on the photo of Sasha Johnstone he had saved, and glanced at the photo again.

“You actually have my previous photos... I really underestimate you!” The woman in black was very surprised, but at the same time, she was not frightened by this incident, “I have plastic surgery.”

Emilio Looking at the woman in front of him in shock. He didn't expect her to give such an answer.

“I was bribed by Norah and almost killed Elliot and Avery. How dare I continue to live with my original face? It's you, aren't you afraid? After I escaped from Aryadelle, I was so scared that I couldn't sleep well every night. It wasn't until I had facial plastic surgery that completely removed my previous appearance, and then I started a new life.”

“It didn't take long! Is plastic surgery so fast?” Emilio was suspicious, stared at her face and continued to look at her, “Isn't there a recovery period for plastic surgery?”

“Almost half a year. Half a year is enough.” She said, glaring at Emilio, “Don't stare at me all the time. If you don't believe that I'm Sasha Johnstone, then why did you come to see me?!”

Emilio: “I didn't mean that, I just sighed that the current cosmetic technology is really advancing by leaps and bounds, and it is possible to change your face so quickly. “

Sasha: “I'm not looking for a very good doctor! Do you also want plastic surgery? Do you need me to recommend my doctor?”

Emilio quickly shook his head: “No, thank you.” After a pause, he asked, “Can I take a photo?”

“No!” the black-clothed woman scolded coldly, “No wonder your father has not handed over the important responsibility of the Jones family to you! You young man, your emotional intelligence is too low. I am a fugitive from Yonroeville, and the enemy of Elliot and Avery... I am afraid that people will know my current appearance and identity, but you want to take pictures of me and reveal my appearance... “

Emilio: “Ms. Johnstone, I didn’t want to reveal your current appearance, I just wanted to show it to my dad.”

“You can’t show anyone! If your dad wants to see me, let him come out and see it himself!” The woman in black Enraged, she threw the cigarette in her hand to the ground and stomped on it with her foot, “Next time let your dad come to me by himself, I don’t want to see a stupid man like you again!”

Chapter 2250

The woman in black put on the mask and scarf, and left without looking back.

Emilio clenched his fists when he saw her walking away.

Even a fugitive female criminal doesn’t take him seriously, let alone others.

He sat down on an outdoor bench in the park, smoking a cigarette alone.

After a while, the bodyguard bought a long down jacket and handed it to him.

“Master, where’s Sasha Johnstone?” The bodyguard asked aloud.

“She’s gone. She said she didn’t talk to me, she wanted to talk to my dad.”

Emilio was so angry now that he didn’t feel cold at all.

The bodyguard sat down beside Emilio and comforted: “Master, don’t be angry. This Sasha Johnstone is not even afraid of Elliot and Avery. It’s normal for her not to take you seriously. You don’t need to be angry with such a person.”

Emilio: “I was thinking, if Elliot were me, Elliot would definitely have a way to deal with her. Unlike me, I can only passively go back to my dad to come forward.”

“Elliot is so powerful, how could he be played around by Margaret? You don’t have to think Elliot too much.” The bodyguard continued to comfort, “Since Sasha Johnstone has to talk to your father, you can go back and talk to him. Your father shouldn’t be angry. After all, this opportunity is enough to make the Jones family proud!”

After Emilio finished smoking, his mood calmed down a little.

Why should he be angry with a female criminal?

When Emilio returned home, his father was talking on the phone.

Emilio didn’t know who his father was talking to on the phone, but looking at the expression on his face, he was in a good mood.

“You don’t have to be afraid of Avery! Next time Avery finds you, you ask her to come to me! I promise to make her shut up!” Travis smiled smugly, “My project will definitely advance smoothly. When the time comes, your benefits will be indispensable! Just let Avery come to me! Hahaha!”

When Travis said this, his eyes fell on Emilio.

Seeing Emilio’s dejected look, the smile on Travis’s face lightened a bit.

After hanging up the phone, Travis walked to his son.

Emilio immediately reported the situation: “Dad, Sasha Johnstone doesn’t believe me. She only wants to talk to you.”

Travis sat down on the sofa, and asked, “Did she say anything else besides saying she had to talk to me?”

Emilio: “She said that she did a full face plastic surgery to escape Elliot and Avery’s revenge.”

Travis’s expression was a little stunned, but the expression on his face quickly calmed down: “What is she like now? “

Emilio: “I originally wanted to take a picture of her now for you to see, but she didn’t allow me to take a picture.”

“Haha! Emilio, are you lacking in strength? Even if you wanted to take a picture of her, you would still take it secretly. Wouldn’t you just tell her, ‘I want to shoot you’?” Travis laughed, “No wonder she doesn’t want to talk to you.” Emilio: “Dad, before I said I wanted to shoot her, she just said Talk to you.” “Okay! Tell her, make an appointment as soon as possible, and I will meet her.” Travis wanted to settle this matter quickly, lest Avery and Elliot find Sasha Johnstone first, “Ask Sasha if she has time tomorrow! If she has time tomorrow, I’ll go see her tomorrow.”

“Dad, who did you talk to on the phone just now? I heard you talk about Avery.” Emilio asked.

“Avery asked the March Medical Award to cancel the award and honor to Margaret, and asked them to clarify with the public that there was no resurrection technique. Avery was forced by the March Medical Award and wanted to compromise. I called and talked about it.” Travis’s eyes were cold and arrogant, “Emilio, this time is about the future of our Jones family...”

“Dad, if I had to tell Avery, I would have told it long ago. I have always been clear about who I am. I am your son, and the interests of the Jones family will always come first.” Emilio told his father own loyalty.

“You’re not stupid! Avery only has Elliot in his heart. Even if you kneel in front of her and beg her, she won’t give you a second look. You can only listen to me and inherit my family business smoothly in the future. What kind of woman are you? Can’t find it?” Travis drew a cake for him.

Chapter 2251

“Dad, I’m going to make an appointment with Sasha Johnstone.” Emilio took out his mobile phone and went to call Sasha Johnstone.

Aryadelle.

It was late night.

Today, Elliot's friends came to visit Elliot at home during the day, and they were not sent away until 9:00 p.m.

After a busy day, Avery was already sleepy.

When she was about to go to bed after taking a shower, she turned on her phone and saw a message from the leader of the March Medical Prize Organizing Committee.

The other party told her that after a few days of serious thinking and discussion, they could recover Margaret's trophy and revoke Margaret's honor, but they could not clarify to the public that the resurrection technique was fake.

Because Margaret's awards and honors were withdrawn, everyone might think that the reason was Margaret.

As long as the public did not question the gold content of the March Medical Award, it was the best way to let Margaret suffer criticism.

Avery was stunned and shocked when she saw the message the other party sent.

she suspected that she had read it wrong, so she went to the bathroom to wash her face again.

After that, she was sure that she was not mistaken, so she called the other party.

They argued.

Mainly, Avery reprimanded the other party, and the other party always stated that he had difficulties and could not do anything about it.

At the end of the call, the other party begged Avery to give him a few more days of grace to see if there were other solutions.

After the phone call, the other party called Travis.

After that, the other party sent Avery a message according to what Travis said, asking Avery to find Travis, and by the way, he attached Travis's number to the message.

Avery woke up at 11:00 p.m., saw the message on the phone, looked at Travis's name and number, and rubbed her eyes.

The March Medical Prize did not solve the problem she said, and asked her to find Travis... Could it be that Travis is behind the March Medical Prize?

Because of this problem, Avery couldn't fall asleep.

After lying on the bed for a while with her eyes open, she quietly got out of bed with her mobile phone and left the bedroom.

Elliot woke up easily. Even if Avery was talking on the phone in the bathroom of the master bedroom, she might disturb him.

After coming out of the master bedroom, she dialed Travis's phone.

Travis answered the phone quickly.

"Avery, long time no see." Travis's voice was smiling, "You called me to cancel the resurrection technique, right?"

"Travis, what you said is a sick sentence. How can there be a resurrection technique in this world? Really, will Margaret commit suicide?" Avery didn't want to waste words with him, "If you just want to tell me these useless nonsense, then you can stop."

"Are you still looking for Haze?" Travis asked...

Avery's heart beat violently, and her emotions gradually lost control: "Have you found Haze? Travis, have you found Haze?!"

If Travis hadn't found Haze, he would not have dared to talk to Avery like this.

“No.” Travis dare not lie.

If he said that he had found Haze, he felt that Avery could immediately come to Bridgedale, block his door, and force him to hand over Haze.

“However, I have a clue of Haze.” Travis added, “Avery, Margaret is dead. Regarding the resurrection technique, wouldn't it be good to let it develop naturally? You have to cut off my fortune to be happy? If someone finds your daughter and doesn't return it to you, how do you feel?”

“Travis, what we are talking about is the same thing?” Avery asked.

“Why isn't it the same thing?! You must still care about your daughter, right? For me, making money is more important than my own flesh and blood!”

Travis angrily said, “Avery, I don't want to waste time on you and Elliot. So, as long as you don't hinder me from making a fortune, I won't touch your daughter!”

“Travis, have you found my daughter?!” Avery heard his words, and was a little unclear.

“No! But I'll be able to find your daughter soon! So you'd better not mess with me!” Travis said impatiently, “When I find your daughter, I will definitely eat and drink and let someone take care of her. The project is on the right track, and I will naturally find the right time to return your daughter to you!”

After Travis finished speaking, Avery did not answer immediately. So Travis hung up the phone.

Travis believed that Avery would definitely put Haze's life first.

“Dad, what did Avery say?” After Travis hung up the phone, Emilio immediately asked.

“What can she say? What dare she say? Our new project, continue to advance! I am more and more convinced now that it was God who helped me in the sky and let me survive several times!" Travis said in a high spirit, "The self-help, God help! I have never relied on anyone before! Margaret is just a pawn in my hand! With her or without her, I will succeed!"

From the expression on his father's face, Emilio saw the ambition and courage that a successful person should have.

It also allowed Emilio to see the biggest difference between himself and his father.

He didn't have the drive to succeed that his father had.

Avery entered the master bedroom in despair with her mobile phone in her hand.

She went to the bed and sat down, but couldn't lie down.

Her brain was running at high speed, thinking of a way.

It was obvious that she had told Elliot a few days ago that she would find Haze in the future, and let her subordinates find it.

Because she didn't want to put the two of them in danger because of looking for Haze.

Elliot agreed to her at that time. But now, when she heard of Haze's whereabouts, she couldn't sit still.

She took a deep breath and adjusted her emotions. After a while, her emotions gradually calmed down.

She lifted her long legs, got on the bed, and lay down.

Elliot couldn't go out now and must rest at home. She also had to accompany him at home, because once she ran to Bridgedale, Elliot would also run to Bridgedale secretly.

In order not to let the tragedy repeat, she must guard him at home.

As for Haze... She could find someone to stare at Travis.

Once the trace of Haze was found, she would try to rescue Haze.

Thinking of this, her spirit was finally less tense.

She sent a message to Hayden and told Hayden what Travis said just now.

Then let Hayden send someone to stare at Travis.

Hayden quickly returned an 'OK' gesture.

She could finally close her eyes and sleep well. But this matter was like vines growing in her heart, entangling her internal organs and making her uncomfortable.

Chapter 2253

Avery couldn't help thinking of Emilio.

Travis said that he had the clues of Haze, so Emilio must also know.

Two days ago, Emilio called her to ask her for dinner, but she refused.

At that time, Emilio's reaction was very unhappy.

Avery knew Emilio was unhappy, but she didn't want to say anything to explain her attitude.

But now, she wanted to contact him again.

She didn't know if Emilio would care about her.

She really wanted to know Haze's whereabouts.

Travis would never tell her, and now she has to see if she can ask anything from Emilio. Thinking of this, she sent a message to Emilio: [Next time you come to Aryadelle, I will invite you to dinner.]

It was daytime in Bridgedale. After Emilio received her message, she immediately replied: [When you called my dad, I was by his side.]

Emilio's meaning was self-evident. He knew what Avey wanted to say, and he was dismissive of it.

Sure enough, Emilio's message came again soon: [Avery, you are too realistic. When I have use value, you can take care of me. I kicked it out of nowhere as if we never knew each other. Your face is really ugly.]

Avery looked at the message he sent, her cheeks burning.

Emilio seemed to be right, but not right. From his standpoint alone, he is indeed what he said.

After Avery thought briefly, she replied rationally: [I am very grateful for your help in the past, and I am willing to help you when you are in trouble in the future. The reason why I don't want to get too close to you has nothing to do with you, but because of your dad. You clearly know the reason, why pretend not to know? Your father wants to use false technology to make money against his conscience. Instead of stopping it, you are waiting to enjoy it. I am ashamed.]

Emilio: [Since you are ashamed, why did you send me a message?]

Avery: [Your dad said he knew about Haze's whereabouts. Is that true? I feel like your dad might be lying to me.]

Emilio: [If you send me a message just to make sure it's true or not, then I'll tell you that what my dad said is true. He doesn't need to lie to you about something so important.]

Avery took a deep breath and immediately asked: [How did you find Haze's whereabouts? Haze is now in Bridgedale?]

Emilio: [I have nothing to comment on. After all, I have to wait for my dad to succeed and enjoy it. If I told you now, wouldn't it ruin my dad's plan?]

Avery: [Emilio, I'm sorry, I didn't mean to mock you.]

Emilio: [Why do you have to apologize to me? I was what you thought, if it wasn't for my dad's property, why would I be scolded by him every day with my tail between my legs?]

Avery looked at his message and didn't know how to reply.

Emilio has made it very clear that he is waiting to inherit the Jones family's property.

The more Travis earns, the more he will get.

How could Emilio tell Avery about Haze's whereabouts?

She put the phone on the pillow, intending to sleep.

She closed her eyes, and after about two minutes, the phone screen lights up.

She wasn't asleep, so after the light came on, she opened her eyes and picked up the phone.

It was a message from Emilio: [We found Sasha Johnstone. You shouldn't have forgotten her, right? She was the one who personally sent you and Elliot to the basement in the suburbs of Yonroeville.]

Avery clenched her fingers tightly holding the phone.

Emilio continued to send messages: [Sasha Johnstone knew where Haze was. It doesn't matter if I tell you this, after all, my dad is going to meet Sasha Johnstone tomorrow.]

Chapter 2254

Sasha just answered his call and promised to meet Travis tomorrow.

So tomorrow, they will be able to know Haze's clues.

Avery told Hayden the news: [Sasha is still in Bridgedale! Travis will meet her tomorrow. Tomorrow, as long as you follow Travis, you can find Sasha!]

Hayden replied: [Mom, I know what to do. You rest early, it's already late.]

Avery: [You send someone to follow, don't participate in it yourself.]

Hayden: [I know.]

Avery glanced at the time, it was almost 1:00 a.m. But she didn't sleep at all.

Beside her, Elliot turned over.

She immediately held her breath for fear of waking him.

Afraid of what was coming, his voice suddenly sounded in his ears: "Avery, are you still asleep?"

"I don't seem to be moving!" www.ovel.com Avery asked in confusion, "How do you know I haven't slept?"

Under the quilt, Elliot's big palm stretched out and naturally wrapped around her waist: "Your body is very stiff. If you fall asleep, it won't be like this."

"Uh... When did you wake up?" Avery turned over and faced him, "Shouldn't you wake up when I got out of bed?"

"Well." Elliot said honestly, "Avery, when you got out of bed, I thought you were going to the bathroom, but you went straight out. "

"Why didn't you talk to me after you've been awake for so long?" Avery blushed embarrassedly, "You've been pretending to be asleep, and I didn't realize you were pretending."

Elliot laughed dumbly: "I'm afraid you won't feel comfortable knowing that I'm awake. I want to see when you go to sleep. But you haven't slept." Having said that, he asked, "Who did you send a message to? Did something happen?"

Avery reached out and hugged his body, buried her www.ovel.com face in his neck, and whispered, "Travis is going to meet Sasha tomorrow. Travis said that Sasha knew about Haze's whereabouts."

"He threatened you again, is it?" Elliot felt that this matter was extraordinary, so he raised his hand and turned on the headlights in the room, "Avery, Sasha has appeared, we can't do nothing."

Avery saw him sitting up and felt that Elliot was going to fly to Bridgedale in seconds.

“Elliot, I’ve already told Hayden. Hayden will send someone to follow Travis.”

Avery also sat up and said, “Travis didn’t threaten me. He said he didn’t want to fight against us any more. He wanted to devote all his energy to his new project. He just told me to leave the March Medical Award alone. Because his new project depended on the honor of Margaret March Medical Prize to make money.”

“This is also considered a threat.” Elliot frowned, “Travis wanted to make a fortune from this, he didn’t even think about it!”

“Elliot, don’t be angry yet. His new project has just been approved, and he still doesn’t know what product he is going to make. It is impossible for him to realize success in at least half a year. Tomorrow, we will see if the people sent by Hayden can find an opportunity to rob Sasha from Travis.” Avery has made up her mind and will accompany Elliot to recuperate at home.

It was also impossible for Avery to let Elliot go to Bridgedale.

“Well. I believe in Hayden.” Elliot’s frowning brows suddenly relaxed, “Let’s see what happens tomorrow!”

Avery breathed a sigh of relief: “I thought you would immediately fly to Bridgedale, or send someone you trust to watch Travis.”

“You reminded me.” Elliot picked up his mobile phone from the bedside table, looking for someone to help.

Avery: “Elliot, don’t worry about it. Hayden can find a professional person to do this. Because he is very willing to spend money.”

Hearing that, Elliot stopped his movements.

“Dream Makers Group was created by Hayden and Mike.” Avery continued, “I only paid the money and didn’t take care of other things. This is enough to prove Hayden’s ability. I believe he will not let Travis’s trick is successful.”

Chapter 2255

“Every time you tell me about this, I find it incredible.” Elliot put down the phone and looked at her, “Billy’s image should be what you mean, right?”

Avery shook her head: “No. Hayden Relatively low-key, I don’t want everyone to pay attention to him.

So I made Billy the robot. To be precise, Ñ.Övel.Ĕ.book.c,o.m Billy is the work of his teacher.

Billy’s image is designed by him according to my father’s image.”

Elliot’s nose slightly pantothenic acid.

Hayden had never seen Jack Tate but he fulfilled Jack Tate’s wish.

Hayden’s heart must be very soft. If Jack Tate knew about it, he would be very happy.

“Elliot, what are you thinking?” Avery saw that he didn’t speak, so she leaned in front of him and looked at him tenderly, “Aren’t you jealous? He has only seen pictures of his grandfather, I think he did this because he was more interested in the driverless system and wanted to fulfill my dad’s wish.”

“I’m not jealous. I just feel that Ñ.Övel.Ĕ.book.c,o.m I am inferior to my son in terms of ability and emotion.”

Elliot was a little skeptical Own.

“He’s your own son, he’s so good, you should be happy, not compared to him.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing, “Layla is also very good.

I can’t compare her stage performance and talent.

But I won’t compare with Layla.”

“I’m reflecting on myself.” Elliot explained.

“It’s a big night, don’t think about it. Go to sleep!” Avery’s sleepy eyes couldn’t open,

“If you really can’t sleep, play with your phone for a while!”

“Okay, go to sleep!” Elliot had already slept for a while, but didn’t feel sleepy at all.

Turning off the light, Avery turned her back to sleep.

Elliot took his mobile phone, opened the address book, and found a friend in Bridgedale.

He originally wanted this friend to help send someone to stare at Travis, but he said hello to this friend.

After the other party replied in seconds, he forgot what he was going to say.

He sent a message back to his friend: [How is the development of the Dream Maker Group in your Bridgedale?]

Friend: [This question...you asked me right! Is it convenient for you to talk on the phone now? Let’s talk on the phone!]

Elliot: [My wife is sleeping and I can only type.]

Friend: [oh oh oh! All right! your wife? Do you mean Avery?]

Elliot: [Well, we got Ñ.Övel.Ĕ.book.c,o.m the certificate.]

Friend: [Do you still have a wedding? The last time I attended your wedding, I didn’t have a good time.]

Elliot: [It should not be done. She didn’t say she was going to have a wedding.]

Friend: [She didn’t say it, you can say it! What if she wanted to do it too?]

Elliot: [After a few years with her children, we will all be of marriage age. I don’t think she wants to have a wedding anymore.]

Friend: [Hahahaha! If you don’t tell me, I forgot that your child is very big.]

Elliot: [How about the Dream Makers Group?]

Friend: [This company has attracted the attention of senior officials in Bridgedale.

The day before yesterday, several high-level Ñ.Övel.Ë.book.c,o.m executives visited the Dream Makers Group.

As far as I know, this inspection has brought a lot of benefits to the Dream Makers Group.

There are tax reductions and exemptions, as well as key support funds...]

Elliot: [□□□]

Friend: [I have a question I have never dared to ask you.

I heard that the behind-the-scenes boss of this company is your wife, isn't it?]

Elliot: [To be precise, the boss is my son.]

Chapter 2256

Friends: [...]

Elliot: [I feel like I can retire.]

Friend: [Why is your son so powerful? Help! My son will be ten years old soon, why does my son only follow the little girl's a-s-s as a licking dog?]

Elliot: [Then I want to congratulate you, you may have a grandson in another ten years.]

Friend: [Is it still time for me Ñ.Övel.Ë.book.c,o.m to be your in-law when I have a daughter?]

Elliot: [It's too late. I also have a young son who is four years old.]

Friend: [But I want your eldest son to be my son-in-law! I really adore him!]

Elliot: [How do you know that my youngest son will not be more powerful in the future?]

The friend's eyes were all red when he was stimulated: [I'm going to have a daughter now!]

Elliot: [Come on.]

Friend: [Elliot, if I were you, I would retire directly. Your son is so capable, you can give him your company.]

Elliot: [He won't want my company.]

Friend: [Then your company will give it to your daughter and your youngest son in the future?]

Elliot: [My daughter doesn't necessarily want my company. She wanted to be a big star.]

Oh my friend! Then only for your little son.

Elliot: [My youngest son will definitely be no worse than my elder brothers and sisters.]

Friend: [ah ah ah! You mean, your company has no successor?!]

Elliot: [I also have a daughter. When I get her back, I will take good care of her.]

friend:[.....]

Friend: [At the same age, I only have Ñ.Övel.Ë.book.c,o.m one son, and you have four! Even if you do a better job than me, you are so much better than me when you have children! Are you still letting people live?]

Elliot: [It's my wife who is excellent, it has nothing to do with me.]

Friend: [Thinking of your wife makes me even more jealous! Elliot, did you stay up in the middle of the night just to show off to me? Do you believe that I will announce to the world tomorrow that your son is the boss of the dream maker?]

Elliot: [Do you think others will believe it?]

Friend: [Alright! Then you're really looking for me just to show off?]

Elliot originally wanted to ask a friend for help, but now he chatted with his friend and immediately dismissed the idea.

Hayden is so powerful, he shouldn't need to do anything more.

Elliot: [Yes.]

Friend: [Although I am envious to death, I am really happy for you. When are you coming to Bridgedale, invite me to dinner!]

Elliot: [Good. I'll find you next time.]

Friend: [Remember to bring Hayden when the time comes. I mainly want to see Hayden.]

Elliot: [...]

The other side.

Chad and Mike drank some wine. They were more excited and chatted all the time.

"You should go to Bridgedale and watch Hayden! I'm really worried that he is outside alone." Chad said, "Don't look at my boss who doesn't seem to care about Hayden so much, in fact, he definitely misses Hayden the most."

"I'm not their nanny." Mike complained, "I can go to Bridgedale, then you can apply with Elliot to transfer your job to Bridgedale. Tate Industries branch is in Bridgedale, you can work in Bridgedale. Ah!"

Chad had this thought, but soon the boss and Avery's wedding will be, and Chad plans to wait until after their wedding to apply for a job transfer with the boss.

"The wedding planned by Brother Ben's parents is definitely not good." Chad put down the wine glass and rubbed his eyebrows with both hands. "There are too many places to change."

"Okay. Don't ordinary people just want to be happy when they get married? Ben doesn't feel wronged when he gets married, so why is he wronged by your boss?" Mike had read the wedding planning and didn't think it needed to be changed.

“It’s not for Avery to perform her talents in public. Of course you don’t think there is a problem. If I make such a wedding plan for my boss, my boss will probably fire me.” Chad still insisted on deciding to change, “Brother Ben said, let me change it and show him.”

Chapter 2257

Mike: “Isn’t it good that he fired you? It just so happens that you can have a good rest.”

“Don’t make trouble! I’m still young! If I don’t have a job, my mother will be worried to death.”

Chad said without hesitation, “I Ñ.Övel.Ĕ.book.c,o,m don’t feel bored at work!”

“I’m joking with you! I know you can’t be idle. You have the same virtue as your boss.

If Avery hadn’t been staring at your boss at home every day, your boss would have gone to work early...” Mike joked.

Chad: “Well. Avery also needs a good rest. That’s why I told you to go to Bridgedale.

When the two of them get married, it is convenient for you to bring Hayden back to the wedding.

You must not tell Hayden about it in advance.

This surprise must be made public on New Year’s Day to be effective.”

Mike: “Okay, I understand. I’ll be leaving tomorrow.”

.....

Bridgedale.

Travis and Sasha made an appointment to meet this morning.

So Travis was so excited that he woke up at 5:00 in the morning.

About 6 o'clock, Travis went out.

It's still dark. The headlights cut the night in half.

When the people squatting near Travis's house saw Travis's car coming out, they immediately took out the walkie-talkie and sent a signal to their colleagues lurking on the main road outside.

Travis's car drove into the main road Ñ.Övel.Ĕ.book.c,o.m after leaving the wealthy area.

The vehicles squatting on the road slowly caught up after Travis's car drove out a distance.

Because of this point, there were fewer vehicles on the road, and if they followed the car too closely, it would be easy to be exposed.

In the car, Travis closed his eyes for a while and then suddenly opened his eyes without warning.

He was a little flustered and was very regretful.

He was careless last night! He shouldn't have told Avery that he was about to find Haze's whereabouts.

How could Avery do nothing after knowing this?

He glanced in the rearview mirror, and sure enough, behind them, there was a black car following them.

"Slow down," Travis ordered the driver.

The driver immediately slowed down.

After a while, the car behind them drove past their car.

Travis's doubts were dispelled.

"Keep driving." After the driver Ñ.Övel.Ĕ.book.c,o.m drove the car forward for a while, the number of vehicles on the road gradually increased.

There was a taxi that suddenly kept following in the middle.

The driver originally planned to tell Travis, but glanced back and saw Travis's eyes closed, so he didn't bother.

8:00 in the morning. Travis came to the ballroom agreed with Sasha.

Ballrooms were generally closed during the day and opened at night.

After Travis got out of the car, he called Sasha.

After a while, the door of the ballroom opened, and Travis and his bodyguard quickly entered.

This street was full of dance halls.

The people who usually come here to consume were basically people from the lower classes of society.

In other words, the dragon and fish were mixed here, the security was chaotic, and people with a little bit of identity would not come here.

Because of this, it was also a good place for criminals to hide.

When Sasha and Travis agreed to meet here yesterday,

Travis agreed without thinking.

"Travis went in, what should we do next?"

The person who followed Travis was outside the ballroom, calling his superiors for instructions.

"Don't worry. After Travis comes out, you can go in again.

Remember, as soon as you see Sasha, catch her alive."

Chapter 2258

In the ballroom.

Travis met 'Sasha'.

The woman in front of Travis was completely different from what he imagined

Sasha to look like after plastic surgery.

Travis had had countless women in his life, and he was an absolute expert when it came to women.

He was also no stranger to cosmetic surgery.

He even accompanied his girlfriend to the plastic surgery hospital.

What a person looked like Ñ.Övel.Ē.book.c,o,m determines what she could become in the end.

Because no matter how he rectified her, it would still make a change on her original face.

Travis knew Sasha's original appearance.

When Norah bribed Sasha and nearly killed Elliot and Avery, Travis found out Sasha's appearance.

Last night he looked at Sasha's photos many times.

Emilio told Travis that after Sasha's plastic surgery, he was mentally prepared, but no matter how much he prepared, he never expected that Sasha would change her face completely!

It's just that he looked at the woman in front of him, and he couldn't imagine that Sasha had any connection with the face before.

"Are you really Sasha?" Travis sat on the sofa, but was vaguely uneasy.

He felt like it's fake. Everything was fake.

"Mr. Jones, you have been in the business world for so many years, you should know better than anyone that sometimes a person's identity is given by the outside world, whether a thing is good or bad, it can also be manipulated by humans. Am I Sasha? As long as I don't admit it, no one can say that I am. If I don't say that I am Sasha, what evidence do you have to say that I am not? Hehe, from the moment I left Yonroeville, I will not admit that I am Sasha Identity.” The woman’s eyes were mysterious, and her tone was even more mysterious.

After Travis listened to her words, his uneasy mood suddenly calmed down.

“Your face has changed amazingly. It looks completely different from before. Which doctor gave you it? This is the first time I have seen such a successful example of plastic surgery.” Travis sighed.

“Mr. Jones, did you come to discuss cooperation with me, or did you come to me for plastic surgery?” Sasha sneered, “If you just want to know my plastic surgeon, then you don’t have to go there yourself. I could tell your son yesterday.”

Sasha’s mockery made Travis remove the last trace of doubt in his heart.

“Of course I’m here to talk to you about cooperation. Avery already knows that I have contacted you, Sasha, if you don’t want to die, then you can quickly tell me the whereabouts of Haze, and I can give you a large sum of money and send it to you. You leave here. You can escape to another country and start a new life with another identity.” Travis said, “Avery doesn’t know that you have changed your face. Now even if you stand in front of her, she won’t recognize you.”

Sasha listened to his words quietly.

Travis: “But if I tell Avery that you have changed your face, then you are in danger. Of course, I won’t do it. As long as you trade with me today, I guarantee you can leave safely.”

“Travis, make an offer! How much can you give me?” Sasha asked him slowly.

Travis: “Hehehe! How much did Norah Ñ.Övel.Ĕ.book.c,o,m give you before?”

“How much can Norah give me... She is just a part-time job, so how can I get so much money! If you only plan to give me a little money to send me, I don't think we need to talk.” Sasha turned her face.

“How much did she give you? I'll give you ten times!” Travis finished what he just said.

Sasha: “...”

Chapter 2259

“Sasha, I, Travis, have never been a stingy person.

As long as you can help me find Haze, let alone ten times, it's a hundred times, it's not a problem.

With Haze, I can advance my career with my new project. Do you know my new project?

Once my new project is successful, my wealth Ñ.Övel.Ē.book.c,o.m will definitely surpass that of Elliot and Avery!”

Sasha: “Okay! I like to deal with straightforward people like you! So your daughter is Norah.”

Travis: “Don't mention her! She's a traitor!”

“Oh, don't mention her. As long as you can give me money, I will definitely help you find Haze.”

On her mobile phone, she opened the photo album and showed Travis a photo of a little girl, “Look, this is Haze.”

Travis pushed the presbyopic glasses on the bridge of his nose and fixed his eyes on the picture on the phone screen.

The little girl in the picture was beautiful and flexible, and belonged to the kind of eye-catching beauty that anyone could like at a glance.

When Travis wanted to take a closer look and see if the little girl looked like Avery or Elliot, Sasha took back the phone.

“This is Haze, the daughter of Avery and Elliot. This child was sold to a wealthy family.

The wealthy family had three sons, but no daughter.

They wanted a daughter very much, so they bought Haze away. Later, Elliot looked for Haze all over the world.

They were afraid of causing trouble, so they sold Haze!”

Travis listened with interest, but Sasha stopped when she said this.

“Haze is in my hands now.” Sasha said.

Travis’s eyes lit up and his breathing became rapid.

Travis: “Where is she? How did you get her? Take me to meet her!”

“I can give her to you, but you have to transfer the money to my account first.”

Sasha said, took out a piece of paper, and wrote a series of numbers on it, which was a bank card account number,

“Travis, I know you’re very cautious, so you pay me 30% first. As soon as the money arrives, I will take you to see her immediately.”

Travis was completely bewitched by her words. He didn’t expect things to go so smoothly!

He originally thought that Sasha only knew the whereabouts of Haze, but she did not expect Haze to be in her hands.

Travis: “Okay! Then tell me, how much did Norah give you?”

“Two million.” Sasha replied, “If you say ten times, that’s 20 million.”

Travis: “Haha! I thought Norah gave it to you.” How much did it cost you! It turned out that it only gave you two million!

Two million will allow you to kill Elliot and Avery. If this matter spreads out, it would be ridiculous!”

“Travis, it’s not about money.” The expression on Sasha’s face was cold, and the tone was even colder,

“Forget it, I don’t want to tell you about this. After the cooperation between the two of us is completed, there will be no intersection again.”

“Okay! 20 million is no problem. I will directly give you 10 million first.”

After Travis finished speaking, he took the piece of paper with the bank card number handed over by Sasha, and then made a phone call and asked someone to dial the card number. Ten million.

After the call, Travis picked up the water glass and took a sip.

Travis: “My chief financial officer said that it will arrive in your account within an hour.”

Sasha turned on the phone and glanced at the time: “Okay. Then I will wait.”

After Travis drank the water slowly, he looked towards Sasha...

Sasha was a little nervous, so she picked up the water glass in front of her and pretended to drink water.

“Sasha, why do I feel that you look familiar?” Travis frowned and looked at Sasha’s face carefully.

“Didn’t you get my photos long ago? You haven’t looked at my photos, right?”

Sasha sneered, “Then you’re naturally a little familiar to me.”

“No...you are with you. The original appearance is completely different.

I said that I am familiar with you, because I feel that I have seen your face before.” Travis raised doubts.

Chapter 2260

Sasha seemed to have heard a funny joke, and laughed out loud: “Hahaha! Mr. Jones, no one in Bridgedale knows that you read countless women! I’m afraid it’s your ex-girlfriend or ex-wife who looks like me. How similar?”

“Yes! That’s what I meant.” Travis also laughed, “Sasha, why did you think of coming to Bridgedale? Is there anyone you know here?”

“I’m not anywhere. Someone you know.” Sasha put down the water glass and said indifferently, “Travis, don’t ask me, I’m not interested in you.”

Travis: “...”

Although the woman in front of Travis was not really Ugly, but definitely not to his appetite.

Travis liked young women, and Sasha was obviously not young anymore.

“I just admire your methods, but I am also puzzled by some of your methods.”

Travis looked at her calmly, “You said Haze was in your hands, so why didn’t you return Haze to Elliot? YOU return Haze to him, not only will he not retaliate against you, he will also give you a lot of money.”

“Mr. Jones, are you Elliot? How can you be sure that he will do as you say?

Also, I am not I just found Haze, I only found it recently.” When Sasha said this, she turned on her phone impatiently to see if the money had arrived.

“How did you find Haze? Elliot and Avery spent so much energy searching all over the world, but they couldn’t find it. Why did you find it all at once?” Travis asked in confusion.

It’s no wonder that Travis would be confused. If it was replaced by other people, he would also be confused.

How powerful was Sasha? Were there other forces behind her?

“You want to know?” Sasha teased, “I can tell you, but you have to pay.”

Travis: “...”

“You have to give me another 20 million, and I’ll tell you everything about how I found Haze, how about that?” Sasha teased, “I’ve heard that Mr. Jones has a lot of money, but I didn’t expect that today. When I saw it, it was really extraordinary.”

Travis: “That’s it! I just asked casually. If you don’t want to tell me, I don’t care anymore! As long as you give me Haze!”

Sasha: “The money is in place, and I’ll give it to you immediately.”

“Sasha, I can only give you 10 million first. The rest of the money, I have to verify her identity before I can give it to you.” Travis said, “If you give me a fake one, I will definitely not give it to you. I will give you the final payment.

Not only will I not give you the final payment, but the money I gave you today will also be taken back.”

Sasha raised her eyebrows: “How do you verify her identity? How do you approach Elliot and Avery?”

“I will naturally find a way, you don’t have to worry about this!” Travis said, “Besides, their daughters, first of all, will definitely look a bit like them... right?”

Sasha: “Of course. Haze looks like Avery. Didn’t I show you the photo just now?”

“Can you show me the photo again? I didn’t see it clearly just now.” Travis wanted to confirm again.

Sasha leaned on the sofa and turned on the phone, hesitating whether to show the photo to Travis again.

At this time, the phone received a text message.

It’s from the bank.

The $10 million Travis gave her has arrived!

“Mr. Jones, what’s so good about the photo, let me show you the real person!” Sasha received the money and was in a good mood, and stood up from the sofa.

Travis sneered: “Have you received the money? I, Travis, always talk about things, so don't play tricks with me next. Bridgedale is my territory, you can't count me."

Sasha walked to Travis and supported his arm: "Mr. Jones, look at what you said. If I didn't find Haze, how would I dare to do business with you? $10 million is not a small amount, How dare I lie to you for so much money!"

"Where is Haze?" Travis asked, "Is she here?"

Sasha: "You're joking! Of course Haze is not here. This is a dance hall, and Haze is only a child of a few years old. It's inappropriate to keep her here."

"Then where do you keep her?" Travis followed Sasha and walked towards the other exit of the ballroom.

"You will know when you go. That place is very remote, and you may not have heard the name! Besides, you have brought so many bodyguards, how can I be your opponent as a weak woman. You are afraid that I will eat you Can't it?" Sasha took Travis out of the back door.

Not far away, the people sent by Hayden saw them.

Chapter 2261

"Travis appears!" The person with the binoculars saw Travis's clear face.

"Is that woman Sasha?" Another asked.

"I didn't see it clearly...it doesn't seem to be! Look!" The person holding the binoculars gave the binoculars to his colleague, "Strange, I thought Travis and Sasha came out together!"

The colleague took the binoculars, looked carefully towards Travis.

Just happened to see Travis and the woman get into the car.

Just saw the woman's face!

"Huh? That woman isn't Sasha! Could it be that Sasha is still in the ballroom?"

"Yeah, She doesn't look like Sasha! They're gone! Shall we follow?!"

“Aren’t we looking for Sasha? Go to the ballroom first! After all, you can find Travis anytime you want.”

“Okay!”

The two put down their binoculars, got out of the car, and walked towards the ballroom.

The door of the back door of the ballroom was hidden, and the two of them pushed the door directly and walked in.

After about half an hour, they came out of the ballroom.

One of them called the boss to report the situation.

“Boss, we didn’t find Sasha. We followed to a dance hall. Travis stayed in the dance hall for about 40 minutes, then walked out with a woman and drove away. That woman was not Sasha. After they left, we went into the ballroom to find Sasha, there was only an old man who was cleaning, saying that there was no woman named Sasha! We showed him the photo of Sasha, and he said that he had never seen Sasha! We pointed the gun at the old man’s. The old man was scared, he shouldn’t lie!”

“Where’s Travis?” Hayden asked.

The person: “We came in to look for Sasha, but we didn’t go with Travis.

Because we thought that Travis would not be able to fly away, we could find him at any time...”

Hayden: “Look for him immediately!”

The person: “Okay.”

Travis was taken to a small town near the suburbs by Sasha.

After arriving in this small town, Travis asked, “Haze is here?”

Sasha: “Yes. I put her here.”

Travis’s mood was uncontrollably excited. Immediately, he would be able to see Haze. When he brought Haze back, he could no longer fear Elliot and Avery.

Not long after, the vehicle stopped on the side of the road.

Sasha got out of the car first.

After Travis got out of the car, Sasha pointed to the building in front of her and said, "Did you see the building in front with the osmanthus tree at the entrance? Haze is in that building."

Sasha took them to the door of the building, took out the key from her pocket, and opened the door.

"Mr. Jones, Haze is inside. You go in!" Sasha glanced inside, and said to Travis with a smile on the corner of her mouth.

Chapter 2262

Travis's bodyguard glanced inside the house.

Inside was a very ordinary decoration, with few decent furniture pieces, making the house a bit empty.

If they listen carefully, they can hear the faint cry of a little girl.

"Is Haze crying?" Travis asked, "Why is she crying?"

Sasha looked calm and she said: "If you were caught and locked in the room, you would cry too."

Travis's face suddenly fell down, "Why do you keep her locked up? Can't you keep her like a normal little girl?"

"Funny, when did you become a philanthropist, Mr. Jones? Not to mention that Elliot and Avery have been sending people to find her...Let's just talk about this little girl, she has a bad temperament and wants to run away all day long. If I didn't lock her up, she would have already run away."

Sasha's explanation made Travis say no more.

"Go up! She's in the room on the second floor." Sasha said, walking towards the kitchen, "I'm dying of thirst, I have to get some water to drink! Do you drink water?"

"No." Travis heard the struggle and cry of the little girl upstairs more and more clearly.

"Let go of me... woo woo! You let me go... you b*stards..." The little girl's cry stirred Travis's voice heartstrings.

Travis wanted to go upstairs quickly to see what this little girl looked like, and wanted to take her away quickly.

Only by holding Haze in his hand can Travis be completely at ease.

"Come on, let's go upstairs!" Travis said to the bodyguard after watching Sasha walk towards the kitchen.

Two bodyguards opened the way in front, and Travis walked behind.

The girl upstairs probably heard footsteps, so her cry became weaker and weaker until she couldn't hear any sound.

After the bodyguards went upstairs, they quickly surveyed the situation upstairs, and finally set their eyes on the room with the door closed.

The doors of the other rooms were all open, and they could see the situation in the room at a glance, but they couldn't see the little girl at all.

The little girl could only be in the room with the door closed.

After receiving Travis's gesture, the bodyguard held the door handle and opened the door.

The moment the door opened, Travis saw the little girl sitting on the ground with shackles on her wrists and ankles.

She cried with tears all over her face, and her pitiful little face could be moved by just one glance.

Travis did not notice that his two bodyguards opened the door, and after entering the room for two steps, they were all frozen in place.

“Haze, stop crying! I’m here to save you!” Travis quickly walked towards the little girl and helped the little girl up from the ground, “These bad guys are really bad! They treat you like a beast! Don’t be afraid, no one will bully you like this again!”

Travis lifted the little girl from the ground and wiped the tears from the little girl’s face with a big palm.

The little girl raised her head, her eyelashes twitched slightly, looked at Travis’s face, and made a childish voice: “Grandpa, can I make a magic for you?”

Travis was stunned for a moment, but he did not expect the little girl Say this. He was so surprised that he forgot to see if her face looked like Elliot and Avery.

He saw that the little girl reached out and easily opened the handcuffs on her hands, then bent down and opened the shackles on her feet.

“This game is so fun!” The little girl suddenly let out a string of silver bell-like laughter.

Chapter 2263

Without waiting for Travis to exclaim, the little girl said again: “Grandpa, look at them...”

The little girl’s hand pointed to the Jones family bodyguard at the door, and laughed: “The two of them are like two puppets. Oh!”

Travis saw not only his two bodyguards, but also two bodyguards being held hostage.

Pistols against their temples.

At the same time, the muzzle of a pistol was aimed at him.

Travis was so terrified that he raised his hand out of instinct.

“You...what are you doing...I gave money...I gave Sasha 10 million...isn't 10 million enough? Then How many do you want?”

Travis didn't want to die!

He would definitely make countless money in the future, his worth would surpass Avery, Elliot...and all his friends!

Everyone who mentions his name would call him a legend!

“Travis, have you ever thought that what I want is not money?” A female voice came from outside the door.

'Sasha' appeared at the door of the room with a sinister smile on her face.

Travis looked at her face, and his mind became much clearer at this moment.

No wonder Travis thought this face was familiar, he must have seen her before! And, they both have a grudge!

“You suspected me at first that I wasn't Sasha, and you almost scared me!

But I bet you don't remember me long ago, so you just said a few words to divert your attention, but you really don't doubt me. I am happy and sad...

After all, we used to love each other, why can't you remember my face and voice at all?” The woman entered the room and walked to Travis.

Travis looked at the woman's face up close, his lips murmured uncontrollably, but he didn't make a sound.

“Who am I? Don't you remember?” The woman asked with a sneer.

“You, you...” Travis thought of a headache, raised his hand and patted his head, “I have a little impression... We must have been better before...”

“Yes! You did treat me well before, but after a few days, you ruthlessly abandoned me... Later I found out that I was pregnant with your child, and went to you with joy, but you gave me a slap and let me get out." The woman said, tears welling up in her eyes. But she didn't cry.

Today, she has got her revenge, and she was in a very happy mood.

"I want to prove to you that my child is yours, but you gave me the abortion medicine with your own hands, and saw that my child was gone, so you let me go...Travis, I wish I could make you older. Take eight pieces and avenge the humiliation I have suffered and the child I didn't give birth to!"

Travis had done all the bad things in his life, and he didn't remember the things the woman said so clearly.

Because he poisoned more than this woman and this child?

"I'm sorry! I apologize to you! I'll give you money...don't kill me...I can't die."

Travis trembled, grabbing the woman's arm with both hands, bitterly begging.

"You must die!" The woman's eyes were scarlet, and she roared, "Even if I take my life, I must let you die!"

Travis's face changed greatly, his expression was stern and painful: "You are not Sasha... Where is the real Sasha... What is your relationship with Sasha? Let me be a clear!"

"I don't know any Sasha..." The woman pushed Travis's body away and looked at him with disgust, "I only know your daughter, Norah. If she hadn't helped me, How can I approach you so smoothly? Hahahaha! You didn't expect that the person who really kills you is your own daughter!"

Chapter 2264

"Travis, didn't you find out? This is your retribution hahahaha!" The woman said this and laughed out loud, "Unfortunately, God has let you live until now, God has no eyes!"

" It turned out to be Norah... it turned out to be her..." Travis clenched his teeth, the expression on his face was like a smile but a smile, like a cry instead of a cry.

If he had died at the hands of others, he would not have suffered so much. Norah, the traitor! He hasn't found her yet, hasn't killed her yet, and as a result, he has fallen into the trap she designed.

At 9 o'clock in the morning, Emilio came to the Jones's old house.

He told his father last night that he wanted to accompany his father to see Sasha today, but his father refused.

Travis felt that he could not help or get in the way.

Emilio could only give up. He wanted to know how his father and Sasha were talking, so he could only come to the old house and wait for his father to come back.

Although he knew that after his father found Haze, he would definitely not bring people home, but even if he couldn't see the real person of Haze, it would be nice to see Haze's photos.

He didn't know if Haze looked like Avery or Elliot.

He didn't know where his father would hide Haze at that time.

He didn't even know if his father would expand his ambitions and made outof-control decisions after he fouud Haze.

Emilio didn't sleep well last night. He subconsciously felt pessimistic. Even if his father could find Haze first, the final result would definitely not be as smooth as his father expected.

Elliot and Avery were not ordinary people. After they knew about this, how could they let the Jones family go?

Emilio and his father knew that Elliot was the kind of person who would rather die than be wronged.

“Master got up at five o’clock in the morning today.” The servant who took care of Travis made Emilio tea. “Usually he sleeps until 9 o’clock! But he woke up so early today and was in good spirits.”

Emilio: “What time did my father leave the door?”

“What time did he leave the door after six o’clock.” The servant replied, “It wasn’t dawn at that time, and the snow outside the door hadn’t been dealt with! I didn’t know that the master was so early. What was he doing when he went out? Even if he had an appointment with someone, I’m afraid others were not so early!”

“Father must have had a plan in mind. Maybe he had an appointment with someone farther away!” Emilio sat in a chair and held a cup of tea, took a sip, “By the way, were there any suspicious vehicles and people at the door today?”

The servant shook his head: “In such a cold day, I didn’t pay attention to the situation outside. The bodyguard at the gate didn’t say anything unusual, there should be nothing unusual. Right? Second Young Master, why do you suddenly ask this?”

“My dad was looking for Elliot and Avery’s stray daughter. They already know about it, and I thought they would definitely send someone to watch here.”

Emilio expressed his worries, “If someone is watching here, I think it’s better for my father to live in another place.”

“Where is it? Your father can’t be idle and has to work every day. If you don’t see anyone at work, you can hide from Elliot and the others.” The servant sighed, “Second young master, at this age, your father should have enjoyed his old age, but he wants to continue to work hard.”

“Blame me. To become bigger and stronger, my father will not work so hard.”

Emilio laughed at himself.

“Second young master, don’t say that. You are still very capable. It’s just that your father’s ambition goes far beyond defending the family business. Don’t take it to heart. After all, he’s so old...” The servant didn’t continue to say what he said later, but the meaning was obvious.

Emilio asked, “After Margaret died, did my dad’s health really deteriorate a lot?”

The servant glanced around and saw that there were no outsiders in the living room, so he said in a low voice, “Yes. Margaret finished the medicine that Margaret gave your father before. I don’t know what medicine Margaret gave your father. After he stopped taking the medicine, his mental state was significantly worse. He didn’t sleep so well at night.”

Emilio knew in his heart: “But I think my dad’s mental state is similar to before.”

The servant: “It’s still a little different. Margaret was there and when she was by your father side, his temper was milder.”

“Mm.” Emilio drank the tea, put down the teacup, and looked out.

Chapter 2265

With little snow today, the temperature had dropped a little more than yesterday.

Emilio walked to the door, put on a down jacket, and walked into the snow.

The Bodyguard: “Second Young Master, where are you going?”

“I’ll take a look outside, and I’ll be back soon.” Emilio said, walking towards the gate of the courtyard.

Bodyguards followed behind him.

“Young Master, don’t you know the result if you call your father and ask? Why do you have to wait here in person?” The bodyguard was puzzled by the cold wind.

“I called my father, but he didn’t answer.” Emilio called his father before going out.

The phone got through, but no one answered.

According to what the servant said, his father went out so early today, and he must have seen Sasha now.

“I’m afraid that something will happen to my father.” Emilio expressed his doubts.

“Young Master, you will definitely bring a bodyguard when you go out...” The bodyguard said, “Why don’t I call my elder brother and ask?”

Emilio’s bodyguard’s elder brother acts as a bodyguard by Travis’s side.

“You call!” Emilio stood in the snow, waiting for the bodyguard to call.

The bodyguard took out his mobile phone and dialed the elder brother.

The phone was called, it was connected, but no one answered.

“No answer.” The bodyguard looked at Emilio and couldn’t help thinking,

“They won’t really have an accident, right? If they have an accident, it must be Elliot and Avery!”

“Don’t be so loud.” Emilio walked to the gate of the courtyard and looked around.

Except for the white snow outside, there was not a half figure in sight.

Emilio’s uneasy premonition was getting stronger and stronger. Did something really happen to his father?

After calming down in the snow for half an hour, he dialed Avery.

Avery should not lie!

At that time, Aryadelle was late at night.

However, Avery answered his call quickly.

“You can’t get in touch with your father?” Avery was surprised after hearing his question, “I don’t know what’s going on with your father. I’m in Aryadelle.”

“It must be Elliot...He must have done something wrong!” Emilio said excitedly.

“Emilio, don’t spit your blood. Your father’s business has nothing to do with Elliot.” Avery said, “Let me call and ask. If I ask about your father’s situation, I will tell you.”

After Avery finished speaking, he hung up the phone.

She frowned and dialed Hayden. Hayden took it in seconds.

“Hayden, did something happen to Travis?” Avery’s voice settled, and beside her, Elliot turned on the bedside lamp, sat up, and looked at her.

In order for Elliot to hear Hayden’s answer clearly, Avery turned on the speaker.

“Maybe! I don’t know.” Hayden replied, “Travis went out very early today and went to a dance hall. Then he came out of the dance hall with a woman and went to another place. The person I sent out said the woman’s face was not Sasha’s face. Where is he now, I haven’t found out the news.”

“Okay, I know.” Avery’s brain was running at a high speed, and she whispered, “Travis left with a woman... Who is that woman? Didn’t Travis want to meet Sasha? How did he meet another woman?”

Chapter 2266

“Mom, I’ll call you when I find Travis. But it’s very late on your side, I won’t call you tonight.”

Hayden reminded, “Go to bed early, don’t stay up late for this kind of person. Even if he dies, there will be more to die for.”

“Well. I’m not worried about him. I heard from his son that he can’t be reached, and thought things had progressed.”

Avery wanted to know if there was any news about Haze. So it's more stressful.

“If there is news about Haze, I will tell you as soon as possible.” Hayden said.

Avery: “Okay.”

After hanging up, Avery looked at Elliot: “Travis made an appointment to meet Sasha today, but he left with another woman. I think this is too strange.”

Elliot also felt strange: “Yes There is no possibility that the woman was sent by Sasha to answer.”

“If you say so, it is possible. But even if Travis meets Sasha, there is no need to answer the family's phone calls, right?”

Avery raised another doubt, “No matter how you look at it, Travis should be dominant.

Sasha is just a fugitive from Yonroeville, does she have the ability to control Travis?”

“Until you don't know what happened, it's hard to guess the truth of this incident.” Elliot said.

“Well, I'll call Emilio back.” Avery dialed Emilio.

Emilio's mood was a little calmer than before.

“Emilio, I just asked Elliot, he doesn't know where your father is.

We only know that your father left with a strange woman in a dance hall.”

Avery told him the matter, “He was not going to see Sasha? But he went with another woman.”

“That person was Sasha.” Emilio said, “Sasha had plastic surgery.”

Avery: “???”

“I went to see her. She said She is Sasha. In order to escape from you, she had plastic surgery.” Emilio continued.

Avery thought it was incredible: “I know that there are superb cosmetic techniques in this world that can directly change a person’s face, but how long has it been since Sasha escaped from Yonroeville! How could she have changed in such a short period of time? Open your face!”

Emilio was stunned for a moment: “How long does it take to change a face?”

“I don’t know how long it will take, but according to the time Sasha fled, it is definitely too late!”

Avery said When she got here, she remembered that Hayden told her about Sasha, “The Sasha you saw is not Sasha at all. Sasha has no plastic surgery.”

Hayden sent someone to find Sasha’s whereabouts according to Sasha’s face.

Although Sasha was finally allowed to escape, Sasha would not be able to change her face for a while.

Emilio was stunned when he heard Avery’s words.

“How, how do you know she didn’t have plastic surgery?” Emilio didn’t specifically tell Avery about it last night, but he didn’t expect Avery to know more.

“Emilio, the news I got is that she didn’t have plastic surgery.

It depends on whether you want to believe me or what you see and hear.

The woman said she was Sasha, and she was Sasha who had plastic surgery, except for saying Besides, do you have any other credentials?”

Avery asked back.

Emilio took a deep breath and said discouraged: “No. Could it be that my dad and I were deceived?”

“How did you meet the woman who claimed to be Sasha?” Avery asked in confusion.

“I found Norah’s phone when I was looking for Norah in Aryadelle.”

When Emilio said Norah’s name, he suddenly realized, “Could this be Norah’s plan?!”

“Go find your father! Really If you can’t find your father, then go to Norah.”

Avery showed him the direction.

Emilio hung up the phone. He strode back into the room from the gate of the courtyard.

He took out Norah’s mobile phone, found Sasha’s number on it and dialed it

——

——Sorry, the user you dialed has been turned off, please try again later.

Emilio sat down on the sofa with a solemn expression, staring at the luxurious living room.

Chapter 2267

In this house, every ornament was Travis’s treasure.

If Travis died, it would not be a bad thing.

If he could successfully inherit Travis’s property, it would be no effort at all.

However, he did not believe that he had such good luck.

Maybe Norah would come to fight with him for property!

If his guess was true, Norah would naturally take the initiative to contact him.

“Second Young Master, are we going to find Master?” The bodyguard was a little worried.

Emilio: “Where to find my father? Bridgedale is so big, he left at six o’clock, who knows where he is now? I called Avery just now, and Avery said that my father was not captured by their people.”

The bodyguard: "Then why can't we get in touch with him?"

"Avery said My father left with a woman." Emilio said calmly, "Just wait here!

If we can't get in touch for 24 hours, then call the police and Let the police find my father."

The bodyguard lowered his head, daring not to object.

If they couldn't get in touch for 24 hours, it's probably in danger.

After several old house servants heard his words, they secretly hid in the kitchen to discuss.

"I can't help but smile when I see the second young master. It is estimated that the master will not be able to come back this time!"

"The second young master is scolded almost every day. I guess the master regrets it too, he shouldn't have been so cruel to the eldest young master before."

"What's the use of regretting it now. And I don't think the kind of master will regret it. But this time the master has an accident. It must have nothing to do with the second young master, right? The second young master is quite cautious and timid."

"I don't know if the second young master did it, but the second young master will definitely not save the master."

"The Jones family is going to change hands! I'm looking forward to the second young master living here."

"The second young master may not like it here. Wait. The second young master has inherited the master's property. Where does he want to buy a mansion and can't afford it? If I were the second young master, I wouldn't live here!"

"Yes. Living here, I will definitely be able to think of the master all day long, think about it. I'm not feeling well."

.....

Time passed, and it was night.

The servant walked up to Emilio and asked carefully, "Second Young Master, are you going to stay here for the night tonight? If you stay here for the night, then I'll clean up the room."

"No need." Emilio glanced at his watch, "I'll leave in half an hour."

"Second young master, there has been no whereabouts of the master, will the master already..." The servant asked tentatively.

"I don't know what happened to my father. He can't get through on the phone, and neither can his accompanying bodyguard. I also called Sasha, but no one answered." Emilio was calm and flat, "You Don't worry, if my father has an accident, I will give you a large amount of severance pay, enough for you to enjoy your old age in peace."

The servant: "Thank you! Thank you second young master!"

An hour later, Emilio returned to his own residence.

When he got home, before he could take a sip of hot water, he received a call from his half-sister.

The news of Travis's accident, she and other sisters all knew who it was.

"Emilio, my father should have drawn up a will long ago? If my father dies, you must notify us. After all, we are also father's children."

Chapter 2268

Emilio replied politely: "Eldest sister, I haven't received the exact news of my father's death. If I get the news, I will definitely notify everyone in the family group."

The elder sister responded: "That's good. We are also very sad when the accident happened.”

“How did you know that father had an accident?” Emilio asked.

The elder sister: “The people of the old house said that you can’t contact our father. Emilio, I have been waiting for you to inform us, but I haven’t waited...”

“Sister, it’s not that I hide it on purpose, but that my father lost contact. It’s just this one day. I don’t know what he’s doing now. How can I casually say something happened to him? What if he suddenly comes back?” Emilio said,

“If he comes back, we’ll think he’s dead when we see him. I’m afraid he will be furious.”

The elder sister: “Okay, I thought you had the exact news!”

Emilio: “I don’t.”

“Okay. Emilio, eldest sister, please ask, do you know the contents of Dad’s will?” In the eyes of other brothers and sisters, Emilio is the heir identified by Travis. They all envy Emilio. At the same time, they also know that even if his father dies, most of his father’s property must be left to Emilio.

They just wish they could have a sip of soup.

As the children of the Jones family, it was impossible for their father not to gave them a house, right?

“Eldest sister, you have to ask our father’s lawyer.” Emilio said, “Father has been threatening me with his inheritance to listen to him. If something happened to him this time, it would be an emergency... So I-I don’t know how his will was made.”

Eldest sister: “Oh! Emilio, you don’t have to worry about it. My father prefers sons to daughters, and your eldest brother is like that again... Father will definitely give you most of the inheritance. I really envy you!”

“It’s too early to say envy. With my father’s temper, maybe he would rather donate all his property than leave it to our children.” Emilio said sarcastically.

Eldest sister: "How is that possible! Emilio, our father is not that kind of person. He usually praises you in front of me. You didn't make him angry like the big brother, how could he not give you property?"

"Has he praised me?" Emilio had never heard his father praise him.

"Yes! He said that although you are not as capable as your elder brother, you are more aware of your senses and listen to him more than your elder brother. Between you and your elder brother, he likes you more." When the elder sister said this, she paused, "By the way, he also said that you are the one who looks the most like him among all the children."

Emilio never knew that his father said these words in private.

"Emilio, if you inherit the Jones family, can you still let me continue to work in the Jones family?" The eldest sister asked suddenly.

Emilio: "Sister, as long as you are willing to continue doing your current job, of course there is no problem."

Eldest sister: "Mmmm! Then I won't disturb you. You have news from our father, remember to inform everyone."

Emilio: "Okay."

.....

Aryadelle.

Early in the morning, Gwen came to Foster's house with two oversized shopping bags.

At this point, Layla hadn't gone to school yet.

She pulled open the bag that her aunt had brought, and glanced inside.

"Auntie, what kind of clothes is this? A skirt?"

Gwen smiled and took out the dressing gown from the bag and showed it to Layla: "This is a dressing gown. This is for your mother."

“Oh... ..morning gown!” Layla was stunned for a moment, then asked, “What is a dressing gown? Isn’t this a nightgown?”

“Haha! It’s not a nightgown, it’s a dressing gown. But you can understand it as Pajamas.” Gwen said , the bodyguard came to remind Layla to go out.

“Aunt, why are you giving this to my mom? My mom doesn’t like to wear this...my mom only likes to wear the ones she bought...” Layla walked to the door, not forgetting Go back and remind Gwen.

Chapter 2269

Gwen: “Haha! Aunt naturally has a way to make your mother accept it, so you can go to school at ease!”

After Layla left, Robert finished drinking the milk, came over, and pulled the bag.

“Baby Robert, are you going to school too? Auntie really wants to stay with you for a while.” Gwen hugged Robert up, reluctant to let go.

Robert showed a bright and innocent smile: “Then I won’t go to school today, I’ll play with my aunt! Just ask my father and teacher to ask for leave!”

Gwen let out a ‘puff’ and couldn’t help laughing.

“Auntie can come and play with you on weekends! If you don’t go to school, I’m afraid your mother will blame me! When your mother was in school, she was a genius!” Gwen hugged Robert and walked out, “Auntie sent you to school. Are you okay? Auntie hasn’t seen to your kindergarten yet!”

“Okay! Then I’ll take you to see my kindergarten!” Robert looked proud and was carried out by her aunt.

Not long after they left, Avery went downstairs after washing up. Looking at the two large white bags in the living room, she was a little curious.

Mrs. Cooper replied: “This is what Gwen brought up, saying it was a morning gown for you.”

“Oh, why did Gwen give me this?” Avery took out the morning gown from the bag.

She was holding a men’s dressing gown, which was very long.

“Is this for Elliot?” Avery compared the morning gown to herself, and the hem of the gown was dragging to the ground.

“Looking at the length, it should be a man’s.” Mrs. Cooper said, taking out the dressing gown from the other bag.

This length was more suitable for Avery.

“Why did Gwen suddenly think of giving this to us?” Avery took the lady’s morning gown in her hand, and touched the fabric of the gown, which felt very comfortable. But...she didn’t like to wear this kind of clothes.

There were also home clothes at home, but she preferred to wear her own casual clothes, so she didn’t have to go back to the room to change clothes if she had to go out.

“Maybe Gwen doesn’t know that you don’t like to wear this kind of clothes!”

Mrs. Cooper explained with a smile, “But Mr. Foster prefers to wear this kind of clothes.”

“Well. Both of these can be worn by him.” Avery joked, “This one is also quite wide.”

“Mr. Foster has lost a lot of weight now, maybe I can really wear this one for you.”

The two chatted for a while, and after a while, Gwen came back from kindergarten.

“Avery!” Gwen went into the room and changed into slippers, seeing that the two dressing gowns had been taken out and placed on the sofa, so she strode over, "This is the dressing gown I bought for you and my second brother, what do you think? How is it? Does it look good?"

"Gwen, why did you suddenly buy us a morning gown?" Avery took breakfast and walked from the dining room to the living room, "The style is very beautiful, I like it very much."

"You just like it! I bought this for myself, and I liked it, so I bought one for you too." Gwen had already thought of a reason, "The morning gown was worn on the morning of the wedding day. I plan to wear it on the morning of the wedding day. "

"Oh...it's pretty good! The fabric is still shiny! It's much softer than the silk fabric. It must look good on the mirror." Avery boasted.

"Mmmm! Avery, I have already dry cleaned these two morning gowns. You can hang them in your wardrobe. You don't wear them now, and you will wear them on New Year's Day." Gwen explained.

Avery was stunned for a moment: "Why can't you wear it now? Your brother likes to wear this kind of robe."

Avery's voice was settled, and Elliot walked downstairs.

Chapter 2270

Elliot walked to Avery, saw the robe on the sofa, and immediately took a look.

Then... he put it on and tried it on.

"It's so beautiful to wear." Avery tidied up his robes and tied him a belt.

Gwen sighed in her heart, she couldn't do anything about them.

"Wear it! Wear it! Anyway, even if you start wearing it now, it won't be worn out on New Year's Day." Gwen smiled.

"Gwen, you look down on your brother too much. His clothes have never been worn." Avery didn't take Gwen's words just now to let them wear it on

New Year's Day to heart.

After all, clothes were bought to wear.

"I know that the second brother has a lot of clothes." Gwen said, "Ben also has a lot of clothes. I asked him why he has so many clothes, and he said that he doesn't have as many clothes as the second brother."

"Well, your second brother is more handsome." Avery finished joking, and asked, "Gwen, you came here so early, surely you haven't had breakfast yet?"

"I wasn't hungry when I went out, but now I'm a little hungry." Gwen said, walking towards the dining room, "Avery, let me show you my wedding dress? You can help me with the staff."

"Okay! Let's have breakfast first! Let's have breakfast before looking at it."

Avery said.

"Mmmm! There are also wedding shoes, and makeup... help me take a look."

Gwen's task today was to determine these.

After all, it would be New Year's Day soon.

"You should be better at this than me, right? After all, you usually have to wear makeup and beautiful clothes at work..." Avery was afraid that her opinion was not professional enough, "And I think you're very beautiful no matter what clothes you wear, You are a ready-made clothes hanger, even wearing a piece of cloth can give people a sense of luxury."

Gwen couldn't help laughing.

When Avery saw Elliot approaching, she immediately asked, "Elliot, am I right?"

"Well." Elliot agreed and sat down beside Avery, "but it's good for you to help her take a look. Your vision is also good."

Gwen laughed: "Second brother, you mean that Avery chose to marry you, so you have a good vision?"

"Smart." Elliot was in a good mood, "Have you set a date for your wedding with Ben? New Year's Day or Aryadellian New Year?"

"It should be Aryadellian New Year!" Gwen felt a little guilty, "I'll send you invitations at that time."

"You came so early today just to give you a nightgown?" Elliot saw that her eyes were flickering. So he asked.

"I have a little insomnia, so I came to play with Avery!" Gwen looked into Elliot's eyes, not at all timid, "Don't worry, I won't take Avery out to play, I will play at your house."

"If you really want to take her out to play, I won't stop it." Elliot felt that Avery was a little bored with him at home every day.

If Avery went out to play, Elliot would happily send her out.

"It's too cold outside, what's there to do?" Gwen muttered, "I went out to play with Tammy two days ago, and my legs hurt. But Tammy is not tired at all. I think Tammy is more suitable to enter the modeling industry. Unfortunately, Tammy has a mine at home."

"Tammy really likes shopping. Even if she doesn't need anything, she can spend a few hours on the street." Avery recalled the past, "She gave me a lot of clothes and bags."

Gwen: "Tammy is so nice. Not only is her name sweet, but she is even sweeter."

"Why don't you call Tammy and you two will talk to her?" Elliot got goosebumps when he heard it.

"Tammy is not available. I made an appointment with her yesterday." Gwen replied, "She said that the company has been busy recently."

Chapter 2271

"Yeah." Avery said, looking at Elliot, "Your company must be very busy recently, right? You can use the computer, but you have to control the time. If you get dizzy, you must rest."

With Avery's permission, Elliot immediately nodded happily.

After breakfast, Elliot went to the study.

Gwen took Avery to the living room to see the wedding dress, makeup, wedding shoes, etc.

Avery looked very seriously. Choose more carefully than when she got married.

"Gwen, I think this white gauze is pretty good, but this toast dress, I think the long one looks better. You are tall, and wearing a long skirt is just too fairy! With a normal height like me, I want to wear this kind of long skirt. All must be made to order." Avery looked at the two toasting suits in the picture, and chose a long skirt without hesitation.

Gwen did not dare to tell the truth. What she came to find Avery to choose today was what Avery would wear when she got married on New Year's Day.

"But I think this short style looks good too. It's very lively." Gwen was afraid that Avery's height in the long skirt could not handle it.

"Well, the short style is also good. You look good in anything. If you like this short style, choose the short style. The most important thing in a wedding is to be happy." Avery followed her words.

"What about this makeup look? Do you think it will be too gorgeous?" Gwen flipped through the picture and showed it to Avery.

The reason Gwen asked this was because Avery's previous wedding makeup was dignified and elegant, and what she showed Avery now was completely different from the style.

The makeup in the picture would be more fashionable. The model's face was affixed with shimmering diamonds to make the whole face look sparkling.

"It's so pretty!" Avery glanced at the picture and then at Gwen's face, "Gwen, if you like it, you can try makeup."

Gwen was going to try makeup, but Avery's wedding on New Year's Day was going to be for Avery, so she hadn't tried it yet.

"Uh... I've been a little allergic to my skin recently. So I didn't try it. And I've done similar makeup before, and I think it's pretty good!" Gwen replied with a smile.

Avery: "Well, as long as you like it. In fact, the ones you chose are all very good-looking."

"What about these shoes?" Taking advantage of Avery's patience, Gwen immediately turned over the following pictures one by one to her.

Avery carefully looked at the pictures at the back and replied seriously: "I think they are all good-looking. If you can pick them out, you must have screened them. The things you like are all good-looking."

Gwen: "Hahaha! Avery, I asked Ben the same question, and he answered the same as you."

"Because it's really good-looking." Avery replied affirmatively.

Gwen pondered for a few seconds and asked, "Then do you think my second brother would like this?"

Avery: "You get married, it doesn't matter what he likes or not."

"I just want to know!" After all, it would be Avery. For Avery and Elliot's wedding, Gwen hoped they were both satisfied.

"...Elliot doesn't have the same eye as ours. He likes simple and elegant styles. You refer to the style of the time I married him before. He handled my dress and all the other details.” Avery didn’t like to worry, and was more assured of him.

“Okay!” Gwen could already imagine that on New Year’s Day, Elliot was definitely not satisfied with the wedding and all the details of the wedding. But whether he liked it or not, as long as Avery liked it.

“Gwen, you don’t need to worry about Elliot, as long as you like it.” Avery saw Gwen frowning, so she said softly, “If you can marry the person you like, other trivial matters are not important.”

Chapter 2272

After receiving Avery’s answer, Gwen was relieved.

“Avery, you and my second brother’s personalities are quite complementary. My second brother seems to be a particularly difficult person to serve, and you are very easy-going and easy to get along with.” Gwen flattered.

Avery: “That’s because you don’t know your second brother. For example, the servants in his family have worked here for many years...”

“Working here for many years does not mean that my second brother is easy to get along with! Only It shows that the treatment here is good. That’s why they can tolerate my second brother.” Gwen had a unique opinion, “I just want to praise you. If I were a man, I would also like a woman like you who balances career and family.”

“Gwen, You are so sweet, don’t you want me to help?” Avery blushed after being praised, “We are not outsiders, you don’t need to flatter me.”

“If I have something to do now, Ben can also help me solve it. I’m going to marry him, of course I have to trouble him if I have anything.” Gwen said playfully, “I now realize that as long as I don’t confront him, he’s actually not that annoying.”

Avery: “Haha, Brother Ben is very nice. At least every time I see him, he smiles. In terms of temper, he must be much better than your second brother.”

Gwen: “He is very nice, but he likes to take care of me sometimes. I think this is the disadvantage of our age difference.”

Avery: “I understand what you said. Elliot and I came here too. After getting along for a long time, it will be settled.”

“The two of you are at home every day now. What are you doing?” Gwen was very curious, “My second brother won’t be able to go to work until after the Spring Festival?”

Avery thought about it and replied, “We find small things to do every day, like yesterday we Practicing calligraphy at home, doing handicrafts at home the day before yesterday, and tidying up the children’s wardrobes together the day before yesterday, and the day before yesterday, we invited a fitness trainer to come home...”

Gwen: “Oh, it sounds quite fulfilling. After the weekend, you can play with the children.”

“Yeah! Actually, we only have the time during the day for ourselves. After school in the afternoon Robert, we have to play with the children.” Avery asked, “After you marry Ben, do you have any plans to have a child?”

“Avery, do you think I should have it immediately?” Gwen was a little uncertain.

Sometimes she wanted a child, sometimes she didn’t. Mainly after having children came responsibility and stress.

“My suggestion is that you be mentally prepared, especially if you want a child.” Avery gave her advice.

Gwen: “I just don’t know if I want children.”

Avery: “Then you probably don’t.”

Gwen: “But I saw that Layla and Robert really liked them. I think I like children.”

Avery: “You like children, But you don’t like the painful process of having a baby!”

“Hahaha! Yes!” Gwen was told what she felt in her heart.

“Tammy was like this at the beginning.” Avery said, “You can talk to her more.

In fact, everyone has a different tolerance for pain. Like me, I don’t feel so terrible about having a child. I don’t feel so painful.”

“Because you’re a doctor.” Gwen cast an envious look.

“Gwen, the doctor is also afraid of pain. Don’t think about it now, wait until the wedding is done, and then think about it slowly. When your expectations for your child reach a higher point, then you will Overcome the fear of pain.”

Gwen: “After chatting with you, I suddenly became a lot more open-minded.”

“Because this is not a big problem.” Avery chuckled and wanted to ask her if she had any other questions. At this moment, her phone rang.

Because she had the matter of Bridgedale in mind, she picked up the phone and took a look.

It was Emilio who sent her a message: [My father is dead.]

Avery looked at the message, and the expression on her face froze.

She didn’t know if this was a simple grievance between Norah and Travis, or if it involved other people.

Chapter 2273

Chapter 2273

“Avery, what’s the matter?” Gwen saw that Avery’s expression was wrong, and immediately asked, “If you have something to do, then I won’t disturb you. I came here today, and I have nothing to do.”

Avery stood up from the sofa Get up: “Did you drive by yourself?”

“Yeah! I came by myself.” Gwen also quickly stood up from the sofa, “I’m going out by myself, you don’t need to take it away.”

“I’ll take you out...” Avery put down the phone and sent Gwen out, “Next time you and Tammy come over to play.”

Gwen: “Okay, next time we come over, I will tell you in advance.”

Avery: “Well.”

After sending Gwen away, Avery quickly returned to the living room, picked up her mobile phone, and dialed Emilio.

Emilio quickly answered the phone and said, “Avery, my father is dead.”

“I saw your message. How did your father die? Where’s Norah? Did you get in touch? Does this matter have anything to do with Sasha?” Avery asked.

“I don’t know...I only know that my dad is dead. Someone sent me a picture of my dad being shot.” Emilio was cold all over.

Although he had always fantasized about Travis’s death, Travis was really dead, and he felt as if he was alone and had no direction.

Now the Jones family was up and down, and everyone was staring at him.

And, almost everyone was on his opposite.

Because in their opinion, he would inherit most of the Jones family’s property.

Travis’s death made him succeed.

Before Travis’s sudden death, others never thought that Travis would die so quickly.

In addition to the Jones family, the outside world also began to spread the Jones family's gossip. Once the rumors spread, it would be like water that was poured out and could not be taken back.

Many friends called him and asked if Travis was really dead and if he was about to inherit the Jones family's business.

At this moment, Emilio felt uneasy and panicked.

Only then did he realize that it was right for his father to call him incompetent.

He sent a message to Avery to seek some comfort.

But Avery didn't understand his mood at all, she just wanted to know Sasha's whereabouts.

"Emilio, your father is dead, will you take over MH Medicine in the future?"

Avery heard the unease in his tone, "Has his will been announced?"

"No. I just found out that my father is dead. I haven't told anyone yet. But everyone else has already guessed that my dad is dead." Emilio clenched the phone tightly with his fingers, "Now everyone is staring at the Jones family..."

"Don't be afraid. You should contact your father's lawyer first, and then notify other siblings. After the will is made public, life will continue." Avery said, and the conversation changed, "Emilio, I hope that after you take over MH Medicine, immediately stop your father's new project before his death."

Emilio: "My father may not necessarily give me the company."

"Then you go to contact your father's lawyer. Let's see how the will is made."

Avery calmly said, "You can get in touch. Norah?"

Emilio: "No. Norah must have done this. I'm waiting for Norah to contact me."

After Avery heard his words, a thought suddenly flashed in her mind: "Norah is also Travis's daughter. Right?"

After Avery said these words, Emilio immediately understood what Avery was going to say next.

Chapter 2274

“Do you think Norah will come to fight with me for the family property?” Emilio asked this question.

Avery pondered for a while, and said, “Based on what I know about Norah, I think she will find a way to win Travis’s inheritance. She can find a way to kill Travis, and her methods are far beyond your imagination.”

Emilio’s mood was a little nervous and flustered. After Avery said this, Emilio’s heart beat faster.

“Emilio, are you afraid that you are not Norah’s opponent?” Avery said, “Don’t be afraid. If you are sure that your father is dead, then you should contact your father’s lawyer and strengthen security at the same time.”

“Well, how is your husband?” Emilio suppressed his unease and asked casually.

Avery: “He is recovering well and has started working from home.”

“It seems that Margaret’s resurrection technique is really a scam.” Emilio sneered.

“If it exists, why should I overthrow it? What really exists is not something that can disappear if I want to overthrow it. Emilio, don’t be like your father, doing anything to make money won’t go long.” Avery advised.

“Let’s take one step at a time!” Emilio remembered the mess left by his father, and his head was big.

“Well. If you need help in the future, feel free to contact me. I will do my best to help you.” Avery said, “As long as you are not like your father, we are still friends.”

“If my father didn’t give me the inheritance, would we still be friends?” Emilio said sarcastically.

Avery: "Do you think I'm your friend because of how much you are worth? I told you, you helped me, I remembered."

"Got it." Emilio said and hung up the phone.

Emilio looked at the screen of his mobile phone. In the family group, someone was chatting.

first Sister: [Emilio, is there any news from the police? My father has been missing for two days. I'm afraid it's bad luck!]

Second Sister: [Emilio, did our father's lawyer contact you? Or does he have to wait for you to contact him before he announces his father's will?]

third Sister: [Emilio, father has been out of contact for two days, he must have an accident. You don't have to be afraid of him anymore!]

Fourth Sister: [Have all the sisters returned to Bridgedale? I'm still abroad! I bought a ticket back home, but the weather was bad and the flight was canceled! If the lawyer publishes the will, you must make a video call with me! I don't believe that Dad didn't leave anything for our sisters.]

Emilio watched their chat, and after deliberation, he sent a message: [When you are free, let's meet!]

Usually they never met in private.

They only met at family banquets during the New Year's and festive seasons.

Now that the father who maintained their relationship was gone, there was no need to maintain the superficial affection between them.

Sister: [I am free at any time.]

Second Sister: [I will go to Bridgedale in the afternoon. How about meeting at night?]

Third Sister: [Not tonight! I can go back tomorrow. tomorrow!]

Emilio: [Then tomorrow!]

Caleb Jones, who had not been in the group for a long time, suddenly appeared: [Is father really dead?]

Sister: [Caleb, you finally appeared! Father is probably dead. You can still use your phone now, are you not stupid at all? I miss working with you so much!]

Second Sister: [Even if Brother Caleb is fine, Dad definitely didn't leave any inheritance to Brother Caleb, right? After all, Brother Caleb made his father so angry before.]

Third Sister: [Oh, what you said, I really want to know how Dad's will was made.]

...

After Emilio glanced at the messages in the group, he turned off the group messages.

Like his siblings, he wanted to know how his father's will was made.

Chapter 2275

He found the contact information of his father's lawyer and dialed the phone.

The other party answered the phone quickly.

After Emilio explained his father's situation, the other party said: "I really can't contact your father these two days. We usually contact every day."

"He should be killed, but the body is unknown. I called the police yesterday.

Now, the police are searching, and I don't know if they can find his body."

Emilio told his decision, "If I still can't find it today, I plan to send more people to find it."

"Well, Emilio, your condolences. The death of your father was too sudden.

But... Pardon me for saying something that shouldn't be said, don't be too sad, because your time has come." The lawyer's words were actually very obvious, "Let's have a cup of tea together when you are free!"

"Okay." Emilio heard the meaning of the lawyer's words, "I am free at any time now, I will come to you and invite you to have tea.”

The lawyer: “Okay, I’m waiting for you.”

A high-end hotel.

Norah was wearing a burgundy silk nightgown, sitting in front of the vanity mirror and putting on makeup.

After Travis’s death, Norah slept in the presidential suite for two days.

In the past few days of fleeing, she hadn’t had a good night’s sleep.

Now that Travis was dead, no one would hunt her down again.

She slept well and had enough to eat. After putting on makeup, she planned to go out to get some air and started implementing her next plan by the way.

After checking the makeup on her face, she put on her coat, slung her bag, took her mobile phone, and put on her shoes to go out.

When she went out, she turned on her phone.

She got a new phone and a new phone number and there were only a few people’s numbers on this phone number.

Although there were not many contacts, she still turned off her mobile phone during the two days off.

The moment the phone was turned on, her mother Madelyn’s missed calls and messages popped up.

Norah called her mother back: “Mom, didn’t I tell you that I would take a twoday break? Why are you calling me?”

Madelyn’s laughter came first: “I and your dad want to find you. You have suffered a lot these days, and we are worried about you.”

“Don’t come to me yet. I haven’t done anything yet! But you can go back to Aryadelle.” Norah said, “Travis must have given to Emilio all his property. I have seen Emilio, a playboy, and he has no ability at all! How could I allow him to take such a big advantage by himself?”

“Norah, don’t underestimate the enemy! We finally have a stable life, Although there is no money, at least you don’t have to worry about being hunted down... or just accept it as soon as you see it!” Madelyn advised.

“Mom, I’m not reconciled. I’ve already killed Travis, and now I only need to deal with a mere area of Emilio, I’m sure there’s no problem.” Norah is full of confidence, “And, I will definitely not come forward by myself, I will find someone elseLike this time Travis was killed, what does it have to do with me?”

Madelyn: “Hmm! You must be careful.”

“Mom, thank you for helping me this time.” Norah thanked Madelyn.

The woman who went to assassinate Travis this time was recommended by her mother.

The woman who was abandoned by Travis formed a group, and the women in it all hated Travis.

And the woman who assassinated Travis this time was the one who hated Travis the most in the group.

Norah explained her plan to that woman through the introduction of her mother. Without a second thought, the woman immediately joined her plan.

“Norah, why did you tell me thank you. I know you’re not willing to be mediocre, so just do what you want to do next!” Madelyn said, “By the way, have you met that Sasha?”

Chapter 2276

Norah’s eyes flickered and she said, “No. Sasha is very suspicious and doesn’t trust me very much.”

Before this plan, Norah made numerous calls to Sasha’s number, sent numerous text messages, and She transferred countless sums of money to the bank card number she provided earlier.

Perhaps it was her money that moved Sasha.

Sasha texted her back a few days ago.

Norah also thought of a way to assassinate Travis after Sasha replied to her.

Sasha's number on her original phone was not the real Sasha's number.

Just a bait.

Others didn't know Sasha's real number, so Travis had no way of obtaining evidence.

It was precisely because of this that the plan could be so smooth and successful.

Travis exhausted his organs and finally lost.

This gave Norah great confidence.

"Sasha said that if I could share the Jones family's property, she would consider meeting me." Norah continued, "I don't have the Tate Industries now, and I don't have a decent job. She thinks that I have no value in dealing with me. She is very realistic and very cautious. She is even more cautious than Travis. Travis was self-righteous, but Sasha is not."

"After all, Sasha has no power or money." Madelyn said, "Does she know Haze's whereabouts? "

Norah: "Sasha wouldn't reveal it. She just told me to get Travis's estate and then contact her."

"Norah, you don't need to find Haze's whereabouts. Didn't you do something for Elliot? He hurt you. Being chased and killed by Travis, it is your fate that you survive. You and Elliot have already settled. There is no need for you to find a daughter for him!" Madelyn didn't want the woman to have any more relationship with Elliot, "If you can Getting some of Travis's property will be enough for you to have food and clothing for the rest of your life.”

Norah had her own considerations: “I’m looking for Haze, of course not to complete Elliot, but for myself. Mom, have you seen a news? Many years ago, Elliot spent billions to find the whereabouts of his sister Shea. Although all relevant news was deleted later, since Elliot said such words, he must be able to afford so much money.”

Madelyn immediately understood what her daughter meant.

Norah wanted to find Haze before Elliot and the others, and then trade with Elliot.

“I’m still saying that, be careful.” Madelyn urged, “Money is more important than life. But For people like us who don’t have a background, wealth is a risk.”

“I know. Wait for me. I will let you know when there is progress.” Norah said and hung up the phone.

...

The other side.

Emilio met his father’s lawyer.

The two sat down in the private room of a teahouse and drank tea.

Chapter 2277

After the lawyer sat down, he looked at Emilio with a smile in his eyes, “I should call you Mr. Jones in the future.”

When the lawyer usually saw Emilio, he called him ‘Second Young Master’ just like everyone else.

Emilio did not expect lawyers to be so direct.

“Lawyer Lake, did my father really leave an estate to me?”

Emilio couldn’t believe it, so he asked, “My father always said that I was not able to work, and would rather donate all his property than leave it to his children...”

“Haha! That’s what your father said. If he doesn’t say that, how can he encourage you to work hard?”

Lawyer Lake did not immediately tell him the contents of his will, “Your father has a rather eccentric temper. A little bit, you should feel the same, right?”

“Well. My father never praised me. But my eldest sister said that My father praised me privately.

I didn’t expect that it was after his death that I found out that he praised me.”

Emilio brewed tea and said helplessly, “To be honest, I don’t feel how incompetent I am, because my father told me that I was incompetent day after day, which caused me to stop believing in myself many times. “

“I understand your feelings. That’s why I said on the phone that your time has come.

No one will point fingers at you in the future. You can show your skills.”

Lawyer Lake said, “When your father was alive, In fact, every day he was hesitant about how to divide his property.”

“I can imagine how entangled he is. He often says that he should donate all his property.

The more he said that, the more he was reluctant to donate it all.”

Emilio answered, “And he didn’t have any feelings for his own children. We were all just pawns in his hands.”

“Your father told you to donate it, but he didn’t say that to me.

He’s not someone who completely disregards blood ties. Although he made so much money to show his own ability, he certainly didn’t want to see his children and grandchildren suffer miserably.”

“You said my father very well. Maybe he was different in front of outsiders and his own children.” Emilio would not lie to compliment because his father left him an inheritance.

Lawyer Lake: “Maybe! Your father gave me the same feeling as other rich people except for being suspicious. Most rich people are suspicious.”

Emilio: “Well.”

“You may be suspicious of your father, but there is no specific.” Lawyer Lake said with a smile, “Your father contacted me every day.”

“You said this just now. But I didn’t take it seriously.” Emilio looked at Lawyer Lake, “Why did my father wanted to contact you every day?”

Lawyer Lake lowered his voice and said, “Because he had to revise his will every day.”

Emilio: “...”

“It’s not that I’m exaggerating, it’s true. Yes, he took time to talk to me every day about you and your siblings.” Lawyer Lake said, “Before your elder brother made a mistake, your father valued your elder brother the most. Because he has a good working ability. Since he worked, he has given to your father a lot of money. But after he made a mistake, your father completely removed him from the list of heirs. So your elder brother won’t get a dime of inheritance.”

Emilio was not surprised by this.

“Let’s talk about your eldest sister, your dad used to consider giving your eldest sister some of the property. Because your eldest sister’s working ability is not bad. It’s just that after her marriage, she was not in good order in her private life, and it was revealed that she was messing with Jayce Grewal, which led to disharmony with her husband, and finally ended in divorce. After your eldest sister divorced, she fell in love with Jayce Grewal, who was not in the right household, and your father was very angry. Your father's legacy.”

Emilio was very surprised when he heard this.

“My eldest sister is not at fault except for falling in love with a younger man. How many girlfriends does my dad have? Compared with him, what kind of love history does she have?” Although Emilio had no relationship with the eldest sister, but he felt that it was somewhat outrageous that his father did not give anything to the eldest sister because of such a trivial matter.

“You are his children, he can ask you to do things according to his ideas, but you can't ask him. This is his idea.” Lawyer Lake told Emilio Travis's attitude.

“But if my eldest brother and eldest sister don't share a penny of property, aren't others even less qualified?” Emilio analyzed rationally, “Only me and eldest brother and eldest sister work in Jones's company, and the others do not serve the Jones family at all. “

“Actually, it can't be calculated as you said. After all, you are not your father's employees, but children. Other children, as long as they don't make big mistakes, can get a little soup. Your elder brother and elder sister, If they don't work at Jones's house, maybe they can get some points!”

Lawyer Lake explained.

Emilio felt ironic. Just like his father's life, it's like a farce.

“Emilio, you are lucky.” Lawyer Lake changed the subject and looked at him with the eyes of an elder, “Your father left you almost all of his property. Why do I say you are lucky, because you happened to bring Jones family back at that time. Norah's mobile phone has contacted Sasha, which makes your father very satisfied. So when your father revised his will for the last time, he gave you almost all the property. He originally planned to give you not so much property.”

Emilio: “...”

His heart went up and down with Lawyer Lake’s words, which was very exciting.

If what Lawyer Lake said is true, then he is really lucky enough.

If the last time his father revised his will was when he had made him angry, he might have gotten nothing.

This thing was really incredible and unpredictable.

After all, who knew that Travis revised his will every day?

This was more exciting than stock trading! Kind of like opening a blind box.

“You may not have imagined that your father originally considered giving Norah an inheritance. He said that Norah is the one with the most similar character among all his children.” Lawyer Lake continued to share Travis’s gossip with Emilio, “Your father likes Norah very much. He may not show it to you, but he told me that privately.”

“Actually, his behavior was quite obvious.” Emilio replied, “At least I could see it at the time. The tone of my father’s speech to Norah was different from the way he looked at Norah, and it was a pity that Norah was offended at the time. If Norah didn’t offend Elliot and didn’t seek asylum to find my father, the outcome might be different.”

“It’s all fate. You’re the best of all Mr. Jones’s children.” Lawyer Lake said firmly, “When do you think the will will be announced?”

“I’ll talk to the other brothers and sisters tomorrow. Don’t worry about releasing the will. Let’s wait until the body of my father is found!” Emilio was a little excited now and needed to calm down.

At the same time, he also needed to make follow-up deployments.

Travis’s inheritance had been given to him, and he must keep his inheritance from being taken away by Norah and others.

After meeting with Lawyer Lake, Emilio returned to his residence under the escort of bodyguards.

When he got home, he walked around the living room excitedly.

The joy on his face was undisguised, and the mood he wanted to share was uncontrollable.

Most of the friends around him were wine and meat friends, and it was not suitable for them to talk about such important things.

Avery's face naturally appeared in his mind.

Avery said that she regarded him as a friend. Now he especially wanted to share this happy event with Avery.

But Aryadelle was late at night, so it's not suitable to disturb Avery.

In the evening.

Norah invited Camila Jones, the elder sister of the Jones family, to meet.

Camila didn't want to meet Norah at first. After all, Norah helped Elliot deceive his father of $14 billion, and it didn't take long.

For someone like Norah, who had the scheming and shrewdness, and dared to put things into action, Camila felt that she couldn't afford to offend her.

Chapter 2279

Even if Travis was gone, Camila didn't dare to associate with her.

But Norah said on the phone that she wanted to talk to her about the division of the inheritance, which made Camila unable to hold back and went out to make an appointment.

.....

Aryadelle.

Foster family.

Avery and Elliot were sitting at the dining table for breakfast.

Avery opened the phone and took a look.

A news about New Year's Day popped up.

These days, she had been with Elliot at home, and she had no idea what day had passed.

She thought that New Year's Day would take a few days to arrive, but the news pop-up window made her realize that it would be New Year's Day in half a month.

"Elliot, it's almost New Year's Day." Avery put down her phone and chatted with Elliot, "Do you feel that when you're not working, life goes by so fast?"

Elliot wanted to go along with her, but he didn't want to lie, "I work every day. So it's not particularly deep."

Since Avery allowed Elliot to use the computer, Elliot had been working every day.

"Okay, it seems that I have to arrange some work for myself." Avery envied him for adjusting his life to a normal track so quickly, "Aren't you dizzy?"

Elliot thought about this question and answered honestly: "When I was just discharged from the hospital, I occasionally felt pain at the location of the wound.

But I didn't feel dizzy."

"You are in good health.

If someone else is like you, and two stabs are on the head, the mental state is definitely not as good as yours." Avery continued to envy him.

"I recovered so well, mainly because you took good care of me." Elliot didn't forget to praise her, "If you hadn't been at home with me every day, I would have not recovered so well."

“It has nothing to do with me in your recovery.” Avery analyzed rationally, “You have a good physique and recover quickly, but I can’t help you much.”

“If you weren’t at home with me, I would have gone to work long ago.

Going to work every day and running back and forth will definitely not be as good as it is now.” Elliot explained to her from another angle.

Avery looked at him in shock: “Elliot, if it weren’t for me, would you really go to work in your situation?”

“Yeah.

Although I haven’t had a craniotomy before, I’ve also had a serious car accident.

At that time, I became a vegetative person and almost died in bed, have you forgotten?” Elliot’s tone was light, and the words ‘almost died in bed’ came out of his mouth, as if he was not breaking through the gate of h-e-l-l, but playing an adventure game.

“Are you proud? You had a car accident, but you didn’t wake up immediately.”

Avery teased.

“What I mean is that if I didn’t die in the beginning, I must have good luck.”

Elliot talked eloquently, “It’s just a craniotomy.

Compared with my original injury, it’s nothing at all.”

Avery was also dreaming.

Unexpectedly, she could hear from Elliot’s mouth the words ‘If I don’t die, I will have good luck’.

Avery: “A lot of people who do evil, probably think like this.”

“Think more about the good.” Elliot picked up the milk cup and took a sip of milk, “If I’m not feeling well, I’ll definitely rest at home.

I’m not stupid.”

Avery can't help laughing: "I saw the news just now that many people are going to temples to pray for the New Year.

This year seems to have done a lot, and it seems that nothing has been done, and it will pass in a flash."

Elliot heard what she meant: "Do you also want to go to the temple to pray for blessings? Let me go with you!"

Avery shook her head without hesitation: "You can't drive up to that temple. You have to climb up.

First of all, this is not suitable for you.

Second, people on the mountain are too many, and it is not suitable for you to go."

"Then I will accompany you to the foot of the mountain, and you can climb up by yourself.

I will wait for you at the foot of the mountain, okay?" Elliot wanted to accompany her out.

Even just looking at the scenery outside was better than staying at home all day.

Avery hesitated for a while, but in the end, unable to resist the powerful thoughts in her heart, so she nodded.

Chapter 2280

Bridgedale.

Norah waited in the restaurant for about half an hour before the eldest sister Camila.

Camila was not late on purpose.

"The road is blocked! I forgot to tell you that the restaurant you chose has a very average taste.

Don't look at it as if it's popular, it's all because of its good location.

Even if you open a pancake stand here, the business will be booming..."

Camila said, and sat down in the chair.

"I live near here, so I chose this one." Norah explained with a smile, "Eldest sister, Travis is dead, has Emilio ever looked for you?"

Camila's expression froze slightly: "Who told you about Travis's death? Didn't he find the body yet? Emilio didn't look for me.

After all, my father's body hasn't been found yet..."

"Hahaha! Emilio already knew that Travis was dead." Norah laughed, "It's just that he didn't tell you."

Camila's face changed suddenly, and a burst of anger floated up: "How do you know that our father is dead? How did you know that Emilio knows about this?"

"I'm telling you this, in fact it's useless.

Based on Travis's attitude towards you during his lifetime, it is estimated that he will not give you any property." Norah gave her a crit, "Don't you still have expectations?"

"Norah, you invite me out, just to hit me with these words?" Camila's face turned purple.

Norah looked at her with time: "Eldest sister, I just told the truth, you can't take it anymore? If it really hits you, won't you go crazy?"

Camila's chest heaved rapidly.

Her breathing also became hot: "Norah, don't call me eldest sister! the sound is disgusting!"

"Then Emilio calls you eldest sister, don't you feel disgusted? Travis is dead, Emilio is the biggest beneficiary.

Believe it or not, Travis may have given all his property to Emilio alone?

Travis prefers sons to daughters, this matter Everyone knows it, you don't know it, right?" Norah picked up the kettle on the table and poured tea and gave it to Camila, "Eldest sister, drink some tea to reduce the fire."

Why didn't Camila know that her father was a lot of boy and young girl, why didn't she know that her father didn't like her, maybe she really didn't give her anything?

It's just that she didn't want to think her father was so heartless!

After graduating, she joined Jones's family to work.

In her last marriage, she followed her father's arrangement and married a man she didn't like.

Even if the new boyfriend she found later made her father dissatisfied, her father wouldn't leave her a penny, right?

"Norah, you said my father died, where did you get the news?" Camila calmed down a little after taking a sip of water.

"Because I know where Travis's body is.

As long as I want, I can expose his body at any time." A smug smile appeared on Norah's face, "I dare to appear in public today, which is the best proof."

Camila's face turned pale with fright: "You killed my father!"

"If he doesn't die, I have to die.

Eldest sister, can't you understand such a simple thing? He is not only your dad, but also my dad.

If he didn't want me to die, how could I kill him?"

Camila took a deep breath and accepted this terrible truth.

"Eldest sister, do you want to verify what I just said?" Norah said calmly,

"Travis must have given all the inheritance to Emilio.

And Emilio has probably asked Travis's lawyer.

Emilio must know everything now.

But he didn't tell you.

I guess he's thinking about how to keep these inheritances."

Camila: "How to verify? If Emilio is killed and doesn't say anything, is it possible that I can pry his mouth open?"

Norah: "As long as I disclose Travis's body, you can go to Travis's lawyer?"

Camila suddenly realized: "Where is my father's body?"

"Eldest sister, don't you think that I asked you out for food? Shall we drink tea?" Norah chuckled softly, "If Travis didn't share the inheritance with you, are you going to grit your teeth and admit the grievance, or come with me and find a way to get back what belongs to us from Emilio? "

Chapter 2281

Camila hardly hesitated: "If you have a way to help me get an inheritance from Emilio, I will definitely be with you."

Norah: "First of all, I'm not too full to panic, so I want to help you.

I can try to help you get as much inheritance as possible, but we will get half of the inheritance."

"You are also Travis's daughter, so you can fight for it yourself?" Camila asked.

Norah: "Yes.

But I can't win much.

After all, I don't live by Travis's side."

Camila: "I see.

If so, I can appeal by myself, I don't need you to help me..."

"Hahaha! Do you think Emilio is a vegetarian? You hire a lawyer, but Emilio won't hire a lawyer? Emilio gets so much property, he can hire the best lawyer in the world.

You are sure to rely on your brain, can you win the lawsuit? If you are really that powerful, will you be held down by Emilio all the time?” Norah laughed mercilessly, “If you want to fight alone, please do it! I can also find other people.

There are so many Travis’s Children, there must be someone willing to cooperate with me.”

Camila lost all confidence in being beaten.

Norah looked at her frustrated look and continued: “If you don’t believe me, then treat me as if I didn’t say anything.

Just keep waiting for Emilio to contact you! Let’s see when he will find you.”

Camila: “Norah, it’s not that I don’t believe you.

You can kill Travis, which is beyond my expectations.

Your ability is the strongest among all our brothers and sisters.

I believe that if you fight for inheritance, you will definitely win.

Let me think about it! I’ll see how the will is made first.”

“Yes! You will know the answer tomorrow.” Norah showed a satisfied smile.

Aryadelle.

After Avery and Elliot had breakfast, Avery walked to the door and looked at the weather outside.

The weather was not very good today, there was a long mist outside.

Looking at the white mist in front of her, Avery was a little shaken.

They could choose to go out when the weather was good.

“The fog will dissipate at noon.

When the car reaches the foot of the mountain, there may be no fog.” Elliot took a scarf and wrapped it around him, “Let’s go!”

Avery: "You also bring a scarf!"

"Don't you want to climb the mountain with me?" Elliot said, "If you allow me to climb the mountain..."

"Of course I won't allow you to climb the mountain." Avery took his arm and went out with him, "There are a lot restaurant at the foot of the mountain. You can find a restaurant to stay there.

It's a bit cold outside, don't be foolish to blow the air-conditioning outside."

Elliot: "Well."

The two went out.

After an hour's drive, the car stopped at the foot of the mountain.

There was a commercial parking lot on the ground with full of cars.

At a glance, there were people preparing to go up the mountain to pray for blessings.

"Why don't you change a temple! It's the same wherever you pray." Elliot didn't want Avery to crowd with so many people, for fear of accidents.

"There seems to be a temple nearby.

It's not so well-known, and there should be fewer people."

Chapter 2282

"Where is it? I only know this temple." Avery was also frightened by the crowd in front of her.

"I searched the map before going out. Another temple is about ten kilometers away. It's a quick drive." Elliot discussed with her, "Why don't you go to another temple!"

"There are indeed too many people. It is estimated that there are more people on the mountain." Avery fastened her seat belt again and asked,

"What is the name of the temple you mentioned, I will search it on my mobile phone.”

Elliot: “It’s called G-Temple.”

“I seem to have heard the name of this temple.” Avery turned on her phone and typed the temple name into the browser.

Elliot: “It seems to be a nunnery.”

He checked the temple.

G-Temple has a history of more than 100 years. At first, this temple had a heyday like the very famous temple they were going to go to. Later, it gradually became lonely and turned into a nunnery.

Moreover, the G-Temple only accepted female pilgrims, which also leads to the fact that there were not as many people there to offer incense and pray for blessings as the temple just now.

“Well, G-Temple used to be a very big temple. Later, except for the name of the temple, all the internal staff changed. It’s a huge change.” Avery searched for relevant information on the Internet, and said The temple is full of curiosity, “This way I don’t have to worry about you secretly following me up the mountain.”

Elliot: “How do you know that I plan to secretly go up the mountain with you?”

“You have to come out with me, or just want to come out to play?” Avery glared at him, “If it’s still early after I go down the mountain, we can go outside for a walk.”

Elliot: “Let’s talk about it when you go down the mountain and have energy! It’s not easy to climb the mountain.”

Avery: “Okay! We can also wait for the weather to get better before going out for a walk.”

“Do you think I’m no different from a normal person?” Elliot asked with a serious face.

Avery: "I'm afraid you'll panic. After all, staying at home every day is a bit boring. If the weather is good this weekend, we'll take the children to go shopping for the New Year's goods."

Elliot: "Is it a little early to buy the New Year's goods now?"

"Otherwise, what? Our family lacks everything." Avery was a little tangled.

Elliot: "Then I'll listen to you! The children should enjoy shopping for New Year's goods."

...

About 20 minutes later, the car stopped at the foot of another mountain.

After Avery got out of the car, she first found a restaurant for Elliot to rest.

Avery: "You wait for me here. When I go down the mountain, we can eat here before leaving."

"Well, the fog has cleared up a lot now." Elliot looked at the scenery outside and said, "Go up the mountain! Come back quickly. I'll wait for you here."

"Okay." Avery and the bodyguard came out of the restaurant.

Elliot watched her back go away, and then took his eyes back.

"Boss, do you want to go too?" Elliot's bodyguard stayed in the restaurant to protect Elliot.

Elliot: "What do you think?"

"I'll carry you up the mountain." The bodyguard's eyes were firm, and his tone was even more firm.

Elliot: "..."

"Although I can't carry you up the mountain in one breath, I can continue to carry you up the mountain after a short rest. I can definitely carry you up the mountain." The bodyguard continued to describe the feasibility of this matter.

Elliot: "You might as well find two people to carry me up the mountain, it may be safer."

The bodyguard: "Okay, I'll find the bearer now!"

Chapter 2283

Elliot grabbed him: "I was mocking you just now, I didn't say I wanted to go up the mountain."

The bodyguard returned to his seat and sat down with a look of embarrassment: "I thought you really wanted to go up the mountain."

"I really want to go up the mountain. But that temple doesn't accept men. So I can't go to Avery when I go up the mountain. I might as well just wait here."

Elliot said calmly, "Even if I can enter the temple and Avery sees me going up the mountain, she will definitely be angry. Going out, I don't want to make her angry."

The bodyguard said casually, "Boss, what are you afraid of her doing, she is just a woman..."

"Do you not want to do it anymore?" Elliot looked sharp Looking at the bodyguard, "you have been following me for a long time."

"Boss, I... what I want to do! I was wrong! You really have to listen to what Miss Tate says! Miss Tate is all for your own good!" The bodyguard immediately reflected and admitted his mistake.

"Is she just Miss Tate?" Elliot looked at him with seemingly gentle but sharp eyes.

"Old, lady boss!" The bodyguard corrected.

Elliot: "In the future, I will not only listen to her, but you must also listen to her."

"Good boss! I remember it! If the boss tells you not to go out in the future, but you insist on going out, I should listen to the boss, or you. What?" The bodyguard threw this conundrum.

Elliot was stumped.

After struggling for a while, Elliot said with difficulty: "Let's listen to her! Everything is based on her happiness, remember?"

"Okay, I remember. You also need to remember what you said now, Don't let me help her, you blame me..." The bodyguard gave him a vaccination in advance.

Elliot picked up the water glass and took a sip, but didn't answer.

What Elliot said was like poured water, could he take it back?

On the mountain.

Avery arrived at G-Temple smoothly.

The bodyguards waited outside the entrance, and Avery entered the temple alone.

The mountain was relatively clean, and there were not too many pilgrims.

Avery came today mainly to pray for the health and safety of the whole family, no disease or disaster, and a smooth and prosperous life.

After the incense was over, Avery asked the staff next to her if she could walk around in the yard.

Because the building of this temple was relatively grand and atmospheric, and the whole temple looked very big, and the scenery on the mountain was relatively beautiful, it was difficult to come up, so see if she could take a stroll.

The staff told Avery to walk around, but not to take pictures.

After she agreed, she walked around the yard.

There were also other tourists hanging out in the yard, and there were dedicated staff to explain them.

Avery followed behind them and rubbed off on the staff's explanation.

"Our temple is funded by charities to maintain daily expenses, so we don't have tickets here, and incense is free. If you want to donate, I need to ask us to host." The staff said to the tourists around, "We are here. The girls we adopted all live with us, and are also funded by charities. I haven't heard of the need to accept social donations. If you really want to help these girls, you can donate materials."

Avery heard this, she couldn't help but ask curiously, "Are there any adopted girls here?"

The staff looked at Avery and replied, "Yes. They are all children who were abandoned at the gate of our temple. Most of them have congenital diseases. There are also a few healthy children.

"Children." Avery couldn't help but ask: "How many children have you adopted? If you need supplies, I can also donate them."

The staff: "At present, there are thirty-two girls adopted by our temple."

"I didn't expect G-Temple to have such a touching act of kindness. I have never seen reports on the news before." Avery sighed, "Can you take me to see those girls? I want to do my best to help them."

Chapter 2284

The staff hesitated.

At this time, other tourists also said: "Please take us to see! Those children may welcome us! We also want to help them, and they will definitely not hate us."

The staff: "Okay! I'll show you guys."

The staff took them to a building at the back of the temple.

As they approached, they could hear the voice of the little girl playing.

“Some of the school-age children went to the school at the foot of the mountain. Those who stay in the temple now are all children who are not fit for school or children who have not yet reached school age.” The master walked in front and introduced to everyone.

“School children, do you go up and down the mountain by yourself every day?” Avery asked.

“Yes. We take turns to pick them up every day. But they also need to climb the mountain by themselves. It is harder for them to go to school than the children down the mountain. Like in winter, they have to get up and go down the mountain before dawn.” The master explained.

Avery just climbed up the mountain and felt a little tired. It was hard to imagine that such a small child had to climb up and down every day.

Avery: “Why don’t the children who can go to school normally go to the local welfare home?”

“The welfare home cannot accept so many children at one time. Besides, the children are used to staying in the temple and are unwilling to leave here.”

The master explained, “There were pilgrims who wanted to adopt our children before, but the children didn’t want to, and we wouldn’t force it.”

Avery was very moved: “It must be because the masters are very kind to the children, so the children are reluctant to leave. Here.”

Chatting and chatting, they came to the area where the children lived and played.

There were about a dozen children, under the care of a staff member, some played games, some played by themselves with small toys, and some children lied on the ground and watched the little ants in the cracks of the bricks.

The children saw that the tourists who came together immediately walked up to a little girl.

“You are Lilly, right? Lilly, you are so cute! And you’re so brave! Auntie brought you a toy...” Avery looked at Lilly and was shocked.

This child had white hair and fair skin...

“Master, does Lilly have albinism?” Avery immediately asked.

“Yes. Her disease cannot be cured. Before, pilgrims came to take pictures of Lilly and posted them on the Internet, so people often came to see her.”

Master explained, “She is four years old and should have gone to school. But we don’t worry about her going down the mountain to go to school, and she doesn’t want to go down the mountain. So we let her stay in the temple, and we usually teach her some basic knowledge.”

Avery looked at that little girl like an angel and moved with compassion...

There was currently no effective treatment for albinism.

And the care of people with albinism was also very important. A little careless, the patient might have problems.

“Master, can I take her down the mountain to the hospital? Even if she can’t be cured, I will try my best to keep her in a healthy state. I will ask someone to take care of her and let her go to school for education. Many people come to see her because of her illness, and I don’t think it’s a good thing.” Avery wanted the child to have a better environment, and even wanted her to live a normal child’s life.

The Master was a little embarrassed: “There are many people who want to adopt her because of her rare disease.”

“Master, I understand your concerns. I will talk to Lilly later, if she wants me to help her, I will take her down the mountain. If she doesn’t want to, I will never force it.”

The Master: "In addition to Lilly, we have to agree to this matter. But you need to get Lilly's consent first! Lilly may not go with you."

...

A cool breeze blows past, and leaves fall with the wind.

A little girl was lying outside the door, her bright, dark eyes staring at the picture in the room.

Inside was her good friend Lilly.

The unfamiliar Auntie beside Lilly didn't know what she was talking to Lilly.

Chapter 2285

The little girl really wanted to go in and listen, but her mother-in-law pulled her and wouldn't let her in.

"Mother-in-law, what is that Auntie talking to Lilly?" The little girl who spoke was called Siena.

Siena was more than three years old, but she did not go to kindergarten.

"Mother-in-law can't hear it. You can ask Lilly later." Mother-in-law was about sixty years old, her hair was all gray, but she was very shrewd.

"That Auntie wants to take Lilly down the mountain. She wants to adopt Lilly."

The tourist who came with Avery just now stood behind the old and young and interjected.

Siena heard the words, and her little face was full of sadness.

She was reluctant to leave Lilly leaves here.

If Lilly left, then Siena would never have such a good friend in the future.

In addition to being reluctant to leave the little leaves, Siena was also a little envious of the little leaves.

The Auntie who was talking to Lilly in the room looked so gentle. If Lilly leaves with her, she should be nice to Lilly, right?

Siena thought of this, and her eyes suddenly became moist.

She reached out and rubbed her eyes.

“Little girl, what’s your name? You are so beautiful, and someone will definitely adopt you.” The tourists cried when they saw Siena, and immediately used adult thinking to speculate on the child’s mind.

The mother-in-law immediately picked up Siena and rolled her eyes at the tourists: “She is my treasure, don’t even think about it!”

The mother-in-law quickly left with Siena in her arms.

Siena was reluctant to leave Lilly, so she asked her mother-in-law to take herself to Master.

The master touched Siena’s head: “Siena, that Auntie doesn’t want to adopt Lilly. She wants to take Lilly down the mountain for treatment. You also hope that Lilly can be cured, right?”

Siena held back her tears and whispered, “Can that Auntie really cure Lilly’s disease?”

“I don’t know. But that Auntie is a very famous doctor. I chatted with the host just now, and the host agreed that Lilly will go down the mountain with that Auntie.”

“Ugh... If Lilly and Auntie leave, will I never see Lilly again?” Siena’s crying little shoulder twitched. Shaking, very sad, “What’s the name of Auntie? If I want to find Lilly in the future, then I can only go to that Auntie...”

“Auntie’s name is Avery Tate. You don’t need to look for her, She will definitely bring Lilly back often in the future.” When Master said this, the expression of the mother-in-law standing beside her suddenly changed drastically.

To be precise, after hearing the words ‘Avery’, the expression on mother-inlaw’s face changed.

She picked up Siena again.

After the Master’s voice was settled, she hugged Siena and walked away quickly.

On the other side, after Avery chatted with Lilly for a while, Lilly agreed to go down the mountain with her to try.

If Lilly doesn't adapt to life under the mountain, Avery will send her back to G Temple.

"Then let's go down the mountain now!" Avery held Lilly's hand and said with a smile.

Lilly hesitated for a moment, then raised her head: "I'm going to tell Siena.

Otherwise, she will be anxious if she can't find me."

Avery: "Who is Siena?"

"She is my good friend. I play with her every day." Lilly said, let go of Avery's hand, and ran out of the room to find Siena.

Avery followed Lilly out and heard Lilly shout Siena's name loudly, but no one responded.

Chapter 2286

Is Siena not here?" Avery saw that Lilly's face turned red, but she couldn't get a response, and she felt distressed, "Siena may have gone somewhere else."

Lilly pouted, very puzzled: "We usually only play here. We won't run around."

"Is it possible that Siena is taking a nap?" Avery asked.

"I don't know either..." Lilly tugged at the hem of her clothes and walked towards the bedroom, "I still have to tell Siena, or she will definitely cry if she can't find me later. "

"Mmmm. I'll accompany you to find Siena." Avery patiently followed Lilly to the place where the girls slept.

It's a big room with many beds in it.

Avery glanced at the big room. The bed was kept neat and looked clean.

There were no children sleeping on the bed.

Siena was not there.

“Where did Siena go?” Lilly muttered, then turned and ran outside.

A master was standing at the door and stopped Lilly.

“Little Lilly, if you decide to go down the mountain with Aunt Tate, then go down the mountain as soon as possible! Siena already knows that you are going down the mountain, and she is very uncomfortable. Her mother-in-law took her elsewhere, you don’t have to look for her.” The master explained, “You remember, you have to come back often.”

Lilly’s eyes suddenly turned red.

The master was too afraid that Lilly would regret it, and immediately said to Avery: “Miss Tate, take her down the mountain! We will keep in touch at any time.”

“Okay. When I settle Lilly, I will contact you immediately.” Avery held Lilly’s little hand and led her away.

Not far away, Siena watched her good friend being taken away, and tears fell silently.

She wanted to call Lilly’s name very much, but the Master told her that Lilly was going down the mountain to get medical treatment.

She couldn’t influence Lilly to heal.

Bridgedale.

After Camila Jones and Norah Jones met, they returned home.

Camila was upset. If what Norah said was true, then she would definitely not get a dime of benefits.

She couldn’t accept the result.

How could her father be so heartless?

She worked in the MH Medicine, and only got the basic salary every month. Although she had a lot of bonuses at the end of the year, compared with other senior employees of the company, her income had no advantage. If her father did not give her any property, she would not have to continue to work in the MH medicine.

She felt wronged for herself, and she was not worth it!

After struggling for a while, she endured the anger in her stomach and dialed Emilio's number.

She just needed to call Emilio to test it out.

Emilio took a few seconds to answer the phone.

"Emilio, have you found Dad's body?" Camila asked.

"Not yet. If there is news, I will definitely notify you as soon as possible."

Emilio calmly replied.

"Oh... Have you met Dad's lawyer? Emilio, don't take me for a fool, okay? I heard that you met with Dad's lawyer." Camila was so angry because she was so angry Incoherent.

Emilio: "Eldest sister, who did you listen to?"

"Don't care who I listened to. If you ask me that, you must have really met a lawyer!" Camila took a deep breath, "It's agreed that tomorrow We met with Dad's lawyer together, but today you secretly met with the lawyer alone... Do you already know the contents of the will?"

Chapter 2287

Emilio: "I don't know the specific content of the will. Lawyer Lake met with me, just comforted me, and didn't bring out Dad's will."

"Oh... Lawyer Lake must be with you. Did you tell me what you can get?"

Camila said in a very sour tone, "I know you will definitely get a lot. Emilio, I just want to know one thing... Did Dad give me a little bit?"

Emilio didn't want to answer her question.

Emilio: "I don't know. Eldest sister, when the will is announced, you will naturally know."

"Haha! Emilio, shouldn't Dad give you all the inheritance?" Camila asked tentatively, "Do you know who told me this?"

Emilio was silent. He didn't know who said this to the eldest sister, but he could feel the anger of the eldest sister.

"Forget it, let's talk about it after seeing the lawyer tomorrow!" Camila hung up the phone. Instead of pinning her hopes on Emilio, it is better to cooperate with Norah.

At least Norah will explain things clearly, and Emilio hides and hides, she's afraid that even the broth is reluctant to give her a drink.

Aryadelle.

Elliot waited in the restaurant for nearly two hours.

During the period, he called Avery, but Avery didn't answer.

Elliot called the bodyguard who accompanied Avery up the mountain. The bodyguard said that Avery had entered the temple and had not come out.

The bodyguards couldn't force their way into the temple, so they had to wait.

Fortunately, after two hours of waiting, Avery finally descended the mountain safely and appeared in front of him.

Elliot was stunned when he saw the little girl beside Avery.

"Elliot, this little girl's name is Lilly." Avery explained to Elliot, "She has albinism. I want to take her for treatment."

Lilly wore a sun hat because she was photophobic and couldn't bask in the sun.

Her long white hair was tied back, and although she was wearing a hat, it was still very conspicuous.

Elliot had no opinion on Avery's kindness.

"Hello, Lilly. My name is Elliot Foster, you can just call me Uncle Foster." Elliot crouched down and greeted Lilly, "Are you hungry? Let's go eat first! We'll bring you after dinner. Go to the hospital, okay?"

When Lilly went down the mountain just now, she had heard Avery talk about Elliot and their children.

"Uncle Foster, will I trouble you very much?" Lilly said cautiously and sensible.

"How could it be? You won't bother us at all." In order to relax Lilly, Elliot stretched out his big palm to hold her small hand, and led her into the restaurant, "We will eat whatever you like."

Avery watched them enter the restaurant and breathed a sigh of relief.

"Boss, I didn't expect Mr. Foster to be so gentle with children." The bodyguard sighed.

"I'm also a little surprised. I know he won't object to me helping Lilly, but I didn't expect him to be so close to Lilly." Avery said, "Maybe Lilly is more cute!"

"Little Lilly is really cute. This is the first time I have seen a person with albinism. I didn't even know this disease existed before!" The bodyguard continued to sigh.

"There are many rare diseases in this world that we humans cannot overcome at present. There is still a lot of room for improvement in medicine."

Avery watched Lilly and Elliot sit down in the dining chairs and walked inside, "Let's go eat first. I'm a little hungry."

After lunch, they set off for the city.

Little Lilly fell asleep in the car.

“Avery, are you planning to adopt Lilly?” Elliot was embarrassed to discuss this issue in front of Lilly just now.

Avery: “I’m afraid I don’t have the energy to take care of her daily life. After all, I already have so many children myself. I plan to ask specialized medical staff to take care of her.”

“Well. Where does she live?” Elliot asked, “If not Live in our house, I can arrange another house for her. See where you want to arrange her.”

Chapter 2288

“Go to the hospital first and check her up. Where does she live? Let’s see later!” Avery glanced at Lilly, “Lilly is very good. And I have a special fate with her. Lilly said that there were people before. I wanted to take her away, but she refused. Today she saw me, and she was not so scared.”

“Well. If I can help her, it would be very meaningful. It’s really not safe for her to stay in that temple...” Elliot looked at her white hair and murmured, “It’s like a little angel.”

Avery: “Elliot, I thought you wouldn’t refuse, but you wouldn’t be too enthusiastic. You surprised me.”

“Am I so indifferent?” Elliot reflected, “Your impression of me is before I have children, right? After I have children, I have always been kind.”

The two bodyguards in the driver’s seat and the passenger seat almost couldn’t help laughing.

Avery stared at Elliot’s ‘handsome and kind’ face, and looked at it again and again: “I really should refresh my stereotype of you. I’ll take you home later.

You go home and have a rest. I’ll bring Lilly. Go to the hospital.”

“Aren’t you going to let the child rest for a day?” Elliot felt that there was no need to hurry, “Isn’t there no cure for her illness? And as long as she doesn’t get sick, she can live a normal life.”

Avery hesitated for a moment, decided to adopt Elliot’s suggestion: “Then take a rest today and take her to the hospital tomorrow.”

Elliot: “We will stay at our house tonight. Layla and Robert will definitely like Lilly when they see her.”

“Lilly will like Robert and Layla too.” Avery said this with a smile, and the smile on her face suddenly solidified.

Suddenly, she thought of Haze.

How happy would Layla and Robert be if she brought back Haze!

In the afternoon, Robert came home from school.

The little Robert was carrying a schoolbag and, as usual, followed the bodyguard slowly into the living room.

Before Robert could put on his slippers, he was first attracted by the little girl in the living room.

After Lilly came to the house in the afternoon, Mrs. Cooper liked her very much.

Not only did she find Robert’s new clothes to put on for her, but she also washed her hair.

After washing Lilly’s hair, her hair was draped over her shoulders.

A snow-white hair, elegant and supple, very eye-catching.

Avery took a hair clip from Layla’s room to clip Lilly’s hair, which was even more beautiful.

Robert was stunned when he saw Little girl.

This little girl with white hair looks like a little princess from a cartoon.

who is she? Why is she in her own home?

“Robert, look! Our family has a new friend.” Mrs. Cooper put down Robert’s schoolbag and led Robert to Lilly.

After Robert saw Lilly’s face clearly, she said in a daze, “Lilly, Lilly?”

Mrs. Cooper heard Robert most recently and heard it most genuinely.

After hearing Robert say the word ‘Lilly’, Mrs. Cooper was startled at first, then panicked.

“Robert, this is Lilly and she is older than you, you have to call her sister!”

Robert said with an ‘oh’, “I thought she was my sister!” After saying this,

Robert said again. Looking at his parents, he added, “I thought you guys got my sister Haze back!”

Avery gave a knowing blow.

Elliot was in a complicated mood.

Unexpectedly, Robert would think that Lilly is Haze.

“What’s your sister’s name?” Lilly asked Robert.

Chapter 2289

Robert looked at Lilly and replied, “My sister’s name is Layla. But I don’t know where she’s going.”

Lilly said ‘oh’: “I also have a younger sister, she is my good friend, her name is Siena.”

Robert looked at the hairpin on Lilly’s head and said, “Your hairpin is my sister’s hairpin. My sister may be angry when she sees you clipping hers!”

After a while, he said again, “Next time I’ll buy you a beautiful clip for you, okay?”

Lilly smiled: “Okay. But I don’t have anything for you. I don’t have money.”

“I have money. I have a lot of money. I’ll give you a jar.” Robert said, took Lilly's hand and went to his room.

The two children quickly developed a friendship without any adult intervention.

Avery was stunned when she watched the two children disappear with a 'swish' in front of her.

"Hahaha, Robert is quite good at getting along with girls! You don't have to worry about his love life in the future." Mrs. Cooper joked with a smile.

"He doesn't seem to be so enthusiastic about other little girls, does he?" Elliot said.

He had heard Mrs. Cooper say that Robert had competed with a little girl in the community for toys, but he was not as generous as he is now.

"Yes. Robert is not so generous to other little girls. He is only more generous to the girls he knows." Mrs. Cooper said, going to see Robert and Lilly, "If you are hungry, Let's eat first, and I'll go see the two children."

"I'll eat when Layla comes back." Avery also wanted to see the two children.

Avery and Mrs. Cooper walked towards Robert's room together.

Before the two of them reached the door of the room, they saw Robert and Lilly walking out of the room happily holding a piggy bank.

"Mom, I gave Lilly my piggy bank." Robert had at least twenty piggy banks.

These piggy banks were large and small, and they were all used to hold Robert's lucky money red envelopes.

The piggy bank that Robert was giving was full.

"Then you gave it to Lilly, it belongs to Lilly, but you are not allowed to go back on it!" Avery educated.

"I won't regret it! I still have so many! If she likes it, I can give her a few more." Robert said generously.

Lilly knew that the piggy bank contained real money, so she said, "I want only this one. Brother Robert, thank you."

"No thanks. My father is full of money. My dad will give it to me." Robert didn't care to speak.

When Mrs. Cooper heard this, she couldn't help laughing.

Avery thought it was funny, and felt that her son's money concept might be spoiled by Elliot.

She turned around silently and went to find Elliot.

Avery: "Elliot, did you tell your son that if he has no money, you will give him money?"

Elliot: "Why do you ask that? Will my son spend money? He has only gone to kindergarten, so he can't buy anything yet, right? "

Then why did he say that my father would give me such a thing when he had no money?" Avery asked.

Elliot thought for a moment, "When he used to stick to me, he didn't let me go to work. I said I wanted to go to work to make money, he said why I needed to work to make money, and I said that I would buy milk powder and toys for him to make money from work. Only by working can we make money. , you can only buy things if you make money... I seem to have said that I work to make money for him..."

Avery: "Don't say such things to my son in the future. I'm really worried about him in the future. I don't want to make progress, I just want to be old."

Elliot stretched his brows and laughed lightly: "My son just said it casually. He may not remember it after a while."

"How can he not remember? Children have a good memory. I told you not to say such things in front of children in the future. You are not allowed to say it again. We must educate them to be independent, confident and selfimprovement..." Avery said. When they got here, Robert was in a hurry, and accidentally fell.

Avery heard her son scream, and immediately ran over to help him up from the ground.

Chapter 2290

Elliot held back a smile: "Avery, didn't you mean to let him improve himself?

It's just a fall, let him get up by himself."

"Is this the same thing?" Avery's cheeks flushed.

"There is a blanket on the ground. It's not easy to break the skin, let alone break a bone." Elliot's words prevented Avery from going down the steps.

"You know now that I didn't mean to spoil him, right?" Elliot justified himself,

"Sometimes I understand the truth, but it's another matter in practice."

Avery glared at Elliot, and Elliot immediately pulled her to the side.

Elliot: "Let's stop disturbing my son and Lilly. I think they are having a good time."

Robert's attention was no longer on his parents.

He took Lilly by the hand and led her towards his toy area: "Little Lilly, let me show you my toys! I have a lot of toys!"

Robert said, pulling Lilly away.

Elliot: "You see, he doesn't need us at all. When he finds a girlfriend in the future, you will be able to better understand what it means to be a child."

Avery: "..."

About half an hour later, Layla came back from school.

As soon as Layla entered the door, she saw that her younger brother and Lilly were very engaged in playing.

Mrs. Cooper came over and wanted to introduce Lilly to Layla.

As a result, Layla spoke first: "Wow! Is that my little sister?!"

Layla quickly passed Mrs. Cooper and walked towards Lilly.

"Are you Haze?!"

Lilly immediately looked at Layla when she heard Layla's voice.

Robert also saw her elder sister: "Sister! She is not Haze, she is Lilly!"

The smile on Layla's face froze, but her interest continued: "Lilly? Is Lilly your classmate?"

It was the first time Layla saw a kid with white hair in real life.

Adults with gray hair in real life have seen it, but not children.

"Lilly is not my classmate, Lilly is older than me, she was brought back by our parents." Robert explained to her sister clearly, "Sister, Lilly is wearing your hairpin, don't blame Lilly, okay? She's very pitiful..."

Avery was beside Robert, completely unable to speak.

The son's small mouth was like smeared with honey, and Lilly was well protected.

"Oh... if Lilly likes this hairpin, I will give it to Lilly. I have so many hairpins that I can't wear it at all." Layla said, reaching out and touching Lilly's hair, "Little Lilly, I still have a lot of hairpins in my room, I'll give you a few more! Can I take you to pick them?"

Little Lilly was flattered.

"Little Lilly, go and pick with Sister Layla! There are so many beautiful hairpins in her. You must be very beautiful wearing them." Avery encouraged.

"Little Lilly, I'll take you there!" Robert took Lilly's hand and took her to his sister's room.

Layla was stunned: "Robert likes Little Lilly so much?"

"Yeah! He also gave Little Lilly a piggy bank. Before you came back, he played with Little Lilly." Mrs. Cooper agreed.

“He thinks that Lilly is special!” Layla said, “Why is Lilly’s hair white? Her eyebrows are also white. She is different from us.”

“Layla, Lilly has albinism. So her hair is all white. This disease cannot be exposed to the sun, and there is no particularly effective way to treat this disease.” Avery explained to her daughter, “I will take to her to the hospital for a check tomorrow. She is staying at our house first.”

Chapter 2291

“Oh... Mom, where did you meet her?” Layla asked curiously.

“I went to G-Temple to pray for blessings today. I saw this Little Lilly in that temple.” Avery said to her daughter, “There were more than 30 girls in that temple! They were all adopted by the temple. Mother next time Would you like to take you to see it?”

Avery wanted her daughter to see the diversity of life.

Let her see how people in different classes live.

“Okay!” Layla agreed without hesitation, “Mom, I’ll go to Lilly and my brother first. I’m afraid my brother will mess up my things.”

“Avery, let’s go to dinner first! I don’t think the children will Hungry.” Elliot took Avery to the dining room.

“I’m not very hungry either. I’m having snacks with Lilly in the afternoon.”

Avery accompanies Elliot to the dining room. “I’ll tell Brother Wesley about Lilly’s situation and see if he has any ideas.”

“Tell him if you want to! I can’t help you except to pay for this.” Elliot was very self-aware.

Brook family.

After Wesley received the photo of Lilly sent by Avery, he stared at the picture.

Shea saw that Wesley was fascinated by his mobile phone, so she walked over to him, stared at his mobile phone, and watched with him.

“Wow! It’s so cool!” Shea exclaimed after seeing Lilly’s white hair, “Wesley, this little girl is so cool.”

Wesley pulled Shea and sat beside him: “Shea, this little girl has white hair because she is sick.”

“Ah? Can her disease be cured? She is so beautiful, I really hope she can get better soon.” Shea took Wesley’s mobile phone, Look at the little girl again.

“Her disease can’t be cured. If it can’t be cured, then she can’t bask in the sun. Her eyesight is not as good as normal people.” Wesley explained.

Shea: “It’s so pitiful!”

“Well. She was abandoned by her biological parents outside a temple since she was a child. Fortunately, she was adopted by the masters in the temple, so she grew up smoothly. Avery went to the temple today to pick up this little girl down the mountain, planning to treat her.”

“Her parents are too cruel! Wesley, can we raise her? I like her very much.”

Shea suddenly had this idea.

Wesley was stunned for a moment: “This... I have to ask Avery. I think Avery may also want to adopt her.”

Shea: “Avery has so many children, isn’t it tiring for her to take care of one more child? “

“Let me ask Avery! If you really want to adopt this child, Avery will definitely follow you. It’s just that raising a child is not a trivial matter, have you really considered it? And this child is sick, unlike Maria, It’s healthy.”

“I’m sick too, but am I alive and well? With Mrs. Scarlet taking care of me, it’s definitely fine.” Shea said firmly.

“Okay, then I’ll call Avery and ask.” Wesley said, dialing Avery’s number.

Avery answered the phone quickly.

After Wesley told her Shea’s thoughts, Avery hesitated.

“Brother Wesley, I took Lilly down the mountain to help her find better treatment. If you want to adopt her, you must obtain the consent of Lilly himself and the host of G-Temple. I have no right to do this to her. It’s decided.” Avery said here, and continued, “I will take her to the hospital tomorrow, you can bring Shea to see her! Lilly has a good personality, as long as she is sincere to her, she is very sensible and obedient.”

Wesley: “Okay, then We’ll see you at the hospital tomorrow.”

The next day.

Bridgedale.

Travis’s body was found in a septic tank.

His body was completely decomposed and could not be identified at all.

Travis lived a decent life, and he would never dream of such a miserable death after his death.

Chapter 2292

After Travis’s body was found, Emilio was shocked.

When the doctor reported the DNA test to him and confirmed that the body belonged to Travis, his mood gradually calmed down.

In this life-and-death battle between Travis and Norah, whether it was Travis’s death or Norah’s death, the loser would be miserable.

Because Travis’s body was already decomposed and not suitable for further storage, the Jones family’s children first sent Travis’s body to cremation.

They were busy until it was almost dark before they returned to the Jones’s old house with Travis’s ashes.

That day, Lawyer Lake had been following them, watching Travis turn from a carrion into a pile of ashes.

Although the body had been cremated, the burial time had to wait for them to discuss.

“Lawyer Lake, publish our father’s will first!” Camila Jones looked at Lawyer Lake.

Lawyer Lake naturally turned his attention to Emilio.

“Haha! Lawyer Lake, you don’t need to be so obvious, right? Did you tell Emilio the contents of the will long ago?” Camila was angry, “This Jones family, except that Emilio is my father’s child, we A few too! Just because we are daughters, don’t we deserve to inherit the Jones family’s inheritance? If that’s the case, why should we give us the surname Jones?!”

“Yes, we are girls, can we choose? We grew up by our father’s side. Emilio only returned to Jones’s house when he was an adult. Why should the inheritance be given to him instead of us?” The second sister said, “If my father told us early in the morning that the girl didn’t deserve to share his property, then he wouldn’t let us give birth in the first place! He gave birth to us and didn’t give us any property, did he make us suffer in vain?”

The noise was in full swing and Emilio looked at them coldly.

When they said they were tired and stopped, they gestured to Lawyer Lake with their eyes.

“Everyone, calm down. The will was made by Mr. Travis. Before the will was announced, Emilio didn’t know what the contents were. This will, before Mr. Travis’s death, was completely confidential. So if you want to blame, you can only blame to your father. This matter is out of Emilio’s control.” Lawyer Lake spoke for Emilio.

“Haha! you haven’t announced the will yet, and your a-s-s is already sitting on Emilio’s side. You almost said that Emilio is the heir of the Jones family, and we can’t get anything!” Camila roared, “Where’s the Father’s will document! Take it out and show it to us!”

Lawyer Lake blushed: “Miss Jones, the will is in my bag. I’ll take it out for you to see. It has your father’s signature on it. If you don’t believe in this will, I can provide audio and video evidence. I have been in this business for 20 years…”

“Okay, don’t talk about these useless things! Bring out the documents!”

Camila hit cut him off.

Lawyer Lake opened the briefcase and took out the documents.

Then a copy was sent to each of Travis’s children.

“I can show you the original. In case you suspect that the copy is fake.” The lawyer handed out the copy and took out the original.

He took the original and showed Travis’s signature and seal.

Camila did not read the original.

A lawyer would definitely not dare to lie about such a thing.

Camila found the property distribution part of the document and looked at it carefully. Soon, she sees clearly, sees clearly!

Sure enough, Norah was right, Travis left nothing for her!

“This will doesn’t count!” Camila threw the document in her hand to the ground with a ‘bang’! “Emilio, don’t be too happy! The Jones family is not yours alone! Before you returned to the Jones family, it was those of us who did our children’s filial piety beside Travis every day!”

“Yeah! Dad just gave me a suite, but it’s still worthless... I’m really going to lose my mind! This is to send beggars!” The second sister was also very dissatisfied when she was assigned a suite.

“Second sister, you still have at least one apartment. Dad only gave me one car! It’s an old car from a few years ago! He might as well give me nothing, as if I took advantage of him!” Camila said and rolled her eyes.

Chapter 2293

Second sister: “Sister, don’t be so angry, Caleb has nothing. Poor! You and Caleb have paid so much for the Jones family, but my father gave you nothing. My father is really too partial! “

I said this will doesn’t count!” Camila’s face turned blue and her teeth clenched, “Emilio, just wait! I can’t let this matter go!”

Camila said, bending over Picked up the copy on the ground, and strode out of the old house.

Other siblings also left.

Seeing that Emilio’s face was not very good, Lawyer Lake immediately patted him on the shoulder and comforted him: “Your father’s will is protected by law, even if they don’t agree, they can only hold it back. Emilio, you’ll be fine next time. Hold your father’s funeral, don’t let outsiders see jokes.”

“Thank you for comforting me. I had expected their reaction would be fierce.

Maybe they will join forces and fight with me for the inheritance.” Emilio calmly said, “I have also hired a lawyer who is very good in this field. If I really need to file a lawsuit, I hope to get your help.”

“Of course there is no problem. You can call me at any time if you need it.”

Lawyer Lake continued to remind, “Hurry up and contact the other relatives of the Jones family and bring them to your side. This will also help you in the lawsuit at that time.”

Emilio: “Okay. Thank you for reminding me.”

Lawyer Lake: “Remember to notify me.”

Emilio: "Well."

After Emilio sent Lawyer Lake away, he returned to the living room.

The will had been announced, he had got 99% of Travis's property, and he could celebrate now.

After all, the will was protected by law, and it was impossible for Camila and the others to change if they refused to accept it.

But Emilio was still vaguely uneasy mainly because of Norah.

If Norah joins other brothers and sisters in a lawsuit against him, then the matter will become more complicated.

Because Norah's ability was recognized by Elliot and Travis.

Emilio was afraid that Norah would be beaten by her with a bad hand like she was chased and killed before.

Although the will seemed to be settled now, he felt that Norah was capable of overturning it.

At this moment, what Avery said suddenly popped into his mind.

Avery said that if Emilio was in need, she would help him.

Thinking of this, Emilio felt a lot more relieved.

Emilio took pictures of the contents of the will and sent it to Avery, as a way of sharing his joy with Avery.

Although he didn't return to the Jones family until he was eighteen years old, he has been in the Jones family for ten years now.

Camila just talked about filial piety, and Emilio has also been filial to Travis for ten years!

It was morning in Aryadelle at that time.

Avery was going to eat breakfast and take Lilly to the hospital. After receiving the message on the phone, she clicked it.

After seeing the picture sent by Emilio, she replied: [Congratulations! You finally got what you wanted, good thing.]

Emilio: [Others are probably going to sue me.]

Avery: [Then file a lawsuit with them. The will was made by Travis, not by you. Find a good lawyer and let the lawyer deal with it. Can you stop your dad's new project?]

Chapter 2294

Emilio: [When I finish my dad's funeral, I will go to work. Norah has yet to show up or contact me.]

Avery: [Leave her alone. Wait for her to act, and you will think about countermeasures. She might be thinking of a way too.]

Emilio: [She probably killed Travis. I stabbed her a bit. Originally I asked her to join forces, but she ignored me.]

Avery: [She just has no bottom line in being a human being, and is no different from those heinous criminals. This kind of person is scary, but the evil is beyond good, you just need to be careful, don't be afraid of her.]

Emilio: [When will you come back to Bridgedale?]

Avery: [I don't plan to go there for the time being. I'll let you know when I'm ready to go.]

Emilio: [Good.]

After sending the message to Emilio, Avery was a little worried.

Emilio grew up with his mother. Children who grow up in a single-parent home environment will be more sensitive and insecure.

When Emilio sent her a message, he must be more afraid of Norah, otherwise he would not show his cowardice.

Thought about it for a while, Avery sent a message to Mike: [Mike, when you have time, go see Emilio! He got almost all of Travis's property. Norah estimated that she would unite with the rest of the Jones family to deal with him. Emilio helped me before and I don't want to see him alone now.]

Mike: [All right! During Travis's funeral, I went to see it. Did you see the picture of Travis's body? Super disgusting!]

Avery put down the milk cup in her hand, and had already lost her appetite: [I didn't see it. Don't send me pictures! I'm having breakfast!]

Mike: [If I wanted to send it to you, I would have sent it to you already. I'm really afraid that it will make you sick and make you have nightmares at night.]

Avery: [Is it that exaggerated? It's not like I haven't seen a corpse.]

Mike: [He was thrown into the septic tank by Norah. Think about it, soaking in a septic tank for a few days, even if the temperature is not so high, is very scary.]

Avery: [Stop talking...]

Mike: [I heard that you brought a little girl home. Is it right?]

Avery: [Who did you listen to, the news is so well-informed. Is it easy? I didn't tell Chad!]

Mike: [I don't know how Chad knew it, but Chad told me anyway. You said that when Chad's job was transferred to Bridgedale, will your husband let him go?]

Avery: [I... let me ask! Chad is different from ordinary employees to him.]

Mike: [I just knew it was different, so I was worried that he wouldn't let people go. You know Chad, he will never reject Elliot. Avery, you have to help me!]

Avery: [Don't worry. I took the time to chat with him. I have other business today.]

Mike: [Don't you ask him just one sentence? You ask directly!]

Avery: [Oh.]

Her gaze shifted from the screen of the mobile phone to Elliot's face: "If Chad wants to be transferred to work in Bridgedale, would you agree?"

Elliot thought for a while, and replied cautiously, "If he submits an application to me, I will naturally agree."

Avery got the answer, and immediately replied to Mike: [He said that if Chad submitted an application to him, he would agree.]

Mike: [OK.]

.....

G-Temple.

The mother-in-law took Siena to stand outside the meditation room where the masters were doing morning exercises.

Siena was carrying her small schoolbag, with tears in her eyes.

The mother-in-law was going to take her down the mountain. She couldn't live there anymore.

Siena asked her mother-in-law why she was leaving, and her mother-in-law said there were bad people there. Bad guys might take her.

Siena didn't want to leave, but she was also afraid of being captured by the bad guys.

The mother-in-law said that if the bad guys caught Siena, and they might kill Siena.

Chapter 2295

Siena was so frightened that she could only leave there with her mother-in-law.

After the masters finished the morning exercise, the mother-in-law brought Siena into the meditation room.

“Where are you going next?” The host asked.

“I have relatives who can go to defect. When I brought Siena up the mountain, it was also because Siena was weak and sickly. The air on the mountain was good. After living in Siena for more than a year, my body has really improved a lot. I hope the host and the masters will not put Siena on the mountain and not tell anyone about our whereabouts.” Mother-in-law brought Siena here, not free food and lodging.

The mother-in-law helped with cooking and cleaning on the mountain, and the nuns in the monastery respected her very much.

When the mother-in-law said goodbye to the host, Siena looked around.

Her eyes were bright and divine, and she exuded a charming aura.

“Mother-in-law, I want to pee.” Siena raised her head, said this to her mother-in-law, and ran away immediately.

The mother-in-law didn't think much, and continued to say goodbye to the host.

“After Lilly went down the mountain, Siena was very sad. I was also afraid that Siena would continue to stay here and feel sad. Moreover, Siena has reached the age to go to school. I took her down the mountain and wanted her to go to school and wanted to live like a normal child.” said the mother-in-law.

The host has a kind face and said: “Siena is a smart and well-behaved child. As long as she is well educated and guided, she will have a bright future in the future.”

The mother-in-law: “Thank you for your praise. If Siena achieves something in the future, I will definitely tell her to come up the mountain to visit you.”

The host: “Even if she doesn't succeed in the future, she is welcome to go up the mountain at any time. This place will always be her home.”

After a while, Siena ran back from the toilet.

The mother-in-law asked her to hug and say goodbye to the masters.

After Siena hugged and said goodbye to the masters one by one, she was led down the mountain by her mother-in-law.

At the foot of the mountain, a Buick commercial vehicle parked there quietly.

After the mother-in-law and Siena went down the mountain, the people who came to pick up the Buick got off immediately.

After the mother-in-law took Siena to the car, Siena looked at the scenery outside the car window, holding back the tears in her eyes: "Mother-in-law, where are we going?"

"Let's go to Miss first. When we find Miss, we will see how she arranges.

Let's go!" After the mother-in-law finished speaking, the driver started the car.

Soon, the scenery on the mountain disappeared before her eyes.

Siena looked at the rear windshield, two strings of hot tears streaming from the corners of her eyes.

She had a hunch that once she left, she might never come back.

She didn't know who the young lady was, and she didn't care.

As long as her mother-in-law was there, her mother-in-law would definitely take care of her.

It's just that she was really reluctant to part with temples and friends on the mountain.

Even if the relationship with other children was not so good, but after all, those people got along day and night, and they were more familiar.

Down the mountain, Siena still didn't know what to do.

By going to the toilet just now, she found another master and asked for Avery's contact information.

With Avery's contact information, she could contact Lilly through Avery in the future.

She was worried that Lilly didn't know that she had left the temple.

If Lilly couldn't see Siena in the mountains in the future, she would definitely be very sad.

Siena wanted to be friends with Lilly for a lifetime.

"Siena, don't cry." The mother-in-law said. She was very distressed when she saw Siena crying silently, "You are different from other children. You are destined to bear a lot of things that you shouldn't bear."

"Mother-in-law, I don't understand. What you're talking about is too profound."

Siena sniffed and wiped away the tears on her face, "Even if I'm different from other children, so what? Lilly is also the same as Unlike other children, I played with Lilly and had a lot of fun."

"Someone wants to kill you. If you want to live, you have to be obedient. And Lilly is not like you. No one wants to kill Lilly." Mother-in-law said, "My poor Siena...I just want you to grow up healthy."

"Mother-in-law, who is going to kill me?" Siena asked. Her eyes flashed with timidity, and her body became cold.

Chapter 2296

"It should be Avery Tate." The mother-in-law said word by word, "You should have lived a life of fine clothes and food, but someone ruined it all by yourself."

Siena tearfully shook her head, "Mother-in-law, Are you wrong? Auntie Tate seems to be a good person. If she is not a good person, how could the master let Auntie Tate take Lilly down the mountain?"

Mother-in-law: "Do you think mother-in-law will lie to you? Siena, if you can be like Other children live a normal life, how could your mother-in-law take you to hide? All your family members were killed by the bad guys.”

Siena cried with a ‘woo’.

“If it wasn’t for Miss who bought you, you would have died long ago. Siena, we must listen to the Miss’s words. Only then we can survive.” The mother-in-law took Siena into her arms and reached out to wipe the hot tears from her face.

Siena: “Who is Miss?”

Mother-in-law: “She is a very simple and stupid woman. Originally, she had nothing to do with all this, but for the man she liked, she had to come to Aryadelle to find out the clues of the murder...I think Avery made the killing... She is collecting evidence of Avery’s crime...”

The mother-in-law’s words were too complicated for Siena to understand.

But Siena could feel that this was very scary.

All she could do as a child was to listen to her mother-in-law and grew up obediently.

On the other side, Avery brought Lilly to the hospital.

Wesley and Shea saw Lilly.

Shea gave Lilly the meeting gift she prepared for Lilly. The gift was a little princess.

“Hello, Lilly! My name is Shea. This little princess has white hair just like you.

I think you are super cool.” Shea gave Lilly a figure of a princess.

The princess had silver-white hair. When Shea saw the photo of Lilly yesterday, the image of this princess first appeared in her mind.

Lilly liked that gift very much, and immediately forgot the troubles her illness brought to her, but followed Shea’s words and felt that she was cool.

Lilly: “Auntie Shea, thank you.”

“No thanks. I’ll accompany you for an examination today, okay?” Shea smiled and held her hand, “I like you very much.”

Shea spoke more directly, poking people directly’s heart.

Lilly agreed to Shea without thinking.

Wesley: “I called a dermatologist. But I chatted with a dermatologist last night, and he said that there is currently no effective treatment for albinism. You can only pay attention to sun protection at ordinary times, and take corresponding treatment if you have a disease.”

Avery: “I’m online. I checked. I want to see how sick Lilly is.”

“Well. Shea likes Lilly very much. Before going to bed last night, she told me that she wanted to adopt Lilly.” Wesley said in a low voice, “Originally She didn’t have this idea at first because I told her that Lilly was abandoned by her biological parents, and she felt that Lilly was too pitiful, so she wanted to take care of her.”

Avery whispered, “Actually, Lilly had a good life in the mountains. There are good friends on the mountain, and the masters also take good care of these children. However, Lilly is more special, and it is better to have someone take care of it. The host also thinks so. So I said to bring Lilly down the mountain, she is very supportive. If you and Shea wants to adopt Lilly, then you can go up the mountain and talk to the host again. I think Lilly likes Shea, and Lilly should agree.”

Chapter 2297

Wesley: “Well. When I was brushing my hair this morning, I told me that I wanted to dye my hair white... If we can really adopt Lilly, I think she will really dye her hair white.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing: “If she wants to dye you, let her dye it! Any color of hair that Shea dyes will look good.”

“I will let Shea calm down first, and then decide in a few days.” Wesley said, “Dyeing her hair After all, it’s not very good for the skin and hair quality of the head.”

“What you said actually has little effect. As long as you don’t dye your hair frequently, it should be fine. Or you can buy her a white wig.” Avery suggested, “she used to wear wigs a lot.”

Wesley: “I didn’t even think of this. I’ll discuss with her after I’ve checked Lilly.”

“Well. Layla and Robert saw Lilly last night and liked her very much.” Avery said this with a smile, and the smile on her face quickly disappeared, “I really hope Haze can also meet someone who treats her well.”

“It will definitely be. You are so kind, God will definitely Let Haze live well. Even if you can’t recognize her now, I believe you will recognize each other in the future.” Wesley gave her hope.

Avery felt better.

After doing a series of examinations to Lilly in the morning, the dermatologist held a meeting with several other experts.

In the afternoon, they gave detailed diagnostic results.

“Lilly’s condition is oculocutaneous albinism. This condition is a little more serious than simple ocular albinism, but her condition is not the worst. As long as she does daily protection, she can actually live like a normal person. However, this requires a lot of energy from parents. If she goes to school, you need to tell the school teacher about her nursing methods. At present, if the patient does not have the disease, there is no effective drug intervention. We will see if this problem can be solved in the future. An effective medicine for disease.”

After coming out of the hospital, Avery brought Lilly home.

On the way back, Avery asked Lilly, “Auntie Shea, who is with you today, do you like her?”

“Me.” When Lilly said this, the corners of her mouth rose, and her tone was very cheerful.

“Little Lilly, she wants to take care of you. Are you willing to live at her house? She has a daughter who is younger than you. If you go to her house, she will love you as her eldest daughter.” Avery asked tentatively.

“Auntie Tate, are you good friends with Auntie Shea?” Lilly asked.

“We are not only good friends, but also relatives.” Avery showed a bright smile to Lilly, “Whether you live in my house or hers, I will treat you the same.”

“Auntie Shea said that she was also seriously ill, and you cured her. Auntie Tate, you are amazing!” Lilly looked at Avery with admiration on her face.

“It’s a pity that I can’t cure you.” Avery sighed regretfully, “but I believe that there will be a doctor who can cure you in the future.”

Lilly: “Cool Auntie.”

Avery: “Of course, you are the coolest little girl.”

“Auntie Tate, when can I go up the mountain? If I go to live at Auntie Shea’s house, should I tell the masters? Tell my good friend. Can I invite her to my house in the future?”

“It’s a little late today. Shall we go to the mountains tomorrow? You can invite good friends anytime you want. We can greet them tomorrow. Your friends will come down the mountain to play with you.” Avery said.

“Auntie Tate, you are so kind to me. When I grow up, I will definitely repay you.” Lilly said. Her nose was slightly sour, and she was a little excited, “If my good friend Siena could meet a good person like Auntie Tate, too Enough.”

Chapter 2298

Avery moved in peace.

Before she could speak, the bodyguard said first: “Little Lilly, your Auntie Tate didn’t run an orphanage. She led you down the mountain because you had a special disease and needed to be taken care of. You can’t force your Auntie Tate to take you down. My good friend also picked up the mountain.”

Avery immediately glared at the bodyguard: “Don’t talk nonsense. If the temple can no longer take care of those children, I can accommodate them.”

Lilly’s cheeks were flushed, and she said shyly: “Uncle bodyguard, I-I just hope Siena can meet good people in the future. I didn’t ask Auntie Tate to adopt her. I know it’s not easy to raise a child.”

Lilly’s sensible words made the bodyguard a little embarrassed.

“Little Lilly, Uncle just reminded you just now, he didn’t mean to blame you! Don’t take it to heart!” The bodyguard explained to Lilly clumsily and carefully. “Uncle bodyguard, if you see Siena, you will definitely like her.” Lilly couldn’t help praising her good friend, “Siena is smart and cute, she is the cutest child I have ever seen.”

“Can you be cute?” The bodyguard asked deliberately.

Lilly was the most lovely child he had ever seen. Although Lilly’s illness was different from other children, she was not in that kind of sick state.

Other than that, Lilly was bit precocious.

Might be due to illness, or it might be due to being abandoned.

The children on the mountain were destined to be more mature and sensible than the children down the mountain.

Lilly didn't even think about it, and nodded immediately: "We are both good and cute."

The bodyguard: "Hahaha! Is this what you said, or did the teachers on the mountain say that?"

Lilly: "Everyone said that. I'll take you to see her tomorrow, so you know I didn't lie to you."

"Okay. Since you said she was so cute, I'll buy a small gift later and give it to her on the mountain tomorrow." The bodyguard chatted hotly with Lilly.

Avery was completely speechless next to him.

Seeing that everyone liked Lilly, she was sincerely happy.

The medical staff who examined Lilly at the hospital today all praised her when they saw her.

There was a bright smile on Lilly's face almost all the time.

Avery could feel that Lilly was really happy.

"Little Lilly, tomorrow weekend, sister Layla and brother Robert will accompany you up the mountain to see your good friend, okay?" Avery thought that tomorrow was the weekend, so she wanted to take the two children up the mountain to see.

"Okay! Will Auntie Shea accompany us?" Lilly asked expectantly. Avery hesitated for a moment and said, "Auntie Shea has been seriously ill before, and her health is not so good. Climbing the mountain is more difficult for her. Would you like Uncle Wesley to accompany us?"

"Let Auntie Shea see Siena. In this way, I invite Siena to go down the mountain to play, and Auntie Shea will definitely agree." Lilly expressed her thoughts.

"Hahaha, don't worry! Even if Auntie Shea has never seen Siena, as long as she is your good friend, you can invite to play at home. You can go to Auntie Shea's house to play, or to my house. We are sure You will be very welcome as a good friend."

Lilly: "Auntie Tate, thank you. You are such a good person."

"Little Lilly, I'm embarrassed for thanking me so earnestly. You don't have to be so polite with Auntie in the future, okay?" Avery said, and touched her head.

Lilly: "Master said to be a polite child. If you don't know how to be polite, no one will like it."

"Little Lilly, we do need to be polite, but we are not polite to make others like it." Avery said.

"Could it be that the master is wrong?" Lilly was a little confused.

Avery: "It's not wrong for the master to teach you this way. They want you to be liked by everyone. But you're definitely not just living to please others, right? You can also become a doctor, scientist, or artist in the future."

Avery If so, let Lilly be fascinated.

Chapter 2299

"Auntie Tate, can I really be that good?" Lilly asked.

Avery: "Of course. What you wants to do in the future, we can work towards that goal now. You can tell Auntie Shea your secret in the future, or you can tell me. We are all your best friends."

Lilly: "Well!"

The next morning, it was less than 7 o'clock. Layla and Robert got up one after another.

The weather was not very good thatday, at that point, it was not yet bright outside.

Layla planned to put a box of hairpins in her schoolbag, and when she got to the mountain, she would give it to the little girls.

She had several drawers of hair clips, many of which had not been opened after receiving them.

Robert also felt itchy when he saw his sister preparing gifts.

“Sister, what gift should I give them?” Robert didn’t have anything like hairpins.

His toys were all big. There’s no way he could drag a bunch of toys up the mountain!

“You are so young, you don’t need to give them gifts!” Layla glanced at her brother.

Robert pursed his lips, as if he was not very happy.

After Layla chose the hairpin to bring up the mountain, she saw that her brother was still pouting, so she gave him an idea: “Don’t you have a lot of money? You can give them a red envelope.”

Robert: “Oh...”

Layla: “I’m going to look for the red envelope.”

Robert: “Sister, wait for me! I’ll look for it with you!”

The two children ran up and down the house, very lively.

At 8 o’clock, Avery and Elliot got up and went downstairs.

The three children had had breakfast and were playing with toys in the living room.

Robert’s toys were very young and childish to Layla. So Layla mainly took Little Lilly to play with Robert.

Mrs. Cooper brought the breakfast to the table, and then said to Elliot and Avery, “Robert gave each of the children on the mountain a red envelope. It should be alright to give those children a red envelope?"

Avery was very surprised: "He is so young. He mustn't have thought of doing this?"

Mrs. Cooper: "It was Layla who gave him the idea. Layla planned to send hairpins to the children. Robert saw it and wanted to give gifts to the children on the mountain."

"It should be no problem to send red envelopes. It's good to talk to the masters at that time."

"Well. Avery, can I go up the mountain with you? After all, Robert hasn't climbed the mountain yet! And the temperature on the mountain is relatively cold." Mrs. Cooper said.

Avery: "Okay! It might be a little tiring to climb the mountain."

"Robert is not afraid of being tired, and I'm fine." Mrs. Cooper said, "I'll go check what I will bring up the mountain later."

After Mrs. Cooper left, Elliot sighed.

"Don't sigh, you definitely can't climb the mountain." Avery glanced at him, "Shea also wants to go up the mountain, but brother Wesley won't let her go up the mountain. If the weather is warm, it's fine, but now it's cold, really out on the mountain Anything is troublesome."

"If I don't go up the mountain, I'll stay at home." Elliot looked away, "Be careful when you climb the mountain. Take some more bodyguards out today!"

"Yeah." Avery said to Elliot, "Don't be angry. I'll take you out when the weather clears."

Chapter 2300

Elliot couldn't help laughing: "Although I really want to go with you, but since you said I can't go out, then I won't go out. It's cold outside, so please keep warm.”

“Well.” Avery heard what he said, was particularly heartwarming, “Elliot, you’re obeying me now, but I’m a little overwhelmed. I wanted to coax you, but now it seems that I’m thinking too much.”

“Then you coax me.” Elliot Required it.

“Haha, I’ll coax you when I come back in the evening.” Avery’s cheeks were slightly red, she quickly finished her breakfast, and wiped her mouth with a tissue, “Elliot, this weekend, relax and stop working. If you feel bored, You can ask your friends to come play with you at home.”

Elliot: “Well. Pay attention to safety on the road.”

“Yes. I checked the weather forecast. Today is cloudy, with no wind or rain. It should be smooth.” Avery said, facing the living room. go.

Elliot followed behind her and sent them out.

The three children each carried a small schoolbag and wanted to go out for a long time.

Avery put on a down jacket, put on her bag, and walked to the child’s side:

“Let’s go! Your Uncle Wesley has already left.”

After Avery spoke, the bodyguards and Mrs. Cooper immediately followed.

At 9:00 a.m.

The group came to G-Temple.

Wesley and the bodyguards were waiting outside the courtyard.

“Mr. Brooks, why don’t this place accept male pilgrims here?” The bodyguard asked sincerely.

Wesley: “Every place has its own rules. We just need to abide by the rules.”

“Okay! I think it may be for safety.” The bodyguard guessed, “Although I am also a man, I have to say that some men are very bad.”

Wesley: "Bad guys are gender-neutral. But I support your statement that men are generally more jerk than women. It's understandable that male pilgrims aren't welcome here."

The bodyguard shrank his neck.

There was no wind down the mountain, but when they got to the mountain, the wind was breezy and the coolness was piercing.

Wesley: "If you're cold, you can move."

"This is so stupid! There should be more people coming here to offer incense later." The bodyguard said here, talking about gossip, "Mr. Brooks, you and Shea should be together. You won't have a second child, right?"

"The first child was an accident. After Shea became pregnant, I was sterilized, and we couldn't have another child." Wesley confided, "I am already very grateful to have a child. Taking care of Shea and Maria for the rest of my life, I will be satisfied."

"It's good for you to adopt Lilly. The main reason is that my boss already has three children, and there is another Haze, who can be found at any time. Then there will be four children. At that time, her own children will not be able to care, let alone Lilly. Let Lilly go to your house and have a company with your daughter Maria!"

The reason why the bodyguard said so, it was also considered from the standpoint of Lilly.

Wesley was a doctor, with a famously gentle and kind temperament, while Shea was also a very kind woman. Although she might not be as good at taking care of people as Avery, she was worse than having Mrs. Scarlet's help.

It would be better to let Lilly follow them.

“You are loyal to Avery. Everything is thoughtful for Avery.” Wesley raised the corner of his mouth and laughed lightly.

The bodyguard: “I don’t think about it entirely for my boss. It’s mainly for Lilly. I like Lilly very much. She is very good.”

After chatting for a while, Avery immediately came out and let them in.

Avery: “The host allows you to go in and take a break.”

“I thought men were really not allowed to enter this place! It turns out that it is possible to open up the net.” The bodyguard said with a smile, and entered the monastery.

Avery walked side by side with Wesley, “It was Lilly who told the host that she was willing to be adopted by you. So the host wants to meet and talk with you.”

Chapter 2301

Wesley: “Well. I’m mentally prepared.”

“Brother Wesley, you don’t have to be nervous. The host is very good. She hopes that the children are all well. As long as you promise to take good care of Lilly in the future, she will not be embarrassed.”

Wesley: “I understand.”

Avery took Wesley to the host and went to the backyard to find the children.

Just now, the host took Lilly, Layla and Robert to the backyard to distribute gifts and red envelopes to the children.

The kids were there this weekend.

Because of the arrival of Layla and Robert, the backyard was very lively at the moment.

Under the host, the children lined up in two teams.

When Avery walked into the yard, the host was introducing Layla and Robert to the children the host told the children that Layla and Robert were friends down the mountain, and did not focus on the family situation of Layla and Robert.

This made Avery relieved.

“The red envelopes Robert gave you are the lucky money he has accumulated for a long time. After you receive the red envelopes, remember to say thank you to Robert. And sister Layla gave you hairpins, what should you say?”

” Thank you sister Layla!” The children said in unison, thanking Layla.

Layla’s young heart was touched.

She had a lot of jewelry, mostly from her parents and brothers. She also had a lot of beautiful clothes and shoes, a new set every day, at least a month without repeating the same.

She had always been held by her family in the palm of her hand, and she had never lacked any material, so seeing these girls abandoned by her parents made her eyes felt sore.

Her life was so happy, so happy that she couldn’t see a trace of darkness and poverty, but it didn’t mean that there was no darkness and poverty in this world.

“I’ll clip your hair!” Layla said, walking to the little girl closest to her, and carefully clipping the hairpin in her hand to her hair.

Little Lilly stood on the side in loss and wiped away her tears.

She didn’t find Siena.

Siena was left!

The host walked up to Lilly and explained to her: “Little Lilly, Siena is very sad because you went down the mountain. So Siena also left.”

“Then will I never see her again?” Lilly cried with tears. The flow was faster. Seeing this scene, Avery immediately walked over and asked what happened.

“Auntie Tate, Siena is left. She must have thought that I would never come back, so she left.” Lilly threw herself into Avery’s arms.

Avery frowned and looked at The Host: “Master, where did Siena go? Who did she go with? Could it be that she was adopted?”

“Siena is not a child adopted by our monastery.” The Host is right Avery explained, “She came with her mother-in-law. Her mother-in-law was working here, and Siena would eat and sleep with the other children.”

Avery: “Siena left with her mother-in-law?”

“Yes. Where they are going, I don’t know either.” The Host said, “I’m also very reluctant to give up Siena. She had a good time with Lilly. She cried before she left. She was reluctant to leave Lilly, and she was reluctant to leave here, but her mother-in-law had other ideas. It was planned, so they left.”

“Master, do you have the contact information of Siena’s mother-in-law?”

Avery saw Lilly’s crying eyes flushed, and she was very distressed.

The Host shook her head: “But Siena asked me for your contact information before she left. She might call you.”

Chapter 2302

Avery did not expect such a small child to be so careful.

Avery: “Little Lilly, Siena has my number, she will definitely call me.”

Lilly then felt a little better: “Why does mother-in-law have to bring Siena down the mountain?”

Her life was also good. If it wasn’t for Avery and Shea, Lilly would definitely not be willing to go down the mountain.

“Little Lilly, this is her mother-in-law’s decision. We can’t force it.” The Host said calmly, “Are you doing well down the mountain?”

“I’m doing well. Auntie Tate took me to the hospital. Sister Layla and Brother Robert are also very good to me. I also met Auntie Shea... Auntie Shea wants to adopt me. By the way, Auntie Shea and Auntie Tate are a family. I think they are both good people, I I’d like to be with them.”

The Host looked at Avery and smiled: “Miss Tate, since Lilly is willing to go with you, it means that there is a fate between you. Lilly will trouble you in the future.”

“It is serious. In the future, I will often bring Lilly back to visit everyone. If there are other difficulties in the temple, you can tell me. I am very happy to be able to make a little contribution to the society.” Avery said sincerely.

“Miss Tate, thank you very much for your kindness. We will pray for you and your family here.” The Host said gratefully.

“Speaking of which, my wish to go up the mountain this time is indeed related to my family. I have a daughter who has not been by my side since she was born. When I went to find her, she had no idea where she had gone. Until now, I don’t know if she is alive or dead, whether she is safe or not.” Avery said her heart knot, and when the words settled, she breathed a sigh of relief.

The master heard the words and comforted: “Miss Tate, everything has a certainty. If your child is still alive, she will definitely come back to you. If she is gone, you must learn to let go.”

Avery: “Thank you Master for persuading me. I’m not as restless as before. And seeing these children on the mountain doing so well, I also imagined that if my children were living in such a place, they might also lead a free life.”

The Host: “Miss Tate, you are kind-hearted. If my children are still alive, they will definitely be taken care of by good people.”

Beside, after Layla clipped the children's hairpins, she saw Lilly's expression was a little lost, and immediately called her to come and play together.

"Little Lilly, I know your good friend is left, don't be sad. Because you will make many good friends in the future." Layla touched Lilly's head, "These children are also your friends! "

Little Lilly glanced at everyone, then nodded.

Lilly: "Siena will definitely find me. She asked for Auntie Tate's phone number, and she will definitely call Auntie Tate in the future."

Layla: "That's easy. Next time Siena calls my mother and asks my mother to go directly and bring her to play with us. How about it?" Layla said dotingly.

Lilly suddenly smiled: "Sister Layla, you are so kind."

"Of course! You can trust no one, but you can always trust me, you know?"

Layla conquered.

After they stayed at the temple for lunch, they were ready to go down the mountain.

When Lilly waved goodbye to her Masters and friends, she couldn't help but redden her eyes.

Wesley picked her up and comforted her in a soft voice: "I'll bring you back every week, okay?"

Lilly: "Well."

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Avery sent Lilly to Wesley's house, and brought Layla and Robert home with her...

They came back because Little Lilly was asleep.

On the way back to Foster's house, Robert also fell asleep in the car.

They got up too early in the morning.

Chapter 2303

Layla's eyelids also began to fight, and she couldn't hold it anymore.

“Mom, I decided to write today’s story in this week’s journal.” Layla flipped through the photos she took today on her phone.

Originally, G-Temple did not allow tourists to take pictures, but Layla did not know this rule. She asked The Host to help her take a group photo with other children. The Host was smiled and agreed.

Avery: “Okay! You’ve written it down for Mom to read.”

“Okay. Mom, look at the photos. I counted, except for me and my brother, there are a total of 32 children.” Layla said with a smile, “It’s a coincidence. There are exactly 32 people in the class.”

“Lilly has gone down the mountain, and there are only 31 children on the mountain.” Avery said.

Layla: “And Siena has also gone down the mountain!”

“Siena is not included. Because Siena has relatives. It’s a pity that I didn’t see her. Little Lilly likes Siena so much. Siena must be as well-behaved and sensible as Little Lilly.” Avery sighed.

“Why did Siena’s mother-in-law take Siena away? Why did Lilly leave, Siena is going to leave? Didn’t the master say Siena was reluctant to leave the temple? What is the name of the mother-in-law?” Layla asked the question, “Does mother-in-law mean grandma? Where do you call grandma?”

Avery finally stopped this question.

In fact, Avery didn’t know how to answer the question in front of her daughter.

Siena lived well on the mountain, but because Little Lilly was adopted down the mountain, her mother-in-law was so anxious and took Siena away.

The behavior of the mother-in-law was somewhat puzzling.

“Maybe in some places, grandma is called mother-in-law.” Avery guessed,

“Lilly said that Siena is younger than her.”

“Oh. Does Siena have no parents? Otherwise, why would her grandma take her to live in the mountains?” Layla felt that it was also pitiful.

Although there were relatives, but there was only one Grandma. Grandma was getting old, and Layla’s afraid Grandma couldn’t take good care of Siena.

Layla didn’t know what would happen to their grandchildren in the future.

Especially thinking that Lilly was adopted by Auntie Shea, life will be very good in the future, and if Siena has been following her grandmother, life can be imagined, and it will not be very good.

Originally two good friends who were in similar circumstances, their future lives will be very different, and life feels cruel in an instant.

In the future, when the gap between the two of them gets bigger and bigger, even if the two of them meet again, it will not be as good as it is now.

“Layla, I don’t know about Siena and her grandma. I’m afraid the Masters on the mountain don’t know either.” Avery said, “Let’s see if Siena will call me in the future!”

Layla: “Well.”

Back home, Mrs. Cooper carried Robert to the room, while Layla ran to her father and showed her the photos taken on the mountain today.

“Has Lilly gone to Wesley’s house?” Elliot put his arms around his daughter, but looked at Avery.

“Yeah. Lilly got up too early today and fell asleep at Wesley’s house.” Avery sat down on the sofa and leaned against the back of the sofa, “I’m sleepy too.”

“If you fall asleep now, I definitely won’t be able to sleep at night.” Elliot said, he took the cell phone his daughter handed over, and glanced at the large group photo of them in the temple, “These little girls are quite clean and tidy.

Why is Lilly's expression so unhappy?"

"Lilly didn't see her best friend Siena. Siena was taken away." Layla answered her Dad's question.

"Aren't all the children on the mountain adopted by temples?" Elliot asked in confusion.

Layla: "Siena is not. Siena has a mother-in-law. Her mother-in-law took her away."

Chapter 2304

Elliot responded and returned the phone to his daughter.

Elliot: "Have you had a good time in the mountains today?"

"Not very happy. It's very sad to see so many children with congenital diseases being abandoned, and some healthy children being abandoned by their parents." Speaking of which, Layla was unhappy, "Dad, I think I am too happy."

"Layla, there are many unfortunate people in this world, but also many happy people. Happiness is not your fault." Elliot patiently comforted his daughter, "If you go to more remote mountain villages, you will see more poor children. They may not even be able to eat."

After listening to her father's words, Layla became even more depressed:

"Dad, how can I help them?"

Elliot: "You can donate money. I and your Mom donate to charity every year. We can't change the fate of everyone, but our strength can improve the lives of at least some people."

Layla: "Dad, I see."

Elliot: "Layla, wait, for me. Now that you can go out, I can take you to see more places."

Layla: "Okay Dad! I hope you get better soon!"

Avery listened to the conversation between the father and daughter, and couldn't help but laugh: "Elliot, let's be honest. Have you ever lived in a remote place? I believe you donate to the society every year, but you must have never tried to live a poor life."

Elliot: "..."

"Don't take your daughter to that kind of place. I'm afraid of places you don't know well." Avery laughed ruthlessly, "I'm afraid that you will need your daughter to take care of you instead."

Elliot: "..."

As for what?

In front of the child, can't he save some face for him?

"Layla, your father's ancestors are three generations old. They are all businessmen and rich people. Your father has never lived a poor life since he was a child." Avery said to her daughter Science.

Layla heard it fresh and asked, "Mom, are you talking about Dad's adoptive father's family? I remember Dad's real dad was a badass!"

Avery: "The Foster family. Although Elliot is not the child of the Foster family, the Foster family treats him as a treasure."

"Avery, don't exaggerate the facts. I also had a lot of troubles when I was young." Elliot corrected Avery.

Avery: "I didn't say anything about you and Shea. I'm talking about the material aspects of your life. You still look like you can't eat the fireworks. How dare you say that you suffered when you were a child?"

Elliot was speechless again.

"Of course, I didn't advocate enduring hardship. It's just that you don't take my daughter out to run around.” Avery warned him with her eyes.

Elliot: “If I want to take my daughter out, I’ll definitely be with you.”

“We’ll talk about it when you’re well! You haven’t been out for a long time now, so you must want to go anywhere.” Avery teased, “When the time comes, that’s great, I must be focused on work.”

Seeing her father being stunned by what her mother said, Layla couldn’t help laughing: “Mom, you have seen everything through my father.”

Avery: “Can you not see through? He’s known you older than you.”

Layla laughed, and the whole living room was filled with her daughter’s belllike laughter.

At 9:00 p.m., Avery fell asleep.

Elliot took a nap at noon and was not sleepy at all.

He looked at Avery’s sleeping face, helplessness flashed in his eyes.

She must have forgotten what she said in the morning.

But seeing her so tired, he couldn’t bear to wake her up.

He picked up the book on the bedside table, intending to read it before going to bed.

The phone screen suddenly lights up.

He took the phone and saw the message from Ben: [I heard that you adopted a little girl, is it true?]

Elliot replied: [The child was adopted by Shea and Wesley.]

Chapter 2305

Ben: [oh oh oh! Pretty good! I heard that it is a little girl with white hair, when will I go and see?]

Elliot: [If you want to see her, you have to know her situation clearly before you see her. She is not a small animal, don’t make fun of children.]

Ben: [You scared people!]

Elliot: [...]

Ben: [Why are you so serious? Are you in a bad mood? Shall I take you to play?]

Elliot: [Avery fell asleep.]

Ben: [Good! understood! I will arrange it! You wait, I will send you a car at the gate of your house.]

Elliot: [I said she's sleeping peacefully, and I'm going to sleep too!]

Ben: [Why don't you come?]

Elliot: [She is very tired from running around all day today. And, without her permission, I won't go out. You don't want to spoil me.]

Ben: [Humph! I wanted to gossip with you! It seems that we can only chat on the phone.]

Elliot: [What gossip?]

Ben: [Isn't Travis dead? Norah finally showed up. Hahaha! I guess she will never go back to Aryadelle in the future. She should also do well in Bridgedale. If she can grab part of the inheritance from Emilio.]

Elliot: [Is she fighting for inheritance?]

Ben: [She is also Travis's daughter. After Travis's will was announced, except Emilio, the other Jones family children gathered together to overturn the will.]

Elliot: [Funny, wills are protected by law, can they be overturned if they want?]

Ben: [So they will have a lawsuit. With Norah's scheming and methods, she felt that she would definitely get part of the inheritance. When she gets the inheritance, she can be resurrected with full blood!]

Elliot: [She'd better not appear in front of me, otherwise I won't be able to spare her.]

Ben: [Hahahaha! So I said she was afraid to go back to Aryadelle. However, she may be able to contact Sasha. This time, she used Sasha as a bait to bring Travis into the trap. It's possible that she used this trick on you as well.]

Elliot: [Then she will try to see if I won't take the bait.]

.....

Bridgedale.

It's Travis's funeral.

Travis made many friends in his life, so even if the number of guests at the funeral was repeatedly reduced, hundreds of people still came to the scene. Travis's body had been cremated in advance, so after the funeral ceremony, the ashes could be sent directly for burial.

During the luncheon, Mike planned to find an opportunity to chat with Emilio.

As a result, when he looked at Emilio's table, he accidentally met Norah's.

All Travis's children sat at a table.

The grievances between Norah and Travis were unknown to outsiders.

Outsiders didn't even know that Travis was killed by Norah. So everyone was not surprised that Norah attended the funeral.

After Norah saw Mike, the expression on her face was obviously stunned.

Mike raised his glass and gestured to Norah in the air.

"Is Mike a friend of my father?" Norah asked Emilio, looking away from Mike's face.

"No. Mike is my friend. What's wrong?" Emilio asked.

They had a few brothers and sisters, who seemed to be peaceful on the surface today, but they had split into two privately, preparing to sue for the issue of inheritance.

"Haha, Mike is Avery's follower. Avery asked him to come!" Norah said this deliberately, embarrassing Emilio.

“So what? Now I have the final say in the Jones family, and I have the final say in who to invite.” Emilio replied bluntly.

“Okay, I know you have Avery to support you.” Norah sneered, “Unfortunately, you will still lose the lawsuit.”

Chapter 2306

Emilio was stunned for a moment, then said without changing his face: “Then let’s wait and see!”

“Emilio, Don’t you really feel scared? If you dare to swallow such a large property of the Jones family, you are not afraid of dying?” Norah sneered, “Even if our brothers and sisters do nothing, believe it or not, You can’t keep what Travis gave you.”

Emilio: “It’s none of your business.” After a pause, he said, “Believe it or not, even if I don’t do anything, you will be punished in the future.”

Norah’s face suddenly turned gloomy.

“Those who do all the bad things will end sooner or later.” Emilio reminded her.

“Haha! Are you scaring me?” Norah didn’t even bother, “Didn’t your good father do all the bad things? He is 73 years old. How many good people in this world don’t live to that age? It’s not fair!”

Emilio had no way to refute.

Indeed, Travis was worse than Norah! However, Travis lived happily until his death, and it was so unfair to those who were killed by him!

Suddenly, Mike came over with a glass of wine.

“What are you talking about! It’s so exciting!” Mike walked to Emilio’s side, put one hand on Emilio’s shoulder, and looked at Norah with a smile.

The arrogance on Norah’s face suddenly subsided a bit: “Our family is talking, it's not your turn to interrupt as an outsider.”

Mike originally came to listen to the gossip, but he didn't expect Norah's attitude to be so arrogant.

“Your family? Emilio and you guys surnamed Jones shouldn't be considered a family, right? Didn't you join forces to hire a lawyer and plan to fight for inheritance with him?” Mike laughed and patted Emilio's shoulder, “Make room for me.”

Emilio immediately got up and gave him his place and immediately ask the waiter to add a chair.

“Aren't you the little white face next to Avery? Avery asked you to help Emilio?” The second sister glared at Mike with a bad tone.

“That's right! Avery asked me to come. Are you upset? Hold on!” Mike glanced at everyone with a smile, “Let me guess how you plan to fight for your inheritance! It's your intention to go to court to sue with tears in your eyes. Are you going to roll around? After all, the will was made by Travis himself, so there seems to be nothing you can do but play tricks.”

The second sister was so angry that blue veins burst out on her forehead, she wanted to have a big fight with Mike, but Norah pressed her down...

“Second sister, Ignore him. We can just follow our plan.” Norah said and gave Mike a contemptuous smile.

Mike: “Norah, does it feel good to kill? First, you used a knife to kill Elliot and Avery, but it didn't work. Now you used a knife to kill your biological father... If Travis knew that the murderer came to eat his seat, it is estimated that Even if there is a resurrection technique to bring him back to life, I'm afraid I'll be pissed off when I see you! Hahaha!”

“Mike, do you have any evidence?! If you don't have any evidence, then you're bloody!” Norah clenched her fists in anger.

"I don't have any evidence, so go and sue me! I wonder if you dare to sue me." Mike looked at Norah with a provocative attitude, "Don't you think Avery and Elliot lost their memory of what you did before? Right? Do you understand being a man with your tail between your legs?"

Norah couldn't eat her meal.

Keep sitting there and just make people see jokes!

She suppressed her anger, got up, and left with her bag.

Seeing Norah leaving, Emilio immediately raised his glass and toasted Mike:

"Thank you for helping me!"

"You're welcome. Norah is a paper tiger! it doesn't look like that she is very powerful, she only dares to pretend to be ruthless in front of you! If she sees Avery and Elliot, she is guaranteed to be like a grandson! Elliot asked her to cheat Travis's money before. She doesn't dare not obey." Mike said these words to the rest of the Jones family.

"Elliot is better than my father, and it's normal for Norah to be afraid of him."

The second sister spoke for Norah, "And now the conflict in our family is not between Norah and father at all, but the unfair distribution of father's inheritance. Except for Emilio, the rest of us all grew up with the father. Caleb and I joined my father's company after graduating from college. We worked diligently and obeyed my father's arrangements in everything, but my father did not give us a cent of his inheritance. It's you, can you not be angry?"

Mike: "What is there to be angry about! Travis gave you your life, forget it if you are not grateful, and take yourself as his creditor? If you want money, earn it yourself! No Which law stipulates that fathers must distribute property to children."

Mike's words made the whole table silent including Emilio.

"Didn't Avery also take her father's inheritance? I read the news before that her father gave her all the inheritance.” The second sister suddenly remembered this.

Chapter 2307

“Yeah! Her father did give her the technology he researched, and at the same time, there are hundreds of millions more debts. If that inheritance is given to you, do you want it?” Mike laughed.

Everyone fell silent again.

Aryadelle.

Elliot had a dream.

It’s hard to tell if this dream was a good dream or a nightmare. Because he dreamed that he was climbing a mountain.

The injury to his brain had not fully recovered, so when he climbed halfway up the mountain, he began to feel dizzy and could not see the road under his feet. In order to prevent himself from falling, he held onto the handrail on the side of the mountain road and stopped to catch his breath.

At the same time, he looked up at the direction of G-Temple.

In the dream, he was the only one climbing the mountain, and he might have come out with Avery on his back.

There was a voice guiding him and asking him to go to the mountain, because his daughter Haze was on the mountain.

So even if he was dizzy and might fall down the mountain at any time, he still wanted to climb up without hesitation.

In the dream, he kept crawling, kept crawling... He was sweating, hungry, and felt like he was going to fall down in the next second.

At this time, G-Temple suddenly appeared in front of him.

All the tiredness was wiped away.

Imbued with a steady stream of energy, he released the handrail and walked quickly towards the temple.

A white light flashed before his eyes, and at the entrance of the originally quiet temple, suddenly many tourists came to offer incense and pray for blessings.

The dream world also changed from quiet to noisy.

He was suddenly afraid that Haze would be snatched away, so he struggled to squeeze out of the crowd and shouted Haze's name.

The tourists around him can't seem to see his presence or hear his shouting.

People laughed and walked towards the gate of the temple, but a barrier suddenly appeared in front of him. No matter how hard he tried, he couldn't break through the barrier.

Obviously the temple was right in front of him, but he couldn't enter.

The hope that rose was shattered in an instant.

"Haze! Haze! Dad is here to find you!" He screamed out of exhaustion.

After his cry, the surroundings suddenly fell silent again.

All the tourists in front of him disappeared.

Even the barrier in front of him disappeared.

It's just that the door of the temple, which was originally open, was closed at some point.

He stared at the temple gate, and seemed to hear the sound of cheerful footsteps.

It was the sound of child's footsteps!

His Haze, heard his cry!

Chapter 2308

Avery woke up suddenly.

She was awakened by Elliot.

Elliot's throat suddenly made a drink, the sound was like a roar and a whimper.

She woke up and heard better.

"Elliot...Are you having a nightmare?" Avery sat up and raised her hand to turn on the room light.

She saw Elliot sweating profusely, with a look of fear on his face.

"Elliot!" Avery's voice increased a little, trying to wake him up from his nightmare, "Elliot, wake up!"

Her voice brought Elliot back to reality from the dream.

Elliot opened his eyes, and there were obvious tears in the corners of his eyes.

"Elliot, did you have a nightmare? What did you dream about?" Avery stretched out her hand to wipe the sweat from his forehead, "Do you want to drink water? I'll get you some water."

Elliot immediately grabbed her arm, didn't let her get out of bed.

"Avery, I dreamed that I went to G-Temple. This dream is not a nightmare... It's just a bit bizarre." He looked at Avery's face, breathing heavily, as if he hadn't come out of the dream. "The beginning of this dream was that I was climbing the mountain. I don't know who told me that Haze was on the mountain. So I tried my best to climb the mountain... When I climbed the mountain..."

"Have you seen Haze?" Avery was a little excited, so she reached out and patted his back.

Elliot nodded: "Avery, I saw Haze. She should be Haze, because after I called Haze, she appeared. If you don't wake me up, I'm going to ask her if she is Haze...”

Avery couldn't help laughing: “You blame me for waking you up? Did you know that your body was shaking, you were sweating a lot, and you made some strange growls, which scared me. I thought you had a nightmare. I called you several times before you woke up.”

Elliot said sternly: “I may have been too excited.”

“Well. You saw Haze in your dream, what does Haze look like? Does he look like Layla?” Avery was looking forward to his answer, “Actually, I also dreamed of Haze, but the Haze in my dream has no face, because I haven't seen her in reality, so I can't imagine her in my dream.”

Elliot pursed his lips, his throat was a little dry: “Avery, my throat hurts a little, I'll drink some water first.”

“Sit down! I'll bring it to you.” Avery held him down, then quickly got out of bed and went to pick up a glass of water, “Elliot, drink slowly, the water I got for you is a little hot.”

Elliot drank all the water in the glass in one gulp and put the water glass on the bedside table.

“Avery, in my dream, Haze didn't look like Layla.” Elliot frowned slightly, “She looks like when she was a child. Do you remember what I looked like when I was a child? I'm actually a little bit different from when I was a child now. The same. When I was a child, the lines of my face were softer and I looked better...”

“Hahaha! Everyone was cute when they were young! Those who look fierce now should also be cute when they were young! Little Children are all angels, no one is born a bad person, it is all caused by the environment and different encounters in the day after tomorrow... Where is your photo album? I want to see the photos of you when you were a child.” Avery said a little. No sleepiness anymore.

Elliot got out of bed and went to the study room to find an album.

Avery followed him and went to the study room together.

“Avery, what time is it now?” After Elliot showed her the photo album, he glanced at the sky outside the window.

It was dark outside, and it was impossible to tell what time it was.

“I didn’t check the time. It’s probably three or four o’clock!” After Avery took the photo album, she took his arm and went back to the bedroom, “If you are still sleepy, then you should continue to sleep. I have to continue to lie down while I look at the photo album for a while. My legs are a little sore after climbing the mountain these days.”

Elliot: “It means you don’t usually exercise.”

Avery: “You haven’t exercised for a long time, haven’t you? My body is definitely better than yours now.”

Elliot: “Then can I start exercising tomorrow?”

“No.” Avery refused without hesitation.

Elliot said helplessly, “Then stop laughing at me. Otherwise I would feel like a waste.”

Chapter 2309

Avery: “Is it so exaggerated? Would you like to find a psychiatrist for you?”

Elliot: “Avery, do you really not understand what I say?”

“I don’t understand! I think you are quite normal, why do you call yourself a waste?” Avery put her arms around his waist and suddenly woke up, “I see! Think about that!”

Elliot: “???”

Avery: "The injury to the brain is no trivial matter. You can't be negligent. You haven't reviewed it yet! Wait for the next time to check the results. Don't think about the mess for now. Take good care of your injury. When you recover from your injury, you can do whatever you want, and I will definitely not restrict you."

Elliot: "No... Didn't you say you came back to coax me yesterday morning?"

"Oh, I say this!" Avery didn't expect his memory to be so good, "I forgot if you didn't say it. Hahaha!"

Avery smiled, stood on tiptoe, and kissed him on the cheek.

"That's it?" Elliot reached out and touched his face, not satisfied.

"Okay, change it!" Avery said, wrapping her arms around his neck, her legs clinging to his waist, and hanging her body weight lightly on him.

The bodyguard on duty suddenly saw this scene on the surveillance screen and was stunned!

The public areas in the villa were all under surveillance, and under normal circumstances, there would not be such an explosive scene in the public areas.

"Do you think the boss will add another child?" The bodyguard chatted with another colleague on duty.

"Isn't our boss tied up?"

"I'm going! It's really sterilized? I still can't believe it!"

"When has the rumor about the boss in this family ever been faked? And the boss already has three children, so there is no problem with sterilization!"

"Have you become a mother? Our boss is worth such a sacrifice for a woman, right?!"

"Do you think our boss is a mother now? It's just a ligation, not a cut, so I'm worried about you. Avery didn't worry about it!"

In the morning, Robert woke up early this morning because he went to bed earlier last night.

After the little guy got up in the morning, he first drank milk and had breakfast, and then went to call his sister up.

Probably because he had a good time on the mountain yesterday, Robert still wanted to go out to play today.

“We only went to the mountain yesterday, let’s go next time! We can go to Uncle Wesley’s house to play with Maria and Lilly today!” Layla said.

“Okay, okay! Sister, let’s go!” Robert couldn’t wait to go out.

Mrs. Cooper couldn’t help laughing: “Robert, your parents haven’t woken up yet! Don’t you wait for them to wake up and tell them?”

“They sleep at home, and my sister and I go out to play.” Robert took his sister and went out.

Mrs. Cooper immediately brought him and Layla coats.

Not long after the two children left, Avery woke up.

After rubbing her eyes, she saw the photo album on the bedside table, so she picked it up and opened it.

Elliot said that the Haze he dreamed of was very similar to his childhood.

When Haze was first born, he was actually more like her and Layla. Could it be that the Haze looks more like Elliot?

Chapter 2310

While having breakfast, Elliot mentioned a dream he had at night.

“Avery, I think I should go to the mountain.” Elliot wanted to go to the mountain to confirm his dream.

“Elliot, I’ve seen all the children on the mountain. There’s no Haze there. I’m pretty sure. None of the children above are like me or you.” When Avery answered this question, she thought about those children's face, "If you don't believe it, when Layla comes home, you can ask her to show you the group photo on her phone."

Elliot had seen the big group photo last night. However, he only looked at it roughly at the time, not very carefully.

"It may be that I didn't take you to the mountain twice, and you have regrets in your heart. That's why you had that dream." Avery analyzed Elliot's psychology, "I'll show you when the weather is better next time. I'm afraid you'll keep thinking about it if I don't let you go."

"Well. Maybe it's what you said. If Haze was on that mountain, how could we have been looking for so long and couldn't find it." Elliot said here and decided to wait a minute and ask the people who sent it out to see if they have looked for it in G-Temple.

"Elliot, Aryadelle is too big. If you really want to hide someone, it's easy to hide. The main reason is that Haze is relatively small. Even if the people we sent out went to the mountains to look for it, as long as we look for it, can't she hide from the search?"

"Have breakfast!" This topic was too heavy. Talking more, Elliot was afraid that he would lose his appetite.

Avery picked up the milk cup and took a sip of milk: "Elliot, I took a look at your photo album this morning. You were really cute when you were young. It's a pity that our children are all like me. Why do you think this is? "

Elliot: "How nice you are. You are so cute, so are our children."

Avery: "But I think you were cute when you were young. You are cute and handsome."

"Maybe your genes are stronger, so the children look like you." Elliot never thought about this question before.

No matter who the child was like, as long as it was his and Avery's child, he liked it.

"I said this because you dreamed that Haze was like you. I thought you cared about this!" Avery picked up the bun and took a bite.

Elliot: "I didn't think about it. It was just a dream that suddenly occurred to me.

And I have photos of Haze just born. I think Haze should look like you."

"Just like you." Avery sighed, "I don't know if we can get this child back. If we can't get her back, this may be the biggest regret in our lives."

Avery: "It's a long life. There must be Opportunity."

.....

Brooks family.

The arrival of Layla and Robert made the family lively.

Lilly, Maria and Shea were slept together last night.

Although it was a bit crowded for four people to sleep in one bed, Lilly was very happy.

Maria was smaller than Lilly, and she especially liked Lilly, and had to hold Lilly all the time, which made Lilly feel that she was needed.

Lilly quickly entered the role of 'sister' and got along very well with Maria.

Because Lilly was very well-behaved, they didn't need to be taken care of too much at all.

Wesley's parents came to visit Lilly specially yesterday and liked her very much.

"This is the red envelope that grandpa gave me yesterday, and this is from grandma." Lilly took out the red envelope given by Wesley's parents and showed it to Layla and Robert, "They like me very much."

“You are so cute, everyone likes you.” Layla said, “I will give you a piggy bank next time. You can put the red envelope you received in the piggy bank. Or you can give the money to Aunt Shea or Uncle Wesley, let them keep it for you.”

Chapter 2311

“Layla, then you can give her a piggy bank next time! Let her keep her money by herself. Buy whatever you want in the future.” Shea said spoiledly.

“Okay, Aunt Shea, I’ll bring it next weekend.” Layla said and asked curiously, “Aunt Shea, will you send Lilly to school?”

“We’ll take her to school on Monday. Check out the kindergarten. See if she wants to go to school. If she wants, then go to school with Maria. If she doesn’t want to go to school, then stay at home and I will take care of her.”

Shea can accept anything.

As long as Lilly was healthy.

“I want to go to school with my little sister. But I’m a little afraid that I won’t know anything.” Lilly expressed her worries.

“I didn’t go to kindergarten well when I was young! My brother didn’t go to kindergarten either. My brother thinks kindergarten is too naive...Little Lilly, don’t worry you won’t! You can try first, if you go to kindergarten and you’re not happy, don’t go.” Layla cheered her on.

Lilly: “Yeah!”

After the four children played together for a while, Layla led Lilly and Maria into another room.

The three girls had more in common.

Robert was single.

Robert looked at the closed door and ran to find Aunt Shea with a look of grievance.

“Aunt Shea, they don’t play with me.” Robert hummed.

Shea picked Robert up and took him to get something delicious.

“Aunt Shea will play with you. We have new toys at home!”

“I want to play with my sister...but my sister doesn’t play with me...Maria ignores me...Lilly is willing to take care of me, but my sister takes Lilly Pulled away woo woo!” Robert pouted and refused Shea to bring him snacks,

“Auntie, where is the new toy?”

“The new toy hasn’t been opened yet! I’ll take you to unpack it!” Shea lead Robert to find new toys.

In the room, Layla turned on her mobile phone and showed Maria and Lilly the dancing video she recorded.

Maria and Lilly looked at the video of Layla dancing on the mobile phone with admiration on their faces!

When the video was over, Layla put her phone back and said, “I can’t show you my phone anymore, you two are children, you can’t look at my phone.”

“Sister Layla, show us a little longer! I’m going to hold the door against...my mother won’t come in. Yes!” Maria said, and immediately took her own small bench and placed it against the door of the room.

Little Lilly has never played with a cell phone, so she stared at the cell phone in Layla’s hand without blinking.

“Little Lilly, have you ever played with a cell phone? Let me play for you for a while? When you grow up to my age, I will give you a new cell phone. You are too young to use a cell phone now!” Layla opened the camera function casually, handed to Lilly.

“Thank you, Sister Layla.” Lilly happily took the phone, and after taking a few selfies, she accidentally clicked on a special effect.

“Huh...” Lilly exclaimed immediately after seeing the photo of Elliot getting smaller, “Sister Layla, Your dad is like a good friend of mine!”

Layla returned the photo to the one where her dad became smaller: “Lilly, did you mean Siena?”

Chapter 2312

“Yes! Siena and your father look a bit like when they were young!” Staring at Layla’s phone screen without blinking, Lilly said.

Layla also stared at the phone screen: “Is it true? Do you have a picture of Siena? No, you don’t have a mobile phone...”

“I don’t have a picture, we haven’t taken a picture.” Lilly explained, “Master does not allow others to take pictures of us. Our Host has never taken pictures of us.”

“Oh... it’s a pity I haven’t met your good friend, otherwise I’ll know if she’s real or not. Like my dad.” Layla said, thinking for a few seconds, then said,

“Actually, I don’t know if my dad looked like this when he was a child. This is something I just played with, and ask me when I go back. Dad, let’s see if he looked like this when he was a child.”

“Mmmm.” Lilly nodded obediently.

“Little Lilly, haven’t you met my dad? When you saw my dad, didn’t you think he was like your good friend?” Layla asked with a smile.

“Uncle Foster doesn’t look like...Uncle Foster was like when he was a child...” At least Lilly looked at Elliot’s face now, and wouldn’t associate him with Siena.

But looking at the photo of Elliot getting smaller in Layla's phone, at first glance, Lilly thought it was her good friend Siena.

"Okay! Maybe my dad is too old now. He was also a baby when he was a kid, so he was a little cuter when he was a kid." Layla said this, and she couldn't help but want to see what her dad really looked like when he was a child.

Layla: "Sister Layla, can I see what I'm like when I'm old?"

"Of course you can. I'll take a frontal photo for you first." Layla turned on the camera, took a photo of Lilly, and then clicked the aging effect. Soon, Lilly's old photo was born.

Lilly: "It's fun! Sister Layla, is this really what I'm like when I get old?"

Layla: "The photo of Dad getting smaller is also not allowed! This is just a special effect designed by someone else..."

"Oh! I seem to understand." Lilly was stunned.

Layla: "Little Lilly, it's fine even if you don't understand. You will understand when you grow up."

Little Lilly immediately showed a bright smile.

"Sister Layla, I want to shoot too! Hurry up and help me!" Maria ran to Layla, grabbed her cute little head, and looked at Layla expectantly.

"Don't shake your head, or you will be photographed ugly!" After fixing her little head, Layla took a frontal photo of her.

After Layla made her old with one click, Maria immediately took Layla's phone and ran to the door of the room.

"Mom! Look, Mom! I'm getting old!" Maria probably forgot that she had just moved the small bench to the door, for fear that her mother would find out that they were playing with their mobile phones.

Now Maria had Layla's phone and she wanted to go out and show it to her mother.

Layla looked at the back of Maria running away and shook her head helplessly.

But Auntie Shea was so gentle, Layla probably wouldn't say that she showed her two younger sisters her phone.

Since she was a little kid, she wasn't afraid of Shea at all, so she could see that Shea must be very fond of Maria at ordinary times.

"Mom! Sister Layla is making me old! Look, Mom! I'm not beautiful when I get old!" Maria quickly found her mother who was playing with Robert and showed her the phone.

After looking at the photo, Shea couldn't help laughing: "Maria has become a little old woman!"

"Mom, you are not allowed to laugh at me ugly!" Maria pouted and pretended to be angry.

"It's not ugly, it's not ugly. Mom didn't say you are ugly. Even if you become a little old woman, you're still mom's little baby!" Shea touched her daughter's little face, coaxed softly, and Maria immediately opened her mouth.

Chapter 2313

"Mom, look at uncle... There is a photo of my uncle getting smaller in my sister's mobile phone... You order it...I won't order it." Maria's little finger pointed to the phone and asked her mother to order it.

Robert watched with relish.

He put down the new toy, took his sister's mobile phone from his auntie's hand, opened the album skillfully, and found his father's photo.

After he saw the photo of his father getting smaller, he laughed out loud: "My dad is so cute!"

After that, the little guy kissed the screen without warning.

“Robert, You’re so disgusting! You’ve smeared my screen!” Layla rushed over, rescued the phone from Robert’s hand, and pushed Robert aside.

Robert pouted and looked aggrieved: “If you don’t play with me, you still push me... I’m going to go back and tell my mother.”

“If you dare to tell my mother, then I will never play with you again!” Layla threatened calmly.

As for her younger brother, Layla was completely confident to handle it.

Sure enough, Robert listened to her words, and immediately stepped forward to ask for a hug: “Sister, I’m just kidding, I won’t tell my mother. I like you the most! Why don’t you play with me!”

“I only have two hands, I can only hold little Sister Maria and Little Lilly, I can’t hold you anymore! If you want to play with us, you can’t lose your temper, do you hear?” Layla said a lesson.

At that time, the reason why Layla brought her two younger sisters into the room and shut Robert out was because Robert lost her temper.

Robert was jealous because Layla didn’t lead him.

“Sister, I know I’m wrong. I don’t lose my temper.” Robert bowed his head to admit his mistake.

“This is a good brother!” Layla reconciled with her brother, and took her two younger sisters to the room to play again.

Robert picked up the new toy and followed them into the room obediently.

The other side.

In the simple and modern style room, the mother-in-law made lunch and shouted Siena to wash her hands and eat.

Since going down the mountain, Siena had been locked in this small house of less than 100 square meters.

She was used to being free in the temple, so her current life made her very restrained and unhappy.

“Siena, I made your favorite braised pork.” The mother-in-law put two pieces of meat for Siena into the bowl.

“Mother-in-law, when can we go out to play?” Siena held the spoon and looked at her favorite braised pork. She had no appetite. “Can’t we all go out in the future?”

“Of course not. Let’s see what the Miss will arrange next. As you saw yesterday, the Miss is very kind to you and she won’t hurt you.” The mother-in-law said, “Siena, you have to remember that although I was taking care of you, your life was saved by the Miss. And it was the Miss who saved your life.

The Miss paid me to take care of you. If you didn’t have a young lady, you might be as pitiful as the children on the mountain.”

“But I don’t think they are pitiful! I want to go back to the mountain. Mother-in-law, can you take me back?” At this point, Siena’s tears flickered in her eyes.

“Siena, you have to be obedient. I told you that someone wanted to kill you.

Aren’t you afraid of death? Even if you are not, I am. I won’t let you run around.” The mother-in-law became tough.

“Miss is not at home today, mother-in-law, can you take me out for a walk? I don’t want to be locked up here.” Siena was pitiful, reaching out to wipe away tears, “I’m used to staying on the mountain, and I can’t stay here for a moment...”

Chapter 2314

The Mother-in-law shed tears when she saw it, and couldn’t bear it.

“Then you eat first. After dinner, I will take you to walk around the neighborhood. Siena, this place is a hundred times better than the mountain.

You will definitely like the city life.” The mother-in-law said, “Little Lilly’s life is good! She was led down the mountain by Avery, and she will definitely not worry about food and clothing in the future.”

Siena: “Mother-in-law, didn’t you say that Auntie Tate was a bad person? Since Auntie Tate is a bad person, why do you say that Lilly’s life is good?”

Mother-in-law: “Bad person’s not bad for everyone. Avery may be good to Lilly.”

Siena: “Then how do you know she will be good to Lilly? What if she bullies Lilly? Unless she is not as bad as you say.”

Siena had been thinking about this question since she went down the mountain.

Avery Tate she saw was obviously so gentle, not like a bad person at all. A person’s eyes, tone, give the impression that people couldn’t be deceived. Of course, now that Siena was relatively small, there was no way to express her inner feelings in words.

“Even if she bullies Lilly, that’s not something we can manage. Siena, just take care of yourself.” The mother-in-law said, sighed, and gave her a chopstick of vegetables.

“Mother-in-law, I want to call Lilly. I know I can’t control other people’s affairs, but Lilly is my best friend. I want to know if she is doing well after she goes down the mountain.” Siena looked at her mother-in-law with a begging face, “I know Auntie Tate’s number. Mother-in-law, can you call Auntie Tate and ask Lilly.”

“Siena, you ignore everything mother-in-law said to you, right?” Mother-in-law didn’t want to talk to Avery because of any relationship, she didn’t want to call Avery.

“Mother-in-law, I didn’t want to listen to you. I just want to know how Lilly is doing. If she is doing well, then I will never call Auntie Tate again...” Speaking of which, Siena’s tears fell.

“Well, don’t cry, don’t cry. There’s nothing to cry about. I’ll find a way to call Avery later... Give me her phone number.” The mother-in-law reached out to Siena.

Siena immediately got down from the dining chair, ran to the room, found her schoolbag, and took out a note with Avery’s number from the middle of the schoolbag.

.....

Foster family.

Avery was resting at home but she was not idle.

During lunch, she followed Shea videocall to see what the children were doing.

Seeing that they got along very well, Avery felt relieved.

She probably slept earlier last night, and during her lunch break today, she couldn’t fall asleep.

She left the bedroom, went to the study, opened the notebook, and looked up information on albinism on the Internet.

Soon, she was fascinated by it.

After some time, the study door was pushed open.

Elliot took her mobile phone and walked in front of her.

“Avery, your phone is ringing. It’s an unfamiliar number.” Elliot slept soundly, but was awakened by the ringing of her phone.

When Avery left the bedroom, she forgot to take out her phone.

“Did it wake you up?” Avery said sternly, took the phone from Elliot, and glanced at the missed call.

The number was a landline number from a neighboring city.

“I did wake up. But what’s even scarier is to wake up and see that you are not around.” Elliot broke out in a cold sweat just now.

Chapter 2315

“I can’t sleep, so I came to check for albinism. Most of this call is a harassing call.” Avery put the mobile phone on the table, got up from the chair and walked to Elliot, “Go back to sleep! It’s still early. I’ll take you back to your room.”

“I can’t sleep. But I don’t know what to do. Imagine a retired life feels a bit scary.” During the time when Elliot was forced to rest, he had actually tried to cultivate a lot of interests.

Unfortunately, apart from work, Elliot is not particularly interested in other things.

“Why don’t you try fishing?” Avery gave Elliot some advice, “I saw a news this morning that a man went out over the wall in the middle of the night in order to fish... It seems that his wife didn’t like him fishing, so he sneaked out to fish.”

“Are you sure he climbed over the wall in the middle of the night to go fishing, not for anything else?” Elliot questioned the news, “What kind of fish is he fishing in the middle of the night? He can’t see the floats, is he blind fishing?”

Avery: “...”

Elliot looked confident: “Most of this is going out for an affair.”

Avery: “But I saw the pictures on the news, and he brought fishing tools! If it was going out for an affair, why does he need to bring tools?”

Elliot couldn’t understand the expressions of this world.

“You’d better go and lie down! You can search for fishing-related videos. I’m fascinated by other people’s fishing.” Avery said here, the mobile phone on the table rang.

She let go of Elliot, walked to the desk, and saw that the landline number just now was calling.

If it was a harassing call, it would not be called again without answering, and would be called again.

“Is it the same number just now?” Elliot stood there, looking at her and asked.

“Well. I’ll take it.” Avery said and answered the phone.

Elliot stood at the door of the study, did not listen closely, but did not intend to leave.

“Is it Miss Tate?” There was an old voice over the phone.

This should not be a harassing call.

Avery responded immediately: “I’m Avery, may I ask you who is?”

“I just wanted to ask Lilly, is she okay? Can she easily answer the phone?”

After all, her mother-in-law was distressed by Siena, so she brought Siena with her. She came outside, borrowed someone else’s landline, and called Avery.

The mother-in-law actually has a mobile phone, but the mother-in-law does not want to reveal any information about herself.

After Avery heard ‘Little Lilly’, she immediately thought of G-Temple, and quickly guessed the identity of the other party.

“Are you Siena’s mother-in-law?” Avery had a smile on her face and a smile in her voice, “I’ve been waiting for you to call me. Lilly went up the mountain yesterday and didn’t see Siena, so she cried so sadly. But Lilly is not at my house now. She was adopted, and the other party is my close relative...

Where are you and Siena now? Let’s meet and talk! I can bring Lilly to meet you. Or I will send someone to pick you up to my house.”

Avery showed the greatest sincerity.

Unexpectedly, the mother-in-law listened to her words and did not agree to meet.

“Who did you adopt Lilly? Is the other party reliable? Miss Tate, Lilly is sick, how could you just give her to someone else?” The mother-in-law was very dissatisfied.

“Mother-in-law, don’t worry. The husband and wife who adopted Lilly are a doctor and the wife is my husband’s sister. They are all very good people. Lilly will definitely be well taken care of by following them.”

“Oh, doctor! That’s all right.” After the mother-in-law finished speaking, she was about to hang up. “I’m calling you just to ask, nothing else. Siena is fine now, please let Lilly not worry about her. In the future, they will see by fate!”

“Are you planning to take Siena far away?” Avery felt a little regretful.

“Yes. Don’t look for us.” After the mother-in-law finished, she hung up the phone.

Chapter 2316

Elliot saw Avery’s face astonished, strode in front of her, and asked, “was it Lilly’s grandmother? “

“Well. She asked about Lilly. I asked her to meet, but she refused.” Avery was a little disappointed, “She said she would take Siena to a far place. It is estimated that Lilly and Siena will not meet in the future.”

Elliot: “Didn’t you ask her where she’s going?”

“She didn’t give me a chance. She just told me not to go to them.” Avery looked at the landline number on the phone screen, “This number is from a neighboring city. Yes, it’s not far. I don’t know if she wants to take Siena to a farther place.”

“Don’t you think she seems to be running away?” Elliot questioned, “After taking Lilly from up the mountain, Siena's mother-in-law left immediately with Siena and she walked in such a hurry. It stands to reason that she has been living on the mountain with Siena, so there should be no family at the bottom of the mountain. If there is a family, why would she take such a small child to live on the mountain. "

Avery: "Elliot, we don't know anything about their situation. What you're saying now is just your guess. I don't think mother-in-law needs to run away from us. Why should she run away from us? We won't do anything to her."

"My focus is not on the mother-in-law, but on the little girl." Elliot said his guess, "Combining with the dream I had last night, I have to be so suspicious..."

"Hahaha!" Avery was amused by his serious look and tone, "Since you have this suspicion, let's go and see what Siena looks like!"

"I want to do this. So let me tell you." Elliot wanted to see Avery Attitude.

Avery: "Elliot, just send someone to do this. In fact, you can see if this child is our daughter by looking at Siena's photos."

"Well. You sent me the landline number just now. I'll send someone to investigate this number." Elliot got Avery's support and became more and more motivated.

In the evening.

The driver took Layla and Robert home.

Robert fell asleep in the car again.

When the bodyguard took Robert out of the car, he still didn't wake up.

"Layla, what did you guys play at your auntie's house today? Your brother slept really soundly." Avery saw that her daughter was not in a good mood, so she held her daughter's hand.

“Uncle Wesley has gone to work, I’m afraid Auntie Shea will be tired, so I’ll take three little guys to play!” Layla yawned, “My brother didn’t say he wanted to sleep before he got in the car, and as soon as he got in the car, he closed his eyes. The car has a hypnotic effect on him.”

Avery: “Baby, you worked hard today. Are you hungry?”

“Mom, I’m not hungry. I’m full at my auntie’s house. I want to take a bath now.”

Avery: “Well, Mommy will take you to your room.”

“Okay!” Layla grabbed Mommy’s hand and walked through the living room with Mommy, when she suddenly remembered something, and immediately let go of Mommy and walked towards Dad “Dad, what did you look like when you were young?”

Elliot was stunned by this sudden question.

“Hahaha, Layla, come here. I’ll show you what your Dad looked like when he was a child.” Avery took her daughter to the master bedroom.

Elliot wanted to go to the master bedroom with them, but Robert woke up.

After Robert woke up, he glanced at the situation around him, and then his eyes locked in the direction of his Dad.

“Dad...” Robert’s mouth was deflated, with an expression like he was about to cry, “Dad hug!”

Elliot immediately walked over and took his son into his arms.

Although Robert was four years old and a big baby, in Elliot’s view, his son would always be a little baby who needed his care.

In the master bedroom.

Chapter 2317

Avery showed Elliot’s childhood photos to her daughter.

Avery: "It just so happened that I saw your Dad as a child last night. Your Dad was very good-looking when he was a child, and his temperament is completely different from his present temperament."

Layla stared at her Dad's appearance as a child in the photo, and she was fascinated.

After a while, Layla took out her phone and found the album: "Mom, there is a function on the phone that can make a person look like a child... Look, this is a photo of my dad getting smaller on my phone. I want to see if the photos on my phone are different from the ones my dad really looked like when he was a kid."

"It's definitely different." Avery glanced at the photos on both sides and said firmly, "The phone is based on the photos provided by users. No, it's not as cute as your dad's real look."

After comparing it, Layla felt that her Mom was right.

"Lilly said that the shrinking dad on my phone looks like her good friend Siena." Layla showed her Mom the photo of Elliot's size on the phone, "but she said that her Dad doesn't look like Siena now... Now I'm looking at the photos of my Dad when he was a child, and I think..."

"Did Lilly really say that?" Avery said in shock.

Layla: "Yeah! I gave her my cell phone to play with today. She saw this photo and said it was very similar to her good friend Siena."

Avery took her daughter's cell phone and stared at the photo for a while, then muttered. She murmured, "Layla, do you know what kind of dream your dad had last night?"

Layla: "What dream?"

Of course Layla couldn't guess.

Avery: "Your Dad dreamed that Haze was in G-Temple. Your Dad suspected that Siena was Haze."

Although Elliot didn't say so directly, Avery could guess what Elliot was thinking.

Layla looked shocked, not knowing what to say.

The other side.

Because the mother-in-law took Siena out today and borrowed the phone to call Avery, the Miss was very angry.

Originally, the mother-in-law could not tell the Miss about it, but the mother-in-law was afraid that she would cause trouble by making an assertion, so she still told the Miss.

"Elliot and Avery are looking for Siena regardless of the cost. Once they become suspicious, they can find Siena." The Miss frowned, "Siena can't stay here anymore."

"Miss, you are telling us now...Are you going?" the mother-in-law asked.

"Siena will go but you don't go." The Miss's eyes were sharp and her tone was calm, "Prepare for the worst first."

Siena heard what they said, and immediately exclaimed: "I don't want to be separated from my mother-in-law! Miss!, you're a bad people!"

"Siena, you can't say such things to Miss!" The mother-in-law hugged Siena with tears in her eyes, "Siena, Miss is for your own good, you are obedient. You leave with Miss first. When the risk is over, I will find you again."

The Miss looked at Siena coldly: "Siena, do you want to know who your mother is?"

This question aroused Siena's curiosity: "Who is my mother?"

"Come with me, I'll tell you. Not only can I tell you, I can show you her picture." The Miss reached out to her, "Let's go! If you are caught by Avery, then You will never see your mother-in-law again. You will never know your background.”

“Siena, go!” The mother-in-law put Siena’s little hand in the Miss’s hand with tears in her eyes.

Siena followed the Miss away and got into a car.

After the car started, Siena became uneasy: “Miss, who is my mother? What does she look like?”

The Miss turned on her phone, found a photo, and showed it to her.

Chapter 2318

“This is your mother.” The Miss said, “Is she beautiful?”

Siena looked at the photo and saw fascinated.

Siena: “Is this really my mother? She is so beautiful!”

“Yes. She is indeed beautiful. Not only is she beautiful, but she also has a sweet voice. She fascinates men.” The Miss said this, and added, “What’s even more enviable is that her family is rich.”

Siena: “She died?”

Siena remembered that her mother-in-law said that her family was dead.

“Yes. She died. You are the only one in your family who survived.” The Miss put away her phone, “Siena, to kill your whole family, I definitely want to kill you. So if you run around, There is only one dead end.”

“Mother-in-law said it was Auntie Tate...” Siena didn’t believe that Avery was such a terrible bad person.

“Not necessarily. I’m investigating. I think it’s more likely to be her.” The Miss said, “There are many things, I’m telling you now, but you don’t understand. When you grow up, you will naturally understand everything.”

Oh...what’s my mother’s name?” Siena asked.

“Her name is Rebecca Jobin.”

“Rebecca Jobin.” Siena kept her mother’s name in her heart, and then asked,

“What about my father? What’s my father’s name?”

“Hehe, your father is an irresponsible man! You know his name is not good for you!” When the Miss said this, her eyes were full of hatred.

If Elliot could have been with Rebecca, then all the tragedies would not have happened——

The Jobin family will not be destroyed, and Lorenzo Paquette will not be implicated!

Siena saw that the Miss was very emotional, and suddenly lost the courage to continue to ask questions.

“Miss, where are you taking me? When will my mother-in-law come to me? I want to be with my mother-in-law.” Siena pleaded softly.

“We’ll talk about it in a few days. Let’s see if someone will find your mother-in-law.” The Miss’s mood gradually calmed down, “Don’t be afraid, I won’t hurt you. I just want to find out who killed your whole family.”

“Miss, Are you my relative?” Siena thought that the Miss might be a good person.

“No. I don’t like your mother. But there are people in your family that I care about.” The Miss said sadly.

She felt that Siena was too young, so she was not wary of Siena.

Siena: “Miss, who do you care about?”

The Miss: “You don’t even know me. When something happened to your family, you were a little baby who didn’t understand anything.”

“I only know my mother-in-law. My mother-in-law takes care of me, yes. she’s good. The Masters and maids on the mountain are also very good to me.”

Siena has no memory of the Jobin family annihilation case.

Although her childhood was ups and downs, what she remembered in her mind were all beautiful things.

“Your mother-in-law takes care of you every day and has feelings for you.

Besides, you are not an annoying child.” The Miss looked at Siena’s face and was fascinated, “You look like your father but you don’t look like your Mom at all.”

“So, my father is very handsome.” Siena said that because her mother-in-law always praised her for her good looks.

“Haha, what’s the use of being good-looking, a man who doesn’t take responsibility is a lot of harm!” The Miss attacked.

The Miss thought that Avery was most likely responsible for the murder of the Jobin family. Because Rebecca gave birth to Elliot’s daughter, Haze, Avery became jealous, so she found someone to kill dozens of people in the Jobin family.

Avery did all the calculations, but Haze escaped unexpectedly.

If The Miss guess was right, then Avery would definitely not let Haze, who changed her name to Siena, be spared.

.....

Foster family.

Chapter 2319

After the two children fell asleep, Avery and Elliot returned to the master bedroom.

“Originally, when you told me that you doubted Siena, I didn’t feel anything.

Because just based on a dream, how can we conclude that this is really the case. If your dream is so accurate, then tell me what to do next. But Lilly said today that Siena looks like your childhood photo... that’s really possible...”

Avery said here, her heartbeat quickened, and she wanted to find Siena now to see if that child is her own daughter.

Elliot: "Avery, I didn't suspect them just based on a dream. It's because their reaction was so strange."

"Well, husband, you are very good at being a detective. You said that we hired so many people to find the little girl. I have never found her whereabouts, but you found the clue all at once." Avery praised.

"If Siena is Haze, then you are a great. If you didn't go to the mountain to pray, how could you find Haze along the way?" Elliot put the credit on Avery.

"I wanted to go to another temple. It's the G-Temple that you took me to. It's all your credit for this." Avery put the credit back on Elliot, "Husband, maybe it's for some reason. In the middle of the year, God guided us to find Haze. We have been looking for her for so long, and it is time to find her."

Elliot: "Well. Maybe you were praying on the mountain, and the God heard your heart, so let us find Haze."

The two of them were excited, so they hugged each other tightly.

After a while, Avery released Elliot.

"Are we both excited? We haven't found Haze yet!" Avery couldn't help laughing, "Let's go take a shower first! We'll talk about it when we take a bath and go to bed."

Elliot: "Well, you go wash first. I'll make a phone call to make arrangements."

Avery: "Okay."

Avery didn't take a nap at noon today, so she's a little sleepy at the moment. She took her pajamas and walked towards the bathroom.

Elliot picked up the phone and dialed the next number.

"What I asked you to do this afternoon, you can do it now." Elliot was afraid that the night would be too long. "Bring more people over, and be sure to find the old woman and Siena. Remember, don't scare them."

"Okay boss, I'll take someone out." The man replied.

After Elliot explained the matter, holding the phone, he paced up and down the room.

He asked the entrusted detective if he had searched G-Temple, and the detective replied that he had.

However, the list of young children in G-Temple obtained by the detective did not have the name Siena.

This was also one of the reasons why Elliot doubts Siena.

All the information now points out that Siena in G-Temple was most likely his daughter Haze who lived abroad.

After taking a bath, Elliot and Avery chatted for a while on the bed.

The two agreed that this time they should be able to find Haze.

Because Avery was so sleepy, Elliot felt asleep not long after but couldn't sleep.

He slept for a while and then picked up his mobile phone to see if his subordinates had progress reports.

This state of affairs continued until after 5:00 in the morning.

The subordinate finally sent a progress report: [Boss, I found the place where the old woman lives. I'm standing guard at the door now. As soon as she opens the door, I'll go in.]

Elliot replied: [Good. Remember not to scare them. But if the old woman doesn't allow you to approach Siena, you can take some measures against her. But it must not hurt the crispy.]

The subordinates did not expect the boss to reply to the news in seconds, and they were a little nervous: [Boss, I understand! You are waiting for my news!]

Chapter 2320

After Elliot put down his mobile phone, he was completely drowsy. He put the phone on the bedside table, intending to get out of bed to wash.

He got out of bed lightly and put on his slippers. Avery rolled over and opened her eyes.

“Husband, what are you going to do? What time is it?” Avery asked with sleepy eyes and a hoarse voice.

Elliot: “It’s still early, it’s only after 5 o’clock. You continue to sleep. I’ll go to the bathroom.”

“Husband, haven’t you slept all night? I feel like you’ve been rolling over in my sleep.” Avery rubbed her eyes and borrowed In the dim light, she said, “You turn on the light, I don’t want to sleep anymore.”

Elliot turned on the room light as he said.

If it was normal, he would definitely let her continue to sleep. Now he was more emotional, and he believed that Avery would be the same as him.

Elliot: “Avery, the person I sent out has already found her mother-in-law’s place.”

Avery’s eyes widened suddenly, and her eyes shone brightly: “Is it going so well? I just slept...”

“Well. We found the owner of that number through the landline number. The owner runs a small supermarket. It happens that there is surveillance at the entrance of the small supermarket. Through the time when the mother-in-law called you, she was captured. Then the person took the picture of the mother-in-law and went to the neighborhood and asked about her, and he quickly found the community where the mother-in-law lives.” Elliot replied.

Avery immediately lifted the quilt and got out of bed: "Great! I hope to see Siena today! I can get satisfactory results!"

"Avery, don't hold out too much hope. I'm afraid that the greater the hope, the greater the disappointment." When Elliot said this, the corners of his mouth rose.

Although Elliot told Avery like this, he had great hope in his heart.

"I know it might be a misunderstanding. But there is hope if there are clues. I like this feeling of hope." Avery was not afraid of disappointment, but she was afraid that there had been no clue after searching for so long, "Since I found out that Haze is my daughter, I always look forward to getting news about her. Even if the clues are wrong, it is better than no clues. If there are no clues, I always feel that she is dead."

"Avery, I understand your feelings." Elliot thought the same as Avery, "Are you hungry? Shall we make breakfast by ourselves?"

Avery: "Okay! Actually, I'm not hungry, but I want to make breakfast with you."

After a brief wash, the two came out of the master bedroom.

"Avery, what do you want to eat?" Elliot was gearing up, as if he was going to do something.

Avery turned on the light on the first floor and looked at Elliot with a surprised expression: "What else do you do besides noodles?"

This question made Elliot think carefully for a few seconds: "I should still cook porridge."

Avery: "Then Do you know the ratio of water to rice when cooking porridge?"

Elliot: "..."

Avery: "Why don't I do it? You can just stay with me."

Elliot nodded and said, "I want to eat dumplings, do you know how to make dumplings?”

Avery pursed her lips, and after secretly raised her breath, she said, “I can do everything. No, just look it up online. I’ll go see if there’s any flour in the refrigerator first.”

“Well. If it’s too much trouble, I can eat porridge and noodles.” Elliot regretted after saying that he wanted to eat dumplings.

Even if he wanted to eat dumplings too happily, he shouldn’t tell Avery.

Although Avery’s cooking skills were a little better than Elliot, it’s only a little bit better.

“If you want to eat dumplings, I will definitely let you eat dumplings.” Avery put her arms around his waist to reassure him.

...

The neighboring city, 6:30 in the morning.

Chapter 2321

The mother-in-law opened the door with a bag of garbage in her hand.

As soon as the door was pushed open, she was shocked by three tall and burly men at the door.

“You...” The garbage bag in the mother-in-law’s hand fell to the ground, exclaiming for a while.

“Hello, mother-in-law, we’re here to find Siena.” The leading bodyguard immediately showed a self-righteous and kind smile.

The mother-in-law looked at the three big men with smiles, and the shock in her heart rose sharply. But she quickly guessed who they were.

The mother-in-law blamed herself in her heart. Yesterday, she should not have made an assertion and called Avery. At the same time, she’s also fortunate in her heart that fortunately, the Miss was unpredictable and noticed the danger in advance, which prevented the tragedy from happening.

“Oh... Who are you?” After thinking about it, the mother-in-law quickly calmed down, “How do you know Siena?”

“Hello mother-in-law, we are sent by Mr. Foster, we have no malicious intentions, just I want to confirm whether Siena is our boss’s daughter.” The leading bodyguard said politely.

The mother-in-law seemed to have heard a big joke, and suddenly laughed:

“Siena’s parents are from my home village. How could she be your boss’s child? Also, you said Mr. Foster...what? Mr. Foster? Siena’s father’s surname is Cooper, not Foster!”

The three big men suddenly changed their expressions.

“Did you make a mistake? Also, Siena is sick, and I’m going to buy her medicine...” The mother-in-law wanted to send them away.

But they didn’t see Siena, how could they just let it go.

The leading bodyguard: “What’s wrong with her? Does she need to be taken to the hospital? We have a car, so we can take her to the hospital.”

“No, no, she just has a fever, she can take some antipyretics.” The mother-inlaw said. She was afraid that they would not believe it, so she turned and pushed away The door, walked in, “Come in and have a look! Siena really has a fever...”

“At this point, the pharmacy outside isn’t open yet! Where are you going to buy medicine? Or deliver it? Go to the hospital!” The leading bodyguard strode to keep up with her mother-in-law.

“There is a 24-hour pharmacy. A cold and fever are just minor illnesses, and we shouldn’t go to the hospital.” The mother-in-law said calmly, and pushed open a door, “Siena, some uncles have come to see you. Just wait a minute, Mother-in-law will buy medicine for you later.”

The room was dimly lit, and only a child could be seen lying on the bed, but the child's face could not be seen clearly.

The leading bodyguard found the switch and immediately turned the light on.

The little girl on the bed had flushed cheeks and panicked eyes.

It looked like she had a real fever.

The leading bodyguard reached out and touched the little girl's forehead, which was a little hot.

"She may not be very adaptable to the life at the foot of the mountain. She fell ill when she got off the mountain." The mother-in-law said anxiously, "Why do you suspect that she is Mr. Foster's child? Has Mr. Foster ever seen Siena? Or did you listen to someone? "

"Mother-in-law, we are just following orders." When The leading bodyguard spoke, he looked at the little girl on the bed.

Judging from her appearance, although this little girl was born beautiful, she didn't look much like Elliot and Avery.

After watching for a while, The leading bodyguard felt that this little girl was completely different from Elliot and Avery.

"Do you think she looks like the boss and Avery?" The leading bodyguard and two other subordinates whispered.

The other two men shook their heads one after another: "I don't think so. But my eyesight is very bad, so it may not be right."

"I don't think so, but I said it doesn't count. What if she is really the boss's child?" Another bodyguard said.

If it can tell who is parent-child with whom by the naked eye, then why does it need DNA testing?

“Are you going to deal with your boss? It’s not that I don’t want to cooperate with you, it’s that she has a fever, you guys staying here, she is afraid... Isn’t there a DNA test to check whether it is a parent-child relationship? Why don’t you pull out a few hairs of her and take it away, and take it back for a test with your boss?” The mother-in-law suggested.

“Hair is very troublesome! It seems to need the kind with hair follicles. If we don’t pull out well, wouldn’t it be in vain? It’s better to draw blood!” The bodyguard said.

When the mother-in-law heard that the little girl was going to have blood drawn, she immediately lowered her face: “Siena is already sick and weak, and she is very afraid of pain, most afraid of injections. If you want to draw her blood, she will definitely cry...”

The mother-in-law’s voice was settled, and the little girl suddenly cried out on the bed: “I don’t want an injection... Mother-in-law, I don’t want an injection...”

“Siena, don’t be afraid! Mother-in-law will protect Yours.” The mother-in-law sat down by the bed, held Siena in her arms, and looked at the three bodyguards with embarrassment, “If you don’t know how to pull her hair, you can find a professional... you guys. I also saw that Siena looks like this, how do you draw blood?”

The three bodyguards looked at each other, and after a while, one of the bodyguards went out to find someone.

The other two bodyguards continued to discuss, and then another bodyguard went out to buy antipyretics for Siena.

“Thank you!” The mother-in-law said to the bodyguard in the room, “But I’m not lying to you, Siena is just an ordinary child. If she is Mr. Foster’s daughter, how come I haven’t heard of it at all? I don’t stop her from living in a wealthy family! Do you think so?”

“Mother-in-law, it’s useless for you to tell me this. I just follow my boss’s instructions. When the DNA results come out, no, it’s not the two of us. Open your mouth and say it.”

“Yeah! You’re right. But can I trouble you to wait in the living room? Siena has a fever, I have to wipe her body.” The mother-in-law touched the forehead of the girl in her arms and spoke to the bodyguard.

The bodyguard hesitated for a moment, glanced at the window of the room, there were security windows installed outside, and then he exited the room with confidence.

The bodyguard came to the living room, took out his mobile phone, and sent a message to Elliot to report the situation here.

Foster family.

After Elliot and Avery were busy in the kitchen for more than an hour, they finally ate the dumplings they made by themselves.

The two were at the dining table, each with a bowl of hot dumplings, which was delicious.

After eating a few dumplings, Elliot was thinking about the crispy, so he picked up his mobile phone and opened it, and saw the message from the bodyguard.

“Avery, the person I sent out saw Siena. They said Siena didn’t look like the two of us.” Elliot’s eyes softened a bit.

Siena didn’t look like them, and this sentence pierced his heart.

“You ask him to take a crisp photo to come and see.” Avery was also a little disappointed, but she didn’t show it.

“Okay.” Elliot responded and replied to the bodyguard.

After a while, the bodyguard sent over the secretly photographed photos.

In the photo, the mother-in-law was bathing the little girl.

The little girl's clothes were taken off, her hair was disheveled, and half of her face was blocked by her mother-in-law's body.

Bodyguard Attachment: [Boss, Siena has a fever, and her mother-in-law is scrubbing her body. It is not convenient for me to enter. So you'll see! I could see it clearly in front of the bed just now. Siena's facial features are quite beautiful. She should be a little beauty when she grows up, but she just doesn't look like you and the proprietress.]

Elliot: [Take her sample back. Do a DNA test.]

Bodyguard: [Hmm. Originally I wanted to draw blood, but she was afraid of pain, so she pulled her hair and took it back. I was afraid that we would not be able to pull it out well, so I asked a professional to come.]

Elliot put down the phone.

"Have you received the photo?" Avery asked after seeing Elliot put down his phone.

"Well. It's not very clear. The child has a fever, and her mother-in-law is wiping her body." Elliot turned on the phone, clicked on the photo, and handed it to Avery.

Avery stared at the photo on the screen and observed it carefully.

After watching for a while, she returned the phone to Elliot.

Avery: "Not like us."

Elliot: "Well."

"Don't be discouraged. Eat dumplings! Even if Siena is not Haze, it doesn't mean we won't be able to find Haze in the future." Avery encouraged Elliot.

"Yeah." Elliot put a dumpling in his mouth, chewed it, and said, "It's really unpalatable.”

Chapter 2323

Avery: “...”

The two of them made dumplings together.

Avery rolled out the dumpling skin, and Elliot chopped the meat filling.

This was Avery’s first time rolling out dumpling skins, and it was also Elliot’s first time mincing meat fillings.

The two of them had no experience and followed the online tutorials completely.

The taste was not as good as the frozen dumplings sold in the supermarket.

When they didn’t receive bad news, the two of them were in a good mood, so they didn’t feel bad when they ate the dumplings.

Now that they had heard the bad news, the unpalatable taste of dumplings was vividly reflected.

After a while, Layla got up and went to the dining room for breakfast.

After Layla glanced at the breakfast on the table, she served herself a few dumplings without hesitation.

Elliot’s Adam’s apple rolled, wanting his daughter not to eat it.

Avery glanced at Elliot and told him not to say anything.

Layla filled the dumplings and sat down in the dining chair.

“Mom and Dad, why did you two get up so early today? You two haven’t woken up yet at this time!” Layla stared at Mom and Dad as she put the dumplings into her mouth.

Elliot and Avery looked away from their daughter’s face when they saw their daughter eat the dumplings in their mouths.

Even if her daughter’s food and clothing expenses from childhood to adulthood are not the best, they are not bad either.

Avery felt that her daughter would probably spit out the dumpling.

The dumpling skin she rolled out was a little thick.

Elliot's meat filling was a bit salty.

However, Layla ate the dumpling!

Not only that, but Layla also ate the other three dumplings in the bowl.

Avery and Elliot looked at each other.

The eyes of the two are saying: [Maybe the dumplings we made are not so bad.]

Ten minutes later, Layla finished her breakfast and got up from her dining chair.

"Mom, come here." Layla wiped the corners of her mouth with a tissue and said to her mother.

Avery immediately followed Layla.

The mother and daughter walked out of the villa and into the courtyard.

Layla said in a low voice, "Mom, didn't Grandma Cooper make today's breakfast? Did you find that today's dumplings are a bit unpalatable?"

Avery: "..."

"If Grandma Cooper made it, that's when I didn't say it. I just think it's not as delicious as what Grandma Cooper used to make." Layla was carrying her schoolbag and was about to get into the car.

Avery immediately grabbed her daughter: "Layla, you are so sensible.

Fortunately, you didn't say dumplings were unpalatable in the dining room just now. It gave me and your dad enough face. Today's dumplings were made by me and your dad."

Layla was shocked for a moment, then sighed: "No wonder it's a bit unpalatable! I haven't eaten something so unpalatable for a long time. Mom, you and Dad will sleep more in the morning from now on, so you don't have to get up so early."

After that, Layla get in the car.

Avery adjusted her mood and went back indoors.

Elliot didn't know who to call, so he was walking upstairs with his cell phone.

Chapter 2324

"Avery, Robert likes to eat the dumplings you made." Mrs. Cooper came over and smiled at Avery, "I have to add more after eating a bowl. I said that today's dumplings are really delicious."

Mrs. Cooper came over to tell Avery this, in order to make Avery happy.

Because when Layla was eating dumplings just now, the expressions on Avery and Elliot's faces were apprehensive and uneasy.

People like the two of them who didn't usually cook, could make dumplings, which was already very worthy of encouragement.

Mrs. Cooper also ate the dumplings they made. Although the taste was average, it was definitely not bad.

"Really?" Avery was attracted to the dining room.

Robert took the spoon by himself and smashed the last dumpling in the bowl into his small mouth.

"Baby eat slowly. Your kindergarten still has breakfast!" Avery walked to Robert and wiped his mouth with a tissue.

Robert: "Mom, the dumplings you and Dad made are delicious. I still want to eat them tomorrow morning."

Avery: "..."

The daughter asked them not to get up so early in the future, and the implication was to tell them not to make breakfast in the future.

But her son seemed to really like to eat...

"Baby, you are really a good baby who is not picky eater." Avery couldn't help laughing, "Daddy and mommy will make it better next time and give it to you."

"Today's one is delicious...it's delicious, Mom!" Robert's mouth was as sweet as honey.

Avery picked up Robert and took him out: "you said that, your Mom is really happy. I will cook it for you next time."

Robert: "Mom, you are awesome. You can make dumplings!"

"Next time, mom will bring you to make it together, okay?" Avery thought that the New Year would be coming soon, and the family would make dumplings together, which would be fun and lively.

"Okay, okay!" Robert clapped his hands excitedly.

After Avery sent Robert out, Elliot went downstairs after talking on the phone.

"Husband, who did you talk to just now?" Avery walked to the stairs and watched him come down.

"Exactly. He told me that the two of us should not go out recently." Elliot was at a loss, "I asked him why, guess what he said?"

Avery couldn't guess at all: "what did he say?"

"He said that there will be a cold current that will cool down." When Elliot said these words, he still suspected that he had heard it wrong.

Avery looked blank: "Is it a big cold snap? Why haven't I heard the news? I'll check the weather forecast..."

The cold snap that Jun Hertz could make a special call to remind Elliot must be a once-in-a-decade extreme cold snap.

"I read the weather forecast, and on New Year's Day, it will drop by about 5 degrees.” Elliot was very puzzled about the cold snap he said because of the weather forecast.

A five-degree drop in winter temperatures couldn't be more normal!

Even if it suddenly drop ten degrees, it is a situation that can be encountered every year. This kind of drop, this tiny cold snap, is it worth making a special call to tell him not to go out?

Avery laughed out loud. After laughing, She thought it was a little weird.

“I'll ask Tammy what's the matter.” Avery found the phone and dialed Tammy's number.

Tammy answered the phone quickly.

“Avery, how is Elliot's recovery? You two have no plans to go out recently, right? It's so cold in winter, so you two should rest at home.” Tammy said with a crackle.

Chapter 2325

Avery almost forgot that she called her on her own initiative.

Avery: “Tammy, just now your husband called Elliot and said that there will be a cold snap, and we should not go out. I just checked it, where is the cold snap coming from? Did your husband read the weather forecast differently from ours?”

“How come it's not a cold wave? It dropped 6 degrees on New Year's Day! Do you know what the 6 degrees are?” Tammy used an exaggerated tone to express her awe for the 6 degrees, “Like your husband recovering from a serious illness, these 6 degrees for him, it is likely to be a fatal blow.”

Avery: “...My side shows a 5 degrees drop.”

“It's 6 degrees here! No matter whether it's 5 degrees or 6 degrees, it's a big cooling!” Tammy spoke very quickly, “So before New Year's Day, don't go out for the two of you! If you're bored, I can accompany you at any time to play!”

Avery: "Tammy, you two are very strange. Elliot is not that weak, you know..."

"I know he was not weak before. But he is weak now! You should pay more attention." Tammy racked her brains in order to reassure her, "I have a relative who is in his 70s. After walking around, he got sick from the cold! he's still in the hospital now!"

Avery immediately understood their painstaking efforts: "old people in their 70s really need to keep warm. But Elliot is really not that weak..."

"Look at you, Elliot is better, you start to be careless." Tammy sighed.

Tammy's tone made Avery very ashamed.

"Tammy, don't sigh. I won't let him go far. At least not before the Spring Festival this year." Avery said, "I went to the mountain to pray for blessings a few days ago. He wanted to climb the mountain together, but I didn't let him..."

Tammy: "You're right. What if he faints on the mountain? If he's really bored, you can just take him to the community."

Avery: "Um."

After talking on the phone, Avery looked up and saw Elliot standing beside her.

Elliot's face was not very good.

Maybe Tammy's voice was sharper. Just now, Elliot stood beside Avery and heard everything Tammy said.

"What's the matter with Tammy? It's up to me." Elliot walked to the sofa and sat down, sulking.

Especially when Tammy said that Avery could only take him to go shopping in the community, Avery not only did not refute, but also agreed.

"Tammy said that a relative in their 70s was ill from the cold. Tammy and Jun also cared about you, so they called specifically to tell you.” Avery walked over to Elliot and coaxed him.

Elliot: “I’m not an old man in his 70s.”

“Is it wrong for people to care about you?” Avery sat down beside him, “I’ll take you out for a walk when the weather is good. Waiting for the cold wave on New Year’s Day…”

“What kind of cold snap is a five-degree temperature drop? The children are on holiday on New Year’s Day. We can plan it.” Elliot couldn’t stay at home anymore, “How about going to Bridgedale to find Hayden?”

Avery thought carefully and replied, “I will let Hayden come back on New Year’s Day. You don’t need to fly to see him.”

Elliot: “Alright. Our family will go out to play at that time.”

“Then make a plan and show it to me.” Avery didn’t want him to be too depressed.

“I’ll make a few more plans and let you and the children choose.” Elliot’s eyes suddenly gleamed.

Avery: “Okay! Don’t choose too far away.”

Elliot: “OK.”

At 10 o’clock in the morning, a bodyguard sent to a neighboring city took the ‘Siena’ hair sample back to Avonsville.

Elliot and Avery saw the hair of ‘Siena’ in the DNA identification center.

Finally, they took Avery’s hair sample and tested it with ‘Siena’.

After Elliot paid the testing fee, Avery led him away.

“When the results come out, someone else will call us.”

Chapter 2326

In fact, they both knew in their hearts that this time there was little hope. The two of them have three children, all of whom look more or less like the two of them.

It was impossible for their Haze to be completely different from them.

So the child named 'Siena' was probably not their daughter.

Bridgedale.

After Travis's body was buried, Emilio began to take full control of MH Medicine.

In front of him, first of all, the new project that his father cooperated with Leland Sirois before his death.

On the day of Travis's funeral, Leland tried to chat with Emilio about the next development, but Emilio was too busy that day, so the two didn't talk. So, the two made an appointment to meet tonight.

Emilio hosted a banquet in the hotel to entertain Leland.

After Leland arrived, he screened the people in the private room.

"Emilio, we two are not secretive. You are clear about my cooperation with your father. If this project can be successful, it will be equivalent to a cash cow, and it will continue to create wealth for us." Leland started brainwashing Emilio, "Do you know why I have to cooperate with you? Because the relationship between your father and Margaret is well known in Bridgedale. Margaret's previous laboratory was invested by your father, and everyone agrees on this matter. Everyone knows it well. So working with you will make it easier to make up stories for the public."

"Which one of the top companies is not telling a story! And the more outrageous the story is, the better. Now the most important thing is the rich people who have no brains. I have already managed the network, and our products will be once Launch, to ensure that follow-up promotion and sales are no problem.”

Leland’s words are still a little attractive to Emilio. After all, he also wanted to make money.

Only by earning money could he prove his strength?

“Mr. Sirois, if I continue to cooperate with you, Avery will come forward to expose this scam.” Emilio expressed his concerns.

“Aren’t you classmates with her? Go and have a good talk with her. We can give her dividends.” Leland gave Emilio a suggestion.

Emilio couldn’t help laughing and said, “Do you think Avery is short of money?”

“Who would dislike having too much money? As long as we give her enough benefits, I believe she will be moved.” Leland was afraid that Emilio might not be able to deal with Avery, so he said, “Why don’t you tell me her number? I’ll talk to her about this matter.”

Emilio really wanted to watch the play, so he told Leland Avery’s number.

After Leland got Avery’s number, he boasted to Emilio with a confident expression: “I’ll take care of Avery’s side. The big deal is that we will give her the big head. Even if she doesn’t join us, as long as she doesn’t demolish our platform, it’s fine.”

Emilio heaved a sigh of relief: “Yes. Then see if you can handle her. If you can handle her, I will continue to cooperate with you. If you can’t handle her, then there is no need for us to continue. After all, the loss-making business, Who will do it.”

Leland: “Emilio, can’t you persuade her at all?”

“Mr. Sirois, my relationship with her is that I like her and she doesn’t like me. It’s not that she likes me, but I don’t like her. If it’s the latter, I’ll definitely be able to persuade her. But she and I are the former.” Emilio was not afraid of losing face, so he opened the facts to Leland.

“Hahaha! Your eyes are not low! It’s no wonder that you are single until now, so you like a woman like Avery.” Leland laughed, “She’s already on good terms with Elliot, how could she fall in love with you? You should be early Get rid of that thought.”

“Mr. Sirois, I’ll tell you about this. How dare I tell outsiders? Isn’t that why you asked me why I couldn’t persuade her? With her character, if Elliot didn’t listen to her, she would probably be able to talk to Elliot. Let’s do it. If you can persuade her, let alone this cooperation, I will cooperate with you in whatever you want to cooperate in the future.” Emilio felt that Leland could not handle

Avery, so he said so.

Leland took out the cigarette case and shook out a cigarette.

Chapter 2327

Emilio immediately took a lighter and lit him a cigarette.

Leland smoked a cigarette and began to think about how to convince Avery.

“By the way, Emilio, do you have the confidence to deal with the matter that your brothers and sisters are going to sue you?” Leland asked suddenly.

“I don’t know what they plan to attack my dad’s will. When they make a move, I’ll find a way to deal with it!” Emilio said, “You don’t have to worry about this. I asked my lawyer, even if they can be won the lawsuit, the court will also focus on my father’s will at that time, and give them a small portion at best.”

“That’s true. So Norah looked for me, and I ignored her.” Leland narrowed his fox eyes, “I heard that your father was killed by her, this b*tch, it’s better for me not to deal with her.”

Emilio: “Mr. Sirois, your choice is correct. If you cooperate with Norah, if the cooperation is pleasant, then there is no problem. Once you have a disagreement, you can see how Norah planned to assassinate Elliot and assassinate my father...”

“I know. So I rejected her.” Leland was old and didn’t want to do things he was not sure about.

Emilio was easier to control, and Norah was obviously someone Leland couldn’t control.

Leland: “Why don’t I call Avery now to find out what she’s saying!”

“Yes! It’s daytime in Aryadelle, she should answer your call.” Emilio put down his chopsticks and wiped his hands with a tissue, ready to watch the fun.

“Okay! Then I’ll call her now.” Leland put out the half-sucked cigarette in the ashtray, then picked up the phone and dialed Avery.

Aryadelle.

Avery and Elliot received a call from Leland on their way home.

Avery answered the phone, listened to Leland’s self-introduction, and his face became a little serious.

Avery: “Mr. Sirois, what’s the matter when you called me?”

Leland: “Miss Tate, it’s like this. I’m having dinner with Emilio tonight, and we talked about our new project by the way...”

“Oh, he told you my number?” Avery asked.

“Yes. He asked me to call you and tell you about our project. He hopes you can support our project.” After Leland said this, Emilio coughed violently.

Leland, this old fox, was really lying, and he didn’t even blink his eyes when he lied.

Avery: “Oh, are you still reluctant to give up that scam? Otherwise, I know a lot of media friends in Bridgedale, and then I will personally go to Bridgedale and have a public live broadcast with you to talk about your scam. By the way, the well-known entrepreneurs of Bridgedale are also invited to the scene to give everyone a warning that if you only rely on deception to do business, you will definitely not go long.”

Avery’s words made Leland stunned.

“Mr. Sirois, did you hear what I just said?” Avery asked when she saw that the other party didn’t respond.

“Ms. Tate, what if we give you unexpected benefits?” Leland hesitated for a while, and said bravely.

At the wine table, Emilio pricked up his ears, eager to hear Avery’s answer.

It’s a pity that Emilio and Leland were a little far away, so Emilio couldn’t hear anything.

After a while, Leland hung up the phone.

Emilio immediately asked, “Mr. Sirois, have you got her?”

Chapter 2328

These words completely ignited Leland’s emotions.

Leland: “F*ck! Avery said that the liar will kill the whole family! She almost said let me die!”

Emilio held back a smile and couldn’t hold back any longer: “Mr. Sirois, calm down. Avery is indeed like this. I don’t hold back, and my words are particularly irritating. I’m also mad at her. Otherwise, why do you think I dare not touch such a good project? Isn’t that offend her? Let’s just forget about this project! How much money you invested in, I will return it to you as it is. I know that a lot of money has been invested in this project, and it is all yours.” Leland listened to his words, still angry: “I have so much money, even if I put it away. The bank can eat a lot of interest...”

“Then I will also pay you the interest. You and my father have been friends for so many years, I can't let you suffer." Emilio said generously, "Mr. Sirois, if there are suitable projects in the future, we will cooperate again."

Leland's anger subsided a little.

"Emilio, your attitude is not bad. It's just that you lose a lot of money like this."

Leland frowned, "If your father was still alive, he would definitely scold you to death. Your father can't lose a penny."

"You also said that my dad is no longer alive. Now the Jones family is in my hand, and I can do whatever I want." Emilio said calmly, "In fact, even without Avery, I would still do it. I don't dare to make this money. The education I received since I was a child was given by my mother, not by my father."

"Understood. Since you have considered it, then do as you just said." Leland was discouraged, "Then what's your plan next?"

Emilio: "I haven't officially gone to work in the company. I will communicate with the company's senior management when I go to work."

Of course, Emilio couldn't tell Leland everything.

Leland: "Well, you can ask me if you don't understand anything in the future. I have a good relationship with your father."

Emilio: "Thank you Mr. Sirois."

After the meal, Emilio came out of the hotel, picked up his mobile phone, and saw the message from Avery.

Avery: [How's your talk going?]

Emilio: [We're done talking. I will give him back the money he put in. There will be no resurrection technique in the future, even if there is, it doesn't matter to me.]

Avery: [I thought you had water in your head.]

Emilio looked at her message and laughed: [I rejected him, he said he was looking for you to chat, and I asked him to look for you.]

Avery: [You have learned to be smart.]

Emilio: [Leland is so mad at you hahaha!]

Avery: [I don't know him, who asked him to come to me.]

Emilio: [Well, I won't have any interaction with him in the future.]

Avery: [What's going on with Norah?]

Emilio: [I heard that she is collecting evidence that my father is sick. She wanted to use this to justify the irrationality of the will. She has a really good way of thinking.]

Avery: [Was your father really sick before he died?]

Emilio: [My father was in his 70s, how could he not be sick? He was quite sick. Not only physically, but also mentally. Of course this is my guess. My dad was really mentally ill and would never let anyone know about it. I think he's really mentally ill. Every time I'm with him, I get depressed.]

If it is true as Emilio said, then Norah is likely to use this as a breakthrough.

Seeing that Avery didn't reply, Emilio continued to send her a message:

[Don't worry, I already have a plan in mind.]

Avery: [What plan?]

Emilio: [Just wait and see.]

Avery: [So mysterious? Don't be foolish.]

Emilio: [Your mouth is so poisonous, how can Elliot stand it?]

Avery: [Is this poisonous? Are you too vulnerable? I used ten times the strength to hit Elliot, and his expression didn't change.]

Emilio: []

Avery put down the phone and went to Elliot.

Avery: "Husband, what are you doing?"

After the two of them came back from the appraisal center, Avery went to the bedroom to catch up, but she never fell asleep.

Elliot was not sleepy, so he didn't sleep with Avery.

Avery went downstairs and saw Elliot playing with some tools in the living room.

Seemed like... a fishing tool.

"Didn't you let me develop an interest in fishing? I decided to give it a try."

Elliot continued to play with his fishing tools.

Avery watched him play with curiosity: "Husband, where are you going to go fishing? How about fishing in the rockery in our yard?"

Elliot: "???"

There was indeed a rockery in his yard. The rockery was in an artificial pond, where many species of fish were raised.

It's just that Avery asked Elliot to fish in the yard, and Elliot felt very funny and absurd.

What's the point of the fish caught like this by?

Why buy fishing tackle?

Elliot could directly take a net bag and went into the water to catch fish.

He Guaranteed to catch a lot of fish.

"Husband, your fishing rod looks so advanced!" Avery picked up his fishing rod and tried it out, "It's so heavy. I guess I won't catch the fish and my hand will break first. It's over."

Elliot: "You used to take Robert, but your hands are not good? This fishing rod is not as heavy as your son."

"How can the fishing rod compare to my son?" Avery returned the fishing rod to him, "Let's go to the yard If you can catch fish in the yard, then let's go outside and find a place to fish."

"Also." Elliot decided to go to the artificial pool to show his skills now.

If he didn't show his skills, Avery would definitely not worry about him going out to fish.

The main reason was that the weather was cold and he didn't have any fishing skills to go out to fish. Wasn't that freezing in vain?

After a while, Elliot held a fishing rod in one hand and a stool in the other, and came to the artificial pool full of confidence.

Avery carried a large bucket and planned to load up the spoils later.

Avery walked to the pool with the bucket and glanced inside.

"Well, not bad...A lot of fish..." Avery was very satisfied with the fish in the pool, "Husband, there are so many fish, you can definitely catch one if you put the pole down."

Mrs. Cooper brought a chair to Avery.

After Avery sat down in the chair, Elliot began to adjust the bait.

After watching for a few seconds, Mrs. Cooper felt that it was a bit windy outside, so she went to discuss with the bodyguards and decided to get them a shelter from the wind and rain.

When the bodyguard went to get the canopy, Avery got up from the chair when she saw that the bait was not ready.

"Why don't you turn on the fountain! It's been a long time." Avery looked at the musical fountain pool on the right of the artificial pool and said to Mrs. Cooper.

"Okay. I'll turn it on now." Mrs. Cooper excitedly returned to the room and turned on the switch of the fountain pool.

In an instant, the melodious music flew, and the splendid lights began to flicker. At the same time, the water in the pool was sprayed, and the lights complemented each other, forming a beautiful landscape.

Elliot, who adjusted the bait, saw this scene and felt a little drummed in his heart.

Would the sound of this music scare the fish in the pond?

But seeing Avery's high spirits, Elliot didn't feel embarrassed to express his opinion.

Chapter 2330

"Husband, how's it going? The atmosphere will never end!" Avery returned to Elliot and sat down, looking at him with a bright smile.

Elliot replied with a smile: "The atmosphere is absolutely amazing. If I can't catch fish, it's even worse."

"How come you can't catch fish? This pond is full of fish! You can catch a few." Avery didn't believe that he could catch fish with such good equipment, "Have you made a nest? I watched other people's fishing videos before, and it seemed that they were going to make a nest." Avery said, then she grabbed a handful of bait from the bait basin and threw it into the pool.

Elliot: "...These fish are all concentrated in this small pond, so we don't need to make nests, right?"

Avery put her hand away: "Oh yes. Others seem to be fishing in the wild before making nests."

Elliot: "Well. Avery, do you want to stay inside? It's very cold outside."

In fact, Elliot was not afraid of her being cold, because she wore a lot of clothes.

She was watching him fishing, and he was a little nervous.

“I’m not cold! Are you cold? The bodyguard has made a canopy for you.”

Avery looked at him with a pure smile, “Go fishing! Don’t worry about me! I’ll give it to you when it floats. You make a video!”

Elliot: “...”

With a heavy and complicated mood, Elliot threw the hook into the pool.

After a while, the float moved!

Avery immediately turned on the phone nervously and recorded a video.

Elliot pulled up the fishing rod, and what caught their eyes was a silver fishhook.

Oh no, it’s two.

Neither hook caught a fish.

This was not the most disturbing thing, but the bait on the hook was gone.

Avery’s fingers holding the phone trembled slightly.

“Husband, don’t be discouraged, it’s normal to have an empty pole.” Avery saw Elliot’s expression a little disappointed, and immediately comforted, “The videos we saw on the Internet, every time someone else caught one, were edited later.”

Avery’s words, gave Elliot great encouragement.

“Well. My bait may not be tightened.” Elliot learned his lesson and tightened the bait this time.

After a moment–

The float moved again!

Avery immediately took out her mobile phone and turned on the video recording function of the mobile phone.

This time, Elliot didn’t have an empty pole!

He caught a fish!

Avery was very happy.

She would send the filmed video to her friends group to share Elliot's achievements with everyone.

Soon, everyone would start cheering!

Jun: [Awesome! I didn't expect Brother Elliot to be able to fish! It's so good!]

Tammy: [The last time I went to your house, I saw that the fish in your fish pond are very strong! How did he catch such a small fish? This kind of small fish is not delicious, it is full of thorns, so let it go!]

Mike: [Hahaha! Elliot took such a big fishing rod to catch such a small fish?

The fishing rod is about to cry!]

Chad: [Mike, didn't you see that there was not a single fish in the bucket? My boss has just started fishing!]

Mike: [It is also possible that he caught this small fish all morning.]Avery couldn't stand it anymore. She quoted Chad's words and replied: [We have just started fishing!]

Chad: [My Boss caught fish as soon as he started fishing. It's amazing!]

Jun: []

Tammy: [Although the fish is a little smaller, it is better than not being able to catch anything!]

Mike: [Avery, wait for your husband to catch a big fish and then go to the group to bask in it, otherwise I can't really boast.]

Avery: []

After sending the message, Avery put away the phone.

Chapter 2331

Avery: "Come on, husband! Our next one must be a big fish!"

Elliot: "Well, I think I have mastered a little trick."

"Husband, you're amazing! Let's eat braised fish tonight!" Avery laughed, watching him throw the hook handsomely into the water.

After half an hour—

Mike Aite Avery in the group: [Avery, how many fish has your husband caught? Send us a look!]

Tammy: [Rubbing hands in excitement.jpg]

Tammy: [Watch the fun.jpg]

Jun: [Wife, can you stop being so gloating? o(∩_∩)o]

Jun was afraid that Elliot didn't catch any fish.

After all, Avery didn't post pictures in the group.

If Elliot had caught a big fish, with Avery's character, she would have posted pictures in the group.

Tammy:[Which one of your eyes sees me gloating? I am definitely looking forward to it!]

Tammy: [Avery, are you still fishing? If you're still fishing, I'll drive over to the scene now! At that time, it will not be a problem for me to divide half of the fish I catch, right?]

Avery saw their messages.

At the same time, she glanced at the fish in the bucket.

Elliot caught several fish. However, they were all small fish.

This made Avery really embarrassed to post pictures.

Whenever Elliot caught a slightly bigger fish, she would definitely bask in the group.

She didn't know if it's Elliot's technical problem or the fishing rod. In short, the big fish just won't take the bait.

Avery was very distressed. But she couldn't show it. Because Elliot was more distressed than Avery.

Elliot wanted to show his skills, but he encountered Waterloo. That was not a pond in the wild, but a small pond in his yard. And the pond was full of fish. According to what Avery said before, if she went into the water, she could catch a big fish casually.

If it wasn't for Avery watching, Elliot might have thrown away the fishing rod and went directly into the water with the net bag to catch it.

"Husband, fish slowly, don't worry. I'll go to the toilet." Avery got up from the chair, said to Elliot, and walked into the room.

After Avery entered the house, she chatted with Tammy privately: [Tammy, don't come here. He can't catch big fish and is in a hurry! If you came, where would he put his face.]

Tammy: [Ah! what's up? There are so many fish in your pond, how can you not catch any fish?]

It's a good question, but Avery didn't know how to answer it.

After Avery entered the house, Mrs. Cooper walked to Elliot's side and glanced at the fish in the bucket.

Seeing that they were all small fish, Mrs. Cooper comforted Elliot with a good attitude: "Maybe the fish in this pond are full and not hungry, so you can't catch big fish. Sir, why don't we starve these fish? A few days, and then you come back to fish. You're sure to catch a big fish by then."

Elliot: "..."

It didn't have to be.

Elliot fished for the pleasure of fishing, not for the real purpose of fishing.

Of course, if he couldn't catch fish, he would definitely feel frustrated.

An hour later, Tammy drove over to watch the fun.

Although Avery told her not to come, Tammy insisted on watching the fun.

She told Avery that if Elliot couldn't accept even this little humiliation, how could it be a big deal?

Avery thought, yes, maybe Elliot wouldn't take their ridicule seriously at all.

As soon as Tammy came over, she immediately looked at the bucket with a smile.

Avery brought the bucket in front of Tammy and showed her.

"F*ck! Such a big bucket of fish!" Tammy was stunned, and asked Avery,

"Didn't he say that he couldn't catch big fish? Was he caught?"

Chapter 2332

Avery: "Don't you want to eat fish? How much do you want, take it yourself."

Tammy took Avery aside and said, "Is this what Elliot caught in the water? Or was it caught by your bodyguards? This must not have been caught by Elliot, right?"

Avery sighed: "I caught it with a net bag. There are several big fish in one net bag!"

Tammy: "Pfft!"

Avery: "I didn't even go into the water, I caught it from the edge of the pool."

Tammy: "Hahahahaha!"

Avery: "Okay, Tammy, stop laughing. I think my husband may not be able to fish in the future. He can't catch it. Big fish, after returning to the house, I have been looking up what's going on on the Internet. I feel distressed when I see it."

Tammy: "What about you? He is not your son, why are you so careful? If Jun, I will definitely Laugh at him!"

Avery: "..."

Elliot heard the movement in the living room and came out.

“Tammy, you came alone?” Elliot asked.

“Yeah! I’ll take a look at the fish you caught.” Tammy sneered, “Why can’t you catch a big fish? Is your technique so poor? Where’s your fishing rod? I’ll try it out.”

Elliot will Tammy generously pointed out her own fishing equipment.

“Go fishing! If you fish better than me, then I will give you the equipment.”

Elliot not only didn’t get annoyed, but spoke generously.

Tammy happily took the fishing rod and went out to fish.

“Husband, don’t be angry. Tammy didn’t mean to laugh at you.” Avery comforted Elliot in a low voice.

Elliot’s face was calm: “It’s okay. What is this setback? I won’t fish in the future.”

Avery: “???”

Avery thought Elliot was going to say, ‘what is this setback? I will try my best next time to make sure I can catch a lot of fish.’

“Avery, go and see Tammy fishing! I’ll take a break.” Elliot patted her on the shoulder.

Avery: “Okay! Don’t get too upset, it’s not your problem that you can’t catch fish.”

Elliot: “Avery, even if it were my problem, I wouldn’t be upset about it. I’m not that vulnerable. I’m just not that interested in fishing. I don’t particularly want to conquer those fish.”

Avery: “That’s good.”

Avery went out to watch Tammy go fishing.

Half an hour later, Tammy caught two small fish.

Tammy was so angry that she almost dropped her fishing rod.

“My dad knows how to fish, so I made a video for my dad to ask what’s going on!” After Tammy dialed the video to her father, he let him take a look at the fish in the pond, “Dad, there are so many fish, I can’t take any of them. I can’t catch it! This fishing rod is better than yours. This bait smells so good, I want to eat it... But why don’t these fish catch the bait?”

Thiago watched it through the video. Looking at the situation, he laughed and said: “Silly daughter, you are using the wrong bait. There are a lot of ornamental fish in this pond, so don’t eat the bait you used.”

Tammy: “...”

Avery suddenly realized, immediately went and explained the reason to Elliot.

Elliot: “I know that different fish use different bait.”

“It’s all my fault. If you go fishing in the wild, maybe you can catch fish.” Avery blamed herself, “Husband, you should have told me in advance, I don’t understand this.”

Elliot comforted her, “The way you just caught fish was much more interesting than fishing.”

Avery: “...”

Bridgedale.

Norah easily collected evidence of Travis’s mental illness. After all, Travis was dead, and now as long as Norah was willing to spend money, she could buy all kinds of information about him.

The main reason was that he was dead, and there was no need to be afraid of those who served Travis before.

Chapter 2333

Emilio was young and strong now and didn’t need a personal doctor at all.

When Emilio needed to use a personal doctor, he would not use Travis’s previous doctor.

Norah posted Travis's results in the group.

In addition to Emilio, the other children of the Jones family had established a new group called: Fight for Legacy.

Norah: [I have obtained evidence of Travis's mental illness. When the time comes to file a lawsuit, our odds of winning will be greatly improved.]

eldest Sister: [Norah, you are amazing. I didn't even think about that.]

Second Sister: [When will the lawsuit be filed? I can't wait to grab my share from Emilio!]

Norah: [The lawyer's letter has been delivered to Emilio. Everything is going according to the process. When the time comes, just listen to me and make sure you get more inheritance.]

eldest Sister: [Norah, I will listen to you.]

Second Sister: [Norah, I also listen to you.]

After chatted in the group, the eldest sister, the second sister and other siblings chatted in another group of Jones's siblings.

There was no Norah and Emilio in that group.

Eldest Sister: [Norah is still awesome! It felt like the moment she stepped out, the matter was instantly stabilized.]

Second Sister: [Although Norah is amazing, she won't get any benefit without us.]

Third Sister: [Yes! How much benefit are we going to give her? I don't even know how you talked to her.]

Eldest sister: [Let's see how much she can win for us first! She said she would not take the big head. She shouldn't go back on her word.]

Second Sister: [I won't take the big head, that means I might take 40%! If we take 10 million alone, we have to give her 4 million... If she takes 40% of each of us, then she will take more than us!]

Third Sister: [But without her, we would get less! Now we don't have to do anything to get more, and if you don't like it, you can quit.]

Second Sister: [Eldest sister, you don't need to be so fierce! I just don't like Norah.]

Eldest sister: [I don't like it, but bear with it. When we get the inheritance, there is no need to contact her in the future!]

Second Sister: [Don't talk about Norah, I don't think we will be in touch again in the future.]

The group suddenly felt silent.

The few of them were usually not in contact, but this time they got together to fight for Emilio's inheritance.

The next day.

Jones's family eldest sister, second sister, third sister, fourth sister, eldest brother... had received invitation text messages from Emilio.

Emilio invited them to a hotel near the old house for dinner and meet.

If it's just for dinner, they might not be willing to go to the appointment.

At the end of the message, Emilio explained the theme of this meeting discussion on inheritance distribution.

At 10 o'clock in the morning, the Jones family's brothers and sisters met in the private room of the hotel restaurant.

The meeting was a little awkward.

The last time they met was at their father's funeral.

Although it has only been a few days, they were brothers and sisters last time. Now, they have become enemies fighting for family property.

"I asked you out, did you tell Norah?" Emilio asked after everyone was seated.

The eldest sister: "I didn't say it."

The second sister: "I didn't say it either."

The others also shook their heads.

"This is my father's former lawyer, and this is another lawyer I hired. I'm calling you here today, mainly to resolve the inheritance dispute between us. First of all, I admit that the distribution of my father's estate is indeed unfair. I am willing to give up Part of it is for you, so you don't go to Norah. You should be very clear about how my father died. I don't want Norah to get any benefits from the Jones family."

Emilio's words caused a thousand waves in everyone's heart.

Chapter 2334

Although everyone didn't have too much affection for Travis, and when Travis was alive, everyone hated Travis's cold-blooded ruthlessness, but after Travis's death, everyone will also think of Travis's goodness.

At least when they were young, their father was generous and kind to them.

"Emilio, I heard that my father had mental problems before he died. I think this is definitely the main reason why he didn't share the property with our other children. Why we are united with Norah, we are forced to do nothing. If it weren't for Norah, I'm afraid you won't invite us out to talk." The eldest sister spoke and negotiated with Emilio.

The meaning of the eldest sister was obvious.

Let Emilio know that if he doesn't take the initiative to give up the benefits, he will lose the lawsuit when the time comes.

"I don't know if there is any problem with my father's spirit. After all, he really has a mental problem, and he won't tell me." Emilio said calmly, "The reason why I hired a lawyer today is to fight with you for a fair and reasonable analysis. How much will you get after you win the lawsuit. If you can't trust the lawyer I hired, you can call the lawyer you can trust to come over now."

Emilio continued, "The reason I asked you to meet today is to handle this matter well."

After Emilio's words were settled, the others felt silent, looked at each other, and conveyed their opinions with their eyes.

After a while, the eldest sister said, "Okay, I'll find a lawyer. Let's see what the sentence will be if my father is found to be mentally ill."

"Okay. If you're worried, you can ask for more lawyers." Emilio said, "I don't want the Jones family's legacy to flow into Norah's hands. I know that you will cooperate with her, and you will definitely benefit her. Now I will give you what you can get, which is for you, it's actually more cost-effective."

"Emilio, since you're talking about this, I'm not hypocritical. I think your attitude is good. If you had this attitude early in the morning, we wouldn't have cooperated with Norah." The second sister said, "Then Just invite a lawyer to see how much we can share."

The eldest sister took the phone and went to call to find a lawyer.

"Order!" Emilio handed the menu to the elder brother, "Brother, I worked with you before and learned a lot. If you want to return to the company and continue to work in the future, I will welcome you at any time."

"No." Caleb didn't have time to think, he refused, "I can't move now, and my energy is not as good as before. Even if I work, it will not be as good as before."

"I respect your ideas. You can also not work in the future. If you have difficulties in life, feel free to follow me. Say it." Emilio said.

"What about me? Emilio, why don't you say such things to me?" The third sister was jealous.

“You have hands and feet, it’s really not good, you go to your husband.”

Emilio said indifferently.

The third sister was silent for a while.

“Third sister, do you even have to fight with the eldest brother? Even if I give the eldest brother a little more property, I don’t care. Among us brothers and sisters, only the eldest brother contributes the most to the Jones family. If it wasn’t for the eldest brother’s accident, now the Jones family The heir is the eldest brother.” The fourth sister said.

“Okay, stop.” Emilio was afraid that these words would hurt the elder brother’s heart, “After the negotiation is completed, you should not communicate with Norah. Just delete her contact information. Don’t let her kill her in the future. I know how my father died!”

The fourth sister: “Why do you need to tell me? If Norah hadn’t said she could help us get some property back, we wouldn’t have had a relationship with her.”

“It’s only now that my thinking is clearer.” Emilio said, “You may not imagine that before our father died, he said that he would donate all his property.”

“Our father liked scaring people the most. Because this set was especially effective for us.” The second sister sneered, “Fortunately, he is dead! When he is dead, we can live like normal people! Emilio, if he is not dead, what do you think? Can you sit here and talk to us so stubbornly?”

“The most disgusting person right now is Norah. We can start our real life when Norah is kicked out.” Emilio said.

“Shouldn’t I be grateful to Norah? If Norah hadn’t killed our father, our father would probably still have to live.” The second sister teased, “Emilio, I remind you, don't be ruthless in this society. My position is not stable. There are still some things we can learn from my father."

Emilio: "Thank you for reminding me."

.....

Norah stayed up late last night, and woke up after 10 o'clock in the morning today.

After waking up, she first made herself a cup of coffee.

Today she was going to see a lawyer to talk about how the lawsuit would be fought.

Chapter 2335

The court session was about to start. Eldest sister's speech was very important. She wanted to talk to the lawyer about these specific details.

After the coffee was brewed, she went to the kitchen to make breakfast.

She bought bread last night, and now she only needed to fry an egg and ham.

She moved back to her apartment only two days ago.

To be precise, she just came back to live last night.

On the first day back, there was a musty smell in the house that had not been breathable for a long time, which made her uncomfortable, so she asked the cleaner to clean it yesterday.

Little by little her life returned to normal.

As long as she didn't provoke Elliot and Avery in the future, she would not be in danger.

'When she wins the lawsuit, she gets her part of the money, and she can do whatever she wants next.' Thinking that she was about to raise her eyebrows and turned over the salted fish, she always felt a hint of unreal feeling.

Her mother sent her a message these days and said a lot.

Her mother was worried that she would be hunted down and persecuted in the future, so she asked her to live her life after getting the money, and not to offend anyone again.

She also calmed down and thought about it.

When she got the money and started her own company, she should be able to make a lot of money in the future.

There was no need for her to go to Sasha Johnstone, and then to provoke Elliot.

But she planned to see how much she could get after the lawsuit, and then wanted to make a decision.

She could no longer live a poor life.

If she wanted to live the life of ordinary people, she would rather take the risk and give it a try.

After making breakfast, she walked back to the bedroom, picked up the phone and turned it on.

She planned to eat breakfast while playing with her phone.

After turning on the phone, a system message popped up — You have been kicked out of the group chat by 'Fight for Legacy'.

When Norah saw this system message, a white light flashed in her mind.

She felt like she's dreaming.

Otherwise, how could she be kicked out of the group chat?

Now they're counting on herself to help them win their case, and she's got enough evidence. In this case, how could she be kicked out of the group chat by them?

She quickly walked to the dining table and sat down, took a sip of coffee, and found that the group was indeed gone.

She quickly found the eldest sister's phone and dialed it.

The eldest sister saw Norah's call, and after hesitating for a few seconds, she decided to answer the call and talk to Norah clearly, so that Norah would not be confused and resented herself.

"Norah, the group has been disbanded." After the eldest sister answered the phone, she pointed Norah's doubts and said directly, "We don't need to file a lawsuit with Emilio."

Norah was shocked: "Why?"

Chapter 2336

"Yes. That's what you think. Emilio decided to give us a part of the property. Although it's not much, we can at least get a little bit, so we don't have to sue him." The eldest sister said, "You won't need to contact us in the future because this is the end of it."

On the other side of the phone, Norah didn't speak for a long time.

After waiting for a few seconds, the eldest sister saw that Norah did not speak, so she hung up the phone.

Seeing that the eldest sister hung up the phone, everyone else looked at the eldest sister.

"Is Norah angry? Did she curse?" The second sister asked.

The eldest sister shook her head: "She didn't speak. I saw that she didn't speak, so I hung up the phone. Her quality is not that low. It's not that we don't give her inheritance... She has nothing to do with us."

"Yes. Now the inheritance has been divided. I'm still quite satisfied." The second sister said.

Third sister: "Me too. Even if our father is clear-headed, he won't give me more money.”

“Since the inheritance has been distributed and everyone has no opinion, after this meal, we will not mention the inheritance. In the future, our brothers and sisters can still get together on New Year’s and festivals.” The elder sister said.

Emilio said, “I have no opinion. I can pay the bill.”

The elder sister: “Since Emilio said so, then we will often get together in the future!”

After the meal, Emilio breathed a sigh of relief.

The difficult things were completely resolved now.

Emilio was in a good mood, so he called Avery to share his joy.

Avery answered the phone.

“Norah can’t get anything! Hahaha! Although I have lost a lot in this wave, I am also happy.” As long as Emilio thought that Norah might be so angry that his facial features were deformed, he felt relieved.

“Your move is really high.” Avery heard his solution and looked at him with admiration, “I thought you would be in trouble, but I didn’t expect you to be so smart.”

Emilio: “Father is dead, and everything in the future must be decided by myself.”

“Well. Come on!” Avery said, and the mobile phone in her hand was taken away.

Elliot took Avery’s mobile phone over, glanced at the screen, and turned on the speakerphone: “Emilio, do you know what time it is in Aryadelle? You keep asking my wife about your crap, don’t you feel ashamed? If you don’t have business savvy, if you can’t figure out the little property your father left you, you can hire a professional manager, do you need me to introduce you?"

Emilio: "..."

Elliot's voice came out suddenly, startling him.

Being ridiculed by Elliot, Emilio's good mood disappeared.

Emilio: "No, I don't need it for now."

Elliot: "Since you don't need it, don't bother my wife with your family affairs."

Emilio: "My family's affairs have been settled. I called her just to share the joy."

"Don't you have any other friends?" Elliot questioned his soul, "Don't tell me, you have no friends except Avery."

"Goodbye." Emilio didn't want to talk to Elliot anymore.

His mouth was more poisonous than Avery.

Elliot saw that the phone was hung up, so he returned the phone to Avery.

Seeing that Avery's face didn't seem very good, he forced himself to defend himself: "If a woman called me at this point, you would not be too happy."

"Emilio asked me to tell me about Norah, but nothing else." Avery said and put down the phone.

Chapter 2337

Avery was about to fall asleep at first, but now because of this call, she suddenly woke up again.

"Emilio doesn't have a sense of boundaries. He can't call you during the day?"

Does it have to be called late at night?" Elliot questioned, "What is Norah's matter? Even if Travis is resurrected from the dead, it's not a big deal. "

"Okay! Emilio was probably too happy, so he didn't look at the time." Avery defended Emilio's behavior, "Emilio has completely cut off Norah's fortune. It's really pleasing."

“Do you think Norah won’t think of other ways to make money?” Elliot said lightly, “Don’t put your mind on her anymore. In the future, if she dares to think about us, I will make her disappear forever.”

“Well, go to sleep! I’ll take a look at your plans for New Year’s Day tomorrow and choose one. Let’s relax.” Avery said, leaving all trivial matters and irrelevant people behind, “I will bring you tomorrow. You go to the hospital for a re-examination.”

Elliot: “Then go to sleep! I hope everything goes well tomorrow. Don’t affect our New Year’s Day trip.”

“Probably not. I think you are in good shape, so you must be fine.” Avery hugged him, “Maybe you can live longer than me in the future.”

Elliot’s mood was originally calm, but after hearing what Avery’s said, he suddenly became nervous.

Elliot: “Why do you say that? Are you sick?”

“No! I just said casually, don’t be nervous.” Avery couldn’t help laughing, “You prefer to exercise, but I don’t. As long as there are no accidents in the future, you will definitely live longer than me.”

Elliot: “Don’t think about it for so long. I’ll take you with me in the future.”

“Even if you take me with you, one of us will leave first.” Avery wanted him to look at life and death calmly. “In that case, don’t ask me to exercise with you.”

Elliot: “...”

Avery: “Let’s sleep! I prefer to sleep.”

The next morning, Avery and Elliot got up.

When the two went downstairs, they ran into their daughter.

Seeing the two of them getting up so early, Layla drummed in her heart: “Did you eat dumplings again today?”

Avery smiled: "There are no dumplings today. If there are dumplings, it's not what your father and I made."

"Then why are you getting up so early? If I were you, I would sleep in every day." Layla said and walked downstairs briskly.

"Your father is going to the hospital for a re-examination today. It is estimated that he is nervous, so he woke up early." Avery explained.

"Oh...Dad, let me accompany you to the hospital! That way you won't be afraid." Layla stopped and waited for them to come down.

"No need, baby. Dad isn't so scared. The reason why Dad woke up so early is because your elder brother Hayden is coming back soon. Our family can be reunited again on New Year's Day." Elliot smiled and touched Layla's head.

After breakfast, Avery accompanied Elliot to the hospital for a review.

As Avery expected, Elliot recovered better.

"Mr. Foster, you are under the care of Dr. Tate, and your recovery is better than that of ordinary patients!" The doctor laughed and teased, "As long as you don't touch the wound, you will basically be fine. You can live and work normally! "

When Elliot heard these words, he was very happy.

Elliot: "Wife, did you hear what the doctor said?"

Seeing Avery's face embarrassed, the doctor immediately realized something.

"That... Mr. Foster, you should mainly listen to your wife. I'm not sure what I said." The doctor corrected immediately.

"Okay, thank you doctor." After Avery thanked the doctor, she pulled Elliot out of the doctor's office, "Husband, let's discuss where to go on New Year's Day!"

"Well. Is it still a tour within the province? In fact, we can go further." Elliot no longer regards himself as a patient at all.

Chapter 2338

"Why don't you look at the opinions of the children!" Avery said, "We are secondary. If we are going to travel alone, then I will listen to you."

Avery's words made Elliot unable to refute.

"Then when Hayden comes back, let's see what Hayden has to say." Elliot quickly compromised, "Has Hayden's ticket been booked? What time does he arrive at the airport? I'll pick him up then."

Seeing Elliot's look of anticipation, Avery couldn't help laughing: "Son hasn't sent me the flight information back to Aryadelle! He will tell me when he has booked the ticket."

Bridgedale.

Hayden was on a video call with Tammy.

Originally, Tammy called Hayden. She learned that Hayden was free at the moment, so she hung up the phone and replayed the video call.

"Hayden, your father wants to go out to play all day long, which is definitely not acceptable. He can go out to play anytime, except on New Year's Day.

The two of them didn't know they were going to get married on New Year's Day, so they didn't prepare at all! But we have already Get them all ready for the wedding, just wait for New Year's Day to come." Tammy hugged her daughter and told Hayden about business, while letting Hayden look at his good daughter, "Do you think Sister Kara is cute again?"

Hayden looked at Kara who was reluctant to face the camera, and the expression on her face became a little gentle: "Is Kara afraid of me?"

“Haha, a little bit. She doesn’t see you often, so she’s a little scared. When you saw her last time, she was very fat, and now she’s a little thinner, so let’s take a look.” Tammy said.

Hayden really wanted to see the difference between Kara now and last time, but he really couldn’t.

Hayden: “I think sister Kara has always been cute.”

Tammy: “Hayden, it’s not a good thing to say that girls are cute. You see, everyone says Layla is beautiful. Only girls who are not beautiful will be praised as cute.”

There was a flash of tension in Hayden’s eyes, thinking that he had said the wrong thing.

“Of course, there are also very cute girls, like my Kara, who are chubby and so cute.” Tammy said, and changed the topic and laughed.

Kara heard her mother say that she was fat, and also said that she was chubby and not very happy.

So the little girl broke free from her mother’s arms, looked wronged, and ran out of the room, shouting, “Dad, mom said I’m fat!”

“Why are you still complaining!” Tammy shouted at her daughter’s back.

Kara snorted: “Mom, I’ll never play with you again!”

When Hayden saw Kara and Auntie Tammy were in conflict, he immediately said, “Auntie Tammy, go and coax Kara! I remember what you told me.”

“Okay! When are you coming back?” Tammy asked.

Hayden: “I’ll be there the day after tomorrow.”

Tammy: “Then I’ll go to your house to play when you come back.”

Hayden: “Um.”

After talking to Tammy about the video, Hayden sent his flight information to his mother.

Also attached: Mom, I want to be with you at home on New Year's Day.

After Avery received her son's message, she immediately showed it to Elliot.

"Are you saying that you have a good heart? You just said why your son hasn't sent me a message yet, and here it is." Avery said here, extracting the key points in the message, "The son said that he wants to play at home on New Year's Day. So you For those travel plans, put it on hold for now. Next time we two go to play alone. "

Hayden had already spoken, how could Elliot dare to have an opinion.

"Maybe he is too tired to study and work." Elliot said, "If only he was by our side."

"His character is destined to not like to be restrained. He can be wherever he likes, and even if he is by our side, I will not interfere in his life." Avery said open-mindedly, "We must respect children. Like Layla, it is sticky. She likes us to take care of, and we take care of her."

Chapter 2339

"What you said makes sense." Elliot benefited a lot, and then said, "Since I have no problem with the review, can I go to work? It's too boring at home, you let me go to the company."

"You don't want to come back after shopping, right?" Avery joked, "If you want to work so much, then you can go!"

"I've gone to work, what about you?" Elliot was afraid that Avery would be bored at home alone, "Why don't you go to work in my company with me, let's see what position you want, and I'll arrange it for you. We get off work together every day. Get off work, how nice!"

Avery's scalp went numb after listening to his arrangement.

"Husband, although I like you, I'm really not interested in your work. Go to work if you want! Don't worry about me. I'll arrange myself." Avery rejected his job offer.

Elliot: "Well. Then you send me to the company now."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "You can't be idle for a moment!"

"I took a long rest this time." Elliot thought of going to the company next, his eyes lit up, "I don't feel like working, time passes too slowly. People still have to work, and work makes people..."

"Okay, don't talk about it. Some people like to be idle. Don't impose your ideas on others." Avery sent him to the company, "Let the driver pick you up at night. Let's say it first, you can't work overtime."

"Okay. If you're willing to stay at home, I'll be happier." Elliot changed his words instantly.

After sending Elliot to the company, Avery asked the driver to drive the car to Wesley's house.

Today Wesley rested and accompanied Shea at home.

Both children had gone to school, and the house was relatively quiet.

"Little Lilly got used to campus life so quickly?" Avery was a little surprised.

"Lilly is in the same class as Maria, and the two of them take care of her, and we have greeted the teachers in the kindergarten. The teachers take special care of Lilly. So Lilly quickly gets used to it." Wesley replied, "You stay at night. Come down and eat, I'm in charge."

Avery: "Okay! Let Elliot come over to eat later."

Wesley: "Okay! Has he reviewed it?"

Avery: "Just finished the re-examination. The wound is recovering well, so I let him go to work. He can't stay at home anymore. He has a sense of urgency in his heart. He seems to be afraid that if he doesn't make money, our family will starve to death. Or I am afraid that I will be out of touch with society and be eliminated."

"Is it such an exaggeration?" Wesley chuckled, "Is he used to that kind of high-pressure environment?"

"Well. So he was going to work, so I let him go. Maybe he can recover better from work." Avery joked.

Bridgedale.

Norah passed the day in a daze.

At night, she drank most of the bottle of wine, and her reason was completely paralyzed by alcohol.

Her eyes were scarlet, she found her phone, staggered to the bathroom, and after retching for a while, she washed her face and found Sasha's number to dial.

Sasha said before that if she could get the Jones family's inheritance, she would talk to her about Haze in detail.

Now Norah had completely lost the qualification to get Travis's property, there was no chance and there would be no chance in the future. Sasha would definitely ignore her.

Even though she was completely unwilling, she had to accept this cruel reality.

She was not someone who couldn't afford to lose.

It's just that she was in too much pain now. She couldn't talk to her parents about this kind of pain. If she told her parents, her parents would definitely be worried.

After the phone call, she didn't expect to be connected quickly.

Chapter 2340

"Norah, have you got the Jones family's inheritance?" Sasha's voice came over the phone.

Norah took a breath and sneered: "No. I was kicked out by a few of them. It's really embarrassing. I digested it all day and couldn't digest it."

Sasha was stunned for a moment. She didn't expect Norah to fail.

In Sasha's opinion, Norah was a woman like a fox.

Not only smart and cunning, but also cruel.

"I know you won't cooperate with me again. Because I don't have much money to give you, I will even have a problem with my own livelihood in the future... I thought that if I killed Travis, I would be able to live a good life.

Thinking about it, life is still a puddle of mud." Norah took a deep breath in frustration.

"You are betraying my misery!" Sasha sneered, "No matter how miserable you are, can I be miserable? You don't even know what my life is like."

"Didn't I transfer you a lot of money? That money is enough for you to buy a house and live in any country." Norah wondered.

"I dare not do this. What if you want to kill me? I can't stay in one place for a long time." Sasha didn't hesitate, "But I don't worry about you dealing with me now. After all, Elliot and the others already knew that it was you who bought me."

"Don't talk about it." Norah felt ashamed, "I blame myself. I have too much ambition and not enough ability. My heart is higher than the sky, and my life is thinner than paper."

"I'm very angry to hear you say this. You have at least lived a decent life, and I haven't lived a decent life for a day." Sasha seemed to be touched, and the chatterbox opened, "You always think I have The news of Haze, if I really have news about Haze, why don't I go to Elliot directly and ask Elliot to benefit me? Am I stupid? Even if I can't trust Elliot, but I have met Avery, Avery is a good person, I-I can feel it. Her words must count. She told me at the beginning that if I could tell her where Haze is, she would not only save my life, but also give me money. Am I stupid, I don't talk to her Cooperation, I will cooperate with you?"

When Norah heard Sasha's words, she was greatly disappointed, and the wine was instantly sober.

A while ago, in order to find Sasha, she transferred a lot of money to Sasha.

This money was regarded as meat buns beating dogs with no return.

Sasha would definitely not return it to herself.

"Sasha, you really can deceive people! If I get the inheritance of the Jones family, will you continue to deceive?" Norah sneered, "When I think that I gave you so much money in vain, my heart's bleeding."

Sasha: "You want to transfer it to me yourself. I didn't ask you to give it to me.

When you transferred the money to me, I didn't say a word. How can you blame me now? When did I tell you that I know Haze's whereabouts?"

"Although I don't know where Haze is now, I'm not completely clueless."

Seeing Norah not speaking, Sasha didn't hold back, and continued, "After I escaped from Yonroeville, I've been looking for Haze. If I find this child, Elliot and Avery will definitely be able to forgive me and stop blaming me. "

"Do you have a clue? Then do you know where Haze is now? Sasha, let's cooperate! Now I have nothing, and you have nothing. If we cooperate, maybe we can find Haze before Elliot and the others. Let's make a detailed explanation. The plan is to exchange that child for Elliot for a large sum of money." Norah suddenly regained her confidence, "If we want to get the money, we can't show up in person. We have to find someone to show up for us."

Sasha was a little moved when she heard her words.

"Norah, you may not know me well. I look weak and weak, but if you play with me, I'm afraid you can't play with me. Don't think that if you kill Travis, I will be afraid of you. I can't count the people Sasha has killed." Sasha thought of cooperating with Norah, but she was afraid that Norah would plot against her.

Norah: "Sasha, you don't have to talk harshly to me. I have no money or power right now. Even if I want to plot against you, I don't have the ability. I really want to make some money, and then find a place to hide and spend the rest of my life. ."

Sasha: "I think so too. It's just..."

"Don't hesitate! Let's cooperate and make money together! When we get the money, we will split half. I promise, I won't count on you!" Norah said sincerely, "Where are you now, let's meet and talk! I'll go look for it. You can come to me. If you don't trust me, we can meet outside first."

Chapter 2341

After thinking for a while, Sasha responded.

"Sasha, can you tell me, what are the clues you have? I can find Haze with you." Norah thought she had a clue, "You don't have to be too specific..."

"I tried to get in touch with my accomplices in Yonroeville. I said that if I found Haze, I would let Elliot rescue them all. So one of them told me a clue. This clue is not a good clue. ..."

When Sasha said this, she paused.

If the clues were good to break through, Sasha would not have found Haze yet.

“What you said, I want to know more about this clue.” Norah felt itchy,

“Sasha, just tell me! I’ll look for it with you. If I find Haze, I will definitely benefit you. The two of us are now on the same boat, otherwise you can say a few bad things about me in front of Elliot, and Elliot will definitely not let me get a penny of benefits.”

Norah’s words made Sasha feel somewhat reasonable.

“The person who bought Haze has a scar on the inside of the wrist.” Sasha told the clue.

Norah: “What scar? Birthmark or wound scar?”

Sasha: “The kind of scar left by cutting the wrist to commit suicide.”

Norah gasped: “Is that person a man or a woman?”

“I won’t tell you this yet. We’ll talk about it when we meet another day.” Sasha deliberately sold off.

“Okay. In order to show my sincerity, you can decide when and where to meet.” Norah showed all her sincerity.

That was her last fight.

Whether it could be successful or not depends on this time.

“Okay.” Sasha felt the sincerity of her cooperation.

In fact, when Sasha told Norah the clue, Sasha had already made a choice.

Sasha only had this last chance to change her life against the sky.

In a flash, it was New Year’s Eve.

Hayden and Mike came back from Bridgedale to witness the wedding of Avery and Elliot.

Of course, they were tight-lipped about this matter, and didn't tell Avery and Elliot anything.

After Hayden came back, friends came to Foster's house to have dinner in the name of Hayden.

"Are you guys so happy?" Avery felt more and more strange seeing them smiling brightly, "Hayden came back last time, didn't you meet him? It's not too long since he came back last time!"

"Avery, aren't you happy?" Mike smiled kindly, "Hey, thinking about tomorrow —"

"Mike, shut up! Don't talk." Tammy was afraid that Mike would say the surprise in advance, so she interrupted him.

Chapter 2342

Avery glanced at Tammy, then at Mike, and finally her eyes fell back to Tammy's face: "Tammy, why don't you let Mike speak? He didn't say anything just now!"

Tammy scratched her head in embarrassment: "I..." She wanted to find a reason, but her mind went blank.

Mike immediately rescued her: "Tammy may be afraid of my crow's mouth and say something unlucky. Tomorrow New Year's Day is a new year, a new beginning, and it should be celebrated."

"Yes, yes!" Tammy blushed, "Mike is a crow's mouth in my heart. Avery, don't you often tell me that he is a crow's mouth?"

Now it was Avery's turn to be embarrassed, "Even if you talk to me behind my back, if you say that, you don't have to say it in front of him, right? He's vulnerable inside."

"Is he vulnerable? Why didn't I see it?" Tammy looked at Mike with a surprised expression, " Mike, are you vulnerable? Men can't be too vulnerable..."

"Where am I weak? I am strong, okay?" Mike defended himself, causing everyone to laugh.

Everyone was eating, and the atmosphere soon returned to a warm and lively atmosphere.

Avery said to Hayden: "your father kept clamoring for the family to go on a trip on New Year's Day. During his illness, he was suffocated at home. He made five travel plans for me and let me choose one. I haven't had time yet. As for the choice, you sent me a message saying that you want to stay at home on New Year's Day, and your father immediately gave up the idea of traveling haha!"

Avery told Hayden this to let Hayden know how much Elliot values him.

Robert heard his mother's words, and muttered, "I want to go out to play! Brother, why do you have to stay at home? Where is the fun outside at home?"

Robert liked to play outside, but now in winter, the temperature outside was colder, and Robert was a little weaker than ordinary children, so Mrs. Cooper rarely took him out to play in winter.

"Robert, I promise to have fun tomorrow! Auntie Tammy will never lie to anyone, and she will never lie to you." Tammy immediately coaxed.

"Auntie Tammy, bring Kara to our house tomorrow to play!" Robert invited.

Tammy: "Tomorrow we'll come to play with you early in the morning, okay?"

Robert: "Okay! But not too early, what if I'm still sleeping?"

"That's not easy, let Kara be slept with you." Tammy deliberately teased Robert.

Robert blushed shyly, and then nodded even more shyly: "Okay!"

"Hahahahaha! Avery, look at Robert! He's shying." Tammy laughed and let out a goose cry.

Robert usually slept with Mrs. Cooper.

In fact, Robert wanted to sleep with his sister the most, but his sister disliked him, so he could only sleep with Mrs. Cooper.

Before Avery came back to this house, Robert sometimes slept with his father. Now that his father is injured and needs to recover, Robert knows not to disturb his father's sleep.

"Brother Robert, let's go play!" Kara was full, walked up to Robert and held Robert's hand.

"Okay!" Robert took Kara's hand and walked to Maria and Lilly, "Let's go play together!"

Maria and Lilly immediately followed them both.

"Just Robert and a boy..." Tammy watched the three girls surround Robert, so she looked at Gwen with a smile, "Gwen, come on, have a son."

Gwen: " Miss Tammy, I don't like sons, I like daughters. If you like sons, you can have another one."

Tammy: "I think so, but I can't give birth hahaha!"

Ben shook Gwen's hand under the table, telling her to pay attention to her words.

Tammy could give birth to Kara, it was already very thrilling

Chapter 2343

After all, the doctor said it was difficult for her to conceive a child before.

"Tammy, I won't give birth anymore." Shea comforted Tammy.

"So I let Maria live hahaha! I see that Robert is the only boy in his generation, and I feel that Robert will be brought by a few girls to be more like a girl.”

Tammy didn't care. She couldn't have a baby herself.

After all, Tammy already had Kara, and she was satisfied.

“What's wrong with being a girl. Be gentle like a girl! Isn't it good that Robert is gentle? Robert is a little warm boy. Boys with this kind of personality will be easy to find in the future.” Gwen still didn't want to give birth to a son, she added, “I will have another daughter then, and four girls will surround Robert.

Haha!”

“Gwen, the child can be of whatever gender you want. Let it be.” Avery finished, looked at Tammy with a smile, “Also, I think what Gwen said makes sense, Robert will indeed be infected by the warm side of girls when he plays with girls. But no matter whether he is a warm boy or a cold boy, I like them all. As for finding a partner, it's still early!”

“Robert is still early, but Hayden is late. Hey! Hayden, did you meet a girl you like at school?” Looking at Hayden with a gossip face Tammy asked, “If you meet a girl you like, don't be shy. You are so rich and handsome, so chasing girls isn't easy? No one can resist you.”

Avery and Elliot: “...”

In their eyes, Hayden was still a child!

Hayden put down the tableware and looked at Tammy calmly: “Auntie Tammy, our classmates are basically ten years older than me.”

Tammy: “...” Yes Tammy was careless, but it doesn't seem like a big deal in today's society to be ten years older, “It's okay to be ten years older! It just so happens that you are more mature, so finding a girl is very suitable for you!”

Jun couldn't listen anymore: “Tammy, you didn't drink alcohol? Why are you talking nonsense? When the time comes, our family Kara will find someone ten years older, will you be happy?”

Tammy: "I don't mind if our daughter is ten years younger! If I hadn't married you, I would definitely have found a younger one."

Jun: "Shut up!"

At 9:00 p.m., everyone left one after another.

Before Tammy left, she took Avery's hand and repeatedly warned: "Avery, you and your husband go to bed early at night. You must not stay up late."

Avery: "Why?" She might not be able to sleep at night.

Tammy racked her brains: "Because I will bring Kara to quarrel with you very early tomorrow."

"It's okay! You come to play with Robert, we can't hear the sound in the bedroom." Avery thought of Kara and Robert. She made an appointment to play together.

"Oh, just don't stay up all night. If you have to stay up late, don't turn off your mobile phones, okay?" Tammy retreated and asked.

Elliot saw something was wrong: "Tammy, what are you trying to say? You are very strange tonight. You talk a lot and it's all nonsense."

Tammy said: "Forget it! I won't tell you! Come early tomorrow!"

The next day, 6:00 in the morning.

Avery's cell phone rang.

Avery picked up the phone with a sullen face, and squinted at the screen.

Elliot was awakened at the same time. He picked up the phone and checked the time. But he saw countless messages popping up on his phone.

Chapter 2344

The relatives and friends around him would not contact him very late or very early, unless there was a special emergency.

But today on New Year's Day, it was clear that everyone would not have any urgent matter to find him.

He opened the message and saw a string of blessings.

Elliot, happy wedding.

—Mr. Foster, happy wedding, congratulations!

—Elliot, congratulations to you and Avery for having a great day today!

Elliot looked at these blessings, and his cheeks became hot for no reason.

He's dreaming!

He must be dreaming.

He and Avery have been married long ago. Although they divorced later, the ceremony has been done.

He thought he was dreaming, so he put down the phone, closed his eyes, and went back to sleep.

Avery didn't notice Elliot's actions at all. Because after her cell phone rang, she immediately took her cell phone and walked quietly to the bathroom.

The call was from Tammy.

It's only six o'clock, could it be that Tammy can't come in after she comes?

She answered the phone, and Tammy's voice immediately came: "Avery, it's time for you to get up. Do you get up by yourself, or should I ask you to get up?"

Avery was confused: "Tammy, what's the matter? It's only six o'clock...Have you come to my house?"

"Yes! I arrived at five o'clock." Tammy is now calling Avery in the living room on the first floor, "Robert is still sleeping! I let Kara and Robert sleep together. Our Kara was also sleeping, and I brought her directly."

Avery was even more confused. She glanced out the window. It was pitch black outside. Although it wasn't that anyone couldn't see the five fingers, but when the street lights were turned off, the five fingers were definitely not visible.

“Tammy, what’s the matter with you?” In order to find out what happened to Tammy, Avery came out of the bathroom, walked to the door quickly, opened the door carefully, and slipped out.

After coming out of the room, Avery exhaled, and her voice became louder:

“I’ll come down and talk to you.”

After she finished speaking, she hung up the phone and quickly went downstairs.

As soon as she walked down the stairs, she was startled by the battle in the living room.

Tammy looked at her with a stunned expression, and laughed out loud:

“Avery, didn’t Gwen give you a dressing gown before? Go and put on your dressing gown and walk down again.”

Avery: “???”

In the living room, there were videographers with professional cameras, and a few other people. But Avery didn’t know what they were there for.

How could these people show up at home in the early morning?

“Tammy, what are you doing?” Avery walked quickly to Tammy and asked nervously, “What is this filming? Why didn’t you tell me beforehand? Wake up Elliot later will definitely be angry when he sees you bringing so many people to his house.”

“He certainly won’t be angry! You go upstairs and change your dressing gown. I’ll tell you when you’re done.” Tammy smiled mysteriously, “By the way, call your husband up by the way.”

Avery was puzzled. Although her mind was running at a high speed, her mind was not so flexible because she woke up too early.

She went upstairs nervously with her mobile phone, intending to wake Elliot up.

She went back to the room and saw that Elliot was sleeping soundly, so she went to the window and opened the curtains.

The light from outside the window shone in, Elliot frowned slightly, and reached out to touch it at any time.

Avery watched Elliot's subconscious movements, and a warm feeling rose in her heart.

Elliot's looking for her.

"Husband, Tammy let's get up." Avery walked briskly to the bed, reached out and touched Elliot's face, "She brought some people here, maybe to take pictures of us... Don't be angry. She must be well-meaning."

After hearing Avery's words, Elliot suddenly opened his scarlet eyes.

"Husband, if you still want to sleep, then continue to sleep. I'll go down and have a look." Avery tucked the quilt for him and let him continue to sleep.

Chapter 2345

How could Elliot still sleep?

He lifted the quilt, lifted his long legs, and got out of bed.

"I thought Tammy was weird last night, and sure enough she was wrong."

Elliot grabbed a nightgown and put it on, and strode towards the door.

Avery's conditioned reflex was to follow him.

After taking a step, she thought that Tammy had told her to wear the morning gown that Gwen had given her before, so she went to the closet again and looked for the morning gown.

Dressing gown...

Wasn't the dressing gown worn on the morning of the wedding?

Tammy asked her to wear a dressing gown now... Could it be... Was she trying to make a wedding documentary for her? !

After all, her previous wedding with Elliot was destroyed by Nathan White, so there was no complete wedding documentary at all.

Thinking of this, Avery suddenly realized!

Tammy was indeed her best friend, she planned such a surprise for her.

It's just... Avery didn't really want this surprise, she wanted to sleep better.

But she won't pour cold water on Tammy.

Tammy expressed her thoughts, and she was still very grateful.

After putting on the morning gown that Gwen gave, she quickly ran out the door.

When she was walking downstairs, she happened to meet Elliot hurried upstairs. He remembered that he seemed to have received a lot of blessing text messages just now.

He wanted to see if those text messages were real.

"Husband, why did you come up again?" Avery asked, "What did Tammy say to you?"

"I haven't come down yet. Avery, I seem to have received a lot of text messages just now. I don't know if I am dreaming. Those messages are all wishing me a happy wedding." Elliot looked puzzled, "I'll look for my mobile phone."

Avery: "???"

Avery was frightened, held Elliot's hand, and went back to the room with him.

After Elliot found the phone, he turned it on immediately.

He had more unread messages.

The content of the information was similar to what he had just read.

Basically, they wished him a happy wedding.

“What’s the matter? Why are so many people wishing you a happy wedding?

Are you getting married today? Who are you marrying?” Avery was very angry when she saw his message, “No one wished me a happy wedding!”

Elliot was very helpless, he wanted to explain, but he didn’t know where to start: “How about you open your phone and take a look?”

Avery immediately turned on the phone.

Her mobile phone was quiet, and there was no message wishing her a happy wedding.

Elliot quickly calmed down: “If I were to marry another woman, do you think your best friend would come to my house to wake me up?”

This rhetorical question made Avery instantly calm down: “That’s...the two of us get married. We two get married today?”

Elliot: “If it wasn’t for them to play tricks, maybe they did!”

“It’s not April Fool’s Day, why are they tricking us! Let’s go down and ask!”

Avery took Elliot and went downstairs.

Her heart was pounding.

If today was her and Elliot’s wedding, why did she and Elliot know nothing about it?

Was this a surprise or a shock?

“Hey, didn’t Gwen give you two a morning gown? Elliot, why don’t you wear a morning gown?” Tammy immediately asked when she saw the two of them going downstairs.

“Tammy, I’m marrying Elliot today?” Avery took the lead and took Tammy’s words, “What are you doing? We are both confused by you!”

“Come here, I’ll tell you slowly.” Tammy pulled Avery to sit down in the chair, and then instructed Elliot, “Don’t watch here, hurry upstairs to change your morning gown. The morning gown that Gwen gave you last time.”

Elliot fully understood that they were planning to hold a wedding for him and Avery today.

Elliot went upstairs quickly, found Jun’s number, and dialed it.

“Brother Elliot, you should have met Tammy, right? It’s like this...” Jun told him everything, “The reason why I didn’t tell you about it in advance was because I was afraid After the news spread, someone would destroy it. So no one notified us in advance, and we were the only ones who knew about it.”

Elliot: “Who came up with this bad idea?”

Even if they were for his own good, he still felt bad.

“Ahem, Tammy and Gwen came up with it. Brother Ben’s parents prepared it for Brother Ben and Gwen for the wedding... I hope you don’t dislike being too shabby. In fact, the two of them are also kind. Wasn’t that your wedding ruined before? Even if you don’t feel sorry, Avery must be somewhat regretful. As long as Avery likes it, you can cooperate a little bit!”

Jun was really good at focusing on the key points.

What Elliot cared most about now was Avery’s feelings. As long as Avery liked it, what else couldn’t Elliot say?

“Where is today’s wedding held? What is the process? Send it to me quickly.”

Elliot wanted to quickly understand the wedding.

Otherwise, he would be in a hurry next time, wasn’t it a joke?

Jun: “Oh, okay, I’ll let Brother Ben send it to you.”

“Forget it, I’ll call him directly.” After Elliot finished speaking, he hung up the phone and dialed Ben Schaffer.

Ben replied in seconds: "Elliot, have you woken up? Tammy has passed, right? You should know it?"

"If I told you, didn't I betray them? This is Gwen and Tammy's idea. If I can betray Tammy, can I betray Gwen? I haven't married Gwen yet!" Ben felt wronged, he said, "You can be considerate of me!"

Elliot got goosebumps: "Send me the wedding process!"

"Uh...you can find Chad! I only have the original version here. He took it to revise. I may not have saved his revised version. After all, it wasn't me who got married..." Ben sighed, "I really envy you, no matter when you get married, you will always be ahead of me."

Elliot didn't want to hear word, so he hung up the phone.

The First floor.

Avery invited the staff to the bedroom on the first floor. She was wearing a dressing gown, sitting in front of the vanity mirror, and the makeup artist started to apply her makeup.

The photographer carried the camera and followed the shot.

There were other staff members accompanying, all eyes on Avery's face.

"I almost forgot the process of my last marriage." Avery felt a little awkward, so she took the initiative to speak.

"I still remember!" Tammy sat next to him eating snacks while watching the excitement, "Elliot took us all to the resort before your wedding."

"Oh, it seems." Avery had a little impression, "Elliot is indeed too high-profile. It would be great if he was like this now."

"Miss Tate, if Mr. Foster comes to prepare the wedding, I'm afraid we won't be able to choose us to do your makeup." The makeup artist laughed and joked, " We were all very happy to learn that we were going to serve you."

Avery smiled and said: "It's been hard for you today. Because I only know now that I'm getting married today, and I didn't have time to prepare the red envelopes in advance."

"No, no, we are very happy to eat your and Mr. Foster's wedding candy..."

The makeup artist replied again and again.

"But we didn't prepare wedding candy either." Avery blushed in embarrassment.

"You're not ready, we've prepared it for you!" Tammy said, "The red envelopes are also prepared for you, but the red envelopes are all at Ben. When Ben comes, he will give it to you."

"Oh.. ... You can really hide things. When did you start planning?" Avery asked.

"It was when we were talking about whether Gwen and Ben wanted to get married on New Year's Day. Isn't Gwen unwilling to get married on New Year's Day, so I said that on New Year's Day, let you marry Elliot! How bad you married Elliot before! I want to make it up for you so that you have a perfect wedding." Tammy explained her motives, "Don't be too moved, enjoy today, and you don't have to worry about anything."

Avery was very moved: "Do you have to speak on stage? Have you prepared a speech for me?"

Tammy: "No. You can improvise when the time comes! Or what you said last time you got married, you can say it again!"

Avery: "Last time I forgot what I said about the wedding."

Tammy: "Then you can say a few words when the time comes! You don't need to express your long thoughts. The guests who came to the wedding today are almost the same as last time. They are all very familiar with each other. They are friends and relatives.”

Avery: “Okay! I’m a little nervous all of a sudden.”

Tammy: “What’s so nervous about this, you just have a play mentality...”

Avery also wanted to play with a play mentality, but the cameraman’s camera kept shooting her here. And, more than one camera was shot at her.

“Miss Tate, Mr. Foster has a cameraman following him!” The cameraman’s answer shocked Avery.

“Oh...how many cameramen are there today?” Avery wanted to be mentally prepared.

“There are 5 cameramen who took photos of your costumes. Some of them took pictures at the wedding scene. There are 15 cameramen in total.”

Avery: “...”

“When the time comes, we will take pictures as soon as possible. and Photos will be sent to you soon. Video tape will be later.” The cameraman continued.

“Okay, it’s hard work.” Avery said here and asked, “Do other people also invite so many cameras when they get married?”

“Ordinary people don’t invite so many. But you and Mr. Foster are not ordinary people.” The cameraman flattered, “You and Mr. Foster are beautiful woman and handsome man, take more photos and keep them as souvenirs in the future. It’s very meaningful.”

After calming down, there were some happy and sweet feelings lingering in her mind.

Avery: “Tammy, why didn’t Gwen come?”

“Gwen’s on her way here. She’s going to get the dresses you are going to wear today. There are several sets of dresses that are stored in the studio.”

Tammy replied, “The clothes are all beautiful. Oh! I chose it together with Gwen.”

“I remember, Gwen showed me some dresses and makeup last time. She said that she asked me to help her, so it must have been chosen for me!”

Avery said.

“That’s right! I even prepared wedding rings for you guys! Is it thoughtful or moved?” Regardless of whether Avery was moved or not, Tammy was moved, “You can’t guess who gave your wedding ring today.”

Chapter 2348

Avery thought about it and guessed: “Is it Ben?”

Tammy waved her finger: “You guess again.”

Avery: “Gwen?”

Tammy: “No.”

“Mike!” Avery thought it must be Mike.

“If it was Mike, I wouldn’t ask you this question at all. You can guess the answer you might not have guessed.” Tammy pretended to be mysterious.

Avery used her brain and began to guess: “Brother Wesley? Shea? Or... your husband? It’s definitely not you, right? If it were you, I wouldn’t be too surprised.”

Tammy: “No...No...No, Keep guessing!”

Avery: “You give me a hint!”

“The person who pays is not an adult.” Tammy gave a hint.

“Hayden!” After Avery got the prompt, she guessed right at once, “right?”

“If I didn’t prompt, you would definitely not have guessed.” Tammy said,

“Hayden hated Elliot before! Now! What does it mean that he actually paid for a diamond ring for you? It means that he accepted Elliot! If Elliot knew this, he would be very happy.”

“Yeah! I’ll tell Elliot later.” Avery’s joy was beyond words. She didn’t expect this wedding to be brought together by so many people. The significance was far greater than she imagined.

“I’m going to see Elliot.” Tammy said, looking at the time, “I’m really afraid that Elliot is picky about this wedding, I have to settle him.”

Avery: “You just tell Elliot that our wedding ring today is Hayden. He bought it, I guarantee he won’t pick anything.”

“Okay!” Tammy said and walked out.

As soon as Tammy came out, she ran into Layla who was standing in the living room in her pajamas.

Layla’s face was not sober. After seeing Tammy, she immediately pulled her:

“Auntie Tammy, my parents are getting married today?”

Tammy: “Yes! You are going to dress up beautifully today! Because there are many guests and your favorite Uncle Eric is also here.”

“Ahhh!” Layla screamed, penetrating the entire villa.

In the room, Robert and Kara were awakened.

The two children opened their eyes, and when they saw each other, the expressions on their faces were stunned.

“Woooooo... Where’s my mother?” Kara’s hair was sleeping like a chicken coop. The unfamiliar environment made her feel insecure, so her eyes suddenly filled with crystal tears.

Robert wanted to cry too, but because this was an environment he was familiar with, he held back.

“Sister Kara, don’t cry! I’ll take you to find your mother!” Robert took the initiative to hug Kara, who was crying into tears.

After Kara sniffed, she wiped all the tears and snot on Robert’s pajamas, and the crying gradually stopped.

Robert took Kara out of the bed, and then took Kara out of the room.

There were thumping footsteps from the stairs, and the two little guys stood there, waiting for someone to come up.

After a while, they saw that the person who came up was Layla, and immediately ran towards Layla.

“Sister! Where is Sister Kara’s mother? She wants to see her mother!” Robert took her sister’s hand and spoke anxiously.

Kara also grabbed Layla and said: “Sister Layla, I found out that I was sleeping with brother Robert, so I cried.”

Layla looked at the pitiful Kara and immediately picked her up: “Your mother is down there! My parents are getting married today, and they are very busy. Come with me, and I will show you.”

“Hey, but I’m so hungry!” Kara pursed her mouth and took a deep breath.

Layla immediately instructed Robert: “Brother, go to the kitchen and get something to eat for Sister Kara.”

Robert immediately went downstairs quickly.

Chapter 2349

Master bedroom.

Two cameras were shooting at Elliot.

And Elliot was wearing a nightgown, sitting in a chair, holding a mobile phone, watching the wedding process sent by Chad.

Elliot didn’t say a word, his expression looked a little serious, and the staff didn’t dare to shout.

After a while, Tammy came up to check the situation.

The door to the master bedroom was open. Tammy walked into the bedroom and saw Elliot sitting there looking at his phone like an uncle, and immediately joked: "What are you doing! Why don't you go off and put on your makeup? Would you like a makeup artist to come and do it for you?"

Tammy quickly walked to Elliot's side, staring at his phone.

"I'm watching the process! You don't need to watch this stuff. Someone will remind you all the way." Elliot had already roughly read the entire wedding process.

He was not very satisfied with the wedding and this was the version that Chad had changed according to his liking.

He didn't know how bad the original process was.

The main point of his dissatisfaction was that everything was funny, and there was a bit of cheesy in the funny.

"She made a big mistake in leaving the wedding to her parents to prepare."

Elliot expressed his opinion.

"Do you think this wedding is not good? I think it's pretty good! You have to make it look like that high-level, serious and dignified feeling. It's boring. It's better to be lively and lively when you get married." Tammy retorted him, "Anyway, we are all satisfied, if you are not satisfied by yourself, then you bear it."

Elliot: "..."

"Okay, don't look at the process. I'll call the makeup artist up to do the makeup for you!" Tammy said, "You ink for a while, and Avery will be finished.

After you finish your makeup later, go outside first. When the time comes,

Avery will finish her makeup, and you will pick it up."

Of course, Elliot had to cooperate fully. After all, for today's wedding, he didn't make any contribution.

“By the way, I almost forgot to tell you. Hayden bought the wedding rings for the two of you at the ceremony today.” When Tammy walked to the door, she remembered this, and looked at Elliot’s face, said.

Hearing this, Elliot’s handsome face was instantly covered with a faint blush.

The emotion spread to all limbs, and all dissatisfaction with the wedding disappeared.

Not long after, Tammy led the makeup artist into the master bedroom to apply makeup to Elliot.

Downstairs, a car slowly drove into the hospital.

Ben and Gwen came over.

Ben was carrying a large bag of wedding candy in his left hand and a bag of red packets in his right hand.

Gwen took out two oversized suitcases from the trunk.

In the suitcase, there were today’s bride and groom’s dresses.

As soon as Ben got off the car, he started to give everyone happy candies and red envelopes.

Gwen entered the room with her suitcase, and quickly found the room where Avery put on makeup.

“Ben is giving people red envelopes and candy outside. He is so happy as if he is getting married today, hahaha!” Gwen laughed as she opened the suitcase and took out the dress and hung it in the closet next to her.

“If Ben gets married, he will definitely be happier.” Avery said, “Gwen, thank you for giving us the wedding you have prepared. How are your Spring Festival wedding preparations?”

“Let Ben’s parents make the preparations. I heard that they are almost ready.

After all, his parents have already prepared the experience.” Gwen didn’t worry about the wedding at all, “You and my brother will marry in peace today, don’t think about it!”

“Well. Are all the guests here?” Avery couldn’t help but think.

“I watched the video posted by Mike and Chad in the group, and there are already quite a few guests!” Gwen said with a smile, taking out a skirt from a paper bag, “Avery, I am your bridesmaid today. “

” Who is the best man?” Avery asked this question subconsciously.

“Hahaha! The best man is Ben! You asked this question, are you still awake!”

Tammy laughed.

Chapter 2350

Avery laughed along: “I did get up a little early this morning. Why do I have to get up so early for marriage? If only I could sleep until I woke up naturally.”

“Avery, I also have this trouble. I also talk to Ben discussed this issue. Ben said that you can actually sleep until you wake up naturally, but in this case, the wedding ceremony will have to be postponed. But as long as you tell the guests the time in advance, it will be fine.” Gwen said.

“Then you can postpone it a little bit. When the ceremony is held on the first day, postpone it a little bit, and then have a banquet on the next day.” Avery said, “It’s the first time for both of you to get married, so it can be more lively.”

“At that time, we will do whatever his parents arrange. If other brides can get up early, but it happens to me, I can’t get up. I’m so embarrassed. And on the wedding day, I should be very excited, right? It is estimated that even if no one calls me to get up early, I will suffer from insomnia.” Gwen couldn’t help laughing, “If we told you yesterday to get married today, I would guess that you would not be able to sleep last night.”

Avery: “That’s right. I’m not sleepy at the moment. It ‘s just a little nervous. It’s too sudden.”

“The surprise is of course sudden haha!” Gwen cheered, Ben walked in with a bag and gave the staff happy candy and red envelopes.

Avery stretched out her hand towards Ben, “I want to eat candy too.”

“Haven't you eaten breakfast?” Ben grabbed a handful of candy for her, “It's still early for the luncheon! I'll go get you some breakfast.”

“Get it for Elliot! I guess he didn't eat it either.” Avery opened a candy and put it in her mouth, “I'll ask Gwen to get it for me.”

Ben: “Okay.”

Ben and Gwen came out of the room together and went to the kitchen to get breakfast.

As soon as They got to the kitchen, they smelled a scent,

“Mrs. Cooper, what kind of soup are you stewing? It's so fragrant.” Gwen had breakfast in the morning, but not much.

Now she smelled the fragrance and felt hungry again.

“The stewed pork ribs and corn soup. It will be ready soon. Do you want a bowl?” Mrs. Cooper smiled and took the bowl from the cupboard.

Gwen: “Yes. I like pork ribs soup the most.”

Ben reminded: “We are here to get breakfast for Elliot and Avery. Let's get them some first. They must be hungry.”

Mrs. Cooper said, “You two Just eat here and I'll deliver it to them. I was about to deliver breakfast to them, but I was just waiting for the soup.”

“Mrs. Cooper, you are so thoughtful.” Gwen boasted, “No wonder my brother respects you so much. “

“Gwen, people are mutual. I can only work here for such a long time if you treat me well.” Mrs. Cooper passed on her experience to Gwen, “It's the same when you get along with your elders. Well, the elders won't embarrass you."

"You mean me and my parents-in-law?" Gwen laughed out loud, "You must have never met my parents-in-law, they are quite old and they treat me very special. You can see Ben's age..."

"That's good for your in-laws. Mean people, no matter how old they are." Mrs. Cooper brought out two bowls of soup and gave them to both of them. "I haven't met your parents-in-law, but I'm very familiar with Ben. Ben is a good man. If Ben is not good, Mr. Foster won't let you marry him."

"Ben is okay! But I can't compare to my second brother." Gwen picked up the soup bowl and said eloquently.

Ben: "..."

"Of course, I can't compare to Avery." Gwen was afraid that Ben had an idea, and immediately added, "If I can find a husband like Ben, I must have saved the galaxy in my last life. "

Ben: "....."

Gwen's words gave Ben goosebumps.

Gwen was very rude to Ben in private. Basically, Ben didn't say anything.

Now, in front of outsiders, Ben actually knew that Gwen would save some face for him.

Ben was very relieved.

At 10 o'clock in the morning, Avery's makeup was finished, and after the first dress was put on, the photographer took a set of photos of her and Elliot.

Chapter 2351

After the photos were taken, everyone went to the hotel where the ceremony was held.

On the way to the hotel, Tammy couldn't hide her excitement, refined the photo she took with Avery, and posted it to the circle of friends—

—Today is my best friend's wedding, I'm happier than my own marriage!

Happy! Happy! Happy!

There was a solo photo of Avery and a group photo of Tammy and Avery.

In every photo, Avery smiled brightly and moved, happy and sweet.

Soon, Tammy received numerous likes and comments.

—Avery is getting married today? ! Who is she married to? Who is the groom? How come I haven't heard of it at all!

—The groom is Elliot, right? I remember hearing from you last time that she and Elliot had remarried! Are they really having a wedding today? Are you still taking wedding photos? There is absolutely no news of their wedding on the news!

—Wow! Are they getting married today? Congratulations! Is this a wedding that isn't open to the public? So romantic!

—This news is too hot, right? Can I share this news with my friends? My friend especially likes Elliot!

.....

Someone politely asked Tammy if she could share the news, and more people shared the news the moment they saw her circle of friends.

Soon, the news of Avery and Elliot's wedding today was exposed on the Internet, and Avery's wedding photos were attached.

Of course, the picture was stolen from Tammy's circle of friends.

After the news of Elliot and Avery's wedding today spread on the Internet, it shocked everyone.

Compared with the high-profile and grand wedding of the two of them last time, this time the wedding of the two of them did not reveal any details to the public at all.

After the paparazzi knew that the two of them were getting married today, they hurried to stay near Elliot's house, but they had already left the community.

In the hotel.

Avery changed into the second set of dresses for the ceremony.

After changing the dress and styling, Tammy told her what to do next: "When you enter the banquet hall, you have to sing! I remember that you sing very well, is this okay?"

Avery was stunned for a moment: "What song do I sing?"

Tammy: "What do you want to sing? There is a playlist here, you can choose one."

Avery took the playlist and glanced at it: "Tammy, am I the only one to sing? Elliot doesn't sing?"

"The bridegroom has other tasks, you can sing yours, it will be your personal concert." Tammy cheered her up, "Don't worry about whether you sing well or not, today you are out of tune. Thousands of miles away, the people in the audience will applaud you too!"

Avery: "..."

Tammy: "Just sing this song! "Want to sing me to You", this melody is simple, you can read the lyrics with your phone."

Avery: "What mission does Elliot have? Doesn't he come in with me?"

Tammy shook her head: "If I told you, there would be no suspense. You look forward to it in your heart and see what form he will take in a while."

Avery is very curious and looking forward to it.

When Avery was looking at the lyrics on her mobile phone, Tammy told the staff next to her the song she was going to sing.

The staff immediately relayed the song to the staff in charge of music.

“Avery, is it alright?” Tammy asked after watching her hum along with the melody twice.

Avery nodded: “It should be fine.”

Tammy immediately told the staff, “It’s time to start!”

A soothing melody sounded in the banquet hall, and the door of the banquet hall slowly opened.

The light in the banquet hall dimmed, and the spotlight hit the door.

Soon, Avery appeared in the aperture. She held the microphone and sang beautifully — “Want to sing me to you, while you are still young and like flowers, let the flowers bloom as much as you like! My branches and buds decorate your years...”

The audience, originally quiet, suddenly heard a whistle!

Then came Mike’s voice: “It’s so good!”

Avery couldn’t help laughing.

“Can you stop making trouble!” Chad pushed Mike who stood up back into the chair and sat down.

“It’s the first time I’ve heard Avery sing seriously! I didn’t expect it to be on such an occasion!” Mike complained, “I usually tell her to go out to sing, but she doesn’t usually go.”

“My boss sings very well, too. But my boss usually doesn’t sing for us. I don’t know what’s going on with my boss.” Chad wanted to go backstage to see.

But there were Ben and Jun in the backstage, and Chad didn’t need their help.

Avery finished singing a song, and people came to the stage.

After she finished singing, thunderous applause came.

The lights in the banquet hall turned on, and Avery could see the surrounding guests and the stage layout.

The stage was huge, and it was arranged like a forest.

Avery took the microphone and looked around. Elliot wasn't there, but why didn't she even see the wedding emcee?

Standing alone on the stage, she was a little overwhelmed...

Countless pairs of eyes stared at her in the audience, would she say something to ease the embarrassment?

Just when she was about to play on the spot, a gloomy background music sounded.

Under the stage, some timid children were frightened and cried.

Avery: "..."

What kind of trouble was this?

Just when Avery was stunned, suddenly, two people in strange clothes rushed out from the side, and grabbed Avery's arm.

Avery was unprepared, and was so frightened that her body softened, and the microphone in her hand fell to the ground with a 'clack'!

Everything on the stage fell in the eyes of the audience offstage.

Adults knew it's fake, but little kids didn't.

Robert was sitting in the front row and saw that her mother was caught by two monsters wearing hoods, and she suddenly screamed: "Monster! Let go of my mother!"

Robert said excitedly, and stood up from the chair to rush to the stage and save the mother.

Mrs. Cooper immediately carried Robert back.

“Don’t be afraid of Robert! The monster is fake! It’s played by humans.” Mrs.

Cooper coaxed Robert, and next to her, Layla was also irritated.

Layla knew that the monsters were played by people, but when she saw that they caught her mother, Layla was very angry!

Layla took the hem of her skirt and strode toward the stage.

Chapter 2353

“You let go of my mother!” Layla’s voice was sharp and angry.

Mike and Hayden stood up from their seats almost at the same time and strode towards Layla.

Mike: “Layla, you come back!”

“I don’t! They scratched Mommy! Didn’t you hear Mommy screaming?” Layla said angrily, and strode onto the stage.

After Mike strode onto the stage, he hugged Layla horizontally.

“I’ll let them take it easy, don’t interfere with your dad’s appearance.” Mike coaxed Layla, walked to the two ‘monsters’ at the same time, and whispered, “Take it easy, don’t hurt the bride.”

The monster’s staff was very helpless.

They didn’t work too hard!

Avery said awkwardly: “Layla, mom is fine. Mom was frightened just now.”

Avery had adjusted her emotions and she guessed that it was acting!

Now that two monsters have kidnapped her, it’s time for the groom to come on stage and save her! Then they can have the ceremony! After thinking about it like this, she thought it was quite interesting.

It's just that when she heard Robert's whimper under the stage and Layla ran up to help herself in distress, she was not only moved, but also distressed that the child was frightened.

After Layla was carried off the stage by Mike, Elliot in the backstage breathed a sigh of relief.

"Who planned this?! It's really bad! Not only did it frighten my wife, but it also frightened my two children!" Elliot blamed Ben, "If you let me know this is how my wedding is going to be one day earlier, I can change it in advance!"

Ben: "I'll explain it to them later, maybe they want to do it again! How fun!

How fun! How fun are the guests under the stands, how happy they are?!"

The guests offstage did laugh happily, but Robert had tears on his face, and Layla's face was full of anger... How could Elliot bear it?

"Elliot, you have to bear with it. When your child sees you appear, promise not to cry!" Ben patted him on the shoulder, making him think about it, "There are so many guests watching, let's not scan it. Everyone's happiness. You can see that Avery's emotions have been adjusted, which means that she thinks the design is ok."

Elliot: "I suspect that you are deliberately harassing us."

Ben: "How is it possible?! What are we doing to harass you? ...But I'm still very happy to see your performance hahahaha!"

Elliot: "..."

Ben laughed too loudly!

.....

In the banquet hall, there was a deep voice: "The beautiful princess, kidnapped by the devil! To rescue the beautiful princess, we need to shout together. I count to three, we shout together, looking forward to the handsome The knights are on the stage!”

“Three, two, one...”

Everyone at the scene screamed and shouted together, the lights in the banquet hall flickered on and off, and after a few flashes, there were suddenly two more on the stage. figure!

One of the characters is—— “Ultraman! That’s Ultraman!” There were children at the scene who exclaimed in surprise!

Another character is — “Mom! That big dinosaur is so scary! Hey! I’m so scared!” A little girl jumped into her mother’s arms and didn’t dare to look at the stage.

On the stage, Avery, who was kidnapped by two monsters, was stunned.

What about the knights?

How was it not the same as imagined!

“Huh? Where’s our handsome knight? Where did he go? Is he going to abandon the beautiful princess?” The thick voice continued, “Since the knight was scared away by the monster, then our guests at the scene will take care of the beautiful princess. Let the princess choose the hero who can save her!”

“Ultraman! Ultraman! Mom! Choose Ultraman!” Robert screamed, “Ultraman can kill monsters!”

Other children and Robert had the same status and choices.

Avery stood on the stage, very close to Ultraman and dinosaurs.

She knew that Elliot was on stage now.

However, was Elliot an Ultraman or a dinosaur?

Chapter 2354

Avery quickly knew the answer. But Robert in the audience was completely fascinated by Ultraman and kept shouting at Ultraman.

“Layla, do you think your dad is an Ultraman or a dinosaur?” Mike asked Layla.

Layla frowned, staring at Ultraman and the dinosaurs on the stage, lost in thought.

After a while, Layla asked Hayden, “Brother, which one do you think is the father?”

Hayden said: “Look at the figure.”

Although Hayden rarely looked directly at Elliot, he still knew about Elliot’s figure.

The Ultraman on the stage was obviously slimmer, and it was definitely not Elliot.

“Oh! Look at the figure! But that dinosaur, you can’t see the figure at all!”

Layla really wanted to go on stage to take off the dinosaur’s headgear!

“Exclusion method.” Hayden reminded.

“Oh...this Ultraman is so tightly wrapped, I can’t see it.” Layla whispered, “My dad...seems to be bigger than that Ultraman. Man a little taller... brother, right?”

Hayden didn’t have time to answer his sister’s question, and a child from the audience rushed directly to the stage!

“Ultraman! Can you take me to fight monsters?! I want to play with you!” After one child rushed onto the stage, other children broke free from their elders and rushed up.

Ultraman on stage was stunned.

He was surrounded by one, two, three...a dozen children! Can’t move!

Avery: “???”

Someone in the dinosaur: “....”

So there's a reason he wasn't happy with the wedding.

Before the ceremony was held, the scene was already out of control.

However, it was really lively.

"Come down! Come down! I'll play with you later!" Ultraman waved his arms, trying to shout the children off the stage.

He did not forget that today's protagonists were the bride and groom on stage.

Not far away, Robert heard his father's voice and immediately screamed and shouted 'Dad'!

Taking advantage of the chaos on the stage, Avery quickly walked to the dinosaur and took off the dinosaur's hood.

Elliot's handsome face suddenly appeared in front of her.

"I've known you for so long, and it's the first time I've seen you in such a cute dress hahaha!" Avery was very happy.

Elliot had a gloomy face at first, but when he saw the bright smile on Avery's face, the chill in his eyes dissipated little by little.

"I wanted to wear that Ultraman suit, but Ben said it was uncomfortable."

Elliot walked out of the dinosaur.

Ultraman's leather cover was tight, if Elliot wore that, there was no way to wear a dress inside.

"My son likes Ultraman. When he saw Ultraman coming out, his eyes lit up."

Avery arranged his hairstyle and clothes with him.

Elliot: "I know my son likes it. And Ultraman's image is obviously more handsome."

"Hahaha! You look good in a dinosaur costume. You look good in anything."

Avery comforted him.

Elliot's eyes fell on her face for a moment: "Avery, you are... beautiful today."

Avery: "You are also very handsome today."

The two of them stood on the stage and stared affectionately, with no eyes at other people.

Ultraman walked off the stage with a group of children, the scene lights returned to normal, and the wedding emcee also came out.

Chapter 2355

"The children at our scene today are so cute! Originally, the knight was going to save the princess, but it turned out to be the princess saving the knight... Maybe this is the true meaning of love, two people help each other, This will last for a long time."

The wedding ceremony officially began.

Witnessed by relatives and friends, the two made a vow of eternal loyalty and love for each other, and then exchanged wedding rings.

This was the first time Avery and Elliot saw the wedding ring.

The wedding ring was bought by Hayden, and they didn't know who chose the style.

The wedding ring was simple and elegant, and the diamonds sparkle in the light for a dazzling brilliance.

After the two put on their wedding rings for each other, before the emcee could speak, they kissed passionately.

There was a loud exclamation from the audience!

"Woooooo! I'm so moved!" Tammy was filming with a mobile phone, but her eyes suddenly became wet, "They are a good match!"

Gwen's eyes were also wet: "I also think they are made in heaven. If the two of them don't get married, it's really hard to end."

The two people talked and laughed again.

“You’re going to get married soon. I’m so envious! When I got married, I forgot all the details. I can’t even remember how I was feeling at the time, but I’m sure I wasn’t as excited as I am now.” Tammy sighed, “I really want to get married again.”

Gwen couldn’t help laughing: “Don’t let your husband hear that.”

“Even if I get married again, I’ll get married with him! Although I often despise him, I don’t want anyone except him.” Tammy said contentedly, “Few people can stand my stinky temper.”

Gwen: “Tammy, I think you have a good temper!”

Tammy: “That’s because you haven’t seen me when I lost my temper.

Besides, of course I won’t lose my temper with you. Just like you are so vicious to Ben, you won’t be so vicious to us.”

Gwen: “As soon as you said it, I suddenly felt more pity for Ben.”

Tammy: “Hahaha! Ben really has nothing wrong with him other than being a little older.”

Gwen: “Hey, Tammy, you think he is too old too. Is it?”

Tammy leaned into Gwen’s ear and whispered, “It’s mainly because men are getting old and their health is not good...”

Ben sat beside Gwen. He heard their whispers clearly.

“Tammy, you think I don’t exist!” Ben was afraid that Gwen would be brainwashed by Tammy, and immediately spoke up.

“Since you want to hear it, then I’ll tell you to listen to it. You have to exercise more, otherwise you will grow old quickly.” Tammy said this, and looked at Elliot on the stage, “Look at how well Elliot takes care of himself. I have known him for so many years, not only did he not gain weight, but he was thinner than the beginning.”

“Okay, don’t talk about it! Today is their big day, can’t you make me happy?”

Ben didn’t like to exercise as much as Elliot, and his body was naturally not as good as Elliot’s.

Who didn’t know that exercise was good for the body! The point was that someone just couldn’t stand it.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom went to dress up.

That time they were together.

“Husband, although today’s wedding is not as good as what you have prepared before, I am really happy. There is a feeling that this is the real marriage.” Avery changed into her toasting clothes, sat in a chair and let the teacher changed her makeup.

Elliot changed his clothes, sat in a chair not far from her, and asked the makeup artist to touch up his makeup.

“I don’t know what a few children think.” Elliot no longer disliked today’s wedding as much as he did in the morning.

After all, Avery said that she was satisfied. If the children were also satisfied, he would naturally be satisfied too.

“I see Robert sticking to Jun, so excited. If Jun didn’t take off the holster today, he would definitely not be able to get off today.” Avery couldn’t help laughing, “He looks like that in that holster. I’m sorry.”

Elliot’s phone rang.

After he responded to Avery, he lowered his eyes and looked at the phone.

Chapter 2356

News pops up in the notification bar.

Coincidentally, the news was about his and Avery’s wedding today.

After his and Avery's wedding was on the news today, some friends who didn't receive the invitation sent him messages to congratulate him.

Elliot glanced at it, the information was several times more than in the morning.

In the banquet hall, there was a commotion.

It's not a chaotic mess, but a lively mess.

Jun wanted to change Ultraman's leather jacket, but his daughter did not allow him to change it.

The reason why Kara didn't allow him to take it off was because her father was so handsome now that all the children surrounded him, which made Kara feel very proud.

For the sake of his daughter, Jun could only continue to play Ultraman bitterly.

Jun held Kara and walked around in the banquet hall, making Kara feel the feeling of being surrounded by stars.

"I also want my dad to be an Ultraman." Robert followed the other children and followed Jun.

"Brother Robert, your father is the groom today. He can't change from Ultraman." Maria tugged at the corner of Robert's clothes and said softly.

"Your father is not the groom, you can make your father an Ultraman." Robert told Maria.

Be careful.

At this time, Lilly said, "I don't want Dad to become Ultraman! Dad is better than Ultraman." Like Maria, Lilly called Wesley and Shea her parents.

When she first arrived at Wesley's house, Lilly didn't dare to shout like that.

After living together for a few days, she felt that they were really good to her, so she naturally followed Maria to call them.

“Sister is right! I don’t want my dad to become an Ultraman! If my dad becomes an Ultraman, will he fly away? If he flies away, he won’t be my dad anymore. I don’t want my dad flew away.” Maria echoed.

This question made Robert think seriously: “I made my father an Ultraman during the day and my father at night.”

Maria was stunned: “Brother Robert, what you think is so beautiful!”

Lilly covered her mouth and smiled.

Robert’s face flushed red.

On the other side, Layla pulled Eric and asked Eric to talk about his recent life.

“I haven’t worked for two months, but after the New Year’s Day holiday, I have to work.” Eric said lazily, “On days when I don’t have to go to work, besides sleeping, I just eat. I started to lose weight a week ago, fortunately It went relatively smoothly, and the weight loss was successful...”

Layla: “Uncle Eric, I have never seen you gain weight!”

“I have gained about ten pounds.” Eric said helplessly, “Actually, I am easy to gain weight. As long as I don’t work, I will basically gain weight. But after I gain weight, it is not very obvious. Because I usually don’t have a fat face.”

“Uncle Eric, do you sleep every day? Didn’t you go shopping?” Layla said, and remembered something, “My mother said you had a blind date before, did you succeed in your blind date?”

If it wasn’t for Layla, Eric would have forgotten about it.

He tried hard to recall Maggie’s appearance, but he didn’t remember it at all.

Because he and Maggie never formally met.

After the identity of the music festival was exposed, Maggie did not chat with him again. He also didn't talk to Maggie.

But Maggie should have made it clear to the elders, because his mother didn't force him to have a blind date anymore.

Therefore, he has a trace of gratitude to Maggie.

"If the blind date is successful, then I should bring her with me today." Eric smiled, "actually a good person, at least I think so now."

"Oh... Uncle Eric, aren't you afraid of getting old?" Layla asked, "Auntie Gwen dislikes Uncle Ben being too old."

Ben really didn't mean to eavesdrop on them.

It was Layla's voice, which was not lowered at all, and everyone around her should have heard it.

Others say this, Ben can protest, Layla said, Ben dare not speak at all.

Eric glanced at Ben, then held back a smile and said, "Then I won't find a wife. If I stay by myself, no one will dislike me."

"Uncle Eric, wait for my long vacation next time, take me out to play!" Layla looked at him expectantly, "I will definitely pass the final exam this time."

Eric was of course willing to take Layla out to play, but Eric didn't dare.

Affected by Elliot and Avery's divorce in the first two years, Layla's studies declined, so Elliot did not let Eric take Layla out to play.

Of course Elliot wouldn't say such things in front of Layla.

Elliot asked Eric to reject Layla, so Layla still didn't know that Eric didn't take her out to play because Elliot refused.

"I'll take you to play when your final exam is over and you're done." Eric discussed with Layla, "Otherwise your parents may ask you to make up the class."

Layla pouted, not very happy.

“Aren’t you very confident that you can pass the test just now? As long as you pass the test, I promise to take you out to play. You can play wherever you want.” Eric whispered, “Otherwise I’m afraid I won’t be able to convince you. Mom.”

“Okay!” Layla reluctantly agreed, “I will try my best to pass the exam.”

In the other corner of the banquet hall, Mike and Chad were also chatting hotly.

“Elliot’s in a good mood today, so you can tell him while he’s having a drink later, and promise that he’ll agree to you.” Mike asked Chad, “Today is a golden opportunity. You wait for him to wake up tomorrow. Now, he may not be so cheerful.”

After thinking about it, Chad said, “My boss is getting married today, and I don’t want to spoil his mood with official business. You are not wicked, you are my boss, if someone is with you. How do you feel when you talk about business with you when you get married?”

Mike: “I don’t think it’s a big deal! It’s not a business, isn’t it just an ordinary job transfer?”

“Since it’s just an ordinary job transfer, why do you have to tell me when my boss gets married?” Chad felt that his words were full of loopholes, “Don’t talk about it, I’ll handle my affairs myself.”

“What do you do? What to do? If I don’t urge you, you will definitely not be able to open your mouth. Should I help you?” Mike thought about telling Elliot about this today.

As long as it didn’t touch the bottom line of Elliot’s principle, went to him and told him today, he would definitely agree.

How could such a great opportunity be missed?

“Can you stop forcing me? I don’t want to talk about it today.” Chad said firmly, his cheeks slightly red, “You are really a disappointment! Everyone is so happy today, you have to mention this?”

Mike: “Can’t you just listen to me once?”

Chad saw that he seemed a little angry, his teeth clenched: “Let’s talk about it at night! Anyway, I won’t talk now!”

“Okay! Then tell him at night. If you don’t tell him at night, then I’ll go!” Mike didn’t want to drag this matter down any longer, “Sometimes a thing is good or bad, and it’s not a one-sided view. Maybe after you transfer to Bridgedale, everything will be better?”

Chapter 2358

Aryadelle Airport.

Norah and Sasha came out of the airport.

They had officially met, and after discussion, they decided to find Haze together, and the benefits they would get in the future would be divided into half.

The woman who bought Haze in Yonroeville at the beginning certainly did not buy Haze simply because she liked children.

She must had a reason.

No matter what the reason was, in order to achieve her goal, she must contact Elliot and Avery.

So Norah and Sasha returned to Aryadelle and decided to wait for it.

They guessed that the woman who bought Haze might be right under the eyes of Elliot and Avery.

The two came out of the airport and got into a taxi.

Norah turned on the phone and immediately saw the good news of Elliot and Avery getting married today.

“What a coincidence, the two of them are having a wedding today.” Norah’s tone was a little sour.

Sasha leaned back in the chair and was jet-lagged, so her tone was a little lazy: “We can’t go to the scene.”

“It’s not easy to get in, you can find someone to go in for us with a little money.” Norah said disdainfully, “ But there’s nothing to see today. The people they invited are definitely their better friends and relatives. That woman definitely won’t be able to get in.”

Sasha felt that Norah’s thinking was right.

“Norah, you say you have such a good mind, why did you get mixed up like this?” Sasha looked at Norah with a puzzled face, “If I had half your brain, I wouldn’t be so useless.”

Irony, not annoying at all.

“Sasha, you’re not bad. If you were mediocre, I wouldn’t beg to cooperate with you. Not only are you smart, but you are also very courageous. It’s just that your brain and courage are not used in the right place, that’s why your life is so bad.” Norah analyzed, “If we can get the money smoothly in this wave, then we can jointly open a store together, or do some other small business, I believe that with the two of us With the ability, there will definitely be some achievements.”

Sasha had tossed for most of her life and didn’t want to toss anymore.

“You better find someone else to partner with! I just want to retire... It would be better if I could go back to my hometown to retire.” Sasha said this, her eyes were a little sore, “I can’t remember how many years I haven’t returned.

I have passed my hometown. I don't know what happened to my parents and my grandparents... My grandparents are definitely gone... My mother is not in good health and may not be here..."

Norah was a little overwhelmed when she saw Sasha burst into tears.

"Forget it, there's nothing to go back to my hometown. My family is gone, so I don't have much interest in going back. I might as well find a strange place to stay." Sasha said to herself, took a deep breath, and raised her hand Wipe the tears off her face.

"Sasha, don't be so pessimistic. Let me tell you a person, you may not know her, but you will know when I say this. She is Avery's stepmother. Before Avery's father died, she was a housewife at home. Norah took out Wanda's deeds and inspired Sasha, "Wanda should be older than you. But can you imagine how high her previous achievements were? Her previous company's market value was tens of billions."

Sasha: "Where she is now?"

"Dead." Norah said calmly, "What I asked you to learn is Wanda's middleaged business courage. She was assassinated because she killed Avery's mother. In the future, as long as we don't Go provoke them, we will make money silently, and they will definitely not touch us."

Sasha looked tangled: "Let's talk about it when we get the money! I'm afraid they will find Haze before us."

Norah said, "Sasha, do you want to live in my house? Or I'll rent you a house in my community. We live closer, so we can take care of you."

Sasha: "Then I'll rent a house in the community where you live! I still have a lot of money you gave me before."

Chapter 2359

The expression on Norah's face was stunned for a moment, then returned to normal: "Okay. I will find someone next, Put her next to Elliot, so that as long as a woman with a scar on her wrist approaches Elliot in the future, we can get the news as soon as possible."

"Aren't you running out of money? How do you find someone? You can find a reliable person to put her in. Going to Elliot's side? Elliot's side is not so good, right?" Sasha was a little worried.

"I'll think of a way." Norah said, "Elliot's assistant should be by his side for a while."

Sasha: "How did you know?"

"You forgot that I had contact with them before? I still know them well, otherwise how could it be possible to gain their trust so quickly?" Norah said confidently, "I'll try it first!"

...

Hotel.

After the luncheon, Ben's mother, Juniper Schaffer took Avery's hand and smiled happily.

"Avery, this is the honeymoon hotel package I booked for Ben and Gwen before. I also booked a round-trip air ticket, but the name is theirs, so you can't use it with Elliot. So you two just need to buy a plane ticket and you can fly directly for honeymoon."

Juniper gave Avery a card with the hotel information and the housekeeper's contact information.

Avery never thought of going on a honeymoon.

After all, this marriage was only known this morning.

"Auntie, why don't you go to play with my uncle! I stay with Elliot every day, and every day is a honeymoon." Avery was really embarrassed to accept this gift.

“How can this be the same? The two of you are at home, and there are children pestering you every day. Can the two of you be sweet? You still have to go out to play alone. It’s fun.” Juniper put the card directly into Avery’s hand, “The time is today. It started to take effect. I originally booked Ben and Gwen to stay tonight.”

“Is it in such a hurry?” Avery didn’t understand.

Even if Ben and Gwen were arranged to get married on New Year’s Day, it was too late to fly to another place that night.

Juniper smiled kindly: “I don’t want them to hurry up and have a baby.”

Avery: “...”

“Of course, you and Elliot have had enough. Now, I think you two don’t need to be reborn. You two have a good rest on your honeymoon.” Juniper continued.

Ben saw that his mother kept holding Avery to speak, so he walked over and said, “Mom, what are you saying when you are holding Avery! Avery has already given birth to several children, so please don’t give birth!”

Juniper stared at her son, and walked away.

Avery couldn’t help laughing and said, “Brother Ben, Auntie didn’t urge me to have a baby. She gave me the honeymoon package originally reserved for you and Gwen.

Ben: “I said that...it turned out to be a lie to me.”

“Generally a good hotel, the popular schedules must be booked in advance. New Year’s Day has always been a popular time for weddings, and auntie must have booked a room long in advance.” Avery explained, “Since auntie gave it to me, then I’m welcome!”

“You’re welcome, you two go play!” Ben said, “If the honeymoon package is good, then I and Gwen will also go there.”

A few steps away, Mike heard Avery’s words.

His heart was on fire, and he ran to grab Chad’s arm and went to find Elliot.

Chapter 2360

“Mike, what are you doing?!” Chad was confused and wanted to shake his hand, but he didn’t...

“The two of them are going to fly for their honeymoon tonight. You should confess to your boss now, or you will have to wait until after the New Year’s holiday!” Mike explained to Chad.

“I originally wanted to talk to my Boss after New Year’s Day.” Chad pushed Mike away, “Calm down and talk about it after New Year’s Day!”

“Why are you like this? Didn’t you just promise to talk today?” Mike’s voice increased, causing a small commotion.

Elliot quickly noticed their movements.

Elliot saw Hayden walking towards the two of them, and pulled Mike.

Mike faced Hayden, so Elliot could see Mike’s angry expression.

How could Elliot not guess what they were arguing about there.

Elliot put down the wine glass and strode towards them.

From the corner of Chad’s eyes, he saw Elliot’s figure moving towards him, and immediately glared at Mike: “It’s all your fault, I’ve alarmed my boss.”

“If that’s the case, then tell him now.” After saying that, Mike’s long arms wrapped Hayden’s shoulders and quickly walked away.

Elliot walked up to Chad and looked at him, “Let’s talk in another place.”

“Boss, I heard that you and Avery are going to fly for your honeymoon tonight. Let’s talk after your honeymoon!” Chad saw Elliot.

Make Mike angry, he was not afraid.

Mike was that grumpy temper, no matter how angry he was, he would calm down later.

But Elliot was different.

“Avery hasn’t told me yet.” Elliot said, “I drank some wine and felt a little dizzy. You accompany me out to get some air.”

Elliot took the lead and walked towards the exit.

Chad immediately followed.

After the two of them came out of the banquet hall, they did not step out of the hotel.

Because the news of Elliot and Avery’s wedding today had spread all over the Internet in a short time.

Chapter 2361

Mike immediately replied: [Why didn’t you come up? I see him coming up!]

Chad: [I was too excited, so I blew the air underneath.]

Mike: [Take a picture and show me where you are, and I’ll find you.]

Chad: [No. I want to be alone for a while.]

Mike: [Aren’t you secretly wiping your tears? Chad, you are too embarrassed!

Going to work in Bridgedale is not to completely cut off relations with people, don’t make it so sad, okay!]

Chad: [You stupid! I cried because I was promoted!]

Mike: [...]

Chad: [The boss asked me to go to Bridgedale to be the vice president.]

Mike: [.....]

Chad: [If I had known this, I would have told him about the transfer.]

Mike: [Is it possible that he is giving you a promotion now because he is getting married today and is in a better mood?]

Chad was like being thrown a pot of cold water: [He praised me for my good work ability, but he didn't say that it was because he was in a good mood to get married today!]

Mike: [Could he say that in front of you? Do you think his EQ is as low as me?]

Chad: [You finally admit that your emotional intelligence is low!]

Mike: [There's nothing I dare not admit, brother doesn't rely on emotional intelligence to eat!]

Ballroom.

When Avery saw Elliot, she immediately asked him what he was doing just now.

"Aren't you talking to someone else? I thought you didn't pay attention to me at all." Elliot was a little smug, "I didn't expect you to stare at me all the time."

"It's hard not to pay attention to you. Did Chad talk to you about job transfer?"

Avery dragged him to a place with fewer people, "You agreed? We agreed last time, but you don't allow it."

"Yes." Elliot replied, "He didn't dare to tell me at all, but I took the initiative to talk about it. With his courage, I doubt whether I was being too strict with him at ordinary times."

"Just agree. Whether it's Chad or Mike, they have paid a lot for us." Avery said gratefully, "Don't think that the salary you pay Chad is enough for others to give you a saddle and a horse."

Elliot: "I'll let him go to Bridgedale to be the vice president."

Avery nodded with satisfaction: "It's alright."

"I heard that the two of us are going on our honeymoon tonight? Where are we going? How many days?" Elliot showed the honeymoon. 120 points of enthusiasm.

Avery: "You have no assistants, don't you feel a little bit sentimental? Are you going to recruit a new assistant next, or are you going to be promoted from below?"

Elliot: "Re-recruit."

Avery: "Oh, the right one is recruited. It's not easy to be a good person."

Elliot: "I know. But Chad will leave me sooner or later. I can't let him be my assistant all the time. Even if there is no Mike, we have to face this problem."

"Yes. Wait until we get through. After the honeymoon, you can recruit more people! The honeymoon is not long, only three days. Just in time for the New Year's Day holiday, we can come back." Avery handed the card to Elliot, "After the dinner, we will go home and pack up."

Elliot: "Just ask Mrs. Cooper to go back and pack our luggage for us. Pack it up and send it to the hotel."

Avery: "It's okay. But it's better to pack it yourself."

Of course Elliot knew that it would be better for him to pack up. Sometimes, Mrs. Cooper didn't necessarily know what clothes to bring.

It's just that the two of them got up too early this morning, and Elliot was afraid that Avery would be too tired to run back and forth.

"Just bring some simple daily necessities and a change of clothes. If you don't like the clothes you bring, you can buy them over there." Elliot said, "Go and rest, I'll wake you up later."

"Today I'm married, you let me take a nap?" Avery felt incredible, "Do you think I can sleep well?"

Mike was really happy to see him, so he won't hit him anymore.

The two walked out of the hotel's main entrance, looked past the security guards guarding the door, and saw a paparazzi squatting with a camera not far away.

"When I came down with my boss, the security guard told us a lot of paparazzi." Chad said, "If I were a paparazzi, I would not come here to stand guard. Obviously, there is no news here."

"Then where are you going to squat?" Mike asked.

Chad: "I don't squat anywhere. Since people didn't release the news, it means they don't want to be photographed, so how can they let the paparazzi take pictures."

Mike: "So you're not a paparazzi. You can't do the paparazzi with your thinking."

"Haha." Chad With a sneer, he looked around.

When meeting someone's gaze, the other party was obviously stunned for a moment, then immediately turned his back.

Chad felt that the man's face was a little familiar, but he couldn't remember who he was or what his relationship was with him for a while.

"Aren't you dizzy? Let's go eat ice cream! It's so cool to eat ice cream in winter." Mike took Chad to buy ice cream.

Chad was just pulled away.

When he bought the ice cream, Chad still didn't remember who the person he saw just now was.

"I just saw a person outside the hotel door. It's a little familiar." Chad said to Mike, "Let's go to the hotel door now and have a look!"

"You've seen so many people, isn't it normal for a person to be familiar?"

Mike felt no need to make a fuss.

“No, after seeing that person, I had an ominous premonition in my heart. That person must not be a good person, otherwise I wouldn’t have been thinking about his face...” Chad said this, his mind In a flash, he remembered the name of that person, “Cole Foster! That person is Cole Foster! I said why he looks so familiar! It’s him!”

If Cole Foster was still the same as before, Chad would not think so. It took him a while to remember his name.

Cole used to dress up politely and very cleanly.

But Cole, who Chad saw just now, had a mustache, and he didn’t dress very well, so he looked a little down.

“That guy isn’t dead yet!” Mike strode along with Chad towards the hotel door.

“It’s not because of his father’s relationship! His father is not as bad as him!

Before they showed their wolf ambitions, my boss and his father had a good relationship. How can I put it, my boss and his father have been a good relationship for decades after all, although It’s not biological, but I didn’t know it wasn’t biological before!”

“This guy Elliot is very ruthless when he is ruthless, but sometimes he is very indecisive!” If Mike is Elliot, Cole is a bad guy who doesn’t know how to die.

How many times!

“He must be out of money, and he wants to come to my boss for money!”

Chad thought of this and couldn’t eat ice cream anymore.

He stuffed Mike with the ice cream and trotted all the way to the door of the hotel.

Where he saw Cole just now, there is no Cole figure anymore.

“He actually ran away!” Chad put his hands on his h-i-p-s, panting.

Mike caught up with two ice creams and saw Cole running away, so he handed Chad's ice cream to him.

"Let's run away! What kind of threat can he pose to your boss now?" Mike wasn't worried at all.

"I'm not worried that he will threaten my boss... I'm afraid that he will disgust my boss! My boss is getting married today, and I don't want my boss to be disgusted." Chad said, "You think he is just disgusting My boss? He can still disgust Avery!"

Chapter 2364

The two stood at the door of the hotel, eating ice cream and looking around to see if Cole would appear.

Not far away, the paparazzi took pictures of the two eating ice cream.

They couldn't take pictures of Elliot and Avery, but it's not bad to take pictures of the big celebrities beside them!

At least today's performance was complete.

Not long after, an explosive news headline appeared on the Internet-Elliot and Avery... Actually doing such a thing at the door of the hotel!

Wasn't this title sensational?

When netizens saw the title, they clicked in without thinking.

So, after clicking in, they found that the real title was this: Elliot and the big celebrity beside Avery did such a thing at the door of the hotel!

Then, there was a picture of Mike and Chad eating ice cream in front of the hotel.

The pictures were high-res.

Chad and Mike were both wearing formal clothes today. Mike was a little taller and Chad was a little thinner, but they were very harmonious when they stood together.

Below the picture, the editor wrote: [Today is the wedding of Elliot and Avery, which is very low-key. I didn't reveal any details of the wedding, but my colleague was very helpful. They took a picture of Assistant Elliot and Mike, a famous foreigner beside Avery, eating ice cream at the entrance of the hotel. I don't know if the wedding scene is too hot, or the wedding is over!]

After everyone saw the news, they all commented

When I saw the headline, I thought it was Elliot and Avery doing what they were doing in front of the hotel! Who cares about those two men!

Today's people do everything they can for traffic, it's so despicable!

Come in and show me this? Might as well show me some beauties!

After reading everyone's comments, I'm dying of laughter! Am I the only one who thinks these two guys are handsome? Not only handsome, but also a little cute. Why did the two of them eat ice cream while standing in front of the hotel

Hotel.

Chad and Mike returned to the banquet hall after eating ice cream.

Chad had already explained to the security guards at the entrance of the hotel, and showed the guards the previous photos of Cole. Once Cole reappears, grab him immediately.

Half an hour later, Elliot came out of the lounge.

Avery fell asleep and slept very deeply. Elliot couldn't bear to wake her up.

After coming out of the lounge, Elliot planned to see what the three children were doing.

At this time, Chad came over and told him about seeing Cole at the door of the hotel just now.

Elliot immediately took out his mobile phone to see if Cole had contacted him today.

“His life seems to be unsatisfactory. The style of clothing is not what it used to be, and he looks very sloppy.” Chad said, “I have already explained to the security personnel, he will never break in.”

Elliot responded.

After reading all the messages on the phone, there was no message from Cole Foster and Henry Foster.

At the beginning, for Henry’s sake, he spared Cole’s life and gave them the old house of the Foster family.

Of course, Henry felt that everything about the Foster family had nothing to do with him, and he didn’t bother to argue with them for this little money.

Later, Cole sold the old house at a low price and exchanged a lot of money.

Now it’s down and out, it’s these years of squandering money!

“He still seems a little scared. After he recognized me, he ran away!” Chad said, “I don’t know if he will know a little shame when he sees you and Avery.”

“If he knew shame, he wouldn’t come here.” Elliot said coldly.

Chapter 2365

Mike: “Well. Don’t take this to heart. He has no threat to you now. I told you, I’m afraid that if he finds you, it will make you annoyed.”

“It’s okay.” Elliot would not be angry about this little thing.

Today he married Avery, and from the morning until now, his mood has become more and more relaxed. Because the ceremony was over, everything went so smoothly.

No one could influence their wedding now.

Compared with the wedding Elliot had prepared before, it was indeed much smoother.

“Is Avery sleeping?” Mike asked, “When are you two going to leave?”

“Bought a night ticket. When are you and Chad going to go to Bridgedale?”

Elliot asked back.

“Of course we will wait until you return from your honeymoon. Otherwise, can Avery give birth to a child with confidence?” Elliot was very satisfied with Mike’s answer.

Elliot: “That’s hard work for you guys.”

“I didn’t see you being so polite before, but it’s different when I become the groom today.” Mike teased, “By the way, Chad will go to Bridgedale in the future, don’t you want to recruit an assistant again?”

Today was indeed not the same as usual. Usually, he and Mike couldn’t chat more than two sentences normally, and the two would fight each other.

Today, he agreed to transfer Chad’s work to Bridgedale, and Mike was extra patient with him.

Elliot: “Yeah. I’ll talk about it when I get back from the honeymoon.”

“Boss, I’ll go to Bridgedale after I find the right person for you!” Chad said,

“I’m not in a hurry.”

“Mike is in a hurry.” Elliot said lightly.

Mike suddenly looked anxious: “What am I anxious about. Then let him hire an assistant for you and then go to Bridgedale!”

Elliot: “No need. I recruited myself. I recruited Chad myself.”

Chad couldn’t help laughing and sighed: “Boss, I remember that after I got the offer, I was so excited that I didn’t fall asleep for three days.”

Mike: “Is it such an exaggeration?”

“Yes. Before I joined Sterling Group, I only worked in a small company. My resume was not very good. I invested in Sterling Group because of my passion, and I didn't expect the boss hired me at all." Chad recalled the original experience and still felt like a dream.

Mike looked at Elliot: "Why did you choose Chad to be your assistant in the first place?"

Elliot: "He has a good education, and secondly, he looks good. It looks more pleasing to the eye. It gives a very reliable feeling."

Chad: "..."

It was the first time Chad heard from the boss why he was hired.

He never thought it was the reason.

Mike: "You're too casual too!"

Elliot: "Chad's work in the company is famous for his mediocre treatment but high pressure. He stayed in the company for two years, and I think his tolerance is not bad. During the adjustment, his former employer gave him a good feedback. You must know that the employees from that company were not well evaluated by the leaders there. This shows that Chad is not only good at work, but also good at handling interpersonal relationships."

Chad was boasted a little guilty: "Boss, my former leader is my senior brother. It's still my fellow countryman. I have always had a good relationship with him, so he won't speak ill of me behind my back."

Elliot: "Anyway, you have proved yourself with me."

"Boss, thank you. As long as you don't dislike me in this life, I will definitely not leave you..." Chad was moved to the point of losing his mind.

It felt like the next second, the two of them would hug and cry.

Mike got a layer of goosebumps: "Enough! If Avery saw it, she would have thought she was green!"

Lounge.

Avery fell into a daze when she heard the phone ring.

Not the sound of incoming calls.

She was thinking about marrying Elliot today and couldn't sleep for too long, so she woke up from her sleep after struggling for a while.

She turned her head and saw that Elliot was no longer by her side.

"This guy... doesn't call me every time." Avery muttered, sitting up from the bed.

She found the phone and turned it on to check the time. But there was new information.

Open the information, it was a verification information.

She completely deleted Cole's social friends.

She hadn't contacted Cole for several years, but she never expected that Cole would brazenly add her.

The reason why she recognized the account as Cole was not only because the verification information was written, but also because the avatar and account name of the account had not changed.

Avery struggled in her heart for a while, and clicked the accept button almost unexpectedly.

Cole seemed to have been waiting for her consent. After she agreed, he immediately sent a message: [Avery, I saw the news that you and Elliot are getting married today, congratulations!]

Avery: [You added me just to tell me this?]

Cole: [Avery, I know you don't want to hear what I say now, but I'm really desperate... My dad is sick and needs some money to save his life, but I can't come up with it...]

Avery knew that she must have nothing to do with him!

Avery: [What about the money you sold the old house before?]

Cole: [No more.]

Avery: [Oh.]

Avery had nothing to say except 'oh'.

With hundreds of millions of dollars spent so quickly, Cole had some skills.

Cole: [I know I'm incompetent, but I have a big heart. I've learned enough lessons! Avery, I just ask you to lend me some money now, I can't watch my father die of illness...]

Avery: [Is your father angry with you?]

Cole: [...]

Avery: [Cole, you are not too young, why are you so naive? You have done all the bad things, and even nearly killed Elliot. I wish you were hit by a car when you went out. Why do you dare to borrow money from me? Why do you think I'll lend you money?]

Cole looked at this text, his cheeks were hot, and he didn't know how to reply.

Avery continued to send a message: [Have you borrowed money from Elliot? Or just looking for me?]

Cole thought Avery was softened, and immediately replied: [I didn't look for him. He won't give me money.]

Avery: [I won't give you money either. If you dare to come to me, or dare to make a crooked idea, then you are ready to suffer the consequences.]

Cole was completely heartbroken.

It seemed that there was no money available from Avery.

Cole's body was tense, and despair came spontaneously.

He looked at the road in front of him with cars coming and going, and had an urge to rush up.

He really wanted to die.

Chapter 2367

d Elliot's number, and dialed it.

He didn't expect that Elliot would answer his phone so quickly.

Cole was stunned for a moment, not knowing what to call him for a while.

"I...my dad is sick..." Cole was afraid that Elliot would hang up the phone, so he quickly adjusted his mood and prayed, "He was diagnosed with lung cancer half a year ago...Now I have no money to pay for medical expenses,

Elliot, please help my dad! I know you hate me, but my dad is not bad...he really is not bad...Elliot, please, for my grandma's sake, give us some money!"

"How dare you mention your grandma?!" Elliot's eyes were cold, "If you didn't kill your grandma, your grandma is still alive now. "

"I'm sorry! I know I don't deserve to mention her... But my mother is also dead. If my father is also dead, then I will have no family anymore!" Cole cried bitterly.

He pointed out that 'my mother is also dead', just to remind Elliot that his mother had already paid her grandma's blood debt!

"Let your father come to me and tell me about your father." Elliot didn't want to see Cole. If he did, he was afraid that he would kill him.

"My father refused... He said he had no face to beg you... After all, when he filed a lawsuit with you and caused you to be scolded by others, he has always regretted what he did wrong and wanted to apologize to you, But I'm afraid you won't want to answer..." Cole cried even louder.

Elliot was upset, so he hung up.

Henry had lung cancer and needed money for treatment.

If it was Cole who got lung cancer, Elliot would only sigh that God has eyes.

But it was Henry who was sick...

Although he and Henry had long since broken, but thinking about the care that Mrs. Foster had taken for him before, he could never be too heartless towards Henry.

"Chad, help me with something." Elliot walked up to Chad and confessed in a low voice.

Chad: "Boss, tell me."

"Cole said that Henry has lung cancer and needs money to treat it. You can check it tomorrow to see if this is the case." Elliot said.

"Okay. If Henry really has lung cancer and needs money, are you going to pay him?" Chad had already guessed Elliot's thoughts and decisions, and Chad mentioned him as worthless, "Boss, did you forget about the father and son? How did the two treat you before? You and Avery's last wedding was destroyed by them."

"I never forgot." Elliot's expression became cold, "I won't give them money directly. Let a third party borrow money and give it to them. If Cole can't make it in the later stage, let him try the methods of the debt collection company."

Chad nodded: "This is not bad. It can help Henry indirectly without letting them. It's cheap."

Elliot: "Just do it like this."

Chad: "Okay. You and Avery have a good honeymoon, and don't worry about other things."

Elliot: "Well."

Avery walked straight towards him.

“Elliot, just now Cole sent me a message to borrow money. I scolded him.”

Avery put on her makeup again, and her facial features were more delicate and moving.

“He called me.” Elliot told Avery about Henry, “I’ll let Chad handle this matter, you don’t have to worry.”

Avery: “Well. Don’t give them money for nothing. As long as I think of them, I get angry.”

“Don’t be angry. It’s not worth it for this kind of person.” Elliot’s mood has recovered, “Mrs. Cooper has already packed the luggage. We Now go talk to children!”

“I’ll just talk. I’m afraid that Robert will make trouble and you will be softhearted.” Avery patted him on the shoulder, and then walked towards the children.

Elliot watched from a distance.

Avery walked up to Robert first and told Robert about it. I saw Robert immediately pouted and hugged Avery with both hands, arguing and refusing to agree.

Avery squatted, and after coaxing her son for a while, Layla came over and carried Robert away.

Then Avery said a few words to Hayden, and Hayden nodded.

Even if this matter was completely discussed with the three children.

After Avery got it done, she made an OK gesture in Elliot’s direction.

Chapter 2368

“Uncle Eric, my parents are going on their honeymoon, you come to our house to play!” Layla hugged Eric from her mother’s side and warmly invited him, “Didn’t you say you started working after New Year’s Day? We have three days off on New Year’s Day! You should be able to play for two more days!”

Eric thought After a moment, he said, “I have to ask your mother.”

“Don’t ask! My parents are no longer at home, and I have the final say in our family!” Layla looked smug and proud, “The two of them will leave tonight.

You go directly to our house at night!”

Layla’s domineering answer made Eric laugh.

Robert raised his head and corrected his sister’s words: “Sister, isn’t my brother Hayden back? Mom and Dad are not at home, we have to listen to my brother.”

In Robert’s heart, although his sister was extremely important, Robert thought that his brother Hayden was a little more powerful than his sister Layla.

“Brother listens to me too!” Layla said forcefully, “Because elder brother likes me, elder brother listens to me in everything. You must also listen to me in everything.”

Robert nodded obediently: “Sister, of course I am. I’ll listen to you, because I like you more than my brother.”

“Little sycophant.” Layla said that, but her heart was sweet.

After the dinner in the evening, Eric walked over to Avery and patted her on the shoulder.

Avery immediately followed him to the side.

“Layla asked me to play at your house for two days.” Eric thought it would be better to tell Avery about this.

If they lived in Avery’s house in the Starry River Villa, Eric would not be so restrained.

“Yes! As long as you don’t dislike our house being too noisy, it’s totally fine.”

Avery smiled, “Robert is rather noisy now.”

Eric: "I think Robert is quite good."

"That's because I don't know you very well. It's different when you're familiar with it." Avery explained, "When are you going to start working? You've been resting for so long, shouldn't your manager be anxious?"

Eric said in a hurry, "He's been watching more openly. Now, he's taking the whole family on vacation abroad."

Avery: "Hahaha!"

Eric: "I heard that you are leaving tonight. It's a good journey!"

Avery: "Well. Layla let you live in our house, will it be more troublesome for you? If you don't want to go, I can tell Layla politely."

Eric: "No. It's the same wherever I live. As long as I don't live with Elliot, I'll be fine."

"Haha, even if Elliot is at home, he will welcome you." Avery explained, "He is no longer the careful man he used to be."

After Avery said this, Eric looked at Elliot.

Avery followed his line of sight and looked at Elliot.

Avery saw that Elliot stared at them intently.

The expression on Elliot's face, although not much hostile, was serious and tense.

"I think he's still the same as before." Eric laughed, "Go on vacation! I'll take good care of your children."

Avery: "Thank you! I'll bring you gifts when I come back."

Eric: "Don't bring for me. Just bring gifts for the children."

Avery knew that Eric was afraid that Elliot would mind, so he said so, Avery didn't answer.

But Avery would definitely buy gifts for Eric. She felt that Elliot was not so stingy.

Chapter 2369

An hour later, Avery and Elliot left the hotel and went to the airport.

The place they were going was in the Kuoslaville. Kuoslaville was a neighboring country of Aryadelle, and it only took three hours for the plane to fly there.

Because of its unique geographical advantages, Kuoslaville had always been relatively popular in its tourism industry.

Avery had a lot of acquaintances and friends who had gone to Kuoslaville to play, but Avery had never been there.

“Have you ever been to Kuoslaville?” Avery asked Elliot.

Elliot: “No. That place is usually where couples go on vacation.”

“It seems to be the case. The sea over there, the pictures are very beautiful.

In fact, I have always wanted to play, but I have never had the chance.” Avery was full of this trip. Looking forward, “And there is no time difference between both countries. I really don’t like jet lag. Every time I get jet lag, my head is stunned for a whole day.”

“How beautiful.” Elliot didn’t go there because he didn’t like the tourist attractions in Kuoslaville.

Avery: “Can you stop the scenery? We’re going on our honeymoon now!”

“I’m happy where you go on our honeymoon, and I’m not here to see the scenery.” When Elliot said this, Avery felt that he was soaked in the whole body in a honeypot.

“Husband, can you not show your face to Eric in the future?” Avery saw that Elliot was in a good mood now, so she took the opportunity to speak, “Eric will stay at our house for the past two days and help us take care of the children. I always treat him as a younger brother.”

“I know you treat him as a younger brother, but he doesn’t think so.” Elliot never doubted Avery’s feelings for Eric, but Eric’s thoughts were impure, so he didn’t care about Eric’s good face.

Avery: “Maybe Eric didn’t think that way before, but he must have given up on me now! We both rarely contacted each other. If it wasn’t for the wedding we invited him to come here, we would still contact him when he had a blind date in Bridgedale.”

Avery’s words reassured Elliot a little.

Elliot: “Then I will treat Eric better in the future.”

“Well. Eric is actually very simple. Because I saved him, he has a filter for me, and he may not be able to tell whether his feelings for me are gratitude or male and female Love.” Avery said.

Elliot: “Eric can’t tell the difference, so you have to help him tell the difference.”

Avery: “Eric has sorted it out now. He doesn’t look for me like he used to.

Husband, now the whole world knows that I’m your wife, don’t worry!”

Elliot: “Hmm.”

Hotel, banquet hall.

Although Elliot and Avery had left, the guests were still there.

Now was the New Year’s Day holiday, everyone gathered together, how could it end without drinking to the fullest.

Juniper Schaffer: “Gwen, originally I didn’t let Ben drink alcohol. After all, you two should not drink or take medicine for at least three months to get pregnant... But your brother is getting married today, and Ben can’t help to drink... I’m sleepy now and have to go back. You remember to take Ben home later. If he's drunk, it's fine for the two of you to stay outside for the night!"

Gwen confessed.

Juniper's remarks, firstly, distressed her son for drinking so much alcohol, and secondly, reminded Gwen not to forget about having a child.

"Mom, I see. You and Dad go back to rest!" Gwen wanted to send them out.

"Don't send it off. If you get sleepy later, go with Ben first. Mike and the others can also entertain guests." Juniper whispered.

Gwen: "Mmmm."

After the two elders of the Schaffer family left, Tammy teased Gwen: "Your mother-in-law is giving birth!"

"This matter has to wait for us to get married anyway." Gwen analyzed, "My mother-in-law said that it is necessary to abstain from tobacco, alcohol and drugs for three months."

"Haha, there are several couples in real life who can comply with this. Such a request?" Tammy teased, "Jun is addicted to smoking and must smoke every day. Am I not pregnant too? Relax, don't be so nervous."

Tammy said here, out of the corner of her eyes, she's glancing at Ben walking towards them.

"Gwen, your old baby is here." Tammy walked away immediately after reminding.

Chapter 2370

Gwen saw Ben coming, and immediately stood up from her chair with carried the bag.

Judging from Ben's unsteady walk, he was probably drunk.

When the two of them first met, Ben especially liked to brag, saying that he was not drunk after a thousand cups.

But at the time he was drinking really well.

Now that after all, the age had increased, and it was estimated that the alcohol consumption had also declined.

“Wife!” Before Ben walked in front of Gwen, he opened his arms and begged for a hug.

When Gwen saw Ben acting like a spoiled child in public, her embarrassed toes dig out three rooms and one living room on the ground.

“How much alcohol did you drink?” Gwen held Ben by one arm and made him sit down in the chair, “I’ll go tell Mike and the others, we’ll go back first! Your mother thought you wanted to Drink, I feel bad for you.”

Gwen said, preparing to find Mike.

As a result, Ben wrapped his arms around her waist, hugged her tightly, and refused to let go.

“Wife, don’t go...you don’t go anywhere...you stay with me...you didn’t stay with me all day today, you know how sad I am?” Ben said, his scarlet cheeks rubbed against Gwen’s skirt.

Gwen looked bewildered: “Today my brother is getting married, you want to accompany the guests, and I want to accompany the guests too! How much alcohol did you drink? You are so drunk...”

“Wife, are you? Do you feel ashamed to be with me? Because I’m too old...”

Ben said, suddenly there was a cry, “I’m not worthy of you... I know.”

“Hey! Don’t be so loud! A lot of people are listening!” Gwen’s ears became hot, and then her body also burned.

If Gwen could carry Ben, she must carry him away immediately.

She saw many guests looking at them, and everyone had a lively smile on their faces.

Although no one was malicious and would not want to spread the matter, it still made Gwen feel embarrassed.

How could such a private matter be said in public?

Ben was a person who loved face very much. When he woke up tomorrow, knowing that he was saying this in front of so many guests, he would definitely slap himself twice.

"I don't care...I don't care about others...I only care about you...Gwen...Can you not dislike me... Every time you despise me, I feel very uncomfortable, I want to cry... Don't look at me, I seem to be strong... In fact, I am very fragile... In front of you, my heart is brittle..." Ben felt aggrieved, and tears flowed out as he spoke.

Gwen was stunned!

Not only did Ben cry, but he wiped all his tears all over Gwen's skirt!

Gwen wanted to kick him away, and then quickly fled the scene with her bag. It's a pity that Ben's arms hugged Gwen's waist too tightly! So Gwen couldn't pull him away at all!

"Tammy! Help!" Gwen immediately screamed for help when she saw Tammy taking a picture with her mobile phone not far away.

Jun patted Tammy on the shoulder: "Tammy, don't pat! Gwen is calling you to help!"

"How can I save her? Ben is so strong, I can't pull him away! Hurry up and look for her! A few bodyguards come and carry Ben away!" Tammy instructed Jun.

Jun touched his nose and immediately went to the bodyguard.

If he didn't send Ben away, it was estimated that Gwen would explode!

Not long after, two bodyguards came over and forcibly helped Ben out of the banquet hall.

Gwen felt that her waist was about to break.

Chapter 2371

Gwen put one hand on her waist and quickly followed the pace of the bodyguard in front.

After they left, Jun immediately asked Tammy for the video she just recorded.

Tammy quickly hid her phone: "I won't show it to you! What if you delete it for me? This is Ben's black history, and I will never delete it!"

"How dare I delete your stuff? Let me take a look, and I'll take a look!" Jun raised his hand and swore, "I just want to see if your picture is clear."

"Oh... I took it very clearly. And the voices are all recorded! When he was drunk and crazy, the audience was so quiet! Everyone was watching the show with their ears up! Hahaha!" Tammy opened the video and showed it to

Jun.

Jun blushed after watching the video.

This was the end of the brother! This dark history would never end!

With Tammy's bluffing character, Ben couldn't redeem the video without a little blood.

"I want to keep the video. If he dares to do something sorry for Gwen in the future, I will expose this video! Let him be disgraced!" Tammy said righteously.

Jun looked at her differently: "Tammy, I won't delete your video."

"Of course you can't delete my video. If you dare to help outsiders, you will be finished!" Tammy said here, wondering, "Isn't Ben a good drinker? Why didn't you get drunk tonight, but he was?"

"I don't know how much he drank, but I didn't drink wine with him. He may have this problem in his heart, and if he drinks a little more, he won't be able to hide his worries. You keep hitting him with his age, and I'll change it for me. I can't stand it." Jun reminded Tammy, "Don't talk about this in front of him in the future."

Tammy: "I really can't stand it, a big man, what are you doing so hypocritically. If Gwen really dislikes him, can you get a certificate from him? We usually talk and play..."

"Tammy, I don't think you're just talking. You're serious." Jun said, "I'm not saying you can't call him old, But don't say it in front of him."

"Okay, I get it. I'll pay attention to it later." Tammy took a deep breath and sighed, "Elliot is better psychologically, I didn't hurt him less before. "

"You're such a mouth!" Jun sighed, "Would you like to go back to rest first? I might have to wait a while."

Tammy: "I'm not going back. I want to go with you."

Jun: "Okay! Wait a moment. Send a message to Gwen and ask about the situation."

Tammy: "I know."

The Schaffer family.

The bodyguard sent Ben to the master bedroom before leaving.

Gwen closed the master bedroom door, took a deep breath, and turned to look at the big bed.

Ben was looking at Gwen with his eyes open.

"What do you think I'm doing? Did you mean to be drunk just now?" Gwen strode over to the bed and looked down at Ben, "No, you must be really drunk. If you were sober, you would definitely not do such a shameful thing. Tonight, you will be the laughing stock of others in the future!"

“Gwen, you haven’t answered me yet. Can you stop despising me?” Ben didn’t seem to be as drunk as before.

Gwen’s cheeks were hot: “I’ll just say a few words, if I really despise you, I won’t marry you.”

Ben: “Don’t say that out of your mouth, okay? Especially every time you say this, your face is serious... If you say it with a smile, I won’t be so nervous...”

“I ...” Gwen looked at Ben with a pitiful expression, and couldn’t bear it, “I was just talking to Tammy. Everyone has shortcomings. Like me, my education is low, and I can’t compare with you.”

Ben waved his long arm and dragged Gwen into his arms: “Gwen, I never disliked you, really. I just want to have a child with you, and while I’m still healthy, raise the child with you...”

Chapter 2372

“I didn’t say I won’t have a baby with you! Why are you crying.” Gwen saw that his eyes were wet again, she reached out to wipe the tears from his face and whispered, “I won’t say that you are old in the future, well, don’t cry. I don’t know what to do with you.”

Ben: “Kiss me.”

“Ben, you’re still acting like a spoiled child...” Gwen watched Ben act like a spoiled child, funny and speechless, “I haven’t seen you cry before, you are so good tonight, you can’t stop crying!”

Gwen immediately held his face and kissed him.

“A smell of alcohol... go take a bath!” Gwen looked disgusted. After disgusting, she was afraid of hurting his fragile self-esteem, “What I dislike is the smell of wine, not you...”

Ben couldn’t help but raise the corners of his mouth after hearing her explanation.

“Wife, I’m dizzy and can’t move, why don’t you wash me!” Ben was lying on the bed, trying to move an inch.

Gwen instinctively wanted to refuse. Because after being with Ben, Ben took care of her, and Ben hardly asked her to do anything for him.

But thinking that today he was drinking because of his second brother’s wedding, his heart softened.

“Then I’ll just wipe your body for you...” Gwen looked at his scarlet face, hesitated for a moment, and said, “Why don’t I help you take a bath in the bathtub! You have to brush your teeth and wash your face... How can I wash you when you are lying on the bed!”

Ben heard her words, and the fantasy of romantic plots in his mind was instantly shattered.

Ben: “Wife, what you said makes sense.”

Although there was no fantasy romantic plot, but Gwen was obedient to him just now, and even kissed him, he felt Gwen’s love for him.

The next day, 9:00 o’clock in the morning.

Gwen woke up from hunger and came out of the bedroom to eat breakfast.

Seeing Gwen coming out, Juniper immediately asked her with a smile, “How is Ben? I wanted to see him last night, but I was afraid that it would disturb you to rest.”

“He is still sleeping.” Gwen said, “I don’t know how much he drank last night. It’s the first time I’ve seen him drunk like this.”

“It’s mainly because he drank twice yesterday.” Juniper said, “He drank a lot at noon yesterday. I told him to drink less, but he won’t listen to me.”

“That’s right. But don’t worry, he didn’t vomit last night. He just got a little out of his mind. It should be fine when he wakes up.” Gwen said, walked to the dining room, and the nanny immediately brought breakfast to her.

Juniper sat down beside her and asked in a low voice, “Gwen, I heard that Ben cried last night...I haven’t seen him cry for decades.”

Gwen was embarrassed: “Mom, how do you know he’s crying? Isn’t the door soundproof?”

“Eh? Did he cry when he went back to the room last night? I heard it from Tammy.” Juniper frowned, “Why is my son crying like this? Ah? How wronged is this?”

Gwen: “Why did Tammy tell you this?”

“Tammy said that she sent you a message and you didn’t reply. She was worried about you, so she called me and asked.” Juniper replied, “Gwen, Ben’s alcohol intake is good, even if he is drunk, the wine is not bad. He lost his temper like that last night because he liked you too much, you must not let him down!”

“Mom, I will definitely live a good life with him.” Gwen said, “I know he likes me very much, and I will treat him very well in the future.”

Juniper: “I know. You are a good girl, I think you are the first that can tell me at a glance.”

The two chatted very harmoniously.

After a while, Ben came out with a sullen face.

Ben: “Gwen, why don’t you sleep more? Don’t you have a holiday on New Year’s Day?”

Gwen glanced at Ben, remembering what happened last night, her face turned red.

Gwen: “I’m hungry, so I got up to eat. Are you sober?”

“Well.” Ben scratched his head, his face flushed as if on fire, “Did I say something last night?”

“Last night, you said a lot.” Gwen reminded, “But I can’t remember exactly what you said, but Tammy should know. She took a video at the time.”

Chapter 2373

Ben’s brows wrinkled, his eyes flashed with embarrassment.

“I’ll go back to my room to get my phone...” Ben quickly returned to his room, found his phone, turned it on, and dialed Jun.

Tammy dared to take a video of him, and he would definitely not delete the video easily, so he could only save the country and ask Jun for help.

Jun answered the phone in seconds: “Brother Ben, you woke up so early?”

“Jun, Gwen said that your wife took a video of me last night. You delete the video immediately!” Ben won’t tell anyone, he remembered everything last night clearly.

He was really drunk last night, so he could lose control of his emotions and cry and make trouble in public.

When he acted coquettishly with Gwen last night, he knew that everyone was watching, but when people were impulsive, they couldn’t control that much.

Even if the sky was falling, he would still go his own way.

Now he didn’t have much regret. After all the trouble last night, Gwen was much gentler to him.

Everything was still worth it.

It’s just that he didn’t allow videos related to last night to circulate outside.

Even if Tammy didn’t spread the video and just kept it on her phone, he couldn’t stand it.

“Brother Ben, aren’t you embarrassing me? You know who is in charge of our family.” Jun wanted to cry, “Tammy told me last night that if I dared to delete the video on her phone, she will divorce me.”

Ben: “...”

Jun: “Brother Ben, although I can’t help you delete the video, I can send you a copy of the video from her mobile phone.”

Ben: “I don’t want it!”

Jun: “Okay! Then I really can’t help you. Tammy said that as long as you treat Gwen well in the future, she will never spread the video.”

Ben’s temple was violent for a while in pain: “You still send me the video to see!”

“Okay!” Jun readily agreed.

A minute later, Ben received the video from Jun.

Ben opened the video with trembling fingers –

after watching it, the corners of Ben’s mouth twitched, his heart trembled, and his body trembled!

Help! He would never be seen again!

After one day.

Someone posted a photo of encountering Elliot and Avery in Kuoslaville on the Internet.

People who met them by chance also took a group photo with them.

The netizen posted the photo on the Internet and posted a long Facebook to record the incident.

——Avery is taller and more beautiful than she looks in the photos. To be honest, she is very capable even if she enters the entertainment industry.

Mainly her face is pure natural, completely different from those plastic face.

And her skin is super. More importantly, she is so gentle, my God! I’m a girl, and I'm fascinated by her!

Let's talk about Elliot! Elliot didn't talk to us all the time. Except when he was taking pictures, he looked at the camera, and he looked at Avery at other times! It can be seen that he loves Avery so much! A person's eyes can not deceive people! They are really a perfect match! Not only is the height, appearance, personality fit, but the overall feeling is very good! I don't know if anyone understands what I mean. Seeing them, I really believe in love!

...

After this it was posted, it quickly became a trend topic.

After Norah swiped the Facebook, she clicked on the photo.

Chapter 2374

She no longer loved Elliot, but seeing the sweet photo of him and Avery, her heart still tingled.

Maybe it's because she's living so unsatisfactorily now, so she's very jealous to see the two of them living so well.

But jealousy was jealousy, she no longer had the urge to compete with them. She knew she didn't have that ability.

She just wanted to get as much money as she could from them now.

"Avery and Elliot are vacationing in Kuoslaville now." Norah put down her phone, took a cigarette from the cigarette case and put it between her fingers.

She was renting in Sasha's house.

Sasha rented and lived in her community, and Sasha refused to go to her house, so she took the initiative to come to Sasha's house.

"Norah, haven't you thought about finding a rich man to marry?" Sasha took a cigarette from her cigarette case.

Seeing this, Norah immediately lit her with a lighter.

“What’s so good about marrying someone. No matter how rich your husband is, it’s also someone else’s money. Only making money yourself is the real skill.” Norah took a puff of cigarette and exhaled a thick ring of smoke, “I can’t stand being wronged. When I think of looking at my husband’s face and my in-laws’ face after marriage, I might as well live alone. Unless that person’s parents are dead, and he is very rich...”

Sasha was amused by her words...

“For example, Elliot. In fact, it’s okay to not be as rich as Elliot. Unfortunately, my peach blossoms are very bad, and the men chasing me are basically not as good as me. The men I can see are too good, and the suitors can go around the world a few times. You say, what’s the point of finding someone?”

Sasha laughed: “Norah, you never thought of finding a younger one?”

Norah frowned: “Younger? Are you talking about finding someone younger than me?”

“Yes! I don’t. I like men who are older than me. I like younger. My last boyfriend was ten years younger than me. If I hadn’t found out that someone was looking for me, I would definitely still be with him.” Sasha’s face was full of joy Expression, “Don’t be too hard on your mind.”

Norah: “I don’t like too naive men. I have different tastes from yours. I’m strong.”

“Okay! Since you’ve made up your mind, it’s fine if you don’t look for it. You can feel at ease when you are alone. It’s also very comfortable.” Sasha flicked the cigarette ash, and the topic changed, “Have you found a suitable candidate?”

Norah: "I haven't started looking for it yet! I have to make sure that Elliot wants to recruit someone, so I can find someone. Don't worry, people are easy to find. Elliot's assistant is well paid. How many people have sharpened their heads and want to squeeze in."

Sasha: "Well."

"And I know people in Tate Industries and Sterling Group. Although he is not a celebrity around Elliot and Avery, he can immediately know about any news in the company." Norah said, "I was able to succeed at the beginning, not only by my ability, but also by means."

Sasha: "Death, how moisturizing it is now!"

"What do you think about this? There is no turning back when I open the bow. Besides, if I win the bet, it will be another scene." Norah didn't want to show regret in front of outsiders.

What's the use of regret? Nothing would change.

After smoking a cigarette, Norah's cell phone rang.

Norah put out the cigarette butt in the ashtray, picked up the phone, and turned it on.

A new piece of messages came into view: [Chad joined Tate Industries Bridgedale branch after New Year's Day. The news is accurate and will be announced within the group after New Year's Day.]

Norah's eyes lit up when she saw the news.

Sure enough, as she had guessed.

Norah immediately asked: [What is Chad's new position?]

The other party replies: [Replace your previous position.]

The smile on Norah's face suddenly froze.

.....

The other side.

After Chad had lunch, he found Cole's number and dialed it.

Chapter 2375

Cole received Chad's call and was very happy: "I knew that my uncle Elliot is not so heartless! I knew that he would definitely not ignore my father! Anyway, my father is his elder brother..."

Chad felt nausea in his stomach and almost vomited out the lunch he just ate.

Chad: "Where is your dad now? Let's meet again!"

Cole: "My dad is in the hospital. I'll send you the address."

Chad: "Okay."

After hanging up, Cole quickly called Chad made a position.

After Chad glanced at the location, he took the person he had found and headed to the destination together.

The hospital where Henry was hospitalized was a community hospital, and the medical level was not very good.

It can be seen that Cole really had no money to treat Henry, so he placed Henry in this hospital.

The car stopped at the entrance of the community hospital, and Chad saw Cole standing at the entrance of the hospital at a glance.

The look he was looking forward to was completely different from the one he saw at the door of the hotel yesterday. Today, he was a little more radiant!

It seemed that the sky was starting to fall pie.

Chad opened the car door, got out of the car, and walked to Cole.

Cole's eyes fell on the man beside Chad.

"This is..." Cole felt that the man didn't look like a bodyguard.

“Doesn’t your dad need money to save his life? Of course my boss is not a ruthless person. In view of Mrs. Foster’s face, my boss has found a loan channel for you.” Chad’s mouth rose slightly, “Let me introduce, this is Boss Gu. If you ask him to borrow money, he will charge you interest according to the bank loan standard.”

Cole’s face froze suddenly: “Chad... this is me. What does uncle mean?”

“That’s what my boss means. If you don’t believe me, you can call and ask.”

Chad said, “Let me tell you what will happen if you don’t pay the money when it’s due! You can Choose monthly repayment, so you will be less stressed. If you can’t pay the monthly repayment, if you breach the contract three times, Boss Gu will arrest you and use all means to make you pay back the money. Boss Gu is very special in this regard, so don’t think about defaulting on your debts.”

Cole’s face was ashen with fright, and he felt remorse in his heart.

“No...No...” Cole suddenly didn’t want to treat his father.

“Why don’t you use it? Didn’t you say that your father is the only family member? If you feel that you are afraid that you will not be able to pay for it if you borrow too much, you can borrow less first.” Chad said, “Or you can put Boss Gu’s contact information first. Plus, if you are in urgent need of money in the future, you can contact Boss Gu at any time.”

Cole gritted his teeth, his face ashen.

This was completely different from what he imagined! He felt like he was being tricked.

“Master Foster, this is my business card, you can keep it!” Boss Gu’s tone was teasing, “If you want to borrow money, call me anytime. From President Foster’s face, I can borrow as much as you want. Borrow, as long as you have your life to pay it back.”

Threatened by his last words, Cole threw the business card out without thinking about it!

“I won’t borrow it!” After Cole roared, he strode into the hospital.

He didn’t lend money, and at most his father dies.

If he didn’t pay the loan, he would die.

Between his father’s death and his death, he chose his father’s death.

Chad watched Cole’s back disappear in front of him, turned around and took out his mobile phone, found Elliot’s number and dialed it.

Chapter 2376

Chad wanted to see Henry, but Cole just turned his face because of borrowing money, might be not welcome to see his father.

So Chad wanted to see what the boss had to say.

After Elliot answered the phone, he heard Chad talk about what happened just now, and said calmly, “Don’t worry about this matter.”

Chad: “Okay, then I won’t go to see Henry.”

“Well.” Elliot said and was about to hang up.

“Boss, did you and Avery have a good time in Kuoslaville?” Chad said more,

“I saw someone posted a photo with you on the Internet. When you go out, don’t the bodyguards follow you? You still have to pay attention to safety! “

Elliot: “The bodyguards followed. Avery didn’t let the bodyguards stop him.”

Chad: “Oh, that’s fine. I won’t disturb you.”

“Well.” Elliot hung up the phone.

Avery looked at Elliot and asked, “Who called?”

“Chad. Doesn’t Cole want money? Chad took someone to find him today, but he didn’t dare to borrow money.” Elliot teased, “Tell me that I can’t bear him.

He refused to lend money to his father for treatment. He wanted me to give it for nothing.”

Avery: “Sometimes I really don’t understand why a person has changed so much. When I fell in love with him before, he was not this type.”

Elliot lost his appetite.

Avery looked at Elliot with a sullen face, and couldn’t help laughing: “This happened so many years ago, you are still jealous! He really wasn’t so bad before. I just sigh that a person’s change after entering the society can be so great.”

Elliot: “I grew up with him. I know better than you what kind of person he is. You think he is good, but he hides the bad side.”

Avery: “Oh, so it is...I thought he was stimulated by something that caused his personality to change!”

“His parents have always spoiled him, causing him to be arrogant, timid, and irresponsible. No matter what mistakes he made, his mother will protect him, but the bad habits will not change over time.” Elliot said, picked up the water glass and took a sip.

“Indeed, educating children is actually a very important thing. If you don’t educate your children well, you will actually harm the children and yourself.”

Avery thought of this problem, and her mind became heavy, “You are not good to Robert. Too spoiled.”

Elliot: “???”

Speaking of Cole, why did Avery complain about Elliot?

“You always protect Robert. You are ashamed to say that Cole’s mother is! Robert is so spoiled by you, you are not afraid of him being arrogant, timid, and not taking responsibility?” Avery said. She also ate. When she was full, she put down the bowls and chopsticks, and took a sip of water from the water glass.

“How can Cole compare to our son? Although I love Robert, Robert will definitely not learn badly with you and Layla around.” Elliot felt relieved when he thought that his son was being held by his daughter.

“That’s true. I don’t know what they are doing now. I’ll make a video call and go back to see.” Avery put down the water glass, found Eric’s whatsapp number, and dialed the videocall.

Eric quickly took the video.

It’s nice to have no jet lag.

“Eric, have you eaten lunch?” Avery deliberately took Elliot’s face into the camera.

“I ate lunch half an hour ago. Layla and Robert are counting red envelopes now.” Eric said, changing the camera to the rear to show her Layla and Robert.

The siblings sat on the living room blanket, which was piled high with red envelopes.

These red envelopes were gifts that Elliot and Avery received when they got married.

If Avery didn’t come out for their honeymoon with Elliot on the night of the wedding, then she should be the one who opened the red envelope.

“Layla, Robert! You two little fellows, how do you unwrap your mother’s red envelopes!” Avery said this with a smile.

Chapter 2377

Robert recognized cash, but had no concept of money.

Gave him money, and he would take it and put it in the piggy bank.

“Mom, I’m counting how much money you have.” Layla blushed and protested, “My brother is making trouble! My brother doesn’t know how to count.”

“Take your brother to wash your hands when you’re done counting. The cash is dirty, there are a lot of bacteria on it.” Avery reminded.

“Got it! Mom, what are you doing with Dad?” Layla asked Eric, looking at her parents on the screen.

Avery: “We just finished eating, and we’re going to take our lunch break later.”

“Oh, is honeymoon fun?” Layla asked earnestly.

At this time, Robert said angrily: “It’s definitely not fun! How can it be fun without me?”

Avery laughed: “Baby, mom and dad will take you out to play next time. By the way, where’s your brother?”

“Brother thought I was noisy, so he went out.” Robert was very self-aware.

Avery’s heart ached.

Were the brothers at odds?

“My brother really dislikes you for being noisy, but my brother didn’t go out because he disliked you. My brother went to see my grandmother.” Layla corrected Robert’s words.

The smile on Avery’s face suddenly froze, “Layla, brother went alone?”

“The bodyguard went with him. I originally wanted to go with my brother, but my brother asked me to stay at home. Because the weather is not very good today.” Layla explained.

“It’s really not suitable to go out in bad weather. Robert said that Hayden disliked him for quarreling. Did they quarrel?” Avery asked Layla.

“Robert went to call my brother to get up for breakfast in the morning. My brother was woken up by Robert, and he was unhappy.” Layla explained the situation to her mother, “My brother must have stayed up late last night and couldn’t get up in the morning. My brother is innocent. My brother is afraid that he is hungry. Well!”

“Yeah! Your brother is right, and your elder brother is also right. You don’t need to call your elder brother to get up in the morning, he will get up by himself when he sleeps well.” Avery soothed the child’s emotions, “Mom thinks you are really good, So sensible and obedient...”

“Hmm! Mom, go take a nap! I’m going to count the money.” Layla pouted and kissed in the air, then sat back on the blanket and counted money.

Avery asked with a smile: “Eric, the two of them are counting money, are you bored?”

“It’s okay. I’m responsible for counting the money counters that Layla has counted, and then seal them up.” Eric switched the camera to the other side and showed her the stacks of money she had sealed.

Avery: “...”

On the other side.

After Siena’s mother-in-law had lunch, she went out with Siena.

The crispy winter clothes were too small, so Siena’s mother-in-law had to buy new clothes.

The mother-in-law originally wanted to go out and buy new clothes for Siena and bring her back, but she couldn’t bear to leave Siena at home alone. So she went out with Siena.

Siena looked at the unfamiliar things in front of her with curiosity, but her eyes were a little more timid and uneasy than before.

The mother-in-law: “Siena, don’t be afraid. Others won’t hurt you. Miss said, if you want to study, you can ask a teacher to teach you to read at home. Miss can also teach you to read and write every night during the rest time.”

“Mother-in-law, I want to go to school like other children.” Siena raised her head and said her thoughts, “Last time someone came to me, wasn’t my mother-in-law sent them away? Those bad people will definitely not come to me now.” Siena didn’t want to be locked in the house every day.

Chapter 2378

In addition to being bored, she would also be cranky.

“Or if you send me up the mountain, I can guarantee that I will never go down the mountain for the rest of my life.” Siena begged while pulling her mother-in-law’s clothes.

“Siena, you can’t go back to the mountain in the future. Because Avery may go to the mountain at any time. Miss won’t let you go back there again.” The mother-in-law held Siena’s little hand tightly, “If you really want to go to school, I will discuss it with the Miss.”

When the mother-in-law said this, she saw Siena looking away.

The mother-in-law followed Siena’s eyes—

She saw that several people were staring at them with the maliciousness of watching a play in their eyes, and they were talking about it unabashedly.

“This little girl is so pitiful! There is such a big scar on her face! It is estimated that surgery will not be able to remove it when she grows up.”

“I guess that’s all. Don’t dare to send it to school! This will definitely scare other children.”

The mother-in-law shouted at the women: “A group of long-tongued women!”

After the mother-in-law roared, the women Walk away immediately.

“Mother-in-law, they said I would scare other children.” Siena reached out and covered her right face.

Her right face was covered with terrible scars. It’s like there were several large worms about to crawl out of the skin...

Mother-in-law: "No. When others see the scar on your face, they will only think that you are a very courageous child and will not despise you. You must not feel inferior because of this. Siena, you only have the scar on your face, Only in this way can you cover your original appearance. Only in this way is the safest, you know?"

"But mother-in-law, this thing on my face is itchy." Siena would always uncontrollably want to reach out and scratch the itch on her face.

Every time Siena's mother-in-law saw it, she would stop Siena.

"After a while, you'll get used to it. You can't tear it off not only during the day, but also when you sleep at night." Mother-in-law urged, "No matter who asks you, you can't say it's fake! These scars are yours. Your amulet! It can save your life! Remember that?!"

If it wasn't for the scary scar on Siena's face, her mother-in-law would never take Siena out of the house.

This method was thought up by the Miss, and mother-in-law thought this method was very good.

"Mother-in-law, I remember." Siena's eyes were full of tears.

Although Siena was still a child, she already had a love for beauty. She wanted to be beautiful, and she didn't want to wear ugly scars on her face, but she didn't dare not listen to her mother-in-law's words.

Thinking that she would have to wear such an ugly scar mask to live in the future, be pointed and talked about by others, and might scare others, she couldn't help crying.

"Don't cry!" The mother-in-law immediately held her little face and raised her face, "Siena, don't cry! This trivial matter is not worth crying at all! Don't you want to avenge your mother? You have a bloody vengeance on your shoulders, you must be strong!”

Revenge...what a strange and distant word.

She's only four years old, she's never met her mother, she couldn't remember anything about her, she didn't want revenge, she just wanted to live like other kids.

But she knew that if she spoke her heart out, her mother-in-law would definitely be angry.

Siena held back her tears and quickly adjusted her mood.

Chapter 2379

“My good Siena, mother-in-law knows that you are the most obedient good child.” The mother-in-law touched Siena and said, “You don't know how much I like you.”

Siena: “Mother-in-law, I like you too.”

Mother-in-law: “As long as you listen to your mother-in-law, she will treat you like her granddaughter.”

“Mother-in-law, you are my best mother-in-law!” Siena said sweetly.

“Hahaha!” The mother-in-law said with relief, “Mother-in-law knows that you are wronged, but the Miss will definitely resolve this matter. When the Miss settles this matter smoothly, you don't need to stick this terrible scar anymore.”

“Mother-in-law, I will listen to you.” Siena could feel that her mother-in-law was kind to herself, so she quickly figured it out.

In the Afternoon.

Mother-in-law took Siena to buy clothes and returned home.

When the Miss saw the two of them coming back, she immediately walked to Siena and looked at Siena.

“The new clothes are so pretty!” The Miss said, holding a few books and handing them to Siena, “This is the book I bought for you. From this evening, I will teach you to read.”

“Miss, do we live together?” The mother-in-law was a little surprised.

The Miss nodded.

Seeing Siena flipping through the book, the Miss took her mother-in-law to the kitchen.

The Miss: “Elliot and Avery have gone abroad for vacation. They should not focus on finding children now. And Siena looks like this, even if the people they send see Siena, it is impossible for them to suspect Siena. So now the situation is actually relatively safe.”

“Well. Miss, how is your study?” The mother-in-law asked with concern, “You don’t have to pay me salary in the future. I have a lot of money in my hand, and it’s no problem to support Siena. Siena wants to go to school, I’m thinking, if I send Siena to school, I can still find a job.”

“I’ve already got my undergraduate diploma, and now I’m hesitating whether to go on to graduate school or just look for a job.” Miss said, “I took a look at Elliot and Avery’s companies. They have relatively high requirements for recruiting people. With my current education, I’m afraid it’s not easy to get in.”

The mother-in-law: “Miss, I can’t help you much, but only can look and take care of Siena.”

“You’ve already helped me a lot. If it wasn’t for you, I wouldn’t know if I could find such a reliable person to help take care of the child.” The Miss smiled bitterly, “Actually, I’m very contradictory, sometimes I like Siena very much, but sometimes I don’t.”

The mother-in-law: “Miss, I understand your feelings. But I still want to persuade you that Siena is innocent. She is so young, she doesn't understand anything, what's wrong with her? "

"Well, I know. I'm just going to tell you, otherwise it's really hard sometimes."

The Miss sighed, "My mother can't stand the pressure of my father. My mother said that if I don't go home at the end of this year, She will cut off my pocket money."

The mother-in-law: "So you're looking for a job, right?"

"Well." The Miss said firmly, "If I don't find out the truth, I'm really not willing to give up."

The mother-in-law: "Miss, it doesn't matter. Whatever you choose, I will support you. If you go back to Yonroeville, I will bring Siena back to Yonroeville with you. If you stay here, we will stay here."

"I'll think about it again! Let's see if I can find a job smoothly in the future."

The Miss gave a wry smile, "I finally felt the financial pressure after graduation. If it wasn't for my mother who secretly gave me money every month, I would not have been able to complete my studies successfully."

Time flies, and the New Year's Day holiday had passed in a hurry.

Avery and Elliot ended their honeymoon trip and returned home with a box full of gifts.

When Layla and Robert were picking up gifts in the box, Avery took out a small box from her bag and handed it to Eric: "Elliot and I picked this for you. Whether you like it or not."

Eric glanced at Elliot, then opened the box.

Chapter 2380

Inside the box was a pair of very shiny ear studs.

When choosing a gift for Eric, Avery had a headache for a long time.

Avery didn't know what Eric would like, or what would be more appropriate to give. She even looked for photos of Eric on the Internet for inspiration.

After looking at a few photos of him, Avery found that he looked good in earrings, so she discussed with Elliot and chose a pair of earrings for him.

"Thank you! I accepted the gift." Eric closed the box and put it in his pocket.

"Don't you like it very much?" Avery was a little nervous, "I really don't know what you like, and you can buy what you like yourself."

"No! No matter what you gave me, I like it. It's just that I don't usually wear earrings when I rest. I'll wear them when I work next time." Eric explained.

Avery: "It's been hard work for you these two days. Mike sent me a message saying that you don't need to worry about him if you help look after the child."

"Layla has grown up and doesn't need me to do anything at all. Robert is also very obedient, basically sticking to Layla. I just watched them play and didn't do anything at all." Eric recalled these two's life, "I played a few games of chess with Hayden. I can't play, and he doesn't know how to play, haha!"

"Playing chess? What chess?" Avery didn't remember Hayden's hobby of playing chess.

Eric: "Checkers."

Avery: "..."

Avery thought it was chess, she didn't expect it to be checkers.

"It seems that Robert has a pair of checkers." Avery said.

Eric: "Yes, we played with Robert's checkers."

Avery: "....."

At this time, Mrs. Cooper came over and said with a smile, "Dinner is ready, are you ready for dinner now?"

"Well." Avery was a little hungry. "I'm not used to eating outside. It tastes sweet there. I feel that everything I eat there is sweet.”

“Is it so exaggerated? You can ask the chef to put less sugar.” Mrs. Cooper said.

Avery: “I said, if you don’t say it, the dishes will be sweeter. I said don’t put sugar, and people say you won’t be able to cook without sugar.”

Mrs. Cooper: “Haha! The taste is too different. Next time you go on a trip, you can bring a chef there.”

“Actually, we can also go out to find a restaurant to eat, but we are lazy and have never left the resort.” Avery said, taking the children to wash their hands.

Mrs. Cooper went to the kitchen to serve dishes.

Leaving Elliot and Eric in place. The two looked at each other, and there was an awkward atmosphere in the air.

Elliot remembered that he had promised Avery that he would have a better attitude towards Eric in the future.

Now as the head of the family, Elliot should take the initiative to the guest Eric.

Thinking of this, Elliot said, “Eric, you are welcome to come and play often in the future.”

Eric: “...”

This was the first time Eric heard Elliot call him ‘Eric’.

Eric was not used to it, and even goosebumps appeared.

Just like eating something you are allergic to, your body will have an adverse reaction in an instant.

Seeing that Eric didn’t answer, Elliot looked at himself with a neurotic look, and the expression on Elliot’s face suddenly turned gloomy.

“Can you talk well?” Eric felt that the atmosphere was right after his face turned gloomy.

Elliot: “Didn’t I just talk to you well? Avery asked me to talk to you well.”

Eric: “Oh, I said why you are so strange, like taking the wrong medicine.”

“Can you speak well?” Elliot’s temper was almost unbearable.

Chapter 2381

“You don’t have to force yourself to smile at me, it’s really unnecessary.” Eric let Elliot relax, “You are too polite to me, and I won’t dare to come in the future.”

“Heh...” Elliot chuckled, “Avery said to treat you as her younger brother, I and she are husband and wife, and her younger brother is my younger brother, so...”

“No need. I can be Avery’s younger brother, but I don’t want to be your younger brother.” Eric refused decisively.

Elliot was a little angry, but after thinking about it, he was relieved.

As long as Eric recognizes Avery as a sister, it doesn’t matter whether he recognizes his brother or not.

After dinner, after everyone was seated, Layla couldn’t help but ask her mother, “Mom, is honeymoon fun?”

Avery was stunned for a moment: “It’s okay.”

She and Elliot walked to the resort on the first day, looked at the beautiful seascape, and met tourists from Aryadelle. The tourists from Aryadelle recognized them and enthusiastically stepped forward to take a photo with them.

The next day, the two of them stayed in the room and did not go out.

Not to say it’s fun, not at all.

Avery could stay with Elliot all the time, even if Elliot just looks at each other, he will not get tired of it.

But the way the two of them got along, children must find it boring.

“Then what did you guys do? Didn’t show me the pictures.” Layla complained.

Elliot answered first: “I didn’t take many pictures with your mother. Because we stayed in the room and hardly went out.”

“Ah?” Layla looked surprised. “Why don’t you go out? Isn’t it fun to be outside?”

“Layla, honeymooning is different from ordinary travel!” Mrs. Cooper came over with the soup and talked to Layla, “You will know when you grow up.”

Layla looked up, more curious: “Why is it different?”

“Layla, eat!” Hayden stopped Layla from continuing to ask.

Genius remembers the address of this site in one second:

[<https://naijdate.com/>] The fastest update!

“Okay! Just eat, but I’m not very hungry.” Layla said, picking up the bowl and taking a mouthful of rice.

“Eric, you can stay here for one more night tonight!” Avery saw that it was already dark, so she held back.

“My agent will pick me up later.” Eric said, “I’m going to start work tomorrow.”

“Okay! Since you’re going to start working, I won’t keep you. You can come and play next time during your break. Elliot and I welcome you.”

Eric: “he told me. You better let him be normal!”

Avery: “...”

Elliot: “...”

The next day, in the morning, Layla and Robert went to school.

Elliot and Avery sent Hayden to the airport.

Today Hayden, Mike and Chad set off for Bridgedale together.

Arriving at the airport, Chad reluctantly said to Elliot, "Boss, I have sent you the copy of the recruitment notice. You can see if there are any changes to be made. If you can't find a suitable assistant, I can come back at any time."

Mike's hand was on Chad's back and twisted him.

Elliot: "You can go to work in Bridgedale with peace of mind. You don't have to worry about domestic affairs."

Chad was a little sad: "Okay. I will work hard. Although I have gone to Bridgedale and I will report to you every day."

Elliot: "You can report to Avery directly! The Tate Industries is under Avery's control."

An unexpected expression appeared on Chad's face: "Avery, are you going back to work too?"

"Well. You don't need to report to me every day. It's too troublesome. You can report once a week. I trust you." Avery said.

Chad: "OK."

Avery looked up at Elliot: "You send me a copy of the recruitment notice Chad gave you, and I have to hire an assistant."

Chapter 2382

"Would you like me to recruit for you?" Elliot replied, "I will push you when I see something suitable."

Avery: "I'll recruit myself! You have your own business to do, so don't focus on recruiting people."

Elliot: "Okay! I'll go back and take a look. If there's no problem, I'll send it to you."

Avery: "Um."

After coming out of the airport, Elliot asked the driver to take Avery to the company first.

Tate Industries's building and Sterling Group's building were not in the same direction.

The direction of the airport and their companies were in a triangle point.

It was Avery's temporary decision to return to work in the Tate Industries.

Some time ago, she was very confused about what she was going to do next.

She had two options.

One option was to do medical research, a career she preferred.

The second was to return to the Tate Industries to work.

Between the two, she hesitated for a long time and finally chose the latter.

The reason was very simple. If she chose the former, then she had no time to take care of the family.

After going through so many things, she felt that family was more important than career in her heart at this stage.

After the car arrived at the Tate Industries, Avery opened the car door and got out of the car.

"I'll pick you up from get off work at night." Elliot said, "If you tell me not to work overtime, you are not allowed to work overtime either."

Avery: "I promise not to work overtime. The company has hired a new professional manager. I'll talk to him later and see how it goes."

"Who hired it?" Elliot had been in surgery and recuperating for a while, and he still couldn't understand everything about his company, and even more about Tate Industries.

"Vice President Locklyn was recruited when he resigned. Vice President Locklyn's physical examination revealed that there was something wrong with his health. The doctor told him to recuperate at home, so he couldn't be under too much pressure. So Vice President Locklyn retired." Avery said, "They didn't follow you. Speaking of this, it is probably because you were not in good health at the time."

"Yeah. Send me a copy of his resume and I'll take a look at the person you hired." Elliot said, "Layla told me to leave the Tate Industries to her. Before Layla graduates from university, I can't let the Tate Industries go bankrupt."

Avery: "???" Her daughter Layla never said such a thing to her.

Layla was still so young, to say such a thing?

It's incredible.

"Are you sure she's not joking with you?" Avery asked.

"It shouldn't be a joke. Don't always treat your child as a child. If Layla wants it, we'll give it to her." Elliot said calmly.

"You give what she wants? What if she wants your Sterling Group? You give it too?" Avery teased.

"As long as she wants Sterling Group, of course I will give it." Elliot did not hesitate, "Mine is the child's."

Avery: "..."

According to Elliot's educational philosophy, it was really difficult to educate independent and hard-working children.

Avery: "Didn't we agree when we were in Kuoslaville that we can't spoil children like this?"

Elliot: "I didn't tell the children this, I just told you. Layla won't all leave. She will definitely save some for Robert and Hayden."

Avery: "but we can't instill in her the idea of 'ours is hers'."

Elliot: "We are dead, aren't our things theirs? I don't need to indoctrinate it!"

Chapter 2383

Avery: "..."

"Avery, don't think wildly. When children grow up, they will definitely have their own thoughts. As long as they study hard and don't make major mistakes, we don't have to be so nervous." Elliot comforted Avery and left.

Mainly because Avery entered the company without waiting for Elliot to finish speaking.

After Avery entered the company, she immediately called the new vice president.

About a quarter of an hour later, the vice president rushed to Avery's office.

After the two met, Avery was stunned for a moment.

She didn't expect the newly recruited vice president to look so young.

In fact, the new vice president was in his forties, but his mental state and body maintenance were not bad, and he looked in his thirties at most.

"Hello, Ms. Tate. Let me introduce myself first. My name is Jesse Caldwell.

The first time we met, I think you look much prettier than you look in the photos." Jesse Caldwell introduced himself.

Avery politely said: "Hello, Mr. Caldwell."

"Don't be so polite! You can just call me Jesse." When Jesse Caldwell said this, the conversation changed, "You didn't invite me to your wedding with Elliot. To be honest, I'm a little sad."

Avery was startled for a moment: "Hahaha, I'm sorry! Our New Year's Day wedding was planned by a friend. Elliot and I didn't know we were going to have a wedding until New Year's Day."

Jesse Caldwell nodded: "I heard. So I'm not so sad anymore."

Avery: "Hahaha! I'll bring candy for you tomorrow."

Jesse Caldwell: "Thank you! I thought that Elliot transferred Chad to manage the Tate Industries's Bridgedale branch, so he wanted me to compete with Chad..."

"You think too much. Chad transferred his job because he needed to live in Bridgedale. You are not in a competitive relationship, you must unite." Avery said, "You can communicate with him more in the future. He works by Elliot's side. For many years, his ability is very good. I heard Vice President Locklyn said that you have been working abroad before, and now you choose to return to Aryadelle for the sake of your family. Vice President Locklyn told me that you are very good, so I can't wait to call you when I come to the company already."

"I don't really know Vice President Locklyn very well. He has inquired about me with many people in the industry. I think he is more sincere, so I came to try it out. My way of doing things and his ideas and concepts are actually very different." Jesse Caldwell said, "I took a look. The company has achieved the current status, relying solely on product upgrades, which is definitely not enough. I talked to the R&D and technology side, and now the development of drones has encountered a bottleneck. If you want a big breakthrough, yes it's very difficult. But the market is still good, so if we want to break through, we have to change our thinking."

Avery nodded: "You show me your idea as a plan. We will have another meeting to discuss it with other executives at that time."

Jesse Caldwell: "Okay. Then I'll go to work first."

Avery: "Um."

After Jesse left, Avery turned on the computer and glanced at the office.

Norah used this office before, because the layout had changed a bit from when she used the office before.

But Avery didn't mind.

When Norah was in the Tate Industries, the Tate Industries developed very well.

Norah was still capable, but she was too ambitious and had a bad mind.

The greater the power, the greater the danger.

Avery finished looking at the office and regained her mind. She opened the bag and took out the thermos cup. Immediately took out the tissues, hand cream, portable alcohol and small snacks and put them on the table.

Maybe it's been too long since she went to work, and suddenly there was a sense of freshness.

After putting the bag away, she sprayed the desktop, computer, and mouse with portable alcohol.

After completing the disinfection work, she sat down and logged in to her work social account and email account.

She found Jesse's resume that Vice President Locklyn had sent to her before, and clicked it.

After reading the resume, she forwarded it to Elliot.

Then send him a message to urge: [you forward the email that Chad gave you to me, and I will look at the revision myself.]

After Elliot replied with an OK gesture, he forwarded the email to her.

Chapter 2384

After sending the email to Avery, Elliot added: [Don't hire men.]

Avery: [? ? ?]

Elliot: [I recruit men, you recruit women. Fine?]

Avery: [..you are really careful!]

Elliot: [You say that, I'm not happy.]

Avery: [No gender discrimination in the workplace! As long as it is suitable, it can be male or female! Can we not be so rigid?]

Elliot: [Do you mind if I hire a female assistant?]

Avery didn't think about it, and replied: [Of course I don't mind! What's the point of that? Don't you also have a lot of beautiful female secretaries in your company? Do you think when did I ever mind? Not only the female secretary of your company is beautiful, but other female employees are also very beautiful. I wonder if your company's personnel are recruiting people from the perspective of beauty pageants?]

Elliot: [I don't know. I didn't ask for personnel. I'll go to the company to find personnel and ask.]

Avery: [No need! I'll just complain to you privately, how embarrassed you would be if you asked people like that! I think it may be that there are more people who send resumes to your company, so it is better to recruit beautiful and capable people.]

Elliot: [Maybe! I don't care about other personnel changes except for the people I want to use. I haven't seen so many beauties in my company as you said.]

Avery: [Quietly watching you pretend to be forceful.]

Elliot: [Since you don't mind me hiring a female assistant, would you mind if I take her on a business trip in the future? When Chad followed me, we often socialized and traveled together. You know it.]

Avery:[....]

Elliot: [What's the matter? Feel free to say what you have in mind. Since we are husband and wife, we should be honest.]

Avery: [Why don't you hire men!]

Elliot: [What about you?]

Avery looked at the smiling expression he sent, and felt as if she was right in front of him, looking at him with that expression that looked like a smile but was actually threatening.

Avery opened the thermos cup, took a sip of warm water, and replied: [I will try my best to recruit women. If you have a good resume when you are recruiting, you can send it to me!]

Elliot: [OK.]

After negotiating with Elliot, Avery simply revised the recruitment notice.

The revised recruitment conditions have changed from 'men first' to 'women first'.

After revising the recruitment copy, Avery sent the copy to HR.

After receiving the personnel, HR immediately replied: OK, Ms. Tate, I will immediately go to major recruitment websites to publish. Do you accept internal staff transfer? There should be many employees who want to be your assistants.]

Avery: [Let's recruit first! See if you can find a suitable one.]

HR: [Good Ms. Tate.]

After a while, HR sent another message: [Ms. Tate, I heard that Mr. Foster is going to recruit assistants, isn't it?

Avery: [Yes! Who did you listen to?]

HR: [Listen to what the personnel say over there. Our two companies have been friends together before, so I added a friend from HR there.]

Avery: [Well, Chad has been transferred to Bridgedale, so he wants to hire an assistant. If you have a suitable candidate, you can push it.]

HR: [Okay. But if there is a suitable candidate, I will definitely recommend it to you first. If you think it is inappropriate, I dare not recommend it to Mr. Foster.]

Avery: [I recruit women, he recruits men.]

The HR was stunned for a moment, and then reacted: [Okay, I understand! hey-hey!]

Avery blushed in embarrassment. In fact, she was really not that careful.

But Avery really didn't want Elliot and the female assistant to go on business trips and so on.

Chapter 2385

Afternoon.

The news of Elliot's recruitment of assistants had become a hot search.

Generally, people of such worth as Elliot would not recruit externally.

He needed assistants, he could be promoted from the inside, or he could dig his favorite talents in the circle. But he didn't.

The reason why the news of his recruitment of assistants was on the hot search was related to the treatment he offered to the assistants.

It is written on the recruitment notice that once hired, the annual salary starts at one million, and there is no ceiling. If you perform well, you will have the opportunity to acquire Sterling Group shares.

With such favorable conditions, who could not be moved by seeing it?

Although the hard requirements for Elliot's assistant were not low, there were still many qualified people.

As Avery said, the salary was good, and there were naturally countless talents to submit resumes.

"Elliot is hiring an assistant." After seeing the news, Norah raised a smile on the corner of her mouth.

“Didn’t we know about this two days ago?” Sasha responded flatly, “Have you found the right person?”

“Well, I’ve talked a few times in the past two days, and there is one person who is quite suitable. I’ll contact him now.” Norah opened the address book and said to Sasha, “Elliot is recruiting assistants, and they must only be men. I’ll see him. The male priority written on the request is the same as I thought. Just look for it according to the appearance and ability of his former assistant, which is right.”

Sasha stood at the door of the kitchen because soup was being stewed inside.

Sasha: “If only all went well.”

“Even if it doesn’t go well, it’s fine. His company has other positions to recruit. With my connections, it’s not difficult to put someone in. It’s just that it’s more convenient if someone can be installed by his side.” Norah said calmly. .

“Norah, you said you are such a smart person, even if you do something else, you will definitely make a lot of money. Why do you have to lick Elliot and Avery?” Sasha was a little puzzled.

The reason why Sasha looked for Haze was because there was no other way for Sasha to be a new person.

But Norah was different.

“Sasha, before I contacted Elliot, I did a good job. But no matter how good I do my job, I just make money for the boss, and I can only get a fixed income.

That is absolutely not proportional to my efforts. What’s so good about parttime work, I don’t want to work anymore at all.” Norah saw it through, “Being a good person, in the end, it’s just a servant. It’s better to take the risk and give it a shot.”

Sasha: "Okay! Let's be more cautious this time. Even if we can't make money, we must not risk our lives. It's better to die than live!"

Norah: "Well. I'm measured."

The other side.

The Miss also saw the news that Elliot was recruiting assistants.

After seeing the news, she immediately clicked on the recruitment APP, found the recruitment information of Sterling Group's recruitment of assistant president, and carefully checked the recruitment requirements listed by the other party.

Bachelor degree or above.

The first rule directly rejected her from the door.

A layer of sweat broke out on her palms, if she submitted her resume, she would definitely be in vain, right?

If she didn't try it, how did she know it won't work?

Thinking of this, she bravely clicked on her resume, intending to optimize her resume.

An hour later, she checked the revised resume several times. After confirming that there was no way to change it, she took a deep breath and delivered the resume.

"Miss, Siena woke up. Did you take her to the kindergarten, or should I take her?" The mother-in-law pushed open the study door and asked from the door.

"I'll take her there!" The Miss closed the computer and walked out of the study.

"Miss, if the school accepts her, why don't you let her go to school! She promised me that she would never tear the scar off her face, and she can definitely do it.” The mother-in-law pleaded softly, “In this state, no one will doubt that Siena is Elliot’s daughter.”

Chapter 2386

Miss nodded: “I know. The question now is whether Siena will be bullied by other children when she goes to school.”

“If other children dare to bully Siena, she will definitely fight back. I have told her all about it.” The mother-in-law said.

The Miss shook her head: “Fights are not allowed in school. I’ll take Siena to school later and communicate with the teacher.”

“Anyway, kindergarten doesn’t learn much.” Mother-in-law mainly focused on crispy, “She is used to playing with the children in the mountains, but now she is locked at home every day, which is really depressing. She used to sleep well. Yes, she goes to bed when she touches the bed. Now she can’t sleep at night, and she always wakes up when she falls asleep. I’m really afraid she’ll be suffocated.”

“I know she’s not happy. But before everything is clear, I can only feel wronged first.” The Miss said helplessly, “There is absolutely no way for people to live as they please, not only her, but many people in this society.”

“Well. Be careful on the road.” The mother-in-law said.

After the Miss came out of the room, she walked in front of Siena, took her hand, and led her out.

The weather was not very good today, the clouds were dense, and the sky looked like it was about to collapse. And there was a cold fog all around.

The mother-in-law surrounded her face with a scarf, revealing only a pair of big, crystal clear eyes.

The kindergarten was near the community where they lived, and they could walk there.

Since the last time Elliot sent someone over, they have changed to a more remote and older community.

The kindergartens near the community were naturally not very good. But for them, safety came first and quality of life came second now.

“Miss, I heard what you said to my mother-in-law just now.” Siena raised her head and glanced at the Miss, “Miss, you are a good person.”

The corner of the Miss’s mouth rose, but she couldn’t laugh: “Siena, you’re also a good girl. Bad people are not so easy to distinguish. You are still young, you just need to take care of yourself, eat when you should eat, sleep when you should sleep, and if you can go to school, go to school well. Don’t think too much about the rest.”

“Mother-in-law told me When I grow up, help my mother to avenge.” Siena will not dare to tell her mother-in-law what she said to the Miss, “But I have never seen my mother. Who am I going to seek revenge for? I can’t win against anyone!”

“Yeah. Now I don’t even know who the enemy is, how to take revenge.” The Miss sighed, “I am also looking for the murderer of your mother.”

Siena: “Miss, why are you helping my mother?”

“I am not helping your mother. Also I won’t help your mother. I have nothing to do with your mother, and I even hate her a little bit.” The Miss made no secret of her emotions, “Your mother stole the person I liked. Although your mother didn’t do it on purpose, if she didn’t Your mother, the person I like will definitely not reject me.”

“Oh... miss, who is the person you like? Where is he?” Siena asked curiously.

The Miss gritted her teeth, took a deep breath, and opened her lips with trembling: “The night your mother died, he was also killed.”

Siena's face was covered with a chill.

Other children at this age would not come into contact with the word 'death' so frequently.

But Siena not only knew death early, but also knew the cruelty of life.

The Miss brought Siena to the kindergarten and met the principal.

After seeing the scar on Siena's face, the principal of kindergarten was stunned for a moment, and then asked, "Does she have any other problems besides the scar on her face?"

The Miss: "No other problem. She is very healthy and has a good personality. Rather quiet."

Chapter 2387

The principal: "Okay. In this case, the child can enter our kindergarten. I will let the teacher communicate with the students in the class well, and the children should be able to accept Siena."

The Miss: "Let her try it out first. I'm afraid the child won't adapt."

"Yes. She can start trial reading today." The principal said enthusiastically, "You can pick up the child at 5 o'clock in the evening."

The Miss nodded, and then asked Siena: "Do you want to go to school now, or wait until tomorrow?"

Siena didn't want to trouble the Miss, so she said sensible: "I'll try it now!"

The Miss: "That's good. I'll pick you up at 5 o'clock in the evening. If I don't have time, your mother-in-law will also come to pick you up."

"Well. I see. Miss, go back!"

The Miss nodded: "If mother-in-law tells you, you must always keep it in your heart. If someone asks you about your oddity Strange questions, don't answer them. If there is anything that feels wrong, try to hide immediately, do you hear?"

"Siena: Miss, I understand."

.....

In the evening.

Elliot went to the Tate Industries, picked up Avery, and prepared to go home.

"How do you feel on the first day of work today?" Elliot took Avery's hand and asked.

Avery: "I'm fine. The new vice president, Jesse Caldwell that Vice President Locklyn hired for me is not bad. Basically, he has considered everything and is quite frank."

Elliot: "I asked, Jesse is very good at marketing."

"Yes. He told me that it is difficult for our company to make great progress in technological development now. The company didn't pay much attention to marketing before. He said that now we need to focus on technology and also on marketing. I asked him to make a plan, and it was done. Show me."

Avery said, "I'm not really busy today, but I feel like the work time goes by so fast."

Elliot: "Well. That's why I like work."

"Me and work, which do you prefer?" Avery deliberately made things difficult for him.

Elliot didn't even think about it, and replied, "I work to make money, and I make money to spend for you and the children. Which do you think I prefer?"

"You didn't say that you work to make money. You work because you love your job." Avery chokes him.

Elliot: "The premise of my love for work is that work can create value."

"Oh. I think the value of this thing, can't just look at the benefits it generates. I think you accompany me and my children, than you work to make money and spend it for us, it makes me feel more sense.” Avery put forward a different opinion, “Of course, you have been with us for a long time, and you have done a good job. I can feel that you have changed a lot and sacrificed a lot for us and this family.”

“Avery, you are wrong. I never feel that I have made any sacrifices for you.”

Elliot clenched her hand tightly, “Even if there is a so-called sacrifice, I will do it willingly after weighing it.”

“You speak now. It’s getting sweeter and I can’t even quarrel with you, it’s really boring.” Avery teased, “How are you recruiting assistants?”

“Personnel sent me some resumes submitted by women. As for mine Assistant, we haven’t started screening yet.” Elliot said, “I’ll wait to see if those resumes are suitable for you.”

“You just pass it to me, I’ll read it myself!” Avery said, “This kind of trivial matter, I myself Just come.”

“Okay, then I’ll go home and accompany the children.” When Elliot said this, his eyes softened a little, “I like to play with the children.”

“Layla and Robert also like you. In the past, Layla always favored me, but now she has a flat bowl of water.” Avery laughed dumbly.

Chapter 2388

“She has a good bowl of water, why are you a little unhappy?” Elliot laughed,

“Hayden is still unhappy!”

“Why am I unhappy. You have a good relationship with your children, don’t I have more peace of mind? When the child is on vacation, you can take care of the child, and I can take it for granted.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing, “You like taking care of children so much, I will give you an award at the end of the year: the Best Nurse Dad Award!"

"Thank you! There is no need for the award, the child is mine, and it is my responsibility and obligation to take care of the child."

Elliot said calmly, "The child won't need us for long. Hayden doesn't need us anymore, we need him. Layla doesn't need us much anymore. If we weren't so strict with her, would you believe that she would go out to play as soon as she was on vacation? We went to our honeymoon this time, and she didn't bother Eric to stay with us. Does she play? If it hadn't been for the final exam, do you believe she actually wanted Eric to take her out to play?"

Avery didn't think much about it at first, but now hearing Elliot say it, she suddenly felt a little confused.

"That's why Robert still treats the two of us as treasures. If Layla had time to accompany him, he wouldn't play with the two of us." Elliot continued, "The child grows up very quickly. In a few years, When Robert go to elementary school, if he has good friends, he won't stick with us anymore."

"Why are you a little sad? You like to have children so much?" Avery teased, "You don't want to move out when you grow up and don't live with your elders. Is it? You are such a person yourself, why do you want the children to stick to us all the time?"

Elliot was speechless.

"It's still a long time before they grow up and move out! Don't think so much!"

Avery saw that Elliot seemed really sad, so she comforted him seriously, "If the children are all move out and live separately from us, The two of us will be able to travel around the world!"

Elliot responded, "Let's think about it later! We haven't reached that stage yet."

“They’re still with us now, you’re so lost, if Layla is going to get married in the future, don’t you have to cry?” Avery put her arms around his waist and stared at his face, “Husband, you still have me What! I won’t leave you.”

Elliot: “Well. Fortunately, I have you. Otherwise, I’d be so lonely when I’m old.”

Avery: “Stay alone!”

Elliot: “...”

The two quarreled all the way, and when they got home, they stopped.

Dinner was ready, but Layla was doing her homework in the room, Robert pulled Elliot and asked Elliot to teach him to play checkers.

“Next time my brother comes back, I can play chess with my brother!” Robert explained why he wanted to learn checkers.

Elliot was moved by Robert, so he was successfully pulled away by Robert and went to teach Robert to play checkers.

Avery was hungry and couldn’t wait for them, so she went to the dining room alone.

“Layla said she wasn’t hungry, she said she’d eat after finishing her homework, so you don’t have to worry about them.” Mrs. Cooper brought dinner to the table, “Avery, how do you feel about going to work today?”

“I didn’t do anything, but I’m hungry faster than usual at home.” Avery picked up the bowl and chopsticks and started to eat.

“Going to work will definitely make you a little tired. Even if you don’t do anything, you have more things to think about.” Mrs. Cooper said, “You eat more. You are already thin, so don’t get thinner because you go to work.”

“I will eat at noon today. There are quite a few. I’m sure I can’t lose weight. Maybe after a period of work, I will gain weight.” Avery doesn’t care as much about her figure as in previous years, because her physique is not easy to fatten, and her eating habits better, "I don't usually like to eat snacks, and I don't like to overeat, so my weight has been maintained at a relatively stable number."

"Mrs. Cooper, Eric lived in our house two days ago. Did Layla make any noise to him?" Avery suddenly remembered this question and asked in a low voice. Mrs. Cooper was stunned for a moment and replied, "No? I didn't see Layla being noisy. Layla is not noisy! Layla is very sensible now."

Chapter 2389

Well. I know Layla is very sensible. She is no longer a child, so I am suddenly a little worried whether she will have that kind of feeling for Eric." Avery expressed her concerns.

These words made Mrs. Cooper also worried.

"To be honest, I didn't think about it. But your worries are not unreasonable, Layla is really a big girl. Now children have access to the Internet earlier, and they will mature a little earlier than before. If you are worried, you can talk to Layla." Mrs. Cooper said.

Avery: "I don't know how to talk about it. Eric is so good, so many girls like him, including me, and I admire him very much. I'm afraid that Layla's age can't tell the difference..."

"Would you like to talk to Eric? I think Eric is a more measured person. If Layla confesses to him, he will definitely refuse." Mrs. Cooper said that, she was relieved, "You are from Eric. Benefactor, Eric will definitely not mess with Layla."

"I'm not worried that Eric will mess with Layla. Otherwise I wouldn't let Eric take Layla out to play before. I was afraid that Layla would be so Affecting my own life."

Avery shook her head, "I don't want to think about this for now. It was Elliot who was suddenly a little sentimental today that the child will leave us when he grows up, so I will follow my wild thoughts."

Mrs. Cooper: "Why do you think about this?"

"Elliot has become more and more sentimental recently. Probably because he is getting older, he often needs me to coax him." Avery said this, the corners of her mouth raised, "I think he is quite cute like this."

"Seeing that your feelings are getting more and more better, I'm really happy for you." Mrs. Cooper said and was sincerely happy for them.

Avery thought for a few seconds and said, "Even when I was with him in the past, there would always be some messy pessimistic thoughts, but this time they're gone. This time I feel very at ease."

Mrs. Cooper: "It's good to be steadfast. It means that your hearts are settled down!"

...

Avery took a look at Elliot and Robert after dinner.

The father and son were so fascinated by the game of checkers that they had no time to pay attention to her.

So she went to her daughter's study to see how her daughter's homework was going.

Layla saw her mother come in and stretched while holding the pen.

Layla: "Mom, I have a lot of homework! I feel like I can't finish writing."

"Let's write after dinner!" Avery walked to the desk and glanced at her daughter's homework tonight.

There were still two papers not written.

"Mom, I can't eat it." Layla pursed her small mouth, "Uncle Eric said that I must do well in the final exam this time, and he would take me to play during the winter vacation.”

Layla took the initiative to talk about Eric, which made Avery couldn't help but follow the topic and chatted: “Layla, mom knows you like Uncle Eric, but if Uncle Eric has a girlfriend, you can't stick to him like that.”

Layla: “Uncle Eric said he's not looking for a girlfriend.”

“He hasn't met the right one yet. Maybe one day he will meet the right one.”

Avery looked at her daughter's expression and had a bad premonition in her heart.

Chapter 2390

“Didn't he meet the right one yet? Let's wait until he finds a girlfriend!” Layla put her eyes back on the paper, “Mom, you are suddenly so serious!”

“Have you?” Avery was afraid that her attitude frightened her daughter, and she immediately laughed, “Mom just considers that your uncle Eric doesn't have much vacation, and you want to be with him every winter and summer vacation, so he won't have time to find a girlfriend at all. It had a big impact on him.”

Layla pursed her lips.

“You also know that Uncle Eric's parents are forcing him to have a blind date. His family especially hopes that he will find a girlfriend soon and get married. After all, your Uncle Eric is not too young.” Avery explained to his daughter patiently that the age gap between Eric and her.

“Mom, how can you think the same as those people? How old is Uncle Eric? He doesn't want to find a girlfriend or get married, so you can't force him.”

Layla looked at her mother again, complaining for Eric.

Avery smiled: “Baby, I didn't force him. I just told you about his situation. We don't force him, but his parents will still urge him. If you keep pestering him, what will his parents think? Don't you think you're delaying him too much?"

"I don't know his parents, so I don't care what they think! As long as Uncle Eric plays with me." Layla said nonchalantly.

"Layla, your mother is actually worried about you." Avery hesitated for a while, and then said what was in her heart, "You are not too young now, and your mother is afraid that you will have an extra-normal relationship with Eric."

"Mom, I like Uncle Eric, and I like to be with him. Because he is very kind to me, he listens to me in everything." Layla did not shy away from her liking for Eric.

Avery nodded, she understood her daughter's mood.

Eric was not only very kind to Layla, but also to Avery.

Just when Avery thought that she might be thinking too much, Layla said word by word: "Mom, when I graduate from college, and Uncle Eric hasn't found a girlfriend yet, then I'll marry him! What do you think?"

Avery: "..."

Layla: "Mom, don't you like Uncle Eric? How good Uncle Eric is! He is handsome and rich. The key is to be nice to others. He is not only good to me, he is also good to our whole family. Don't you want such a son-in-law?"

"Mom, don't you like Uncle Eric too? Then why don't you let me marry Uncle Eric?" Layla was puzzled, "If I marry Uncle Eric, aren't we relatives? Can't we be together forever?"

"Layla, you can say these things in front of your mother, but don't tell your father. Your father will be mad if he hears you say this. Maybe I will also run to find Eric for trouble." Avery said solemnly, "You have to focus on your studies now, it's still too early to get married!"

Chapter 2391

“I know that you must be of legal marriage age to get married. I didn’t tell you that because you asked me!” Layla continued to do her homework.

“Layla, have you said these things to Eric?” Avery was worried and didn’t know how to face Eric in the future.

“No? I don’t remember if I said it before, but I definitely didn’t say it this year.”

Layla pulled out a bright smile, “I didn’t think about it before!”

“You shouldn’t think too much. If your uncle Eric finds a girlfriend in the future, you are not allowed to find him again.” Avery said earnestly, “If you are your auntie Gwen’s age now, mother will never stop you from doing anything.

What do we do? Do what you should do at your age. Your main task now is to study.”

“Mom, I understand. Study, study, study hard! I am the top three in the final exam this time, please let me go out to play!” Layla grabbed her mother’s hand and begged.

“Yes. If you want to play with Eric, I will let the bodyguards follow you.” Avery reminded.

“OK.” Layla was used to being followed by bodyguards when she went out.

...

At night, Avery had insomnia and couldn’t sleep at all.

After Elliot breathed evenly and fell asleep, Avery picked up the phone from the bedside table and turned it on.

It’s now 11:00 p.m., she didn’t know if Eric had slept.

She hesitated again and again and decided to send a message to Eric: [Eric, are you free now?]

A few minutes later, Eric replied: [I just took a shower. I’m free now, what’s the matter?]

Avery: [I chatted with Layla tonight, she said that she wants to marry you when she grows up.]

Eric: [Typing...]

Avery saw that his 'Typing...' state lasted for three minutes before replying: [She's joking!]

Avery: [She's very serious. She said that if you don't find a girlfriend in the future, she will marry you. Eric, what do you think?]

Eric: [I never had such an idea about Layla. Please believe me.]

Avery: [I tell you this because I trust you very much. I hope that when you get along with Layla in the future, if there is something wrong with her, you can correct it in time. Also, don't be obedient to her anymore. If you indulge her too much, she will not know the sky is high.]

Eric: [Good. I'll pay attention later.]

Avery breathed a sigh of relief.

Eric: [Avery, don't worry! When Layla encounters more of the opposite s-e-x in the future, she will have a correct judgment.]

Avery: [I'm not worried about her finding a partner. I think she should study hard now and shouldn't think about other things.]

Eric: [I understand how you feel. I will let her study hard.]

Avery: [Thank you for understanding my feelings, I'm suddenly not worried anymore.]

Eric: [Mmmm. It's late, you should rest early.]

Avery: [Okay, you also have an early rest.]

After sending a message to Eric, Avery was still not sleepy.

She opened her mailbox and started to read the resume Elliot forwarded to her tonight.

Chapter 2392

There were a total of more than a dozen resumes.

That was all about applying for Elliot's assistant.

Avery casually opened a resume and glanced at it.

The other's education and work experience were very good.

If this person sent her a resume, there was almost no doubt that she could go directly to the interview.

Avery clicked on the second resume, and after reading it, she felt the same as the first one.

That was still a very good woman.

If the other party was willing to be her assistant, she had almost no reason to refuse.

It was estimated that those dozen resumes were excellent, otherwise Elliot would not have sent them to her.

She was in a situation where she didn't know how to choose.

After a while of emptying her mind, she lost sleepiness.

She turned on her phone and continued to read her resume.

After reading more than a dozen resumes, her eyes were a little sore. She reached out and rubbed her eyes, which were dry and itchy.

She put down her phone and planned to wash her face, then went to the study to find eye drops.

When she went to the bathroom, Elliot woke up.

Elliot opened his eyes and saw Avery's figure through the dim light.

"Avery, what's the matter with you? Are you uncomfortable?" Elliot woke up in a daze, and sat up with his arms on his body."

“No. I’ve been looking at my phone for a long time, and my eyes are a little itchy. I’ll go get eye drops.” Avery turned off the light in the bathroom and walked out.

Elliot was afraid that she could not see clearly, so he immediately turned on the bedside lamp.

“Avery, haven’t you slept?” Elliot glanced at the time, it was past midnight.

“I couldn’t sleep, so I just read the resume you forwarded to me. These people are excellent! Others want to be your assistants, so they might not be willing to come to me!” Avery raised her doubts.

“As long as the salary is in place, it’s basically no problem. You choose first, and then you can talk about it.” Elliot said indifferently, “You are insomnia because of this?”

“I’ll go get eye drops first, and I’ll talk to you later. If you’re sure you don’t want to sleep, you want to talk to me.” Avery said and walked out of the bedroom.

Five minutes later, Avery dropped eye drops and returned to the bedroom.

Elliot looked more sober than before. He was leaning against the bed and looking at his phone. When he saw Avery come in, he put down his phone.

“Husband, why don’t we go to bed? It’s very late. We have to go to work tomorrow!” Avery yawned, “Don’t be so anxious about recruiting people, I’m also helping me choose the personnel here.”

“Well. Didn’t you fall asleep at noon? Why can’t you fall asleep?” Elliot turned off the light after Avery went to bed.

“I...” Avery stopped her mouth in time when she was about to speak.

There was no need to tell Elliot about Layla and Eric. Because Eric couldn’t mess with Layla at all.

If she told Elliot, Elliot would definitely make a big fuss, and maybe he would stop Layla and Eric from interacting in the future.

Layla would definitely be very angry by then, which would inevitably affect her studies. And Avery didn't want to see Elliot and Eric tear their faces, and it would be difficult for her to be caught in the middle.

"Maybe my auntie is coming soon." Avery found a reason, "the abdomen is a little painful."

Elliot heard the words and immediately turned to her side: "Avery, would you like some hot water? I'll bring it to you."

"No need to drink water now, I'm afraid I will wake up later." Avery put her arms around his waist.

"Then I'll rub it for you." Elliot's big palm covered her belly, rubbing lightly.

Avery actually had no abdominal discomfort, but after reaching out and touching his hand a few times, it actually had a hypnotic effect.

Soon, she stumbled into dreamland.

Chapter 2393

After Avery fell asleep, Elliot was no longer sleepy.

He rolled over, picked up the phone, and turned it on.

He would click through the resumes sent to Avery one by one, and wanted to help her screen them to see if there were any more suitable for her.

In fact, he had read these resumes before forwarding them to Avery.

But he didn't look closely.

Among those resumes, what impressed Elliot the most was the one with the lowest education.

Because she had the lowest education, Elliot even remembered her name –

Gloria Wiens.

His requirements for recruiting assistants were clearly written.

The first requirement was to have a bachelor's degree or above.

But Gloria Wiens's education was only a bachelor's degree, and she was a fresh graduate who just graduated this year. She had no work experience at all. How dare she submitted her resume?

The personnel side generally saw this kind of resume that did not meet the requirements at all, and would directly brush it off.

But this time, the personnel was not cleared, because Avery did not have such strict conditions for recruiting assistants.

Avery's requirements were undergraduate and above.

So the personnel left Gloria Wiens's resume.

Personnel reported the matter to Elliot separately.

Gloria Wiens was a native of Yonroeville. In high school, she won the gold medal in the tea art competition of Yonroeville. She studied at a key university in Aryadelle. After graduating from college this year, chosed to work in Aryadelle.

Although her resume was not as good as others, HR thought that Gloria Wiens should be an assistant to Avery and there should be no problem.

Gloria Wiens was very good at making tea, so she could often make tea for Avery, wasn't it good?

After all, Avery's work pressure was not high, and she did not need an assistant with such strong business ability.

Elliot didn't express any opinion after listening to the personnel's words at that time.

After all, Elliot wasn't sure what kind of person Avery wanted to recruit.

About an hour later, Elliot was dizzy looking at the phone and had to put it down.

He didn't know if it's quiet in the middle of the night, and it's easier for people to think wildly.

He stared at Gloria Wiens's resume for a long time, and when he saw that she was from Yonroeville, he naturally remembered the various experiences that happened in Yonroeville, including Haze, who he couldn't give up.

Because Gloria Wiens was from Yonroeville, Elliot even started to think conspiracy theories. Was it possible that Gloria Wiens was related to some people he knows?

After all, people from Yonroeville rarely found jobs and lived in Aryadelle.

At least Elliot couldn't remember any employee in the company who was from Yonroeville.

In the end, he denied his suspicions.

Gloria Wiens studied in Aryadelle for three years. At first glance, she had completed university in Aryadelle and developed feelings for Aryadelle, so she would stay here to work.

How could Gloria Wiens be someone who wanted to get close to Elliot with ulterior motives?

Yonroeville was so big, how could a little girl like Gloria Wiens know people in Elliot's circle?

After overturning all his guesses, he fell asleep.

The next morning, Avery slept until 8 o'clock and woke up. After waking up, she glanced at the time, and then looked towards Elliot.

Elliot was still sleeping, and he was quite sound.

Did Elliot stay up late last night after Avery fell asleep?

Avery tiptoed out of bed, went to the bathroom to wash briefly, and went downstairs for breakfast.

At 9 o'clock, Elliot woke up. He saw Avery dressed neatly sitting in the chair next to him drinking coffee and the sun shining through the tulle and sprinkled on her, which was particularly dazzling.

"Avery, what time is it? Why didn't you wake me up?" Elliot rubbed his aching temples and said hoarsely.

Chapter 2394

"It's only nine o'clock. Did you stay up late last night? You are not a snooze person." Avery Putting down the coffee cup, "I drank your new coffee. Someone brought it to you when I was having breakfast. I asked Mrs. Cooper to make me a cup."

"Don't you like coffee?" Elliot lifted the quilt and got out of bed, "Avery, you can't sleep at night if you drink it carefully."

"My head hurts a little, especially after reading the resumes you sent me, I think they are all excellent!" Avery said, holding up the coffee Cup, took a sip. "Isn't there a fresh graduate in it?" Elliot followed her words and said, "She is from Yonroeville. When the personnel manager gave me her resume, he said that if you hired her, she could make tea for you in the future."

When the personnel manager gave me her resume, he said that if you hired her, she could make tea for you in the future.”

After the HR manager went out, Avery turned on the computer and logged in to the mailbox.

She scanned through the dozen resumes she read last night, and then clicked on Gloria Wiens’s resume.

Gloria Wiens looked very quiet and delicate, and had a good personality.

Avery read her resume carefully and saw that she won the Gold Award for Tea Art in Yonroeville at the age of 16. She couldn’t help but search the Internet for the gold content of the Gold Award for Tea Art in Yonroeville.

Gloria Wiens wrote this award in her resume, presumably this award has technical content.

At half past eleven, Elliot called.

Avery answered the phone, and Elliot’s voice came: “Avery, what do you want for lunch? I’ll give you some.”

Avery was stunned for a moment: “Is it going to be lunch? So soon? I’m not hungry yet!”

She glanced at the time on the computer, a little stunned.

She didn’t do anything all morning, and the time just passed!

She originally just wanted to search for the tea art competition in the Yonroeville, but after searching, she actually watched more than an hour of tea art related videos and materials.

If Elliot hadn’t called to ask her what to eat, she would have continued to watch.

Chapter 2395

“You can think about what to eat for lunch, make an order first. When you are hungry, then send it over.” Elliot was busy all the morning, he was already hungry by now.

“Okay, let’s think about it.” Avery became lazy after speaking, too lazy to think, “I’ll eat whatever you want! Our tastes are almost the same now.”

“You’re too lazy to think about it! What are you doing?” Hearing her tone, Elliot felt that she was half-hearted.

Avery picked up the water glass, took a sip of water, and moistened her throat: “I didn’t do anything all morning. I checked the tea art culture in Yonroeville. I didn’t even hear about it before, the tea art in Yonroeville seems to be quite famous.”

detailed than what you searched on the Internet?”

“Avery: Yes! But I haven’t decided whether to ask her for an interview. After all, she submitted her resume for you, and they want to be your assistant...”

“How do you know she’s not casting a wide net?” Elliot woke up Avery.

“Then... or ask your HR manager to call and ask her to see if she is willing to come to me for an interview. Otherwise, I feel a little awkward if I contact her directly.” Avery decided to meet and chat with Gloria Wiens.

“Okay.” From her tone, Elliot felt that she was very satisfied with Gloria Wiens.

If Gloria Wiens agreed to work with her, it was estimated that Gloria Wiens could successfully get the offer.

Neighboring city.

While the Miss was eating, she received a call from HR manager of Sterling Group.

“Hello, Miss Wiens, I’m the HR manager of Sterling Group. I’m calling you to inform you that you don’t meet our requirements, so unfortunately, you can’t be our assistant to the president.” The HR manager said, “But our boss is also looking for assistants. Her requirements are a little lower. Your education is enough. I don’t know if you would mind if I push your resume over.”

Gloria Wiens’s mood changed in a short time. She asked, “Is your boss Avery?”

The HR manager: “Yes. She is looking for an assistant now. I wonder if you have sent her a resume?”

“No. I didn’t see the recruitment information of the Tate Industries.” Gloria Wiens was a little nervous, but also very grateful, “Then please help I forwarded my resume, thank you!”

Chapter 2396

“Okay. If there is a follow-up result, someone from the Tate Industries will contact you. Please keep your mobile phone open.” The HR manager has already sensed from Gloria Wiens’s tone that she also yearns for the Tate Industries.

The personnel manager didn't tell her that Avery wanted to interview her.

Because the initiative was better in the hands of the recruiter.

Besides, Gloria Wiens's resume was really not outstanding, Avery could easily recruit people better than her.

"Okay, thank you!" Gloria Wiens thanked again.

After talking on the phone, Gloria Wiens was so excited that she lost her appetite when she faced the food on the table.

She was actually mentally prepared. Under her conditions, she would definitely not be able to join Sterling Group as an assistant to the president.

Unless the position she applied for is very ordinary, it is possible to get in.

But in a very ordinary position, she couldn't get in touch with Elliot.

Unexpectedly Avery was also recruiting assistants!

That's great!

After The Miss submitted her resume to Sterling Group yesterday, she stopped opening the recruitment software.

Avery's recruitment of assistants was not as popular as Elliot's recruitment of assistants, so she only now knew that Avery was also recruiting assistants.

In fact, if she could choose, of course she would prefer to go to Avery's side.

Only by going to Avery, could the Miss find out more quickly whether the Jobin family annihilation case is related to Avery?

"Miss, why don't you eat?" Seeing that Gloria Wiens hung up the phone, the mother-in-law became in a daze, so she said, "Who called you just now? What happened?"

Gloria took a deep breath and looked at the mother-in-law with a smile: "Isn't Elliot recruiting assistants? I submitted a resume to his company yesterday, and the HR manager of his company called me just now, saying that I did not meet the requirements. However, they can help me to transfer my resume to Avery's company. Avery is also recruiting assistants."

After mother-in-law learned about this, she thought for a few seconds and said, "Miss, if you go to work with Avery, will Siena and I go to Avonsville together? "Gloria didn't even think about it, and shook her head: "You and Siena live here. I'm not sure how long I can stay with Avery. It's too dangerous for you to go to Avonsville."

"Okay. Then we'll be waiting for you here." Mother-in-law was worried, "Siena had a nightmare last night and cried so sadly. I really don't want to send her to school any more. She's at school, and no children play with her. Other children are afraid of her."

"The teacher sent a message to me. The children in the class are young and their receptivity is a little bit poor. But the teacher has always accompanied Siena. The teacher likes Siena very much and said that she will let the children in the class accept Siena as soon as possible." Gloria Wiens wasn't worried about this. "Didn't she say she was going to school in the morning? Since she doesn't object to going to school, you should relax. Her tolerance may be stronger than we thought."

The mother-in-law told Gloria Wiens in the morning. Gloria had also mentioned this issue, because mother-in-law was really distressed.

But mother-in-law also knew that Siena could live like a normal child only by pretending to be ugly.

The mother-in-law: "Miss, can you successfully enter Avery's company?"

Gloria was a little worried: "I don't know. Others only said they could help me transfer my resume, and nothing else was disclosed."

“Miss, you don’t have to worry. You are so good. I’m sure there’s no problem.”

The mother-in-law comforted and sighed, “I’m really worried when you’re alone in Avonsville.”

“I’ll be fine. If I can really be Avery’s assistant, I’ll definitely do it first and find out what she is like.” Gloria said, “The news about Avery Tate that I found on the Internet shows that she is a good person. I want to see what her true face is.”

In the afternoon, Gloria received a call from the HR manager of Tate Industries.

The HR manager: “Miss Wiens, where are you now? Is it convenient to come to the company for an interview?”

Chapter 2397

Gloria Wiens did not expect to receive a call for an interview so soon, and she was a little flustered.

“I...I’m convenient. But I’m afraid I won’t be able to make it in time today. Can I do it tomorrow? Any time tomorrow.” Gloria Wiens wanted to seize this opportunity, “If I have to interview today, I can do it now. But it may take two hours to reach at your company.”

The HR manager glanced at the time, and two hours later, he just got off work.

“Forget it today. Come over tomorrow.” The HR manager didn’t dare to delay Avery’s time. It was Avery who was picked up by Elliot yesterday evening.

The company said, “At 10 o’clock tomorrow morning, is there any problem?”

Gloria: “Okay, I’ll be there on time tomorrow.”

After talking on the phone, Gloria immediately turned on her phone and planned to book a ticket to Avonsville tomorrow morning.

It took about an hour to go to Avonsville by train. The earliest train in the morning left at 7:30 in the morning. In fact, it was too late to take this train. But Gloria considered that she would arrive at the railway station in Avonsville at 8:30 in the morning and got out of the railway station. Even if she took a taxi to Tate Industries, she might encounter uncertain factors such as traffic jams on the road.

Since the 10 o'clock interview was agreed, she couldn't be late.

After a while, she came out of the room with her bag.

"Mother-in-law, I'm going to the Tate Industries for an interview tomorrow morning. I'm afraid it won't be too late tomorrow morning, so I'll go first tonight, so as not to be late tomorrow." Gloria glanced at the time and explained to mother-in-law, "I'll be there in an hour. I'll go first by train."

"Okay, be careful on the road and pay attention to safety!" The mother-in-law sent the Miss out, "I'll go out with you! Just in time to pick up Siena."

"Well. You comfort Siena more and make her stronger." Gloria said, "As long as Siena is still willing to go to school, you encourage her."

"Okay, I know that if Siena stays at home, she will only be more unhappy."

The mother-in-law thought a lot today, "I hope you can find out the truth quickly. I hope Avery and Elliot are not murderers..."

"If they are not murderers, so what? Do you want to send Siena back to them?" Gloria asked.

The mother-in-law was very entangled: "If Siena could go back to Elliot, she would have a better life. I just don't know if Avery will treat her kindly. If so, I definitely hope Siena can go back. If Avery can't treat her kindly, let Siena stay by my side."

"Let's take a step by step!" Gloria was also confused.

Since she decided to intervene in this matter, her life has been pushed forward by this matter.

It's not that she never thought about stopping and lived her own life, but it was like a spell, as long as she had the idea of stopping, Lorenzo's face would appear in her mind and entangle her deeply.

Avonsville, Tate Industries Building.

Elliot came to pick Avery off work.

Avery had a few more chats with the HR manager before coming out of the office, so Elliot went downstairs a little late.

When Avery came out of the company, she saw many employees taking pictures of Elliot with their mobile phones.

Not even a sneak peek.

Elliot stood by the car in a valiant manner, and seemed to enjoy being surrounded by people.

Avery strode over, opened the car door, and stuffed him into the car.

Avery: "What did you do when you got out of the car? For fear that others wouldn't know that you came to pick me up?"

"I see that you haven't come down yet and want to find you. But they suddenly came out and took pictures of me." Elliot was helpless, "I can't. Escape into the car."

Chapter 2398

"Then you can come to the company to find me! You were so stupid by the car just now." Avery couldn't help laughing, "I thought you were deliberately standing beside the car to be handsome! I was still wondering why you're suddenly so coquettish."

Elliot: "...I'm afraid that entering the company will disrupt the order."

Avery: "I'm off work, so what is the order? Besides, you are the big boss of the Tate Industries, why are you here? Are you still scared?"

Elliot: "This is your territory, so stop laughing at me."

"Okay, I won't laugh at you. But seriously, you don't have to pick me up every day. I can drive to and from work myself. Or the bodyguard will drive me to pick me up." Avery put her head on his shoulder and sighed lightly, "There are a lot of things going on in the company at the end of the year! All kinds of miscellaneous things... What year-end summary? Party, work plan for the coming year... When I didn't come to the company, no one called me. Now I come to work, and everyone comes to report to me. I didn't think I was so important, but now I feel myself that it seems to be of some use."

"If you don't want to be so busy, let them not come to you with trivial matters. Whatever the vice president can do, let the vice president do it." Elliot looked solemn, afraid that Avery would be tired, "you have to learn Decentralization. Let professional people do professional things. The role of the boss is to set a major development direction..."

"Everyone is happy to report to me, I can't say, you all go to Vice President, right? And I'm quite willing to take care of some things." Avery said, "I am sitting in the office, and the employees come to me, of course I will take care of it."

Elliot: "..."

Avery: "The employees are not...The problem is that I rested for too long, and I didn't get used to this kind of work rhythm for a while. Just wait a few days."

Elliot: "You can bear it."

"I'm not stupid. I really can't stand it. I can rest at home. As long as I don't go to the company, they don't dare to come to me for any trivial matter." Avery thought of one thing when she said this, "by the way, I have an appointment which is a interview with Gloria Wiens tomorrow morning."

“Well, it seems that you are quite satisfied with her.” Elliot said, “Tell me about your feelings after the interview tomorrow.”

“Are you paying so much attention to her? Then you can meet her with me tomorrow!” Avery raised her hand and rubbed her palm against Elliot’s chin. His beard was cleanly shaved, chin was not prickly, and he felt a comfortable feeling of decompression.

He felt that he might have become a pet dog in her eyes.

She was the first to set his chin.

“You don’t say anything, are you really planning to interview her with me tomorrow?” Avery held his chin and looked at him seriously.

“I don’t like drinking tea, so I’m going to join in the fun.” Elliot held her little hand on his chin, and said, “If you touch it again, I’m going to fall asleep.”

“Oh...” Avery accepted angrily with a smirk on her face, “I finally know what it’s like for others to dish walnuts.”

“Would I buy you two walnuts and let you dish them?” Elliot said helplessly.

“No. I’m not that bored yet!” Avery glanced out the window, it was getting dark, “Husband, what questions should I ask when I interview Gloria Wiens tomorrow?”

Elliot: “You’ll see her tomorrow and you’ll know what to ask.”

Avery: “Okay! I was wondering if it would be bad if I asked too personal a question.”

Elliot: “You want to ask What is a too personal question? Ask someone if they have a boyfriend, are they married and have children?”

Avery couldn’t help crying and laughing: “No. Of course I won’t ask these questions. But it’s possible to talk about them... Everything will have to wait until tomorrow. Let’s meet again.”

“Take it easy, you are the boss, she is the interviewee. Don’t come to tomorrow, you are more nervous than she is.” Elliot held her hand and encouraged her, “If the other party can’t let you relax, then definitely not. “

Chapter 2399

“Husband, I may have been out of the workplace for too long to do this. I will slowly get back to my state.” Avery took a deep breath, and her mood quickly stabilized, “By the way, today Katalina sent a message saying that she and Aqi got the certificate yesterday.”

Elliot: “Are they going to have a wedding?”

“I haven’t said anything about the wedding. She told me that Aqi has to take a few days off, because her parents are here. She and Aqi have to accompany her parents.” Avery smiled, and continued, “Didn’t Aqi tell you? Is Aqi afraid of you?”

Elliot really didn’t know about this.

He turned on his cell phone, but he didn’t see any message from Aqi, nor a call from Aqi.

Was Aqi really afraid of him?

But every time he talked to Aqi, he didn’t feel that Aqi was afraid of him.

“Since Katalina told me, it’s like telling you. Aqi’s fake, you have to criticize it!”

Avery said, “I didn’t expect the two of them to get together so quickly. But the two of them is a good match.”

“Let’s see if Aqi asks me for leave. If he doesn’t even ask me for leave, does he expect me to take the initiative to give him vacation?” Elliot thought it was unbelievable, “Even Chad also took the initiative to find me. “

“Okay, husband, don’t be angry. I think Aqi will tell you when he picks up Layla later.” Avery patted him on the back, giving him a good chance.

The two went home, and Layla had already returned from school and both

Aqi and Katalina were there.

Aqi looked at them with shame and hesitant to say anything. He must have wanted to ask Elliot for leave.

“Katalina, when you sent me a message, you didn’t say you were coming over at night.” Avery immediately took Katalina’s hand and led her to sit on the sofa, “If I knew you were coming, I would have come back from get off work earlier. “

Seeing the two of them entering the house, Aqi immediately approached Elliot and asked for leave: “Boss, I want to ask for a week’s leave. Katalina’s parents are here...”

“Didn’t you two get your certificates? You haven’t changed your mind?” Elliot teased him.

Aqi blushed and scratched his head: “Uh... my father-in-law and mother-in-law don’t really agree with Katalina marrying me. They don’t really want to pay attention to me.”

Elliot looked at the bodyguard’s aggrieved look, He secretly asked: “Where are they staying now?”

“They live in hotels. Before they came, they booked the hotel in advance.” Aqi said shyly, “They don’t want Katalina to marry me, and they don’t completely hate me. However, her parents don’t want her to marry away. I understand their feelings.”

“Then show your strength and sincerity to prove to them that you can take good care of their daughter.” Elliot said in a straightforward manner, “as long as they satisfied with you, it’s nothing to marry far away.”

Aqi felt that the boss was very reasonable, but Aqi didn’t know how to satisfy his father-in-law and mother-in-law.

Aqi originally wanted to ask the boss if there was any good way, but Aqi’s mind twitched and asked, "Boss, if Layla gets married in the future, wouldn't you be reluctant?"

Elliot: "..."

Elliot's eyes suddenly straightened, his body gradually stiffened, and his fists clenched.

At this moment, the sky thunders and the ground fires.

The bodyguard quickly covered his mouth, feeling that he might be dying.

Chapter 2400

Which pot was really not opened and mentioned!

The boss loved Layla so much, how could he let Layla marry away?

From the boss's point of view, there was no man in this world who was worthy of Layla!

The boss comforted him just now because in the boss's opinion, Layla would never have the problem of marrying far away!

"I'm sorry, boss, I-I said the wrong thing." Aqi immediately apologized when he heard Elliot's breathing became heavier.

Elliot remembered what Avery teased him just now on the way to get off work.

Not only was Chad afraid of him, but Aqi was also afraid of him.

Elliot didn't want the people around him to be afraid of him. If the people around him went to Avery for anything in the future, what would he save face?

"It's okay. Layla is still young, so I didn't think about it." Elliot pretended to be calm, "Your father-in-law and mother-in-law are still staying in the hotel?"

Aqi: "Yes! I and Katalina have both asked for leave today. I plan to take them around tomorrow."

"You call them now and ask them if they have eaten. Just say I want to invite them to dinner.” Elliot planned to help Aqi win the approval of the two elders of the Larson family.

Aqi was overwhelmed and slapped: “Boss, why is this so embarrassing?

You’ve been busy all day, and now I’m asking you to spend money...”

When Aqi said this, he found that Elliot’s face was gradually losing patience.

So Aqi changed his words: “Okay boss, I’ll let Katalina call her parents...”

“You call.” Elliot felt that his bodyguard might be a little silly.

It’s not too expressive.

No wonder Katalina’s parents were not satisfied with him.

He didn’t know how Katalina saw him.

“Oh...Okay, I’ll call.” Aqi immediately took out his mobile phone and called Katalina’s parents. Suddenly, he stopped, “Boss, I don’t have my parents-in-law’s number... I’ll ask Katalina...”

Elliot: “...”

If Elliot was Katalina’s father, Elliot would never agree to this marriage!

Aqi was so stupid!

Could Aqi take care of Katalina?

Katalina and Aqi were together, Elliot’s afraid they have found an eldest son for themselves!

After a while, Aqi got the number of Katalina’s father.

He called his father-in-law in front of Elliot. He didn’t know what he was thinking. After dialing the phone, he turned on the speakerphone and wanted to hear the call to Elliot.

Seeing his behavior, Elliot felt that he was a little weak. He was afraid that he wouldn’t speak to annoy Lincoln Larson when the phone got through, so he took the phone from his hand and turned off the speakerphone.

A few seconds later, Lincoln Larson answered the phone and asked who it was.

Elliot took the phone and walked into the yard.

Seeing that Elliot took Aqi's cell phone to talk on the phone, Katalina immediately walked over to Aqi and asked, "Is he calling my dad?"

"Well. The boss probably thought I was a little stupid, so he took the phone over..." Aqi still had a little self-knowledge.

Katalina was afraid that her father would not pay attention to what he said, so she immediately took out her mobile phone from her bag and called her mother.

"Mom, Mr. Foster is talking to dad, please don't talk nonsense!" Katalina said in a low voice, "Mr. Foster is the boss of Aqi, and he treats Aqi very well."

Laurel Larson: "Silly daughter, even if Elliot is with Aqi. It doesn't matter Aqi, we don't dare to offend Elliot! He invited us out to dinner. We are eating now!"

Chapter 2401

Katalina: "Then don't eat it yet! People invite you out to eat, why is it really for dinner!"

Laurel Larson: "Okay, I see, I will ask your father to agree."

"Well! We'll meet later." Katalina said and hung up the phone.

In the yard, Elliot also hung up the phone.

Elliot had to go out because he had an appointment with Laurel Larson to eat out.

"I'll go with you." Avery took her bag and walked to Elliot.

Elliot: "Didn't you say that you are very tired from work today? Or you can rest at home."

"I'm not tired now." Avery was in high spirits, "Have you chosen a restaurant? Hurry up and reserve your seat by calling! It's dinner time, and there are probably a lot of people everywhere.”

Elliot returned Aqi’s cell phone to him, and then took out his cell phone to order a restaurant.

After making the reservation, they got on the bus separately and went to the restaurant.

“Aqi, talk less and eat more.” Katalina was in the car and explained to Aqi, “I think your boss wants to help you.”

The two of them were in the same car, so Katalina didn’t have to worry about what Aqi said...

“Of course my boss wants to help me. I’m stupid!” Aqi said sullenly, “but I don’t think my boss speaks very nicely. He often makes Avery angry.”

Katalina: “People’s emotional intelligence absolutely kills ordinary people. You can see that he makes Avery angry because they are husband and wife...”

“My boss is even more rude to others. I think whether a person’s success is related to his emotional intelligence. It doesn’t matter that much. It mainly depends on the ability to make money.” Aqi has been working in the Foster family all the year round, and was deeply touched by this, “Hayden has an even more eccentric temper. He doesn’t say much...”

“People talk less, and they are less wrong. You are saying more and more mistakes.” Katalina attacked mercilessly.

Aqi felt that what his wife said made sense, so he shut up.

Arriving at the predetermined restaurant, the six met and sat down.

Soon the waiter started serving the food.

Laurel was a little shocked by the speed of serving food: “This restaurant serves food so fast!”

Aqi: “That’s because my boss is an honored guest of this restaurant. No matter when my boss comes, he will give priority to serving my boss.”

Laurel made an ‘oh’ with an embarrassed look on her face.

Katalina kicked Aqi under the table, telling him not to rush to speak.

Aqi immediately lowered his head and picked up the water glass to drink water.

“Uncle, auntie, Aqi has been working with me for many years. Others are not bad, but he’s stupid and can’t speak. Occasionally speaking, they are not likeable.” Elliot opened his mouth to break the awkward atmosphere.

Elliot’s voice was settled, and Laurel nodded again and again.

“I can see that the Aqi is not bad, and he is also good to our family, but he is not popular. In my heart, it’s like blocking a stone, and I’m not feeling well!”

Laurel expressed her feelings, “last time Katalina almost had an accident, so we looked down on her a lot. If it wasn’t for that time, we would have taken Katalina away long ago, and we wouldn’t let her continue to suffer here. Mr. Foster, let me tell you the truth. Well, our family is not short of money...”

Elliot fully understood Laurel’s mood.

After Laurel finished speaking, Elliot said slowly: “Aqi has a villa worth $30 million in the third ring road. There is a suite in the core area of the city center, with a large flat floor, more than 200 square meters. The value should not be lower than that A villa. In addition, Aqi’s income has been handed over to me to help him over the years. On the way over tonight, I asked my financial advisor, and Aqi’s current property has increased tenfold. “

Lincoln and Laurel: “...”

Katalina: “...”

Katalina took out her mobile phone and sent a message to Aqi: [Don’t you only have one villa? Why is there another set of large flats?]

Aqi: [I don’t have a large flat. My boss lied to your parents.]

Chapter 2402

Katalina didn't expect Elliot to be such a person.

Lies came as soon as they opened their mouths, and the face was light and calm, and there was no flaw at all. This position, high, was really too high!

Aqi continued to send a message to Katalina and confessed his financial situation: [I did deposit the money with my boss before, but before the two of us got the certificate, I asked him to get the money back. All that money is in the card I gave you.]

Katalina: [Mmmm. Your boss said this to make my parents look up to you.

Your boss is very nice. Let's listen to your boss and don't demolish it.]

Aqi: [I know. I have to listen to my boss first and then to you.]

Katalina couldn't help laughing.

The reason why she resolutely decided to marry Aqi is precisely because of Aqi's straightforward personality.

Sometimes it's too blunt and a bit silly.

She had never seen someone who showed everything on their face like this.

When she was with Aqi, she didn't have to guess his thoughts, she was relaxed every moment, this was the way she liked and yearned to get along.

When her parents asked her if she was really considering marrying Aqi, she gave her parents a firm reply.

She said that she would not marry anyone except Aqi.

The two elders of the Larson family were not as stubborn as before after experiencing the situation where their daughter was almost killed last time.

If marrying Aqi was a wrong choice, she would be able to turn back when her daughter hit the southern wall in the future.

"Uncle, auntie, since Aqi married Katalina, you are a family. Aqi's apartment in the city center is not bad, why don't you leave the hotel tonight and live there. You are not going to go shopping tomorrow. Can you go shopping? You can go to the city center first, it's convenient to live there." Elliot arranged.

After listening to Elliot talking about Aqi's real estate and savings, the two elders of the Larson family changed their attitude towards Aqi slightly.

The main reason was that Elliot spoke so nicely, which made people feel at ease.

Unlike Aqi, stupid couldn't say a few pleasant words, and liked to stare at people with those big dark eyes.

Although they knew that Aqi was not malicious when he stared at them, they were just not satisfied that he was not decent enough.

Look how nice Elliot spoke! Successful people were different!

Looking at Elliot's face, the two elders of the Larson family decided to follow Elliot's persuasion and move to Aqi's Daping floor in the city center tonight.

So the two elders looked at Aqi, wanting to see his attitude –

They saw that Aqi's head was lowered a little bit, and he didn't dare to look up at anyone.

The two elders thought they had lost their way.

Then they fixed his eyes on Aqi again.

This time, Aqi's head was almost lowered to the bottom of the table.

The two old people understood! What Aqi meant was that he was unwilling to let them live on the large flat floor!

Ha ha! The two elders were furious in their hearts and turned to look at their daughter.

The daughter, who had always been generous, turned her head down and avoided their sight just like Aqi!

If it wasn't for Elliot and Avery, the two elders would definitely have slapped the table and left!

Chapter 2403

"Aqi!" Seeing this, Elliot called Aqi immediately.

When Aqi heard the boss's call, he immediately raised his head: "Boss! What's wrong!"

Elliot: "Come out."

Elliot finished his words and got up from his chair immediately.

Aqi immediately got up and followed Elliot out.

As soon as the two of them went out, Laurel immediately questioned her daughter: "Of course, Aqi doesn't want to let us live in the house, right? If he has a problem, he can tell us without lowering his head to the ground... It's really embarrassing. I You can't afford to lose this person with your father." Katalina wanted to cry without tears, but it was hard to say that what Elliot just said was a lie to them.

"Aqi is not that kind of person. Mom, why don't you live in his villa! His villa is well decorated, and he hires a part-time worker to clean it every week. It's very clean..." Katalina said enthusiastically, "His villa is not too far away, it is on the edge of the third ring road. It takes less than an hour to drive from the hotel you are staying in!"

"No!" Laurel was angry, "I will stay at the hotel with your father, the hotel It's good. It won't be popular with us."

"Hey, Mom, we didn't want to be angry with you. I told you at the beginning to let you live in his villa, but you wouldn't... I don't know. Why are you so angry with Aqi."

"He lied to my daughter, can I not be angry?" Laurel said angrily.

Seeing that Katalina couldn't control the situation, Avery immediately spoke up: "Auntie, calm down. If Aqi is inconsiderate towards Ranran in the future, we will definitely help Ranran. We will definitely not let Ranran be wronged. You and uncle can rest assured."

After listening to Avery's words, Laurel changed her face in an instant, and looked at Avery with a smile: "Avery, we are relieved with your words. In fact, we didn't mean to show Aqi's face, mainly It's our hearts that are uncomfortable. A good daughter, married so far. An An, you have a daughter too, you should be able to understand our feelings."

"I understand. If I were you, I would also pick on Aqi's fault. However, young, now I don't know how to be sympathetic to my parents. When she becomes a mother in the future, she will definitely understand how you and your uncle are feeling now." Avery picked up the teapot and refilled the cup for Laurel. Avery's words touched the heart of Laurel.

Laurel nodded again and again.

At this time, Elliot and Aqi finished their conversation and walked into the private room.

A big smile spread across Aqi's face. Because he laughed too hard, a bunch of folds were squeezed out of his face.

Katalina was confused by his penetrating smile.

Katalina coughed dryly and cleared her throat, trying to make Aqi normal, otherwise it would scare her parents.

"Dad, Mom, I'll have dinner later, and Ranran and I will take you to my suite in the city center. It's convenient to go anywhere there. There are shopping malls and commercial streets across the street. If you want quiet, you can go to the back of the community There is a big lake, and the scenery is very good. Go shopping during the day and take a walk by the lake in the evening, you can not only watch the scenery, but also exercise!" Aqi's mouth was as sweet as honey.

The two elders of the Li family were a little overwhelmed.

Katalina was also embarrassed.

After the dinner, Aqi and Katalina sent the old couple to the hotel to check out and pick up their luggage.

Elliot and Avery went home.

After getting in the car, Avery held Elliot's big palm and asked with a smile, "The Daping floor in the city center is yours, right? When you said Daping floor, you didn't see how flustered Aqi and Ke Ran were. "

That house is a wedding gift for them. What do you think?" Elliot asked.

"I think it's pretty good! Ke Ran has helped us a lot despite the danger.

Besides, Aqi has worked by your side for so long, and it's perfectly fine to give him a wedding room." Avery expressed his feelings, "Actually It's not that Ke Ran's parents don't like Aqi, but they are reluctant to let their daughter marry away."

"I know." Elliot changed his words, "So I will never let Rila leave me in the future. She can only settle in City A."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Do you think your daughter will listen to you? Don't say she won't listen to you now, and she won't be under your control when she grows up."

Chapter 2404

Elliot: "May be Layla doesn't listen to me, but she listens to you always. Do you have the heart that your daughter will leave us at that time? You don't want to and I also don't want to. So you usually have to instill this idea in her.

In the future, she must not find a boyfriend from abroad, nor from outside the province.”

“Husband, don’t think so much.” Avery patted Elliot’s Shoulder, “My daughter is still young, and the marriage event is still early!”

“Wife, you are my reassurance.” Elliot said and felt much better.

Avery: “Haha, it’s useless to be anxious about this kind of thing. Sometimes the more you are afraid, the more you will come. So it’s best not to think about anything until it doesn’t happen.”

Elliot: “Well.”

.....

Neighboring City.

After the mother-in-law took Siena home, Siena took out a candy from her schoolbag and handed it to her mother-in-law and said, “The teacher gave it to me.”

The mother-in-law took the candy and asked, “Why did the teacher give you candy? Did the teacher give it to other children too?”

“Because no one is playing with me, the teacher is afraid that I will cry.” Siena put down her schoolbag, and said, “I didn’t cry today. They don’t play with me, I’m not so sad anymore.”

The mother-in-law tore the candy wrapper and fed the candy into Siena’s mouth.

The mother-in-law: “Siena, there will definitely be brave children who will be friends with you.”

“Mother-in-law, won’t you let me eat candy? It will cause tooth decay.” Siena reminded.

“It’s okay to eat candy occasionally. Because you are working too hard now.

Mother-in-law loves you.” The mother-in-law held Siena’s hand and walked towards the dining room, “Miss has gone to Avonsville, and she may have to work there. In the future, the two of us will live together.”

Siena: “Oh, mother-in-law, can you take me out to play often?”

“Yes! But the temperature is too cold to play outside.” The mother-in-law brought the cooked food to the table. “Can you eat enough at school?”

Siena thought for a while, then shook her head: “I don’t dare to add food. I’m afraid that if I eat too much, the other children won’t have enough.”

“Silly child, just take care of yourself. How can you do it when you are hungry?” Mother-in-law took chopsticks and served Siena with vegetables.

“You are easy to suffer like this.”

“Mother-in-law, I am not afraid of losing. As long as I can be with my mother-in-law every day after school, I will be very happy.” Siena showed a bright smile.

“You silly girl. Let me take good care of you before the Miss leaves, and the Miss also cares about you very much.” The mother-in-law sat down in the dining chair and looked at Siena, “I really hope I can live in such a peaceful and quiet life.”

“Why not? Who would like me when I look like this? Bad people will be scared when they see me.” Siena took a deep breath and smiled to cheer herself and her mother-in-law.

“The scar on your face is used to scare bad people. Siena, don’t feel inferior. It’s useless to look good, you have to be strong inside. You must always remember that you are no worse than anyone. Others scold you and laugh at you. but it can’t affect you. You will definitely live better than those who laugh at you in the future.” Mother-in-law encouraged.

Siena nodded and started eating.

.....

11 o' clock at night.

Avery received a message from Katalina.

Avery was actually ready to go to bed. Before going to bed, she picked up her phone and checked the time. While looking at the time, she saw the message from Katalina.

Sister Avery, my mother chatted with me just now and said that Norah came to Avonsville. Let me pay attention. I don't think she should come to trouble me anymore. But I am worried that she will hurt you. So let me tell you, you will be prepared in the future.

Avery read the message and immediately replied: [OK, thank you for reminding me. We will pay attention. Are your parents resting? Did they feel better after they moved in?]

Katalina: [I really thank you and Mr. Foster tonight. Thank you even more for giving us the house. This gift is too expensive, I don't think I can accept it, but Aqi said he has promised to accept it. He is really too straight. If I were polite again, I would be so hypocritical.]

Chapter 2405

Avery: [Hahaha! Aqi is so good. You have helped us before, and Aqi is dedicated to his work. We are very relieved to have him protecting Layla. If you have any questions in the future, please let us know at any time. Don't be too outspoken.]

Katalina: [OK. Sister Avery, rest early.]

Avery: [Well. you should also rest earlier.]

After sending the text message, Avery prepared to rest.

Elliot's voice came from behind.

“Still asleep?” Elliot didn’t fall asleep, he closed his eyes and felt the light coming from her side, so he opened his eyes.

“Katalina sent me a message. She said that her mother told her that Norah came to Avonsville.” Avery turned to face Elliot, “Although Norah has no power or power now, we still need to pay attention. After that, who knows what her heart is twisted into.”

“I will send someone to watch her tomorrow.” Elliot reassured her, “She is in Aryadelle and can’t find a decent job. I have blocked her. If When she comes out, I’ll know her news as soon as possible. But I haven’t heard from her, so she shouldn’t do anything at the moment.”

“Oh... maybe she just returned to Aryadelle!” Avery said this, yawned, “Husband, let’s sleep! I’m sleepy.”

Elliot: “Well.”

Elliot put his arms around her waist and patted her back with his generous palms.

After a while, Avery’s breathing gradually became even.

After she fell asleep, Elliot gently retracted his hand, turned his back, picked up the phone, found the detective’s number, and sent a message: [Is there any news about Sasha Johnstone?]

Detective: [Not yet. She had plastic surgery and was not easy to find.]

Elliot: [Norah has returned to Aryadelle, you should focus on Norah. Norah must be looking for Sasha too. Maybe she has found it.]

Detective: [Good.]

The next day, 10 o’clock in the morning.

Tate Industries.

Avery met Gloria Wiens.

After seeing Gloria Wiens, Avery's first feeling was that she was a gentle girl. Gloria Wiens looked smarter than the photo on her resume, her eyes were as gentle as water, and she looked like a good girl who followed the rules.

Gloria Wiens was very tall, making her look very tall and slender. Although she was tall, she did not feel oppressive.

"Gloria, sit down." Avery brought a bottle of mineral water to her, "Where did you come from? The HR manager told me yesterday afternoon that you are not available."

"Yes, I just graduated this year, and I still live now. In the house I rented from the university before." Gloria looked at Avery and answered cautiously.

"Well. You are from Yonroeville. You choose to work in Aryadelle now. Do your family support you?" Avery asked.

"My family supports my work. Aryadelle is better than Yonroeville in every way. When I was in college, my mother accompanied me here, and she liked it very much." Gloria replied in an orderly manner.

Avery: "I've been to Yonroeville before. The capital of Yonroeville is actually pretty good."

Gloria: "Yonroeville is very poor except for the capital. Aryadelle is better."

"You won a gold medal in a tea art competition, right?" Avery asked her curious question, and at the same time, she glanced at her wrist, "I see journalism as a major in your university."

Chapter 2406

"Yes. I don't like everything related to tea art, my family let me learn it. This is why I was going abroad to study at university. I don't want to be arranged by my family to do something again." Gloria chatted with her, not forgetting her purpose.

Avery was completely different from what she imagined.

At least for now, Avery was not like that kind of vicious person.

“Gloria, is it convenient to ask what’s the matter with the scar on your wrist?”

Avery checked the scar on her wrist a few times, it looked like she had cut her wrist.

Gloria didn’t expect that Avery would see her wrist, and she felt a little uneasy.

“When I decided to go to university in Aryadelle, I had a fight with my family. My father didn’t want me to study abroad.” Gloria said calmly, “Sometimes I have to pay a price to win something. This is me The price to pay for freedom.”

Avery nodded, and the picture of her cutting her wrists had already been made up in her mind.

“Although I sympathize with your experience, it’s too extreme to force death. You only have one life. If there is an accident, everything will end.” Avery, out of a doctor’s instinct, was very repulsive of this kind of behavior.

Gloria: “If there was another way at the time, I wouldn’t be so extreme.”

The expression on Gloria’s face was a little uncomfortable, probably recalling the scene at that time.

“How is your relationship with your family now?” Avery asked.

“Much better.” Gloria was afraid that Avery would be worried because of this, so she said, “They don’t interfere in my affairs now.”

“That’s good. I have another question. When you chose to study abroad, why did you choose Aryadelle among so many countries? Do you have any friends here? Or is it for other reasons?” Avery asked After this problem, she picked up the water glass and took a sip.

Gloria lowered her eyes and thought for a while, and then returned unhurriedly: "I choose Aryadelle, the main reason is that it is far enough from my hometown, but not too far. I don't know if you understand my feelings. If Being too close to my hometown, I would worry about my parents wanting to control my life at any time, but at the same time I also love my family very much, and when I miss them, I can go back at any time."

Avery understood her feelings: "You are right. What are the salary requirements?"

"I am a fresh graduate and have no work experience. If you are willing to give me a chance, I don't care how much the salary is." Gloria said truthfully.

"Speaking of which, I have another question. Before you submit your resume to Sterling Group, did you read their recruitment requirements?" Avery was afraid that her question would scare her, so she smiled lightly.

Gloria also smiled: "Maybe it's a new born calf that's not afraid of tigers! I saw a lot of people on Facebook saying that if you can join Sterling Group, you can learn a lot, so I voted with the mentality of giving it a try."

Avery: "A lot more strict. Because there are many people who send their resumes to them. And the position only needs one person, so they have a lot of choices."

"Miss Tate, there should be many people who send their resumes here? Tate Industries is also a very excellent and powerful company. If I knew that you are also recruiting assistants, I would definitely vote for you." Gloria began to guess the probability of her being selected.

From Avery's attitude, she couldn't guess what she was thinking at all.

Avery was very polite and gentle to her, which made Gloria feel that Avery liked her very much.

But Gloria also knew clearly that a person like Avery must be slender, and greet everyone with a smile. Therefore, Gloria was very uncertain.

“Yes, there are a lot of people who have submitted their resumes to us.

Because I checked the corporate information of the Tate Industries, it can be found that the company’s major shareholder is actually Elliot. If you can’t enter the Sterling Group, you can be considered a member of the Tate Industries. A good choice. Sometimes companies from both sides will participate in activities and networking events together.” Avery answered patiently.

Gloria nodded: “Miss Tate, you are not what I imagined. I checked the questions that a general HR would ask, and people usually ask you if you can work overtime, whether you can adapt to high-intensity work, whether you are married, and whether you will be married in the future. Questions about whether or not to have children in two years.”

Chapter 2407

“Hahaha! Did you find a job after graduation?” Avery was amused by her words.

“No. I was hesitant to take the postgraduate entrance exam some time ago. I just decided not to take the exam recently.” Gloria introduced her situation to her in detail, “I never thought about getting married. Maybe I will never get married in my life. I can accept overtime and high-intensity work...”

Avery’s smile froze: “Gloria, why don’t you consider getting married? If you come to work here, we won’t have children because of your marriage. And deduct your benefits, and even force you to leave. There are many female employees in our company, if you don’t believe what I said, you can ask them.”

Gloria shook her head: "I don't get married because the person I like is dead. I'm done."

Avery was speechless.

Gloria: "Sorry!"

"It's okay. Even if he doesn't die, he won't marry me." Gloria pulled out a bitter smile, "He has someone he likes, but it's not me."

Avery: "..."

Avery didn't know what to say for a while. As if something was stuck in her throat, she couldn't speak.

"Miss Tate, do you think I'm a little stupid? Even though he doesn't like me, I still give up on him? I find it ridiculous myself." Seeing that Avery didn't speak, Gloria laughed at herself to ease the atmosphere.

"You can try to make more friends. He doesn't like you, which means he's not your real person." Avery advised.

"It's not that he doesn't like me. When he is with me in private, he treats me very well, but he has his pressure. Miss Tate, our Yonroeville is not as developed as Aryadelle, even people's thoughts, and they all have heavy shackles." When Gloria said this, her nose was slightly sour, "That's why I came out."

Avery nodded: "Gloria, since you came out of Yonroeville, I-I hope you can get out of that relationship too."

"At least I can't let it go. Maybe I will figure it out later! Doesn't the book say that time can dilute everything?" Gloria laughed.

"Well. When can you come to work?" Avery asked after finishing the heavy topic.

Gloria was stunned for a moment.

Could she come to work?

Avery wanted her?

Didn't Avery say that there were a lot of people who submitted resumes to the Tate Industries? Avery decided to hire her so quickly?

Gloria felt like she was dreaming.

"I can go to work anytime. I can go to work now." Gloria's cheeks flushed with excitement.

Avery smiled and said, "Don't you live in Avonsville? If you come to work, you will have to rent a house. How about you join next Monday? I'll have HR send you an offer later."

Gloria: "Renting is easy. Yes, I can do it today."

Avery: "Then you come to work tomorrow?"

Chapter 2408

icked up the water glass, and took a sip.

Thinking that Elliot said last night that she asked her to talk about her feelings after interviewing Gloria, she called Elliot.

Elliot answered the phone in seconds.

Avery teased: "You are fishing! Answering the phone so quickly."

Elliot: "Then let's make a video call!"

Elliot hung up the phone and dialed the video call for her.

Avery took over the video call with a smile.

On the screen of the mobile phone, Elliot's figure suddenly appeared.

He's in the office, but he's not alone. In his office, several executives stood.

Elliot turned the camera to the back, so Avery could see it clearly.

Although those executives couldn't see Avery's face, Avery blushed.

"Okay, I know you haven't fished. Since you're busy, hang up. Call me later when you're not busy." Avery said awkwardly.

Elliot: "It's not very busy either. You must have something to do with me. You can talk to me first! They won't have any opinions."

"I'm fine. Didn't you ask me to tell you my feelings during the interview last night? There are so many people on your side. I'll tell you later." Avery hung up the video call after she finished speaking...

Elliot put down the phone.

An executive said, "Mr. Foster, what is Ms. Tate interviewing? Isn't she the boss of the Tate Industries?"

Another executive said, "Ms. Tate means she is interviewing others, right? Isn't she also hiring assistants?"

"Oh, how does she feel about interviewing others... Mr. Foster, you and Ms. Tate have such a good relationship! You have to make a special call to talk about such trivial matters. Hahaha!"

"What's so funny? Boss Having a good relationship with the lady boss is something we should learn from! If you have a harmonious family relationship, you can work better in your career."

"Mmmm! But if Ms. Tate is inexperienced in recruiting assistants, you can ask our personnel department to help you recruit together!"

Elliot : "She has already been recruited."

Although Avery didn't say that in the phone video call just now, Elliot guessed it.

Avery's tone was more relaxed just now, presumably because the chat with Gloria was smoother.

"So fast? Who did she hire? Was it recommended by us? I heard from the HR department that they recommended some good women."

“Well. She was indeed recommended by us.”

“It seems that Ms. Tate still trusts the talents we select.”

Elliot: “You have too many brains. She didn’t choose the best.”

Everyone: “...”

Elliot knew why Avery chose Gloria. Just because Gloria was from Yonroeville. And Haze had been lost in Yonroeville.

Avery must still be thinking about Yonroeville and Haze.

Although recruiting Gloria to be an assistant might not be of any help in finding Haze, there was a trace of solace in her heart.

Not long after Gloria came out of Tate Industries, she received a call from Tate Industries’s HR manager.

“Hello, Miss Wiens, my boss asked me to send you an offer, but you didn’t talk about salary.” The HR manager couldn’t hold back, laughed for a few minutes in the office, and then called Gloria, “Your ideal salary how many?”

Chapter 2409

Gloria: “Miss Tate asked me, I said I have no requirements. Just give it according to the minimum standard for this position.”

HR manager: “Our basic salary for this position is $20,000 to $30,000 , so I’ll give you $20,000 first. If it can be turned into a regular in the later stage, the salary can be adjusted. We are here to adjust the salary once every six months, which is determined according to work performance.”

“Thank you! This salary is already very high, I am very satisfied, I will definitely work hard.” Gloria’s mood was a little complicated.

There was some joy. Because the interview went so well.

Avery didn’t dislike her lack of work experience, she was very surprised.

In addition to joy, Gloria began to worry about whether she was qualified for the job, and whether she could find out the truth of the Jobin family annihilation case from Avery.

...

In the afternoon, Norah came out of the unit building carrying the garbage. She planned to drop by the barber shop outside the community to have her hair cut.

After coming out of the community, within two minutes, she felt that someone was following her behind her.

It's daytime. Although the weather was a bit cloudy today, there were cars coming and going around, and passersby pass by from time to time, so she was not particularly afraid.

She walked to an alley ahead, turned immediately, and turned in.

The man who followed her came to the alley after a while.

"Who are you? Why are you following me?" Norah said sharply.

The man was wearing a mask, but he could still see a bit of confusion in his eyes.

It was estimated that Norah would block him.

"Are you from Elliot?" Norah guessed, "I don't think I did anything wrong?"

"Miss Jones, you are a smart girl, so I don't speak secretly. You offended Mr. Foster before, and Mr. Foster sent someone to stare at you." The man said confidently.

"Oh...it really is him." Norah was suddenly relieved, "I'm going to cut and wash my hair, do you want to come with me? I invite you."

"No. You do your business, leave me alone..." The man followed her and walked towards the barber shop.

Norah: "You told Elliot that I went back to Aryadelle because my parents were in Aryadelle. I have nothing left, and I will never kill him again.”

“What are your plans next?” the man asked.

“I’m not very well, the doctor asked me to rest for a while. I’ll see what I plan to do next year!” Norah said with a desireless tone, “Your job now is to stare at me? How cold is the weather now? Ah, I basically stay at home all day long. Why don’t you come to my house! There will be someone to talk to. Otherwise, I will be bored at home alone, and it will be boring.”

Man: “...”

About Half an hour later, Sasha received a message from Norah.

—Sasha, I was stared at by Elliot’s people, and we won’t meet again. We will talk about anything in the text message.

Sasha didn’t live with Norah, so she’s not particularly worried.

As long as she keeps a distance from Norah, there shouldn’t be any danger.

But she still had to be careful.

Norah’s side was not very reliable.

After a short thought, Sasha quickly packed her luggage and left the community with her suitcase.

She didn’t check out with the landlord.

She paid three months rent for her house and a one-month deposit, which has not expired yet. Even if she told the landlord to move out, the landlord would not return the money to her.

Moreover, Norah had been targeted now, and it was not suitable for her to make any moves at this time.

In the evening, Norah called Sasha.

“Sasha, where are you now?” Norah said, “You’d better live in another place! I’m afraid that Elliot’s people will find you.”

"I've moved." Sasha said calmly.

"That's good. I called you to share some good news with you." Norah said lightly.

Chapter 2410

Sasha is interested: "What good news?"

"Didn't I recommend someone to submit a resume to apply for Elliot's assistant? That person passed the re-examination." Norah was full of confidence, "I know Elliot's preferences too well. Now everything is under my control."

Sasha: "Norah, you are being watched by Elliot's people now. Can't do anything?"

"It's really inconvenient to move, but I don't need to come forward for many things. If the person I'm looking for can successfully become Elliot's assistant, then Elliot's every move will be under our control. If the woman you mentioned with the scar on her hand goes to Elliot, we will know right away."

Norah said confidently.

"Yeah. Norah, you still have two brushes. You should pay attention to your own safety." Sasha said here, doubting, "Are we safe to talk now?"

Norah: "Haha! My mobile number is not from Aryadelle. Besides, they don't need to monitor us. The things you did back then were all instructed by me, and they won't trouble you. Elliot has already punished me for that, and now as long as I don't act rashly, he won't do anything to me."

"You put it lightly. Since Elliot sent someone to follow you, he must have his intentions. Maybe he wants to find me through you. It's entirely possible. If I knew where his daughter is, it would be easy to say. The key is that I don't f*cking know where his daughter is. What if he finds me and forces me to find his daughter to atone for his sin?" Sasha thought of this, and panicked.

“Sasha, don’t panic. Even if they see you now, they won’t necessarily recognize you. Besides, until the clues come out, you hide well, they can’t find you.” Norah comforted her, “Look at me, don’t you still eat and drink now? You won’t be worse than me at worst, don’t worry!”

“Is the person you’re looking for reliable? Don’t sell you out.” Sasha reminded.

Norah: “What did he betray me? I pushed him to be Elliot’s assistant, and didn’t let him assassinate Elliot. If he told Elliot that I packed him in, Elliot might dismiss him immediately. He didn’t dare to backstab me at all. “

“Yes. Then we will keep in touch.” Sasha once again established a trace of trust in Norah.

Norah: “Sasha, you didn’t tell me when you moved. Did you feel so scared that you didn’t want to associate with me after I sent you a message that I was being targeted?”

Sasha: “It’s a human being to seek benefits and avoid harm. If I were targeted by Elliot, you would stay far away from me.”

Norah chuckled softly: “We are the same kind.”

...

Tate Industries.

Jesse Caldwell sent his plan to Avery’s mailbox.

Afraid that Avery wouldn’t remember to read it, Jesse knocked on Avery’s office door after sending the email.

Jesse: “Ms. Tate, I sent the plan to your email. Remember to read it!”

“Okay, I will read it at night if I’m not busy. If I don’t read it at night, I will read it tomorrow.” After Avery received the email just now, she thought she sent a message to Jesse, but Elliot’s message came at that time.

After the two of them started work, Elliot would send her messages every day in his spare time.

Avery would be asked what she would like to eat every day before dinner.

Outside of meal time, Elliot would ask her what she was doing, if she was busy, she would say she was busy, and if she was busy, he would ask her what she was busy with.

In short, as soon as he was free, his message would be sent.

They were never that close when they were in love.

Chapter 2411

“Okay, are you going to get off work?” Jesse glanced at the time and asked.

Avery responded.

Just now Elliot sent Avery a message to remind her to get off work.

“Mr. Caldwell, do you have anything else to do?” Avery asked.

“I have nothing to do, I just want to talk to you... But if you are in a hurry to get off work, then you should get off work! I have nothing to do with it...”

Jesse said with a bright smile.

Avery looked at him and became curious: “What’s the matter? Tell me! Elliot won’t come to pick me up today, I’m not in a hurry to get off work!”

Jesse: “Oh, why didn’t Mr. Foster come to pick you up? Is he busy? “

“I didn’t let him come.” Avery looked at Jesse and guessed, “Are you asking me for something? Is it money or...”

Jesse made a ‘puff’, burst out laughing: “I really don’t have any major issues... I just wonder why you chose Gloria as your assistant. I looked at her resume, but I really didn’t see anything outstanding. This morning I’ve seen her too, and I think she’s quite shy. With this kind of personality, are you sure she can be a good assistant?”

Avery breathed a sigh of relief: "It's for this! She's not as shy as you think. I Chatting with her, I feel that she is very organized and has no problem doing things."

"Why did you decide to hire her? I want to know what you think. Because you only interviewed her one, you decided to have her. I took a look. If you choose any of the many resumes sent to Human Resources, they are better than her." Jesse wanted to know what her working style and principles were. After all, Avery came to work, and the two of them had to live together next, and it would be better to get to know each other more.

"First of all, I have read her resume carefully. I think she is actually very good in addition to having no work experience." Avery told him her thoughts,

"Secondly, I was quite in sync with her chatting..."

"Ms. Tate, as far as I know, you have an easy-going personality, so you should be in harmony with everyone, right? I haven't heard that you have a bad relationship with anyone. I haven't heard anyone say anything bad about you." Jesse shrugged, "There must be other reasons for you to hire her, right?"

Avery blushed when he asked the question: "Okay, because she is from the Yonroeville. Don't ask me why I have to recruit people from Yonroeville, I just want to do it."

Jesse got the answer and was satisfied: "Okay, I know. But if her work ability is too poor, do you want to keep her too?"

"I don't think she should be that bad." Avery smiled with confidence.

Jesse: "Okay! Then let's watch her performance together next!"

...

It's dinner time.

Elliot saw that Avery was absent-minded, so he took a piece of meat for her and asked, "What are you thinking about! You are so inattentive. Eat well when you are eating, otherwise it will be bad for digestion."

"When I got off work, the vice president asked me why I had to Hire Gloria. I couldn't resist what he asked, so I told the truth." Avery put the meat in the bowl into her mouth and continued, "Am I being very emotional? I feel like the vice president wants to question it that if she's capable."

Elliot thought it was a big deal, but he didn't expect it was for this trance.

"It's just an assistant. Even if she doesn't know anything, it won't affect the overall development of the company." Elliot comforted, "If you go back on your words, you don't have to turn her into a regular. You can hire another experienced assistant."

Chapter 2412

"Look at her performance first. I think as long as she has a good attitude, she should be able to get started soon. After all, no one can do everything right after graduation." Avery quickly figured out, "Let's eat!"

"It's over." Elliot put down the bowl and chopsticks and glanced at the rice in her bowl, "You just ate a chopstick of rice for a few minutes."

"Is it such an exaggeration?" Avery blushed and changed the subject, "How's the assistant recruiting? There are a lot of high-end talents who have sent you resumes, right? You should be very good at recruiting people."

"The HR department has already started interviewing." Elliot replied, "I'll wait until the HR side has passed. "

Avery: "You don't care about this at all? You recruit people yourself, and you don't offer snacks."

"It's just assistants. Those who can meet the recruitment requirements I listed are basically not bad." Elliot said calmly.

“Ability is one aspect. Whether you can talk or not is also very important.

Look at how compatible you are with Chad!” Avery was full of praise for Chad.

Elliot: “There are very few two people who have a natural fit. When we first met, did we have the same fit now? How do you know that Chad and I have a fit from the beginning?”

Avery was stunned for a moment.

“Although we didn’t fit in well at first.” Avery decided to tease him, “the first time I saw you, I was attracted by your handsome face.”

Elliot: “...”

“Before you were in a vegetative state, I would stare at your face for a long time every day. Not only did I look with my eyes, but I also used my hands...”

Avery showed a proud expression Looking at him, “Others say that love at first sight in this world is just a matter of seeing, and I think there is some truth to it. Although you have a bad temper, you are good-looking! If you are crooked, you will see that I can’t bear you.”

Elliot pursed his thin lips and said nothing. After a while, he recalled: “You are praising me for being good-looking.”

“Do you think you are ugly?” Avery retorted.

“It’s not ugly, but it’s not too handsome either.” Elliot had a clear understanding of his appearance, “It’s the appearance of a normal person with decent facial features.”

Avery almost spit out the meal she just ate.

She had seen so many men, how could Elliot be classified as handsome.

“Then what do you think of me?” Avery was afraid that Elliot would be angry with herself, so she said cheekily, “When others see me, they praise me for being beautiful.”

Elliot was afraid of her pride, so he glanced at her lightly: "It's alright! "

"It's just okay? How do you usually do Quarilla? You say that Layla is the most beautiful little girl in the world. You also say that Layla looks exactly like me, and that Layla is the most beautiful little girl. Now, am I not the most beautiful woman?" Avery argued with him.

Elliot: "Avery, don't you care about your appearance?"

"Yeah! I don't care, but I care about your opinion." Avery put down the tableware and dragged him into the room, "The child is watching, let's go to the room."

Elliot glanced at the living room.

Robert stared at them with big eyes.

It was estimated that the little guy judged in his heart whether his parents were quarreling.

"Mom and dad, what are you doing? Don't you two fight!" Robert ran to the stairs and yelled at them.

"Don't be afraid, baby, I didn't quarrel with your mother, we went to the room to talk about things." Elliot explained to his son patiently, for fear of his son's misunderstanding.

"Oh..." Robert watched his parents disappear in front of his eyes, and after standing there for a few seconds, he ran towards his sister's room, "Sister, play with me!"

Layla was doing her homework.

The final exam was approaching, and she had a lot of homework lately.

Chapter 2413

Layla: "Don't bother me! I haven't finished my homework yet!"

Robert stood beside her sister with a look of grievance, daring not to move or talk nonsense.

Layla looked at Robert's pitiful appearance, like coaxing a puppy, and patted his head: "Sister hasn't finished her homework! Go to Mom and Dad!"

"The two of them went to the room to talk about things, I don't know. What are they talking about, the doors are closed." Robert snorted, "No one is playing with me."

"Where's Grandma Cooper?" Layla asked.

"I don't want to play with Grandma Cooper. I want to play with you, with Mom and Dad." Robert pursed his mouth and made his request.

"I told you that I didn't finish my homework. If I play with you, and I don't do well in the exam, then I can't go out to play." Layla was a little worried.

How could Robert understand her sister's mood?

"If you can't go out to play, then play with me at home! Sister, I like to play with you the most!" Robert grabbed her sister's hand and pouted her coquettishly.

Layla's love for Robert vanished in an instant, and she was angry.

"Go away! If I can't go out to play during the winter vacation, I won't play with you either! If you keep arguing with me on my homework, I'll beat you!"

Robert burst into tears when Layla became angry.

Robert ran out of her sister's room crying and went to beat her parents' door.

In the master bedroom, Elliot and Avery just took off their clothes, and before they could do anything, they were startled by their son's cries and knocks on the door.

The faces of the two were crimson, with helpless and complicated emotions flashing in their eyes.

"Why is my son crying?" When Elliot said this, he had already got out of bed, picked up the clothes on the ground, and put them on.

“He cries so hard, he must have quarreled with Layla.” Avery pulled the quilt up and lay down, “Go and coax him, I’ll lie down for a while.”

“Then wait for me, I’ll be there soon.” Elliot looked at her affectionately.

Avery received the message from his eyes, and her face burned again.

Avery: “You go to coax the child first! It’s so noisy, how does Layla do her homework?”

“Well.” Elliot put on his pants and strode towards the door.

Soon, Elliot carried his son downstairs, and the little guy’s cry gradually stopped.

“Dad, what are you talking about with my mom in the room?” Robert’s eyes were red from crying, but now he has calmed down and his mind is very clear, “Have you talked about it?”

Elliot rolled his Adam’s apple and tried to calm down and replied: “We’re almost done talking.”

“Oh...then why didn’t my mother come down? I cried so loudly that my mother didn’t even come to see me...” Robert said, his mouth was shriveled again, as if he was about to cry again.

Elliot: “...”

“Your mother went to see your sister to do her homework.” Elliot made up a lie, “Your sister is about to take the exam, and there is a lot of homework now. When your sister is doing homework in the future, don’t quarrel with her, okay?”

“You don’t even play with me, and you still think I’m noisy, woohoo!” Robert rubbed his eyes with both hands, not to mention how wronged he was.

“Okay, don’t cry, Dad is playing with you. Isn’t Dad playing with you?” Elliot took his son to the toy area and played with him with toys.

Master bedroom.

Avery waited for a while and saw that Elliot was not there, so she opened her mobile phone mailbox to see the plan sent by the vice president.

Chapter 2414

After a few minutes, the expression on Avery's face became stunned and incredible.

She immediately found Jesse's number and dialed it.

"Ms. Tate, do you have anything to do with me?" Jesse received her call, a little surprised, "Have you eaten yet?"

"Mr. Caldwell, I just read your plan, you said you want to hire a spokesperson, I don't think it's a problem to have a spokesperson. The question is, why do you have to hire Eric? Don't you know he knows me? If we ask him, he won't ask for money."

A few years ago, the Tate Industries was a crisis when Eric chose to come back in order to help her and support the products of the Tate Industries.

He not only wrote a song for Tate Industries's drones, but also posted a product video on Facebook.

Later, the Tate Industries and Eric also signed an endorsement contract, but Eric refused to accept the money at that time.

Avery knew his commercial value, so it was impossible to always take advantage of him.

"Ms. Tate, I know you know Eric. I also know that the two of you have a good relationship. But as far as the matter is concerned, Eric's current popularity and influence are beyond the reach of other idol stars. If we can ask Eric to help, our sales data will definitely double. Maybe more than that." Jesse looked at this from a business perspective.

Avery understood what Jesse meant, but she still couldn't get over that hurdle in her heart.

"The influence of our products in the industry is equivalent to Eric's influence in the entertainment industry. If you don't ask Eric to be the spokesperson, who will you ask?" Jesse asked Avery.

Avery couldn't help laughing and crying: "Mr. Caldwell, you don't have to promote our products like this. It's not good to be arrogant."

Jesse: "I'm telling the truth. Ms. Tate, if you are embarrassed to talk to Eric, then leave this to me."

"Mr. Caldwell, is there any difference between you and me? Eric doesn't know that I have returned to work in the Tate Industries. Isn't this embarrassing for me?" Avery's temples ached...

"If it's just because Eric refuses to accept the money, then I can ask him to accept the money. As long as he accepts the money, it's fine, right?" Jesse didn't want to give up his plan, "I definitely have a way to convince him."

Avery rubbed her brows and said, "please let me think about it again! If you really want to do this, you don't need to come forward. I already knew him. If I asked you to talk, it would seem that I am guilty."

"Ms. Tate, you don't need to think too much. If you are very entangled, you can show my plan to your husband. Listen to his opinion. I believe he will make the right choice." Jesse is very interested in his plan. If he is confident, it can also be said that he has confidence in Elliot.

As a successful businessman, Elliot would definitely not mix personal feelings when dealing with official affairs.

In particular, doing this was beneficial to the company, so Elliot would never look forward and backward like Avery.

“Okay, I’ll ask him later.” Avery decided to see what Elliot had to say.

Jesse: “Say hello and tell me.”

Avery: “Yeah.”

“But if it’s too late, then you can tell me tomorrow. I’m afraid your husband will misunderstand.” Jesse continued.

Avery couldn’t help laughing: “Mr. Caldwell, don’t worry, my husband won’t misunderstand us.”

“Why?” Jesse said honestly, “Because I’m ugly?”

Avery laughed out loud.

“Hey, I’m going to eat first. You can find me anytime if you have something to do. I’ll be here before 12 p.m.” Jesse said.

Chapter 2415

“Well.” Avery hung up the phone, not sleepy at all.

With twenty percent of the phone’s battery remaining, she immediately got out of bed, found the charging cable, and charged the phone.

After charging, she came out of the room.

The villa was very quiet. When she passed her daughter’s room, she opened the door and glanced inside.

Layla turned her head at the slightest movement.

Seeing that it was her mother, Layla immediately told her what happened just now: “Mom, I made my brother cry. Because he quarreled with me, he asked me to play with him.”

Avery entered the room with a smile: “Mom knows. She won’t blame you.”

“Of course I know you won’t blame me.” Layla looked confident, “My brother said you were talking with dad in the room, what are you talking about?”

Avery pursed her lips, and after a few seconds of embarrassment, cleared her throat: "Isn't the Spring Festival approaching, your father discussed with me whether our family should go to Bridgedale to reunite with your brother, or let your brother take a leave to come back to reunite with us. After all, during the Spring Festival here, There's no fake side."

Layla: "Oh...that's all! Why do you want to close the door when you talk about this? Robert came to me because you closed the door."

Avery scratched her head: "Because we quarreled at the time. Your father wants to take us to Bridgedale, I think it's too busy. The main reason is that Robert is relatively young and rarely travels far. I think it's better for Robert to take a leave of absence and come back. Saying that Robert has already come back from leave last time, and keeping him on leave will delay his study..."

"Oh... what's so noisy about this." Layla said inexplicably, "Are you here? Don't you feel a little silly when the family is fighting back and forth? Don't you guys ask what my brother thinks?"

Avery: "Well, we plan to see what your brother has to say."

"Mom, I remember that I used to be very smart, right? I used to think that everything was easy, but now I feel that learning is very difficult!" Layla sighed, "I don't know if I can get the first place in the test this time."

Avery picked up her daughter's homework and looked at it: "Layla, Mom and Dad don't necessarily want you to be first in the exam. As long as you're not the last one, it's fine. But if you make progress in your studies, Mom and Dad will be happier. Moreover, Every time you advance to a level, the content you have to learn will become more and more difficult. What you are learning now is much more difficult than what your parents learned before."

Layla: "Every time I feel that I have improved a little, and my classmates have also improved. I knew that progress was so difficult, and I didn't deliberately not study hard at the beginning."

"Layla, don't blame yourself. You can't worry about your studies. As long as you pay attention, what kind of exams will you take, Dad and Mom won't blame you." Avery comforted, "As long as you take the test seriously, no matter how many you take the test, Mom will let you go out for winter vacation."

What Layla is waiting for is Mom's promise, "Mom, I will definitely take the study seriously."

Two hours later, the two children finally rested.

Elliot and Avery also went back to the room.

Elliot: "Wife..."

"Husband, I'm so tired. Let's take a bath! Do you wash first or I wash first?"

Avery worked a day's work, and didn't relax much when she came back at night.

With two children by their side, even if there are servants to help, the children like to stick to them.

"Let's wash together!" Elliot was also a little tired.

Every time Elliot took Robert, Robert liked to hang on him.

Elliot had observed that when Layla and Avery took him, he wouldn't be like this.

"Okay! I just have something to ask you." Avery said, and took out the two's pajamas from the closet.

Chapter 2416

"What's the matter?" Elliot looked at Avery while taking off her clothes.

"The vice president wants to ask Eric to be the spokesperson for our company's products. He likes Eric's popularity and thinks that asking Eric to be the spokesperson will stimulate our sales growth." Avery said.

Elliot: "What do you think?"

"What can I think? Don't you know me?" Avery sighed, "If I go to Eric, Eric will definitely not refuse. It's just that I feel a little embarrassed. Eric is definitely not willing to charge us the endorsement fee at his normal price. It is no different from asking him for money directly."

"Since you are so entangled, then veto the vice president's plan." Elliot fully supported Avery's idea. "There are so many traffic stars, you can change another star."

Avery: "But the vice president chose Eric. It seems that Eric's popularity is indeed higher than other stars."

"This is your prejudice. You think that Eric is the universe. The first popular fried chicken, do other people think so too?" Elliot retorted, "There are so many star artists, each artist's fans think that their idol is the most popular in the entertainment industry."

"You seem to be right." Avery said, "If you were me, what would you do?"

"You can do whatever you want." Elliot was not Avery, so he couldn't answer her assumption.

"Can't you just assume it?" Avery glared at him.

Elliot: "I can assume, but if assume that I were you, I would think about another question first."

Avery: "What question?"

"If I were you, who would I choose to be my husband?" Elliot expressed his thoughts.

Avery couldn't help laughing.

Avery: "Forget it, I won't ask you anymore. Every time you talk about Eric, you're not normal."

"You asked me to treat him better last time. Am I not?" Elliot felt wronged, "If you're just worried that he won't charge or underpay, then you can find his agent."

Avery: "I'm doing this, aren't I trying to sow discord? He doesn't listen to his agent completely."

"Since you It means that you want to speak for him." Elliot could see through her thoughts, "You threaten him directly, if he doesn't accept the money, you will break up with him, and you can see if he is obedient."

Avery: "You seem to be joking."

Elliot raised his eyebrows and looked at her innocently.

"Can you be more mature?" Avery took her pajamas and walked towards the bathroom.

Elliot followed her into the bathroom.

Avery: "Why am I immature? You don't need to look ahead to such trivial matters. You can find him if you want, and it doesn't matter if you don't."

"Do you really think so?" Avery said after she entered the bathroom and closed the bathroom door.

"Didn't you explain it to me clearly last time? I won't be preoccupied with this matter." Avery was very satisfied with Elliot's open-minded answer.

"The reason for my entanglement is not to worry that you will be jealous. I have confidence in our relationship. I just don't want to argue with Eric over money. I always feel that a relationship, whether it's love or friendship, will turn sour when it is contaminated with interests..." Avery expressed her feelings.

Elliot: "What you said is only because there is a conflict of interests. You can see if the two of us are contaminated with interests, will it change?"

Avery: "..."

All the entangled points were resolved by Elliot at this moment...

Chapter 2417

The next day, morning.

Gloria Wiens came to the company to report.

It happened that Avery and Jesse Caldwell were in the office talking about the spokesperson.

"I'll ask him when he's free first! When he's free, I'll ask him out to meet and chat with him." Avery said to Jesse, "Don't worry about this matter. It's almost the new year, and after the new year, it's okay to talk."

"Ms. Tate, the end of the year is a good time to rush for performance. Other companies are all working hard at this time, we can't relax!" Jesse wanted to achieve performance, "Why don't you give him his contact information? I, I'll contact him. I promise not to disturb his work."

Avery: "Let me think about it again! Go ahead! I have something to talk to Gloria about."

Jesse glanced at Gloria, then walked out.

Gloria closed the office door after Jesse went out.

"President Tate, what do you have to tell me?" Gloria walked up to Avery and spoke respectfully.

"Uh, it's nothing. I just wanted to send him away, so I just made an excuse."

Avery took out the thermos cup from her bag, unscrewed the cap, and took a sip of water.

Gloria was stunned for a moment and asked, "President Tate, what am I doing today? "

Avery put down the thermos cup and turned on the computer: "I'll send you an email, you can wait and see. Our company's annual meeting will be held in half a month. You are now watching with the administration department to ensure that the annual meeting is held smoothly. If you have any questions, feel free to contact me. "

Gloria: "Okay, President Tate. Besides this, is there any other arrangement? "

"You do this first. You just joined the job, I'm afraid that I will arrange too much work for you and scare you away." Avery joked, "And the annual meeting is very complicated, you will know after reading the email later. I'm done."

"President Tate, don't worry, I promise to finish the work well." After Gloria finished speaking, she went out.

Today was the second time she saw Avery. Avery felt the same to her as she felt yesterday morning.

Gloria's softer and more powerful. However, Gloria still suspected that it was just Avery's illusion.

Her workstation was in the general office.

Entering the general office, other employees immediately greeted her warmly.

"Ms. Wiens, you are so lucky that you were recruited by President Tate to be an assistant just after graduation. Our internal employees failed to apply for transfer!" A secretary said enviously.

"I'm really lucky. I thought President Tate was always the kind of strong woman who was high and difficult to approach." Gloria said this deliberately, wanting to see what everyone would think of Avery.

Secretary: "Hahaha! President Tate is always the most arrogant and best boss I've ever seen. Every time I see her, she laughs at me."

“Me too. Every time I see President Tate, I feel just like sister, she’s very kind. I feel more fortunate after hearing what you guys said.” Gloria said, “I originally submitted my resume to the Sterling Group, but the personnel there told me that the Tate Industries also lacked assistants, that’s why I came here.”

“That’s why we envy you! Ms. Wiens, you work hard with President Tate, and we will all rely on you in the future!” A secretary said enviously.

“Yeah, Ms. Wiens, when you change to a regular position, your future will be even more limitless. Do you know the assistant Chad of the Sterling Group? He is the former assistant of Elliot. This assistant Chad has been promoted to Vice President after working for Elliot for a few years. If you do well by President Tate’s side, you may be promoted in the future! “

When Gloria heard this, her cheeks flushed, so she raised her hand and pulled the hair behind her ear.

“Ms. Wiens, what are you wearing on your wrist? Is this a wristband?”

Someone asked curiously when they saw Gloria wearing something on her left wrist.

Chapter 2418

Gloria raised her wrist and replied generously: “Yeah! My wrist was injured before, the doctor told me to wear wristband.”

“Oh, then you can’t do physical work, right?”

Gloria smiled, and was about to answer when another secretary said, “Ms. Wiens’s current position doesn’t require any physical work at all! Ms. Wiens, if you have any physical work, you can just ask us to do it for you.”

Gloria didn’t expect everyone to be so enthusiastic, and was at a loss for a while.

Gloria: "President Tate asked me to prepare the annual meeting with the administration department first. There shouldn't be any physical work. Thank you, you are all so enthusiastic. When I get my salary, I will invite you to drink milk tea."

"Okay. Ah! Although I don't drink milk tea to lose weight, I must drink the milk tea you asked for."

"Ms. Wiens, you are so beautiful, do you have a boyfriend? I heard that you are from Yonroeville, and you plan to settle in Aryadelle or go back to Yonroeville after working for a while?" another asked.

Gloria chose an empty workstation and sat down, took out a notebook from her bag and put it on the table, then replied quickly, "I don't have a boyfriend, and I don't plan to find a boyfriend for the time being. I just graduated and I'm still young. I want to have a stable job first."

"Well, your idea is right. Making money is more practical than dating. When you have a career and money, you won't be able to find the kind of man you want! Although you are now Young and beautiful, you can find good men, but when you get older, men may get tired of you abandoning you, and only the money you earn is real." Another woman felt this deeply.

"President Tate is the best example. Even without Elliot, our President Tate is a very successful woman." A secretary flattered, "President Tate is always a medical genius. Just this alone can fascinate many men! I heard that Before President Tate studied medicine, she had a good relationship with Elliot. But President Tate had no ability at the time, so she could not stay with Elliot for a long time. Later, President Tate became a medical genius, and Elliot chased President Tate back again. "

Almost all the old employees of the Group knew these gossips.

But Gloria was listening to it for the first time, so she listened with great interest.

Gloria: "Then why doesn't President Tate continue to be a doctor?"

"How tiring to be a doctor! If there is an operation, it will be even more tiring.

Now that President Tate has a family and children, she must be family-oriented."

Gloria: "Yes. It's sometimes difficult to balance career and love."

"Your family is in Yonroeville, right? If you are particularly successful here, I'm afraid it will be difficult to go back. After all, Yonroeville is not as good as Aryadelle."

"I want to do my job well first and talk about the future things later. If I think too much, I'm afraid I won't be able to do anything well." Gloria could feel that her arrival was a threat and competition to everyone.

On the surface, everyone was very enthusiastic and welcomed Gloria. In fact, between the lines, there was a desire for Gloria to return to Yonroeville.

Neighboring city.

kindergarten.

In the afternoon, there were outdoor activities in the kindergarten, going to a farm in the countryside to experience potato digging.

In this event, not just one class, but children from several classes went together.

The children in Siena's class were actually used to the existence of Siena.

Although Siena had ugly scars on her face, Siena never took the initiative to talk to any children.

Siena was not so noisy, as quiet as the air. As long as she didn't put her eyes on her, she couldn't affect anyone at all.

In other classes, many children saw Siena for the first time. After seeing Siena for the first time, some children screamed.

A child screamed, causing other timid children to scream.

The teachers immediately went to appease the screaming children.

Siena understood that she scared the children, so she walked behind the teacher and hid.

She was afraid that those children's exclamations would affect her potato digging activities.

The teacher said that the potatoes dug up today could be brought home by yourself.

Chapter 2419

If she brought potatoes home, mother-in-law would definitely be very happy.

After a while, the children's screams stopped.

The teachers of each class started to dig potatoes with the children in their class.

Each class was divided into corresponding land, Siena felt that those frightened children should not be frightened by her anymore.

So she dug up the potatoes with peace of mind.

After a while, someone kicked her behind her: "You are ugly! You are a little monster!"

A little boy waved the plastic shovel in his hand and laughed at Siena.

The little boy: "They're afraid of you, but I'm not afraid of you! You ugly, hurry up and leave our kindergarten!"

Siena grabbed the soil in the ground with both hands and roared angrily: "I'm not a monster!"

"You are a monster... You are a monster... You are scarier than a monster!"

the little boy shouted, reaching out and pushing Siena to the ground.

Siena was extremely aggrieved, and crystal clear tears flashed in her eyes.

She fought back tears and reminded herself not to cry.

At the same time, the small anger in her body also exploded in an instant, and she immediately got up and pushed the little boy.

“What are you two doing?! No fighting!” The teacher saw this scene and immediately came over to stop it.

After an hour.

The mother-in-law went to the kindergarten to pick up Siena and was called aside by the teacher.

“Siena scratched a little boy’s face.” The teacher explained the situation to her mother-in-law, “The parents of that little boy came and said they wanted Siena to apologize, and they were clamoring for us to fire Siena’s grandma, or else go and talk to the other party’s parents!”

The mother-in-law gave Siena a look.

Siena’s eyes were red, and there were tears in them. She lowered her eyes and dared not look at people.

Fortunately, there were no scratches on her face, otherwise her mother-in-law would definitely explode.

The mother-in-law led Siena towards the little boy and his parents.

“Siena will never take the initiative to hit someone. It must be your son who took the initiative to hit Siena, so Siena will fight back.” The mother-in-law was full of breath.

“Mother-in-law, he called me ugly, and he called me a little monster. He’s rude.” Siena endured all the grievances at this time, “He even kicked me. The first time he kicked me, I didn’t move. He later pushed me with his hands and pushed me down. I was so angry that I fought back.”

A crisp and clear voice landed in the kindergarten hall.

Parents who came to pick up their children and children who have not left heard it clearly.

“Even if my son scolds your granddaughter, your granddaughter can’t catch people with her nails! My son is bleeding! If there are scars on his face, wouldn’t he be disfigured?” The woman was aggressive, “Your granddaughter looks like this. It’s scary, can’t you send it to a disabled school like this? You have to send it to a normal kindergarten to scare the children, what do you feel at ease?”

Mother-in-law: “My granddaughter is fine, where is the disability? I think it’s your disability, your eyes blind!”

“You old woman, how dare you scold my wife! Look how I teach you!” The woman’s husband became angry and planned to seek justice for his wife and children.

“You can’t fight here! I saw that this boy beat Siena first! Siena grabbed his face because he grabbed Siena’s hair first! He ripped her hair loose! He’s a badass! Siena is a good girl!” A little girl shouted bravely, “If you guys fight, I’ll call the police uncle!”

Chapter 2420

The boy’s parents were shocked by the girl’s words and looked at the girl.

They saw the girl’s little hand being held by her father. Her father was sturdy, with a face full of flesh, and a very uneasy aura.

“What’s the matter? You didn’t hear what my daughter said? Your son bullies the little girl, not to mention being caught in the face. Even if he is beaten to death, he deserves it! Bullying, isn’t it cheap?” The strong man supported his daughter.

When the mother-in-law saw that someone was helping to speak, she immediately struck while the iron was hot: “Teacher, you see, this was not provoked by Siena, how can you blame Siena? Who is unreasonable and who is bullying, I believe your teacher also knows clearly. Because we are all weak, bully us! If your kindergarten really doesn't want to accept Siena, that's fine, you can refund the full tuition to us."

The teacher looked embarrassed: "Grandma Siena, don't worry. Our head teacher is not at school today. I'll call and ask the head teacher."

"Okay. I hope you can tell the head teacher who did it first. Siena is just selfdefense, have we been beaten? Can't we fight back? Also, what was the teacher doing when Siena was beaten? Why didn't he stop the child from being bullied in the first place?" The mother-in-law's voice was loud, and the more she spoke, the more excited she said, "It's all to blame for something happening now."

Mother-in-law's words resonated with other parents.

"Whoever hits someone first is the fault. Even if you want to be expelled, it is the one who does it first! In foreign countries, many kindergartens have clear rules that if a child hits someone, they will be warned the first time and will be expelled the second time. Parents are also at fault if they don't educate their children well. If my child bullies other children in kindergarten, I will only feel ashamed, how dare I be aggressive and make trouble!" Another parent said. "It's just that the child is ignorant, and the parent can't understand it? It's pitiful enough for the little girl's face to be injured. Don't you think it's too much?" Another parent was righteous and opened their mouth.

The teacher was a little embarrassed for a moment: "When the two children were arguing today, our teacher didn't find out immediately, it was our omission. There are more than 40 children in a class, and sometimes our teacher can't take care of them. Siena's Grandma, I apologize to you. Siena is very good, and I believe that the head teacher will not let Siena drop out of school after knowing this. You should take Siena back to rest first!”

The mother-in-law didn't say anything, and took Siena to the talking parents which helped her just now...

The mother-in-law: “Thank you for helping us speak.”

“You are very kind. Although my child and Siena are not in the same class, if there is a group activity in the future, I will let my child play with Siena.”

The mother-in-law: “Thank you, thank you very much.”

After Siena returning home, she immediately checked her scalp for scratches.

“Mother-in-law, it hurts a little here.” Siena stretched out her fingers and pointed to the back of her head.

The mother-in-law immediately looked at the back of her head. She had a red scalp on the back of her head.

“Siena, you did the right thing today. If someone hits you, you just have to fight back. Even if you get kicked out of the school, it's fine. There are so many schools, we can go to other schools.” The mother-in-law taught.

“Mother-in-law, there are actually many good people. Uncles and aunts who were unfamiliar helped us talk just now, and they are all good people.” Siena recalled what she heard at school just now, and was still very moved.

“You're such a silly girl. You always only remember good things.” The mother-in-law sighed helplessly.

“Because that will make me happier. Mother-in-law, I'm hungry.” Siena forgot all her grievances and ran towards the kitchen happily.

...

In the evening, after Siena fell asleep, the mother-in-law called the Miss.

“Miss, is your first day at work today, is it going well?”

Gloria just returned to the rented house. After taking off her high heels, she put on slippers and walked towards the bedroom.

“It’s okay, just a little tired. Tate Industries is bigger than I thought, and the party at the end of the year is particularly grand. This is the first time I have been exposed to such a large-scale event.” After Gloria sat down on the bed, she felt thirsty. After getting hands-free, she went to get a water bottle to drink water, “I asked some employees today, and they all gave Avery a good evaluation.”

“This can only mean that Avery treats them well. How can employees know that they are doing things with money? What kind of person is the boss in private.” The mother-in-law said objectively, “To know what kind of person Avery is, you have to see what friends around her say and some of her private behaviors.”

The mother-in-law continued: “When you go to work, you can’t say the wrong thing or do the wrong thing. Otherwise, if you can’t turn around, you won’t be able to get to know her deeply.”

The mother-in-law added: “Miss, you’ve worked so hard like this!”

“The salary is quite high, when I get the salary, I will give you the money.”

After Gloria took a sip of water, she loosened her hair.

The rubber band was tight today, and now the scalp was not very comfortable.

“Miss, Siena was bullied at school today.” The mother-in-law originally planned to go to school and find a job nearby to earn some money to support her family.

But she was worried that she was working again, and she couldn’t take better care of Siena.

Siena came back from school every day and had to eat dinner. Originally, the school served dinner, but the children seemed to be hungry every day.

“What’s the matter? The teacher didn’t tell me.” Gloria picked up the phone and glanced at the message box, but there was no message from the teacher.

“The teacher told me when I was picking up Siena. A naughty boy bullied Siena, Siena scratched his face, and his family came to the school to make trouble. Fortunately, there were other parents who helped us talk, So the teacher asked us to go home first.”

“Okay, I see. I’ll call the teacher later and ask.” Gloria sighed, and after a while, asked again, “Is Siena not hurt?”

“That boy scratched her hair and made her scalp red. I feel distressed when I see it.” Said the mother-in-law.

“How is Siena feeling?” Gloria asked.

“She is naturally optimistic. When she came back, she cried hungry and wanted to eat. After eating, she was happy, as if nothing had happened.” The mother-in-law said with relief, “I feel so sorry for her because she is too sensible.”

Gloria: “Well. After the weekend, I’ll go back to see you.”

The mother-in-law: “Okay. Miss, take care of yourself over there. Remember to eat on time and have a good rest.”

Gloria: “Well.”

After hanging up the phone, Gloria found the teacher’s number and dialed.

After answering the phone, the teacher immediately said, “Hello, Miss Wiens.”

“Hello, teacher, just now, Mother-in-law told me that Siena was bullied at school today. Although I am not Siena’s mother but guardian of her. I have to take care of this matter. Please tell me the contact information of the parents of the students who bullied her. Didn't they go to the school to make trouble? I know the school is in the middle of it, so I will communicate with the parents of the other party. "

Okay, Miss Wiens. I told the Head Teacher about this, and the Head Teacher felt that the other parent was making trouble unreasonably. In the future, we will look at Siena more and not let her be bullied by the children again."

Chapter 2422

After talking with the teacher on the phone, Gloria got the phone number of the little boy's mother.

After Gloria adjusted her mood, she dialed the number.

After the other party answered the phone, he asked, "Who is it?"

"I'm Siena's care taker. I already know about your son's bullying of Siena. I hope your son can go to school tomorrow to apologize to Siena." Gloria proposed her own request, "Of course, if you don't want to, I won't force you."

the little boy's mother: "Hehehe! Your words are so ridiculous! Siena scratched my son's face..."

"Then doesn't your son deserve it? He beat people first. If your son doesn't apologize to Siena, he won't be able to learn from this lesson that he did something wrong. If you condone your children like this, your son will grow up in the future. He will continue to provoke others and make more serious mistakes, and the punishment he will get in the future may be hemiplegia after being beaten, or going to jail." Gloria spoke very fast, "That's all I want to say, how do you educate him? If your son dares to bully Siena again in the future, I will let Siena beat your son hard. Until he is honest."

The boy's mother trembled with anger, "You, you..."

“Forgot to tell you, my family has money, even if I hurt your son, I can still pay for your son’s medical bills!” Gloria finished warning and hung up the phone.

Before taking Siena down the mountain, Gloria and Siena rarely met.

On the one hand, her studies were relatively heavy at the time, and she did not have so much energy.

On the other hand, Siena and her mother-in-law were on the mountain, very safe, and she didn’t need to worry about it at all.

So she didn’t expect that she would be so angry about Siena being bullied. It was as if her own child was being bullied.

Probably it has something to do with her mother-in-law’s constant remarks in her ear that Siena is sensible and sensible!

The other side.

Ben invited Elliot and Avery out for dinner tonight.

The reason for Ben’s treat tonight was that he was about to get married, and he was a little excited.

He not only invited Avery and Elliot, but also Jun and Tammy.

“It’s a pity that Chad went to Bridgedale, otherwise he would definitely ask him to come and drink together.” Ben and Jun sat together, “Jun, you can only drink with me tonight.”

“Brother Elliot can’t drink yet, is it?” Jun must be drinking with Ben.

Ben said on the phone and asked Elliot to come over for a drink.

“Elliot can’t drink it now.” Avery spoke first, “He can substitute milk for wine, or fruit juice for wine.”

If it was before, Elliot might still struggle, but now, after Avery’s words are settled, Without thinking, he picked up the juice pot and poured himself a glass of juice.

Ben looked at Elliot's change with a stunned expression: "Elliot, you are too obedient now! You must be fine with a drink or two, right?"

"I should be fine with a drink or two, but Avery will be worried. Why bother? Worrying about these two glasses of wine?" Elliot said, raised his juice glass, and touched Ben's glass, "Are you ready for the wedding?"

Ben: "I went to the wedding this afternoon to watch it. Next, everything is almost ready. It depends on when Gwen starts to go on vacation. The wedding company has been urging us to rehearse. I'm free, but Gwen is not."

Gwen glared at Ben: "I'll just complain about it in private, and now you're complaining about me in front of everyone. Why are you like this?"

Ben: "Gwen, I didn't complain about you! I swear, I'm really not complaining, I'm just stating the facts."

Chapter 2423

Gwen: "..."

"Brother Ben, are you afraid that the wedding will be in a hurry when the rehearsal is over, Right?" Avery smiled and comforted, "Didn't Gwen say that she will take three days off beforehand? When she is on vacation, you can rehearse every day."

Gwen replied: "Ben is just in a hurry. I don't know what he is in a hurry for. I already told him that I would rehearse with him when I was on vacation, and he kept talking."

Ben: "Gwen, it's my first time getting married, so I'm a little nervous. I hope you can understand me."

"It's my first time too! Why am I not nervous?" Gwen said.

"Because you are young. Young people are generally more reckless." Ben expressed his opinion.

“Reckless?” Gwen frowned, “Are you scolding me?”

“No! How can I scold you? This word probably means young, so fearless.”

Ben said here, remembered Avery's assistant, “Avery's assistant is a good example. Her assistant, a fresh graduate who graduated this summer, even dared to submit a resume to Sterling Group. Do you think she is too daring? Obviously, the recruitment requirements require at least three Years of work experience, but she directly ignored the recruitment requirements.”

Gwen picked up her mobile phone and searched for the meaning of 'reckless': “The meaning of this word is obviously grass!”

Ben was stunned for a while, and took her mobile phone over and took a look.

“Wife, look, there's more behind it!” Ben explained calmly, “Besides it means grass, there's also...”

Ben wasn't drunk yet, so what happened later, he couldn't tell.

“Rude, reckless...” Gwen took back the phone after reading the meaning of 'reckless' while looking at the screen.

“Are you two not in the right state because you are getting married?” Avery chuckled, “Gwen, Ben is definitely not scolding you, so don't be angry.”

“I also think that the two of us recently have a conflict. After New Year's Day, we both became abnormal.” Gwen knew that there was a problem between her and Ben.

Ben was not as tolerant of Gwen as before, always suspicious.

Gwen also lost her temper more easily than before, and whenever Ben was wrong at all, she would quarrel with him.

“The two of you may need to communicate well. Marriage is a major event in life, and you should be happy.” Avery mediated, “Gwen, the New Year is coming soon, The work is endless, but you can take a vacation early and have a good rest.”

Gwen fell silent.

Ben couldn't help saying: “Avery, if I said this, she would have been angry.”

Gwen: “You always want me to stay at home without work! Don't you just want me to have a baby for you?! “

Ben immediately shut up.

At this time, Tammy laughed out loud and eased the atmosphere: “Gwen, don't be angry. I have known Ben longer than you. Ben definitely wants children, but if he just wants children, he is actually very Simple. He is so good, how many women are willing to have children for him. But the person he wants to marry is you, and he is only willing to have children with you, which shows that he loves you more than children.”

After Tammy finished speaking, Avery immediately picked up the juice pot and poured Tammy a glass of juice.

Tammy said what Avery wanted to say.

Gwen's face turned red all of a sudden. Sometimes she couldn't control her emotions and always suspected that Ben had ulterior motives for her.

“I'll discuss it with my agent tomorrow to see if the next job can be dismissed!” Gwen compromised, “Maybe I'm a little nervous. It made my aunt postponed.”

Chapter 2424

As soon as the words 'aunt' came out, all the men present showed unnatural expressions on their faces.

“Gwen, you really didn't treat us as outsiders!” Jun smiled awkwardly.

Gwen said with embarrassment: “You are all married, and your children will all be soy sauce. What's the matter!"

Tammy laughed and asked, "Is your aunt always accurate? Before I gave birth, I often went a disorder that is mainly due to my irregular work and rest, and my eating habits are not good. It is useless to see a doctor. Even if I take the medicine and adjust it, it will be disordered again within two months."

Gwen seems to have found a bosom friend: "My usual time is accurate, but it's not normal... It's been abnormal all the time! Because I eat less and can't keep up with my nutrition, I usually have a very small amount... It's useless to see a doctor, the doctor tells me to eat more, I can't eat more! If I eat too much, I will gain weight, and it is very difficult to lose weight. I asked a few colleagues, and their aunts are not normal, so I have never seen a doctor."

Jun and Elliot : Why did the topic of "....." suddenly become like this?

They really don't know how to answer.

Ben was a little excited: "Avery, is this bad for her body? I checked it online and said that if she doesn't take care of it properly, she will grow old quickly..."

"When will you be able to see a doctor online? The Internet even said I was going to die!" Gwen scolded him.

"Brother Ben, don't worry. Gwen has seen a doctor. If there are no other problems in the examination, then it's not a big problem." Avery said with relief, "I heard that many models do not have their period for a few months because of their diet."

"Yes! I told Ben about this, but he didn't listen. He was always anxious, he must have thought that this would affect his childbirth." Gwen speculated.

Ben: "Gwen, I'm afraid that you have a problem with your body, and it has nothing to do with the child."

Gwen: "I'm fine! What do you think is wrong with me?"

The two quarreled again.

"What's so noisy about this?" Jun couldn't stand it any longer, "Wait for Gwen to go to the hospital after her vacation this time! Aren't you going to go on your honeymoon after you get married? Take advantage of this time to have a good time. Brother Ben, maybe it's normal."

Ben: "I think so too, but I don't know what Gwen thinks."

Gwen: "I can go and see the doctor, then don't go on the honeymoon, the doctor will definitely prescribe medicine for me, should I bring medicine to you on my honeymoon? Why don't I sleep at home!"

Ben thought about it and compromised: "It's fine. As long as you are willing to see a doctor, everything else is easy to talk about."

Gwen: "I'm not sick! That's not a disease!"

How normal was a woman's menstrual disorder, which woman had not experienced it?

"Gwen, Ben also cares about you, so don't be angry with him. If you are angry, your body won't be able to do it." Tammy coaxed.

Avery explained: "Gwen may not be able to control her situation. Her hormone levels must be out of balance."

"Avery, can I not take medicine in this situation?" Gwen asked, "I went to the hospital last time, Doctor prescribed a bunch of unpleasant medicines to me, and I really can't take it."

Ben echoed: "The medicine the doctor prescribed her last time was really unpalatable. Can't these drug developers make the medicine taste better?"

"Have you eaten?" Gwen couldn't help asking when she saw Ben's headache.

Ben blushed and cleared his throat: "You refused to take the medicine at the time, didn't we have a fight? You refused to take it for life or death. After you went out, I secretly ate one... Almost didn't send me away."

Chapter 2425

Everyone: "....."

Ben secretly ate a woman's menstrual medicine, didn't know how to describe his behavior.

"No wonder you coaxed me so quickly after the quarrel. It turned out to be because you stole my medicine." Gwen was inexplicably moved, her nose was sour, and her unpleasant feelings towards Ben disappeared without a trace...

"Gwen, I'm really worried about your body, it has nothing to do with having children. Do you believe me?" Ben saw that she was moved, and immediately expressed his attitude and determination, "I don't care about others, I only care about you. Because you are my wife."

Gwen burst into tears.

Ben took Gwen into his arms and comforted her.

The other four showed varying degrees of embarrassment.

An hour later, the dinner was over.

On the way home, Avery was very emotional.

Avery: "Husband, do you still remember when the two of us were in love before, and there was a time when we were like them, always quarreling."

Elliot thought for a while and replied, "Just for a while? What should I do? Do you think it's been a while?"

Avery glared at Elliot with cold eyes.

Elliot: "I don't think quarreling is a bad thing. As long as we can reconcile in the end, the previous quarrels are valuable and meaningful. Everyone is a unique individual. Because of love, two people must learn to compromise and round themselves up. Don't you think it's great?"

Avery: "But some couples don't quarrel. When I was in college, a classmate and her boyfriend never quarreled."

"They just didn't quarrel in front of you." Elliot said calmly.

"Is that so? Husband, you are so experienced? Where did your experience come from?" Avery had known Elliot for so many years, and she proud herself on knowing him very well.

"You don't need experience. The situation you mentioned may exist, but it's rare. I don't envy that situation at all, I just like you." Elliot said stubbornly.

Avery was amused by his serious appearance: "You are typically unable to eat grapes, grapes say grapes, and grapes are sour."

"No." Elliot stared at her affectionately with his deep eyes, "I just think Hello. Even when you quarrel with me, I feel hello."

Avery: "..."

Who could resist this?

Although Avery's thoughts were the same as Elliot, it took courage to say these words from her mouth.

"Husband, I won't quarrel with you anymore." Avery put her hands around his neck and pecked his lips lightly, "Actually, every time I quarrel with you and see you so angry, I feel very distressed. "

Elliot: "I thought you liked seeing me angry!"

Avery: "Uh... when you're angry, you're out of your mind. I can't be alone, can I? Besides, you always make me angry. If you used to have the mind and tolerance that you have now, and the two of us can fight less than half of the fight."

“You’re playing fifty big boards each, which is fair.” Elliot put his arms around her waist and chuckled lightly.

“Of course I’m fair! It’s all over, there’s nothing to turn over.” Avery rested her head on his neck, absorbing the faint unique breath of his body, “Husband, how’s your assistant recruiting? When you recruit your assistant, let’s invite our new assistant to dinner!”

Chapter 2426

“Yes.” Elliot agreed, “I had a few HR interviews today, and they were all okay. I’ll meet again tomorrow.”

“Hahaha, they’re all excellent, right? I’ll see how you choose.” Avery thought that it’s difficult for him to choose.

“It’s impossible for everyone to have eyesight and talk to each other.” Elliot was not worried at all, “Your assistant went to work today, how do you feel?” Avery: “I just chatted with her this morning, and then she went to work. I asked her to assist the administration department and be in charge of the annual meeting. This work is rather cumbersome, so I gave her to do it, first to train her, and secondly to see her ability to do things.”

“Well. Have you talked about Yonroeville?” Elliot asked, “She is from Yonroeville, so she should know what happened when we went to Yonroeville before.”

“What if she knows? Those things have already passed. People with a little brain will not take the initiative to talk to their boss about the boss’s private affairs.” Avery said calmly, “Does Chad dare to talk to you about your private affairs?”

Elliot: “Yes.”

Avery: “Husband, don’t you think Gloria, a young girl who has just graduated, will she know something?" Avery couldn't help laughing, "She is very simple and honest, and she just wants to work hard now."

"You have only met her twice, so you are so sure of her. Is this the kind of person you think?" Elliot patted her head, "I see that no matter how old you are, your mind has always been so simple."

"Isn't it better to be simple? If you are suspicious all day long, how tired! When there is something wrong with Gloria, or when she says the wrong thing, it's not too late for me to doubt her. From the current point of view, she is indeed a good girl." When Avery got off work today, she received a letter from the manager of the administration department. Information, the manager told her that Gloria Wiens was very serious and responsible.

Administration department, after asking them one by one, she checked with the hotel again.

"I asked my friends from Yonroeville to investigate. Gloria's family is quite rich." Elliot told Avery what he had investigated.

Avery was a little surprised: "What are you doing to investigate her family situation?"

"After all, it's someone who is by your side, and the family situation must be investigated clearly. When I used Chad, I also investigated his family situation." Elliot replied...

"Oh, okay! It's better for you to be cautious." Avery said here and asked, "How rich is her family?"

"Her family has thousands of acres of tea gardens. At the same time, the family also runs a tea Factory. Their family grows tea, sells tea, and makes the tea they grow into a brand. They are famous in Yonroeville." Elliot said, "Although she has a brother and a sister in her family, but their family is very famous. The condition is that children don't need to work hard outside."

Avery probably understood what Elliot meant.

Avery: "Are you suspicious of her motives?"

Elliot: "I understand why she dares to submit a resume for my assistant position."

Avery: "...I thought you found something wrong with her."

Elliot: "I don't see anything wrong with her so far. Their family has no contact with the Jobin family."

Avery: "Oh, even if their family has any relationship with the Jobin family, it is between her family and the Jobin family. She's a little girl, what kind of relationship can she have with the Jobin family?"

Elliot: "I think so too. She has never heard anything about her since elementary school, except for participating in tea competitions. It is said that she is a good girl who follows the rules."

Avery: "I felt it the first time I met her. And she told me about her and her family. She has a scar on her wrist, and she said that her parents were very controlling on her. She came to university in Aryadelle to gain her freedom through resistance. It was also to escape the control of her family's elders."

Elliot heard her words and gained a new understanding of Gloria Wiens.

"Maybe she has experienced something to make such a change."

Under normal circumstances, people were stimulated before doing extreme things.

A good girl like Gloria couldn't sleep and woke up suddenly with a sudden change in temperament.

Chapter 2427

"Gloria said the person she liked died." Avery said regretfully, "She said she would never get married in the future. She is a very affectionate person."

Elliot: "She's honest and told you everything."

"Because I saw the scar on her wrist and asked her. Then we talked a lot. If I didn't ask, she wouldn't say either. She took the initiative to tell me. She came to work today and wore a wristband to cover the scar. I guess she was afraid that others would ask if they saw it. I definitely wouldn't want to tell others about this kind of thing over and over again."

Elliot: "Well, wait for me. Once the assistant has been recruited, let's go out for a meal together."

"Well, I feel very busy next time. Katalina and Aqi are getting married, and Ben and Gwen are getting married."

"Aqi and Katalina are going back to their wedding this year. It will be held in Aqi's hometown. We will hold another one here next year according to the request of Katalina's parents." Elliot said, "Katalina's family is not bad, and her parents will not let Katalina be wronged."

Avery: "I can understand. When Layla gets married in the future, we will definitely not let Layla suffer any grievances."

Elliot: "Avery, don't use this metaphor."

Avery saw Elliot who couldn't be frightened, wanted to laugh but couldn't. If Layla wanted to marry Eric in the future, Avery couldn't imagine how Elliot would be stimulated.

When Avery got home, she first went to see the two children.

Robert was already asleep, and Layla was still reviewing her homework.

"Layla, you must go to bed before 10 o'clock." Avery reminded her daughter, "Did Mom and Dad push you too hard?"

"No! I'm not sleepy right now. When I'm tired, I'll go to bed naturally..." Layla looked calm, "Mom, go take a shower! I'll go to bed after reading a while."

Avery: "Well. Mom will come to check after taking a bath."

Layla: "Got it!"

Avery came out of her daughter's room and went back to the bedroom.

Elliot had already gone to the bathroom to take a shower.

Avery listened to the sound of rushing water, took out her mobile phone from her bag, and sent a message to Eric: [Eric, are you free now? I have something to talk to you about.]

Two minutes later, Avery received a message, the message was not from Eric, but from Eric's agent.

—Miss Tate, Eric is still working, and I have his cell phone. What's the matter with you, tell me!

Avery thought about it, and replied politely: [I have nothing to do, I just want to ask him if he is tired from work.]

Agent: [I have something to tell you. Is it convenient for you to talk on the phone now?]

Avery: [Convenient.]

The agent's phone number immediately reached Avery.

"Miss Tate, does your company have a vice president named Jesse Caldwell?"

Avery was stunned: "Yes! He's looking for you?"

"No, he didn't look for me. But he asked others about me. I found out about it. I've been waiting for him to contact me, but he didn't contact me." The agent was a little puzzled, "Why did he ask for my contact information?"

Chapter 2428

Avery blushed in embarrassment.

Avery: "That's right, our company wants to speak to Eric."

“Oh, that’s it! Since you have opened your mouth, Eric will definitely agree.”

The agent replied without thinking, “When he finishes work, I will tell him.”

“Can I ask how much his endorsement fee is? You secretly tell me that I will talk to Eric when the time comes.” Avery said.

“Do you want to sign him at his market price?” the agent laughed, “His endorsement fee is not cheap. Just last month, a cosmetics company wanted to endorse him, and that cosmetics company wanted him to be the spokesperson of the whole line... Do you want to find him to be the spokesperson of the whole line or the endorsement of a single product?”

“The whole line.” Avery replied.

“Oh, the whole line of spokespersons is a lot more expensive! That cosmetics company’s line-of-line endorsement offers nine figures.” The agent said and was afraid of scaring Avery, so he said this rather abstract number.

Avery was not frightened. She knew that Eric was very popular in recent years.

Eric worked very hard, whether it was releasing songs or filming, he could basically see his works on hot searches every once in a while.

“Is someone an endorsement for you?” Avery asked.

“Yeah! They don’t have Eric’s private account.” The agent laughed, “You can talk to Eric directly. Because even if I tell Eric, Eric will call you. I can intervene in this matter but can’t handle it. You also know his temper. When he is obedient, he is very obedient and when he is not obedient, he would rather quit the circle than listen to me.”

“Well, did he accept the endorsement of that cosmetics company?” Avery continued ask.

“No! His endorsement depends on his mood, not the price.” The agent laughed angrily. “Do you know why he didn’t accept the endorsement from that cosmetics company?"

Avery: "I don't know. He didn't pick it up, it must be because the cosmetics company has a problem!"

The agent: "What can someone else have a problem with? If you can afford to ask him at such a price, it's definitely not a small brand! It's an international first-line brand, how much? Celebrities dream of being its spokesperson! Eric rejected their endorsement because they hired someone he didn't like as a new product recommendation officer. Do you know what a new product recommendation officer means? "

Avery didn't know. She only knew the difference between a full-line spokesperson and a product spokesperson.

"The new product recommendation officer is actually paying a star to help with an advertisement. It's not even a single product spokesperson." The agent complained, "I can only say that Eric is not short of money, so it is more willful."

"He doesn't seem to have received many endorsements." Avery rarely saw Eric's endorsements. On the contrary, other popular stars were more likely to see other people's endorsement advertisements.

"Yeah! In fact, there are a lot of companies looking for his endorsement, but he basically rejected them. He devoted himself to writing songs and filming. Isn't variety shows very popular now, and many variety shows offer super high prices to invite him to participate, he didn't pick up any of them." The agent said sadly, "I have come into contact with so many artists, but he is the only one who can lay down and make money, but he doesn't do it."

Avery: "Respect him! The most important thing in work is to be happy."

"Can I disrespect him? He doesn't listen to me at all!" The agent smiled happily, "He's about to finish work. He saw me talking on the phone."

“Tell him about it!” Avery was suddenly nervous.

After listening to what the agent said just now, Avery felt that she was somewhat in a difficult situation.

Eric didn't like to accept endorsements, but he himself made such a request.

After the agent agreed, he hung up the phone.

About five minutes later, Eric took back his mobile phone and dialed Avery.

Foster family, master bedroom.

Chapter 2429

Elliot came out of the shower and heard Avery's phone call, so he walked to her and glanced at the call reminder.

“Why did Eric call you so late?” Elliot asked casually.

“I contacted him first. I'll answer the phone first and tell you later.” Avery took the mobile phone and walked towards the balcony.

About ten minutes later, Avery finished talking on the phone and went back to the bedroom.

“Is it for endorsement?” Elliot sat beside the bed and looked at Avery.

“Yeah! The vice president is very anxious about this. He has privately obtained the number of Eric's agent.” Avery put the phone on the cabinet, and said, “But I have already agreed with Eric.”

“What price?” Elliot knew that Eric would agree to this endorsement, but he was just curious about the price they negotiated.

As Avery said, Eric wouldn't speak loudly, and he was willing to help even without money, but Avery would definitely not agree.

“Eric said it would be fine at the price of his last endorsement.” Avery said,

“He said he forgot the price of his last endorsement, and he had to go home to find the contract.”

“Can't remember the last price of an endorsement, it must have been a long time since the last endorsement?" Elliot guessed.

"Maybe! His agent said that he doesn't like to take endorsements. He said that a cosmetics company with a first-tier international brand recently paid him nine figures for an endorsement, but he also refused." Avery sighed, "Suddenly I found out that he is very valuable."

In Avery's eyes, Elliot saw her admiration for Eric: "Why didn't I see you praise me so much? I can make money too."

"Oh...Did I praise you? No, I just sighed." Avery patted her head, "I'm going to take a bath first! By the way, go see your daughter. If she is still reading, tell her not to read this time."

"Daughter is so hardworking!" Elliot glanced at the time and immediately walked towards the door of the room, "I'll take a look."

After a while, Avery came out of the shower, and Elliot was already lying on the bed.

"Is Layla asleep?" Avery asked.

"Yeah. She was about to go to sleep when I passed by just now. She said that the final exam was coming soon, and she was a little nervous." Elliot's voice couldn't hide his distress, "She wasn't so nervous about studying before. I don't know why she cares so much about grades all of a sudden and ranking."

"Have you noticed that your daughter has rarely said she wants to enter the entertainment industry when she grows up?" Avery also felt her daughter's change.

"Well. Let it be! Let her do whatever she wants in the future." Elliot said dotingly.

The next day.

Eric came to the Tate Industries directly with the last endorsement contract. Vice President Jesse Caldwell was surprised when he saw Eric in Avery's office when he passed by.

It's only early 9 o'clock, and Avery hadn't come yet.

Jesse Caldwell immediately entered Avery's office and greeted Eric warmly.

"Are you the new vice president?" Eric put down the coffee cup in his hand and asked.

"Yeah! It's a great honor for you to know me." Jesse sat down on the sofa beside Eric, "Are you here to find President Tate? She should be here soon."

"I'm here with you today to sign an endorsement contract." Eric said, and took out his last endorsement contract, "I negotiated with Avery last night, according to the price of my last endorsement."

Jesse's cheeks flushed, and his face was pleasantly surprised, "President Tate hasn't told me yet... You guys are too efficient!"

After interviewing two people this morning, Elliot settled on one of them as his assistant.

Chapter 2430

Elliot sent the resume of his new assistant to Avery.

Avery just signed the contract with Eric and was about to go to dinner.

After getting in the car, she clicked on the resume sent by Elliot and took a cursory glance.

Soon, she sent a message to Elliot: Why does the person you recruited look a bit like Chad?

Elliot: [Yes. His temperament is very similar to Chad, and his tone of speech is also a bit similar. But he hadn't been in contact with Chad before, so it should be a coincidence.]

Avery: [Are you looking for a substitute for Chad?]

Elliot: [...]

Avery: [If Chad knew about this, he would definitely be moved to death.]

Elliot: [.....]

Avery: [Since you are sure you want him, let's make an appointment and we will bring the assistant out to have a meal together.]

Elliot: [He will start his job tomorrow, wait for him to go to work and see how his work is going.]

Avery: [I thought you were very confident in your own vision!]

Elliot: [He used to work abroad, so let's have a look at it first.]

Avery: [Yes! Let me know when you have set a time. I signed a contract with Eric this morning and am going out to dinner now!]

Elliot: [Don't call me when you eat?]

Avery: [? ? ?]

Elliot: [Don't I deserve to have dinner with big stars?]

Avery: [Location]

Elliot: [OK, I'll be there in half an hour.]

...

In a certain community, Norah Jones received a message: [Sister Jones, the personnel of Sterling Group just sent me an offer. thank you!]

After Norah received the news, she immediately dialed the phone and congratulated Hayes Klein.

"Hayes, I knew you would definitely succeed. As long as you listen to me, you will definitely be fine." Norah said excitedly.

"I met Elliot this morning. I think he is very friendly and not as scary as I thought. As long as I work hard, he will definitely not make things difficult for me on purpose.” Hayes Klein said to his heart, “Sister Jones, you talked to me before. What I said, I will keep it in my heart. If I see someone with scars on their wrists, I will definitely tell you as soon as possible. If there is nothing else, we should not contact us any more.”

The expression on Norah’s face suddenly got colder.

“Sister Jones, I’m not crossing the river to demolish the bridge. I really cherish this job. Being able to work by Elliot’s side will help me a lot in the future. I don’t want to make any mistakes, I hope you can understand me.”

Hayes was a little embarrassed.

“I didn’t ask you to meet again, what are you afraid of? You mean we don’t have to make phone calls in the future, right?” Norah was a little unhappy,

“Aren’t you crossing the river and demolishing the bridge?”

“Sister Jones, I said, If I see Elliot with the kind of person you mentioned, I will tell you. Isn’t that enough?” Hayes was a little angry.

“Enough! I’m just dissatisfied with your attitude. You are so ruthless! With your emotional intelligence, no one will call you in the future, and you will suffer sooner or later. If you don’t believe me, we’ll see.” Norah finished talking, After a while, Hayes took the initiative to hang up the phone.

Norah gritted her teeth and clenched her phone tightly, wanting to vent her anger, but she didn’t dare to drop the phone.

Either way, Hayes Klein promised to let her know if there was any news.

Now Norah couldn’t tear up her face with Hayes.

Norah hadn’t been out since she was followed last time out to wash her hair. She didn’t know if the annoying spirit who followed her was still squatting in the community.

She came out of the bedroom, took a glass of water and drank it. After calming down, she called Sasha.

Chapter 2431

Norah: "Sasha, the person I was looking for got an offer from Sterling Group."

"Not bad. The speed is really fast! It seems that Elliot is very satisfied with him!" Sasha praised, "You have a good eye for people."

Norah: "Yeah. He said that he will tell me about new discoveries next."

"Then just wait!" Sasha was doing manicures in the nail salon, "Can you go out now?"

"I know if that person is still in my community. I'll take a look later when I throw out the trash." Norah was a little irritable, "If that person is still there, then you have to do anything in the future."

Sasha: "It's easy to say. Now that Elliot's energy is on you, I'm much safer. That's not bad."

Sasha said this, but there was some truth to it.

"Then we will keep in touch, and I will notify you immediately if there is any progress." Norah said.

Sasha: "Okay. If there is any danger, you will notify me as soon as possible. As long as you don't betray me, I will never fall for you."

Norah: "Sasha, don't worry, we two are bound together, and we will definitely be more Tightly together."

At a restaurant.

Elliot met Avery's new assistant Gloria Wiens.

Seeing Elliot, Gloria Wiens immediately took the initiative to say hello: "Mr. Foster, hello. I'm Gloria Wiens, assistant of President Tate."

Eric's manager laughed and joked: "Generally, the bosses surnamed Foster don't like being called President Foster. Boss Foster, Vice President, isn't this a downgrade? You have to call Boss Foster.”

Gloria Wiens blushed and immediately changed her words: “Boss Foster, I’m sorry, I will pay attention to it later.”

Elliot glanced at Eric’s agent: “Have you watched too much TV?”

“It’s not really. I know a boss surnamed Foster. During a dinner, he told me that he hated people calling him President Foster the most.” The agent explained, “But Boss Foster, you are more successful, so you have a big pattern.”

“Let’s eat!” Avery looked at the food on the table and picked up his chopsticks, “Aren’t you hungry? I’ve been hungry for a long time. Gloria, don’t be restrained! We are all familiar with each other, so you’re welcome and now let’s eat more.”

“Okay boss.” Gloria Wiens picked up the chopsticks and began to eat softly.

Elliot saw that Gloria Wiens was wearing a skin-colored wristband on her left wrist.

In addition, Gloria speaks and does things, behaves and looks generous, no wonder Avery trusts her so easily.

After lunch, Elliot took Avery for a walk nearby.

“How do you feel about my assistant?” Avery asked.

Avery: “Yes. Her temperament is very elegant, giving people a feeling of neither arrogance nor impetuosity. Just looking at her, I feel very relaxed.”

“Maybe it has something to do with her tea art since elementary school.” Elliot said this with great interest, “Let’s go shopping!”

Avery: “What to buy?”

“Buy a New Year’s gift for the children.” Elliot said, “But if you’re sleepy, then I'll take you back to the company."

"I'm not sleepy. When I was in the restaurant, the heating was a little dizzy.

Now I'll wake up after the cold wind blows out." Avery clenched her big palm tightly, "Let's go shopping!"

The two of them went shopping from after one o'clock in the afternoon until more than three o'clock in the afternoon.

Avery had too many things to buy.

In addition to buying gifts for her own children, she also bought gifts for Tammy's child, Shea's child, and the children of G-Temple.

After shopping, Avery's feet were sore.

The shoes she's wearing today had high heels. Walking around in clothes was tiring.

Avery: "Husband, go back to the company! I'll ask the driver to take me home."

Elliot carried a large bag and a small bag and said, "I'm tired too. Let's go home and rest together."

Chapter 2432

Avery couldn't help laughing: "You don't have work in the afternoon?"

Elliot: "The work is always endless. You have to leave some work for the people under your command."

"Vice President Locklyn specially hired it for me. He is very motivated at work." Avery said with satisfaction, "When the time comes for our company's annual meeting, will you go?"

"I will go if you let me go." Elliot replied, "The children are going on winter vacation, so take the children to play with him."

"Yes! Layla can come to play, I'm afraid Robert can't stand the noise." Avery considered that Robert would sit first Arrangement, too close to the stage and the sound may be too loud for the children, "When the time comes, you can take care of the children at home!"

Elliot: "...What about the annual meeting of my company?"

After thinking about it, Avery said: "I'll go with you then."

Elliot: "Where's the child?"

Avery: "Layla is going to visit Eric during the winter vacation. Robert asked me to go to Kara or Maria to play with them! As long as he is tired from playing during the day, he will not make noise at night."

Elliot: "..."

"Then what if I want to go to your company's annual meeting? Can I send Robert to Wesley's house to play?" Elliot made a small request, "Your annual meeting will be held in front of us, and I will see how your annual meeting is going."

Avery: "If you want to come, you can! It's just that when the host invites you to speak on the stage, then you have to go up. After all, you can't be too embarrassed by so many people watching, right?"

Elliot: "..."

After returning home, Avery regained her energy after putting on her slippers. She carefully packaged and sorted the gifts she prepared for the children. It was mainly a gift for the children of G-Temple, which she packed in two relatively large shopping bags.

She waited until the day before the new year, and let the bodyguard sent it there. The gifts she chose for the children included picture books, stationery, trinkets that girls prefer, and cash red envelopes.

She hoped her actions could bring a touch of warmth to the children.

After doing everything, she picked up the phone and checked the time.

Layla had an exam today, and she would go home directly after the exam.

Mrs. Cooper had already started preparing dinner, fearing that Layla would be hungry when she came back.

Although exams were not physical work, they used too much brainwork and stress, and they were prone to hunger.

“Avery, I cooked big bone soup, would you like a bowl?” Mrs. Cooper asked when she saw that Avery was done.

“Okay!” Avery was not hungry, but a little thirsty.

Mrs. Cooper brought a bowl of soup and put it on the coffee table.

Avery wanted to call Aqi to ask if Layla’s exam was over, but at this moment, a message from Gwen came.

Gwen sent her a picture of a bowl of soup.

Avery didn’t expect such a coincidence, so she took a photo of her soup and sent it: [I’m drinking soup too.]

Gwen: [What kind of soup are you drinking? I drank pigeon soup. Ben went to buy a lot of pigeons this morning and asked the nanny to cook pigeon soup for me every day. I’m really convinced, he sometimes does things very exaggeratedly.]

Avery: [Hahaha! He cares more about you. Don’t argue with him over this trivial matter.]

Gwen: [I didn’t scold him. I started my vacation today and feel less irritable.

And this is the first time I know that pigeon soup has the effect of regulating menstruation.]

Avery: [Generally, if you don’t check it, you won’t know this. He takes good care of you.]

Gwen: [Hmm. After I asked my agent for leave this morning, he wanted to take me to the hospital. He said he wanted to take me to the hospital for a full body checkup. I refused. Because I have a little pain in my abdomen today, I feel that my aunt is coming.]

Avery: [A general physical examination is still necessary. Under certain conditions, it is recommended to have a physical examination once a year.]

Chapter 2433

Gwen: [I understand the truth, but I don't like doing inspections. Because every time the medical checklist comes out, a bunch of small problems can be checked out.]

Avery: [Everyone has small problems. As long as there are no major problems.]

Gwen: [Wait until my period is over. I'm all worried about having my period when I get married, it would be too embarrassing to do that.]

Avery: [It's okay. You relax. Many brides are still getting married with a big belly!]

Gwen: [Mmmm, Ben plans to start vacation with me tomorrow. I actually knew he was very accommodating to me. I get mad at him a lot, but I know he's not really mad at me. I am really worried that he will die in the future.]

Avery: [...]

Gwen: [I dare not tell him this, for fear that he will get angry when he hears it. I sometimes get angry with him because I think he might die before me, leaving me alone in this world, what should I do.]

Avery: [Gwen, don't think so much. A happy day is a day, otherwise thinking about unhappy things every day, how hard it is to live!]

Gwen: [After chatting with you for a while, I feel better.]

Avery: [Robert and Layla are going on winter vacation. I'll bring the children over to play with you.]

Gwen: [Okay, okay! When it's time for our rehearsal, you all come together!]

Avery: [OK.]

In two days.

With his assistant, Elliot invited Avery and Gloria Wiens out for dinner.

Hayes worked by Elliot's side for two days, and he was basically able to complete the tasks given by Elliot very well.

If Hayes maintained this working attitude, it would be no problem to change.

After the four met, the waiter immediately brought the dishes to the table.

"Boss, do you drink juice or milk?" Hayes asked Elliot in a low voice.

Elliot: "I'll do it myself."

Hayes immediately looked at Avery: "President Tate, do you want to drink juice or milk?"

"Ask Gloria! I'll do it myself." Avery smiled.

"Mr. Klein, I'll do it myself." Gloria said.

After Hayes poured himself a glass of juice, he put the juice pot on the table.

Gloria brought the juice pot and asked Avery, "President Tate, do you want juice?"

Avery handed over her cup: "Thank you."

When Gloria Wiens poured the juice for Avery, Hayes saw Gloria Wiens wearing Bracer's left hand.

It's not how attractive her bracers were, but her skin was very fair, so white that it's translucent.

Her skin was not only white, but also looked very delicate.

Hayes just stared at her hand for two seconds, and his face turned red involuntarily.

Elliot noticed the assistant's gaffe, and handed over his glass: "Milk."

"Okay." Hayes immediately picked up the milk carton and poured milk for Elliot.

"Hayes, are you married yet?" Avery asked when she saw Hayes's face was a little red.

Hayes: "Not yet. I had a girlfriend whom I had been talking with for three years. Because I decided to go back to work in Aryadelle, she broke up with me. Because she didn't want to come to Aryadelle."

Avery: "Oh, she's not from Aryadelle, right?"

"Yes. She prefers her motherland, and I prefer mine, so there is no way to continue." Hayes said helplessly.

"It's okay, you're so good, it's still easy to find a girlfriend when your job stabilizes." Avery comforted, afraid that Hayes would hit Gloria Wiens's idea, so she cleverly said, "By the way, I forgot to tell you, Gloria is from Yonroeville."

Chapter 2434

Hayes gave up after hearing what Avery said.

Avery continued with a smile: "Hayes, your company has a lot of outstanding single female employees, and all of them are beautiful women."

Hayes raised an embarrassed smile: "President Tate, I don't accept office romance. It's better to be separated from life."

"Oh...our company also has many single female employees. Next time the employees of the two companies meet, you can pay more attention." Avery joked.

"My plan at this stage is to work hard." Hayes must show his attitude towards work in front of his boss.

Avery: "Your boss won't interfere with your relationship. You don't need to be so nervous."

"President Tate, I didn't mean to say this in front of the boss. The last failed relationship made me feel a little tired." Hayes explained, "I don't have a job. It will make me feel tired."

"Then you should work hard and adjust your mood." Avery said.

Hayes: "Yeah."

After dinner, Elliot asked Hayes to send Gloria back.

Gloria refused directly, saying that she could take a taxi back.

"Assistant Wiens, it just so happens that I have to take a taxi back. Let's take a car! It's very late now. If you go back as a girl, your boss and my boss will both be worried."

After Elliot and Avery left, Hayes and Gloria waited for the bus by the roadside.

"Assistant Wiens, I'm a little thirsty. I'm going to buy a bottle of water. Just wait for me." Hayes said to Gloria after seeing the boss's car drive away.

Gloria nodded.

During dinner, after Avery told Hayes that Gloria was from Yonroeville, Hayes stopped staring at her.

Everyone was an adult, and Gloria believed that Hayes also knew that it was completely impossible between them.

After a while, Hayes bought two bottles of water and handed it to Gloria.

"I'm not thirsty, thank you." Gloria refused.

"Take it! It's just a bottle of water, you can drink it when you get home." Hayes smiled and shoved the water into her hand, then stopped a taxi on the side of the road.

After the two got into the car, Hayes reported to the taxi driver where he lived, and then looked at Gloria.

Gloria immediately said where she lived.

“Go to her side first.” Hayes said to the driver.

“Okay!” The driver responded and turned around at the intersection ahead.

The neighborhood they both lived in was not right.

“I’m renting a house, so are you?” The atmosphere in the carriage was a little awkward, so Hayes took the initiative to speak up and broke the silence, “I heard that you submitted your resume for Sterling Group, you are really brave.”

“Are you laughing at me?” Gloria smiled lightly, “I think of what I did now, and I feel so stupid.”

“Not stupid. Sometimes it is because we do things that others dare not do, so we compare ourselves to it. Others are the first to touch the opportunity.”

Hayes praised her, “Being an assistant by Avery’s side is actually similar to being an assistant by my boss’s side.”

“Can we be friend? If there is any problem at work in the future, we can communicate.” Hayes took out his mobile phone.

Gloria saw that Hayes had already taken out his mobile phone, so it was not easy to refuse.

After the two added friends, Hayes revised her note: “Is your name written like this?”

Gloria leaned in front of his phone and said, “Art is the art of art.”

“Okay. My name is Hayes Klein, the sea of the sea. You can call me Hayes.”

“Are you older than me?” Gloria hesitated for a while, “It seems inappropriate to call your name, I’ll call you Brother Hayes. Brother Hayes, let’s go!”

“Ahh.” Hayes was a little hot, so he unscrewed the water bottle and prepared to take a sip of water.

Chapter 2435

At this time, the driver braked, and the water in the water bottle suddenly poured out.

The clothes on Hayes’s chest were wet, and Gloria’s left hand was also wet.

Hayes immediately screwed on the lid of the water bottle, and then apologized to Gloria: “I’m sorry! Are your clothes wet?”

The driver glanced at the back and immediately handed them the tissue box:

“I’m sorry, I’m sorry, there was a car suddenly Squeeze to the front, this person is too incompetent!”

Hayes took the tissue box and took out several sheets of paper and handed them to Gloria.

“It’s okay. You drive seriously, safety first.” Hayes said with a good temper.

Gloria took the tissue and wiped the wet area on her arm.

The wristbands were also wet and uncomfortable to wear. So she took off the bracer.

The light in the carriage was particularly dim, but because her arms were very white, Hayes could still see the faint scars on her wrists.

Hayes seemed to have been hit by an electric current, and he couldn’t come back to his senses.

He stared blankly at the hideous scar on Gloria’s left wrist, thinking of the task Norah Jones had given him...

Gloria noticed that Hayes seemed to be looking at her wound, so she put on the wrist guard again...

“Brother Hayes, did I scare you?” Gloria asked nervously.

“No...” Hayes looked at her clean face and forced a smile, “What’s the matter with the scar on your wrist? Could it be...”

“It’s what you think. When I went to the interview, President Tate also asked me.” Gloria didn’t want to repeat it, “I didn’t want everyone to ask me this question when they saw it, so I wore a wrist guard.”

Hayes nodded and didn’t continue to ask: “You are from Yonroeville, right?”

Gloria: “Well.”

Hayes thought that Elliot and Avery had been to Yonroeville before, and it seemed that something happened in Yonroeville as well.

So he became more and more certain that Gloria might be the person Norah was looking for.

Norah was not a kind person. Norah had deliberately tried to find Gloria, but there must be no good thing.

Thinking of this, Hayes’s mind became a mess.

Should he tell Norah about this immediately?

If he told Norah, then Gloria would definitely be in trouble.

Aside from the fact that Gloria was from Yonroeville, Hayes had a little fondness for Gloria.

Like Gloria, a girl with a pure and pure first love face, which man could not like after seeing it?

The car quickly stopped at the gate of the community where Gloria rented.

Gloria wanted to pay the fare, but was stopped by Hayes.

“You don’t have to be polite to me for this little money.” Hayes said, “It’s very late, you should go back and rest!”

Gloria: “Thank you then!”

Hayes wanted to say ‘you’re welcome’, but the words came to the fore.:

“Contact again when you have time.”

Gloria nodded and got out of the car.

Seeing Gloria entering the community and disappearing from sight, Hayes retracted his gaze and said to the master, “Drive!”

The driver smiled and glanced at Hayes from the rearview mirror: “Do you like that young lady? Just go after her if you like it. She is so beautiful and has a good figure.”

Hayes: “She is from Yonroeville.”

“What happened to the people of the Yonroeville? When a woman marries a man, that is to marry a chicken, follow a chicken, marry a dog and follow a dog.” The driver encouraged, “My daughter-in-law is from another province. At first, her parents did not agree with her marrying me. Later, she was not married and gave me two big fat boys. Hehe!”

Hayes heard the driver’s words, and his mind was a little shaken.

Chapter 2436

Foster family.

After Elliot and Avery returned home, Layla immediately ran to Avery.

“Mom, isn’t Uncle Eric going to be the spokesperson of the Tate Industries? He is going to shoot our company’s commercial tomorrow. Take me to the scene to watch him shoot!” Layla didn’t know where to find out the shooting news.

Avery also confirmed the shooting time with Eric today.

“Layla, I have promised you Aunt Gwen, I will take you and Robert to see her tomorrow.” Avery said, “Don’t you like to attend other people’s weddings? Tomorrow your Aunt Gwen’s wedding will be rehearsed, it’s fun!”

Layla was confused. She wanted to watch Aunt Gwen’s wedding rehearsal, but she also wanted to watch Eric's commercial.

"Mom, let me think about it! I want to go on both sides." Layla pouted and glanced at Elliot, "Dad, where are you going tomorrow?"

Elliot chuckled lightly: "Dad is going to the company tomorrow. The company goes to work."

"Oh...then I'd better watch Uncle Eric's commercials! Auntie Gwen is just a wedding rehearsal tomorrow, not a real wedding. I can watch it again when she gets married. When Layla thought of this, her mind suddenly became open-minded and transparent, "Mom, then I'll tell you! I'll call Uncle Eric and ask him to pick me up tomorrow!"

Avery: "..."

Layla ran away, not giving Avery a chance to react at all.

"Is your daughter's grades out yet?" Elliot asked.

"The teacher said that the grades will be released in a week." Avery replied,

"Let her play! Before the exam, the child is studying every day and night.

During the day and at night, she is more tired than we go to work. Now it's time for her to relax."

Elliot also felt sorry for Layla, so he had no objection: "Is Eric's shooting indoors or outdoors?"

"I didn't ask the specific details. But I guess it should be outdoors." Avery couldn't help laughing at him, "Because we are selling drones."

In order to regain face, Elliot forcibly defended: "Don't you know the special effects? You can shoot it indoors, surround it with a green cloth, and then create an outdoor scene later."

Avery: "Why bother? "

Elliot: "It's winter now, how cold is it outdoors!"

“Oh, are you afraid that your daughter will be frozen when she goes to the Eric filming tomorrow?” Avery saw through his thoughts, “Don’t worry, Your daughter is in good health! They have physical exercises every day at school, and her health is better than ours.”

Elliot: “You can’t be negligent just because your daughter is in good health. I will accompany my daughter to the filming site tomorrow. A thicker down jacket, as well as snow boots, hats, gloves, scarves and the like.”

“I’ll look for it right away.” Avery smiled, “Then you and Layla will go to Eric tomorrow, and Robert will go to Gwen’s side.”

Elliot: “Yeah.”

The next day.

Eric came to pick up Layla early in the morning.

Elliot wrapped Layla tightly, and then contentedly led her into his car.

“You go ahead and lead the way.” Elliot said to Eric, “I’ll go see your shooting.”

“We’re going to shoot in the snow, where the minimum temperature is minus ten degrees. You may need to bring a thick coat.” Eric looked at Elliot’s thin coat and joked, “Don’t get frostbite, Avery will trouble me then.”

“Dad, go and wear more clothes! Otherwise, you will faint from the cold, and Uncle Eric won’t be able to shoot normally.” Layla said worriedly.

Elliot: “???”

Elliot fainted, but her daughter was worried that Eric’s filming would be affected?

“Mom! Dad’s wearing less! Get Dad a thick coat!” Layla shouted into the villa, seeing Dad standing motionless beside the car.

Not long after, Avery took out a long men’s down jacket.

“I’ll just say you’re wearing less clothes. You’re staying outdoors, you’ll definitely catch a cold if you wear less clothes.” Avery was not in a hurry to go out, so she hadn’t changed out of her pajamas.

But when Avery went out, she put on a thicker nightgown.

Chapter 2437

“This is on the outside. If you go to the company, just take off the down jacket directly.” Avery gave his down jacket on and took a pair of leather gloves from his pocket.

Elliot was stunned. He didn’t even remember having such a thing.

“I found it in the cloakroom. You should have bought it before.” Avery said, and forced him to put on leather gloves.

While Avery was putting on Elliot’s down jacket and gloves, Mrs. Cooper took out a pair of men’s large leather boots.

Mrs. Cooper didn’t know when Elliot bought these big leather boots, but it was certain that Elliot had never worn them. Because this pair of shoes had absolutely no signs of use.

“Put them on.” Avery took the boots from Mrs. Cooper and put them at Elliot’s feet.

“I’m short of a hat now, let alone minus ten degrees, even if I go to a place where it is minus twenty degrees, it’s fine.” Elliot crouched down and joked while changing his shoes.

Avery put his down jacket hat on his head: “Isn’t this a hat? If you are cold later, put the hat on.”

After sending the father and daughter away, Avery went back indoors.

At that time, Gwen called.

“Avery, we have already left for the hotel, have you got up yet?”

“I changed my clothes and I am going out.” Avery said, “Where are Tammy and the others?"

"I haven't called Sister Tammy! Because my house is relatively close to the hotel, so it's too late to call her when we arrive."

"Well. Let's meet again." After Avery hung up the phone, she immediately went back to her room to change her clothes.

Sterling Group.

Hayes lost sleep last night and came to the company very early today.

He received news from Elliot that Elliot would not come to the company this morning, and asked him to find the vice president.

Hayes didn't need to be so tense this morning when his boss was not there.

He was struggling last night whether to tell Norah about Gloria.

If he tells to Norah, then he and Norah will be separated. In the future, he can work hard and no longer have to worry about Norah coming to him suddenly.

Reason asked him to do this, but his emotional side made him seize this opportunity, because he could use this to threaten Gloria. What if Gloria was threatened and hooked?

Gloria's simple face made him want to conquer.

However, Hayes had not made a decision yet.

But he knew very well that his hesitation had already explained the problem.

At noon, he sent a message to Gloria: [Assistant Wiens, are you free tonight?

There is something I want to talk to you about.]

Gloria was eating, and when she saw his message, she immediately replied:

[Is there anything we need to talk to?]

Gloria's reply made Hayes very angry.

This woman looked innocent and quiet, but she was actually cold-blooded and ruthless.

After thinking for a moment, Hayes dialed Gloria's number.

"Assistant Wiens, someone is looking for you." Hayes's voice was very low, his voice was gloomy, and it seemed to be a different person from last night.

When Gloria heard his voice, her body instantly became cold.

Chapter 2438

"Assistant Wiens, do you hear my voice?" Hayes raised his voice when he saw that she did not speak. "Don't be afraid! Since I called you, it must be because I didn't want to hurt you."

After Hayes's voice returned to normal, Gloria recovered. She frowned and said coldly: "Assistant Klein, don't make a fool of yourself. It's boring."

"Am I making a fool of yourself, don't you know when we meet tonight? It's the place where I had dinner last night. How's it going?" Hayes took the initiative, "Don't worry, I don't dare to mess around in public. If you want to leave, you can leave at any time."

"Let's see if I'm busy tonight!" Gloria didn't want to tell him more, so she hung up the phone.

After she hung up, Hayes sent another message: [I'll be waiting for you at 7:00 p.m.]

Gloria put down the phone and lost her appetite completely.

What exactly did Hayes mean?

Was someone looking for her?

Who was looking for her?

Had she been exposed? When was it exposed?

When Elliot sent someone to look for it before, didn't he hide it?

If Elliot found out something, it would be impossible to have no follow-up action at all.

When she had dinner with Elliot last night, Elliot didn't look at her at all, so Elliot never doubted her.

Avery was even more impossible.

After Avery recruited her, she assigned her a job and didn't care much about her.

Avery didn't come to the company today and didn't say anything to her.

If Avery doubts her, she will definitely find her directly.

So the person Hayes said was looking for her was neither Elliot nor Avery.

Who was the one?

After packing the lunch box and throwing it in the trash can outside, Gloria took her mobile phone and walked towards the place where no one was there.

She found mother-in-law's number and dialed it.

"Mother-in-law, how are you and Siena these days? Has anyone come to see you? Is there anything unusual about Siena at school?" Gloria asked in a low voice.

"We're fine! No one came to look for us where we lived, and Siena was also very good at school. After what happened a few days ago, other children in their class started to play with her." The mother-in-law returned, "Miss, why do you ask this all of a sudden? Is there something wrong?"

Gloria: "Elliot's new assistant said something very strange to me today. He said someone was looking for me. I heard his tone and felt like he knew something."

The mother-in-law: "Who is Elliot's new assistant? How does he know the inside story? Does Elliot know?"

"Elliot probably doesn't know. This person has just joined the job, and the person he said should be someone else.” Gloria said, “I will go and see him tonight and see what’s going on.”

The mother-in-law was frightened: “Miss, don’t go. What if there is any danger? Let’s go! No matter if you are being watched, It’s still not safe for me and Siena to be targeted.”

“It’s me who was found, as long as I don’t look for you, then you should be safe.” Gloria said calmly, “Don’t let Siena go to school tomorrow. Wait for my notice tonight.” The Mother-in-law agreed: “Miss, you have to be careful. If the situation is not right, retreat immediately. Don’t fight against those people. This is not the Yonroeville, if something happens to you I can’t find anyone to help you, even I’m just an old woman.”

“Don’t worry, mother-in-law. He shouldn’t want to let me have an accident. If he wants to hurt me, he won’t inform me.” After Gloria calmed down, she was less panicked.

Mother-in-law: “Miss, you still have to be careful.”

Gloria: “Well.”

Hotel.

Avery took Robert to watch the wedding rehearsal of Gwen and Ben

Chapter 2439

Tammy, Kara and Shea, Lilly, Maria were all at there.

The little guys were on winter vacation, and now they could play together every day.

Gwen arranged work for the little guys. Let them be flower girls on their wedding day.

The staff took a few children and taught them to follow behind Gwen.

Avery, Tammy and Shea sat in the seats next to each other, looking at the children with relieved smiles.

“Gwen’s devilish figure is really enviable.” Tammy looked at Gwen wearing a dress and sighed, “Ben is really lucky, if I were a man, I would also marry a beauty like Gwen. “ Shea praised sincerely: “Tammy, you are also very beautiful! You are so beautiful, and you are very lucky to be so beautiful!”

“You must have saved the galaxy in your last life.” Tammy leaned her head on Shea’s shoulder and acted like a spoiled child.

Avery was about to interject when the phone vibrated in the bag.

She took out her mobile phone from her bag and saw the video call from Elliot.

After hesitating for a while, she walked outside the banquet hall and took the video call.

Elliot was watching Eric’s commercial in the snow at this time, oh no, it should be said that he was watching Layla.

Layla kept staring at Eric’s side, so Elliot followed for a while.

“Wife, look, how is the scenery here?” After the video call was connected, Elliot showed Avery the snow scene around him, “Let’s go skiing here next time!”

“You only had surgery in the second half of the year. Let’s talk about it next winter!” Avery looked at the scenery on the screen, it was really beautiful, “Where’s Layla?”

Elliot immediately turned the camera towards his daughter: “Where is the camera, Where is my daughter? I’m tired.”

“Haha! Then you can find a place to sit and rest for a while!” Avery saw that his cheeks were red, and she didn’t know whether it was cold red or hot red, ”

I'm in the hotel now. Do you want to watch their rehearsal?"

"No." Elliot refused without thinking, "I just want to see you."

"We meet every day, haven't you seen enough?" Avery smiled.

"I just saw a couple sitting in the snow making out, so I miss you." Elliot told the reason honestly.

Avery's face turned even redder: "In the snow...Aren't they too cold?"

"Probably with someone they like, fire is burning in their hearts." At this point, he added, "It's nice to be young."

Avery: "Husband, we're pretty young too."

Elliot: "But we're not ashamed of them."

Avery: "...Don't envy others like this face?"

Elliot: "I don't want to go to work today."

Avery: "Why?"

Elliot: "When the shooting is over, it'll night when I go back to the city."

Avery: "Is it going to take so long? Did the shooting go bad?"

Elliot : "The filming should go well, but my daughter wants to play in the snow here. She has made an appointment with Eric, and when the filming is over, we will go skiing together."

Avery suddenly realized: "Then you can go skiing with them!"

"My daughter didn't invite me." Elliot said sadly, "She only sees Eric in her eyes, but she can't see her old father at all. I'm not old yet, and she doesn't take me seriously anymore..."

"Give your phone to your daughter, I want to have a word with her." Avery can understand Elliot's mood in particular.

If Layla continued like this, Avery was afraid that the contradiction would deepen in the future.

Chapter 2440

Wife, shouldn't you scold your daughter? Don't talk about her. I don't mean to blame her. She must be tired of seeing me every day." Elliot was eager to protect Layla.

"What are you thinking! My daughter is so old, how could I scold her for such a trivial matter." Avery couldn't help laughing, "Give her your phone!"

Elliot was still worried and asked, "What are you going to tell Layla?"

"I asked her to care more about her father, what's the matter, can't I say this?"

Avery asked.

"Yes, of course. My wife still loves me." Elliot walked towards Layla happily.

After giving the phone to Layla, Elliot stood beside her, pricked up his ears, and listened to the mother and daughter.

"Layla, did you have a good time today?" Avery said softly.

Layla smiled and said excitedly: "Happy! Mom, I'm so happy today! It's so beautiful here! I just took a picture of Uncle Eric skiing and chasing a drone in the sky... woo woo woo, he's so handsome! Uncle Eric skiing is so handsome!"

Layla held her phone and jumped up.

Looking at the shaking camera, Avery could feel Layla's excitement.

Remember the website <https://Naijdate.com/>

"Layla, do you know that your father is here to accompany you today?" Avery said after her daughter calmed down a little, "He should have gone to work, and learned that you are going to such a cold place to see but he was afraid that you would freeze, so he came with you. You can't just look at your uncle Eric and forget about Dad!"

Layla made an 'oh', then glanced at Dad.

“Be nice to dad, okay? Your dad is very fragile at heart, and he needs our care. You can’t let him keep giving and get nothing in return! Right?” Avery continued to educate Layla.

Layla nodded at her mother’s words.

“Dad, come here!” Layla shouted to Elliot.

Elliot immediately walked to Layla’s side.

“Dad, you squat down.” Layla demanded, grabbing Dad’s big palm.

Elliot didn’t know what to do, but he squatted down obediently.

After Elliot crouched down, Layla immediately slapped his face and gave him a kiss.

“Dad, I love you very much! If Uncle Eric is compared with you, you must be more important! It’s just that I haven’t played with Uncle Eric for a long time, so I have been following him today. I’m with him every day, so I’ll definitely be happier to see you than to see him now.” Layla boasted loudly, making Elliot elated.

“My little baby’s mouth is so sweet!” All Elliot’s grievances and jealousy dissipated.

“Dad, next time you’re jealous, just tell me directly! Why do you tell your mom secretly?” Layla began to educate her dad, “Can I see you sad and leave you alone? Impossible!”

Elliot couldn’t help laughing and crying: “Okay, Dad got it.”

“I also want to let you hold me like my brother Robert at any time, but now that I’m so big, you can’t hold me anymore.” Layla continued to act coquettishly with her father, “Dad, you stand next to me! Can I hold you?”

Elliot nodded and held Layla’s hand.

In an instant, all the fatigue dissipated.

Avery was relieved to see the father and daughter reconciled.

For lunch, they ate the dishes to be eaten on the day of the banquet at the hotel.

“Ben and his parents came to try the dish.” Gwen said, “You can try it, if you don’t think it’s to your taste, you can change it now!”

“You think those guests came to your wedding just for the sake of eating this meal, hahaha!” Tammy laughed, “Your wedding is about to be held, so what are you going to change now? All ingredients like must be purchased in advance. As long as it’s not unpalatable, it’s ok.”

Gwen: “This table is not cheap, and it certainly won’t be unpalatable. But I ate breakfast in the morning and I’m still not hungry. Have you ever had pigeon soup? I suspect that the pigeon soup is too filling.”

Chapter 2441

Tammy: “Drinked it! It’s just a long time ago, and I can’t remember the taste now.”

Gwen: “Ben bought a lot of pigeons. You can go to our house to get them later.”

“Your husband bought it for you, what am I going to get.” Tammy couldn’t help laughing.

“It’s all right, Tammy, you go get it. I’ll buy it again when I don’t have it.” Ben said casually, “Pigeon soup is beautiful.”

Tammy: “But my skin is very good! Since I got rid of the bad habit of staying up late, my skin is getting better and better.”

“Then make up for it!” Ben also felt that there were too many pigeons at home, and with Gwen’s food intake, he didn’t know that she would eat until the Year.

“Won’t you buy less at one time?” Tammy decided to help them.

“Isn’t that for menstruation? Wouldn’t it be bad for Jun to drink too much?”

Gwen asked.

“Pfft! Gwen, does pigeon soup regulate menstruation?” Tammy was a little surprised.

“Otherwise, why did Ben buy so many pigeons? I don’t like taking medicine, so he would give me food supplements.” Gwen felt a hint of sweetness in her heart when she said this.

“Where does food tonic have such a big effect? Men are fine if they drink it. I also drink it in the morning.” Ben said calmly.

At this moment, Shea asked in concern, “What’s wrong with you, Gwen?”

“Shea, my period is irregular. It’s been delayed for many days this month.”

Gwen said with a smile, “After my wedding, I will go to the hospital to check. Don’t worry.”

“Oh...is it possible that you are pregnant?” Shea said lightly, “If you are pregnant, you will stop menstruating.”

Gwen: “....”

Ben paused while eating, and turned his head to stare at Gwen’s face.

Tammy and Avery also watched Gwen.

“What are you all looking at me doing...I don’t know what’s going on with me...” Gwen’s cheeks burned, she picked up the champagne glass in a panic, and wanted to drink a drink to suppress her shock.

Ben immediately took the wine glass from her hand.

“Are you two not using contraception?” Avery asked.

Gwen was still in the process of petrification, and Ben shook his head.

“Oh, if you don’t use contraception, it is indeed possible to get pregnant.”

Avery smiled, “Gwen, you’ll have dinner later, and go to the hospital for a checkup!”

Ben jumped and stood up from his chair.

Ben: “Go to check now!”

“Gwen hasn’t eaten yet!” Avery reminded, “Don’t be so anxious, you’re really about to get pregnant, and if the child is in Gwen’s belly, so she can’t run away.”

“Oh... Oh, eat first.” Ben sat down, picked up his chopsticks, and served Gwen with food.

Gwen was not hungry in the first place, but now that she had this guess, she couldn’t eat anymore.

“I can’t eat, I can’t eat anything. Ben, let’s go to the hospital to see!” Gwen stood up, finished talking to Ben, and looked at the others, “You guys can eat, don’t worry about us. I’ll tell the result after test reports come out.”

Just like that, Gwen pulled Ben away from the table.

Gwen was wearing high-heeled shoes, and within two steps of walking out, Ben immediately beat her up and picked her up because he was worried about her falling.

“I really envy the sweet love between the two of them now. After I married Jun, it was never so sweet.” Tammy sighed, “Although the age difference between the two of them is a bit big, Ben is really obedient to Gwen.”

Chapter 2442

“Kara, I will listen to you if you want to find a boyfriend in the future.” Tammy shared her experience with her daughter.

Avery: “Tammy, Kara is still young, why are you telling her this.”

“Okay! Our Kara is indeed too young. She has nothing else on her mind except eating, drinking and having fun all day long.” Tammy touched Kara’s head and saw that her mouth was full of oil, so she wiped her mouth with a tissue.

“Children of this age are like this. You should be glad that your Kara is so good. You have never seen a noisy child otherwise it’s a headache.” Avery comforted her.

“Is Robert very noisy?” Tammy said, seeing her deeply moved look, “But I think Robert is also very good!”

Avery: “I didn’t say Robert. Let’s go to public places, don’t you often see naughty children?”

“Oh, you say that kind of arrogant child! If my child is arrogant, I’ll break her legs.” Tammy said this sentence with a smile, “I-I hate bear children the most. Our Kara is actually about two years old and a little rebellious, so I fixed it.”

“Tammy, you are indeed very intimidating when you are fierce.” Avery laughed, “It’s definitely that kind of look. It looks like a bad girl, but it’s actually very honest.”

“That was also corrected by me. Before she knew me, she was not so honest.” Tammy looked proud, “Why didn’t a publisher ask me to publish a book! I-I think I can write a copy of ‘The Code of Yufu’. If it sells well, I will write another ‘The Code of Yuer’.”

“You have a good idea. If you really want to write it, then write it. I will pay for it. The money will be published for you.” Avery supported.

Tammy: “I’m joking! I’m too lazy to die. My dad was afraid that I might build his company. Not long ago, he hired a professional manager to manage the company. That’s why I’m so relaxed now. Ashamed, after all, I am used to being free and loose.”

“I’m about the same. My company has recruited a new vice president, and it looks good so far. So I can go to work now if I want, and it doesn’t matter if I don't want to." Avery said. She was not because of laziness, but because there were many things to do at the end of the year.

Work was so important, but so were children and friends.

At Gwen's wedding, Elliot, as a brother, didn't have much to worry about, while Avery, as a sister-in-law, should be more concerned.

Soon, it was night.

Tate Industries.

After got off work time at 6 o'clock, other employees in the office left work one after another.

Gloria sat at the workstation, pretending that her work was not over yet.

She was actually struggling to decide whether to go to Hayes's appointment.

She wanted to go in her heart, but she was afraid that after she went, things would gradually get out of control. She managed to get close to Avery so smoothly, and she hasn't investigated the truth of the tragedy. If Hayes destroys her plan, all her previous efforts will be lost.

After hesitating for half an hour, she picked up her bag and got up.

If she didn't go to the appointment, Hayes would definitely continue to find ways to force her.

Instead of running away, it's better for her to face him and see what information Hayes has.

At 7 o'clock sharp, Gloria appeared in restaurant and seeing Gloria coming over, Hayes immediately had a smile on his face.

Hayes: "Assistant Wiens, you are still here."

Gloria sat down opposite Hayes.

Chapter 2443

Hayes immediately handed Gloria the menu: "Order first! At this point, you should be hungry.”

“Let’s just get down to business!” Gloria pushed the menu away, “You said someone is looking for me, who is looking for me?”

Hayes took the menu, ordered a few signature dishes, and gave the menu to the waiter.

After the waiter left, Hayes picked up the kettle and poured a glass of water for Gloria in a hurry.

“Assistant Wiens, I can’t tell you who you are for the time being. But I can tell you how you exposed.” Hayes had already prepared a draft in his mind, so he spoke calmly. Gloria didn’t speak, and looked into his eyes calmly. She was completely unaware of when she was exposed.

“The scar on your wrist is rare.” Hayes pointed out the question, “I don’t understand what you did, but I can tell you that the person looking for you is not a small person.”

Gloria listened to his words, Immediately took off the left hand on the table.

“If you hadn’t taken off the wristband last night, I wouldn’t have found out.”

Seeing the mess on her face, Hayes was even more certain that she had a problem.

“I’m not the only one with scars on my wrists. How do you know that the person behind you is looking for me?” Gloria wanted to deny it. She also wanted to know if Hayes had any other information besides this information.

“Assistant Wiens, since I’m sure it’s you, I naturally have a way and a reason for my identification. My relationship with that person is not very good, I can betray you, and I can keep you. If you want me to protect you, you must promise me a request.”

“Hayes, you mean that the person is looking for a person with a scar on the wrist, but the person doesn't know what the person with a scar on the wrist looks like, right?" Gloria said.

"Gloria, if I don't say something, it doesn't mean I don't know anything.

Although it's not Elliot and Avery who asked me to help you, but this matter must have something to do with them. You want to be Elliot by submitting your resume. It's not because you need this job and you need to earn more money. My boss has made a thorough investigation of your details, and your information is now lying in my folder. Miss Wiens, if I'm not sure, How dare I threaten you?"

Hayes picked up his words and waited for Gloria's reaction.

Gloria took out her mobile phone and sent a message to her mother-in-law:
[leave here with Siena.]

"Gloria, I know you don't like me, and I didn't ask you to marry me." Hayes planned to go step by step, "I just want you to be my girlfriend. The first time I saw you last night, I-I'm amazed by you."

"Sc*mbag." Gloria said unceremoniously, "Didn't you say last night that you broke up with your ex-girlfriend, that you were heartbroken by your feelings, and you just want to work hard? You said this in front of your boss. "

"My boss is also a man. If I fall in love with you, he will definitely understand me." Hayes felt that Elliot and Avery would not interfere with his relationship with Gloria.

"What if I don't agree?" Gloria didn't want to get married and didn't want to fall in love with Hayes.

Hayes looked like a handsome gentleman, but he was actually a mean person.

Being with this kind of man made her feel sick every second.

“Gloria, I know that you have high spirits and high vision, so naturally you don’t look down on me. Since I can’t get you, I can only tell that person your information.” An indifferent dark light flashed in Hayes’s eyes, “Really It’s a pity that Avery likes you so much. If you continue to stay by Avery’s side, maybe your plan can be successfully completed!”

This sentence was like a basin of cold water, splashed on Gloria’s face that let her wake up instantly.

The purpose of her coming to Aryadelle was to get close to Avery. Now that she had successfully stayed by Avery’s side, how could she give up halfway?

Chapter 2444

“I can agree to your request, but I will not marry you.” After thinking for a moment, Gloria said, “I am not targeting you, I am a non-marriageist. If you don’t believe me, you can ask my boss.”

“Why don’t you want to get married?” Hayes asked curiously.

“Some people yearn for marriage, some don’t like marriage. There is no reason, they just don’t like being tied to another person.” Gloria said lightly, “Furthermore, even if I say I want to marry you, my parents will not agree. It is impossible for them to promise me to marry in Aryadelle.”

Hayes smiled: “I have no intention of forcing marriage. I am not that casual. I just like your appearance very much, you are very beautiful and your figure fits me very well.”

“I’m so unlucky.” Gloria mocked herself.

The smile on Hayes’s face disappeared: “Am I that bad? You just look down on me like that.”

Gloria: “I’m not familiar with you. I told you that I’m not married, I don’t get married, I-I don't like men, but you force me to fall in love with you, think for yourself, how annoying you are."

"You have the handle in my hands, yet you dare to speak to me like this, Gloria, you are really not afraid of provoking. Are you mad at me?" Hayes couldn't hold back his face, and was a little annoyed.

He thought he was very polite to Gloria.

"What you said just now, are you farting again?" Gloria continued unceremoniously, "Didn't you say that you like my appearance and body? I just said a few words to you, but you started disliking me."

Hayes laughed angrily at her words.

Hayes: "Gloria, I really didn't expect you to have such a side in private. It surprised me. I found that I like you more and more."

Because Hayes said so, Gloria shut up.

Hayes: "Why don't you talk? I'm afraid of talking too much. Do I like you more?"

Gloria looked like she was bitten by a poisonous snake, and immediately threw off his hand.

"Didn't you just say you promised to be my girlfriend? Touch your hand, what's wrong?" Hayes smiled, but the smile was cold.

"Don't you want to know who is looking for you? As long as you listen to me and fall in love with me, I'll be happy, and maybe I'll tell you." Hayes used this clue to threaten Gloria.

Gloria gritted her teeth and reminded herself to calm down.

"Don't do this in public. I don't like it. If you always only care about your own happiness and don't care about my feelings, I think that sooner or later, I'd rather risk my life than be humiliated by you like this." Gloria stated her bottom line.

“Okay, you don’t like to be like this in public, so I’ll be more restrained outside.” Hayes retracted his hand, “Gloria, are you going to live with me, or am I going to live with you?”

Gloria shook her head: “Are you in such a hurry? Can’t you do it without a woman?”

Hayes looked helpless: “Have you never been in a relationship? Other people are in a relationship and live together. I really need women, don’t women need men?”

Gloria: “I don’t need...”

Hayes: “I know what you’re saying. Just pretend you don’t need women, but I need women. Since you promised to be my girlfriend, then we have to live together. If you don’t want to move to my place, I can move to yours. That way you don’t have to bother you with what to do.” Hayes was not discussing with her, but informed her, “Don’t worry, I will not go back on what I promised you. I will respect you in public in the future, and I will not force you to marry me.”

“Give me a few days! I need to adjust my mood.” Gloria was in a terrible mood...

“Gloria, I told you so much, it’s useless? I won’t eat you, why are you afraid of me? If I give you a few days, how can anything change? You still won’t like me. Why don’t you? Just live together and cultivate feelings quickly.” Hayes rejected her request, “We’ll go to my place together after dinner later, I’ll pack my things, and then go to your place.”

Gloria: “.....”

“Let’s not tell Elliot and Avery about the two of us together.” Hayes weighed it and said, “Let’s make it public later in the year! By the way, do you want to go back to Yonroeville during the Spring Festival?”

“The Spring Festival is Aryadelle’s holiday, not Yonroeville.” Gloria said coldly.

Chapter 2445

“Then you can accompany me back to your hometown during the Spring Festival!” Hayes arranged with a smile, “Don’t worry, I will not let you be wronged. Since you are my girlfriend now, I will definitely do my best to treat you well...”

Gloria selectively blocked what Hayes said.

The next day, in the morning.

After Avery arrived at the company, she dialed Gloria’s internal number and asked her to come to the office.

Gloria soon came to Avery’s office.

Avery took out an exquisite small paper bag and handed it to her: “This is the wedding candy I got from the wedding rehearsal at the hotel yesterday. I’ll give it to you.”

Gloria accepted with a smile: “Thank you, President Tate. Whose wedding candy is this? “ “It’s my husband’s sister’s. She and the chief financial officer of Sterling Group are getting married.” Avery said with a smile.

Gloria: “That’s really a happy event.”

“Well.”

Avery saw the red mark on her neck, so she asked, “What’s wrong with your neck? Is it an allergy?”

Any traces on the skin could be seen clearly.

With an unnatural look, Gloria reached out and touched her neck: “Maybe I was bitten by a bug. The lighting in the rented house is not very good.”

“Then let’s change the house! Are you short of money? I’ll pay you your salary first!" Avery said, "It's very uncomfortable to live in a house with poor lighting."

"Thank you, President Tate, no need. I just rented it, and I'll change the house after three months." Gloria said politely, "If it's nothing. I'll go to work first. Thank you for the wedding candy."

Avery: "Well, let me know if you have any difficulties."

"Okay." After Gloria nodded slightly, she exited Avery's office.

After coming out of the office, Gloria strode towards the bathroom.

Last night, Hayes tortured her all night.

She had never suffered such humiliation.

Such grievances, she could not tell anyone.

Her family disapproved of her coming to Aryadelle. If she said she was wronged here, her family would only force her to go back.

She couldn't just compromise her fate like that.

She wanted to find a way to deal with Hayes.

...

At noon, Avery received a call from Mike and asked her to go to the airport to pick him up.

Mike and Chad came back to attend the wedding of Ben and Gwen.

"You are waiting for me at the airport, and I'll pick you up right away." Avery picked up her bag and walked out of the office immediately, "Chad came back with you, right?"

"You don't need to worry about Chad. He has already taken a taxi to Sterling Group. He said he was going to see Elliot's new assistant." Mike said, "He was afraid that Elliot's new assistant would not do well enough. So this time, he plans to bring the new assistant with him. Just in time, I will also visit your company to look at your new assistant.”

Chapter 2446

“Why are you so gossipy? Didn’t you read her resume?” Avery walked towards the elevator, “Wait for me at the airport, I’ll go there right away, and we’ll meet again.”

“Okay, pay attention to safety on the road. It’s snowing outside!” Mike stood at the gate of the airport, looking at the sky.

The temperature of Aryadelle was much warmer than that of Bridgedale as a whole.

Mike was standing outside, and he was feeling that blowing the cold wind didn’t too cold.

Forty minutes later, Avery came to the airport and met Mike.

“Do you know why I asked you to pick me up instead of taking a taxi to find you?” Mike carried the big suitcase and put it in the trunk.

Avery stood by the car and looked at him: “because of this suitcase?”

“Yes! It’s full of gifts for your children. It’s really stupid to run around with this suitcase. So you come and pick me up, If I put your trunk directly, won’t it solve the problem perfectly?” Mike closed the trunk, walked in front of her, stared at her face, “You have gained weight.”

Avery: “...”

Avery knew what she looks like now, and knew her current weight.

She just gained two kilograms more than she did a while ago. Was it that obvious to the naked eye?

She looked in the mirror every day and didn’t feel that she was obviously fat.

“Why is your mouth getting more and more annoying?” Avery wanted to reach out and pinch the flesh on his arm, but she couldn’t pinch it in winter when she wore too much.

“Isn’t it allowed to tell the truth these days? You see that after you gain weight, you look much better than before!” Mike supported her and took her into the back seat, “I’ll drive, you can sit and rest.”

Avery was amused by his dog-leg appearance: “I haven’t eaten lunch yet! Have you eaten?”

“No! Go eat near the company! Get your new assistant together.” Mike closed the rear door, then get in the driver’s seat.”

After the car drove out, Avery took out er mobile phone and dialed Gloria Wiens.

“Gloria, have you eaten? If you haven’t, then wait. A good friend of mine wants to invite you to dinner.”

Gloria was a little surprised: “Why did your good friend invite me to dinner?”

“Hahaha! He is one of the founders of the Tate Industries. He heard that I hired a new assistant, so he wants to meet you.” Avery explained.

“Okay.” Gloria replied, “Then I’ll wait for you at the company.”

“You go to the restaurant to order first, and I’ll send you the restaurant address later.” Avery said, “We will be there in about half an hour.”

Gloria: “Okay.”

After speaking on the phone, Avery sent the address to Gloria. Then sent the dishes that Mike liked to eat and let her order first.

“Gwen is pregnant, did you know?” Avery put the phone in her bag after sending the message, and said to Mike.

“Hahaha! As you said, we have a small group.” Mike looked smug, “Ben sent a red envelope to the group yesterday afternoon! I guess it sent tens of thousands!”

Avery: "..."

Just because Ben announced the news in the group, Chad took me back."

Mike continued, "Do you know what Chad said? He said that Ben is an old man. Good friend, you must come back to congratulate him."

"If Chad dares to say the words "old man" in front of Ben, I think their relationship will be very dangerous." Avery complained, "Why did Chad become a crow's mouth? Has he been assimilated by you?"

"What does it have to do with me? He only said it in private, but not in front of Ben. Don't you and Elliot not speak out in private?" Mike doubted.

Avery: "At least we won't say that Ben is old."

"That's because Elliot is as old as Ben! Hahaha!" Mike's laughter was magical, lingering throughout the carriage.

Chapter 2447

Avery: "Mike, do you think you are still young? You are a little smaller than Elliot."

Mike's smile suddenly solidified.

"You have a tender face. I have your medical report, and your physical condition is not as good as Elliot!" Avery put the facts in front of him.

Mike suddenly shut up.

Half an hour later, the two came to the restaurant and met Gloria.

The waiter brought the dishes to the table, and Avery picked up the chopsticks and said, "Are you all hungry? Eat!"

Mike picked up the juice pot, poured Avery a glass of juice, and then asked Gloria, "Assistant Wiens, what do you want Juice?"

Gloria saw that Mike was an informal person, so she nodded and thanked him.

Before Mike poured the juice to Avery just now, he didn't ask Avery if she wanted juice.

Their relationship must be very good.

"Assistant Wiens, are you still used to work?" Mike said with concern. "At the end of the year and the beginning of the year, you will be a little busy, but it will be a lot easier in normal times. You can get through the internship period and you will almost be able to relax."

Gloria: "I'm working dedicatedly. President Tate is very kind to me, and other colleagues take good care of me."

"Well. I heard that your family sells tea." Mike chatted, "Do you have any good tea recommendations for our family?"

Avery glanced at Mike: "Why are you asking this? Do you want to buy tea from Gloria's family?"

"Don't Ben like to drink tea? He's getting married soon, and I haven't decided what gift to give him!" Mike picked up the juice cup and took a sip of juice to moisten his throat, "How do you feel about giving tea?"

Gloria said, "Our tea is only sold in Yonroeville and the surrounding small countries. Even if I ask my mother to send tea, I'm afraid the logistics will take a long time."

"It's okay! You ask your mother to send me some delicious tea and aslo send it to the Tate Industries." Mike said, "How about I taste the best tea from your family!"

Avery: "Can you not put so much pressure on people? It's not up to you to judge whether their tea is good or bad. Besides, you don't know how to taste tea at all."

Mike: "Didn't I want to cheer for her family?"

Avery: "You can sell tea well even if you don't support other people's tea."

Gloria saw the two of them quarreling, immediately smiled and said, "President Tate, I will ask my mother to send some tea leaves, and I will make them for you to drink. In fact, there is no good or bad tea. Because everyone's taste requirements are different."

"You are right. I'm afraid it will be too much trouble for your mother." Avery said sternly.

Gloria: "No trouble. My mother loves me very much."

After lunch, Gloria returned to the company.

Avery sent Mike back to his residence.

"Your new assistant is not bad. She looks very smart." It was still Mike who drove the car.

Avery: "Yeah."

"Her family is so rich, and her mother loves her again, how can she be willing to let her work outside and suffer?" Mike said, "She stayed here to work for her boyfriend!"

Avery: "She doesn't have a boyfriend! Why do you say that?"

"She doesn't have a boyfriend? Then how did the strawberry print on her neck come from?" Mike laughed with determination, "She must have a boyfriend!"

"I asked her in the morning. She was bitten around the neck by a bug."

"Avery, why are you so innocent? How could it be bitten by a bug? Trust me, it was bitten by her boyfriend!" Mike exclaimed.

Chapter 2448

Avery's face turned red.

Avery: "She said she was unmarried."

"Ben used to say that Gwen was unmarried! Now she is pregnant." Mike teased, "Just listen to what others say, you are so serious!"

Avery: "Well. Even if Gloria has a boyfriend, you don't need to be so excited, right? I don't interfere with employees' romance."

Mike: "I'm exciting her, is it? I'm obviously excited about how you can be so stupid."

Avery suddenly changed her face: "It's not a big deal, there's no need to be so serious. She says that she was bitten by a bug, whether it was bitten by a bug or not. If it's what you guessed, it's embarrassing to tell the truth."

Mike: "I'll gossip with you in private. You see I didn't say anything in front of her just now."

Avery: "If you dare to say this, I'll just gag your mouth."

Mike: "Hahaha! I'm still measured. I'll go back to sleep first, and go see Ben and Gwen at night."

"Gwen was checked in the hospital yesterday, The progesterone level is low, and the doctor asked her to rest more. I don't know if their wedding will be held as usual. I have to go see Gwen at night. " Avery said.

"The problem shouldn't be serious, right?" Mike remembered how Ben gave out red envelopes frantically in the group last night, and thought everything was going well!

"It's not serious. But the fetus is not stable in the first three months of pregnancy. Gwen wants to hold the wedding as usual, and Ben listens to her, but Ben's parents think that the child is the most important thing, and it will not be too late to do it when the child is stable." Avery said, "If Gwen persists, Ben should follow Gwen's ideas. Gwen is pregnant now and can't get angry."

"Avery, to be honest, Gwen's temper is not very good." Mike complained to her, "Ben cried a lot in the group."

"Cry? What group? Pull me in." Avery was full of curiosity.

"If I pull you in, they will kick me out. It's all men. If you go in, they won't tell the truth in the group!" Mike said, "your husband is in there too!"

"Oh?" Avery raised her eyebrows, "Who created the group?"

"It was a Playing cards game before, and everyone didn't bring much cash, so they set up a group, and if they lost, they would give out red envelopes."

Mike said, "It later became a group of men complaining. Mainly Ben and Jun were complaining in it, but your husband didn't seem to say much."

"Give me your mobile phone and I'll look for his chat records." Avery asked Mike and reached out.

Mike immediately handed over his phone obediently, "Why don't you check Elliot phone? Didn't he check your phone for you?"

"Yes, but I feel a little embarrassed to use his phone to check." Avery turned on Mike's phone and asked, "Which group?"

"Playing cards group."

"Oh..." Mike had at least hundreds of groups, Avery typed in the word 'Playing cards group', and only then did she find the group that the men complained about.

Opening the group, she found the chat record, typed in the words Elliot, and suddenly there were several chat records related to Elliot in front of her.

Part of it was the records of other people Aite him, and the other was Elliot's speech in the group.

Elliot said a total of four sentences in the group.

From top to bottom in chronological order, they are:

message one: be patient.

message two: Patience.

message three: hold back.

Chapter 2449

message four: Forbearance forbearance.

Avery was stunned after reading the few messages Elliot sent.

She casually clicked on one of the before and after messages.

This was Ben complaining that Gwen didn't take medicine, saying that Gwen didn't take her body seriously, he couldn't control Gwen anymore, and said in the group that he didn't want to care about Gwen in the future.

So Elliot said: be patient.

Avery didn't expect him to be a peacemaker.

Avery clicked on another chat record. It was Jun who complained that Tammy went out to play in the middle of the night and didn't come home, and didn't care about the children. Jun said in the group that Tammy didn't care about his feelings, and that day would soon be over. Can't go down.

So Elliot said: Patience.

"Have you discussed me in the group?" Avery asked Mike with a smile.

"There should be! I don't often click on that group. When there are red envelopes, I go in and grab the red envelopes." Mike said cheekily.

Avery searched for the word 'Avery' in the chat records of that group, and sure enough, the group of men chatted with her privately.

Avery took a closer look, and basically everyone else talked about her, but Elliot didn't talk about her.

For example, Ben asked in the group: Elliot, every time Avery makes you angry, how do you enlighten yourself? I can't take it anymore!

For another example, Jun said in the group: Avery will definitely not be playing outside until midnight, right? Next time I see Avery, I have to ask Avery to educate Tammy well!

.....

“Elliot never complained about me in the group.” Avery was satisfied and returned the phone to Mike.

Mike: “Is it possible that Elliot didn’t dare to speak ill of you because I was in the group? Otherwise, if I find out, I’ll definitely tell you!”

Avery: “...I have a relationship with Elliot very good recently. It’s useless for you to sow discord.”

“Since the two of you are so good, why do you still check my cell phone?”

Mike retorted.

“Shut up and drive well.” Avery didn’t want to listen to Mike anymore.

Tate Industries.

Gloria called her mother and asked her to send some tea.

Mrs. Wiens: “Gloria, if you don’t listen to your mother, you will suffer sooner or later. Our family doesn’t need you to work outside, so why do you have to show your face outside? When you get into trouble, Mom and Dad don’t think you will be implicated.”

“Mom, I won’t cause trouble.” Gloria wanted to reassure her mother, “I will definitely not do anything that will harm you and Dad.”

Mrs. Wiens: “How can you believe what you said? How did you promise me in the first place? You asked me to sponsor you to go to university in Aryadelle, and I secretly gave you money every month, for fear that you would suffer in Aryadelle. You promised to come back after graduation, but you broke your promise again. Your father is very angry. Blame me for secretly giving money to you. If I didn’t secretly give you money, you would have been unable to bear the pain and come back.”

“Mom, I won’t cause trouble for the family.” Gloria didn’t know how to answer her mother’s question, so she could only repeat this sentence over and over again. Then, “Mom, I just want to know whether Avery is a good person or a bad person. I am working by her side now, and I should be able to clear my doubts soon.”

“Whether she is a good person or a bad person, what does it matter to you? She did the family killing case, so what? Are you going to kill her? If you dare to do this, you will force our whole family to die with you! You are unfilial! You are for a man who doesn’t want you. If you kill the whole family, you will go to hell if you die!” Mrs. Wiens cursed, “Your father doesn’t know about this. If you let him know, do you believe that he will cut off relations with you immediately?”

“Mom, don’t tell Dad. Please. I just want to know the truth. I won’t do anything.” Gloria begged, “Send me some tea!”

Mrs. Wiens sighed: “It’s already late at night, I’ll send it to you tomorrow! Your dad has a wine party tonight, and he hasn’t come back yet.”

Chapter 2450

“Why hasn’t dad come back so late?” After converting the time, Gloria frowned, “You ask the driver to go and look!”

“I called the driver, and the driver said that the private room door was closed and there were bodyguards guarding the door, so he couldn’t get in.” Mrs. Wiens worried, “I won’t be able to sleep if your dad doesn’t come back. I’m worried about what’s going on.”

“Mom, don’t worry. If something really happened, Dad won’t hide it from you. I’ll definitely tell you in advance.” Gloria said this because her parents’ feelings were in her mind.

“That’s not necessarily true. Your father has someone outside, and his heart is long away from me.” Mrs. Wiens told the piercing truth, “It’s just that your father is more traditional. As long as I don’t file for divorce, he won’t take it lightly. Gloria, your father doesn’t worry, and don’t you let your mother worry?

I hope that you will come back soon and spend more time with me. “

Gloria did not expect that the parents who she thought were loving, had a long time ago.

Gloria: “Mom, why don’t you divorce my father?”

“Divorce? What good will divorce do to me? If the third child gives birth to your father, and your father loses his mind and gives all the property to the child of the third child, what should we do?”

Gloria felt very uncomfortable after hearing these words.

“Gloria, what I told you, you must not tell the outside world. Don’t go to your father to tell it. He is still good to us. To maintain this kind of marriage, I don’t expect anything else.” Mrs. Wiens said, “Don’t tell your brother and sister this either. They don’t know, and I don’t want to tell them.”

Gloria: “Mom, why did you tell me?”

“Your brother, I just want him to be better at work. I don’t want him to know about these family chores. If he knows, he will definitely quarrel with your father.” Mrs. Wiens sighed, “Your sister is too young, I will definitely not talk to her about this. Gloria, you were originally the most caring child of your mother, but you want to cause such trouble for that Lorenzo.”

“Mom, I promised you that I would not implicate you. I just want to know what happened. It wasn’t Avery who did it.” Gloria said. If Gloria wanted to avenge Lorenzo, she didn’t dare to act rashly.

Gloria could ignore her own life, but her family was her weakness.

“It’s good that you have a sense of balance in your heart. Before you do anything, you must think about it.” Mrs. Wiens sighed, “I pamper you now, but it doesn’t mean that your father will always pamper you. Be prepared to return to Yonroeville at any time!”

.....

Schaffer family.

Avery and Tammy came to see Gwen together.

“Tammy, I’m really happy when you come to see me. But I’m really fine.”

Gwen took a day off today, looking good and in good spirits, “Ben consulted a gynecologist from another hospital today, and others saw it. After my laboratory test, I said that as long as I take the medicine well and don’t exercise vigorously, it’s fine.”

Tammy: “It’s a false alarm! It’s fine!”

“It doesn’t mean that my child is fine.” Gwen said calmly, “The expert said that if I take medicine and don’t exercise vigorously, the child still can’t keep it, which means that the embryo itself is not qualified. No matter how careful I am, it is futile.”

Tammy: “...”

“So, Look carefully! This time the doctor prescribed capsules, and I ate them on time. Whether the child can be saved depends on the will of God.” Gwen had a calm smile on her face, “The wedding will continue. I won’t wear high heels at that time. I won’t go to the honeymoon anymore. After the ceremony, I will go home and rest. I promise not to be tired.”

This was what she had discussed with Ben.

Ben: “I have a strong hunch that this child will definitely be born smoothly.

Because this time Gwen’s attitude is completely different from last time. Last time Gwen refused to have a child, this time Gwen wants a child. I can definitely feel the mother's love for it."

Chapter 2451

Tammy couldn't help laughing: "Your baby is still just a small embryo, it is not enough. What about the last life! Strictly speaking, your baby is now just an embryonic tissue."

Ben was stunned. He had no idea about this.

Gwen had a child once before, but Ben had no relationship with Gwen at the time, and Gwen quickly aborted the child, so Ben did not check the information about pregnancy and childbirth.

"I mean, Gwen wants to have a child now, so she will definitely be very careful. As long as Gwen pays attention and takes her medicine on time, the child will be fine." Ben reiterated his attitude. In order to find comfort, he looked at Avery, "Avery, do you think so!"

"Well, the mental state of the mother is indeed very important. I believe that the little baby will grow up healthy and give birth smoothly in Gwen's belly."

Avery's words are like a booster, to make everyone feel at ease.

The other side.

Hayes returned to Gloria's rental house after working for a while.

Taking the key to open the door, he saw that the ground was strewn with rose petals, the lights in the room were not turned on, and two red candles were lit on the table.

Gloria, wearing a red suspender nightdress, walked in front of him.

"Hayes, have you eaten? I sent you a message, but why didn't you reply?"

Gloria took Hayes's arm and walked to the table to sit down.

There were several delicious dishes on the table, which were full of color and flavor.

Hayes glanced at the food on the table, then looked up at Gloria.

Hayes: "Gloria, what's wrong with you tonight?"

"Thinking of how hard you were last night, I'll make up for it today." Gloria said shyly.

Hayes: "Hahahaha!" Hayes didn't expect that he would conquer Gloria after fighting all night last night, "Gloria, you are so beautiful tonight. I'll take good care of you later."

"Well... I don't know which brand of wine you like to drink, and you didn't reply to the message, so I bought two different brands of wine." Gloria said, picked up a bottle of wine, opened the lid with a corkscrew.

"I only saw your message when I was about to come back. Today Chad came to the company to talk to me, which caused a lot of work to pile up." Hayes handed the glass to her, "I can drink anything. Gloria, I didn't expect you to give me such a surprise. In fact, I'm really not bad. When I do this job well, I can stay by Elliot's side, and he will definitely not treat me badly."

"You like this job so much. I believe Elliot will definitely see it in his eyes and will definitely reuse you." After Gloria poured him a glass of red wine, she poured another for herself.

"I still want to be with you. Even if we don't get married, it's not bad for us to live like this for the rest of our lives." Hayes narrowed his fox eyes and said with a smile, "I never get tired of seeing you. You are not only beautiful, but also have a good temperament. It's also very good. Your temperament is not inferior to Avery at all. It is even more elegant than Avery."

Gloria raised her glass and clinked with Hayes.

"Hayes, I also figured it out today. Some people need to know more about him in order to know how good he is. For example, you." After Gloria finished speaking, she took a sip from her glass.

Chapter 2452

Hayes was very moved. He raised his wine glass and drank the wine in the glass.

Gloria immediately picked up the wine bottle and poured wine for him.

“Let’s have a good chat! After all, we don’t know each other very well.” Gloria said and poured him a good drink and said first, “Let me tell you about my family first!”

Hayes looked at her face in the dim light. Her face looked like she’s a different person tonight.

This morning, when Hayes talked to Gloria, Gloria completely ignored him. Unexpectedly, when Gloria came back from work all day, her attitude turned around unexpectedly.

“My parents are both from Yonroeville, and I have an older brother and a younger sister. My older brother is already working. He works in the tea company at home. My younger sister is still in high school. If our family’s situation is compared to Aryadelle, it can be regarded as a well-off family! Have you ever been to Yonroeville?”

Hayes shook his head: “I usually go to larger countries.”

Gloria: “My parents have strict requirements on the children, so most of the girls in our Yonroeville are more traditional. So yesterday I really found it difficult to accept...”

Hayes blushed in shame: “Gloria, I’m sorry! I didn’t know that your side is more traditional. If you told me this yesterday, I might not be so impulsive. If there is anything going on in the future, we should communicate well. If you can listen to me, I will listen to you, okay?"

Gloria looked shy, with the corners of her mouth raised: "Hayes, I told you about the situation in my family, now it's your turn."

Hayes: "Okay, the situation in my family is relatively simple."

"Let's drink this glass of wine first." Gloria picked up the glass and toasted him.

Hayes picked up the wine glass and drank the wine in it again.

Seeing that he had finished drinking, Gloria immediately praised: "Hayes, you are really good at drinking. Because I'm not very good at drinking, I admire a man like you who is good at drinking."

Hayes's heart fluttered when Gloria praised him stand up.

"I'm really good at drinking. I can drink a bottle of red wine. I can drink a case of beer." Hayes boasted, handing over the empty wine glass and asking Gloria to pour himself the wine.

Gloria lowered her eyes and thought, fortunately she bought two bottles of red wine and came back.

If Gloria only buy one bottle, Hayes may not get drunk.

...

The next day, in the morning.

Gloria was woken up by the phone ringing.

She found her mobile phone, saw her mother's call, got out of bed immediately, and went to the bathroom to answer it.

"Gloria, come back quickly! Your father has an accident!" Mrs. Wiens choked and couldn't cry.

Gloria's body softened, and her hands supported the wall, and then she stabilized her body.

“What’s wrong with Dad? Mom, what’s going on?” Gloria’s tears kept falling.

“You’ll know when you come back. Gloria, you can buy a plane ticket and come back now.” After Mrs. Wiens finished speaking, she hung up the phone.

Gloria was really worried, so after drying her tears, she found her brother’s number and dialed it.

Soon, the call was connected.

Gloria: “Brother, what’s wrong with dad?”

“Dad is sick. He’s in the intensive care unit now. The doctor said he might not last long.” The brother’s voice came from the phone in a low voice, “Gloria, if you still want to see dad for the last time, then hurry back.”

Gloria came out of the bathroom, opened the wardrobe, and found clothes to change.

Hayes drank too much last night and had a severe headache.

Hearing such a big movement in the bedroom, he forced himself to open his eyes.

Hayes: “Gloria... what’s wrong?”

“My dad is seriously ill, I want to go back to Aryadelle!” Gloria quickly changed her clothes, picked up her bag, opened it, and checked the documents.

Hayes: “Is it so sudden? Do you need me to accompany you back?”

Chapter 2453

“No!” After Gloria said, she immediately went to the door to change her shoes.

Before Hayes could react, Gloria had already walked out with a ‘bang’ and slammed the door behind her.

Foster family.

After Avery woke up, she picked up her phone to check the time.

But she saw a message from Gloria: [Ms. Tate, my father is seriously ill, and I am at the airport preparing to go home. I don't know when I will be able to come back to work, sorry.]

After reading the message, Avery replied: [You go home first and spend time with your family. Don't worry about work. I welcome you whenever you come back.]

After sending the message, Avery put down the phone.

"Honey, I might have to hire another assistant." Elliot came out of the bathroom and asked, "What's wrong? Gloria isn't doing it anymore?"

"Her father is seriously ill, so she's gone home." Avery frowned slightly, "I have a strong hunch that she won't come back."

Elliot said, "If you don't want trouble, then I'll recruit another one."

"Let's talk about it after a year! What if she comes back?" Avery murmured, "She told me that she is unmarried because the man she likes is dead, and she thinks she can't fall in love with another man. But yesterday Mike met her, said she has love marks on her neck..."

Elliot blushed slightly: "Do you think she lied?"

Avery: "Too consistent. At least she is definitely not as simple as I imagined."

Elliot understood what she meant.

"Since she's gone and most likely won't come back, then treat her as if she hasn't been here." Elliot comforted.

"Well. I have nothing to worry about. She has money at home, so there shouldn't be any difficulties." Avery was relieved quickly, "The vice president told me last night that Eric's commercial was filmed, and let me go today. Let the company take a look."

Elliot: "The filming is very fast."

"Now only the material shooting has been completed, and the post-editing work has not yet been done." Avery replied, "Editing is also very important."

"You are planning to release advertisement before the end of the year?"

"If the editing can be completed today, the vice president will probably want to announce it today." Avery took a set of clothes from the closet, "The vice president said that during the annual meeting, he would invite Eric to the scene, It's an endorsement campaign."

Elliot: "It can be seen that your vice president likes Eric very much."

Avery: "What he likes is the commercial value of Eric. What I admire about him is that he never hides his thoughts."

Elliot: "Very good. Just let him do it. When the financial report comes out next year, reward him according to the situation."

Avery: "Well."

.....

Yonroeville.

When Gloria returned home, she saw her father, her father was in good health.

Didn't her brother tell her that her father was in intensive care?

Why did she come home so soon?

Did they all lie to her?

A layer of cold sweat broke out on Gloria's palm.

"Gloria, your dad is fine." Mrs. Wiens walked up to her daughter and held her hand, "but our family is indeed in trouble."

Gloria looked at her father blankly.

Mr. Wiens clenched his fists tightly and stared at Gloria with hatred.

“If someone else came here and asked you by name, I didn’t even know you had trouble with Lorenzo! You are so brave! You dare to hook up with someone like Lorenzo! This short-lived ghost, run to Avery’s side!”

Gloria was very puzzled by what her father said.

Gloria: “Father, who told you about me and Lorenzo? You just said, who wants me?”

Chapter 2454

“You are going to be Avery’s assistant.” Gritting his teeth, Mr. Wiens said, “Others found out that you are from Yonroeville, so someone from Yonroeville began to investigate your details, and finally found out that you have something to do with Lorenzo!”

Gloria: “So what if I have something to do with Lorenzo? Just because I know him, do I have to die too?!”

“Hehe! No one wants your life! But you definitely can’t go to Aryadelle again!”

After Mr. Wiens scolded her, he changed the topic, “I’ll give you Arranged a marriage, before the end of the year, you will get married! I can’t control you, of course someone can control you!”

“Dad! I don’t want to marry! I don’t have to go to Aryadelle, I don’t go anywhere, but don’t let me marry!” Gloria cried and exclaimed.

“You have to marry if you don’t want to marry! Gloria, I warn you, you caused the disaster, and you must settle it for me! After you marry, you will have nothing to do with this family! If you want to cause trouble again in the future, you will have nothing to do with it! Waiting for your husband’s family to take care of you!” After Mr. Wiens finished speaking, he left with a flick of his sleeves.

Mrs. Wiens hugged her crying daughter and patted her on the back.

“Gloria, your father was threatened. That’s why he said such harsh words to you.” Mrs. Wiens choked up, “He has nothing to do. You offended someone we can’t afford to offend.”

Gloria: “Mom, I-I don’t understand, how did I offend those people? I was just an assistant for Avery, and Avery treated me very well...”

“Daughter, have you ever thought that the problem is not with Avery, but with us Country?” Mrs. Wiens was so worried these days that she couldn’t sleep all night.

Whether it’s an accident in the Wiens family, or rashly marrying off their daughter, this was not what Mrs. Wiens wanted. But now between the Wiens family and her daughter, Mrs. Wiens had to make a choice.

“Mom, what do you mean...?” Gloria felt a heavy knock on the head, and suddenly burst out.

“I don’t have any evidence, but I think it might be like that.” Mrs. Wiens didn’t make it clear, “This matter is far more complicated than we thought...”

Daughter, we can’t continue to go into this muddy water...Whether it’s Avery, Elliot, or anyone else, don’t contact them any more. You’re just being honest and ready to get married.”

“...Who are you going to marry me?” Gloria looked at her mother blankly, feeling that her heart was dying little by little.

She didn’t hear a word of her mother’s answer.

After her mother finished speaking, Gloria suddenly remembered one thing:

“Mom, I have a boyfriend in Aryadelle. I already live with him.”

The expression on Mrs. Wiens’s face suddenly became hideous.

In Yonroeville, if an unmarried woman lived with another man before she got married, she would be rejected by her husband’s family.

If Gloria got married like this, she was afraid that she would not have a good life at her husband's house in the future.

"I'm so disappointed in you! I'm so regretful now! I shouldn't give you a penny!" After Mrs. Wiens said this, she returned to her room angrily.

Gloria felt a darkness in front of her eyes, she could no longer bear the weight of her body, and let her body fall. Seeing this, her brother immediately supported her.

"Gloria, our father was found the day before yesterday. That person must have threatened our father, who came back late that night. If you don't get married, others will definitely deal with our family. Although our family has a little money, it is a real consortium. In comparison, it's nothing. The man you're marrying looks ugly, but his family is quite rich. Once you're married, as long as you accept your arrogant temper, they won't target you. After all, our family is still a little thin."

"Brother, I don't want to get married." Gloria said in a hoarse voice, "I didn't do anything, why should I do this to me? Why should they? I'm not an object... "

"Gloria, Dad told you so much, Mom told you so much, and I explained it to you, but you still don't understand! Do you really understand, or do you want to drag us to death? You No matter what you want to do now, we won't let you do it! From today, you are not allowed to leave the house for half a step until you get married! Also, give me your mobile phone!"

Gloria: "Brother, do you want to put me under house arrest?"

Gloria's brother: "Yes!"

Chapter 2455

Gloria's brother finished speaking and snatched the bag from Gloria.

Opening the bag and seeing the mobile phone inside, Gloria's brother took out the mobile phone and returned the bag to her.

...

On the weekend, Ben and Gwen's wedding was held at the hotel, and everything was kept simple.

All the wedding mini-games and levels designed before had been cancelled.

Gwen was very happy today.

She had figured out one thing these days.

She thought she didn't like children, but she didn't.

When she was pregnant for the first time, her relationship with Ben was particularly embarrassing. She suffered a lot of grievances, and in the end the child was aborted, which left a shadow in her heart.

This time, her relationship with Ben stabilized, and she became pregnant again, all her anxiety and uneasiness disappeared. Some besides joy.

This was something she hadn't thought of before she got pregnant.

In the past, she always quarreled with Ben because of trivial matters, but now that she was pregnant, she didn't find fault with Ben anymore.

Between her and Ben, there was a child as the bond of relationship, and the relationship was stronger now.

All the anxiety in her mind disappeared.

After the wedding ceremony, the banquet began.

"Miss Tammy, let's play playing cards later! I think there is a playing card table in my suite." Gwen said energetically.

Tammy: "Shouldn't you go to rest after eating? You are pregnant now. Take a good rest."

"I can eat and drink now, and nothing happens. I'm getting married today, I'm so happy, I can't sleep." Gwen usually slept drowsily at noon, but today she didn't feel sleepy at all, "I received a lot of red envelopes today, don't you want to win money from me? My playing card skills are bad!"

Tammy smiled and said, "Okay! I'm fine. I'll see if your husband will let you play cards."

Gwen immediately looked at Ben: "Husband, is it alright for me to play cards for a while? If I'm tired from sitting, I won't play anymore. I'm not tired at all now."

Ben didn't want her to be too depressed, so he nodded: "If you're tired from playing Change it to me. It's fine for us to play cards!"

Tammy's envious eyes turned red: "The two of you quarreled after a disagreement a few days ago! How can it be like this now?"

"I believe Gwen. If she is not feeling well, she will definitely rest." Ben said, "She takes medicine on time every day these days, and she doesn't stay up late at night looking at her phone. In order to protect our children, she has changed a lot. "

Ben's praise made Gwen blushed.

"I used to have a big temper. Now that I'm pregnant with a baby, I can't lose my temper like before." Gwen reflected, "Since I have identified Ben, I should live with him."

"This is comparable to you guys. The speeches you two gave on stage just now were more touching!" Tammy said, "Seeing that the two of you are so loving now, as friends, I am happy for you. By the way, how much dowry did your brother give you?"

Chapter 2456

The party Elliot was at the same table as them.

After Tammy asked this question, everyone looked at Gwen and Elliot.

“Brother, can I tell?” Gwen took a deep breath and asked Elliot.

Avery saw that Elliot’s face was blushing, so she spoke first: “Gwen, if you want to say it, it’s fine.”

“Oh...” Gwen got Avery’s answer, and then returned to Tammy, “Anyway, I gave it a lot, I didn’t want it at first, but Ben accepted it.”

Tammy said with a puzzled look: “Ben, you can really do it.” Looking at Avery and Elliot with a smile, she added “Really?”

“Of course, they are all a family.” Avery said, “Marriage is like a practice, marriage is just the beginning, and then you need to use more patience to manage this feeling well.”

“Avery, are you so knowledgeable now? Yes, you and Elliot have been through ups and downs for more than ten years, and you have really experienced a lot. Do you consider publishing a book in the exam?” Tammy asked.

Avery asked back, “Tammy, have you started writing your story ‘the husband’s rule’?”

Tammy immediately covered her mouth and coughed.

Jun heard the words ‘the husband’s rule’, and immediately looked at the two of them curiously: “What is the husband’s rule? Is that what I thought?”

Tammy picked up the water glass and took a sip of water, Forced to calm down: “Husband, if I write a book on how to conquer men, do you think I will succeed?”

Jun was stunned for a moment, and then replied: “I think Avery’s writing may be more successful.”

“Hahahaha!” Tammy burst into laughter.

Avery felt that she lifted a brick and hit her foot.

Elliot's face turned even redder.

"Elliot, if Avery wrote a book of rules for controlling husbands, you wouldn't have any objections, would you?" Tammy teased.

Elliot: "As long as she writes, I will support her."

"Oh...Avery, did you hear that? Your husband supports you! How about we write together! Hahaha!" Tammy boomed, "I write about how to conquer the little wolf dog type of man, and you write about how to conquer the iceberg president type of man."

Tammy felt that her idea was wonderful.

Gwen answered: "Isn't Avery the one who kills all types of men?"

Tammy: "...". She felt that Gwen made sense at the same time as if she was being violently attacked.

Avery's cheeks burned up: "Don't talk about me. Today's protagonists are Gwen and Ben."

"Why are the protagonists not protagonists? Many fun parts of today's wedding have been removed. I think today's wedding party is more like a large-scale wedding party." Gwen sighed, "The most regrettable thing today is that Hayden didn't make it back."

"Suddenly bad weather caused almost all flights over there to stop.

Fortunately, Mike and Chad came back early." Avery said.

"Well, this situation must be safety first. I now hope that Hayden can come back before the Spring Festival." Gwen turned on the phone and showed a message to Avery, "Hayden sent me a blessing message this morning."

"Who Besides, Hayden is not gentle and considerate, I will be the first to refute. Hayden is really the warmest boy I have ever seen." Ben boasted, "Hayden has perfectly inherited Elliot's character. He looks cold, but in fact his heart is also very soft.”

Tammy let out a ‘poof’ and burst into laughter: “How soft is it?”

“Ask Avery.” Ben shifted the topic to Avery again.

Avery was immersed in eating, but after hearing Ben’s words, she immediately asked, “Aren’t you all hungry? Didn’t you say to play cards after eating? Are you going to play cards hungry?”

Avery’s words settled down, and everyone immediately started eating...

....

Yonroeville.

Chapter 2457

After being locked up for three days, Gloria Wiens decided to marry.

“Gloria, have you really figured it out?” Mrs. Wiens asked.

“Mom, since I can’t fight against the evil forces, I can only bear it.” Gloria said calmly, “I said, I never thought of implicating my family. I made a mistake, just punish me alone.”

“You still haven’t figured it out.” Mrs. Wiens said distressedly, “Mom knows you can’t figure it out. Because you are wronged. Mom also feels wronged. But Gloria, you have to know that there are still many people in Yonroeville who can’t even eat enough. What’s the point of being wronged by this?”

“Mom, you’re right.” Gloria echoed, and asked, “Is my sister on vacation? I haven’t seen her for a long time, and I want to stay with her for a while.”

Mrs. Wiens: “Giselle is in her room, go and see her!”

Gloria walked towards Giselle Wiens’s room.

Gloria knocked on her sister’s door, and soon the door opened.

“Sister?” Giselle’s eyes suddenly brightened when she saw Gloria, “Didn’t they lock you in the room and not let you out?”

“I lied to them that I was willing to marry, so I am free now.” Gloria entered Giselle's room, and explained, "Little sister, I have something to ask you."

"Sister, if you don't want to marry someone, can you just lie to them so you don't marry?" Giselle wondered.

"Little sister, I have my own way." Gloria raised the corner of her mouth and held her sister's hand, "Brother took my mobile phone away. After I leave this house, you can go to elder brother and get my mobile phone. Say you want to keep it as a souvenir."

"Sister, are you leaving? Where are you going?" Giselle was a little flustered.

"I'm going to a far away place. When I'm gone, I can live an unfettered life.

Little sister, in the recording of my mobile phone, the top piece of audio is very important. You can get my mobile phone and help me when the time comes. Send that audio to someone."

Gloria picked up her sister's pen and wrote an email. "You can send the audio to this mailbox when the time comes."

Giselle nodded without thinking.

"Actually, I don't hate my parents, and I don't hate my elder brother. But little sister, I like you the most, and you are the one I can't worry about the most."

Gloria held her sister's hand again and urged, "You must study hard. If you can leave here in the future, just leave here."

Giselle: "Sister, you..."

"I remember that you used to like to make hairpins. The hairpins you made are beautiful and delicate. Do you still make new ones?" Gloria interrupted her sister's words and asked.

"I do less now. I'll show it to you." Giselle got up and went to get the vanity case.

After a while, she came over with a wooden box.

Gloria opened the box and said with a smile, "Little sister, you are really amazing. The hairpins you make are getting better and better! Give me one!"

Giselle: "Sister, take whichever you like."

"Okay. I'll take the red one. Red looks good." Gloria chose a hairpin with a red flower pattern.

Giselle: "Sister, I'll put it on for you! You have fair skin, and you'll look good wearing it."

Gloria: "Okay."

...

A day later.

The nanny reported to Mrs. Wiens because she couldn't open Gloria's room door.

"Miss locked the door for a whole day today. I called her to have breakfast in the morning and she didn't respond, and she didn't open the door when I brought her lunch at noon. It's night now, and her door is still closed. How can she not eat for a day? What about it?" After the nanny finished speaking, Mrs.

Wiens immediately went to find a spare key for the room.

Chapter 2458

Gloria was free. In her own way, she got rid of the shackles of pain.

The moment Mrs. Wiens saw her daughter's body, she fainted from crying.

The Wiens family was in a mess, and soon calmed down.

"It's fine if she dies. I won't cause trouble for me!" Mr. Wiens said indifferently,

"There is no need for a funeral, and there is no need to say anything about her. Just cremate her and bury her."

Mr. Wiens left the funeral to his son, and then left the Wiens family.

After her father left, Giselle held back the tears and shed them in a rush.

"Brother, can you give me my sister's mobile phone as a souvenir?" Giselle begged her brother, "I'm so uncomfortable, if I don't give my sister a hairpin, nothing will happen to my sister..."

"She wants to die, She can die anyway! If you don't give her a hairpin, she can die too!" Her brother returned to his room, took out Gloria's mobile phone, and handed it to the younger sister, "I threw away her mobile phone sim card, and this mobile phone will be given to you!"

After Giselle got her sister's mobile phone, she went back to her room with red eyes.

.....

Aryadelle.

At the Tate Industries's annual meeting, Elliot was invited to deliver a speech.

After Elliot took the stage, everyone applauded immediately.

"Mom, aren't you the boss of the Tate Industries now? Why did you let Dad go up?" Layla asked in a low voice beside her.

"Mom doesn't like to speak on stage." Avery explained, "Mom will be nervous. But your father won't."

"Why isn't Dad nervous? He will cry, so he must be nervous too! It's just that he has a thicker skin." Layla chuckled, "Mom, when will Uncle Eric come?"

Avery took out her phone, wanted to see if Eric had sent a message. As a result, a new email was seen.

"Your uncle Eric didn't send a message, so he should be here on time." Avery said, and clicked on the mailbox, "He said he would come at eight o'clock, and now it is seven o'clock, and he will be here in an hour."

"Oh well!" Layla said, looking intently at the stage.

Avery clicked on the new email, and when she saw that it was from a stranger, her brows frowned.

Could this be spam?

However, spam generally did not send audio to people.

Avery stared at the audio attached, feeling a little confused.

What was this audio? Could it be a virus?

After Elliot's speech ended, there was thunderous applause all around, but Avery didn't notice it.

Soon, Elliot walked over to her and sat down.

"What are you looking at? Are you looking so seriously? You didn't even applaud me." Elliot moved closer to Avery and looked at the screen of her phone.

"Are you finished?" Avery came back to his senses and said blushing, "I applauded you when you came on stage."

"What is this?" Elliot pointed to her phone screen.

"An email from a stranger. I suspected it was spam, but my mailbox was not intercepted. Nothing was said in the email, only an audio file. I was thinking whether to click on it to listen." Avery generously handed the phone to Elliot,

"Do you think it might be a virus?"

Elliot took her phone over and took a look.

"If it's a virus, your phone should alert you. Didn't you install anti-virus software?" Seeing that she was curious about the audio, Elliot clicked on it.

"Hey, turn down the volume of my phone, don't make any weird sounds."

Avery took her phone over, turned down the volume, and put the phone to her ear, trying to hear the audio clearly

Chapter 2459

Elliot put his head on her side and wanted to listen with her.

"Do you know how I got into Sterling Group? Elliot decided to use me after only meeting me...”

Hayes’s voice came from the phone.

Avery was shocked and handed the phone to Elliot. “It seems to be Hayes’s voice, listen carefully.”

Elliot also heard Hayes’s voice.

He turned up the volume on his phone –

“Is it because your resume is particularly good? Or do you have other skills?”

Gloria’s voice came.

Elliot looked at Avery: “Isn’t this Gloria’s voice? Your assistant is with my assistant?”

Avery took the mobile phone, pulled Elliot and left the audience.

The two of them came out of the venue, found a quiet corner, and turned on the audio again.

Hearing this, Elliot and Avery’s faces changed.

Unexpectedly, Hayes actually met Norah! And Hayes was able to enter the interview because of Norah’s help! Eventually he became Elliot’s assistant.

Elliot clenched his fists tightly, his face ashen.

He sent someone to follow Norah, and the person sent out said that Norah stayed in the apartment every day, staying at home. Unexpectedly, this did not prevent Norah from playing tricks in secret.

“Listening to Hayes’s tone, it seems like she’s drunk.” Avery put away her phone after the audio was played, “Hayes works in the company during the day, this should have happened at night. Hayes and Gloria.... ..the two of them are together... No, since Gloria sent me this audio, she should want to expose Hayes. It means that she doesn’t like Hayes. Since she doesn’t like Hayes, why is she talking to Hayes again? It’s strange.”

“You call Gloria to ask what’s going on.” Elliot had already taken out his mobile phone, planning to let the people who followed Norah block Norah’s door and prevent Norah from leaving the apartment.

Besides Norah, Elliot also had to deal with Hayes.

Avery found Gloria’s number and dialed it.

Avery: “I can’t get through. I messaged her yesterday and she didn’t reply.”

“Is the account that sent you the email hers?” Elliot continued to ask.

Avery opened the mailbox again and glanced at the sender.

“This is not Gloria’s email account.” Avery replied, “But I have a hunch that this email must have been sent to me by Gloria. If Hayes knew that there was this recording, he would never let this recording spread. “

“Yeah. I’ll talk to Hayes.” Elliot couldn’t wait to go to Hayes to ask what Norah wanted to use him for.

If he asked Norah directly, Norah might not tell the truth.

“Are you going now? Actually, you can find him tomorrow.” Avery saw that it was late today, but he also understood Elliot’s desire to solve his doubts immediately.

Chapter 2460

“If you don’t ask things clearly, can you sleep tonight?” Elliot asked, “Tonight’s annual meeting. If you need to be there, go and sit in your seat! I’ll come back after I ask the matter clearly.”

Avery nodded: “You just call him and ask him out. Just go to a nearby restaurant to meet. It’s late, don’t go too far away.”

“Well. I’ll go out first.” Elliot said, glanced at the bodyguard next to him, and the bodyguard immediately followed him.

After Avery watched Elliot and the bodyguard go out, she returned to her seat and sat down.

“Mom, where is Dad? Where did he go?” Layla asked, seeing that Dad wasn’t back.

Avery: “Your dad has something to deal with.”

“What’s the matter? Could it be dangerous?” Layla was worried.

“There will be no danger. If there is danger, I won’t let him go.” Avery coaxed,

“If it goes well, your father should be back soon.”

Elliot came out of the venue and called Hayes.

Hayes didn’t realize the danger was coming. After receiving the call from Elliot, he said earnestly, “Boss, do you have any orders?”

“You come out now, I have something to explain to you.” Elliot’s tone was calm, listening to no turbulence.

Hayes didn’t think much, and immediately went out from the rental house:

“Okay boss, send me the address, and I’ll rush over immediately.”

After hanging up, Elliot sent the address to Hayes.

Half an hour later, Hayes came to the restaurant that Elliot ordered.

After seeing Elliot, Hayes was a little cautious: “Boss, aren’t you going to attend the Tate Industries’s annual meeting tonight?”

Elliot: “Well, there is an emergency, so I came out first.”

“What emergency?” Hayes asked, “What do you need me to do?”

Elliot’s fingers holding the coffee cup tightened slightly, and he looked at

Hayes coldly: “What deal do you have with Norah Jones?”

Hayes heard Norah’s name made his face turn black with fright!

“Do you know why I didn’t go to Norah, but to you?” Elliot’s voice came word by word, gloomy, “Even if I kill Norah, there may not be a single truth in Norah’s mouth. Because she is not afraid of death. If you are not afraid of death like her, you can play tricks on me.”

Hayes shook his head again and again: “Boss, can you tell me how you know I know her?”

“Now is I’m interrogating you, you just need to answer my questions.” There was a trace of impatience in Elliot’s eyes.

“Boss, I’m not familiar with Norah. It was Norah who came to me through my friend. She knew that I was going back to Aryadelle to develop, so she found me and said that she could help me enter Sterling Group.” Hayes realized the seriousness of the matter. After that, he immediately confessed, “She asked me to help her keep an eye out for people with scars on their wrists.”

Almost instantly, Elliot thought of Gloria Wiens.

Didn’t Gloria have scars on her wrists?

“Norah didn’t tell me why she was looking for someone with a scar on her wrist. After I got the offer from Sterling Group, I called her and told her not to contact me again. Boss, I’m really very happy to cherish this job. I didn’t do anything wrong to Sterling Group and you, you can investigate me.”

“You saw the scar on Gloria’s wrist, right?” Some questions were figured out in Elliot’s mind.

When Gloria met Hayes for the first time, she was very indifferent to Hayes.

She looked down on Hayes at all, and never thought of having any entanglements with Hayes.

But in the recording, she called Hayes, and her tone was very gentle. But secretly recorded and sent the recording to Avery to report Hayes, indicating that she was not really with Hayes, and that Hayes must have threatened her.

“Boss, you...how did you guess that?” Hayes didn’t expect Elliot to know this.

Didn’t Gloria return to Yonroeville?

Hayes didn't expect Elliot to know this. Didn't Gloria return to Yonroeville?

Chapter 2461

Hayes called Gloria in the past two days and sent messages, but she did not reply.

Could it be that Gloria said something to Elliot or Avery?

Otherwise, even if Elliot knew that Gloria had a scar on her wrist, it would be impossible to say the above sentence.

"You don't care how I guessed it." Elliot asked, "What did Norah want to do when she was looking for someone with a scar on her wrist? Are you really ignorant?"

"Boss, I was completely unfamiliar with Norah before. I really don't know what kind of medicine Norah's gourd sells." Hayes distanced himself, "Go directly to Norah and ask her. I think she will definitely tell. If she is really not afraid of death, she won't hide and dare to go out every day."

"Hayes, from tomorrow onwards, you won't have to go to work." Elliot said,

"Until I find Norah to investigate the matter, you can only stay in your rented house. If you dare to escape, you can try."

Hayes was fired, and he seemed to have fallen from heaven to hell.

He sat stiffly in the chair, without saying a word, his eyes were dull, as if he had been hit by a huge blow.

Elliot got up from his chair and planned to find Norah.

Norah was looking for the person with the scar on her wrist, that person must be Gloria!

Norah will not look for Gloria for no reason, so Gloria must have an unknown secret!

Elliot felt that this matter might have something to do with her.

When Gloria sent her resume to Sterling Group, it must have been for him.

It's a pity that Gloria couldn't be contacted now, otherwise, if he asked Gloria, he could know more secrets.

Elliot came out of the restaurant and got into the car.

He opened the address book, found the Nick's number and dialed it.

"Brother Nick, can you help me find someone?" Elliot said, "My wife has hired a new assistant. She is from Yonroeville. Her name is Gloria Wiens. She asked for leave and returned to Yonroeville a few days ago. We can't get in touch with her now. So please help me find her. If you find her, please be sure to..."

"Gloria Wiens?" Nick murmured, "Is her father's name Kai Wiens? The family is in the tea business."

Elliot: "Yes, you know her father?"

Nick: "I don't know, but someone told me about Wiens family's gossip these days. For money, he forced his daughter to marry, but his daughter refused to obey, as if she died. "

Elliot: "..."

"It's just an assistant, do you need to come forward to find her in person?"

Nick saw that Elliot didn't speak, so he continued, "Give your wife another assistant.”

“Gloria died?! When did she die?” Elliot couldn’t believe it.

Because tonight Avery received an email from ‘Gloria’.

That email was obviously sent by Gloria.

“I guess she died for a day or two! I seem to have heard the gossip the day before yesterday. I didn’t expect that woman to be your wife’s assistant... If I had known she was your wife’s assistant, I would have told you immediately.”

“How could she die?!” Elliot’s anger rose, “Someone must have killed her on purpose!”

“Elliot, why do you say that? Is there anything special about this woman?”

Nick was curious and asked, “How about I go to Wiens’s house now?”

Elliot: “Since she’s dead, it’s useless for you to go! I’ll go there in person!”

Elliot finished speaking and hung up the phone. This made him even more determined that he had to ask Norah tonight.

Chapter 2462

In the apartment.

Norah sat on the sofa, swiping her phone to pass the boring time. She had slept in during the day, so she wasn’t sleepy at all at this point.

She had followed some employees of the Tate Industries before, so now she saw their Facebook posts. Tonight, the Tate Industries’s annual meeting would be held in the largest convention and exhibition center in the city center.

Many employees took pictures of the scene and posted them on Facebook.

Norah looked at all the bustling and bustling things in the picture, and then thought that she was alone now, and her heart was inevitably a little sad.

Someone also took a photo of Elliot delivering a speech on stage.

In the photo, Elliot was slender and full of aura. He was still the kind of king who strategized and controlled the overall situation in his impression.

Norah's eyes were sore, thinking of the silly things and fantasies she had done in order to be with him.

The doorbell rang, bringing Norah back from memory to reality.

Norah got up from the sofa and walked towards the entrance.

The access control visual system at the entrance showed two tall men standing outside the door.

One of the men was exactly the Elliot she saw in the picture just now!

Norah's heartbeat instantly became disordered.

After taking a deep breath, she sent a message to Sasha Johnstone, and then opened the door.

The reason why she dared to open the door was because she felt that she had done nothing to provoke Elliot, even if Elliot came to find her, she would have a clear conscience.

After the door was opened, Norah's expression was a little nervous: "Elliot, what are you doing looking for me so late? After I returned to Aryadelle, I have been at home and have never gone out, nor have I done anything harmful to you and Avery."

Elliot pushed open the door and strode into her apartment.

From the solemn look on Elliot's face, Norah sensed the danger.

Could it be that Hayes betrayed her?

But even if Hayes betrayed her, she still hasn't done anything yet!

"Norah, you can hold your breath. If I don't tell you first, will you never tell the secret you know?" Elliot sat down on the sofa and looked at her coldly, "Why did Hayes look for someone with a scar on her wrist?"

Norah clenched her teeth.

This Hayes really did more than fail!

Hayes betrayed Norah like this, thinking that Elliot would give him a promotion? idiot!

"I want to help you find Haze and make amends." Norah also walked to the sofa and sat down, with a penitent expression on her face.

Elliot didn't believe Norah's expression or every word she said.

But one thing had been confirmed. That was the woman with the scar on the wrist that Norah was looking for, who knew Haze's whereabouts.

Gloria knows Haze's whereabouts!

It must be so!

"Who told you this clue? Sasha Johnstone?" Elliot asked with scarlet eyes.

Norah wanted to lie, but at this point, even if she lied, Elliot would not believe it.

"Yes. I have contacted her. Together with her, I am looking for the person with the scar on the wrist. If you find this person, you may be able to find Haze."

Norah did not forget to clean up for herself when she said this, "Elliot, Let me tell you the truth, I wanted to claim credit from you after I found Haze. I didn't tell you in advance, because I was afraid that you would find it first, so that I would have nothing to do with you. I have this idea, right? I just want to turn my bad hand back into a normal one."

"Besides this information, do you know any other information?" Elliot asked.

Chapter 2463

Norah: "Help me, and betray me...that's all I know, I really don't want to continue to fight against you."

Elliot got up from the sofa and strode away.

Norah should really not know more information.

If Norah knew, she wouldn't ask Hayes to help find someone with a scar on her hand.

Gloria came back to Yonroeville, and Yonroeville had a big problem.

After Elliot and the bodyguard left, Norah took a deep breath.

After a while, Norah picked up the phone, found Hayes's number and dialed it.

"Elliot came to look for me just now, Hayes, did you betray me?!" Norah roared angrily, "You are such a guy who has more than accomplished nothing!"

"Norah, I was going to ask you! Just because I knew you, I was fired! You are so unlucky, how could I take the initiative to let Elliot know?!" Hayes is now in his rented house, calling Gloria's number over and over again, but he couldn't get through.

Just when Hayes was discouraged, Norah called him.

She was full of anger and had no place to attack.

"You didn't tell Elliot, so who exposed us? The problem must be on your side! I stay at home every day without doing or saying anything!" Norah was very annoyed.

This was her turnaround, and it ended before it really started.

"Don't trouble me! I didn't say anything, I didn't do anything. It must have been Gloria who betrayed me!" Hayes, "Avery's new assistant is the one with scars on the wrist you are looking for! She's back in Yonroeville, and she doesn't answer my phone anymore, so she probably shakes our affairs out!"

Norah: "...Gloria?! That person from Yonroeville?"

Hayes: "Yes! She's scar on her wrist."

"F*ck! When did you know about this? Why did you tell me now? Did Elliot also know?" Norah growled.

Hayes: "Of course Elliot knows. He came to ask me, dare I not say it? Norah, you have hurt me! Now that I was fired by Sterling Group, it will be difficult for me to find a job in the future!"

"Hahaha! As long as you want to live, you won't starve to death! Since you are useless, there is no need for us to contact you in the future!" Norah was very annoyed, and after talking on the phone, she directly blocked Hayes.

"Gloria..." Norah didn't expect that the person who bought Haze was actually Gloria!

This woman was not too timid!

As soon as Gloria graduated, she dared to lurk beside Avery, not knowing what she wanted to do when she came to Avery.

Norah didn't even know where Haze was hidden by Gloria.

Hayes said that Gloria had returned to Yonroeville, and it was estimated that Elliot would go to Yonroeville to find the woman soon.

Although Yonroeville was not Elliot's territory, Elliot's network in Yonroeville was almost equivalent to Aryadelle being his territory.

Norah desperately dialed Sasha's number.

Norah: "Sasha, our plan has failed. Elliot knows it all."

Sasha: "I knew you would say anything. If I didn't tell you at the beginning, I might find it myself, and maybe it would work."

Norah: "I'm sorry! I'm a little confused right now. I don't know what to do next."

Sasha: "Live with the flow! I don't think you should stop playing it and find a man to marry!"

Norah: "Sasha, I have really considered getting married these days."

Sasha: "Then you go find the man. By the way, you didn't disclose my information to Elliot, did you?"

Norah: "No. Elliot didn't ask you at all. That's all we know, and it won't help if he forces us to death."

...

After Elliot came out of Norah's house, he called Avery.

Chapter 2465

"You have run to Yonroeville many times for Haze's business, right? I have not been able to find it out, have you? Maybe it's because the murderer is covering the sky?" Mike guessed, "If this happened in Aryadelle, I'm afraid the truth would have been revealed long ago."

"The situation in Yonroeville is much more complicated than that in Aryadelle, and it is difficult to tell the murderer until there is no evidence. Who it is. Anyone is possible." When Avery said these words, her body couldn't stop shivering, "Elliot insists on going there, so I can only let him go."

"Don't worry. He doesn't exist in Yonroeville. Anyone you know? As long as he doesn't fight against the snobbery over there, no one will hurt him. No one will do anything that is good."

Mike's comfort made Avery nodded: "You are right. Yes, he will definitely be measured."

Mike: "Then don't frown."

Avery: "Well."

At 10 o'clock in the evening, after the annual meeting, Avery and the children drove home.

At this point, Robert was already asleep.

Avery didn't want Robert to come to the annual meeting tonight, after all, the venue was too noisy.

But Robert insisted on playing together.

Avery couldn't resist, so she brought Robert here.

"Mom, I'm so happy tonight!" Robert held a few dolls in his arms, which were given to him by everyone.

Avery: "Mom sees that you are very happy today. But it's very late today, so you have to take a bath and sleep when you get home."

"Mom, I'll sleep with you tonight!" Robert coquettishly.

"Okay!" Avery agreed.

"Mom, I want to sleep with you too!" Layla said without thinking, "When will Dad come back? Can he come back during the Spring Festival?"

"I don't know yet! It doesn't matter if he can come back by then, Mom will definitely spend the Spring Festival with you." Avery smiled and assured Layla, "You don't have to worry about Dad, Dad is fine!"

Layla: "Why does he have to go so far away? Don't even tell me."

"Don't be angry. Your father decided to go there on the spur of the moment. Something happened to a friend of his, so he went to have a look." Avery made up an excuse, "Didn't your brother come back to accompany you? Let's celebrate the Spring Festival happily and come back when Dad finishes his work."

...

After Elliot arrived in Yonroeville, he immediately went to Wiens's house.

Gloria's body has been cremated and buried, and the life of the Wiens family has returned to tranquility, as if nothing had happened.

"Madam Wiens, I want to chat with you alone." Elliot said to Mrs. Wiens after seeing Kai Wiens and his wife.

"This...Mr. Foster, my husband is the head of our family. If you have anything to say, just tell my husband.” Mrs. Wiens refused to chat with Elliot privately without even thinking about it.

“Since I asked you to chat alone, it must be because I have something you care about.” Elliot said, “Your daughter was my wife’s assistant when she was alive. We have her belongings in our hands. Don’t you want to see them?”

After Mrs. Wiens heard these words, the calmness on her face suddenly disappeared.

“Mr. Foster, can’t I see my daughter’s belongings?” Kai Wiens asked.

“The thing is in my hands. I can show it to anyone I want. If you want to see it, you can ask your wife to show it to you afterwards.” Elliot said coldly.

As the head of the family, Kai Wiens forced his own daughter to death. Elliot didn’t bother to talk to such a man who was inferior to a beast.

“Mr. Foster, come with me.” After a brief hesitation, Mrs. Wiens got up from the sofa and took Elliot to the next room for a private chat.

Chapter 2466

In the past few days after her daughter died, Mrs. Wiens would have nightmares as long as she closed her eyes.

For the sake of the entire Wiens family, Mrs. Wiens could only choose to sacrifice her daughter, but that doesn’t mean she doesn’t feel heartache.

After the two entered the room, Elliot said: “I don’t have any of your daughter’s relics. I want to chat with you alone because I want to know who killed her. If it’s just because of forced marriage, I don’t think she was forced to death, there must be other reasons.”

Mrs. Wiens: “Mr. Foster, what do you think? Our Wiens family is just an ordinary family in Yonroeville. Our family of five is a good family. Yes, but now it’s like this. Mr. Foster, you can’t imagine how painful I am.”

Elliot: "The pain is more than your family? You just need to tell me who the person behind is!"

"You know and then go to trouble him. Do you think that after you do that, our family will not be punished? Mr. Foster, why are you so naive?" After taking a deep breath, Mrs. Wiens continued, "I don't know anything. I don't know."

"According to the clues I have, your daughter bought my daughter Haze at the beginning. Do you think your daughter will be able to leave the relationship after your daughter's death? Then you may not know me well. You can go out and ask." Elliot threatened, "Either give me back my daughter, or tell me who killed your daughter! It's a dream if you want to be alone!"

Mrs. Wiens realized the seriousness of the matter, and her face suddenly turned pale.

"Mr. Foster, first of all, I don't know about my daughter buying your daughter. I really don't know. I only know that my daughter likes Lorenzo Paquette. After Lorenzo's death, she was devastated and decided to go to Aryadelle to go to university...In order for my daughter to come out, I secretly gave her living expenses for her to go to college. I don't know anything about other things."

Mrs. Wiens said seriously.

"Then pretend that you really don't know about this matter! But who killed your daughter, you must know about it?" Elliot asked.

Mrs. Wiens shook her head: "My husband was invited to a dinner a few days ago. He didn't tell me who invited him. When he came back from that dinner, he told me that our family was in trouble. We must call Gloria back to marry him. She really committed suicide because of forced marriage. She committed suicide once before. That time was because of Lorenzo. Mr.

Foster, I have told you everything I know. My daughter is dead and our family has already been punished...”

Elliot: “Can you give me the mobile phone your daughter used before she was alive? I will continue to look for my daughter.”

“Gloria’s mobile phone is with my youngest daughter, and my youngest daughter goes to school. When she comes back, I’ll ask her to take out Gloria’s phone.” Mrs. Wiens said, “Mr. Foster, Gloria is a very cautious person, and there may not be any clues you want in her phone. She About Lorenzo, if she hadn’t committed suicide, I wouldn’t have known about it.”

“You mean you want me to do nothing and let my daughter disappear?” Elliot sarcastically.

Mrs. Wiens: “No. Of course I don’t mean that. If your daughter is really bought by my daughter, my daughter will definitely not treat your daughter badly. My daughter is very kind...”

“If your daughter is really kind, He should return the child to me immediately after buying my daughter! Who doesn’t know that child is mine?” Elliot’s eyes were covered with frost.

“Mr. Foster, it’s useless for you to lose your temper with me. My daughter is already dead. My daughter bought that child for the purpose of saving that child. My daughter is really kind... if she is any more bad At one point, she would not rather die herself than to protect our family. If she was a little more cruel, she could cut ties with her family and live in Aryadelle by herself. She never liked the living environment in Yonroeville... ” Mrs. Wiens defended her daughter.

“It doesn’t matter how much you explain to me! Your daughter is innocent, and my daughter is even more innocent!” Elliot said coldly, “I have been looking for her for three years.”

“Mr. Foster, I am very sad that my daughter is dead. I don’t know how to comfort you, because no one has ever comforted me.” Mrs. Wiens said here, her eyes moist. In the evening, Giselle Wiens came home from school.

Mrs. Wiens immediately took Giselle to the room, and Elliot entered the room behind the mother and daughter.

“Take out your sister’s phone.” Mrs. Wiens said to her youngest daughter. Giselle looked at Elliot and said vigilantly, “Mom, who is he? What do you want me to do with my sister’s cell phone?”

“He is Elliot. He said your sister bought his child. Your sister died, I can’t explain it to others, so I can only hand over your sister’s mobile phone.” Mrs. Wiens explained.

“Oh...” Giselle immediately went to find out her sister’s mobile phone and handed it to her mother.

Chapter 2467

After Mrs. Wiens got the phone, she pressed the power button and was prompted to enter the password.

“Do you know your sister’s password?” Mrs. Wiens asked.

“Sister’s birthday.” Giselle said.

After Mrs. Wiens successfully entered the password, she handed the unlocked phone to Elliot: “Mr. Foster, the password is 0416.”

Elliot took the phone.

“There are no cards in it.” Giselle said timidly.

Elliot looked at her and asked, “Where’s the card?”

“My elder brother didn’t have the card when he gave it to me. I don’t know where the card went.” Giselle said cautiously.

She knew that the card was thrown by the eldest brother, but she couldn’t say that.

The elder sister was dead, so Giselle couldn't cause the elder brother to had an accident.

Elliot held the phone, thought for a moment, and said to Mrs. Wiens, "I want to talk to your daughter alone."

Mrs. Wiens's face changed drastically: "Mr. Foster, my youngest daughter is still in high school. She goes to school every day and doesn't know anything about the family, she..."

"Since she doesn't know anything, why are you panicking? She doesn't know, so what else can I ask?" Elliot retorted.

Mrs. Wiens twitched her mouth and explained: "I'm just afraid that you will scare my daughter. My daughter is young and timid..."

"Before your eldest daughter died, you should also think that your eldest daughter is small, timid, right?" Elliot sneered, "I really want to deal with you, so I don't need to waste so much talking."

Giselle sensed the danger, and immediately mustered up the courage to speak to her mother: "Mom, I'm not afraid. You can go out!"

Mrs. Wiens sighed anxiously, and then walked out of her daughter's room.

Elliot closed the door, and looked at Giselle with eagle-like eyes.

"What did your sister tell you before she committed suicide?"

Giselle's hands and palms were sweaty. She pursed her lips, hesitating between speaking and not speaking.

"Did you send an e-mail?" Elliot continued, "Tell me everything you know. Otherwise..."

"It was the e-mail that my sister asked me to send. The audio was my sister's." Giselle said, "Mr. Foster, my sister not only asked me to help her send emails, but also let me study hard and leave the house in the future.”

Elliot: “Nothing else?”

Giselle nodded sharply: “What am I really? I don’t know. Please spare my family!”

Chapter 2468

When Elliot saw Giselle’s tears welling up, he felt pity.

Elliot: “If you didn’t lie, then you don’t have to be afraid of anything. I won’t attack innocent people.”

Giselle: “I didn’t lie...”

Elliot turned and walked to the door, and opened it.

Mr. Wiens and Mrs. Wiens stood at the door, looking anxious.

“Mr. Wiens, it’s your turn.” Elliot looked at Kai Wiens sternly.

According to Mrs. Wiens and Giselle’s statements, they did not know Haze’s whereabouts.

Since Haze’s whereabouts cannot be found, they can only dig deep into the mastermind behind Gloria’s death.

Mr. Wiens sighed: “Let’s talk in the living room! My wife and children have nothing to avoid.”

“Go and talk! I’ll stay with my daughter for a while.” Seeing her daughter’s face full of tears, Mrs. Wiens went into her daughter’s room with distress.

Elliot and Kai sat down on the sofa in the living room, and the servant served them a cup of tea and then stepped back.

“Mr. Foster, you have stayed at my house for a day today. You must not dig out something from me. You are not planning to leave.” Mr. Wiens said, “I can assure you that we are wronged. My wife just now told me that Gloria bought your daughter. I only found out about such a sensational thing now! If I knew about this earlier, I would definitely force her to return the child to you! Don't mention me After doing this, you will give me benefits, and just because I don't dare to offend you, I will do it!"

Elliot listened quietly to him confiding his heart.

"Gloria was actually quite obedient, at least she was really obedient when she was a child. I asked her to learn tea art performance. She didn't want to, but in order to please me, she studied for more than ten years without interruption. She was so obedient child started to become rebellious just because she met that ba*tard Lorenzo Paquette. What she did later was all because of Lorenzo Paquette!" Mr. Wiens was very angry when he said this, "Blame me, blame me. She was in contact with any opposite sex, which made her stupid in this aspect! Lorenzo was nothing but a dog next to Kyrie Jobin! She loved this dog so much! I was really going to die of anger!"

"If Kyrie is not dead, how dare you say such a thing?" Elliot said coldly.

Mr. Wiens realized that he was agitated, and immediately cleared his throat:

"Mr. Foster, you had a good relationship with Mr. Jobin, and you should know the status of Lorenzo. Although our Wiens family is not a big family and is not bad. How could I marry my daughter to Lorenzo?"

"Okay, stop talking nonsense. Who forced you to marry your daughter? Tell me the other party's contact information." Elliot asked bluntly.

"Actually, he didn't force me to marry my daughter. I wanted him to invest in me, so he asked for a marriage. I'll give you his number, and you go and interrogate him! I know, my wife knows, I know My youngest daughter has already told you everything she knows. Our family really can't afford to offend you!"

After Mr. Wiens gave Elliot a phone number, Elliot left the Wiens family.

After Elliot's car drove away, Mr. Wiens heaved a sigh of relief.

The other side.

In Nick's mansion, there were a few familiar faces.

After Kyrie's death, their brothers divided up the family property of Kyrie except Jobin Industries.

After that, it was to integrate the divided property with his own property.

Everyone made a lot of money.

After everyone was busy, there would not be much walking around.

This time, because Elliot came to Yonroeville, some people panicked.

In the huge living room, smoke curled up.

"Why don't we kill Elliot too!" The second brother held a cigar in his hand, looked at the other brothers, and said, "I've already found out, he's been in Yonroeville for a whole day, but he did not contact us. It means that he may suspect us!"

Chapter 2469

The fourth brother always listened to the words of the second brother.

So after the second brother finished speaking, the fourth brother nodded: "I think what the second brother said makes sense. Instead of sitting still and waiting for death, it is better to take the initiative. Elliot must have suspected us. This is our territory. Let's join forces and deal with it. Elliot and his bodyguards, isn't that as simple as trampling a few ants to death?"

"I think back then, it was easy for us to deal with the Jobin family?" the fourth brother added.

At the beginning, they had set up an inside line in the Jobin family in advance, so they were able to break through the Jobin family's security team so successfully.

“That’s because we are dealing with Rebecca, not Kyrie.” Nick squinted his eagle eyes, and breathed out a smoke ring, “Elliot is not Rebecca, even if we really kill Elliot easily, thinking that we can sit back and relax like after killing Rebecca! Your thinking is so naive!”

“Are you afraid that Elliot’s men will come to seek revenge from us?”

Yonroeville and Aryadelle are so far apart, how many people from Elliot come, we will deal with them! We have an innate geographical advantage, what are we afraid of?” The second brother said disdainfully, “If we don’t take the initiative to attack, are we going to wait for Elliot to trouble us? Who the hell knows that Rebecca’s child is actually Avery’s... “

They decided to join forces because Elliot ignored Rebecca and had no feelings for Haze, so they thought that even if they killed Haze, Elliot would not have any reaction.

On the contrary, it solved a burden for Elliot.

As a result, after they wiped out the Jobin family, Elliot and Avery came to Yonroeville to look for Haze, saying that Haze was their child.

So they naturally couldn’t let Elliot and Avery know that they were responsible for the murder of the Jobin family.

But after all, paper can’t contain fire. Elliot is now determined to find out about this matter, and the answer will come out soon.

“Don’t be so anxious beforehand, he hasn’t found us yet!” Third brother, Nick shook the cigarette ash into the ashtray, and said calmly, “Wait for him to contact us first!”

.....

Aryadelle.

Ever since Elliot left, Avery’s heart flew away with him.

Now that Mike and Hayden were back, Layla and Robert were not clinging to her anymore.

Elliot had been away for two days, and Avery hadn't had a good night's sleep in the past two days.

She couldn't sleep during lunch break, and she couldn't sleep at night.

Because of poor rest, her spirit was not very good.

When people were in a bad mood, they were prone to cranky thoughts and anxiety.

After eating lunch at noon, she went back to her room, found her phone, and wanted to call Elliot.

In fact, she sent a message to Elliot in the morning.

Elliot said that he was a little tired today and would go to bed early.

Avery opened the phone's address book, and after looking through it, she found Nick's number.

After hesitating for a moment, she finally dialed Nick's number.

It was late at night in Yonroeville now.

Avery knew it was not good to call Nick at this point, but Avery couldn't control her worry.

Mike had been instilling in her ears that the murderer might be around for the past two days, causing her to wonder whether the murderer might be them.

After calling the phone for a while, Nick answered the phone.

"Third Brother, did I disturb your sleep?" Avery apologized after the call was connected.

Chapter 2470

Nick: "Come on, why do you have the nerve to ask such a question?"

"I'm worried about Elliot." Avery said truthfully, "Third Brother, have you seen

Elliot?”

“Didn’t you contact Elliot?” Nick said, “He didn’t come to me, didn’t he tell you?”

“No. He just said he was tired, so I didn’t ask more.” Avery said, “Third brother, can we talk?”

Nick’s temple twitched, and then eyelids also started to twitch.

Nick: “Aren’t we just talking now?”

“I mean we have a heart-to-heart chat.” Avery explained, “Just like when I performed your surgery, I asked you a lot of questions before the surgery, you answered me truthfully.”

Nick had a headache, and it was obvious that Avery was playing the friendship card with him.

“Avery, you don’t need to remind me about my surgery. We settled it a long time ago. Did you forget?” Nick got off the bed and went to find water to drink.

“I know we are cleared. But I need to remind you that your disease has a certain chance of relapse. If you relapse in the future, I can continue to operate on you. If you don’t come to me, it’s okay. Your operation, Other doctors can also do it for you. It’s just that if other doctors do it, the chance of failure will be higher.” Avery threatened calmly, “After failure, there will be two consequences.”

Nick knew that he was threatened, but listening to her threats, he actually listened with gusto.

Nick: “I’m listening! Go on.”

Avery swallowed a breath, and continued: “The first consequence is that he died on the spot. The second consequence is that after some rescues, he was lucky enough to save his life, but the person was either stupid or turned into a vegetable.”

Drinking the water in his mouth, Nick really want to spit it out. He swallowed it forcibly.

“It’s late at night, why are you threatening me? Avery, what on earth are you trying to say? Can you just say it? You don’t feel comfortable, and you don’t want me to, do you?” Nick put the water glass on the table, a hint of impatience appeared on his face.

Mainly at this point, it was very late.

Nick was almost falling asleep, but was woken up by Avery’s phone call.

As a result, he was woken up and threatened, and his mood was completely destroyed.

“Third brother, does the destruction of the Jobin family have anything to do with you?” Avery asked doubtfully, “If it has nothing to do with you, I will apologize to you immediately.”

“Don’t apologize to me.” Nick didn’t even think about it, took her words,

“Whether this matter has something to do with me or not, I will...”

Nick was suddenly stuck. He didn’t know what to say.

Was this going to be admitted directly?

If he admitted it, the second brother and the fourth child were not allowed to fry the pot?

“Third brother, why don’t you speak anymore? Does this matter have anything to do with you?” Avery was raised in her throat, feeling that the truth was about to come out.

“Avery, why do you think this matter has something to do with me? In your eyes, am I such a cruel and merciless devil?” When Nick said this, his face became hot, and his throat also felt hot.

“Third brother, let me tell you from the bottom of my heart. I think you are the only good person in this world. When I thought Elliot was heinous, I thought you were the only light in their group.” Avery boasted, “You have helped me many times, and you never find me troublesome. Although it is because I have saved you before and promised to save you in the future, no matter your appearance, figure or words and deeds, I feel that you are a knight full of justice!”

Nick pursed his lips, resisting the urge to vomit.

“Avery, it’s late at night, can you stop disgusting me?!” Nick couldn’t take it anymore.

Chapter 2471

Avery: “What’s wrong? Am I wrong?”

“People are all villains!” Nick repeatedly emphasized to her, “Avery, no matter how well you brag about me, you can’t cover up this fact.”

“But Elliot is not a villain.” Avery refuted him.

“Elliot has not been in touch with us for a long time. He disdains to be with us. Among us brothers, he is the most capable, so we always take the initiative to contact him. This is the truth that we have always been in touch.” Nick said, “I know you must be worried about Elliot when you call me. If you want to do something for him, then call him and remind him not to act rashly. At the same time, find him support, understand? The phone call, you’re calling me is useless.”

Avery guessed Nick’s words several times, then hung up the phone.

“Avery hung up the phone without even saying a word.” Nick looked at the hung up call and murmured, “What a heartless woman!”

After a pause, he murmured again: “Just now didn’t I say anything? What did

I say to her just now? Hey! I'm old and useless!"

Nick muttered, found the place where the call recording was stored, clicked on the call just now, and listened to it from the beginning.

When he heard Avery's long words of praise, Nick felt ashamed and even wanted to find a hole in the ground to drill.

This woman, Avery, was really glib, and she's becoming more and more dishonest!

Wasn't it just to trick him and ask him to help Elliot? He even made up nonsense with his eyes open. How could he bear to praise him like this?

Aryadelle.

After Avery finished talking on the phone with Nick, her nerves tensed up, and she immediately came out of the bedroom.

Nick asked her to find reinforcements and go to Yonroeville, which meant that Elliot was in danger in Yonroeville!

She quickly came down from the stairs, and Mrs. Cooper heard the hurried footsteps and came over immediately.

"Avery, what's the matter?" Mrs. Cooper asked.

"Elliot is in danger, I want to send someone to Yonroeville to protect him."

Avery plans to discuss with Mike and Ben to see how to deploy.

"What's wrong?" Mike heard her voice and came out of the toy room on the first floor, "What's wrong with Elliot?"

Avery: "Mike, I called Nick just now, and Nick asked me to find support for Elliot..."

"Don't worry. Even if you send support there, you have to contact Yonroeville first...unless we buy weapons in Yonroeville..." Mike's brain has gone out

The scene of the battle in Yonroeville.

This was what Avery was very afraid of.

Whenever weapons were used, there were bound to be casualties.

If Elliot made a mistake, it would be too late to regret it.

“Mom, has Elliot been kidnapped?” Hayden walked out of the toy room, followed by Robert.

Looking at the two sons, Avery calmed down a little: “No. He’s fine now. But if he continues to investigate, he may be in danger.”

“Mom, you stay at home, I’m going to Yonroeville.” Hayden was afraid his mother ran to Yonroeville in a hurry, fearing that his mother would be in danger, so Hayden stepped forward, “I’ll save him.”

Mike and Avery were stunned.

Hayden and Elliot used to be at odds, but now, Hayden was willing to go to Yonroeville to save Elliot.

Chapter 2472

“Hayden, really do you want to go?” Before Avery could respond, Mike said in surprise, “How do you want to save your father? Do you know it’s dangerous there? You’ve been there once before, you forgot?”

Avery followed suit at this moment: “Hayden, we can just send someone over there, you don’t need to go there yourself.”

“He saved me before once, this time I saved him, so I won’t owe him any more.” Hayden never forgot that the last time he went to Yonroeville to get into trouble, Elliot settled it.

“Hayden, he is your father, you don’t need to make such a clear distinction with him. If you have difficulties, he will definitely help you. You are his child, and it is his responsibility for him to help his own child. It’s not just the father and son. The same goes for other people’s fathers and children.”

Avery tried to make Hayden understand the meaning of father and son.

Mike saw Hayden frowning, knowing that Hayden was uncomfortable.

Whatever Hayden wanted to do, Mike always followed him.

If he didn't follow him, he would show this look.

"Okay, okay, Hayden is going, let him go!" Mike smoothed things over, "Just send more people there. Since Hayden has the heart, why do you stop it? Think about it, if Elliot is in Yonroeville, seeing Hayden go to save him, how touched should he be? I'm afraid he is more moved than seeing you."

Avery: "..."

Hayden: "..."

Hayden wanted to go to Yonroeville to save Elliot, not to impress Elliot, okay?

What Mike said was so nasty!

"Mike, you're right. Although I'm afraid that Hayden will be in danger if he passes by, I'm really happy that Hayden has this heart. Elliot will definitely be happier when he finds out." Avery said in a cheerful tone. and added. "But I still can't let Hayden go to Yonroeville... Elliot alone is enough to worry me, if Hayden passes too, I will worry about the two of them..."

Mike Followed Avery to have a private chat.

"Avery, since Hayden wants to go, let him go! We've made the preparations and let him go, and nothing will happen. We're going to rescue Elliot, not to die. You need to understand this concept." Mike reasoned with her.

"Why do you always let Hayden go? Hayden is not yet an adult, he is still a child. Although Hayden matures a little earlier than his peers, he is still a child and needs timely guidance from his parents. I can ignore other small matters. Now it is a matter of life and death. Can I leave it alone?" Avery retorted, "I won't let him go anyway."

"What if he insists on going?" Mike asked back, "As long as he wants to go, he can have a hundred ways to get there. You can't stop him at all."

Avery: "..."

"Avery, you might as well be a good person and let him go." Mike persuaded,

"If you are worried, I will go with him."

Avery frowned tightly: "If you go too, then I will worry about the three of you...

I..."

"If you force Hayden to stay at home, he won't be happy either." As long as Elliot doesn't come back for a day, you won't have a smile on your face, do you think your child can't feel your emotions?" Mike said, "Hayden has always been very proud, he thinks there is nothing in this world that he can't do. If you let him go, if he hits a nail, wouldn't it just dampen his spirit?"

"I'm afraid that what is dampened is not the spirit, but the ashes." Avery said in a low voice.

Mike: "..."

"Since you all have to go, what else can I say?" Avery didn't want to make the child unhappy, and the New Year was coming soon. The family was supposed to be reunited and everyone was happy, but it turned out like this.

"Don't worry! We must have made the arrangements before we set off. You wait for our good news." Mike patted her on the shoulder, "That sh!tty place in Yonroeville won't trouble us."

Avery could only trust Mike.

The day after Mike and Hayden set off was New Year's Eve.

Because Elliot and Hayden were not at home to celebrate the New Year this year, Ben brought Gwen over to celebrate the New Year together.

This was a lot of fun at home.

"Why don't you make a video call with Elliot and Hayden?" Ben suggested.

“We just had a video call with Dad.” Layla said, “Dad is going to pick up my brother.”

Chapter 2473

“Oh... your father must be very happy?” Ben was very moved, “If my son grows up, he can be as good as Hayden and protect me like Hayden, I will be so touched!”

Layla: “Uncle Ben, your son will definitely not be as good as my brother! My brother is the most powerful in the world people.”

The smile on Ben’s face froze.

Layla continued: “Unless my brother is dead, your son may be the most powerful. Because by then, my father must be dead too.”

Layla’s implication was that her father and brother were the most powerful man in the world.

Ben: “Layla, you don’t want to say ‘death’ for New Year!”

“Bah bah bah! Can you two stop talking about such unlucky things?” Gwen said immediately, “You can’t bless my pregnancy. Is it a daughter? I don’t want a son!”

Ben: “...”

Layla smiled: “Auntie Gwen, you must be a daughter in your belly.”

Gwen was very happy when she heard this: “How do you know?”

Layla: “Hey, I’m talking nonsense! As long as Auntie Gwen is happy, I can say anything.”

Everyone immediately laughed.

.....

Yonroeville.

Elliot excitedly went to the airport to pick up his son.

Avery called him the day before yesterday and told him to stay in the hotel, don't go anywhere, don't act rashly, and wait for the support of Hayden and Mike to arrive before moving.

Elliot was so moved that he rested in the hotel for the past two days.

Otherwise, if he get stuck with the people here, the situation will become more dangerous when the son comes.

At the airport, when Elliot saw Hayden and Mike, he immediately went up to them.

"Hayden, you..." Before Elliot finished speaking, Mike interrupted: "I'm starving! Have you prepared any food?"

Elliot: "Ready. Go back to the hotel for dinner first. Let's go!"

"Oh! Help me with the luggage!" Mike threw the large suitcase in his hand to Elliot.

Seeing this, Elliot's bodyguard immediately wanted to pick him up.

"Just keep us safe, and your boss can do small things like carrying suitcases." Mike yawned.

The bodyguard immediately withdrew his hand, raised his vigilance, and looked around to see if there was any potential danger.

"By the way, aren't you here to support us? Why are you two alone?" The bodyguards were puzzled after escorting them into the car.

Mike: "You're stupid! Even if you really brought something, it's impossible to let everyone know about it!"

The bodyguard nodded and continued to ask curiously: "Then how many people did you bring? What about weapons? My boss suspected that the matter of the Jobin family has something to do with the brothers he was allied with..."

"Your boss is too late." Mike complained to the bodyguard in front of Elliot,
"From what I heard Gloria Wiens returned to Yonroeville and was killed, I guessed it."

The bodyguard shut up in embarrassment, and sneaked a glance at Elliot.
Elliot had actually suspected this for a long time, but there was no evidence, so it was hard to say it out.

Gloria's death was the trigger for the incident to erupt again.

Chapter 2474

Elliot: "Today's Spring Festival, don't talk about those unhappy things.

Hayden, thank you for traveling so far to accompany me."

Hayden: "I'm afraid my mother will cry when you die."

Elliot: "..."

Mike: "Hahahaha! Elliot, I found that you don't care about anything. Always so confident. Don't you know why we came here? If it weren't for Avery's frowning all day long, she couldn't eat and sleep well, and the worried people were almost wilting. Who would like to come to this place to accompany you during the New Year! Ah!"

Elliot: "..."

Bodyguard: "Mr. Mike, it's New Year, you should be more polite! Can't you all have a Happy New Year?"

Mike: "Okay Ah! As long as he doesn't say anything that makes people complain, I promise to be very friendly."

At this time, Hayden's cell phone rang.

Hayden immediately answered the phone.

"Hayden, have you seen your father?" It was Avery who called.

Hayden: "Here, I'm in the car now, ready to go to the hotel for dinner."

"That's good. You are outside now, be patient in everything, safety first, understand?" Avery confessed to her son, "I have already told your father. It's over, but you have to remember these."

Hayden: "Mom, I know. I won't quarrel with him."

Avery: "Well, you must pay more attention. The truth is to me, without you it's important with your dad."

Hayden: "Okay mom, I'll remember."

Hayden felt that his mother would have to explain it next, so he turned on the speakerphone and asked his father to listen to his mother's teachings.

"Hayden, your father is actually quite good, but there is one thing that is not good." Avery didn't know that her son had turned on the hands-free, so she said whatever she wanted, "When he is in a hurry, he is easy to get on top of, and he is not rational at all. Now that you pass, you can watch him. If he gets mad, you have to hold him back before he acts aggressively. Don't make it too serious. I don't want any one is hurt."

Hayden: "Good mother."

When Hayden was speaking, he glanced at Elliot from the corner of his eye. Elliot was sitting in the passenger seat, and Hayden was sitting in the back seat, so Hayden could only see one side of Elliot's side face and could see that his ears were red.

"Also, you'd better live with your father, so that we can take care of each other..." Avery said this, Hayden immediately turned off the hands-free.

"Mom, I see. Have a good New Year! I'm a little dizzy." Hayden made an excuse and ended the call.

Elliot turned his head and looked at Hayden: "I changed to a presidential suite, and then the three of us will live together.” Hayden felt a little disgusted. However, Mike was uncharacteristically, and didn’t hate Elliot: “Hayden, just listen to your father! After all, when we move in later, your mother may make a video call to check.”

Mike’s words gave Hayden a shudder.

That would indeed be something a mother would do.

“Before you came here, Avery had already called me and sent me a message to tell me. He told me not to mess around and take you back safely.” Elliot said.

Chapter 2476

Elliot took Hayden back to the presidential suite, sent him to rest in the room, and returned to his bedroom contentedly.

He took the initiative to send a video call to Avery to express his inner feelings.

“Avery, Hayden had dinner and went to rest.”

Avery: “Are you two okay?”

“Very good.” Elliot had a warm and kind smile on his face, “Avery, you called Hayden and said. Those words were effective. Although his attitude towards me this time cannot be said to have changed a hundred and eighty degrees, but there is a ninety degree.”

Avery looked at the relaxed smile on his face, and she was also relieved, and nervously said: “I called Hayden, did you hear me?”

Elliot: “My son turned on the speaker mode.”

Avery: “...”

If Avery remembered correctly, she seemed to have spoken ill of Elliot in front of her son!

“Don’t worry, I didn’t take what you said to me to heart.” Seeing her expression freeze, Elliot took the initiative to say, “You’re right. I was exactly what you said before, but I will change it in the future. Now My son is here, and I will definitely not let my head get hot.”

“Husband, I’m really happy that you think so.” Avery felt relieved, “What’s the situation with you now? What are you going to do next?”

Elliot: “I’ve been here for the past few days, but I haven’t met the third brother Nick. The third brother asked me to meet, but I haven’t agreed yet. But I can’t stay locked in the hotel all the time.”

“Elliot, the murderer of the case of Jobin family may be around.”

“Do you think I didn’t suspect them? Before Kyrie died, they refused to accept Kyrie. Rebecca killed Kyrie, letting them suppress their ambitions in their hearts.”

Avery: “They wiped out the Jobin family for the sake of the Jobin family’s property. If you want them to spit out the property that they have already obtained, they are definitely not willing. Maybe they will hurt you just like they did when they wiped out the Jobin family. Elliot, don’t think that if you call them brothers and sisters, they won’t have evil intentions. Including the third brother Nick, you can’t be trusted.”

Elliot: “Aren’t you and the third brother on good terms?”

“What’s the matter? If something happens and they really did it together, then they are my enemies.” Avery said, “If it weren’t for them, my daughter would not be displaced. Now that Gloria Wiens is dead, I don’t know where my daughter has gone.”

“Avery, New Year today, don’t be too sad. I will have a good talk with them to see if they know Haze’s whereabouts. Haze is my daughter, they definitely dare not..."

"They all wiped out the Jobin family, if it wasn't for Haze's fate, I'm afraid she would have been murdered by them. Why are you so optimistic? You still treat them as brothers?" Avery just thought of these people disregarding human life for money, and her heart was filled with fire.

"No. I'll tell you when I know the details. Don't be angry yet. Have you had the reunion dinner?" Elliot changed the subject to a lighter one, "Gifts for the children in G-Temple Have you gone?"

"Sent it. The driver and the bodyguard sent it in the morning." Avery let her mood relax as much as possible, "I went to play with the children, you go to rest! In case of any situation, you must first tell me soon."

Elliot: "Okay."

The next morning, Elliot received a call from Nick, asking him and Hayden to visit his house.

Nick: "Elliot, you've been staying in the hotel these days, don't you feel bored? Bring your son, I haven't seen him for a long time."

"Is my every move under your surveillance?" Elliot asked.

Elliot didn't tell Nick about Hayden's coming to Yonroeville.

"You guys ate at the restaurant with such a high profile last night, and you still need me to monitor? Hahaha!" Nick laughed, "You stayed in the hotel these two days, did your wife tell you?"

Elliot: "Third brother, didn't Avery call you?"

"You guessed it?" Nick picked up the coffee cup, took a sip of coffee, and said calmly, "After you came, she called me. Your wife's temper that was more urgent than you."

"What did she say?" Elliot asked curiously.

Chapter 2477

“You brought your son to my house for dinner today. Let’s talk face to face.”

Nick said, “Do you want to call the second brother and the fourth brother?

They are both at home!”

“Since they are at home, let’s call and get together.” Elliot knew that this wave would not escape.

“Okay. Let’s go tonight then!” After setting the time, Nick asked, “Send me the dishes your son likes to eat later. It’s the first time your son comes to my house, I will treat him well.”

“Yes.” After talking on the phone, Elliot copied the name of the dish Avery sent him the day before yesterday and sent it to Nick.

Later, he sent a message to Avery: [I decided to take Hayden to Nick’s house for dinner tonight. Just eat a meal and do nothing else.]

Avery: [What are you not doing, are you sure what they don’t want to do? You go to discuss it with Hayden and Mike, but you can’t go without preparation.]

Elliot: [Yes.]

After sending the message to Avery, Elliot went to Mike’s room.

Before entering Mike’s room, he knocked on the door.

He didn’t wait for Mike to respond, he opened the door and walked in. Mainly because it was already 10 o’clock in the morning.

Since Mike slept last night, he should have slept well.

When Mike heard the movement, he opened his sleepy eyes, and when he saw Elliot, he immediately roared in fright.

“What are you doing?” Elliot was annoyed by his roar, “Am I that scary?”

“What are you doing in my room? Don’t you know how to knock on the door? It’s really rude to sneak in like this!” Mike Immediately lifted the quilt and got up from the bed.

He brushed back his messy blond hair, then picked up the T-shirt and pulled it over his head.

Mike: "What time is it? Did you come to wake me up, or something else?"

"I didn't want to come to you at first, but Avery asked me to discuss everything with you." Elliot sat down in the chair next to him, watched him get dressed, "Nick invited Hayden and me to his house for dinner at night. I agreed."

Mike: "Oh, you mean you two go, don't you take me?"

Elliot: "Take you to find death together?"

Mike: "Pfft! Since it's dangerous, why don't you take Hayden there?"

Elliot: "I'll try not to anger them. But if it's unbearable, you can at least help with something."

Mike: "Okay, I see. Then I will I won't go with you. Did you tell Hayden about this?"

"Hayden's door is still closed." Elliot only said this, and Mike immediately glared at him.

"You are so funny! You don't dare to knock on your son's door, so you came to disturb me?" Mike snorted coldly, "Look at you. Do you have breakfast? After I have breakfast, I will go to Hayden's room to look."

"Call someone else and it will be delivered." Elliot got up from his chair, ready to call for breakfast.

"Hey! Don't you ask me what I want to eat?" Mike called to stop him, "I want to eat..."

"I'll just order what my son likes. You can order what you like." Elliot wouldn't be Mike's servant.

Chapter 2478

“Hehe! Order it! I’ll eat whatever you order. I’m not picky eaters anyway.” Mike said cheekily, “I won’t call your son for you if I’m not full.”

Elliot: “I-I didn’t want to starve you to death.”

Elliot just couldn’t stand Mike using him like a servant.

“Hey, do you know what we brought here this time?” Mike got dressed, walked out of the room, and chatted with Elliot.

“What did you bring?” Elliot asked.

“Haha, I won’t tell you! You’re so curious!” Mike finished, humming a little song, and briskly walked towards the bathroom.

After Elliot called for breakfast, Hayden walked out of the room.

When Elliot saw his son, he immediately had a pleasant face: “Hayden, I ordered breakfast and it was delivered quickly. How did you sleep last night?”

Hayden didn’t want to answer this question.

Mike came out of the bathroom, saw Hayden, and immediately teased: “Your father ordered your favorite breakfast for you.”

“What is my favorite?” Hayden didn’t even know.

Mike shook his head: “I don’t know! That’s what your father said. I’m so disgusted. By the way, he said to take you to Nick’s for dinner at night, so be prepared!”

Hayden looked at Elliot glance.

“Hayden, I’m just about to tell you. Let’s have dinner together tonight. It might be a little dangerous, but I will try not to let it happen.” Elliot explained to his son.

“It’s not up to you whether the danger will happen or not.” Hayden said angrily.

“If you’re afraid, I can go alone at night.” Elliot didn’t want to hurt his son.

“Elliot, can you talk? Your son is here to protect you. If he’s afraid, he won’t come!” Mike reminded Elliot loudly, telling him not to make Hayden unhappy.

Elliot actually didn’t want to make Hayden unhappy, but he was subconsciously afraid that his decision would bring him risks.

“Then let’s go together tonight.” Elliot adjusted his emotions and said to his son, “You protect me.”

Hayden’s face turned red.

Fortunately, breakfast was delivered quickly.

Mike and Hayden had breakfast together, and Elliot sat beside him drinking coffee.

Elliot: “We can go out for a walk later.”

Mike: “What is there to do in this sh*tty place? And it’s freezing cold.”

Hayden: “I want to go out for a walk.”

Mike: “There is so much outside Thick snow, what are you going out for?”

Hayden: “Leave me alone.”

Mike closed his mouth, took a bite of his sandwich, and said, “I’ll go out with you. I promised your mother that I would guard you.”

“Mike, didn’t you say you didn’t sleep, okay? You went to bed after breakfast.

I’ll go out with Hayden for a walk.” Elliot made Mike’s arrangement clear without thinking.

“Okay...” Mike said.

Before Mike could finish his sentence, Hayden changed his mind: “I won’t go out.”

“Hahaha, the three of us go shopping together! Otherwise, the three of us are at home, it feels so strange!” Mike didn’t feel sleepy anymore.

Mainly because Mike was made uncomfortable by the awkward atmosphere created by the father and son.

“Okay. Let’s go shopping and do some shopping.” Elliot agreed without hesitation.

As long as Elliot could go out with his son, it didn’t matter if there were multiple light bulbs.

Time flies, and it was evening.

Elliot came to Nick’s house with his son and the gifts he bought in the afternoon.

The second brother and the fourth brother came over in the afternoon.

After Elliot brought Hayden into Nick’s house, everyone came out to greet him.

Chapter 2479

“Oh, Hayden has grown so big!” The second brother looked at Hayden, his eyes full of laughter, “Hayden, your height is almost as tall as your dad’s!”

“This growth rate is indeed a bit fast!” Nick sighed, “The last time I saw Hayden, she was much younger than now.”

The fourth brother said, “Elliot, is your daughter this tall too? She’s even taller than me!”

“My daughter is a little shorter.” Elliot added, “ But it’s taller than you.”

“Hahaha! Good genes! Elliot is tall, and Avery is not short.” Nick smiled and welcomed them into the house, “Did you buy these gifts when you went shopping in the afternoon? “

Nick called Elliot in the afternoon and asked him to come over. He said he was shopping.

“Yeah. Hayden isn’t very familiar with this place, so I took him around.” Elliot and Hayden entered Nick's house together.

After changing their shoes, everyone went to the dining room.

"You guys can stay here for a few more days! Come to my house tomorrow and I'll entertain you." The second brother enthusiastically.

"I have to discuss it with my son." Elliot said.

"There's nothing to discuss. You are a father and he is your son. Of course he has to listen to you." The fourth brother opened his mouth.

Elliot: "Don't say such things in front of my son. Our family is equal, and every one has to listen to others..."

"You have to listen to my mother." Hayden broke the stage.

Others: "..."

Elliot: "Yeah."

Others: "..."

Nick broke the awkward situation with a smile, and poured wine for everyone.

"Elliot, can you have some wine now?"

Elliot: "No. My wife won't let me."

The expressions on everyone's faces froze.

"What's the point of not drinking. Your wife isn't here, so why bother with her!"

The second brother showed disdain, "You're so wife-afraid, you don't look like a man."

"Then do you think you look like a man?" Hayden asked.

"Of course I look like a man! I have the final say in our family! My wife doesn't even dare fart in front of me!" The second brother said proudly.

"It means that the wife you are looking for is not as good as you. What is there to be proud of?" Hayden hit the nail on the head, "If your wife is better than you, see if you dare to fart in front of her."

Second brother: "..."

Hayden wa piercing his heart!

The fourth brother felt that Hayden was too rude, so he couldn't help but said:

"You think highly of your mother too much! If your mother divorces your father, your father will definitely find a better woman than your mother!"

"If my mother Divorcing Elliot, my mother will definitely find a better man."

Hayden was not in a hurry.

"You are too confident. Doesn't your mother know how to do medicine?" The fourth brother retorted.

"My mother just saved Nick's life." Hayden interrupted him.

The fourth brother stopped talking immediately.

Nick laughed, and raised his wine glass: "As long as Elliot thinks it's good, don't talk nonsense. Let's drink."

Elliot picked up the chopsticks, turned the dishes on the table, and said to Hayden, "You can eat whatever you want. Don't be restrained."

Hayden had no appetite, so he said: "Let's talk about business! Stop haggling."

The second, fourth, and Nick: "???"

Elliot didn't expect Hayden to say such a word suddenly, because he didn't mentally prepared, so suddenly a little nervous.

"What business are you talking about? You and your father are here today, besides eating and drinking, do you have other things to do?" The second brother asked knowingly.

Hayden: "You guys were the ones who did the Jobin family extermination case back then? I don't care about the disputes between you. I just want to know the whereabouts of my sister Haze."

The second, fourth, and Nick: “!!!”

Chapter 2480

Elliot really did not expect that Hayden would be so direct.

Hayden simply didn't give the other party a chance to breathe, nor did he have room to think.

That was at Nick's house.

In their territory, if he directly tears himself apart from them, they will do extreme things?

“Hayden, we don't have any evidence yet.” Elliot lowered his voice and spoke to his son.

But his words were heard clearly by others.

Ha ha! Unexpectedly, the father and son dared to say this without evidence.

“Didn't that guy say he was a man just now?” Hayden said this directly to the second brother, “What kind of man is he if he dares to act but not to be? Such a cowardly villain is generally called a coward.”

'Bang'!

The second brother was so angry that he slapped the table and stood up, staring at Hayden with his big round eyes, and shouted angrily: “You brat, how dare you to scold me!”

Hayden said leisurely, “I'm scolding you three.”

The fourth brother in the play and Nick: “...”

“Hehe! Elliot, you made your son say these things, right?!” The second brother thought it was Elliot's plan!

Elliot: “Yes, what my son means is what I mean.”

No matter what trouble Hayden caused, Elliot had to bear it.

Hayden smiled contemptuously: “I can say whatever I want, and do whatever

I want, and I don't need to tell my father at all. Don't you think I'm afraid of you?"

The second brother's complexion turned black, and he was furious!

A murderous aura rose from the bottom of his heart.

"Elliot, if you teach your son a lesson now, I can pretend nothing happened!"

The second brother put pressure on Elliot.

Elliot looked solemn, and said word by word: "I thought what he just said was very clear. Everything my son said was what I wanted to say. Even if there is no evidence, I dare to say that there are dozens of members of the Jobin family killed them."

There was a 'bang'!

The fourth brother slapped the table and stood up.

"Elliot, do you think we dare not kill you?!" The fourth brother blushed excitedly, the red blood in his eyes was like a big net that could eat people, "Since we dare to attack the Jobin family, we are not afraid to kill you again."

Hayden: "He recruited."

Elliot nodded: "Yeah."

The fourth brother: "???"

The expressions of the father and son were too calm, and the tone was not turbulent.

Did they not hear what he threatened them just now, or did they ignore him at all?

The second brother felt that they were too arrogant, so he decided to go all out!

However, to do this, the three brothers must work together.

So the second brother looked at Nick.

"Third brother, now that father and son know everything, we have no other choice.” The second brother excitedly said, “We’ll kill them now, what do you think?”

Nick was very troubled. He had a better personal relationship with Elliot.

At the beginning, the decision to join hands with the second and fourth brothers to deal with the Jobin family was only for profit.

But what’s the benefit of dealing with Elliot? Nothing good! Why did things that were not beneficial?

“I think...” Nick decided to persuade him to make peace.

Chapter 2481

Chapter 2481

“You come to kill!” Hayden interrupted Nick, and took out a small remote and deliberately showed them, “If we die together, we are not alone.”

The second brother stared at the remote control in Hayden’s hand with his eyes wide open.

The third brother and the fourth brother also stared at Hayden with wide eyes.

“What, what is this?!” The fourth brother felt bad.

“What kind of remote control is this?” the third brother asked.

Elliot couldn’t help asking, “Hayden, what is this?”

After Elliot asked the question, the other three looked at Elliot one after another.

Elliot didn’t know what Hayden was holding in his hand.

Aren’t they father and son together?

Hayden explained without hesitation : “The controller of the surface-tosurface missile. I bought three missiles.”

The second, third, and fourth: “.....”

Elliot: “Hayden, you bought it from the military of Yonroeville?”

“Yes! I gave enough, and others sold it to me.” Hayden said calmly, looking at the second brother, “Your home is on QH Road, right? I’ve already asked someone to inquire about it, and your family lives there now. If you say something I don’t like to hear, I’ll press this button. Let you also taste the taste of being wiped out.”

The second brother was trembling and his lips tightly closed.

“Your family—” Hayden looked at the fourth brother.

The fourth brother didn’t wait for him to report his home address, and immediately shook his head: “I won’t talk, I won’t talk!”

Nick laughed awkwardly: “Eat! Have a good meal, if you don’t eat it, it will be cold.”

“Where is Haze?” Hayden will never be led by the nose.

His purpose was very clear. Apart from protecting Elliot, he was also here for Haze.

“I don’t know!” The second brother waved his hands again and again.

“I don’t know either! Third brother, do you know?” The fourth brother blamed Nick.

“Haze was bought by Gloria Wiens. You should know about this.” Nick looked at Elliot, “Gloria died so suddenly that I didn’t have time to ask her about Haze’s whereabouts.”

The implication was that he didn’t know Haze either. Where is Haze now?

Now that the matter was completely spread out, Elliot didn’t have to go around in circles with them anymore.

“You guys clearly knew that Haze was my daughter, so why did you dare to kill the Jobin family back then? You wanted to kill Haze together, right?” Elliot questioned.

“You didn’t like Haze back then! We killed her, didn’t we do a good thing for you and Avery? You two divorced because of this child!” The fourth brother said straightforwardly, “We also didn’t know that Haze was the child of you and Avery! If we knew at the beginning, we would definitely not touch that child! We only want to divide up Jobin’s family property, and we don’t want to make enemies with you!”

“Elliot, we really didn’t know that Haze was the child of you and Avery. If we knew, we would definitely pick up Haze in advance.” Nick explained, “Haze should still be alive now. It’s just that I don’t know where she was hidden.”

“Elliot, since this matter has become like this, we will definitely go with you to find Haze.” The second brother said, “We’ll just be kind like this...”

“The gold that swallowed you Spit out all the family’s property.” Elliot didn’t want to pretend that nothing happened.

“What if we help you find Haze? The property we got from the Jobin family has already been integrated with our own property, how can we spit it out? Elliot, don’t force others to do things to you! Kyrie’s money is not a cent. It’s clean! At best, we’re just cheating!” The fourth brother was in a hurry.

“I’m not discussing with you.” Elliot said coldly.

If this matter hadn’t involved his daughter Haze, Elliot wouldn’t have traveled long distances to Yonroeville at all.

He didn’t care whether they were cheating or fighting each other.

But now, they had caused his daughter to disappear, so he taught them a lesson.

“If you still want to lose face, donate the money in the name of charity.” Elliot stepped down the steps for them, “If you don’t want to...”

Hayden's left hand moved on the table.

After everyone saw this action, they had to obey.

"All right! Just donate! Donate to charity!" The second brother blushed and said this reluctantly.

"Since the second brother said so, I will also donate." The fourth brother said.

Nick said, "Elliot, are you disappointed in me?"

"It's nothing disappointing, I just want to find my daughter as soon as possible." Elliot didn't even spend the Spring Festival with his family this time, so he just wanted to come here early and strike while the iron is hot, to end this matter.

"Why are you so stubborn? Don't you still have Layla? If Haze is gone, it will be gone! If you still want to have another daughter, you and your wife will have another one! As for giving yourself away for a daughter Are you so tired?" The second brother persuaded, "The son is the most important thing. I think your son is amazing! If I were you, I would be so happy!"

"Son and daughter are equally important!" Elliot refuted his remarks, "If I had known that Haze was my daughter, I wouldn't have been so indifferent to her after she was born. I want to make it up to her!"

"If I can't find her, there is no way! It's too easy for such a small child to hide. It's gone!" The fourth brother said, "Maybe Haze is dead. Children die too easily. I have already lost several children."

Elliot and Hayden were speechless.

"My first child died due to dystocia. During delivery, the child lacked oxygen and died at birth. The second child who died was born smoothly, but the life was not very good. The thing choked to death. The third child who died ran into the water to play by himself and drowned..." The fourth brother recalled his own children who died young, and his mood was a little dignified.

“If Haze is still alive, why can’t you find her? You all know that Gloria bought Haze back then, why can’t you find out?” The fourth brother slapped his thigh suddenly when he said this, “She is dead! I don’t think you should look for her anymore! If she really wants to live, she will naturally look for you when she grows up.”

Originally, Elliot had no appetite for this meal, and now he has even less appetite.

“Let’s eat first! This problem won’t be solved for a while. Hayden finally came here, eat more!” Nick greeted, “Hayden, you are really courageous and resourceful, stronger than your father.”

“I can see it too!” The second brother raised his glass and wanted to toast Hayden, “I heard that you created the Dream Maker Group by yourself, why are you so awesome? When your father was your age, he’s only going to study hard!”

Elliot couldn’t hold back anymore.

But after thinking about it, his son was awesome, and his face was also bright.

“When you were my age, not only were you not as good as me, but you couldn’t read well, right? As long as you read a little more, you won’t be so stupid.” Hayden said bluntly, without any regard for the other party’s face.

The second brother slammed the table, very annoyed.

“Second brother, don’t be angry. We are indeed not as good as Hayden.”

Nick comforted, “We are not as good as him in terms of business acumen or the means of dealing with the enemy. This is not something to be ashamed of, Hayden is Elliot’s son and is not the son of an outsider.”

The fourth brother also persuaded: "Second brother, isn't your second daughter about the same age as Hayden? You can arrange for them to meet and arrange a marriage..."

The second brother's eyes lit up immediately, and he was very satisfied with this proposal.

"Didn't you guys want to kill me just now?" Hayden reminded them, "Have you lost your memory?"

"Aren't we reconciled now?" The second brother said with a shy smile.

"Who reconciled with you?" Hayden replied calmly and impolitely, "Shameless old man!"

The second brother was really angry when he was called a 'Shameless old man!'

He threw the chopsticks in his hand and stood up from the chair: "I won't eat! You can eat!"

After finishing speaking, The second brother was angry.

Chapter 2483

After the two of them left, the atmosphere in the dining room suddenly relaxed a lot.

Elliot took the serving chopsticks to pick up food for Hayden.

"Eat vegetables."

"I don't want you to pick them up." Hayden didn't want to be treated as a child.

"Okay, then pick it up yourself. Eat more." After Elliot ordered, he looked at Nick, "Do you have anything to say?"

"I really don't know where Haze is." Nick shrugged, "It was the second brother who was looking for Kai Wiens. The second brother intends to control Gloria and tell her not to talk nonsense, who knows that she will not want to commit suicide.”

Elliot frowned and did not answer.

When the dinner was about to end, a thought flashed through Elliot’s mind: “I want to visit Jobin’s house. Is anyone there?”

“At this point, there must be no one. The yard is usually locked.” Nick said, “Every time I pass by there, I see that the yard is locked. I guess someone will clean it every once in a while! You can ask the current person in charge of Jobin Industries. Didn’t you find him?”

Jobin Industries and the Jobin family was now under Haze’s name.

After all, Haze’s body was not found, and Haze’s household registration was still in Jobin’s house.

“Third brother, did you tamper with Rebecca’s relics back then? It stands to reason that Rebecca should have made photo albums for Haze, but I didn’t find any items related to Haze back then. Rebecca’s mobile phone was severely damaged, and all the data was destroyed. The jewelry and other valuables in her bedroom are all there, but there is nothing related to Haze.”

“Didn’t Rebecca send you photos of Haze’s first birthday? Haze’s photo albums should have been taken away and burned. I’m afraid you will feel distressed after seeing them! These are all done by the second brother and the fourth brother. I just promise not to betray them, even if I participated.”

Nick said, “Actually, I personally don’t advocate attacking Rebecca. But the second brother and the fourth brother can’t hold back. If I don’t go with them, they may Join forces to deal with me. Besides, I was blinded by interests, so I have nothing to excuse.”

“By the way, there may be pictures of Haze on my old phone. When I went to see Haze, I took a photo. I’ll look for it.” After Nick finished speaking, he put down his wine glass and went to look for the old cell phone.

After Nick left, only Elliot and Hayden were left at the dining table.

Hayden took out his mobile phone and sent a message to Mike about the situation there.

Elliot also took out his phone and sent Avery a message.

—The son bought three missiles.

Avery:[? ? ?]

Elliot: [It probably cost a lot of money. In order to protect me, my son spent money this time.]

Avery: [...]

Avery didn't know about this matter, so she suddenly learned that Hayden's deployment was to buy missiles, and she didn't know what to say for a while.

Elliot: [I am really touched. If only he could call me daddy.]

Avery: [Have you been drinking? Don't push yourself too far. Take it easy.]

Elliot: [Well, he is by my side now, I feel so happy now.]

Avery: [Is there a whereabouts of Haze?]

The smile on Elliot's face disappeared: [No.]

Chapter 2484

After a while, Nick walked over with an old mobile phone.

Nick: "Fortunately, the phone still has power. I turned it on and checked, and there was indeed a video I took of Haze in it."

After Nick finished speaking, Elliot snatched his phone.

Hayden moved closer to Elliot, also wanting to watch his sister's video.

Elliot clicked on the video, and a chubby little girl appeared in front of him.

The Haze in the video was white and fat, and she had been raised very well.

Haze sat on the floor mat with a smile, holding a small toy in her small hand, shaking it vigorously.

She looked at the camera and smiled very sweetly. The light in her eyes reached Elliot's heart.

Elliot's tears burst out instantly.

Nick didn't expect Elliot to cry so easily. Immediately took a tissue from the table, handed it to Hayden, and asked Hayden to give it to him.

"Don't cry." Hayden forced the tissue into Elliot's hand, and said, "Maybe Haze is not dead."

After wiping away his tears, Elliot said with red eyes, "She's so cute...she's really so cute...I shouldn't have been so unfeeling to her back then."

"What do you mean by saying that?" Hayden frowned, "She's my mother's daughter and so cute." If not, Hayden wouldn't think she's cute.

Elliot tightly gripped the phone with his fingers, looking at his daughter with a lively smile in the video, his heart ached with guilt.

When leaving Nick's house, Elliot took Nick's old cell phone away.

Back at the hotel, Elliot went straight into the master bedroom and closed the door.

Mike asked Hayden: "What's wrong with your dad? He has a gloomy face, a little scary!"

Hayden: "He saw the video before Haze's accident."

Mike: "Where is the video? I want to watch it too."

"A video from Nick's old cell phone." Hayden replied, "Haze is chubby, very cute."

"Children around one year old are cute. Do you know why?" Mike is very experienced in raising children.

"You either don't say it." How could Hayden know why.

"Because a one-year-old child develops so fast! It is no exaggeration to say that a one-year-old child eats more than me every day!” Mike recalled, “When I took you and Layla, I had a deep understanding. At that time Feeding you was like feeding piglets! You drank hundreds of milliliters of milk a day, and you had to eat three meals a day, it’s not scary...”

“Stop it.” Hayden felt a stomach ache.

He now ate three meals a day, although one meal was not less, but the amount of food in each meal was normal.

“No progress tonight?” Mike leaned on the sofa and sighed, “Before you came back, your mother called me and asked us to go back to Aryadelle as soon as possible. Your mother felt that Haze couldn’t be found after so much effort, which means that the person who brought Haze hid her very well. If you continue to search, it will be difficult to find results.”

“Hayden, Your mother is mainly afraid that you will be in danger here. She doesn’t want you to stay in Yonroeville for a long time.” Mike added.

“Those old guys are cowards, nothing to be afraid of.” Hayden said lightly, “It’s just that they don’t know Haze’s whereabouts, so it’s really meaningless to stay here.”

“Where is Haze hiding?” Mike rubbed his chin, “Is there anything wrong?”

“Yeah.” Hayden didn’t want to think about the bad side, but he couldn’t find Haze, which could explain some problems.

“Your mother should be able to accept this result, but I think your father can’t accept it.” Mike shrugged, “What a fragile man.”

“He is indeed getting more and more fragile now.” Hayden remembered that when his father saw Haze’s video and burst into tears, he was shocked at that time.

“Actually, it’s normal. Your father is not young anymore.” Mike tried to analyze, "You see, you are already twelve years old, and after the Spring Festival, you will be almost thirteen."

Hayden silently calculated Elliot's age in his heart, then there was silence.

"Your mother also told me one more thing." Mike suppressed a smile and whispered, "Your mother told me that your father sent her a message tonight, saying that he wanted to hear you call him father."

Chapter 2485

Hayden: "He didn't drink tonight, why did he get drunk?"

Hayden blushed and walked quickly towards his room.

"Hey! Why are you blushing! He is your father! You came to Yonroeville this time to help him, right?" Mike chased after him.

With a bang, Hayden closed the door, and Mike's nose was ashamed.

Two days later, the three returned from Yonroeville.

Avery picked them up at the airport.

Seeing them appearing in front of them safe and sound, Avery heaved a sigh of relief.

"Mike, it's hard work for you to make this trip." Avery first expressed her gratitude to Mike.

"What are you being polite about?" Mike said, leaning into Avery's ear, and whispered, "Please persuade your husband! He has been sluggish and negative for the past two days."

Avery could see Elliot. Elliot had lost a lot of weight compared to before going to Yonroeville. Moreover, his face was pale and haggard, as if he had suffered a serious illness.

"You and Hayden go back first. I'll go outside with him and then go back."

Avery said to Mike.

Avery watched their figures disappear before her eyes, took a deep breath, and looked at Elliot.

Avery: “Elliot, show me Haze’s video.”

Elliot: “It will be very uncomfortable to watch. That’s why I didn’t send it to you.”

“I want to see.” Avery stretched out her hand towards him.

Elliot handed her the phone.

Avery found the video, clicked on it, and watched it again.

“Watching the video, I feel that Haze looks more like you in some angles.”

Avery’s voice softened a bit.

“She is our daughter, so she is like us.” Elliot has been in a heavy mood for the past two days, but when he returned to Aryadelle and saw Avery, he felt much better. Maybe Haze’s death is also a relief. On the other hand, I hope she is still alive, even if it is hard, at least there will be a chance to recognize each other in the future.”

“Everyone has a different understanding of suffering. There are people who are entangled but spirited. There are people who are poor but optimistic. Our daughter, if she is still alive, I believe she will be like a seed, defying the cold wind and scorching sun, breaking through the ground and standing towards the sun.”

Elliot nodded with scarlet eyes.

Avery took her hand and led him outside: “It’s snowing lightly now, and many people are playing outside. Let’s take a walk outside to get some air.”

Elliot: “Yeah.”

Walk out of the airport and step into the snow But Elliot didn't feel cold at all.

He suddenly remembered something, and excitedly shared it with Avery:

"Hayden called me 'father'."

Avery was astonished: "How is that possible!"

Elliot: "I have a fever, I can hear it clearly."

Avery immediately reached out and touched his forehead.

"After taking the medicine, I'm fine." Elliot held her hand again, his eyes were a little hot, "Honey, I've been going around all these years, thank you for staying by my side."

Avery looked at the snowflakes in a daze and landed on Elliot. She couldn't help but tiptoed and pressed a kiss on his lips.

This kiss seemed to say — 'you're welcome, because you deserve it'.

Chapter 2486

Twelve Years Later.

Thopiavelle, winter. This winter has been extraordinarily cold.

The doctor came to give the mother-in-law an infusion, but the needle could no longer penetrate the vein.

The doctor shook his head at Siena, and left with the medicine box.

Seeing the back of the doctor leaving, Siena's tears fell down.

"Siena..." The mother-in-law's voice came weakly on the bed.

Siena quickly wiped away the tears from the corners of her eyes, adjusted her emotions, turned around, and walked to the bedside.

"Mother-in-law, don't be afraid. The doctor forgot to take the medicine. He went back to the clinic to get it." Siena didn't want her mother-in-law to think wildly.

Mother-in-law fell a year ago and couldn't get up again. If Siena hadn't taken good care of her, her mother-in-law would have left long ago.

To be able to live until now, her mother-in-law had lived enough, and she was too tired.

Mother-in-law had been unable to eat anything since three months ago. Now she was only skin and bones, and every time she took a breath, there would be severe pain in her chest.

“Siena...I-I’m leaving...you...don’t cry...” The mother-in-law grabbed Siena’s hand, tears glistening in her eyes, “I...I really can’t bear you...”

“Grandma, I also can’t bear you...I don’t want you to go!” Siena held her mother-in-law’s skinny hand with both hands and cried loudly, “What should I do when you are gone? I want you to stay with me all the time, I haven’t repaid you yet, how can you go...”

The mother-in-law was very moved, and the pain in her body eased a lot. Because of the appearance of Siena, her mediocre life has become more colorful.

She died without regret.

“My dear Siena, I’ve dragged you down...” The mother-in-law’s voice was weak, and as she spoke, two lines of tears fell from the corners of her eyes,

“You must...be happy in the future...be careful...beware of bad people...”

Siena cried so hard that she couldn’t respond to her mother-in-law’s words.

“Also...” the mother-in-law continued to confess her last words, “The mask on your face...can’t be, can’t be taken off now...after eighteen years old...You can...”

This sentence, mother-in-law said to Siena many times.

Siena nodded sharply: “Grandma, I will listen to you, I will listen to you in everything.”

“Well...you are the most obedient...after I die... Just find a place to bury it... don't, don't spend money...hey, hey...” The mother-in-law thought about the year she was ill, although she insisted on refusing to go to the hospital for treatment, but Siena always asked the doctor to come to her to prescribe medicine and infusion, and it must have cost a lot when she came down all the time.

Siena was just a student. Wherever she has money, she must be looking for work in private.

Listening to her mother-in-law's sigh, Siena's defenses completely collapsed.

She couldn't say a word, she just hung her head and kept crying.

She didn't know how long it took, but the surroundings suddenly became eerily quiet.

Siena wiped away her tears and looked at her mother-in-law.

Fortunately, the mother-in-law still opened her eyes and looked at her.

“Grandma, you never told me who my father is...can you tell me now?” Siena choked up and asked this question, “I won't go to him, I promise. I'm just curious about who he is.”

The expression on the mother-in-law's face remained motionless, only tears kept falling from the corners of her eyes.

She was completely out of strength.

She could hear Siena's cry, she could hear Siena's question, she kept looking at Siena, reluctant to close her eyes.

“He, he is...” The mother-in-law exhausted all her strength to make a sound, trying to answer Siena, but she died before she could say the name ‘Elliot Foster’.

“Mother-in-law! Mother-in-law!” Siena cried out in fright when she saw her mother-in-law's eyes suddenly dimmed.

Grandma died.

All the surrounding colors become black and white, and all the noise is erased.

Chapter 2487

Two days later, Siena finished her mother-in-law's funeral and came to Hogan's house.

Before the mother-in-law was bedridden, she had been doing chores in the back kitchen of the Hogan family.

The money the mother-in-law earned every month was used for Siena's schooling.

Siena had been sensible since she was a child. Since her mother-in-law came to work in Hogan's house, whenever she had free time, she would come to Hogan's house to help with things.

All the servants of the Hogan family knew Siena and took good care of Siena.

"Siena, how is your mother-in-law? Will you still come here to work in the future? The housekeeper suddenly asked about this yesterday!" The familiar servant immediately asked after seeing Siena.

"Auntie Perry, my mother-in-law has already left." Siena lowered her eyes and her voice was muffled.

Auntie Perry: "Hey! It's good that your mother-in-law is gone, otherwise you have to go to school, work part-time to earn money, and take care of your mother-in-law. How tired you are!"

Siena: "I'm not tired."

Auntie Perry: "You're not tired, your mother-in-law is too! I The last time I went to see her, she was so skinny that she looked painful. It would be a relief to leave. You can tell the housekeeper later and beg him to take you in and continue working here. Otherwise, you will pay for your tuition in the future. What should I do?"

Siena: "Thank you, Auntie."

"Are you tired these days? Let's see how thin you are." Auntie Perry said, took a steamed bun and stuffed it for her, "This is leftover from the morning, you can eat it. You will be alone in the future, and you are so pitiful."

Auntie Perry said, staring at the ugly scar on her face, and sighed regretfully. Although people often looked at her like this, Siena still felt a little uncomfortable.

She put the steamed bun in her mouth and took a bite. At the same time, she turned her back and took out her mobile phone.

In the past two days after her mother-in-law passed away, she often couldn't help crying.

For example, now——

she was holding back tears while eating steamed buns, and tapped her fingers on the screen of the phone.

With tears in her eyes, she saw a strange yet somewhat familiar face appearing on the screen of her mobile phone.

Lilly, her good friend from G-Temple, celebrated her eighteenth birthday today.

Lilly had long white hair on her shoulders, a beautiful crown on her head, and a pink princess dress. She was so beautiful, like a princess who came out of a comic book.

In the photo, Lilly stood in front of a big three-tiered cake, clasped her hands together, and made a wish with her eyes closed.

After eating the steamed buns, Siena wiped away the tears on her face, and looked at the photo again.

That was Avery's Facebook post.

Avery occasionally shared her daily life on Facebook.

Every year on this day, Avery would post Lilly's birthday photos on Facebook.

This was also the reason why Siena followed Avery's Facebook.

Although her and Lilly's lives would never intersect again, seeing that Lilly was doing so well now, she would still be happy for Lilly.

In three months, Siena would be her eighteenth birthday. It's just that her eighteenth birthday could only be spent alone.

"Hey, the Hogan family has big gossip again! The master seems to have brought another illegitimate child back from his business trip this time! I heard that he is already at the airport. Madam is throwing something in the room right now!"

"Tsk tsk, another illegitimate child! How old is this illegitimate child? The master is also amazing. At this age, I don't know how to calm down. No wonder Madam has such a big temper!"

"I don't know how old the child is! But the child should be an adult now. I heard that the auxiliary building is for that young master! In the next period of time, it is estimated that the family will not be peaceful! We must be careful in doing things, otherwise we will make the masters unhappy. It's bad luck to have a knife!"

Chapter 2488

"Siena, what are you still doing! Come and help! The Hogan family has another young master, and the housekeeper will definitely leave you to work."

Auntie Perry shouted at Siena.

Siena immediately put down her bag and walked over to help.

An hour later, Master Hogan's car stopped in front of Hogan's house.

Not long after, Master Hogan and Mrs. Hogan quarreled in the living room.

"Lucas Hogan is my son, now his mother doesn't want him anymore, I can't leave him alone!" Master Hogan roared, "I let him live in the auxiliary building because I was afraid you would make trouble! If you still can't stand it, then get out!"

Mrs. Hogan was shocked, and her heart was full of grievances that turned into tears. It was impossible for her to leave the Hogan family, her children were all here, this was her home!

"Why doesn't his mother want him anymore? He has been raised so much, let him go back from Hogan's house now! Did his mother let him come to Hogan's house to divide the family property on purpose?!" Mrs. Hogan wiped away her tears and sneered.

"You think too much! His mother is going to get married! The woman despises him as a fool!" Master Hogan said arrogantly, "Since I brought him back, he will be the young master of the Hogan family from now on!"

"Okay! Anyway, this is not the only illegitimate child you brought back, and it probably won't be the last time!" Mrs. Hogan yelled heartbreakingly, "I won't give that ba*tard a good face! You let him hide in the auxiliary building and don't mess with me!"

After a while, the butler (housekeeper), Mr. Todd came to the back kitchen.

"Which of you would like to go to the auxiliary building to take care of Young Master Hogan?" Mr. Todd sighed, "If you go to the auxiliary building, you will be dedicated to the daily life of Young Master Hogan in the future."

"I won't go. If you go to the auxiliary building, you will be fighting against your wife.”

“Yes! Who dares to do such a thankless job!” The servants chattered, and no one wanted to go to the auxiliary building.

At this time, Mrs. Hogan came to the kitchen and gave everyone a sharp look.

Finally, Mrs. Hogan eyes fell on Siena. She looked at the ugly and hideous scar on Siena’s face, and showed a satisfied expression: “You go to the auxiliary building to serve that ba*tard! I think he will not be able to eat the disgusting meal when he sees you. hahaha!”

Siena lowered her head and refused. : “Madam, I...”

Mrs. Hogan: “I’ll give you double salary. Don’t be ignorant!”

“Ma’am, I’ll go!” Siena immediately raised her head and agreed to the job.

After Mrs. Hogan left, Mr. Todd looked at Siena with a complicated expression: “This job should be quite leisurely, but...”

In order to double the salary, Siena cautiously said: “Uncle Todd, I will work hard.”

“Young master Hogan brought a dog. We don’t know what breed it is, it’s quite big and fierce.” Mr. Todd frowned, “I’m afraid that the dog will go crazy and bite you to death.”

Siena: “...”

“And Young Master Hogan has wounds on his face, so he looks like a brawler! You must be careful! Don’t be killed by him instead of being bitten to death by his dog.” Although Mr. Todd was worried, Mrs. Hogan appointed Siena to take care of Young Master Hogan, and Mr. Todd couldn’t do anything about it.

“Uncle Todd, I still won’t go.” Siena was terrified.

“You’d better go try it! If you can’t, let’s talk about it.” Mr. Todd persuaded,

“You owed a lot of money for treating your mother-in-law before! You are about to take the big exam, and college tuition fees will also be a problem in the future. You don’t earn any money now. Siena, what can you do in the future!”

Siena thought of the future, as if she had been beaten by frost.

“Let’s go!” Mr. Todd led the way, “When you arrive at the auxiliary building, you will follow Young Master Hogan’s orders from now on.”

The two of them arrived at the entrance of the auxiliary building, but before they entered, a big yellow dog suddenly appeared and barked wildly.

Mr. Todd turned and left in fright.

“Siena, go in by yourself! There are some difficulties you have to learn to overcome by yourself!” Mr. Todd said. And in an instant, the butler Mr. Todd disappeared before his eyes.

Siena was so frightened by the ferocious barking that her face turned pale, and she was hesitating whether to leave when the yellow dog in the yard suddenly stopped barking.

Chapter 2489

After seeing Siena’s face clearly, the yellow dog seemed to be frightened.

“Big Yellow Dog, don’t be afraid, I won’t hurt you.” Siena took a deep breath and tried to negotiate friendly with Big Yellow Dog, “I’m just here to work, we will get along friendly in the future, I will feed you well every day!”

Saying that, Siena threw a steamed bun over.

The yellow dog immediately bit the steamed bun.

With a restless heart, Siena quickly entered the auxiliary building.

In the living room of the auxiliary building, a tall and thin man stood. He was about 1.8 meters tall. Siena had to look up to see his face clearly.

The heating was not turned on in the living room, and it was very cold, but he was only wearing a thin blue windbreaker.

He was the illegitimate son that Master Hogan picked up today.

When Siena looked at him, he also looked at Siena.

Like the yellow dog in the yard, he stared at the scar on Siena's face and was stunned.

"Young Master Hogan, hello, my name is Siena, I am... I will be eighteen years old this year. Don't look at me as young, but I work very quickly, I hope you don't dislike me and let me stay and work."

Siena finished nervously and lowered her head.

Lucas Hogan frowned, and asked: "Your face?"

"I... There was a fire in my house when I was a child, so that's it." Siena kept her mother-in-law's teachings in mind, and dared not tell anyone. The truth, but she was afraid that Lucas would hate her, "Young Master Hogan, did I scare you? Did I..."

"You scared my dog." Lucas looked into the yard glance.

The dog was watching Siena eagerly outside, not daring to come in.

"Uh... why is your dog so timid? Hasn't it seen anyone uglier than me?"

Siena looked at the dog in the yard and wondered.

Lucas raised his eyebrows: "Mrs. Hogan sent you to make me angry!"

"Mrs. Hogan didn't say that. She thinks I'm so ugly, you will definitely turn off my appetite when you see me." Siena said truthfully, "Young Master Hogan, if you think I'm off-putting, I can wear a mask in the future. I know you must be a little bit wronged when you just came back to this home, but at least you still have a home. Unlike me..."

“Gu— —” Lucas’s stomach protested.

Siena immediately took the ingredients brought from the main building and went to the kitchen: “Young Master, wait, I’ll cook right away.”

Lucas sat down on the sofa clutching his aching stomach.

Just now, Siena crackled and said a lot, it was so noisy!

Maybe the gods were against him on purpose. At this time, the phone rang inappropriately, which made him not only have a stomachache, but also a headache.

When Lucas saw his mother’s call, he blacklisted his mother’s number without thinking.

“Young Master, I boiled the eggs.” Not long after, Siena came out of the kitchen with the boiled and peeled eggs.

Lucas looked at the white egg in her palm and thought it was ridiculous.

Could an egg fill my stomach?

He couldn’t help but want to get angry. Was this what Siena just promised to be good at work?

“Young Master, roll it on your face.” Siena looked at the bruise on his face, and said with concern, “It will be much more comfortable.”

Lucas: “???” He thought it was for him to eat of!

After her words settled down, Lucas stuffed the egg into his mouth and quickly ate it.

Siena was stunned.

Lucas: “Why don’t you hurry up and cook?! I’m hungry!”

Chapter 2490

Afternoon.

After Lucas went back to his room to rest, Siena went back to the back kitchen of the main building.

“Siena, how is it? That Young Master Hogan didn’t make things difficult for you, did he? That dog didn’t bite you, did it?” Auntie Perry asked.

“Young Master Hogan said that the noodles I cooked were not as good as his. He said that if I still cook unpalatable food for him at night, I will not be left to work.” Siena was a little sad, “The dog is okay, doesn’t bite me.”

Mrs. Perry: “Siena, don’t be afraid. I’m going to teach you how to cook a few dishes now. I promise you can pass the test tonight.”

“Thank you, Auntie Perry.” Siena cheered up quickly, and bright lights flickered in her eyes, “Auntie Perry, actually I don’t think Young Master Hogan is bad. He didn’t call me ugly. And even though he said the noodles I cooked for him were not tasty, he still ate them up.”

Auntie Perry: “Maybe he’s too hungry But he didn’t dislike your ugliness, which is really surprising.”

“I’m also surprised. So I have to do this job well and pay off the debt.” Siena’s optimistic smile made Auntie Perry have mixed feelings.

“Is it okay to not go to school at your school?” Auntie Perry asked.

“I explained the situation to the teacher, and the teacher agreed to my selfstudy, as long as I can meet the test scores.” The light in Siena’s eyes dimmed a bit, “I can only work during the day and study by myself at night.

Otherwise, I have no money to pay the tuition.”

“You are such a poor child.” Auntie Perry said pitifully, “God is really shortsighted! You have been disfigured, and you have lost your parents. Now that your mother-in-law is gone, you will be alone in the future.”

“I have no one to rely on. Even if I go to university, I’m afraid it will be difficult to find a decent job in the future. Auntie Perry, teach me how to cook! I’ll keep this job first before I can think about the future.” Siena said. Looking at the ingredients for the evening, she changed the subject.

Mrs. Perry: "Yeah."

In the Dinner time.

Siena brought the cooked boiled shrimp, fried pork with green peppers and three delicacies soup to Lucas.

Those three dishes were relatively simple, basically as long as she did it with her heart, it couldn't go wrong.

"Young Master, let me peel the shrimp for you!" Seeing him pick up the chopsticks and start eating, Siena took a shrimp and began to peel the shrimp.

"Go feed the dog." Lucas ordered with a blank expression.

Siena was stunned for a moment, and after understanding what Lucas meant, she immediately picked up the plate of boiled shrimp, ready to feed the dog.

Lucas: "Why did you take the shrimp away?!"

Siena: "Young Master, didn't you ask me to feed the dog?"

Lucas: "You didn't make dinner for the dog alone?"

Siena: "Dogs...don't dogs all eat leftovers?"

Bang!

Lucas slammed the bowls and chopsticks on the table: "My dog has eaten leftovers all his life, and now he is here at Hogan's house, can't he have something good?"

Siena was so frightened that she immediately put the boiled shrimp back on the table: "I'm going to cook it right away! But young master, there are only a few vegetables left in the kitchen...how about I make it a bowl of green vegetables noodles?"

Lucas: "..."

He finished the rice in the bowl, strode back to the room without explaining anything.

Siena immediately took the leftovers to feed the dog.

"Hi Rhubarb, you see, we two have officially met today. I'll come over tomorrow morning. Don't bite me, okay?" Siena said to the dog.

The yellow dog buried his head in eating the shrimp and ignored her.

"Rhubarb, I know you are just like your master. You look fierce, but you are actually a good dog." Siena patted the dog's head, "Come in after you finish eating, it's too cold outside. I'm going back and see you tomorrow."

The next day, at 11:00 a.m.

Siena led the ingredients from the main building to the auxiliary building.

She opened the courtyard door, and saw the yellow dog lying in the courtyard, whose body had become stiff.

"Rhubarb! What's wrong with you?! You were fine last night! Don't scare me!"

Chapter 2491

Siena hurriedly walked to the yellow dog, touched the yellow dog's body, it was already cold.

She suddenly thought of her mother-in-law's appearance when she died, and the tears couldn't stop streaming down.

In the building, Lucas was woken up.

He was wearing a thin shirt and opened the door with a sleepy face. Seeing the scene in the yard, his eyes suddenly became cold and cold.

He started raising the dog when he was 6 years old.

Unexpectedly, within a day after arriving at Hogan's house, the dog was poisoned to death.

Main building, living room.

Master Hogan's face was sullen, his eyes could not hide the look of exhaustion.

Mrs. Hogan looked at everything in front of her with disgust.

"I ordered someone to poison it to death! It's just a wild dog! It's a worthless thing. What are you trying to do now that you are so angry?" Mrs. Hogan looked at Lucas, and said contemptuously, "Before I ordered someone to poison your dog, I discussed it with your father. Our Hogan family does not allow this kind of wild dog!"

"It's my pet, not a wild dog!" Lucas clenched his fists tightly, hatred burst out from his eyes.

"Lucas, your dog kept barking yesterday, what if it bites someone one day? If you like keeping pets, I'll give you a docile pet dog as compensation, how about it?" Looking at the dead body of the yellow dog that was carried in, Mr. Hogan felt very unlucky, "I'll let someone carry this dog and bury it!"

"Don't touch my dog!" Lucas's eyes were scarlet, and he gritted his teeth tightly as he looked at his father, "If you hadn't begged me to go back to your house, I would never have come back with you! Since you dislike my dog so much, why didn't you tell me yesterday?! I will never forgive you!"

Lucas said, and hugging the yellow dog corpse he strode away.

"Young Master, wait for me!" Siena hurriedly ran out.

Facing the wind and snow, the two headed west all the way.

After walking a certain distance, Lucas realized that Siena had been following him.

Lucas: "Why are you following me? I won't go back to Hogan's house!"

"Young master, if you don't go back, I won't go back either." Siena's eyes were red, and her nasal voice was a little heavy, "They went too far."

"You cry, why?" Lucas watched her tears welling in her eyes, her emotions were infected, as if something was stuck in her throat and felt very uncomfortable.

"My mother-in-law died the day before yesterday." Siena paused when she said this, "Young Master, if you don't mind, you can bury your dog next to my mother-in-law."

Lucas: "Is your mother-in-law's grave far away?"

"Not far." Siena led him to the cemetery, "Let your dog protect my mother-in-law from now on."

Lucas: "..."

Siena: "Master, if you don't go back to Hogan's house in the future, then where are you going? They said your mother is getting married. Do you have a place to go?"

Lucas's face became gloomy again.

"If you don't mind, you can go to my place first. There will be a blizzard today, if you don't find a place to stay, you will freeze to death." Siena looked at the thin windbreaker on his body and reminded him kindly.

Lucas did not answer. At this moment, many thoughts flashed through his mind.

He had lived in a daze until now, thinking that no matter how bad life was, it would never be worse than before. Unexpectedly, reality gave him a hard blow.

If he just left the Hogan family like this, he would not be reconciled.

In the afternoon, after burying the dog, Siena took Lucas to her rented house. The weather was bad today, it was only after 5:00 p.m., and it was completely dark.

Siena gave up her room to Lucas, while she went to her mother-in-law's room to rest.

The next morning, after cooking the noodles, she went to call Lucas for breakfast, but found that there was no one in the room.

Lucas had left.

Chapter 2492

Hogan family.

When Mrs. Hogan saw Lucas coming back, she couldn't even eat the corresponding breakfast!

"This ba*tard! I thought he had a lot of backbone! When he left yesterday, he said he would never forgive his father. I thought he would never come back. I didn't expect to come back with a shy face after staying outside for a day. It's ridiculous!"

"Mom, don't be angry. He is an illegitimate child who can't stand on the stage! Dad let him live in the auxiliary building, which is already humiliating him, and he thought it was a gift! There is no such person. He is ashamed and has no brains, so he can't become a great talent. He said yesterday that his father begged him to come back, so there is no need for us to have conflicts with him." Esteban Hogan, the eldest son, said calmly, "We don't want to ruin the relationship with my father because of him."

Mrs. Hogan: "Courtesy, you are right. I quarreled with your father, but it can't change the fact that Lucas has become the young master of the Hogan family. Your dad looks down on him, so your dad won't reuse him when the time comes."

"I've already found out that he was expelled from school because of fighting."

Esteban mocked, "I believe that as long as Dad is not old-fashioned, he will definitely not leave the family property to this ba*tard."

Mrs. Hogan: "Well, Esteban, you can work with peace of mind and don't be affected."

"I didn't pay attention to Lucas at all. I'll go and see him later." Esteban finished his breakfast and came out of the main building and was ready to go to the auxiliary building to have a look.

Although the auxiliary building was connected to the main building, the yard was separate. The auxiliary building was much shorter, and the space was also much smaller, and it's usually used for storing sundries.

When Esteban came out of the main building, by coincidence, he ran into Siena who was looking for Lucas.

Esteban knew that there was an ugly girl in her family, but she didn't pay attention to it.

Siena usually helped out in the back kitchen and never appeared in front of the hosts.

"Eldest, Eldest Young Master!" Siena recognized Esteban and immediately lowered her head, "Eldest Young Master, I'm here to look for Young Master Hogan. I wonder if Young Master Hogan has come back?"

"He's back. I'm going to see him. The two of us went there together." Esteban put his hands in his pockets, looked at Siena's intact side of the cheek, and couldn't help feeling, "If you haven't been disfigured, you should be a big beauty. What a pity!"

"Did Lucas bully you?" Esteban asked again, "If he bullied you, you can tell Mr. Todd or my mother. You and your mother-in-law have worked in our house for so many years, we will definitely not let you being bullied."

Siena was very touched, "Thank you, Eldest Young Master! Young Master Hogan didn't bully me."

“Oh? Didn’t he dislike the disgusting scar on your face?” Esteban continued to ask.

Siena raised her head and looked at Esteban: “Master Hogan didn’t dislike me.”

Esteban got goosebumps from the scar on Siena’s face, and immediately turned his eyes away: “Let’s go in!”

The two entered the auxiliary room. Upstairs, they saw Lucas who had just finished breakfast.

“Master Hogan, why didn’t you tell me when you came back? I couldn’t find you when I got up in the morning. I was so anxious.” Siena strode up to Lucas and asked.

“Who is he?” Lucas glanced coldly at Esteban and asked Siena.

“He is your elder brother.” Siena felt that the atmosphere was not right, and went to clear the plates on the table after speaking.

“Lucas, hello. I’m your brother Esteban.” Esteban looked at Lucas, “I’ve been busy these days, so I just came to see you today. Does the injury on your face matter? How about calling me? The doctor came to see you?”

“No need.” Lucas was like a hedgehog, with barbs all over his body, “Go and do your work!”

Esteban chuckled, and took out cash from his wallet: “My mother poisoned your dog for the sake of the safety of our whole family. This is a thousand dollars, you take it. It’s not much, but it’s enough than that dog’s life.”

Hearing these heart-wrenching words, Siena’s affection for Esteban was shattered.

Not to mention that Lucas took the thousand dollars.

Did he really think that this thousand dollars could be worth the dog’s life?

After Esteban left, Siena said, “Young Master, you shouldn’t...”

With a 'snap', Lucas crumpled the thousand dollars cash into a ball and threw it into the trash can.

Chapter 2493

"Why don't you continue talking?" Lucas looked at Siena with stern eyes.

After holding her breath for a few seconds, Siena continued what she said just now: "Young Master, you shouldn't leave without saying goodbye. I saw you were not in the room this morning, so I thought something happened to you."

Lucas: "When I left, you slept like a pig."

Siena blushed immediately: "Didn't you say yesterday that you would never go back to Hogan's house? Did you forgive your father? Young Master, if I were you, I would definitely not calm down so quickly, I should stay outside for a few days before I can go home."

Lucas: "...Who said I'm calm?"

Siena was at a loss for words.

At this time, a figure slowly walked over from the gate of the courtyard.

"Young Master, your father is here." After Siena reminded him, she immediately returned to the kitchen with the dinner plate.

Mr. Hogan just woke up and heard that Lucas was back, so he came over to have a look.

"Lucas, it's good that you can figure it out. I thought you went to your mother's place!" Mr. Hogan entered the living room and took out a card from his pocket. I will send you a sum of money every month for living expenses. Also, I will find you a new school to go to school."

Lucas took the card and held it in the palm of his hand without saying a word.

Mr. Hogan knew that he was angry, but he didn't intend to indulge his temper.

“This is the Hogan family. If you want to integrate into this family, you must abide by the rules of this family. I am usually busy with official duties, and your stepmother manages the trivial matters at home. So you’d better not mess with your stepmother. Of course, if she does too much, you can tell me.”

After Mr. Hogan finished speaking, he left.

In the evening, Siena brings a bowl of noodles to the table.

Seeing the noodles, Lucas frowned, and asked, “Siena, what’s your surname?”

Siena was uneasy: “My mother-in-law and I are surnamed Stefanini.”

Lucas: “Siena Stefanini!”

Siena: “Young Master, I’m Siena Stefanini and my nickname is Sissy but no one calls me Sissy.”

Lucas gritted his teeth: “Don’t you want to be lazy anymore? Make me a bowl of noodles?!”

Siena sighed helplessly: “There is dog meat in the refrigerator, do you eat it?”

Today the kitchen only gives me dog meat. I think they did it on purpose.”

Lucas: “...”

Siena: “Young Master, if you can’t eat noodles, there are steamed buns, you can eat it.”

Lucas stood up with his fists clenched, his face livid.

Siena immediately grabbed him, “Young master, don’t be impulsive! Your father told you this morning not to mess with your mother.”

“Get out!” Lucas’s body muscles were tense, and anger was burning in his heart.

He pushed Siena away, strode into the kitchen, and took out the raw dog meat from the refrigerator.

Seeing him heading towards the main building like a gust of wind, Siena immediately ran after him.

...

Siena was still a step too late.

When she chased to the main building, Lucas had already smashed Mrs. Hogan's dinner and tried to stuff raw dog meat into Mrs. Hogan's mouth.

Chapter 2494

The butler, Mr. Todd and servants of the Hogan family guard Mrs. Hogan, while the bodyguards of the Hogan family forcefully pull Lucas away.

"You be@st! You're going to die!" Mrs. Hogan's face was bloodied by the raw dog meat, and her breath was full of blood. She was shaking with anger.

Soon, the bodyguard pulled Lucas away, and Mrs. Hogan let out a heavy breath.

"Hit! Hit him to death! I'll be the one who beat him to death!" Mrs. Hogan immediately gave orders to the bodyguards.

Seeing the bodyguard raised his leg to kick Lucas's body. Siena felt her heart ache.

"Stop hitting! Stop hitting!" Siena had never stepped into the living room of the main building.

Even if she came to the main building, she only went to the back kitchen of the main building. There was a back door to go in and out of the back kitchen.

Hearing her scream, the bodyguard stopped and looked at Siena.

"What are you stopping for! Keep beating! The Master is not at home today, I have the final say on this house!" Mrs. Hogan was determined to beat Lucas to death otherwise, he will definitely do more egregious things in the future.

The two bodyguards continued to punch and kick Lucas.

Siena was frightened by the violent scene and shed tears.

“Ma’am, tell them to stop! Master went to the auxiliary building this morning and talked to Young Master! I heard it in the kitchen!” Siena walked to Mrs. Hogan, knelt down, and begged to speak.

Mrs. Hogan raised her eyebrows: “What did the Master say to this be@st?!”

“The Master said that if someone bullies the Young Master, let the Young Master tell him and he will definitely not ignore it.” Siena said, looking at the sky outside the window, “Ma’am, the Master may come back at any time, please tell them not to fight. Even if the Young Master is wrong, the master will definitely punish him.”

Mrs. Hogan gradually regained her senses in her body. She was still a little jealous of her husband. So she winked at the bodyguard.

After the bodyguard stopped, Siena immediately went to help Lucas.

“Young Master, can you still get up? If you can’t move, I...” Siena asked with tears in her eyes.

Lucas immediately grabbed her arm and stood up from the ground with his strength. He limped and walked outside.

Back in the auxiliary building, Siena looked at his crumpled clothes and remembered the scene of him being beaten just now.

When Siena was hesitating whether to comfort Lucas, Lucas had already walked to the dining table, picked up the bowl of noodles just now, and started eating.

Siena: “...”

Lucas quickly finished eating the noodles, and asked, “Where’s the steamed bun?”

Siena immediately went to the kitchen to get the steamed bun.

When handing the steamed buns to Lucas, Siena eased the atmosphere:

“Young master, you are really resistant to beating.”

Lucas frowned: “Are you praising me?”

Siena: “I...I just want to let you be happy and forget about what happened just now. Young master, are you really okay? How about I help you take a look?”

Lucas: “If I have something to do, what can you do?”

This question stopped Siena..

After thinking for a while, Siena said sincerely: “There are still eggs in the refrigerator. Young Master, I can boil a few more eggs and roll your wounds.”

Lucas had a headache and wanted her to roll, but when he thought of her kneeling just now, he held back the appearance of pleading for himself in front of Mrs. Hogan.

Lucas: “Get off work!”

Siena shook her head: “The Master should be back soon. I want to see how the Master handles this matter.”

Chapter 2495

Lucas crushed the steamed bun: “You want to see me get punished!”

Siena shook her head even more vigorously: “No. What if I could help you with justice? Others won't help you. They're all afraid of Madam.”

Lucas: “Aren't you afraid?”

“I am. But I can't let you be beaten to death by Madam.” The light of justice shone in Siena's eyes.

Lucas was a little moved.

Siena added: “If you die, I won't be able to get double wages.”

After Siena finished speaking, Lucas kicked her off work.

Aryadelle.

In order to celebrate Lilly's 18th birthday, Hayden returned home from Bridgedale.

Hayden just took advantage of this time to return to Aryadelle and spend time with his family on vacation.

"Brother, can you play at home for a few more days?" Robert clinged to Hayden, complaining, "After you come back, my sister won't have time to scold me."

"You don't know why your sister scolded you?" Hayden glanced at Robert and said, "At your age, study hard and don't always think about dating. After you graduate from university, your sister will not care about you whatever you want to talk about."

A while ago, two girls didn't know where to get them. After arriving at Layla's contact information, they each told Layla that they were Robert's girlfriends and asked Layla to choose one.

After blocking the two of them, Layla scolded Robert and blocked him after the scolding.

"Brother, I swear, I'm not in a relationship! Those two girls, I don't even know their full names. I just participated in a school activity with them, and I don't know how to make them misunderstand..." Robert had been relatively approachable since he was a child, so he was very popular.

"Be careful in the future, don't smirk at girls for nothing." Hayden looked at Robert's white and energetic face, feeling a little helpless, "Your sister scolded you for your own good, bear with it."

"Dad also told me the same thing. No one at home helped me." Robert said aggrievedly, "Brother, why don't you let me work in your company for winter vacation!"

"Fine, as long as our parents agree." Hayden wanted to practice Robert.

For the past 18 years, Robert had lived in a greenhouse and had never experienced beatings from society. Now that he was an adult, he could experience the cruelty of society.

"They will definitely agree." Robert happily went back to the room to pack his luggage.

In the evening, everyone came to Foster's house for dinner.

"Hayden, you're going to be 25 soon, and it's time for you to find a girlfriend."

Tammy teased, "You've been graduating for so long, and your career has achieved great success, and now you only need a wife and also children. "

Ben echoed: "Hayden, don't take your auntie Tammy's words seriously. It's better to have children earlier. Your parents don't urge you, but they both definitely want to have grandchildren!"

Avery immediately retorted: "I don't think so! Finally, Robert is an adult, and I can finally not worry about it."

Tammy smiled and said, "Hasn't Layla been in charge of your Robert all the time? What are you worried about?"

Layla picked up the juice jug, poured herself a glass of orange juice, and said in a leisurely way: "My mother still worries a lot. The main reason is that Robert is too ordinary in all aspects! My mother has been accepting that she gave birth to an ordinary child."

Avery: "..."

Robert: "....."

"Layla, don't say that about your mother. Your mother has never disliked Robert.” Elliot defended Avery, “You three, we treat you equally.”

Layla: “Dad, I’m making fun of Robert, can’t you hear it?”

“Don’t hit Robert all the time, he’s still very good.” Elliot helped his youngest son save face in front of everyone.

Layla: “Dad, then tell me, what’s so good about him?”

Elliot: “He has a good temper, he is obedient, and he is in good health.”

“Dad, since when can health be boasted as an advantage? Hahaha!” Layla said and was laughing out loud.

Avery was afraid that Robert would not be able to step down, so she looked at Hayden: “Hayden, have you ever been in a relationship? Don’t you have any good girls around you? Would you like your mother to help you pay attention?”

Chapter 2496

Tammy smiled and said, “Avery, didn’t you just say that you were not in a hurry? Hayden, now you can get married in your twenties, okay! When you are in your twenties, your children will be soy sauce. Hayden, what kind of girl do you like? Tell me, I have a lot of resources and contacts...”

“Auntie Tammy, my brother stays in Bridgedale! Even if he falls in love, he must be looking for him in Bridgedale. You should worry about me! I-I’m in my twenties, why don’t you rush me?” Layla was very surprised, “At this age, girls are usually married and have children.”

“Do you think it’s easy to have a baby? It’s super painful. The dysmenorrhea may reach upto 100 times, 1000 times, 10,000 times worse than your usual period!” Tammy wanted Layla to play for a few more years, and when she became more mature, she would pick a suitable husband.

“Tammy, don’t scare Layla into fear of marriage and childbearing.” Avery said.

Tammy: "Am I scaring Layla? I'm just telling the truth. Women have to be more cautious when looking for a partner."

"You don't have to be so cautious when you are in love, just like it. Marriage needs to be cautious and cautious." Avery said herself, "Layla is indeed not too young, she seems to have never been in a relationship..."

"Layla is still young." Elliot interrupted Avery, "Layla just graduated..."

"Dad, I should have graduated a long time ago, but you insisted on me going to graduate school. Why didn't you ask my brother to go to graduate school?"

Layla said dissatisfiedly.

"Layla, your brother created the Dream Maker Group before he was fifteen years old." Elliot said, "I don't ask you to be better than your brother, I just hope you read more books, increase your knowledge, broaden your horizons, and avoid detours in the future."

Layla hit the nail on the head: "Dad, you just don't want me to marry, so you keep letting me study."

Elliot's face was stained with a blush: "Do you want to marry? What's so good about being married..."

"Dad, I don't know what's so good about being married, but I see you and mom talking at home every day. I think mom will definitely not regret marrying." Layla's tone was a little sour and jealous, "If I can find a man who I love and he loves me at the same time, I am willing to marry."

"There will be no more people like you in this world Dad loves your man so much." Elliot broke Layla's fantasy, "You don't need to be in a hurry to fall in love now, just stabilize your job first."

Layla snorted, "Dad, when I was in school, you asked me to study hard, now I finally started working, and you asked me to work hard. I can't finish the work.”

“Layla, if you want to fall in love, go for it. Mom supports you.” Avery said against her husband, “Your father just hates about your marriage, that’s why I’ve been instilling in you the idea that other men are not so good except him. I believe there must be many excellent men in this world who are worthy of you. But you need to find out.”

“Mom, I find it so difficult! Those men around me are so immature! I especially hate the kind of men who are obviously immature but always try to pretend that they are mature.” Layla said here, looking at her younger brother, “For example, Robert.”

“Sister, please do me a favor and let me go!” Robert looked innocent and wronged, “I plan to go to work with my brother during the winter vacation, and you will not see me for a month.”

“Hehe, then I will set off firecrackers happily!” Layla was very happy.

“I suddenly remembered something.” Tammy picked up the wine glass, took a sip of the wine, and said, “Layla, do you still remember when you were a child and said that you would marry Eric when you grew up? Are you still in touch now?”

Layla: “Of course I remember! I even told my mother! My mother was scared to death, so I must never tell my father.”

Elliot frowned. Glancing at Layla and at Avery, he asked: “When did this happen?”

Avery rubbed her temples with her fingers, pretending to lose her memory:

“Isn’t this a long time ago? I can’t even remember.”

“Hahahaha! I haven’t seen Eric for a long time, he is married now, is it?”

Tammy didn’t think it was a big deal to join in the fun.

Seeing Elliot's face change, he continued to talk about this topic.

"No! If he gets married, it will definitely be reported on the Internet." Layla said lightly.

Chapter 2497

"This is not necessarily the case. Wasn't there a famous male star who announced that he was married and had children on the day he retired? Maybe Eric has been married in secret for a long time, maybe the children are all grown up!" After Tammy finished speaking, Layla immediately found her mobile phone, found Eric's number and dialed it.

Eric didn't have work tonight, so he quickly answered the phone.

"Uncle Eric, are you married? Do you have any children?" Layla held the phone, feeling a little uneasy, "Have you ever had a secret marriage? Don't worry, you tell me, I won't tell others."

Eric laughed aloud: "Why do you ask this?"

"I'm just curious! I saw a male star suddenly announced that he had a wife and children when he retired from the circle, and I wanted to know if you would also hide marriage." Layla explained the reason.

"I don't have a hidden marriage." Eric asked back, "Has your brother returned to Aryadelle? I saw that you posted a group photo in Moments."

Layla: "You just saw the group photo I posted the day before yesterday?"

Eric: "I don't often see Mobile phone."

"Why do you look less like a young man now. My parents still play with mobile phones. If you don't play with mobile phones, what are you playing with every day?" Layla asked.

Eric: "I'm busy at work."

"Okay! Then I won't bother you." When Layla was about to hang up the phone, she hesitated.

She thought about Eric coming out to drink tea when he was free, but out of the corner of her eye, she saw everyone staring at her, especially her father's eyes, like a smart monitor staring at her.

She hung up the phone, planning to send a message to Eric later to make an appointment.

.....

Thopiavelle.

Six p.m. The sky was as dark as if it had been soaked in ink, and the lights in Hogan's courtyard suddenly lit up, making the night less dull.

Holding a big bag in her arms, Siena pushed open the courtyard door of the auxiliary building, then walked to the window of the bedroom on the first floor, and knocked on the window.

After a few knocks, the window opened.

Lucas's sharp but indifferent face appeared in front of her eyes.

"Young Master, open the door and let me in! I brought you some good things!"

There was a bright light in Siena's eyes, and her smiling face was like a ray of sunshine in winter.

Although her face was extremely ugly, Lucas didn't feel disgusted.

On the contrary, the more Lucas looked at her face, the more pleasing to his eyes.

Siena blushed when she saw him, and found that Lucas was standing by the window not only did not move, but did not speak, so she explained: "The Master went out with his wife, will they come back in a while. Young Master, it's so cold outside, why don't you open the door!"

After Siena took a breath, she immediately walked towards the door.

Lucas closed the bedroom window, came out of the room like a ghost, and opened the door of the auxiliary building.

“Young Master, look what I brought you!” Siena put the bag on the table like offering a treasure, and took out one thing after another from the bag.

Chapter 2498

“This is scallion fried mutton pie, and this is mutton soup. I’m afraid you don’t like mutton, so I bought you pork rib rice.” After Siena took out the dinner she brought, she took out the medicine, “Young Master, I bought these medicines at the pharmacy, and I didn’t know what to buy, so I asked the people in the pharmacy to recommend them. You can try it at night, it might work!”

Master Hogan told Lucas night that he shuts himself up at home and didn’t allow anyone to take care of him.

Lucas had been hungry for a whole day. Now the smell of mutton and chops made his stomach churn.

Unexpectedly, Siena would miss him.

“Young Master, you must be hungry, right? You eat pancakes.” Siena handed the mutton pancakes to Lucas, “Eating mutton in winter is so comfortable.”

Lucas didn’t want to accept it because of his face. But his stomach growled loudly.

“Young Master, eat it while it’s hot! It won’t taste good if it’s cold.” Siena stuffed the mutton cake into his hand, then opened the lid of the mutton soup, and put the spoon in it, “Young Master, eat it and I want to read here for a while. After you finish eating, I will take the garbage away.”

“What book are you reading?” Lucas took a bite of the mutton pie, and his stomach immediately warmed up a lot and his attitude towards her was also quite amicable.

"I borrowed the review materials from my classmates." Siena opened her schoolbag and took out the materials, "I will take the big exam in June next year. I don't know if I can get into the ideal university. Young master, you go to university Right?"

Lucas paused while eating the mutton pie, and a look of uneasiness flashed in his eyes.

"That... I heard that you were expelled from school because of fighting."

Siena apologized shyly, "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to say that."

"I'm a third year in high school." Lucas knew that Mrs. Hogan must have picked up on her details, so she felt indifferent when she thought of this, "But I'm two years older than you."

"You're going to take the exam next year too? But why are you older than me?" Two years old? Did you go to school late? Or did you repeat it?" Siena stared at his face curiously.

Lucas: "I registered late. My mother told me that I was two years younger."

"Oh... no wonder I see you as an adult. Young master, you can continue to eat, I won't bother you anymore." Siena said well, start reading seriously.

Lucas finished eating the mutton pie and drank the mutton soup.

After eating and drinking enough, the body became warm and the bad mood was swept away.

"Did you get paid today?" Lucas's Adam's apple rolled up and down, and decided to thank Siena, "You bought these for me, didn't you spend a lot of money? Thank you!"

"No salary today." Hearing his voice, Siena immediately looked up at him, "Young Master, I spent your money." Afraid that Lucas might not understand, she quickly added, "It's the one thousand dollars you threw into the trash can yesterday, I picked the money up.”

After hearing her words, Lucas lost the calmness on his face. He frowned, his fingers clenched into fists, and there was a spasm in his stomach.

Seeing his face change, Siena panicked: “Didn’t I take the trash away when you drove me away last night? I thought the Master would not spare you lightly when he came back, so when I threw out the trash, and took out the money, just in case. Young master, I’m sorry. I should have told you first, but I was thinking about reviewing my homework just now, so I forgot to tell you.”

After hearing her explanation, Lucas’s face turned pale. Suddenly, he felt uncomfortable in his stomach. He clutched his stomach and walked quickly towards the bathroom.

Siena followed immediately.

“Master, I’m sorry! I know I shouldn’t get the money back, but I don’t have any. I want to buy you medicine and food, but I can’t afford it.” Siena choked up when she said this.

Not only did she have no money, but she was also in debt.

Chapter 2499

In order to buy medicine and injections for her mother-in-law, she not only borrowed money from Mr. Todd, but also borrowed money from outsiders.

These, she did not say out.

Her life was hard, and Lucas’s life was not much easier.

“Ouch—” Lucas supported the washstand and retched.

Siena knew that Lucas wanted to spit out everything he ate just now.

“Young Master, your dog is dead, but you are still alive.” Siena wanted to comfort him.

Siena didn't know that the Master planned to lock him up for a few days. If no one brought him food, he would starve to death. If he died of starvation, Mrs. Hogan and other children would do their filial piety, Mrs. Hogan would only applaud, and the others would only watch the fun and would never sympathize with his suffering.

Without waiting for Siena's words to come out, Lucas shouted violently: "Get out! I don't want to see you again!"

Lucas clenched his teeth and looked at her with hatred in his eyes. His fierce eyes made Siena's ankles go weak with fright.

Siena remembered the scene of Lucas angrily going to fight with Mrs. Hogan last night.

Maybe she was kind, but to Lucas, she was really wrong.

"I'm sorry, Young Master. After I get paid, I'll put another thousand dollars into the trash can... just treat it as the money I borrowed from the trash can first, don't be angry, okay..." Siena reached out to wipe the tears from the corners of her eyes. At a loss, she's not knowing how to calm him down.

"Madam Hogan asked you to do this, right?" Lucas calmed down a little, and judged, "You have been in the Hogan family for so many years, and you have been relying on the charity of the Hogan family to survive. Madam Hogan asked you to come Disgusting me, you dare not listen! Oh, I actually thought you were different from those people! The only difference between you and those people is that you are uglier than them!"

Lucas's words pierced into Siena's heart.

Ever since she was a child, she has been used to being called ugly. Whether she said it behind her back or in person, she was used to it.

But why, Lucas said she was ugly, but she was so sad?

She was just sobbing softly, but after what Lucas said, she couldn't stop crying.

"Young master, you blamed me wrong! I didn't mean to make you feel bad...it wasn't Madam who asked me to do this..." Siena choked with sobs, tears falling like broken threads, "Before I came, I asked Auntie Perry, and Auntie Perry said that no one will bring you food today... I am really afraid that you will be hungry... because I have been hungry before, and I know how it feels to be hungry...."

"You won't die after two meals!" Lucas was distracted by her crying.

"But the Master didn't say that he will forgive you tomorrow." Siena cried with her eyes red and swollen, and she said in her heart, "Before my mother-in-law died, she vomited whatever she ate. She really wanted to eat, but she couldn't eat anything. Master, for me, Living with dignity is more important. If I have the conditions, I also want to live with dignity, instead of being here for the current members of the Hogan family."

Lucas's clenched fist loosened a little. His inner voice told him that what Siena said him just now was true.

He shouldn't take his anger out on her alone.

An awkward atmosphere spread between the two.

At this time, outside the yard, two luxury cars stopped slowly.

After hearing the movement, Siena immediately ran out of the bathroom, walked to the gate, opened the door, and glanced outside.

—Why did Master Hogan and Mrs. Hogan come back so soon?

Would they find out that she came to the auxiliary building to deliver dinner to Lucas?!

Chapter 2500

"I...I'm not afraid." Siena closed the door and turned around. Her mood was calmer than before, but she was still a little embarrassed, “Young Master, it’s really not Madam who asked me to do this. Even if Madam wants to deal with you, you won’t look for me. Because in Madam’s eyes, I have no other use besides being ugly.”

“No matter how you explain, you can’t hide the money you spent.” Lucas was still upset, but not so angry anymore.

Siena spent the money, but Lucas ate the dinner and the medicine.

“I haven’t finished spending it. There are more than 600 dollars left.” Siena took out the rest of the money from her bag, “I’ll throw it away now.”

“What’s the point of throwing it away now?” Lucas’s face was cold. Glancing at her, he said, “Don’t cry in the future.”

Siena was stunned for a moment, thinking that she had realized his conscience and knew how fierce he was just now.

Just when Siena was a little moved and was about to forgive him, Lucas voice came again: “The way your crying face is really ugly.”

Siena: “...Young Master, you just said I was ugly, Now say it again. How can you do this?”

Lucas: “Don’t you think you look good when you cry?”

Siena: “It’s very rude to attack other people’s appearance!”

Lucas didn’t expect her to be aggressive Quite powerful: “Can you make your voice louder?”

Siena froze suddenly.

The Master and the lady were back, and it would be bad to attract them.

Main building.

The daughter of the Hogan family, Paulina Hogan, came back from other places tonight, and the two elders of the Hogan family were very happy.

Mrs. Hogan had a son and a daughter. Her son, Esteban Hogan, had graduated from university and was working in the Hogan Group.

The daughter was Paulina Hogan. She's 20 years old this year, and she was going to university in other places. Apart from coming back from winter and summer vacations, she preferred to play outside during her vacations.

So every time her daughter came back, Mrs. Hogan was very happy.

"Mom, didn't you say that I have another younger brother? What about others?" Paulina asked her mother after entering the living room.

Mrs. Hogan said angrily: "He lives in the auxiliary building! Fortunately, he was arranged to live in the auxiliary building! If he lived in the same building as us, he might have knocked off the tiles on the roof! He's very barbaric and rude! This wild thing that has no one to discipline it."

"Since he has returned to the Hogan family, shouldn't the family rules of our Hogan family still control him?" Paulina's voice was particularly sharp, with a particularly strong penetrating power, "Mom, Dad is busy with work. You usually discipline him more! Don't let him embarrass our Hogan family in the future!"

"Hehe, discipline? I haven't disciplined him yet, but he has already dared to do something to me! If I discipline him, maybe he will go crazy and destroy this family!" Mrs. Hogan said this to her husband.

"I've already taught him a lesson and locked him up. He's just come to this house, so he's definitely not used to it. Let's give him more time to adapt!"

Master Hogan said solemnly.

"Husband, if he dares to attack me in the future, I will never let you spare him so lightly!" Mrs. Hogan roared loudly.

"Understood. My daughter finally came back from the holiday. She must be hungry. Let's go eat first!" Master Hogan said, and walked towards the dining room first.

Auxiliary building.

Siena glanced at Lucas.

"Young Master, did you hear what your stepmother said just now? Don't be so impulsive next time. Otherwise, it will be difficult for your father to protect you." Siena reminded kindly.

"Do you think my dad locked me here to protect me?" Lucas sneered with his lips curled up.

"Mrs. Hogan has a bad temper. None of our servants dare to provoke her. No one has ever bullied her like you. If it wasn't for your father's sake, she would have let the bodyguard beat you to death last night." Siena explained, "I heard that her natal family is quite rich."

Chapter 2501

"If you have money, you can kill other people's pets at will, and you can trample on other people's dignity at will...That's great." Lucas clenched his fists tightly.

"Young Master, you have to be patient! What you have to do now is to go to school well. After you graduate from university, you can move out from here. In the future, Mrs. Hogan will not be able to bully you." Siena said, clearing up the table clean.

"Is this your plan? After you graduate from university, you don't have to go to Hogan's house anymore." Lucas watched her take out the trash bag from the trash can, and quickly replaced it with a new one.

"Yes! After I earn enough tuition fees, I can go to the society to find a job after graduation." Siena fantasized about the future, and the corners of her mouth couldn't help but curl up, "Life in the future will definitely be better than now."

Looking at her and thinking of her being helpless now, Lucas's throat tightened suddenly: "Did your parents both die in that fire? You are not yet 18 years old, and your family members have passed away. The government provides subsidies for people like you. You don't need to work to earn tuition fees."

Seeing that Siena was silent, Lucas reminded her.

"Young Master, I'm not from Thopiavelle, so I can't receive benefits from Thopiavelle." Siena accepted his kindness, "Thank you for reminding me, but I'm not tired from working in the Hogan family, and I'll be 18 soon. I can support myself."

Siena put her schoolbag on her back and picked up the garbage bag.

"Young Master, I put the pork ribs rice in the refrigerator. If you are hungry during the day, heat it in the microwave. I will come to deliver the rice tomorrow night." Siena walked to the door with the garbage.

Opening the door, Siena poked her head out and glanced at the main building. The door to the main building was closed and she could go.

"Is it raining?" Lucas heard the sound of rain, so he walked to the door and glanced outside.

"Yeah. It's not raining too much." Siena poked her head out just now, and knew it was raining, "I'll run back, and I'll be home soon."

Lucas frowned, watching her thin figure slip into the rainy night.

It really was a poor wretch that no one cared about and no one loved!

She didn't know how to find an umbrella when it rained.

Siena ran back to the rented house with her schoolbag in her arms, her coat was soaked, but fortunately the books in her schoolbag were not wet.

After she put down her schoolbag, she immediately took off her wet coat, and then went to the cabinet to find clean clothes.

When it was raining outside, she didn't feel how cold it was, because she had to run non-stop. she got home now, and after calming down, she couldn't help shivering from the cold.

The house she rented was a dilapidated old house with no air-conditioning or heating. When the wind blew in winter, the cold wind would come in through the windows.

In fact, the window was not broken, but the quality was relatively poor, and the sealing was also poor. And the rent was also cheap.

The landlord collected the rent once a year, and had never raised the rent in those years.

The mother-in-law was seriously ill before, and the homeowner didn't drive them out after knowing about it.

She was grateful to the landlord from the bottom of her heart.

She entered the bathroom, closed the door, and looked at her face in the mirror, her eyes suddenly became quiet. Because she cried tonight and got rained outside again, the scar props stuck to her face were not so tight.

She actually had an umbrella, but she accidentally lost it when she was doing funeral affairs for her mother-in-law.

Thinking of her mother-in-law, thinking of the lost umbrella, her eyes became sore again.

She took a deep breath and gently tore off the scar on her face.

Chapter 2502

This scar was made of silicone. The color has painted on the scar. No one ever found out that the scars on her face were fake. Because no one had looked at her face carefully except her mother-in-law.

Everyone's first reaction when seeing her was often frightened, and then they quickly looked away. After that, no one would look at her straight again.

In Madam Hogan's words, the scar on her face looked disgusting. Anyone who saw her would be disgusted.

Nobody stared at something disgusting over and over again.

Although she suffered a lot of grievances because of the scar on her face, she was grateful for the scar in her heart.

Her mother-in-law said that there were bad people looking for her and might hurt her.

She had played ugly since she was a child, and until now, except for being called ugly, she had never encountered any bad people or substantial harm.

Even bad guys would probably be frightened when they saw her appearance.

After tearing off the scar, she looked at her real face in the mirror with mixed emotions in her heart.

Because of the scars on her left face all year round, she had never been exposed to the sun.

This caused the left side of her face to be paler than the rest of her body.

But this does not affect the stunning visual impact brought by her exquisite facial features.

She's a beautiful girl, one of those who stand in the crowd and could be recognized at a glance.

She was not used to seeing her real self in the mirror.

Before her mother-in-law was there, she never allowed her to tear off the scars for a long time.

The mother-in-law was afraid that she would be seen by outsiders if she revealed her true appearance, and that she would be killed.

The days of hiding were really uncomfortable.

In addition, the mother-in-law was getting old, and there was no way to lead her to live a life of wandering like before.

She had understood her mother-in-law's thoughts, so she always listened to her mother-in-law.

Although her mother-in-law was gone now, she still instinctively thought of her mother-in-law's advice.

She lowered her head, picked up the scar prop and disinfected it skillfully, but suddenly thought of another thing in her mind.

When she left from the auxiliary building, she told Lucas that she would bring him dinner tomorrow, but Lucas didn't seem to refuse.

Lucas promised her to use the remaining $600, right?

Otherwise, she would have no money to buy him food.

The next day, the rain stopped, but it started snowing.

The winter in Thopiavelle was relatively long, so the winter vacation in Thopiavelle was longer than the summer vacation.

When her mother-in-law passed away, the school was taking the final exam.

The teacher knew about her family's situation, so she didn't force her to go to the school for the exam. Just ask her to take the time to do the test paper after finishing her homework.

After that, the winter vacation began. Although she couldn't go to school to take the test, she still did the test paper sent by the teacher.

In general exams, the teacher could turn a blind eye and close one eye, but after a few months of the big exam, the teacher would not be able to help her.

She must study hard and work hard to get into college, so as to change her bad fate.

At 5 o'clock in the morning, Siena got up, got dressed, and started reading and doing homework.

Because Lucas was locked at home now, she didn't have to hurry to make him breakfast, so she could study hard at home.

At 8 o'clock, her stomach began to protest.

She put down her pen and went to the kitchen to cook noodles.

For the sake of convenience, she usually cooked noodles to eat. First, it was more convenient, and second, it was cheaper.

After eating the noodles, she walked to the window and glanced at the scenery outside.

Chapter 2503

A few children were making snowmen on the street.

Looking at the cheerful smiles on the children's faces and the silver bell-like laughter, she raised the corners of her mouth.

She was easily infected by beautiful people and things. As if encouraged, she wrapped her scarf and went out the door.

Not far from the group of children, she also built a snowman.

She made two snowmen, one bigger and one smaller.

"Sister, what you built?" A little girl ran up to her, looked at the snowman she built, and asked crisply.

Siena covered her face with a scarf, only revealing a pair of bright eyes. "This is me and my mother-in-law."

"Oh... the older one is your mother-in-law, and the younger one is you!" the girl continued to ask.

Siena shook her head: "The older one is me, and the younger one is my mother-in-law."

When her mother-in-law was not sick, she was relatively thin. After being sick, she became thinner and smaller.

When Siena was a child, she felt that her mother-in-law was like a big tree, tall and strong, which gave her a full sense of security. But then she soon outgrew her mother-in-law.

As she grows up day by day and her mother-in-law gets older day by day, it becomes her to protect her mother-in-law.

It's a pity that her mother-in-law didn't wait until the day when she became more capable.

At 6:30 p.m.

The winter night seemed to be covered with a layer of cold mist, and it was cold all over the place.

After buying dinner, Siena quietly came to Hogan's house.

The main building door was closed.

In this cold weather, few people opened their doors at night.

Siena relaxed a little, and opened the courtyard door of the auxiliary building.

Like yesterday, she walked to the window of the bedroom on the first floor and knocked on the window.

After a while, the door of the auxiliary building opened.

Siena saw the door open and trotted over immediately.

"Young Master, don't worry! The gate of the main building is closed. No one saw me coming." Siena put the dinner she was carrying on the dining table, then loosened the scarf around her neck and took off her gloves.

The heating was turned on in the villa, and she felt hot as soon as she entered.

"Young Master, have you eaten the pork ribs rice? I bought some more today so that you can have an extra meal tomorrow." Siena took the lunch box out of the bag, "I see that you like to eat mutton cakes and Mutton soup, so I bought it again today. That store's business is very good, and when I went there, there was still a queue!"

Lucas went to the dining chair and sat down.

Siena immediately put the mutton pie and mutton soup in front of him.

"Young Master, I took the other food and put it in the refrigerator." Siena took the remaining rice and vegetables and walked towards the kitchen.

"My dad came to see me today." Lucas took a bite of the mutton pie, looked at her back, and pretended to speak casually.

Siena stopped and turned to look at him: "What did your father say to you? Did he say when you will be free?"

"He asked me if I knew I was wrong, and I said no." Lucas took a sip Mutton soup, said lightly, "He is very angry."

After putting the lunch box in the refrigerator, Siena walked to the dining table and sat down, looked at him, and said helplessly: "Young Master, if you say you know your mistake, you must now be free again."

"If you were me, you would lie for the sake of freedom, wouldn't you?" Lucas said contemptuously, "You are you, I am me, I will not become weak, and I will not bow to those who hate me!"

Siena blushed: "Young Master, sometimes I admire you." After a pause, she said, "You have a special idea. Even if you are wrong sometimes, you can be justified, persevere to the end, and never look back. "

You're beating around the bush and scolding me again." Lucas bit the pie hard.

"Young Master, I didn't..." Siena tried to argue.

"My dad knows that you brought me food." Lucas's tone was unhurried, like a blunt knife cutting flesh, "He came to look for me at noon at that time, I happened to be eating pork ribs.”

Siena: “...”

Seeing her anxious face, Lucas added fuel to the fire: “I don’t know how he will punish you.”

Siena suddenly stood up from her chair, planning to intercede with Mr. Todd.

“What are you going to do?” Lucas called to stop her.

Siena: “I’ll go find Mr. Todd.”

“What’s the use of you looking for him. Do you think my dad will listen to him?”

Lucas said indifferently.

“That’s better than not explaining anything, right?” Siena still planned to go to Mr. Todd.

Lucas originally just wanted to see her reaction, but he didn’t expect her to be so nervous.

“I explained it to my dad.” Lucas thought of the speed with which she rushed into the rainy night last night. If he didn’t explain clearly, he’s afraid this silly girl would run out soon, “I said I asked you to buy it.”

Siena froze for a moment, and at the same time breathed a sigh of relief: “What did your dad say? Did he blame me?”

Lucas: “He didn’t say anything. Watch me leave after eating the pork ribs.”

“Oh, then you just said that on purpose Your father wants to punish me. Young master, you are really bad. I kindly bring you food, but you still scare me.” Siena frowned and criticized.

“Who told you that I was wrong sometimes?” Lucas never regretted any decision he made, so naturally he didn’t think he was wrong.

“You’re right, I was wrong.” Seeing that Lucas didn’t betray to her, Siena compromised, “Did you rub the medicine I bought for you? Did it work?”

“Why are you so wordy? Mom doesn’t have so many questions like you.” Lucas finished the mutton pie, then picked up the soup bowl, and drank it.

“Because the people in the pharmacy said that if it doesn’t work, you can change to another medicine.” Siena felt that she was disgusted, so after saying this, she didn’t speak again.

Lucas saw her shrugging her head, as if she had been wronged, and felt a strange feeling in his heart.

He thought she was a little pitiful... not a little pitiful, but very pitiful.

He had never seen a more pitiful person than her.

“You don’t need to read tonight?” Lucas finished the soup and broke the silence.

“I’ll read when I get home.” Siena put the disposable soup bowl and the empty beef patty bag in the trash bag.

“How is your academic performance?” Lucas asked.

Siena didn’t expect him to ask this question, and suddenly she felt a little embarrassed: “General.”

Before her mother-in-law was sick in bed, her grades were very good in class.

After her mother-in-law was bedridden, she did not go to school for a year.

Self-study at home was definitely not as good as listening to teachers at school.

So her academic performance dropped.

“Can you still get into university?” Lucas continued to ask, “If you can’t...”

“I’m sure I can get into university. Young master, thank you for caring about me, I’m leaving now.” Siena changed the garbage bag and prepared to leave.

“Don’t you think your rental house is a bit cold?” Lucas showed great kindness,

“You can read here. Close the door when you leave.”

After finishing speaking, Lucas strode back to the room.

Siena watched his slender back disappear from sight, the unreal feeling made her in a trance.

Lucas asked her to stay there and read because there was heating there.

The poisonous young master was actually so kind!

Siena immediately walked to the dining table and sat down.

She took out the books, materials and homework and started to study.

After an unknown amount of time, Lucas came out of the room with a glass of water, and was a little surprised to see that Siena was still there.

"It's already 10:00 p.m., why didn't Siena go back?"

Suddenly hearing Lucas's voice, Siena was startled: "Young Master, am I bothering you? I'm leaving now."

Chapter 2505

"You usually study so late at home?" Lucas saw her tidying up her books in a hurry, picked up one of the books, and glanced at it, "The writing is pretty good."

Siena was praised, with a smile on her face, "Young Master, do you think I did the right thing?"

The calmness on Lucas's face suddenly disappeared.

Did he look like a school bully?

He stuffed her book into her schoolbag and changed the subject: "You don't need to deliver food to me tomorrow."

Siena froze for a moment: "Is there enough for you in the refrigerator for tomorrow?"

"you'll cook tomorrow." Lucas said, "My dad sent me a message just now, saying that he plans to take his wife and daughter on a trip."

Siena's eyes flashed suddenly: "Great! Young Master, you are finally free!"

"What is freedom! even if I can go out, I don't bother to go out." Lucas said arrogantly.

“Young Master, do you think it’s too cold outside? Actually it’s not that cold outside, it’s because your coat is too thin. Don’t you have a down jacket?” Siena looked at his thin shirt and asked, “Your father is giving you living expenses every month. You can go buy a set of thicker clothes.”

“You are really nagging.” Lucas looked at her with dark eyes, “It’s very late, you should go back.”

“Yeah.” Siena put her schoolbag on her back, not forgetting to carry the garbage bag.

When she was about to walk to the door, Siena remembered something, so she said, “Young Master, can I come later tomorrow? I have something to do tomorrow morning. I will come when I finish my work, and I promise not to delay making lunch at noon.”

Lucas almost reflexively wanted to ask ‘what’s your business tomorrow’, and when the thought came up, he quickly suppressed it. “understood.”

Lucas saw her figure rushing quickly into the night until she disappeared.

Her face was ugly, no matter how many times he looked at her, it was always the same ugly.

But her eyes were bright, brighter than the brightest star he had ever seen.

She lived so hard, but her eyes were always full of hope.

He had never seen such a clear and persistent light.

The next day, Siena got up early and went to the city.

Of the one thousand dollars, there were more than five hundred dollars left.

Lucas regained his freedom, and he no longer needed to buy food for him. So Siena planned to use the more than five hundred dollars to buy a down jacket for Lucas.

Lucas was tall and thin, so it was easier to buy clothes.

Siena didn't know what style Lucas liked, so she chose the simplest style, and the color was cyan, which was the same color as his trench coat.

"Did you buy it for your father?" The salesperson smiled and wrapped up the down jacket she liked.

Siena explained embarrassingly: "No, I bought it for my classmates. Is this style very old-fashioned?"

"Not old-fashioned! This is a classic style, whether it is worn by young people or old people. It looks good on people." After packing the clothes, the salesperson handed them to Siena, "Would you like to buy one for yourself? This one is a bit small on you!"

Siena shook her head again and again: "No need! There are still clothes in my house."

After buying the down jacket, there are six dollars left, which was just enough to go back by car.

Siena came out of the clothing store, wrapped her scarf tighter, and planned to go to the car.

Not long after she walked out of the clothing store, she felt as if someone was following her.

Carrying her shopping bag, she quickly walked towards the crowded place.

At this time, the big man following her also quickened his pace.

Within a few seconds, two big men blocked her way.

"Siena, you have money to buy new clothes, but you have no money to pay us back. You are treating us like monkeys!" The big man in the head looked at the shopping bag in her hand and taunted, "Repay the money!"

"Uncle, I have no money! The money I bought for clothes is not mine. I bought it for others. If I had money, I would definitely return it to you first!" Siena clutched the shopping bag tightly, as if her heart was about to jump out from her body.

Chapter 2506

The big man: "Do you think we will believe your nonsense? Either pay back the money, or give us this bag!"

"Uncle, no. I bought this for the young master... Uncle, I am still working in Hogan family and Mrs. Hogan said to give me double salary. When I get my salary next month, I will give it all to you." Siena put the shopping bag behind her back, "The money for my clothes is given by the young master. Not me really, I didn't lie to you."

"Which young master of the Hogan family would ask you to serve him? Don't you know how ugly you are? You're not the one who made up lies!" The big man got behind her and snatched the shopping bag from her hand.

"Uncle, if you don't believe me, you can continue to follow me. I'm going to Hogan's house soon. Master Hogan picked up a son and went home. Madam doesn't like the new young master, so let me serve the new young master."

Siena begged, "Uncle, I can't lose this job. If I lose this job, I won't be able to pay back the money I owe you."

"Siena, when your mother-in-law died, she didn't leave you any money. Is there anything valuable?" The big man said maliciously, "She has worked in the Hogan family for nearly ten years, how could she not have any valuable things? We lent you money before because your mother-in-law is an old employee of the Hogan family. In order to save face... Now that your mother-in-law is dead, and you are so ugly, you will be kicked out by the Hogan family at any time with your appearance, we can't just use your money for nothing, can we?"

Siena thought what the big man said that it made sense, but...she really has no money to pay off the debt now.

Siena: "Uncle, can you give me another month?"

“We can’t do anything if we don’t give up! We can’t turn you into money either! If you are beautiful, it’s okay, you can’t even be sold if you look like this!” The big man said with a look of disgust, and he was about to grab her schoolbag, “To see if she has anything valuable!”

“I don’t have...I don’t have anything valuable. My most valuable thing is my mobile phone. My mother-in-law bought it for me three years ago, and it cost more than a thousand dollars...now this mobile phone will definitely not sell for more than a thousand...” Siena watched her schoolbag being snatched away, as if all her privacy had been ripped open.

She wanted to ask passers-by for help, but she didn’t shout.

She owes them money and that’s why they’re bothering her.

After the big man unzipped her schoolbag, he poured out all the contents.

Seeing her books, stationery and some personal belongings being dumped on the ground, Siena burst into tears.

.....

Hogan family.

Master Hogan took his wife and daughter to the south for vacation.

The young master Esteban Hogan was left in the family.

Esteban usually spent less time at home. Basically, after going out every morning, he came home very late at night.

When Siena returned to Hogan’s house, she saw Mr. Todd in the auxiliary building, and he and Lucas were talking about something. Before going out, Master Hogan told Mr. Todd in private that he wanted Mr. Todd to take good care of Lucas.

Anyway, Lucas was Master Hogan’s own son, and Master Hogan must have had this son in his heart, otherwise he would not have taken him back.

When Lucas saw Siena approaching, his eyes immediately fell on her.

The light in her eyes seemed to disappear.

Mr. Todd followed Lucas's gaze and turned his head. Seeing Siena coming, he immediately walked up to her.

"Siena, I heard that you secretly delivered meals to Young Master in the past two days. You are quite clever. Madam doesn't like Young Master, but Master has Young Master in his heart. You will take good care of Young Master in the future, and Master will not treat you badly." Mr. Todd explained.

Siena: "Okay. I'll work hard."

"Yeah. You go down to the back kitchen to get the food and cook for the young master." After Mr. Todd explained, he walked out quickly.

When Mr. Todd left, Lucas closed the door.

Lucas glanced at the shopping bag in Siena's hand, and then looked into her red eyes.

Chapter 2507

Lucas asked: "Siena, who bullied you?"

"I'm fine." Siena didn't want to pass on negative emotions to others.

She took the down jacket out of the bag.

"Young Master, I used the remaining money to buy you a down jacket. You can wear this down jacket when you go out in the future!" Siena handed the clothes to him, "It was bought with your money, you don't need to tell me thank you. "

"I asked who bullied you!" Lucas frowned, and threw the down jacket onto the sofa beside him without even looking at it.

"Young Master, it's my own private matter, and I won't affect my work." Siena put down her schoolbag and planned to put it in the shoe cabinet.

"Your mother-in-law is dead, and now you are alone. Apart from working and studying, what other personal affairs do you have?" Lucas looked at her schoolbag and said, "Your schoolbag is a little dirty today."

Let Siena's psychological defense collapse.

She knelt down, covered her face with her hands, and cried out, "They took away the bracelet my mother-in-law gave me. It was my relic from my mother-in-law...My mother-in-law said that the bracelet was worthless, but that bracelet was very important to me..."

"Who snatched the bracelet?" Lucas walked up to her and looked down at her, "You were robbed?"

"No." Siena lowered her head and choked with sobs, "I owe them money. I haven't paid it back..."

Lucas: "How much is owed? Why do you owe money?"

"Oweed more than $20,000.. ...My mother-in-law borrowed all her medical expenses from them." Siena reached out to wipe away the tears from the corners of her eyes, looked up at him pitifully, "Young Master, don't worry, I can pay it back. Madam said to double my salary in the future, as long as you don't fire me, I can pay it off next year."

"They stole your mother-in-law's bracelet, will they return it to you?" Lucas didn't expect her debt to be like this. Sure enough, the hemp rope was specially broken at the fine point, and bad luck only found the poor.

"I asked them to pay me back when I paid off the debt, they agreed." Siena said here, her voice lowered again, "but they may not pay me back."

"Don't cry." Lucas's Adam's apple rolled, and he didn't know how to comfort her, so he could only change the topic with other topics, "I'm hungry, let's cook."

Siena immediately responded and stood up, "I'll go to the back kitchen to get the food. "

Lucas: "No need. Just eat what you bought last night. Go and heat it up."

“Oh...okay.” Siena quickly heated up the food, brought it to the table, and asked anxiously, “Young Master, why did the down jacket I bought for you disappear?”

Could it be thrown away?

Lucas: “I took it to my room.”

Siena: “Oh...is the size right? If it doesn’t fit, you can change it.”

Lucas: “It fits.”

“That’s good.” Siena breathed a sigh of relief, “Eat it I...”

“Let’s eat together!” Lucas said, “I have something to tell you.”

Siena sat down in the dining chair and looked at him nervously: “Young Master, what’s the matter? You don’t want to drive me away, do you? If you really don’t want to see me again, I won’t blame you...I know the scar on my face is disgusting...”

“My dad found a teacher for me to come home to help me make up lessons.”

Lucas seemed not to have heard her, and said to himself, “I don’t like studying, and I don’t like making up lessons. But the teacher my dad found for me will come home in the afternoon.”

Siena was stunned.

“When the time comes, you will accompany me to make up lessons.” Lucas made a request.

Chapter 2507

Lucas asked: “Siena, who bullied you?”

Chapter 2508

Siena felt like a big pie had fallen from the sky.

She nodded happily!

Siena: "Young Master, thank you! Thank you for allowing me to attend class with you!"

"You like this class so much?" Lucas said and glanced at her.

Because of happiness, Siena cheeks flushed and her eyes regained their previous luster.

"Yeah!" After Siena responded, she thought about it again, "Young master, actually I don't like to go to class, I want to go to university. Only after I go to university, I can find a better job in the future. Only by finding and working, I can support myself."

Lucas wanted to change the topic so he said, "Let's eat."

Siena immediately went to the kitchen to get the dishes.

"Young Master, you are so kind to me." After taking a few mouthfuls of rice, Siena couldn't help sighing, so she said, "Except for my mother-in-law, no one is so kind to me."

Lucas was puzzled: "...How can I treat you well?"

"You asked me to make up lessons together, and you also asked me to have dinner with you. No one has ever asked me to have dinner with you before."

Siena said. She moved a little bit and said, "Young master, although you look fierce, but you're really a nice person. Many people look good, but when they see me, they will show disgust in their eyes, and even say that I am ugly in front of my face. They look down on appearance defects and also think that people like us should not go out to scare people. But if we don't go out, how can we live?"

Hearing her words, Lucas felt a little heavy again.

Lucas advised, "Study hard, and impress those people who look down on you in the future.”

“Young Master, I think so too. So thank you very much for letting me make up lessons with you. It’s very expensive to ask a teacher to make up lessons outside.”

In the afternoon, the teacher came to the auxiliary building.

The teacher was a middle-aged man in his forties. He wore a pair of blackrimmed myopia glasses. He had a refined demeanor. At a glance, one could guess that his occupation was a teacher.

“Hello, teacher.” Siena bowed to the teacher, “My name is Siena Lafrance. Young Master asked me to accompany him to make up lessons. But Don’t worry, teacher, I will not disturb you to teach the Young Master.”

After finishing speaking politely, I poured the teacher a glass of water.

The teacher took the water glass, took a sip of water, and asked, “Where is Young Master Hogan?”

“He’s taking a nap.” Siena looked at the time, and it was already 3:30 in the afternoon, “Teacher, wait, I’ll call him.”

After Siena finished speaking, she immediately walked towards Lucas’s bedroom.

When she reached the bedroom door, she reached out and knocked on the door.

As a result, there was no response.

She took a deep breath and opened the door.

The room was a little dark, curtains block out all daylight.

The room was filled with an atmosphere that belonged exclusively to Lucas, reminding that Siena had entered his domain.

Siena’s heart beat faster, and she moved towards the big bed step by step.

Lucas was wrapped in a quilt, her slender body was curled up on the bed motionless, and he didn't hear the sound of her approaching at all.

"Young Master, wake up." Siena stood by the bed and shouted, "Young Master, your teacher is here. The teacher is waiting for you in the living room now. He said he wanted to chat with you."

Lucas heard her voice, reached out and rubbed his brows, and said in a hoarse voice: "You go to make up lessons!"

"Young Master, get up quickly! That's your teacher." Siena looked at his bleary face, in order to wake him up, she walked to the window, opened the curtains, and let the light come in, "Teacher wants to understand you. The homework of each subject can make up for you in a targeted manner. This teacher is very good, and he can make up all the main subjects."

Lucas: "Go and make up. Show me your notes after you make up..."

"Young Master, how about this Certainly not! It's already past 3 o'clock in the afternoon, you can't sleep anymore." Siena saw that he was not active in making up lessons, and was a little anxious, so she grabbed his quilt and lifted it!

A gust of wind blew past, and Lucas lowered his eyes to look at his legs.

Another gust of wind brought the quilt back to him.

Chapter 2509

Siena: "Young Master, why aren't you wearing pants?" Go get your pants! Get up quickly. You can't keep the teacher waiting for you."

Ten minutes later, Siena pulled Lucas out of the room.

The teacher frowned when he saw the two of them chattering.

But seeing the scar on Siena's face, the teacher's brows stretched again.

"Teacher, I'll talk to you alone." Lucas said to the teacher.

The teacher nodded and followed Lucas to the side.

About a quarter of an hour later, after the two finished chatting, the teacher frowned slightly and walked in front of Siena.

The teacher: "Let's start making up lessons!"

Siena froze for a moment, then looked towards Lucas: "Young Master, come make up lessons!"

"Siena, you make up! Show me your notes after you finish. The class fee is calculated according to the time." After Lucas finished speaking, he nestled her tall body into the sofa and started playing with her mobile phone, "You two go to another room to make up lessons, don't disturb me."

Siena: "..."

Teacher: "Siena, let's go!"

Siena felt weird, but couldn't tell.

Siena took the teacher to an empty guest room.

After wiping the table clean, Siena took out the books in her schoolbag.

"Siena, what courses do you need to make up? What do you think you lack in knowledge? You can tell me." The teacher said.

Siena said embarrassingly: "Teacher, didn't you chat with the young master just now? Just make up the lessons according to the young master's needs. I will take notes and give them to the young master."

The teacher couldn't help laughing: "He asked me to make up for you, leave him alone."

Siena: "..."

Teacher: "He asked me to get the salary, don't talk too much. It doesn't matter if I pay anyone, as long as the salary is not bad, I will do it. Besides, the young master's appearance is not suitable for studying at all. Even if he sits here and I give him extra lessons, he won't listen to it."

Siena: "Teacher, the young master is actually very nice..."

Teacher: "I can see that he treats you very well. He said he was looking for a Teacher, but he ended up giving you extra lessons. If I were you, I would also think he is nice."

Siena froze: "Teacher, you are not his father who invited him here on his own initiative."

Teacher: "The person who introduced me said that he wants to make up the lessons himself!"

For a moment, Siena couldn't be more moved.

Lucas did not seem to be the kind of person who loved to study.

Whether it was the Teacher his father found for him, or the Teacher he asked his father to find for him, now he asked the Teacher to give him tutoring, this kindness, Siena would never forget.

After class in the afternoon, Siena went to the kitchen to cook.

After dinner, the teacher gave her two more lessons.

Teachers were paid by the hour, and they got paid as much as the number of classes they took in a day, so as long as Siena could bear it, it was completely fine for the teacher to take a few more classes.

At 8:00 p.m., Siena sent the teacher away.

After watching the teacher leave, Siena returned to the auxiliary building and closed the door.

"Young Master, thank you for asking the teacher to give me extra lessons! When I am admitted to university..." Siena walked up to Lucas and spoke excitedly.

Lucas got goosebumps: "When you are admitted to university, you don't need to be my servant."

Siena froze for a moment: "Young Master, so you mean that?"

Chapter 2510

Lucas saw her face disappointed, d*mn compassion made him explain: "When you go to college, You can find a job near the school. University courses are more difficult than high school. If you continue to study by yourself, you are not afraid that you will not be able to graduate?"

Siena nodded solemnly: "Young Master, what you said makes sense. But why don't you make up lessons with me? Don't you want to go to university too? If we can go to a university, then I can continue to take care of you."

"You have a good idea." Lucas poured cold water on her head, "You just want to be in the Hogan family as a servant?"

"There is no distinction between high and low occupations. If you can go to school, take care of you at the same time, and make money, that would be great!" Siena was afraid that he would misunderstand, and added, "Young Master, I don't have to earn your family's money, I just...I like to stay with you. You don't bully me, and you are very kind to me."

Lucas was a little hot by her praise, so he picked up the water glass on the coffee table and drank it.

"Who do you see needs to be taken care of after going to college?"

"The young master of a rich family needs it!" Siena replied without thinking,

"Miss Paulina is going to college in another place. Your father hired a nanny for her in the local area to take care of her daily life. If we both get into a university, you don't need your father to hire another person. Even if your father doesn't pay me, I can take care of you. If I have time outside of part-time work."

Seeing her seriousness, Lucas asked, "Which university do you want to go to?"

Siena: "University of Thopiavelle."

Lucas: "Nothing."

Siena: "Young Master, don't hit me!"

Lucas: "I said I'm not good."

Siena: "...Young Master, are you poor at studying?"

Lucas: "Guess."

Siena: "I think you are unwilling to learn. If you are willing to learn, you must be better than anyone else."

Lucas blushed from the praise.

Siena continued to encourage: "Young Master, from tomorrow on, you can make up lessons with me! Let's take the University of Thopiavelle exam together.

Okay?"

Lucas felt as if he was being held hostage by her: "You..."

"If you are admitted to University of Thopiavelle, I will tell you a secret." Siena took a deep breath and said mysteriously, "No one knows this secret."

Lucas forgot what she wanted to say just now, and was caught by her secret and got attracted.

"What secret do you have?" Lucas couldn't imagine that such a simple person as her could have any secrets.

"It's boring to tell you now. Only my mother-in-law and I know this secret. But my mother-in-law has already left." Siena now talked to Lucas the most every day, and Lucas had become the only person she could confide in.

"I'm afraid your secret can only be rotten in your stomach." Lucas laughed at himself, "I can't get into University of Thopiavelle."

"Hey, in fact, I might not be able to get into University of Thopiavelle. The score line for University of Thopiavelle is too high." Siena sighed suddenly, "That's where the exam will be! Young master, I still want to thank you. If I have something to do in the future, I must treat you to dinner."

Lucas: "..."

"Young master, let me add you on Whatsapp." Siena found the mobile phone from her schoolbag and wanted to exchange contact information with him.

Lucas raised his eyes and looked at her sincere face: "You have to be promising to invite me to dinner? What if you are not promising in the future?"

Siena: "...Master, if you say that, I don't know how to answer you. In fact, I can treat you to dinner when I get paid. But I can't treat you to expensive food. My salary has to pay off the debt."

Lucas took his mobile phone, entered her number, and handed it back to her:

"In the future, if someone robs you, call me. It's very late today, go back!"

Chapter 2511

"Oh..." Siena conditioned reflexively responded.

If she got robbed in the future, called him, would he help her?

She put on her schoolbag and walked out quickly.

Lucas looked at the rubbish in the trash can, hesitating whether to call her back.

After hesitating for a few seconds, she had disappeared without a trace.

Siena returned home, took a shower, climbed onto the bed, and picked up the photo frame on the bedside table.

In the frame was a photo of her and her mother-in-law.

The group photo was taken when she was 16 years old and asked to go to a photo studio.

In the photo, the mother-in-law smiled a little shyly, because the mother-in-law rarely faced the camera.

"Grandma, your bracelet has been taken away. But don't worry, I will ask them to get the bracelet back after I pay them back." Siena looked at her mother-in-law's face in the photo and said to herself, "Grandma, I am doing well now. You don't have to worry about me. The young master is very kind. I'm so lucky to meet him. Next, I will work hard and make up for my lessons. I will try my best to get into University of Thopiavelle. Grandma, You said that if I can get into University of Thopiavelle, I won't have to worry about it in the future. I will try my best to live a life without worry."

Aryadelle.

After dating Eric three times, Layla finally asked him out.

"You're still the same!" Layla stared at Eric's handsome face, "You don't seem to be getting old."

"I'm still a bit older than before." Eric ordered a cup of coffee, "I've been busy with the concert recently, I'm really busy, I'm not lying to you. I'm going to retire."

Layla was drinking water, Hearing his words, she choked directly.

Eric handed her the tissue: "My parents are getting older, I want to spend more time with them in the future."

"Uncle Eric, have you really decided to quit the circle?" Layla adjusted her mood and looked at Eric again.

"Well. I've already negotiated with the company. When I wait for the concert, I will announce it directly to the fans." Eric asked, "Are you still used to work?"

"Not so used to it. Work is better than school. I was so tired when I was a child."

Layla frowned, "I saw the diary I wrote when I was a teenager a while ago. It's so funny! I used to write that my dream was to be a big star. I still remember when I was a child I love acting. You often take me around. I also acted in a lot of plays when I was young! Who knows that you didn't take me to play anymore, and I didn't yearn to enter the entertainment industry so much."

"The entertainment industry is nothing fun You'd better go into business." Eric said.

"Actually, I'm not that interested in doing business. It's just that my father told me very early on that the Tate Industries would be left to me. As time passed, I was only thinking about how to be a good company and a good boss.”

“You asked for it on your own initiative! I remember your mother told me.” Eric corrected.

“Ah? I want it? I don’t remember much.” Layla blushed in embarrassment,

“When will you be free to visit our house! My mother said last time that she hasn’t seen you for a long time.”

Eric: “Wait I’ll talk about it after I’m done with work!”

“Okay! Give me a ticket for your farewell concert! I want a VIP seat.” Layla asked, “If you have more, give me a few more. When the time comes, I’ll call my mom to go with me.”

Eric: “Okay. I’ll give you the ticket when it comes out.”

“Uncle Eric, do you really have no girlfriend? Are your parents not in a hurry?”

Layla sighed, “I’m almost 25 years old, and I haven’t been in a relationship yet!”

Chapter 2512

Eric glanced at Layla.

Layla’s facial features were actually similar to when she was a teenager, but now she had a more mature temperament.

But Eric knew that Layla’s inner world was not that mature.

Because Layla had always lived with her parents, and had always been under the protection of her parents. She was a really pampered daughter and a flower in a greenhouse.

Such a person would have a relatively simple personality, and at the same time, his ability to withstand setbacks was a little worse than ordinary people.

“Did your parents urge you?” Eric asked, “Your father probably won’t urge you, right?”

“My father wants me to be lonely forever.” Layla teased, “What kind of person is my father? It’s not unclear. He thinks that all the good men in the world are in our family. The men outside are not good. So he doesn’t want me to fall in love, let alone get married. He thinks I will be hurt by men.”

Eric Can’t help laughing: “It’s not surprising that your father thinks this way. If I have a lovely daughter like you, I definitely don’t want her to get married too early.”

“But I’m almost twenty-five years old! I’m not a child long ago. My brother is already an adult!” Layla said and held the straw and took a sip of juice, “Is there any good man around you? Let me introduce him!”

Eric laughed loudly: “Let your parents introduced it. If someone introduced you, I’m afraid you won’t be able to pass the test of your parents.”

“My mother doesn’t care about me so much. My father let me work hard, and my mother let me find someone to fall in love with. Of course I listen to my mother.”

The waiter came over with the dishes, and Layla immediately put the juice cup aside.

“I don’t eat much at noon, and I’m starving to death right now.” Layla picked up the chopsticks and said to Eric, “You’re about to quit the circle, you should be able to eat freely!”

Eric shook his head: “You can wait until you really get out of the circle.”

“Then you’d better get out of the circle quickly! You can’t eat casually, it’s terrible.” Layla ate the meat and had an epiphany, “I know why I didn’t enter the entertainment circle. It’s because I watched some female artists’ daily vlogs before, either in the gym, or at work, or eating a diet meal... I don’t want to suffer that.”

Eric: "Yes. After all, I gained ten pounds on camera."

Layla: "Haha, wait for you. If you quit the circle, we can often have dinner together!"

Eric: "Aren't you looking for a boyfriend? You can find a boyfriend to fall in love with."

"Could it be that if I have a boyfriend, I can't have dinner with you?" Layla asked in surprise.

"Aren't you afraid that your boyfriend will be jealous? If your boyfriend has dinner with other opposite s-e-x behind your back, wouldn't you be jealous?"

Eric laughed, "You will know when you fall in love."

"I Can't you bring your boyfriend to eat with you?" Layla glared at him, "You are too careful. We have known each other for so many years, even if we eat alone, who dares to have an opinion?"

Eric was childish by her, "Then I'll go back and see if there is any suitable person. If there is, I will recommend it to you."

Layla was stunned for a moment: "Do you really want to introduce me?"

"It's not that you asked me to introduce you just now, is it? I know a lot of young men, but basically they are in the circle, I don't know if you mind." Eric said. He's in the entertainment industry, and he's surrounded by handsome men and beautiful women.

Because he's a senior, and his popularity had remained high for so many years, so there were many juniors who fawned on him.

"I..." Layla felt a bit stuck in her heart, but she was embarrassed to say it clearly,

"Then if you see the right one, push it to me! Falling in love is not getting married, and my parents won't say anything."

"Yeah." Eric took a sip of coffee, pondered for a few seconds, and reminded,

"Even if it's a relationship, don't be too casual. Get along first, and don't trust others too easily.”

“Can’t you trust the person you introduced?” Layla asked back.

Eric: “If you ask me to introduce someone who knows you well and is suitable for you, then I don’t have anyone around me. The ones I know who are suitable for you are all in recent years... But I still suggest you to introduce by other people. They are not in the same circle, and it is difficult to get along with each other.”

Chapter 2513

Layla: “I’m not in the same circle with you, I think I get along with you!”

Eric: “...”

Layla: “Will you find a girlfriend after quitting the circle? Your parents must be dying of anxiety, right?”

Eric: “It’s okay. They have passed the anxious stage.”

Layla: “Then what do you think? Are you unmarried?”

Eric: “I I haven’t thought much about it. Maybe I’ll start thinking about it after quitting the circle.”

Layla said ‘Oh’: “Then you are not a non-marriageist. Non-marriageism is very firm.”

Eric’s cell phone rang, and it was a call from a broker.

“Layla, I have to go back.” Eric hung up the phone and said to Layla, “I’ll ask your mother out when I’m free, and we’ll have dinner together.”

“Okay! Then you go. Put on your mask and be safe!” Layla put down her chopsticks and wanted to see him off.

“You can eat! Don’t send me off.” Eric put on his mask and left the restaurant under the escort of bodyguards.

Layla watched his figure disappear completely, and then came back to her senses.

Although Eric was already forty years old, his appearance and figure were very well maintained, completely different from the forty-year-old man in reality.

Layla hadn't seen Eric for a long time because of her study and work.

During this meeting, Layla's admiration and liking for him reappeared.

Layla sent a message to Daisy, her best friend in college: [Daisy, I have a friend who seems to like one of my elders. Isn't this strange?]

Daisy: [What kind of elder? Is there a blood relationship?]

Layla: [Poof! Of course there is no blood relationship!]

Daisy: [No matter what if they are not related by blood! Is that elder very old? If the elder is sixty or seventy years old, then your friend may be in love with the old.]

Layla: [Not that old! Only forty years old!]

Daisy: [My God! forty years old! so old! Honestly, Layla, is this friend of yours yourself? Do you have any friends besides me that you should worry about so much?]

Layla : [...]

Daisy: [Layla, forty is too old. You are so young and beautiful, I can't accept you looking for a boyfriend over 35 years old. I'm sure your parents won't accept it either. You give up!]

Layla: [Woohoo! But although he is forty years old, he is well maintained! It doesn't look like forty years old at all!]

Daisy: [No matter how well-maintained his appearance is, he is also forty years old! Certain functions of the body are not as good as those of young lads! Layla, wake up!]

Layla: [Woohoo! Even you object, if I tell my parents, my parents will definitely explode!]

Daisy: [Your mother may not be able to fry, but your father will certainly be. heyhey! Tell me quickly, which old man do you like? Never heard you say it before?

Why so suddenly?]

Layla: [Not suddenly. I liked him a lot when I was a kid. I was too busy when I was in college, so I didn't meet him much, so I didn't tell you.]

Daisy: [Oh? Who the h-e-l-l is it that can fascinate our princess Layla like this? Is he handsome? What do you look like? Do you have a picture of him? Send it to me! If he's not handsome, I will definitely not agree!]

Chapter 2514

Layla took a deep breath, found a photo of Eric on the Internet, copied it, and sent it to her best friend.

When Daisy saw Eric's photo, she immediately responded with a series of question marks: [Why did you send me Eric's photo? I asked you to send a photo of your senior!]

Layla's typing hands were slightly numb: [He is my senior!]

Daisy: [D*mn it!!! Hastily...]

Layla: [What's your reaction?]

Daisy: [I can! I can! I can!]

Layla: [Daisy, be normal!]

Daisy: [If your boyfriend is Eric! I can! He is so handsome, even if he is fifty years old, I am willing!]

Layla: [...don't rob me!]

Daisy: [Are you two talking? Does he like you too? How are you two doing now? Is it convenient for you to speak on the phone now? Let's talk on the phone!]

.....

Thopiavelle.

Hogan family.

“Siena, has your salary arrived? I told my wife about your mother-in-law's death. My wife knows that you are helpless and very pitiful, so I decided to give you full attendance last month.” Mr. Todd shouted to the side, and smiled.

Siena immediately took out her mobile phone to check the bank information.

“Uncle Todd, thank you! My salary has arrived.” Siena said gratefully, “I owe you money...”

“Don't worry. You also owe money outside, and you have to go to school in the future. If you insist on paying it back, you can pay it back after you graduate from university and start working!” Mr. Todd said, “Siena, if you didn't have a disfigured face, you would definitely be a very likable child.”

Siena: “Uncle Todd, thank you.”

“Hey, you're welcome. It's the Hogan family's salary for you. If you really appreciate it, take good care of Young Master Hogan.” Mr. Todd urged, “When Young Master Hogan goes to college, if you still want to work in Hogan's house, I will tell my wife when the time comes, and I will transfer you back to the back kitchen... But it depends on whether you can still come to work.”

Siena: “Uncle Todd, thank you very much. I'll tell you when my final exam is over.”

Mr. Todd: “Okay. Go get busy!”

Siena: “Yeah!”

Siena walked briskly towards the auxiliary building.

Lucas was putting together a model gun.

This was what he asked Mr. Todd to buy back.

“Young Master, I'm getting paid today, so let me invite you out for dinner!” Siena invited Lucas to dinner in order to repay Lucas for asking a teacher to give her extra lessons.

Lucas focused on the model in front of her, and said lazily, "Don't you want to pay off the debt?"

"We just don't eat too expensive food." Siena warmly invited, "Young Master, let's go out to eat at night! It's very lively outside. I haven't played at night yet, I dare not go alone."

Lucas raised his eyes and asked: "You take me there to give you courage?"

"Let's go shopping together! You stay here every day, isn't it boring at home?"

Siena made up lessons every day these days and was wanting to relax.

"Let's talk about it tonight." Lucas continued to put together models.

Siena sat beside him, staring at the model.

This relatively detailed model required a lot of patience to put it together.

Siena watched, her eyes naturally shifted from his slender fingers to his face.

The two of them met almost every day, she knew what Lucas looked like, but she had never stared at his face carefully.

Firstly, it's not very polite, and secondly, she dared not.

But now, Lucas was concentrating on working on the model, and his serious look made him seem like a different person.

Siena forgot to be afraid, after staring at Lucas's face for a while, she actually thought he was a bit handsome.

"Have you seen enough?" Lucas raised his head and looked at her astonished expression, "Nympho!"

Chapter 2515

"I...I just suddenly found that I can't remember what you look like, so I want to remember what you look like." Siena lowered her head and found a reason with guilt.

Lucas: "You call so intimately, but you don't even know what I look like..."

"Young Master, I lied. I know what you look like. I just suddenly found that you are a bit handsome." Siena raised her head and spoke honestly.

"You just found out that I'm handsome today?" Lucas stopped what he was doing.

"You had a bruised nose and swollen face a few days ago, so I didn't notice it."

Siena said, and trying to change the subject, "Did you not rub the medicine I bought for you? Or should I take it to the pharmacy and return it?"

"Can you take back other people's things?" Lucas gained insight, "You're so kind."

Siena's cheeks became hot: "I'll give you the money back, I don't want your money."

"Am I short of that money? What are you pretending to be in your mind?" In order to calm himself down, Lucas ordered, "Go and clean my room. Don't touch my personal items."

Siena: "Oh, okay."

In the evening.

Under Siena's enthusiastic persuasion, Lucas finally stepped out of the gate of the auxiliary building.

Lucas wore the down jacket Siena bought for him.

After wearing a down jacket, he felt that it was not so cold outside.

"After we leave the community, we can take the bus to the city center." Siena said, found two coins from her schoolbag, and gave one to Lucas.

"What are you going to eat?" Lucas was a little hungry.

"What do you want to eat?" Siena asked.

Lucas looked at Siena's face under the street lamp, and remembered that she had to pay off the debt, so she said, "Eat whatever you want! As long as you can fill your stomach."

Siena: "Young Master, you are so kind. You know that I have to repay the debt, so you don't let me spend money."

Lucas frowned slightly: "Can you stop telling other people's thoughts every time? Don't you feel embarrassed?"

Siena shook her head: "It's not embarrassing! Because you are really good."

Lucas pursed her thin lips and he's speechless.

Only Siena thought Lucas was a good man.

"I'm not so patient with others." Maybe because it's dark now, so Lucas spoke to her.

"Why?" Siena guessed, "Because I'm more pitiful?"

"You're not only pitiful, but also tenacious." Lucas made an analogy, "It's like my dog. I picked it up and brought it home. It was almost dead."

Siena: "..."

Lucas: "I didn't say you were a dog."

Siena: "I didn't misunderstand."

Lucas put his hands in his pockets and walked a few steps. Finally, he changed the subject: "Is there still a bus at this moment?"

The bus passed extremely fast.

"Do you have any friends?" Lucas walked to the platform and asked casually.

"No." Siena asked back, "Young Master, you don't have any friends, do you? I haven't seen you call or chat with anyone."

Lucas: "Aren't you the same? There's nothing to laugh at me."

"Young Master, I didn't laugh at you. I just think you are so handsome, there must be many people willing to be friends with you, is it because you don't want to play with others?" Siena said, "I'm different from you. People don't want to play with me."

"I don't need friends." Lucas said indifferently, "You don't need friends either, you just need to study hard. If you can be admitted to University of Thopiavelle, I will give you a gift."

"Young Master, After I make friends, you will give me gifts. Do you regard me as a friend?" Siena asked cautiously.

Lucas: "..."

Siena blinked and said, "Young Master, you are blushing."

Chapter 2516

Lucas: "I don't have one."

"I don't regard you as a friend." Lucas looked at the long night sky in front of him, "Being friends with someone like me is not good."

"Friends are not for the benefit of the other party. I think friends can share themselves with each other. When the other party's mood is in trouble, you can do what you can. Young master, a person like you deserves to have a good friend, and a person like me deserves a good friend. I had a very good friend when I was young but later we separated."

Siena actually didn't remember very clearly the details of when she and Lilly were together when they were young, she only knew that she and Lilly were best friends.

That kind of beautiful feeling, every time Siena thought of it, she felt warm.

The car came slowly and stopped in front of them.

The two got into the car one after the other.

About twenty minutes later, the car stopped at the station in the city center.

After the two got out of the car, Siena grabbed Lucas's arm without thinking too much.

Siena: “Young Master, there are many people in the city, let’s not get separated.”

Lucas: “Don’t you have my number?”

Siena let go immediately: “Oh, I almost forgot.”

“Your brain, how do you get into University of Thopiavelle?” Lucas glanced at her, “Where did you buy the mutton pie?”

“That store is not in the urban area. It’s near my rented house.” Siena blushed, “You want to eat mutton pie, why didn’t you say it sooner?”

“Forget it, just find a restaurant to eat!” Lucas walked aimlessly towards the front.

Siena followed his pace closely.

In the end, Siena chose a shop with a good decoration and a lot of customers.

“Young Master, let’s go to this one!” Siena felt that with so many customers, the per capita consumption would definitely not be particularly high.

The two entered the store and sat down in a corner seat for two.

Siena handed the menu to Lucas and asked him to order.

“This meal is my treat.” Lucas glanced at the menu, and then spoke. Afraid that Siena would talk back, he said again, “Didn’t you say we are friends? Ask me after you pay off your debts.”

Siena frowned in confusion: “How embarrassing is that?”

“What’s so embarrassing? Don’t you want to quickly get back your mother-inlaw’s bracelet?” Lucas asked back.

Siena shyly said: “Okay! Young Master, thank you! When I pay off my debts and have money, I will invite you to a better place to eat.”

Lucas: “Yes.”

After agreeing, Lucas was very happy.

Soon, the dishes were ready.

Lucas handed the menu to Siena.

Siena glanced at the dishes Lucas ordered, pursed her lips, struggled for a few seconds, and asked, "Young Master, do you have enough money? And we can't eat so much."

Lucas showed her the card given by his father: "I have a card."

Siena: "..."

Siena almost forgot that Lucas was the young master of the Hogan family.

.....

Aryadelle.

Foster family.

Ever since Layla came back and told Avery that Eric was about to quit the circle, and was about to announce his withdrawal at the last concert, Avery decided to go to Eric's last concert at that time.

Elliot usually didn't like to go to crowded places, let alone a concert where a lot of people gather.

Chapter 2517

Elliot didn't forget that Eric had shown kindness to Avery years ago, and he didn't forget that his precious daughter once said that he wanted to marry Eric, which was such a headache.

However, after he said he didn't want to go to Eric's concert, Avery and Layla didn't change their minds.

"How many tickets did Eric give you?" Elliot asked.

"He hasn't given the ticket to me yet! Maybe he gave it to Layla! He told Layla about this." Avery scrolled through the relevant news, "It's been said on the Internet that Eric's concert tickets can't be won!"

“Hunger marketing!” Elliot said lightly.

“Since you don’t want to go, then don’t force yourself. It won’t make you unhappy if you go.” Avery persuaded, “I don’t know why you are so hostile to Eric. Back then you didn’t want Eric to approach Layla, Eric never took the initiative to contact us again. Over the years, I have not met Eric more than five times. It is estimated that Layla and Eric have met even less.”

Elliot: “You have shown that I’m very malice to him?”

Avery: “Yes! I know that Eric is very handsome and has strong business ability, and he is especially attractive to women, which makes you very upset...”

“I’ll go with you. I’ll go and see How handsome Eric is now, how strong his business ability is, and how attractive he is to women.” The corners of Elliot’s mouth curled up.

Avery: “Okay! Then I’ll tell Eric to leave us three tickets.”

Elliot: “How can three tickets be enough? There are so many people at the scene, no matter what you have to bring a bodyguard in.”

Avery: “Elliot, when the time comes there will be very strict security checks.”

“If you’re embarrassed to tell Eric, then I’ll tell him. If he doesn’t have the ability to give a few more tickets, I can go to the organizer to get them.” Elliot said lightly, “I’ll take them myself, I can take as many as I want.”

“Elliot, can you restrain yourself? It’s his farewell concert. We’re here to support, not to smash the show. We don’t need so many seats, to give other fans the last chance to watch his performance Okay?”

“Honey, I’ll listen to you.” Elliot compromised, “How is Robert in Bridgedale? He didn’t send me a message.”

Avery: “He can’t play with his phone during the day.”

“Why?” Elliot frowned.

For the three children, because Layla was a daughter, Elliot loved her very much. Because Robert was the youngest, Elliot loved Robert very much.

In fact, Elliot also wanted to spoil Hayden, but unfortunately he couldn't.

On the one hand, Hayden was so capable that he didn't need anyone's favor at all. The second aspect was that Hayden had been in Bridgedale, which was too far away.

"Robert is interested in repairing cars, so Hayden assigned him to a car aftersales factory. Hayden found a stricter master to take Robert with him, and that master didn't let Robert play with his mobile phone during the day." Avery told Elliot this because she was afraid that Elliot would feel bad.

"Car mechanic?!" Elliot's temple twitched.

"It's Robert who is interested in repairing cars. Husband, don't be too anxious.

Repairing cars is good! In the future, if our car breaks down, we don't need to send it to the work shop, we can just give it to Robert for repair." Avery comforted, "Besides, just because he's interested in repairing cars now doesn't mean he's still interested in repairing cars after graduating from college."

Elliot took a deep breath and rubbed the space between his brows with his fingers.

Second floor.

Layla came out of the shower in her bathrobe.

Wiping her wet hair with a towel in one hand, she walked to the bed and picked up her phone.

She turned on her phone and saw the message from Eric.

Eric sent her a whatsapp message of a man.

It was a detailed description of the man, including what TV series he had acted in, what variety shows he had participated in, and a simple family situation.

Layla: [...]

Was that the boyfriend Eric introduced to her?

Layla searched for information about that man on the Internet, and then replied to Eric: [This man is not as handsome as you! I don't like him.]

Eric: [Who is pleasing to you, I will ask for you.]

Chapter 2518

Layla looked at Eric's reply, dumbfounded.

She felt Eric accommodating and pampering her.

However, she knew what was on his mind.

No matter which man Eric introduced to her, she would not like it.

She put down her phone, trying to calm herself down.

She went into the bathroom and dried her hair with a hairdryer.

While drying her hair, a thought came to her mind that why didn't she express her feelings directly to Eric and saw how Eric reacted.

Anyway, Eric's about to retire. When he quitted the circle, he would be an ordinary person, and he could fall in love with whoever he wanted...

After drying her hair, Layla's head continued to feel hot.

She put away the hair dryer, walked to the bedroom, picked up her phone again, and sent a message to Eric: [How about you being my boyfriend?]

After sending the message, Layla's fingers were numb. After throwing the phone on the bed, she covered her face with her hands. She couldn't imagine how Eric would react when he saw the news, let alone how Eric would reply.

"Ah! I'm so dizzy! Will he ignore me again!" Layla, with disheveled hair, paced up and down the room, getting hotter and hotter.

She tied her hair up with a rubber band, then walked carefully to the bed and picked up her phone.

She closed her eyes, took a deep breath, and turned on her phone.

—Eric did not reply to her message.

Layla froze.

What did Eric's failure to reply mean?

She blushed and continued to send messages: [I'm serious, you don't have a girlfriend, and I don't have a boyfriend, let's try it!]

Layla was not only so direct with Eric, she had been more direct with everyone and everything since she was a child.

If she kept her stuff up, she would feel like she's going to explode.

As a result, after she sent the second sentence, Eric still didn't reply.

Layla rolled around on the bed with her mobile phone in her hand. After waiting a few times, she couldn't bear it anymore and dialed Eric's number.

Who knew, Eric didn't answer the phone!

Layla dared not tell her parents about this, so she could only complain to her best friend: [Daisy, I confessed my love to Eric, but he ignored me! I sent him a message and he didn't reply. Called him and he won't answer my call. He'd never been like this before! Was he going to break up with me?]

Layla was a little scared.

This was not the result she wanted.

Daisy replied quickly: [He'll definitely not break up with you! You just confessed to him, and you didn't do anything to hurt him. He might be shocked and didn't know how to reply to you. When he thinks it over, he'll get back to you.]

Layla: [I have a feeling he's going to reject me. He has a relatively strong self-esteem, as long as he thinks that my parents will object, he will definitely not agree.]

Daisy: [Since you know that the problem between the two of you lies with your parents, why do you still confess your love? Isn't it just asking for trouble?]

Layla: [But I can't help it! Ever since I met him, I've found that I miss him all the time. If I have to marry someone, then I want to marry him. I despise other men.]

Daisy: [Calm down first! Although Eric is quite attractive, Layla, you are not bad! You wait two days to think about it again. If you still want to marry him after waiting for two days, then go and confess to your parents! You can only be with Eric if you get through with your parents.]

Layla: [Then let me calm down for two days!]

After sending messages with Daisy, Layla clicked on Eric's dialog box.

She didn't see his reply in the last second, but in the next second, his reply came: [No...]

Eric said 'No'.

The rejection was simply forceful.

Layla lay down on the bed, staring at the ceiling in a daze.

It's so hard!

Getting Eric to agree was one difficulty, getting parents to accept it was another difficulty.

It was like two big mountains were pressing on her body, making her breathless.

Chapter 2519

But thinking of giving up here, Layla felt unwilling.

.....

Thopiavelle.

In a hot pot restaurant.

After Lucas's nightly order came to the table, the two began to eat dinner.

"Young Master, did your father say when he will be back?" Siena said and she was full after eating a little.

Siena didn't have a big appetite and didn't eat much at each meal.

“Do you need to find him?” Lucas asked back.

Lucas never paid attention to this issue.

Whether they went out to play or to go home had nothing to do with him.

“I think they’re not at home, I feel so relaxed. Don’t worry about Mrs. Hogan targeting you, and don’t worry about other things happening.” Siena took the plastic gloves and put them on, “Young Master, let me peel the shrimp for you!”

“Do you want to eat?” Seeing Siena put down the bowl and chopsticks, Lucas suddenly lost his appetite.

“I’m full.” Siena smiled, “I have a small appetite.”

“You’re hungry?” Lucas teased, “You look like bean sprouts.”

“I don’t look like bean sprouts anymore, I look so tall.” Siena said firmly, “It’s a little shorter than you.”

Siena was indeed not short.

Elliot was tall, Avery was not short, and her parents had good genes, so even if she didn’t eat well, her height would not be affected too much.

At a table not far from them, someone saw Siena’s face.

“F*ck! There’s a girl over there who looks so disgusting! I was scared to death! I thought I saw a girl ghost!” A man with a short hair exclaimed.

Others at the same table looked at Siena one after another.

After seeing the hideous scar on Siena’s face, everyone showed disgusted expressions to varying degrees.

“Which one of you dares to kiss that girl?” Suddenly, someone suggested this wicked game, “I’ll give him $10,000.”

Several men looked at each other, and finally shook their heads.

“Young Master Gagnon, there’s nothing you dare not to kiss, the main reason is that you’re afraid of having nightmares at night!”

“My girlfriend won’t let me touch other girl. I’m destined to lose this $10,000.”

“I don’t have a girlfriend, but I’m cowardly! I’m cowardly! Can I drink alcohol!”

“...”

“Look at you cowards! I’ll go and kiss her, and you’ll give me $10,000!” The man who spoke was the second Young master of the Gagnon family.

The second young master of the Gagnon family was a well-known playboy, and he liked to play this kind of teasing game the most.

“Young Master Gagnon, you are awesome! If you dare to kiss her, our brothers will pool $10,000 for you right now.” Someone urged.

“Young Master Gagnon, are you really not afraid of kissing that girl and having nightmares at night? Why don’t you think about it again?”

Second Young Master Gagnon drank some wine and now that he was drunk, he only wanted to show off.

“I’m not afraid of anyone, what the h-e-l-l am I afraid of!” Second Young Master Gagnon said, pushed away the chair, and walked towards Siena.

When Siena felt someone appeared in front of her, she thought that person was going to pass by.

As a result, the man stood beside her.

“Hi, hello!” Second Young Master Gagnon looked at Siena’s face up close and greeted with a smile.

“Hello, what can I do for you?” Siena’s heart beat rapidly after being accosted for the first time.

Lucas glanced at Young Master Gagnon, then quietly pushed the bowl and chopsticks aside.

His intuition told him that Young Master Gagnon was here to find fault.

Sure enough, after Siena asked the last sentence, Young Master Gagnon directly kissed Siena's face!

Siena was so frightened that she turned pale with fright, and screamed out loud!

When Lucas saw this scene, without even thinking about it, he picked up his chair and slammed it hard at Young Master Gagnon's body!

Chapter 2520

Suddenly there were screams one after another in the restaurant, mixed with Young Master Gagnon's screams.

When Young Master Gagnon's friends saw him being beaten, they immediately rushed towards him.

Seeing those people rushing, Siena ran to Lucas without thinking, "Young Master, run! There are so many of them!"

Lucas had already beaten Young Master Gagnon to the ground.

After being reminded by Siena, Lucas looked at the group of people, without any thought, he threw the chair in his hand at the group of people.

"Young Master, let's go!" Siena dragged Lucas out of the restaurant after throwing the chair out.

Coming out of the restaurant, after they ran for a while, Siena stopped a taxi on the side of the road.

After the two got into the car, they breathed a sigh of relief.

"Young Master, are you injured?" Siena grabbed Lucas's hand and checked the wound under the dim light.

Fortunately, except for Lucas's hand, which was a little red, there was no obvious trauma.

"I'm fine." Lucas withdrew his hand and glanced at her, "Have you taken all your things?"

"Have to pay the bill... The owner of the restaurant will definitely call the police."

Thinking of this, Siena immediately said to Lucas: "Young Master, let's go to the police station."

Lucas raised his eyebrows: "Are you sure?"

"Instead of calling the police, Why don't we call the police first." Siena said firmly, "It was that gangster who messed up first. We call it self-defense. We'll be fine."

Lucas: "Whatever you want."

Siena: "Young Master, that hooligan doesn't seem to be an ordinary person."

Lucas: "Are you afraid?"

Siena shook her head: "I'm not afraid. What if your father blames you?"

Lucas: "I didn't beat him to death, so what trouble can I cause?"

When Lucas said this, he stared at Siena's left cheek.

"Young Master, what do you see me doing?" Siena stretched out her hand and covered her left face.

"Do you know why he kissed your left cheek specifically?" Lucas watched Siena that she covered her left cheek, and her whole face suddenly became beautiful. If she didn't have a scar on the left side of her cheek, she would definitely not be taken as a prankster.

Siena: "That man drank too much. I smelled alcohol on him."

"He's not drunk." Lucas didn't say clearly, "In the future, if a stranger strikes up a conversation with you, do you know what to do?"

Siena let go of her hand and nodded: "In the future, if anyone strikes up a conversation with me, I will leave."

Lucas took a deep breath, and tapped her head with her finger: "If someone strikes up a conversation with you, you Just let the other party go."

Siena: "Ah? That's not polite! What if someone attacks me? I can't win."

Lucas was speechless.

“You’re so thin.” Lucas teased, “Eat more in the future.”

“Young Master, don’t laugh at me. My mother-in-law told me that if I can’t be provoked, I can hide it, which means... “

Lucas interrupted her, “You are so useless, and you still want to teach me to be useless with you?”

Siena: “This is not useless. I think my mother-in-law is right. Sometimes it is not a big deal to be wronged.”

“Then why did you yell so loudly when you were kissed just now? It’s like killing a pig.” Lucas teased her, “If your mother-in-law is still alive and sees you being bullied like this, see how hard she can bear it.”

Siena pursed her lips immediately and did not continue speaking.

Chapter 2521

Lucas didn’t know that the scar on her left face was a pasted mask.

When the gangster kissed her on the left cheek, she actually didn’t feel anything on her face.

But even so, it can’t change the fact that the gangster did bully her.

“Young Master, thank you for helping me. You always help me, I don’t know how to thank you. I had agreed to treat you to dinner today, but I got into trouble for you.” Siena faced Lucas, Gratefully said, “Don’t worry, if your dad asks about this, I will definitely explain it to him.”

“Have you ever thought that my dad doesn’t want to talk to you at all?” Lucas teased, “It has already happened. Don’t think too much. The sky is falling, and I will carry it.”

Soon, they arrived at the police station.

After explaining the matter clearly to the police, the police immediately sent someone to the hot pot restaurant.

Not long after, the police brought Young Master Gagnon's friend back to the police station.

"It's the two of them! This man seriously injured my friend! My friend has been dragged away by the ambulance!" Young Master Gagnon's friend saw Lucas and Siena, and his voices became louder.

"What serious injury? You have to issue a certificate from the hospital to say that it is a serious injury." Siena said immediately, "It was your friend who harassed me first, so my friend beat him!"

Young Master Gagnon's friend: "Harassment? Hehe! You ugly, my friend was just joking with you!"

"I'm ugly, Did he just kiss me casually? Was he legally illiterate?"

"Okay, stop arguing. Make a statement first, and wait for the injured person to report his injuries Let's talk." The police man said, "We will go to the store to adjust the surveillance. You better not lie."

After recording the statement and leaving the contact information, Young Master Gagnon's friend discovered Lucas's identity.

"Who do I think it is? It turned out to be the illegitimate son of the Hogan family!

Very good, you wait! I'll call Uncle Gagnon immediately and ask him to find your father!"

"Is the Gagnon family very powerful?" Siena was mainly worried about getting Lucas involved.

"You ugly monster, you don't even know about the Gagnon family, you dare to call the police, it's ridiculous!" Young Master Gagnon's friend laughed arrogantly, "You two have no brain!"

Lucas clenched his fists tightly, and the atmosphere was tense.

Siena immediately grabbed Lucas's arm and pulled him out and said, "Young Master, it's getting late, let's go back!"

The two took a taxi, settled the bill for the hot pot restaurant, and returned to Hogan's house.

"Young Master, why don't I stay here tonight! In case your father calls you and scolds you, I can explain to him." Siena felt uneasy.

In case the Gagnon family was really stronger than the Hogan family, then even if the young master of the Gagnon family was wrong, Lucas would probably be blamed for this matter.

"Siena, you go back." Lucas had a headache.

It's not because of causing a headache to the Gagnon family, but because of being nagged by Siena.

"Okay! Then I'll come early tomorrow." Siena turned around and was about to leave.

Looking at her thin back, Lucas couldn't help reminding: "Tell me when you get home."

Usually Siena didn't come home so late, so Lucas didn't worry too much.

"Okay, Young master, I'll be fine. Go take a shower and rest! If you don't want to be disturbed, you can turn off your phone before going to bed." After Siena finished speaking, she walked out.

She thought that Mr. Hogan was going on a trip, and even if he found out about it and rushed back, he might not be able to make it back tonight.

The next day, at 6:30 in the morning, before dawn, Siena came to the auxiliary building.

The whole Hogan family was quiet, but Siena felt flustered.

Mr. Hogan would definitely be furious when he came back.

She opened the door of the auxiliary building, and saw that Lucas's door was open, so she strode over.

Chapter 2522

In the dark room, there was a ray of light, and there were fighting sound effects when playing games.

“Young Master, why didn’t you sleep?” Siena looked at Lucas lying on the bed playing games, very puzzled, “Your father may come back today...”

“He came back last night.” Lucas lazily said, “You don’t have to worry, the matter is over.”

Siena walked to the bed in disbelief, and confirmed: “Is your father not angry?”

“It’s none of my business whether he is angry or not.” With an indifferent tone, Lucas immediately said, “I’m hungry, go and cook me a bowl of noodles.”

“Okay, I’ll do it right away.” Siena didn’t notice any difference in Lucas.

Coming out of the bedroom, she immediately went to the kitchen to cook noodles.

Ten minutes later, she entered the bedroom with a bowl of hot noodles and put the noodles on the bedside table.

Siena: “Young Master, why didn’t you close the door today? You usually close the door when you are in the room.”

“If you are too lazy to close it, you don’t close it. Go and do your work! Leave me alone.” Lucas put down the phone, “Close the door for me!”

“Oh good.” Siena exited his room and closed the door for him.

In a blink of an eye, it was seven o’clock in the morning.

Siena walked towards the back kitchen of the main building. Usually at this time, today’s ingredients had already been purchased.

Siena entered the back kitchen through the back door.

Seeing Siena, Mrs. Perry said immediately: “Siena, did you go out with Young Master Hogan last night? Young Master Hogan beat Second Young Master of Gagnon family because of you, right? Do you know how serious this is?"

Mrs. Perry was the live-in servant of Hogan family, so she knew what happened after Master Hogan came back.

"After Master Hogan came back, he asked Young Master Hogan to apologize to the Young Master of the Gagnon family. Young Master Hogan refused, so the Master whipped Young Master Hogan. The beating was so bad that his skin was torn apart, I couldn't bear to see it! Young Master Hogan is really stubborn..."

Mrs. Perry didn't finish her sentence, Siena turned her head and ran out.

No wonder Lucas was lying on the bed, it turned out that it was because of being beaten.

He was still stubborn and refused to say anything to her.

Siena returned to the auxiliary building, reached out and wiped away the tears on her face.

She went straight to Lucas's room.

She knocked on the door, and without waiting for Lucas to let her in, she directly opened the door.

Lucas had just finished eating the noodles, when he saw Siena come in suddenly, he was taken aback for a moment.

"Young Master, Auntie Perry told me that your father beat you." With red eyes, Siena walked to the bed, lifted the hem of his shirt and took a look.

"Don't move your hands." Lucas moved to the side uncomfortably, "I have rough skin and thick flesh, and I will be fine in a few days."

"Where is the medicine I bought last time? I will rub some medicine for you!"

Siena saw red marks on his back.

Mr. Hogan was really ruthless.

Lucas: "No need..."

“Young Master, do you really not know pain?” Siena reached out her hand to touch his back in order to see if he was really not afraid of pain.

Lucas gasped suddenly and glared at Siena.

Chapter 2523

Siena brought the medicine over, opened it, and muttered: “Young Master, I’m the one who got you in trouble this time. You didn’t want to go out yesterday, so I dragged you out. I was bullied, and it has nothing to do with you. You...”

“Could you please be quiet? I didn’t sleep last night and felt dizzy.” Lucas lay on the bed and closed his eyes, “If my dad finds you later, don’t talk nonsense. You just said that you were stunned and didn’t know anything at the time. Don’t let my beating be in vain.”

Siena originally suppressed the tears, but because of his words, the tears couldn’t stop falling down.

“What are you crying for?” Lucas turned his head to the side, seeing Siena’s crying face full of tears, and couldn’t help frowning, “You don’t listen to what I tell you, do you?”

“I heard it. Aren’t you dizzy? Go to sleep if you feel dizzy!” Siena wiped away her tears, lifted his shirt up, and the injury on his back immediately appeared in front of his eyes, “It’s all broken, and you still say it doesn’t hurt. Your mouth is so hard, Is it the reincarnation of a duck?”

“What a broken skin. You can’t stand the pain, what kind of man are you?”

Siena took out a cotton ball and disinfected his back with iodophor. “Your father is so heartless. Even though the other party is ignoring you, you insist on admitting your mistake. Isn’t that right and wrong?”

Lucas: “Don’t mention him. Let me lie down quietly for a while.”

“Well, I won’t quarrel with you anymore.” After disinfecting and applying medicine to him, Siena saw that Lucas seemed to be asleep with his eyes closed, so she covered him with a thin quilt and left the room.

Thinking of Lucas being beaten because of herself, Siena felt more and more uncomfortable, and couldn't do anything.

She returned to the back kitchen of the main building, looking for an opportunity to explain to Master Hogan.

If because of her, the relationship between their father and son was destroyed, this was a situation she absolutely did not want to see.

At eight o'clock in the morning, Mr. Hogan came downstairs to have breakfast.

After the housekeeper conveyed Siena's request to see her, Master Xiao agreed to see her.

Mr. Todd led Siena to the dining room.

When Paulina Hogan saw Siena, she immediately frowned: "How could there be such an ugly servant in our family? Mom, did you invite such an ugly person at home to ward off evil spirits? I couldn't even eat breakfast! "

After Paulina got angry for a while, she said to the servant: "Bring me breakfast to my room, I won't eat here!"

Before Paulina left, she gave Siena a look.

Siena lowered her head in trepidation, and only slightly raised her head after Paulina left.

"What do you want to say, tell me!" Master Hogan said impatiently.

"Master, it's all my fault. Don't blame Young Master Hogan. Yesterday I paid my salary, and I wanted to invite Young Master Hogan to dinner, so we both went to the city. Young Master Hogan didn't want to go out, but I insisted on him going out. If it's not me, nothing will happen."

Siena took all the faults on herself.

After hearing this, Mr. Hogan was really furious: “He listened to you! I asked you to take care of his daily life, not to take him out to cause trouble! Are you quite proud? You ugly monster! You don’t know how to watch. Are you dating my son? Hehe! Do you think my son can take a fancy to you? The toad wants to eat swan meat!”

Siena didn’t expect Master Hogan to misunderstand, and immediately explained: “Master Hogan, I didn’t have that kind of thought. I-I just think that the young master is taking good care of me, so I want to invite him to dinner. I think he stays at home all day and doesn’t go out, I’m afraid he will be bored.”

“You are still quibbling! He told me to find a tutor, but the tutor is giving you extra lessons every day, isn’t it?” Master Hogan snorted coldly, “You two think I’m a fool! Don’t you know that this family installed a camera in the auxiliary building?” Siena: “...”

“Siena, I didn’t expect you to be so capable. I told you to disgust Lucas, but you and Lucas got along so well I don’t know whether to say that you are clever, or that Lucas has a strong taste! Hehehe!” Mrs. Hogan looked at Siena with strange eyes, “You even took him to provoke the second young master of the Gagnon family. I don’t know the heights of heaven and earth!”

Siena: “It’s all my fault, it has nothing to do with the young master.”

“Okay! For your mother-in-law’s sake, I don’t bother to scold you anymore. From now on, you are no longer a servant of our Hogan family. Now you go!” Mrs. Hogan said indifferently.

Chapter 2524

Siena’s tears rolled down immediately.

Unexpectedly, a meal made her lose her job.

In addition to being reluctant to part with this job that can sustain her, she also felt a little bit reluctant about Lucas.

Lucas was the best person to her besides her mother-in-law.

If she didn't work in Hogan's house in the future, then she probably won't have any interaction with Lucas in the future.

Just like her and her childhood best friend Lilly.

Thinking of this, she couldn't hold back her tears.

"Housekeeper Todd, take her away!" Madam Hogan didn't want to see Siena again, so she shouted to the housekeeper.

Mr. Todd immediately stepped forward, took Siena by the arm, and took Siena away.

Mr. Todd brought Siena to the back door, and said to her, "Siena, I know that Young Master Hogan treats you well, but you didn't position yourself properly. He is the Young master, and you are a servant. How can you pretend to be equal to him? What about your friend? You shouldn't invite him to dinner. You still owe so much debt, do you think that if you invite him to dinner, he can treat you as a friend?"

"Young Master didn't ask me to pay for it." Siena lowered her eyebrows and her nasal voice was heavy, "Uncle Todd, the young master is a good man. I won't be able to come here in the future, please take care of him."

"Do you need to say that? Go away! Don't come again."

After that Mr. Todd close the back door.

Siena returned to the auxiliary building and put her schoolbag on her back.

Before leaving, she hesitated whether to go to the bedroom to say goodbye to Lucas.

But thinking that Lucas didn't sleep all night last night, he probably slept very deeply at the moment, so she gave up.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Lucas woke up.

He didn't know if it's because of the medicine on the back, but it didn't feel so painful.

Feeling a sense of hunger in his stomach, he immediately got out of bed and came out of the room.

"Young Master Hogan, you are awake! From now on, I will take care of your daily life." Mrs. Perry was originally unwilling to take care of Lucas, but Master Hogan said that Mrs. Perry had to come over.

Lucas frowned and asked, "Where's Siena?"

Mrs. Perry: "Isn't Siena going to college? So she won't be able to work in the Hogan family in the future."

"You're lying!" Lucas shouted angrily, "Did they drive Siena away?!"

Mrs. Perry was frightened by Lucas's roar and quickly lowered her head: "Young Master Hogan, your trouble this time was caused by Siena, master and madam..."

Lucas: "Who said she caused it?!"

"She said it! She admitted it. Otherwise, would the madam and the master be so angry?" Mrs. Perry timidly said, "Young Master, are you hungry? I-I made lunch at noon, and I'm going to heat it up now."

Lucas: "I won't eat!"

After saying this, Lucas strode away from the auxiliary building and walked towards the main building.

Master Hogan went to the hospital with his wife to visit Young master Gagnon, Austin Gagnon this morning, and apologized to him, and finally obtained his forgiveness.

The two of them returned home, their buttocks were still warm, and finally,

Lucas rushed in.

“Didn’t I tell you to think about it behind closed doors?! What are you doing here? I see you are upset!” Master Hogan took a deep breath and shouted at Lucas.

“Who told you to drive Siena away?!” Lucas’s voice was louder than his father’s.

Chapter 2525

“What is your attitude?! She is just a servant of our Hogan family. If I want her to work at home, she will work. If I don’t want her to do it, she will have to go! Do you still need your consent?!” Master Hogan stood up from the sofa angrily. Mrs. Hogan saw that her husband was so angry, she didn’t need to fan the flames herself.

Mrs. Hogan: “Lucas, you know that your father is going to apologize to the Gagnon family today...”

“Shut up!” Lucas looked at Mrs. Hogan coldly, and said word by word, “You poisoned my dog to death, now You drove away my nanny again, why didn’t you drive me away too?”

“What’s your nanny?! Why, you’ve gotten along with that ugly monster for a few days, and you’ve developed feelings for it?! Lucas, what’s your favorite? So I can find out whose food you are eating and whose house you are living in! I paid for your nanny!” Master Hogan’s blood pressure rose, his face was red and his ears were red, and his eyes were staring like copper bells.

“Then I’ll go!” Lucas turned and left immediately after saying this.

Master Hogan lost his mind due to his violent temper!

Master Hogan: “Bodyguards! Stop him!”

Two bodyguards rushed over immediately and blocked Lucas.

“Since I recognized you back, you are my son! I can’t afford to let you run out and cause trouble for me again!” Master Hogan looked at Lucas’s back and scolded, “I’ll make you face the wall and think If you don’t listen, then I can only lock you at home until you realize your mistake!”

Lucas: “You lock! Even if I die, I won’t admit my mistake!”

“You ba*tard! You want to p!ss me off, don’t you?!” Master Hogan said, covering his chest with one hand, panting heavily.

Mrs. Hogan immediately supported her husband, and at the same time said to the bodyguard at the door: “Take Lucas away quickly?!”

After the bodyguard took Lucas away, Mrs. Hogan helped her husband to sit down on the sofa.

“I’ll get you some medicine. Drink some water first.” Mrs. Hogan handed the water glass to her husband, and then went to the room to get the medicine.

After a while, Mrs. Hogan came out with the medicine.

“Husband, Lucas is already an adult, and his character has already been formed, and it is impossible to change his character. Lucas is a thorn in the side!” Mrs. Hogan handed the medicine to her husband, “Lucas can’t tell what’s important and what’s not! And how could he fight someone else for a servant?”

“What exactly are you trying to say?” Master Hogan swallowed the medicine and looked at his wife.

“Send him to school for discipline! The two of us can’t discipline him at all.” Mrs. Hogan said in a low voice, “Isn’t there a school with that kind of military management?”

“You’re treating Lucas as a prisoner! You know How strict is that school?”

Master Hogan couldn’t bear to send his son to such a place to suffer.

“You will love your son dearly! Aren’t you afraid that he will go out and cause trouble next time? This time it was the Gagnon family. If you provoke someone who can’t afford it next time, are you going to kneel down and beg for mercy?”

Mrs. Hogan sarcastically said, “A loving father is a loser!”

“Let’s see if he will admit his mistake!” Master Hogan got up from the sofa and strode away, “I have a headache, I’m going to lie down for a while!”

The auxiliary building.

After Lucas entered the living room, the door of the auxiliary building was immediately closed by the bodyguards.

Mrs. Perry had already heated up the food.

Seeing Lucas coming back, Mrs. Perry immediately put the food on the table.

“Young Master Hogan, there is a reason why the Master arranged for me to take care of you...” Mrs. Perry said and wanted to have a good relationship with Lucas.

But before Mrs. Perry finished speaking, Lucas strode into the bedroom and closed the door with a bang.

Mrs. Perry sighed, and she didn’t know how Siena had a good relationship with him.

In the bedroom, Lucas picked up the phone, opened it, and saw the message Siena sent him in the morning.

—Young Master, Madam won’t let me work in Hogan’s house. What happened last night was caused by me. I caused trouble to Hogan’s family. It is normal for Madam to be angry. It’s just that I can’t bear to part with you. But it doesn’t matter, we can still meet if we want to meet in the future. Young master, don’t quarrel with your family members in the future. If they say something you don’t like to hear, just ignore it. I don’t want to see you get beaten again. Also, you don’t have to worry about me. Although I don’t have a job in Hogan’s family, I can still find other jobs. I’m sure I’ll be fine supporting myself. I hope I can be admitted to University of Thopiavelle. You said before that I will be admitted to University of Thopiavelle, and you will give me a gift. Does it count?

Chapter 2526

Lucas put down his phone and didn't reply.

He was lying on the bed, looking at the ceiling, in a daze.

He couldn't protect his dog, and he couldn't protect Siena.

In the Hogan family, he was just a puppet. He would never want to live such a life.

However, the Hogan family was undoubtedly a good springboard.

Now he just needed to be patient and bide his time.

.....

Aryadelle.

Tate Industries.

"Boss, have you encountered any troubles? You have been frowning all day today. Has our company encountered any crisis?" Assistant Huot brought a cup of brewed coffee and brought it in.

Layla rubbed the space between her brows, and then took the coffee from the assistant.

"I confessed my love to someone, but I was rejected." Layla took a sip of coffee after saying this.

How bitter!

"Ah?! Boss, who are you looking for? Who is so lucky to be in your eyes!"

Assistant Huot was shocked, "Boss, do you know what our company employees talk about you? They said that you will never get married in your life. Because your father and brother are too good, it is impossible for you to look at ordinary men."

Layla: "It is not impossible to... look at a person, not just him The ability to make money. Whether two people can be together depends mainly on whether they are happy together.”

“Boss, you are so right! But I haven’t seen any man you dated before? Who did you confess your love to?” Assistant Huot was really curious.

In Assistant Huot eyes, Layla was the perfect female image.

This kind of perfection, aside from her own excellence and her perfect family environment, it was hard to imagine that she would have any troubles.

In the words on the Internet, Layla was a proper goddess.

The goddess would be rejected by people?

Was that man blind?

Layla finished her coffee, then picked up her phone and checked the time.

Layla: “Assistant Huot, don’t sprinkle salt on my wound.”

“Boss, I’m sorry. I didn’t mean it. I really can’t imagine what kind of man you would like.” Assistant Huot apologized, but did not forget to continue digging.

Because Layla was young and new to the workplace, although she was the boss, very friendly and kind to the employees.

This was also the reason why the assistant dared to investigate the root cause in front of her.

“Eric Santos...” After finishing speaking, Layla left the office with her bag.

Assistant Huot froze in place.

Eric Santos?

The boss liked Eric Santos?!

D*mn! The boss’s vision was really not low, but Eric Santos had been popular for a long time, and he always felt that he was not of the same era as them.

Layla took the elevator to the basement garage on the first floor.

Not long after, she drove out of the company in a car.

After Eric rejected her, she thought about it carefully, but her heart still couldn’t calm down.

She had never been so frustrated and miserable.

Chapter 2527

When she was a teenager, she said she wanted to marry Eric, but her mother stopped her. She didn't think too much, because she was young and a little heartless.

Unexpectedly, she and Eric hadn't had much contact these years, but this idea popped up again.

While waiting for the red light, she was in a trance.

After the red light turned green, a series of whistles sounded behind her, which made her withdraw her mind.

She kicked the accelerator and drove the car back.

She needed to talk to her mother.

Every time she encountered something that she was unhappy but couldn't digest, she always told her mother.

Although she was almost 25 years old now, she would always be a baby who would never grow up in front of her mother.

Foster family.

Avery received the concert tickets from Eric today.

Eric sent six tickets and sent her a message, saying that if there were not enough tickets, he could continue to send them.

Avery felt that six cards were enough.

After Layla came back, Avery immediately showed the tickets to her daughter.

"Mom, I have something to tell you." Layla took her mother's hand and walked to her room.

Seeing this, Elliot walked to the stairs: "Layla, what's wrong with you? What's wrong with you? You can also tell Dad.”

“Dad, I’m fine.” Layla didn’t dare to tell Dad about it.

After Layla pulled her mother into her room, she closed the door.

“Layla, what’s the matter?” Avery looked at her daughter’s distressed expression, and immediately helped her to sit in a chair, “Unsatisfactory at work? Or something else?”

“It’s not about work... If It’s about work, I’m sure I’ll go to Dad directly!” Layla held her mother’s hand in both hands and snorted, “Mom, I confessed my love to Eric.”

Avery: “...”

Outside the door, Elliot put his ear to the door, trying to eavesdrop on the mother and daughter’s conversation.

However, the sound insulation of the door was so good that Elliot couldn’t hear anything.

“Mom, why don’t you talk? Did I do something wrong? Eric is 15 years older than me. Actually, I can’t accept a man of this age at all, but Eric is different.”

Layla said in her heart, “Mom, I thought about it calmly. I like Eric. The first reason is that he is handsome, and the second reason is that he is really attractive. He is not only good at acting, singing and dancing, He is charming in everything he does. The third reason is that he is very kind to me. I remember that when I was young, I liked to cling to him. He also took me around, bought me delicious food, bought me beautiful clothes, and gave me all kinds of gifts.”

“Blame me and your father.” Avery said, “When you were young, your father and I often quarreled. I didn’t have time to take care of you and your brother. For a long time, your brother Hayden followed Uncle Mike, but you followed Eric.”

“Mom, I didn’t blame you and Dad. Besides, I like Eric, is it really wrong?”

Otherwise, why would you blame yourself?" Layla was puzzled and opened her mouth.

"The age difference between you is too big. Mom doesn't think it's wrong for you to like Eric, but I'm just worried that you will have many problems when you get together. Now I can't say a word or two." Avery was a little confused, "By the way, After you confessed your love to Eric, how did he reply to you?"

"He rejected me! The rejection was super straightforward! He didn't say why he refused, just said no." Layla got angry when she said this, "Mom, He's never turned me down to anything. This is definitely the first time he's turned me down."

"Layla, don't get excited. Since he rejected you, he must have considered it carefully and thought you are not suitable." Avery patted her daughter on the shoulder.

"Mom, you clearly know why Eric refused so simply. He is so kind to me, and he must like me very much. The reason why he dare not agree is because he is afraid that you and Dad will disagree." Layla spoke her mind.

Avery: "Indeed, from the time I met Eric until now, he gave me the impression that he is a very humble and polite person. In fact, I like him very much."

"I don't think anyone dislikes him. He is really super attractive. His girls Fans call his husband on his Facebook every day. I want to marry him, it's normal!" Layla said this, her cheeks flushed slightly, "Mom, do you support me?"

Avery was stunned for a moment: "Baby, what do you want to do?"

Layla: "I'll go after him!"

Avery: "Your father won't agree."

Chapter 2528

Layla: "I know Dad won't agree! That's why I won't tell Dad!"

Avery sat down next to Layla, and said patiently: "If your father doesn't agree, it's useless if mommy agrees!"

"Mom, who doesn't know that Dad listens to you the most. Wouldn't it be good for you to help me convince him?" Layla immediately acted like a baby when she said this, "Mom, you love me the most, and you will definitely help me, right?"

Avery pulled her arm out of her daughter's hand and said solemnly: "Layla, your father doesn't listen to me about everything. He can listen to me unconditionally for small things, but when it comes to big things, we are all together and will discuss. Your father has your father's principles and bottom line, such as your marriage, he has his own ideas, and he will not follow other people's opinions casually."

After hearing what her mother said, Layla felt a little desperate.

"Aren't Auntie Gwen and Uncle Ben also ten years apart? Why didn't Dad stop them from getting married? I remember when they got married, Dad was very happy!" Layla frowned slightly, reasoning with her mother.

Avery calmly said: "Although your Auntie Gwen is your father's biological sister, when the two of them met, your Auntie Gwen was already an adult. It is impossible for your father to ask her for his own daughter. Besides, you Uncle Ben and your father are very good friends, and your father has no reason to separate them when your auntie Gwen is willing."

"So just because father and uncle Ben are good friends, it's fine. If Eric is good friends with him, so he won't care, will he?"

"Of course not. Mom said that your father's requirements for you and your auntie Gwen are definitely different. Even if your father and Eric are good friends, and your father can't possibly agree to marry him." Avery said, "Layla, take your auntie's matter as an example, do you think the two of them are happy?"

“Aren’t they happy? I look at them both are very good!” Layla thought about it, “Every time I see them, I can see that they have a good relationship. Uncle Ben is always smiling, and he especially loves Auntie Gwen.”

“Yes, you are right. Ben really dotes on your auntie very much. But we can also give you this kind of favor. There are some things that your Auntie Gwen will not bring to the table to tell your juniors.” Avery spoke very slowly, wanting her daughter to understand the pros and cons.

“Mom, what you’re saying is that Uncle Ben is getting old, so he’s not good at that?” Layla guessed.

“This is only one aspect. The age gap between two people is too big, and the generation gap will also be huge. This gap will be exposed little by little in future life. Ben and your auntie Gwen can get to the present, and both of them sacrificed a lot. Ben basically listens to your auntie in everything, and your auntie actually tolerates a lot.” Avery explained patiently.

“Have you forgotten the conflict between me and your father when you were young? It has been for many years.” Avery’s eyes were soft and her tone was calm, “Mom and Dad hope that your life will not be that type. There are so many twists and turns. There will definitely be a very good man who is suitable for you. You might as well choose more and don’t limit yourself to the past thinking.”

Layla: “Mom, I know. I will think about it again.”

“Yeah! Let’s go downstairs to eat first! Your father must be worried to death.”

Avery took her daughter’s hand and led her to the door.

“Mom, in fact, I have always known that you and Dad dote on me very much. I will not do anything to make you sad.” Layla calmed down, “Even if I insist on marrying Eric, I will definitely find a way to make you The reason for accepting.”

“Mom will not object to any of your decisions, as long as you make up your own mind. It’s just that you need to convince your father. If mother doesn’t object, it’s already the biggest concession you can make.”

Layla: “Mom, thank you! I really love you!”

“Mom and Dad love you too. I love you more than you can imagine.” Avery said, opening the door.

Elliot stood outside the door impressively.

“Dad, are you eavesdropping?” Layla smiled and grabbed her father’s big palm,

“Didn’t you hear anything?”

If she had, her father’s expression would not be so calm.

“What are you guys talking about, can’t I let me know?” Elliot expressed dissatisfaction, “Mother is important, but father is not important?”

Chapter 2529

Layla: “Uh...I’ve been under a lot of stress recently, and my menstruation has been delayed for a few days...”

Elliot’s face turned red suddenly: “Then you have to go to the hospital for an examination. Let Mom will accompany you to the hospital.”

“I’m a little afraid of going to the hospital, so I’ll talk to my mother first. Dad, I’m hungry, let’s go eat first!” Layla held her father in one hand and her mother in the other, happily building.

“Layla, do you have something on your mind?” Elliot guessed, “Is it a matter of work?”

Layla: “No! Dad, I’m fine, but sometimes I have random thoughts... If you ask me about my random thoughts... What, I can’t say.”

Avery helped her daughter explain: “From school to society, many people will have this stage. You don’t have to worry.”

“Well. Didn’t Eric give 6 tickets? Three for Ben and Gwen, three for us, how about it?” Elliot said.

“Tammy also likes Eric very much.” Avery did not forget his best friend at this time.

“Tammy has already asked Eric for tickets. I asked in the group, but Ben and Gwen didn’t have tickets.” Elliot said, “After the concert, I can ask Robert to go back to Aryadelle.”

“It seems that you don’t want him to suffer at all. He didn’t say he couldn’t bear it, so you can’t bear it first.” Avery teased.

“If he just wants to learn maintenance techniques, why does he go to Hayden’s? He can learn it at home. I’ll ask a master to come and teach him. There are so many cars in our garage, he can dismantle any car he wants.” Elliot said.

“If he breaks down my car, I’ll break him down.” Layla looked at Dad.

“Father is wrong, of course your car cannot be moved.” Elliot corrected immediately, “Mom’s car is not allowed either. Dad’s car can be dismantled for him.”

Layla glanced at her mother, her eyes said: My brother will be killed by father spoiled.

Avery has become numb.

Elliot actually had the same attitude towards the three children.

It’s just that Robert was the youngest and preferred to act like a baby to him.

Thopiavelle.

The video of Lucas beating Austin Gagnon at the hot pot restaurant was spread.

The video was seen by Piper Lawson, daughter of the Lawson family.

After seeing Lucas’s sharp and handsome facial features in the video, Piper was attracted by his appearance.

In addition, Piper Lawson hated Austin Gagnon very much, so when she saw someone daring to beat him in public, her affection for Lucas immediately rose. After Piper Lawson found out that Lucas was the third son of the Hogan family, she immediately went to find her father and contact the Hogan family.

The Lawson family is a well-known wealthy family in Thopiavelle, with a higher status than the Gagnon family, so when the Lawson family contacted Mr. Hogan and explained that they would come to visit, Mr. Hogan suddenly laughed all over his face.

Chapter 2530

After hanging up the phone, Master Hogan paced up and down in the living room.

“Housekeeper!” Master Hogan yelled after walking around twice.

When Mr. Todd heard the sound, he immediately ran over.

Mr. Todd: “Master, what are your orders?”

“Hurry up! Tell the kitchen right away that there is a distinguished guest coming tonight. Tell the kitchen to prepare quickly. I don’t know what the daughter of the Lawson family likes to eat... Hurry up and ask the lady.”

“Okay! Is the daughter of the Lawson family coming?” Mr. Todd confirmed.

“Yes! This daughter of the Lawson family really has a unique eye! She watched the video of Lucas fighting, and she fell in love with Lucas! I really don’t understand the young people nowadays! But I am very happy hahaha! Go find Lucas.” After Master Hogan finished speaking, he strode towards the auxiliary building.

The bodyguard guarding the auxiliary building saw Mr. Hogan coming, and immediately opened the door of the auxiliary building.

Seeing Mr. Hogan coming, Mrs. Perry immediately said with a frowning face:

“Master, Young Master Hogan hasn’t eaten for two days. No matter how much I try to persuade you, it won’t work. He locked the door behind him. I want to open it for him. He can’t even get in the food. Even if he has a body made of iron, he can’t help but go on such a hunger strike!”

Master Hogan frowned, looking for a spare key.

A quarter of an hour later, Master Hogan found a spare key and opened the bedroom door.

Lucas lay on the bed, motionless, not sure if he fell asleep or fainted from hunger.

Master Hogan felt a little embarrassed when he thought of the punishment he had given him before.

“Lucas, I heard that you haven’t eaten for two days, so I asked the servant to cook porridge for you. You can have some porridge later!” Master Hogan finished speaking, and reached out to pat Lucas’s face outside the quilt.

Lucas lifted his hand away, sat up suddenly from the bed, and looked at him with hostility: “Say what you want to say, don’t be hypocritical here!”

Seeing that his son was still alive, Master Hogan felt relieved, “I admit that I treated you a little harder a few days ago, and I apologize to you. Also, I shouldn’t have locked you up. I was afraid that you would run around.

Thopiavelle is very big, and it is not the same as your mother’s. If you get lost, I can’t tell your mother.”

“Did my mother call you?” When Lucas said these words, his stomach convulsed.

He hadn’t eaten for two days, and his energy for arguing with his father was weakened.

“No. How can your mother care about you now? She has a new boyfriend, and she might give birth to a younger brother or sister for you!” Master Hogan said, and changed the subject, “The daughter of the Lawson family will come later. She wanted to meet you by name. So...”

“That’s it. I said, why are you pretending to be a loving father?” Lucas sneered, “Looking at your flattering smile, Lawson family is even more powerful!”

“What are you talking about? Lucas, after I bring you back, I will provide you with food and drink, and I will send a servant to serve you. If you don’t make such a big fuss, you think I want to punish you? You are my own son, I only hope for your well-being, how could I harm you? I know your stepmother doesn’t like you, and you have been wronged, but you are going to college soon, and you won’t see your stepmother much.” Master Hogan said, and out of the corner of his eye, he saw Mrs. Perry bringing the porridge.

Ask Mrs. Perry to bring the porridge right away.

“Even if the daughter of the Lawson family doesn’t come today, I will come to see you tomorrow at the latest.” After Master Hogan brought the porridge bowl over, he wanted to feed Lucas the porridge with his own hands.

Lucas was disgusted and quickly pushed the porridge bowl away.

Lucas: “What do you want me to do? Chat with Lawson family’s daughter? Or let me marry her?”

“She just want to meet you, not necessarily willing to marry you! What kind of daydream are you kidding! If the daughter of the Lawson family is willing to marry you, then our Hogan family’s ancestral grave will be smoking haha!”

Master Hogan was just fantasizing like this. After a while, he was so happy that he could not close his mouth from ear to ear, “Lucas, you should take advantage of this opportunity. The Lawson family is very rich, and they love this daughter very much. If you can be with her, you can save twenty or thirty years of struggle in the future.

You're about to finish the porridge. Then go take a shower and change into clean clothes. By the way, do you have decent clothes to wear? How about I buy them for you now?" Master Hogan looked at his son.

Among the three sons, Lucas was the most handsome, because Lucas looked like his mother.

"I have a request. If you don't agree, I won't see you even if the king of heaven comes today." Lucas didn't give his father time to think, and made a request, "Get Siena back. And promise, as long as she doesn't If you ask to leave, none of you can drive her away. The double salary promised to her must also be fulfilled!"

Chapter 2531

Master Hogan didn't expect his son to make such a request.

"Lucas, you are so kind to her, so you can't be in love with her?" Master Hogan got a headache, "Not to mention that she is an orphan now, just her looks, are you sure..."

"Why do you want to insult her?" Lucas held back his anger, "You found one woman after another outside, and your own private life is in such a mess, who do you care who I like?!"

"You—" Master Hogan, if it wasn't For the sake of the daughter of the Lawson family, he's afraid he'll pick up the whip and beat him again at this moment, "I don't care if you can, don't make the daughter of the Lawson family angry later!

I'll send someone to get Siena back!"

"I don't care what you say, but what you do." Lucas said, flung his long legs and jumped off the bed.

Master Hogan looked at his ruffian look, and his liver hurt from anger.

But looking at the mottled dark red bloodstains on his back shirt, he couldn't help but continue to ask: "Did you rub the medicine on the wound on your back?"

How about I rub some medicine on you!”

“I said not to be here hypocrisy, don’t you understand? If you follow my request, I will naturally go to see the daughter of the Lawson family, and you can go out now!” Lucas took a T-shirt from the suitcase and prepared to take a bath.

Master Hogan: “Okay! I’m going out! You remember to eat the porridge.”

.....

Forty minutes later, Siena was taken to Hogan’s house.

The bodyguard who picked her up only said that she would resume her job at Hogan’s house, without saying the reason.

So when she came to Hogan’s house, she immediately went to the auxiliary building to find Lucas.

“Master, why didn’t you reply to my message? I sent you three messages, but you didn’t reply to any of them.” Seeing Lucas, Siena asked, “Don’t you know that is my number? “

Lucas glanced at Mrs. Perry who was standing beside him: “You don’t have to come here anymore.”

Mrs. Perry nodded and backed out.

“Young Master, how did you get me back?” Siena sat down opposite Lucas and asked in a low voice, “Have you reconciled with your father?”

Lucas: “Accompany that girl for dinner.”

Siena: “...”

“Why don’t you talk?” Lucas handed over the empty cup, “Go and pour me a glass of water.”

“Oh, good.” Siena immediately picked up his cup and went to fetch water,

“Young Master, did you agree?”

“I don’t agree, can you come back?” Lucas picked up the phone and checked the time.

In half an hour, Lucas had to go to the main building.

“Young Master, I didn’t expect you to be so kind to me. I’m so touched!” Siena held a glass of warm water and handed it to Lucas, “You can spend a while with that rich lady, and don’t talk to others.”

Lucas frowned, feeling unspeakably awkward.

“Young Master, that Miss has taken a fancy to you, which shows that she has good vision. She must be a very good girl. Even if you two can’t get married in the future, it’s good to be friends.” Siena expressed her opinion.

“You really think so?” Lucas asked.

Siena nodded sharply, with a sincere face: “Young Master, I hope you are happy.”

Chapter 2532

At 6:30 p.m.

A silver luxury car drove to Hogan’s yard and stopped.

Siena stood in the courtyard of the auxiliary building, secretly watching the situation on the other side of the main building.

After she saw the silver luxury car stop, a tall, well-dressed young girl got out of the car.

From a distance not far away, Siena saw the exquisite makeup on the daughter of the Lawson family. She had long, smooth curly hair that naturally fell on the white fur on her body.

The girl should not be very old, but she was very fashionable and mature.

Underneath her white fur was a tight red dress.

On her feet were a pair of knee-high black leather boots.

The bag on her shoulder was shining brightly under the street lamp.

Crispy’s nose suddenly became sour.

She was so envious!

She envied that Piper was wearing a beautiful cloth, carrying an expensive bag, and was holding a mobile phone.

Even Piper's mobile phone case was so bright that people couldn't take their eyes off it.

What she envied the most was actually that who Piper likes could say it openly and used family conditions to meet with the other party.

Master Hogan and his wife came out to welcome Piper into the house in person.

Siena watched the gate of the villa in the main building close, and the light in her eyes suddenly dimmed.

There was light snow in the sky, Siena stood in the snow and didn't feel cold.

When Lucas asked her to come back to work, she could get double wages, and she would be able to pay off her debts in a short time.

After paying off the debt, she would only have to earn her own tuition and living expenses in the future, and her life would definitely become easier.

It's not that she didn't know that the end point that some people could reach through a lifetime of struggle might be just the starting point for others.

She seldom envied others. Her mother-in-law taught her to live a good life and be safe and healthy, which was the greatest blessing. So she had been very optimistic.

But tonight, she was a little depressed.

It was probably when Master Hogan and Madam Hogan drove her away a few days ago, saying that she was a toad who wanted to eat swan meat, and told her not to miss Lucas.

Originally, she hadn't thought about this, but after being scolded by Master Hogan and Madam Hogan, she couldn't help thinking about it.

It's okay if she didn't want to, but it's sad to think about it.

Outsiders didn't know that the scars on her face were fake, aside from the fact that she was not ugly, she was not good enough for Lucas.

Unless Lucas was not the young master of the Hogan family.

But Lucas was the young master of the Hogan family, this assumption was not valid, so she and Lucas would never be possible.

When she came back this time, although she was very grateful to Lucas, she would always remind herself to keep in mind the propriety and maintain a good relationship between master and servant with Lucas.

Main building.

After seeing Lucas, Piper took the initiative to sit down beside him.

"You look more handsome than in the video." Piper did not hide her admiration for Lucas, "I have long disliked Austin Gagnon. I have already said that I don't like him, and he always sends me messages, in the end I couldn't take it anymore and blocked him. Who knows, he continued to add me with a trumpet. Hehe!"

After hearing Piper's words, Lucas didn't know how to answer her, so he didn't say a word.

Master Hogan became anxious, and immediately said with a smile: "Piper, is your family trying to match you and Austin?"

"Hehe! How is it possible! My dad doesn't like Austin! I'm still in school, and my parents aren't in a hurry to find a partner. I'm in a relationship now, and they don't care about me." Piper answered Master Hogan's question then, looking at Lucas, "Have you gone to college yet?"

"He's going to take the big exam soon. But he's actually twenty years old, and his ID card is two years younger than his actual age." Master Hogan hurriedly continued to talk, "You two are about the same age! We just have a topic to talk about."

Chapter 2533

"Oh... Lucas, which university are you going to take? If you go to University of Thopiavelle, then we will be alumni!" Piper said enthusiastically.

Lucas: "Did you pass the exam?"

Siena told him that the score line for University of Thopiavelle was quite high.

Lucas's question froze the smile on Piper's face.

Master Hogan was so angry that his heart ached.

Lucas might as well be a mute.

"No, I'm not good at studying. My dad donated a library to University of Thopiavelle, so I went to school." Piper said, picked up the red wine glass, sipped the wine, "What about you? How about studying?"

Lucas: "It's the same as you. I can't go to University of Thopiavelle. Our family is relatively poor and we can't donate to the library."

Piper laughed loudly: "Is your family poor? No way."

Master Hogan: "Hahaha! Lucas just returned to Hogan's house, and he doesn't know much about our family's situation."

"If our family is not poor, do you need to please the Gagnon family the day before yesterday, and the Lawson family today?" Lucas dismantled his father face to face.

This time, without waiting for Master Hogan to speak, Piper laughed first: "You have a bad temper, I really like it hahaha! After eating, let's chat alone! I think we will have a lot of the same hobbies."

"Just say it here. You treat them as air." Lucas's entertainment only lasted until the end of the dinner.

It was impossible for Lucas to spend any more time to please this young lady.

“Okay! You should be at home during the winter vacation, right? Let’s exchange contact information, and we can go out often in the future.” Piper said, taking out his mobile phone.

“Ahem!” Seeing that Lucas seemed indifferent, Master Hogan immediately coughed and reminded him.

After Lucas raised his eyes and stared at his father, he took Piper’s mobile phone and entered his number.

“Shall we chat in Whatsapp?” After saving his number, Piper continued to ask.

“I don’t have Whatsapp.” Lucas said without thinking.

“Huh?” Piper looked at his profile in surprise.

“Won’t you register one now? You can register if you have a mobile phone number.” Master Hogan quickly got angry, “If you don’t know how, let Piper register for you.”

Lucas: “You are so anxious, come and talk to her.”

Master Hogan: “...”

Piper: “Hahaha, it’s okay if you don’t. If I’m looking for you, it’s the same to call and send you a message.”

Piper’s laughter made Master Hogan hold back the anger in his heart.

“Piper, you have such a good temper.” Master Hogan boasted, “He’s like a wild horse that has run wild. I can’t do anything about him. I beat him and scolded him, but he’s not afraid at all. Maybe he is currently in a rebellious period! I hope you can forgive me a lot and don’t care about him like him.”

“Uncle, you shouldn’t beat him. He beat Austin, and it was Austin who wanted to beat him. You punished him because you were afraid of offending the Gagnon family. It’s no wonder he gave you a good face.” Piper said, “I’ll come here Just wanted to chat with him, you don't have to interrupt all the time."

Master Hogan: "..."

After a while, Master Hogan gave his wife, son and daughter a wink, told them to leave the table, and left Piper and Lucas alone.

After they left, only Lucas and Piper were left in the dining room.

"I'm full." Lucas immediately put down the bowl and chopsticks after his father left.

Piper: "Are you not interested in me? You haven't even looked at me."

Lucas: "I'm not interested in girls. But thank you for letting me be free."

Piper: "Haha! Then can I ask you out to play in the future?"

Lucas: "Yes."

Piper made an appointment with him, but whether Lucas would go or not was another matter.

He was not stupid enough to anger the distinguished guests at Hogan's house.

Otherwise, when Piper left, his father might have to beat him up again.

Chapter 2534

An hour later, Lucas sent Piper out.

After Piper got into the car, the silver luxury car drove away quickly.

Lucas walked back to the auxiliary building in a few steps.

Seeing Siena standing blankly in the yard, the expression on Lucas's face froze.

The snow was not heavy, but there was a layer of snow on Siena's head and shoulders.

"What are you doing!" Lucas reached out and patted the snow off her head,

"Isn't it cold outside?"

Siena came back to her senses: "Young Master, I saw Miss Lawson. She is so beautiful."

“You stayed outside all the time just to see her?” Lucas dragged Siena back into the room.

“It’s not exactly like that... You’re eating at the main building tonight, and I don’t have to cook dinner, I’m bored!” Siena’s face and nose were flushed from the cold.

After entering the room and turning on the heater, her skin became red and itchy.

“You are really stupid.” Lucas looked at her useless appearance, couldn’t help but cursed, and regretted it after cursing, “If you catch a cold, who will serve me?”

Siena immediately grinned: “I wear so much, I won’t catch a cold. Although it’s snowing outside, it’s not windy. It’s cold when it’s windy! If it’s windy, I won’t watch the fun outside.”

“The gate of the main building is closed tightly, what’s the excitement you see?”

Lucas teased, “Do you want to save more money?”

Siena nodded without thinking, “Young Master, what can I do?”

“You can live here from now on! Isn’t Mrs. Cooper also a live-in nanny? This can save rent and living expenses.” Lucas explained, afraid that Siena might misunderstand, “I want to eat supper at night, so I can ask you to cook it.”

“Oh!” Siena hesitated.

It’s not that she couldn’t be a live-in nanny, but her situation was a bit troublesome.

“What are you hesitating for? You don’t want to?” Lucas didn’t expect Siena to hesitate.

After struggling for a while, Siena explained: “Young Master, it’s not good for me to live here. I’m afraid your father will misunderstand. I don’t want to make another mistake and trouble you. If you want to eat late at night, I can stay upto late night and later go back.”

“My dad said that kind of ugly thing to you?” Although Lucas was asking, he already had a certain result in his heart.

“Young Master, the main reason is that we are about the same age, and I was too careless before, so it’s normal for them to misunderstand. It’s better for me to live in my own rented house.” Siena said, smiling at Lucas, “If you want to eat supper, tell me anytime. “

“I ate too much tonight, so I won’t eat supper.” Lucas sat down on the sofa and looked at her, “Have you studied hard these few days?”

Siena: “I have it!”

Lucas: “So have you been looking for a job these days?”

“I took the manual job. It was introduced to me by my mother-in-law who had a good relationship with my mother-in-law before. It’s just that I don’t earn much.”

Siena said truthfully, “Young Master, thank you for letting me come back to work. You are my benefactor, I will.....”

“When you stay with me, the more I feel of my dog.” Lucas didn’t want to hear her thank you, so he interrupted her, “Every time you come, I fell that my dog is waiting for me wagging his tail. He is with me all the time.”

Siena: “Young Master, I know the feeling you said. I depended on my mother-inlaw for life, and now my mother-in-law is gone, I go home every day, and I am alone. Sometimes I feel really lonely. There is no one to talk to me, so I like talking to you.”

Lucas: “So I treat you well, you don’t have to think too much.”

“Okay! Young master.” A bright smile rose from the corner of Siena’s mouth, “I really appreciate you being so kind to me. Whether it’s because I’m like your dog or for other reasons.”

“It’s late, go back and rest! Come early tomorrow.” Lucas was a little tired.

Siena immediately put her schoolbag on her back, picked up the garbage bag, and left the auxiliary building.

Chapter 2535

As soon as Siena left, Master Hogan came.

When Lucas saw his father, his temples twitched violently.

“Lucas, I heard what you said to Siena just now. I am narrow-minded.” Master Hogan said, “Your stepmother poisoned your dog, so you transferred your affection for the dog to Siena. Don’t worry, I won’t drive her away again.”

“What about the tutor?” Lucas asked.

Master Hogan: “I can invite the tutor again. But you and Piper need to have a good relationship. Piper likes you very much. If you can be with her...”

“She just wants to play with me, and won’t marry me. I thought you could understand.” Lucas sneered, “If you want to climb others, others think the same way.”

“Hehe! It doesn’t matter! If you have a good relationship with her now, others will not dare to bully you. I don’t have to humbly apologize for the sake of the Gagnon family.” Master Hogan stared at his son’s face, and continued, “You can’t study, I don’t want to force you. But if you can make good use of your advantages, you will definitely be able to find a wife with good conditions in the future.”

Lucas: “My advantage?”

“It’s your face. Otherwise, why do you think Piper has taken a fancy to you?”

Master Hogan felt that Lucas was going to get angry again, so after finishing speaking, he immediately changed the subject, “Your second elder brother will be back in two days. I picked him up later. If you don’t get along with your first elder brother and younger sister, you can have a good chat with your second elder brother then. He has a good personality.”

...

Aryadelle.

Eric's last concert would be held in the largest stadium in Avonsville.

Tammy dragged her family to Foster's house at noon.

“Avery, look at my new coat, does it look good?” Tammy said, turning around in front of Avery.

“It looks good! You look good in anything you wear.” Avery boasted, “Are you and Kara wearing mother-child outfits?”

“That's right! I wanted to buy one for Jun, but he refused to wear it. Hmph!”

Tammy said, taking off Jun's fur coat.

“Avery, tell me, how can a man wear fur? If I wear it like this, I will be so eye-catching! I don't want to be watched.” Jun defended himself.

“I didn't force you to wear it, and you're wronged. Eric just wears fur, he looks good!” After Tammy said this, Layla came down from the stairs.

“Auntie Tammy, what Eric is wearing is imitation animal fur, not real fur.” Layla explained to Eric.

“Hahaha! I didn't even pay attention! I only saw him wearing furs, so I wanted to buy one for your uncle Jun, but unfortunately he refused to wear it.” Tammy said, and asked, “Layla, what are you wearing today?”

“Just wear this skirt and add a coat over it.” Layla was wearing a long white dress. Although it was a long-sleeved dress but it was still too cool.

Elliot looked at Layla and asked, “It's minus five degrees outside today, aren't you afraid of freezing?”

“I don't stay outside for a long time. It won't be cold.” Layla insisted on wearing a skirt.

Avery teased Elliot: "When you were young, you never wore long johns in winter. What can you say about your daughter?"

Elliot: "Honey, save me some face."

Avery: "Okay. Thank you for accompanying us to the concert today."

Elliot glanced at his watch: "Can we leave now?"

Avery: "If it's past now, you can just enter the venue when you arrive at the scene."

Elliot was about to say, 'Then leave later', Layla took the lead and said, "Let's set off!"

Chapter 2536

At four o'clock in the afternoon, the concert began.

The stadium, which could accommodate 20,000 people, was full of seats, and red support lights were flashing on the scene.

The brokerage company did not publicize that this was the last concert of Eric's acting career, but a small number of people still got the news in advance.

After Eric sang the first song on the stage, there was an ear-splitting exclamation from the audience.

Elliot, who was sitting in the front row, felt his eardrums vibrating.

He fidgeted and glanced at his wife and children.

Knowing that he was afraid of noise, Avery immediately took out the noisecanceling headphones from his bag and plugged them in for him.

"Honey, you're so kind." Elliot's world suddenly became much cleaner.

Avery said helplessly: "I would have brought you here if I knew it earlier."

Elliot: "Honey, the volume is very good now. I can hear a little, but it's not too loud."

"You are definitely number one person who wears noise-cancelling headphones to listen to the concert." Avery couldn't help but laugh.

“In addition to wanting to accompany you and my daughter, I also came out of curiosity. You said this is Eric’s last concert. If you don’t come today, you won’t be able to see it again.” Elliot said.

“There are replays of his concerts on the Internet. He has held many concerts.” Avery had watched many replays on the Internet, and also went to watch a few live.

Leaving aside the fact that they were friends, even if they didn’t know each other in real life, Avery still liked Eric very much.

Because Eric was a high-quality and capable idol.

Avery: “I’m not chasing stars, I’m just curious.”

Two hours passed in the blink of an eye.

When Eric sang the last song, he changed into a white suit and dress. Under the spotlight, his whole body exuded a holy halo. “I’m very glad that you all came to my concert. Today, I want to announce two things to you. After these two things are announced, I will sing the last song.

This song is called B.”

He said this sentence. After finishing speaking, there was an earth-shattering exclamation from the audience.

Elliot wore noise-canceling headphones, but he was still startled.

When Eric released this song before, he told his fans that if one day he decided to quit the circle, he would use this song as the last song of the concert.

So when he said this sentence just now, he actually told the fans in the audience that he decided to quit the circle.

Eric raised his hand to signal the audience to be quiet.

The screams gradually diminished, and bursts of crying could be heard in the ear.

“I thought about it for a long time, and finally made such a decision. Thank you for accompanying me until now. In the future, I will still be your friend. It's just that we get along in another way, okay?" With a calm and gentle smile, Eric said with a smile on his face.

When he said this, the audience cried even louder!

Elliot took off the noise-canceling headphones and looked behind.

Most of the people who came to Eric's concert were women. Women of all ages.

In addition, there were many men.

Many of them came with their female companions.

"In addition to quitting the entertainment industry, there is one more thing I want to tell you. Because this is what I promised you." Eric announced with a faint smile, "I said that if I find The other half will never hide it. Now I want to tell you that I have found a suitable partner. She is not an insider, so I will not release her details."

There was an uproar in the audience!

Including Layla who sat in the front row.

Eric found a girlfriend?

The last time they met, Layla asked him, but he said he couldn't find a partner.

As a result, he found a partner in just a few days after Layla confessed to him?!

Chapter 2537

"We have known each other for many years. These years, I have been busy with work, and she is also busy with her career.. ... By the way, I can tell you that she is a doctor." Having said this, Eric turned sideways and gestured to the staff.

Suddenly, the prelude to B sounded slowly.

Avery looked at his daughter anxiously.

Layla was completely dumbfounded. She frowned and looked at the stage with a puzzled expression.

“Honey, who is Eric's girlfriend?” Elliot had never heard that Eric had found a partner.

Avery: “I don't know! He didn't tell me.”

Elliot: “Oh... Layla, what's wrong with you?”

Elliot found that Layla's expression was not right.

“Don't ask.” After Avery replied to Elliot, she immediately held her daughter's hand and said, “Layla, why don't we go back!”

Layla was very confused, but she knew the environment she was in.

Not only parents were there, but so many elders were also there.

If she lose her composure too much, not only will she lose face, but she will also lose face to her parents.

“Mom, I'm fine. There's only one last song left, listen to it before leaving.” Layla lowered her head, opened her bag, and found her thermos inside.

Avery looked up at the stage.

Eric closed his eyes, held the mic in both hands, and performed the last song of his acting career attentively.

Time passed quickly, and soon the song ended. Eric opened his eyes, took a deep look at the audience, and bowed to all the fans.

“Let's go!” Avery knew that her daughter was feeling uncomfortable, so she stood up from her seat first.

Elliot immediately stood up.

“Mom, isn't there a dinner party? Let's go to the dinner party to see his girlfriend!” Layla had already adjusted her mood, at least she could maintain her superficial calm.

“I don't know if his girlfriend came to the scene.” Avery couldn't imagine who Eric's girlfriend would be.

"It's okay if you didn't come to the scene! He must have photos on his phone!"

Layla said, pulling her mother to the backstage of the stage.

Tammy and the others followed behind.

Before today, they had never heard of Eric having a relationship.

Eric had been in the entertainment industry for so many years, and he had never tied up with any female celebrity, but there were many female celebrities who liked to rub his popularity.

Anyone who was familiar with Eric knew that he had always been obsessed with work, and had no idea or time to find a girlfriend at all.

After arriving backstage, Layla walked directly towards Eric.

Avery wanted to pull Layla, but she didn't.

"Who is your girlfriend? Didn't you look for it a few days ago? Didn't you say that you are very busy with rehearsals every day? You are so amazing that you can find a girlfriend when you are so busy!" Layla said. She was not a three-year-old anymore. Eric's behavior was really bullying.

If Layla hadn't confessed to Eric before, Eric certainly wouldn't have found a girlfriend in such a hurry to make Layla give up.

What was it called? This was called trying to cover up.

Eric had already rejected Layla, so there was no need to do it again.

"I've known her for many years. We had a blind date before." Eric looked at Layla's flushed face, and his tone was as usual, very gentle, "Your mother may still remember her. She was the one I used to have in B. We know each other from Aryadelle."

When Eric said this, he looked from the backstage entrance.

Eric's girlfriend was coming.

Tonight Eric officially announced his relationship, how could his girlfriend not come to the scene?

She sat in the second row with Eric's parents tonight.

"Hi everyone, I'm Eric's girlfriend, and my name is Maggie Emond." Maggie walked quickly to Eric, glanced at everyone, and finally stopped on Avery, "Miss Tate, I don't know if you still remember me."

Avery raised the corner of her mouth and nodded: "Of course I remember. It's just that I never heard of you from Eric. I didn't expect you to have confirmed the relationship. Bless you!"

Chapter 2538

"Thank you." Eric said, "There will be a dinner later, if you don't mind, you can go and eat."

Avery glanced at Layla.

Layla turned and left without saying a word.

Avery and Elliot immediately followed.

"What's going on?" Ben murmured, "Eric, did you have a problem with Layla?"

Eric said with an apologetic expression, "Sorry."

"She was fine when she came, and she also knew you. It was a farewell concert, and suddenly turned against you because you found a girlfriend?" Ben was so smart that he guessed the reason right away.

"Mr. Schaffer, I don't want to make her angry, but I can't help it." Eric said helplessly.

"I understand! Go celebrate!" Ben left the backstage immediately after clarifying the problem.

After returning home, Layla locked herself in the room.

Elliot looked at the table full of dishes and had no appetite: "Avery, what did my daughter call you to the room last time, what did she say? Are you two hiding something from me? Eric looking for a girlfriend, but my daughter looks broken in love, what is she doing?"

Avery felt that Eric had settled his relationship now, and even if Layla was sad, she would never be obsessed with Eric in the future.

"My daughter has always liked Eric, so don't ask questions knowingly." Avery was afraid that Elliot would get angry, so she immediately took the responsibility, "It's all our fault, we can't blame our daughter."

Elliot's face was covered with frost. He put down his chopsticks and completely lost his appetite.

"When Layla needed our company and care the most when she was a child, the two of us were always arguing, or we were busy with our own affairs and didn't have much time to spend with the children. You knew it yourself. You helped us take care of Layla before Eric. Take it for a week, or take it for a winter and summer vacation."

Elliot: "That's because you don't give me the child. If you give the child to me to raise, I will never let Eric take care of the child. I will hire the most professional nanny."

Avery: "What's the point of saying this now? Layla already had her own consciousness at that time, and it wasn't a question of whether I should give her to you."

The two broke out in the most severe quarrel in the past ten years.

"Layla came back to me later, so I didn't let her date Eric. At that time, my daughter didn't cry and insisted on staying with Eric." Elliot insisted on his own opinion.

Avery: "Even if you're right, it's already like this. Elliot, don't blame your daughter.”

“She’s sad enough now, what should I blame her for?” Elliot was heartbroken, “Didn’t Layla be fine before? Why suddenly...”

“The two of them met last time. After my daughter met him, she found that she still likes him. She said that she likes a man who is more mature. Like Eric, he is handsome, has a good figure and is attractive...”

“But he’s already forty!” Elliot took a deep breath, picked up his water glass, and drank, “Avery, you won’t support her, will you?”

“It doesn’t matter whether I support her or not. Eric has already made his choice. He rejected Layla.” Avery now only worries about how to comfort her daughter so that she can come out sooner.

“This dmn batard! It’s a pity that he quit the circle, otherwise I would have banned him! He actually made my daughter sad!” Elliot clenched his fists and gritted his teeth. Avery felt that Elliot was somewhat unreasonable.

“Elliot, Eric may not dislike Layla. But Eric refused so simply, have you ever thought it was because of us?” Avery said, “Do you want Eric to agree to Layla’s confession?”

“Of course not! If he dares to do this, I will never spare him!” After a pause, he recalled, “What did you say? Layla confessed to Eric?!”

Chapter 2539

Avery couldn’t bear to nod when she saw how irritated Elliot was.

“It happened the day Layla called you to the room?” Elliot thought quickly.

“Well. Elliot, Layla didn’t dare to tell you because she was afraid that you would get angry, so you know what to do, right?” Avery reminded.

Elliot breathed heavily and was very angry: “What should I do? Avery, teach me.”

Avery had a little headache: "Just pretend you don't know anything, okay? Don't bother Eric, and don't go either. Comfort Layla. She feels uncomfortable. She is most afraid of letting you know about it."

"Am I so scary?" Elliot could hardly pretend not to know.

Layla refused to eat because of this incident, and Elliot might suffer from insomnia tonight.

"You are not scary, you are very scary. You see, Layla and Eric are impossible, but you are so excited." Avery picked up her chopsticks and stuffed them into her hands, "Eat. After dinner, I will persuade my daughter. Don't say anything, don't do anything. If you feel overwhelmed, go talk to someone."

"Who should I talk to? How can I talk to others about this kind of thing?" Elliot put down his chopsticks again.

"If you don't eat, I won't either." Avery also put down her chopsticks, "Our family is hungry together."

It's okay for Elliot to be hungry, but he can't starve his wife.

"After dinner, I have to talk to my daughter." Elliot picked up the chopsticks and picked up a piece of meat for Avery, "Don't worry, I won't blame my daughter."

"You will definitely speak ill of Eric. The more you talk, the more Layla thinks Eric is better. Elliot, I hope you won't be stupid in this matter." Avery put the meat in her mouth, "If you don't say anything, maybe my daughter will figure it out in a few days."

Elliot: "..."

.....

Thopiavelle.

Because the new year was approaching, Cyrus Hogan, the second young master of the Hogan family, had returned from abroad.

Cyrus Hogan was twenty-two years old this year and he would soon graduate from university.

He was picked up by Mr. Hogan when he was six years old. Mrs. Hogan had a big fight with Mr. Hogan because of this incident.

Fortunately, Cyrus Hogan was young at the time and was very obedient, so Mrs. Hogan was basically not angry with the child except for the illegitimate child. After Cyrus Hogan came back, Master Hogan led him to meet Lucas in the auxiliary building.

“Lucas, this is your second elder brother, Cyrus Hogan.” Master Hogan introduced the two brothers, “Cyrus, this is your younger brother Lucas. I just brought him back not long ago. You can spend more time during your vacation. Come and chat with him.”

“Okay! Father.” Cyrus Hogan nodded in agreement.

Master Hogan left after the introduction.

Cyrus’s eyes quickly fell on Siena.

Cyrus: “Siena, why are you here?”

“Second young master, I am the nanny of third Young Master Hogan now.”

Siena replied with a smile, “Madam gave me double salary!”

Cyrus nodded: “Working here will not affect your studies?”

Just as Siena was about to answer, Lucas suddenly stood up from the sofa:

“You two have such a good relationship? How about I make room for you two to chat alone?”

Chapter 2540

The smile on Siena’s face suddenly disappeared.

Siena: “Young Master, I’m done chatting with Second Young Master.”

She didn’t know Cyrus very well.

Because Cyrus had been studying abroad, he came back every year during the winter and summer vacations. After college, he came back every year during the New Year.

Before Lucas returned to Hogan's house, only Cyrus took the initiative to talk to Siena.

Siena used to stay only in the back kitchen, but it was Cyrus who took the initiative to enter the back kitchen to talk to her.

"Siena, are you so afraid of him?" Cyrus sat down on the sofa, "Is he treating you badly? I can tell my father..."

"Second young master, don't say that. Young Master is very kind to me." Siena finally felt the power of the word 'stowing dissension' in reality.

Lucas had a bad temper, basically the kind that caught fire at any point.

Siena didn't want to let herself be the spark of their brothers' quarrel.

"Really." Cyrus looked skeptically at Lucas, "I heard that you had a bad relationship with your stepmother and beat the second young master of the Gagnon family. If it wasn't for the daughter of the Lawson family who took a fancy to you, I'm afraid you wouldn't have free."

Lucas: "No matter what I do, I'm better than a coward like you."

Cyrus: "???"

"I heard that you were taken back to Hogan's house when you were six years old, and you were often looked down upon by your stepmother. And abuse, right?" Lucas said bluntly, "I fled abroad after graduating from junior high school, if you have the ability, you won't be able to escape far, is it?"

Cyrus: "... You asked me a lot."

"Isn't this something everyone knows?" Lucas continued to mock, "Go to your main building and be a man with your tail between your legs! Don't bother me here."

Cyrus: "Father gave you the auxiliary building? If I want to come here, I will come here."

Siena didn't expect that the two brothers would quarrel when they met.

Those who didn't know thought that the two of them had some personal enmity before.

"Second young master, you just came back, why don't you go to rest first! I'm going to cook." Siena was afraid to cook by herself, and the two of them quarreled even more fiercely.

"I haven't eaten your cooking yet! I'm very hungry now, I'll eat here before going to rest." Cyrus said cheekily.

"Oh...the rice I cook is not good." Siena came up with this reason.

"It's okay! My brother can eat it, and so can I." Cyrus said calmly.

"I don't welcome you!" Lucas wanted Cyrus to disappear from sight quickly.

"Dad asked me to talk to you more. You dare to disobey Dad, but I don't dare."

Cyrus was happy when he saw his younger brother blowing his hair.

Siena wanted to say something to ease the atmosphere, but she found that she couldn't get in the way at all.

She was just a servant, she spoke lightly, and neither of the two young masters would listen to her.

She silently went to the kitchen and cooked.

"I heard that you were expelled from the previous high school, and you are going to take the big exam in a few months. How did your father arrange it for you?" Cyrus asked, "I got into the universities abroad by myself. Wouldn't you even be able to pass the college entrance examination?"

Because Lucas said that he had fled the country, he felt very upset, and deliberately used Lucas's academic performance as an issue.

Although Cyrus had his tail between his legs and couldn't speak at Hogan's house, Cyrus did well in his studies.

“Don’t dare to quarrel with the stepmother’s family, so you come here to find a sense of presence?” Lucas looked at Cyrus with disdain, “You don’t want to move here, do you?”

Cyrus: “...”

“When the time comes, I’ll ask someone to get a plaque to hang on the gate of the auxiliary building, and it will just say – Home of Ba*tards.” While scolding Cyrus, Lucas put himself also scolded.

When it hurt others, it didn’t even spare itself.

Cyrus thought he was not as open-minded as he was, so he didn’t answer for a while.

After a while, lunch was ready.

Siena brought the lunch to the dining table, and before she could open her mouth to call for dinner, the two young masters came over one after the other.

Chapter 2541

“Who asked you to be his part?” Lucas glanced at the lunch and questioned Siena.

“Young Master, I made it according to the usual portion.” Siena said conscientiously.

“Bring the lunch to my room.” Lucas ordered to prevent Cyrus from eating there.

Siena didn’t dare not listen, and immediately took her lunch and walked to Lucas’s room.

Cyrus: “!!!”

That’s outrageous!

Lucas not only had a bad mouth, but also had a small mind. He probably had no brains, otherwise he would not dare to cause trouble everywhere.

Now that he didn't even give himself a meal, this beam was completely settled!

Cyrus walked away in a huff.

After hearing the sound of the door opening and closing, Siena opened the door of Lucas's room.

"Young Master, the second young master is left. Let's go to the dining room to eat! Otherwise, your room will smell like vegetables later." Siena said, before Lucas could reply, she brought the food to the dining room.

The two brothers quarreled, and it was Siena who was caught in the middle.

"Don't talk to him in the future." Lucas said to Siena, "I hate him."

Siena was very embarrassed but she felt that Cyrus was not a bad person.

It's just that the two brothers wanted to save face, and both were angry with their stepmother, so the rookies pecked at each other?

"I'm talking to you, did you hear me?" Seeing her distracted, Lucas raised his voice a few degrees.

"Young Master, I heard you. I just don't think you need to affect your mood because of him. Although he is your second elder brother, you don't actually have any intersection with him." Siena persuaded.

"Do you believe that he will continue to come to my place tomorrow? Lock the door from now on, and he knocks on the door, and he is not allowed to open it."

Lucas didn't want to see anyone in the Hogan family, and even planned not to go to the New Year's Eve dinner during the New Year.

Siena nodded, and asked: "Young Master, after the New Year, are you going to school?"

"We'll talk about it later." Lucas didn't want to think about this question for the time being.

"Then we've agreed!" Seeing that he didn't refuse, Siena assumed that he agreed.

.....

In the blink of an eye, it's the Spring Festival.

On the day of family reunion, the atmosphere was particularly lively.

Except for Layla, who couldn't lift her spirits, everyone was immersed in the joy of the festival.

"Sister, have you lost weight? Your face has turned into a small melon seed!"

Robert had been back from Bridgedale for a few days, but after he came back, he was dismantling cars in the garage for fun.

Layla went to work in the company every day, and the siblings didn't see each other much.

Since Eric officially announced his girlfriend at the concert, Layla had been hit hard and her mental state had been sluggish.

Avery tried to persuade her several times, but it was of no avail.

Layla made it clear that they should leave her alone. When she thought about it for a while, it would be fine.

So Avery just needed to be optimistic about Elliot and not let him interfere in this matter.

Elliot had been dragged by Avery to buy new year's goods outside for the past few days, and it was only today that he had time to sit down and rest.

"I've lost at least five catties." When Elliot said this, his heart ached.

"Sister, what's wrong with you?" Robert looked at Layla worriedly, "Although I don't like you taking care of me, I still love you very much. If you have any concerns or wishes, just tell me and I will satisfy you!"

Layla glared at Robert: "I need a boyfriend, can you satisfy me?"

Robert immediately shook his head: "You should find brother Hayden for this matter! My brother is surrounded by men!"

Chapter 2542

Robert went to Bridgedale this time, Hayden took him around and introduced him to people around him by the way.

"The men next to my brother don't look very old, and there are a few handsome ones." Robert tried hard to say, "Sister, if you ask my brother to show you their photos, maybe you will like them?"

It was impossible for Layla to spoil the family's happiness today, so she looked at Hayden: "Brother, do you hate women so much? You don't have to hire all men, do you?"

"Listen to his nonsense." Hayden defended himself, otherwise the misunderstanding would be serious. Mom and Dad should be anxious, so he added, "I don't care about recruiting people."

"That's because there is a problem with your personnel. You are specially recruiting men for you. What is your intention?" Layla pointed out the root of the problem.

"My personnel manager is a woman." Hayden proved, "Don't listen to Robert's one-sided words."

Layla immediately looked at Robert: "Robert, you seem to have lost weight too! You repair the car?"

Robert reached out and touched his own Face: "...Maybe! But I'm definitely not as thin as you."

"Because work is more tiring." Layla put a piece of ribs in her mouth, "After the year is over, I will be fat. Don't worry about me."

"Okay! Sister, did you prepare a red envelope for me? Brother gave me a red envelope this morning." Robert reminded.

Layla spat out the bones and looked at Hayden: "Brother, you gave Robert a red envelope, but not me? You can't be partial!"

"You will come to my room later." After Hayden finished speaking, he continued to eat.

Elliot glanced at Avery.

Avery immediately looked back at him and told him not to say anything.

After the reunion dinner, Layla followed Hayden to the room.

"Brother, I don't actually want a red envelope." Layla explained, "I've already worked, and I have a lot of money now."

Hayden closed the door, walked to the window, and glanced at the scenery outside.

Hayden: "I didn't call you here to give you a red envelope."

"Eh?" Layla walked up to Hayden and looked up at him, "You don't want to educate me, do you? No... I'm already this old, I know everything."

"Then you still have a straight face for Eric? Do you know how old Eric is now? You want to marry him, are you out of your mind?" Hayden was not polite.

Criticized, "We usually treat you too well, so you can't figure it out?"

"Brother, today is New Year, why don't you scold me after the New Year is over?" Layla's nose was sour, a little sad.

"I'm leaving after the New Year, so I don't have time to scold you." Hayden looked at Layla seriously, "You are already 24 years old, and you will be 25 soon, Eric will soon be your father."

"Where is it as exaggerated as you said? Eric is not that old. You don't agree with us being together. If it's just because of the age gap, then you can't convince me. The age gap between parents is not small."

"So the two of them were unhappy when they were young." Hayden put his hands in his pockets, "Have you forgotten?"

"I know that the two of them often quarreled when they were young, but I think...
.Is it okay? Look how much they love each other later! As long as the result is good, it doesn't matter if there are some twists and turns in the process." Layla expressed her opinion.

"It seems that you really live too comfortably, so you want to find comfort."

Hayden hated that iron can't be made into steel.

Layla: "Brother, put aside the age gap, don't you like Eric? He treats us very well."

Hayden: "In my subconscious mind, he is our elder. Even if I think he is a good person, I can't let you marry him."

"Why are you so overbearing? I am not a child anymore, I want to marry Marry whoever..." Layla sat down on Hayden's bed, aggrieved.

"Then don't cry to us if you are wronged in the future." Hayden said indifferently.

Layla: "Even if I find someone of the same age, won't I be wronged?"

Hayden: "If you find someone of the same age, I can beat him up."

Chapter 2543

"Even if I am with Eric, if he bullies me, you can beat him!" Layla raised her head and glanced at Hayden, "Brother, what's the use of talking about it now! Eric already has a girlfriend."

"You're still crying. You're useless." Hayden saw Layla's eyes were red, and unconsciously clenched his fists.

"Brother, I'm just a little sad. I didn't dislike him for being old, but he rejected me..." Layla said, walked up to Hayden in two steps, and hugged him, "You protect me too much Well, I used to get what I wanted, everyone followed me, and no one ever rejected me, so this time...I think God thinks I should bear some setbacks...”

Hearing Layla’s crying, Hayden’s heart suddenly softened.

Hayden: “Layla, you will find someone who will make you happy.”

“Brother, before he rejected me, every time I saw him and sent a message to him, I was very happy. The happiness of relatives and friends, I thought it was love.” Layla wiped her tears on Hayden’s shirt, sniffed her nose, and continued, “Forget it, let’s not talk about him. I guess he will get married soon.”

“Do you want me to help you?” Hayden saw that Layla was really sad, so he wanted to do something to make her happy.

Layla raised her head and looked at Hayden: “Brother, how can you help me? You go to Eric and ask him to break up?”

“What are you thinking!” A few black lines flashed across Hayden’s head, “I can help you to find a suitable person.”

Layla: “Brother, are you serious? Have I fallen to the point where I need to find a marriage?”

Hayden: “Do you have a suitable boy around you?”

Layla shook her head violently.

There were many handsome boys around her, but she was not interested in them.

“Since you haven’t, and you want to fall in love, you can only ask for marriage.”

Hayden was worried about Layla, “Think about it. After thinking about it, tell me.”

“Yeah! Brother, although you scolded me just now and hurt me, but I know you love me.” Layla took a deep breath and quickly adjusted her emotions, “I will think about it carefully.”

.....

Thopiavelle.

Auxiliary building.

Today Master Hogan came over in person and asked Lucas to go to the main building to have dinner together, but Lucas refused.

Lucas did not directly refuse, but said that he was sick and did not want to pass the disease on to everyone.

This's what Siena helped him think of.

Master Hogan knew that he was pretending to be sick, but he didn't force it.

Except for Master Hogan, the rest of the family didn't want to eat with Lucas.

"Young Master, let's eat hot pot today." After Siena finished the lunch, she called Lucas to eat.

Lucas glanced at the lunch and found that he didn't have much appetite.

He had been eating greasy food those days.

"Young Master, let's eat and go out to play!" After Siena suggested, she immediately explained, "Your father asked me to take you out to get some air.

He said that you are bored at home every day, which is not good for your health."

"Can he have so kind? Did he see that I didn't go out on a date with the daughter of the Lawson family, so he was anxious?" Lucas teased.

"Then do you want to go out to play?" Siena said, and took out a red envelope from her pocket, "This is from your father. It's $500!"

Lucas did not refuse.

After lunch, the two walked out of the auxiliary building.

"Young Master, it will be my birthday in just over a month. Can you celebrate my birthday with me then?" Siena couldn't help but feel excited when she thought of her upcoming birthday.

At that time, Siena could take off the ugly scar on her face and wanted to show Lucas her true face.

She didn't think about Lucas's reaction when he saw her real face, she just didn't want to live with such low self-esteem anymore.

Siena would be 18 soon, and other girls loved beauty, and she also loved beauty, but she was different from other girls, because of the scar on her face, she couldn't love beauty at all.

No matter what she did, she was an ugly monster in the eyes of others.

After turning 18, she would start a new life.

Normal people would never imagine that at this age, her biggest dream was to live like an ordinary person. She didn't have to endure other people's cold eyes and criticism from time to time.

Lucas looked at Siena's face, and after a few seconds of silence, nodded:

"Siena, what do you want for your birthday?"

Siena shook her head: "Young Master, I asked you to accompany me on my birthday, not to ask you for a birthday gift. I just want to tell you a secret."

Lucas: "Is it the secret you told me last time?"

Siena nodded quickly: "Yes. I want to be the first to tell you. Because..."

At this point, she froze. She could no longer say 'because you are my friend, the only friend' like before.

"Because no one is willing to celebrate my birthday with me except you." Siena changed her mind and smiled at Lucas, "Young Master, actually even if I don't say that, it will probably be you who will accompany me to celebrate my birthday. Because the two of us are together every day."

That won't change, at least until they each go off to college.

"What secret can you have?" Lucas was thinking about this question, "It's so mysterious.”

“It’s actually not a big deal...I just want to share it with you. Maybe after you know my secret, you don’t think it’s a big deal...Young master, you ate very little at noon today. It’s not that the dishes I cook are not to your liking?” Siena changed the subject.

“Recently, I have been eating a lot of fish and meat, and I am very tired of eating. It has nothing to do with your cooking skills.” Lucas explained.

“Let’s have a lighter meal that night! Young master, tell me directly what you have in the future. If you don’t tell me, I don’t know what you are thinking. If you want to eat vegetables, you can let me do it! I thought You like meat!”

“I think you should eat more meat.” Lucas spoke to her.

They both ate together in the annex.

From the first time Lucas asked her to eat together, they all ate together after that.

After Lucas made it clear, Siena was stunned for a moment, and soon there were tears in her eyes.

“I don’t want to hear your long talk, don’t say thank you to me.” Lucas blocked her words before she could speak.

“Young Master, hasn’t Miss Piper asked you out all this time? They’re all discussing this issue.” Siena took a deep breath and changed the subject again.

Lucas: “Who’s talking?”

“People in the Hogan family should be discussing it! Miss Piper came to the house last time and liked you so much, why didn’t there be any news after that?” Siena also felt very strange.

Siena didn’t see Lucas answering the phone at all.

It’s no exaggeration to say that Lucas played games almost every day.

Seeing that Siena was so curious, Lucas took out the phone and showed it to her.

She took his cell phone and glanced at it.

Piper Lawson called him several times, but he didn't answer. She also sent him many messages, but he didn't reply to any of them.

"Young Master, it turns out that you not only didn't reply to my messages, but you also didn't reply to Miss Piper's messages." Siena said with a clear mind.

Lucas took back his mobile phone: "I don't reply to your message because I don't know how to reply! I don't reply to her message because I don't want to talk to her. Could it be the same?"

After hearing Lucas's explanation, Siena felt a subtle sense of joy in her heart.

The two took the bus to the city.

There were not many people in the urban area today, and many businesses had closed their doors and went home to reunite with their relatives. But there were also some shops that were open.

"What birthday present do you want? I'll buy it for you today." Lucas said, "If you refuse, there will be no birthday present."

Chapter 2545

Siena knew that Lucas said what he said, so she accepted it with a smile.

"I don't know what I want. Let's go shopping!" Siena pulled Lucas towards the pedestrian street.

There were a little more people on the pedestrian street.

In order to avoid unnecessary troubles, Siena wore a mask when she went out today, only revealing a pair of bright and big eyes outside.

Lucas looked at her smiling eyes several times and lost his mind.

If she hadn't been disfigured, she might have been adopted, and she would never have lived such a miserable life.

Soon, Siena dragged Lucas into a jewelry store.

“Young Master, I want a hair tie as a birthday present.” Siena discussed with Lucas.

“What is a hair tie?” Lucas didn’t know anything about girls’ supplies.

“It’s just for tying my hair.” Siena casually picked up a hair tie and showed him,

“My hair tie is a little loose, and my hair can’t even be tied tightly. Young master, please give me a hair tie!”

Lucas didn’t expect that Siena only wanted such a cheap gift.

Lucas: “You pick whatever you want. Pick a few more.”

“Oh... just one is enough for me. One can be used for a long time.” Siena began to choose hair ties.

Lucas took a look at all the products in the store at night. There were not only hair ties, but also many other small accessories.

Lucas didn’t know what these gadgets were for, so he frowned.

He picked up a hair tie casually and looked at the price.

It’s very cheap. The price was $2.

Even if Lucas was not the young master of the Hogan family, he still thought a gift of $10 was cheap.

But Siena’s personality definitely won’t make him spend too much money.

“Young Master, don’t you think this little rabbit is cute?” Siena picked up a hairband decorated with little rabbits, and handed it to Lucas.

Lucas glanced at it, it was indeed very cute.

“What about that?” Lucas wanted to buy some more for her. After all, it’s all very cheap for him.

“Young Master, this one is enough for me.” Siena came over and put the hair tie back in his hand, “I still have hair tie at home! It’s just that the hair tie at home is not pretty.”

Lucas couldn’t hold back her. “Then I’ll buy a cake for you then.”

“Okay! But Young Master, it’s just the two of us, you can buy a smaller one.”

Siena said gratefully, “Young Master, when is your birthday? I will also give you a birthday present and buy a cake for you then. “ “Let’s talk about it after you pay off the debt!” Lucas went to the cash register, ready to pay the bill.

Siena followed behind him and handed the hair tie to the cashier.

After paying the bill, the two came out of the store.

Siena tried to tie the new hair tie on the ponytail. After tying it up, she showed the back of her head to Lucas.

Siena: “Master, does it look good?”

“It’s crooked.” Lucas was probably a little obsessive-compulsive, and immediately started to straighten her hair.

“Hey, is it pretty?” Siena asked again.

Lucas didn’t like to praise others, and didn’t like such direct emotional expression.

But thinking of the scar on Siena’s face, probably no one had ever praised her for being beautiful, so he said: “Pretty.”

“Young Master, what do you want? I have money today, so I can buy it for you.”

Siena took out the red envelope she received today.

Lucas: “I don’t want anything.”

“Then let’s go shopping for a while.” Siena wanted to give him a gift as a New Year’s gift.

Siena: "Master, do you need a scarf?"

Lucas: "unnecessary."

Siena: "Where are the gloves?"

Lucas: "unnecessary."

"Then do you need long johns?" Siena asked him seriously, "You don't even have long johns, why don't I give you a pair of long johns!"

Lucas: "..."

The last person who forced Lucas to wear long johns was his mother.

It's just that his mother had a new relationship, so she gave up on him, and didn't care if he wore long johns in winter.

"I don't need it." Lucas's expression changed, "Don't mention long johns to me again!"

Siena didn't expect Lucas to be angry, and immediately nodded obediently.

The two finished shopping in the pedestrian street and came to the fork in the road.

Today's weather was not bad, although the temperature was low, but there was sunshine.

Although the sun was not warm, but compared to cloudy weather, sunny weather would make people feel better.

Siena: "Young Master, are you hungry?"

Lucas: "Not hungry."

"Then let's go to the bookstore!" Siena saw that Lucas seemed to have no desires, so she planned to go to the bookstore to buy some review materials.

"Are you sure?" Lucas raised his eyebrows, "Do you think the bookstore is open today?"

"Let's go and have a look! If the door isn't open, then we'll go to the mall." Siena took his arm and dragged him forward.

Lucas didn't think she was strong before, but now she suddenly realized that she was not weak either.

At the bookstore.

Unexpectedly, many people came to visit the bookstore today.

There were couples sitting by the window and dating, and there were older children who brought their younger siblings to the bookstore to buy books.

Parents even came with their children.

"There were quite a lot of people!" Siena smiled at Lucas, "You can go and see if there are any books you want to buy. I went over there to look for review materials. We will meet here later."

Lucas looked at Siena looking for review materials, so he also wandered around the bookstore.

An hour later, Siena selected the materials to buy, and waited for Lucas at the meeting point agreed just now.

She took two copies of the materials she selected, one for herself, and the other for Lucas as a New Year's gift for him.

Although she knew that sending review materials to Lucas would probably make Lucas angry, but she didn't know what to send besides review materials.

Not long after, Lucas came over.

"Young Master, don't you buy anything?" Siena looked at Lucas with empty hands.

"I bought the book, paid the bill, and put it outside." Lucas looked away unnaturally.

"Oh... what book did you buy? Did you buy it early? I came here halfway to see if you were not there. I thought you were still picking, so I went shopping for a while.” Siena explained she didn’t mean to pick an hour.

“Go and pay the bill!” Lucas didn’t want to tell her what he bought.

Siena didn’t ask any further questions.

She carried the review materials and followed behind Lucas, walking step by step.

Lucas turned around at night, glanced at the materials in her arms: “You bought so many materials?”

“Half is for you. Each of us will share.” Siena’s eyebrows and eyes stretched.

Lucas originally wanted to help her get it, but after hearing her last words, he retracted what he hadn’t said yet.

After checking out at the cashier, Siena gave him the information given to Lucas.

“Young Master, what book did you buy? it was packed in a black bag. Why am I in a transparent bag?” Siena looked at Lucas’s black bag, wondering.

For Siena’s books, the salesperson packed the materials in transparent bags with the bookstore’s logo on them.

“Because you didn’t want you to see it, you still asked.” A blush appeared on Lucas’s handsome face.

Seeing that Lucas was shy, Siena stopped asking.

Chapter 2547

“Young Master, are you hungry? If you are hungry, we will find a place to eat.”

Siena bought a book, and now there were more than $200 left.

“It’s still early for dinner.” Lucas didn’t want to go back after eating so early,

“Have you ever been to an amusement park?”

Without even thinking about it, Siena shook her head: “That kind of place is very expensive, isn’t it? Young master, I only have more than $200.”

Lucas took her schoolbag and put all the books in it, then carried the schoolbag by himself and walked forward.

Siena had to keep up with him.

“Young Master, have you ever been to an amusement park? Isn't the amusement park fun?” Siena's curiosity and enthusiasm for the amusement park were aroused, “By the way, we are not children now, are we? Will others know? Won't let us in?”

“I've never been there.” Lucas recalled his childhood, but it was actually no better than Siena.

His mother had to go to work to earn money to support the family. Her job was a service nature. If she worked on weekends, the salary would be higher, so my mother basically worked on weekends.

When Lucas was on vacation, he was alone with only one dog to accompany himself.

“Then let's go and have a look!” Siena caught up with him, “Even if others don't let us play, it's good for us to go and have a look!”

“If you have money, you can play.” Lucas said, “The bookstores are open, and the amusement park must also be open.”

About half an hour later, the two came to the amusement park.

The amusement park was indeed open today, and there were customers, but there were not many customers.

After the two entered the amusement park, Siena was immediately attracted by the carousel not far away.

“Young Master, let's go ride the carousel! There are adults sitting too!” Siena's joy was beyond words.

Lucas followed her towards the carousel.

Carousel, $20 a time.

Lucas immediately scanned the QR code to pay the bill.

After the carousel stopped, Lucas asked Siena to go up.

Siena: "Young Master, are you not together?"

"Too naive." Lucas resolutely refused to go up with her.

"Okay! Then I'll go up!" Siena took out her mobile phone and gave it to him,

"Young Master, take some photos for me later. I've never been on a carousel, so I want to keep it as a souvenir."

Lucas: "..."

After Siena went up, the music sounded and the carousel started to spin.

Lucas pressed the power of Siena's mobile phone, prompting to enter the password.

Lucas: "....."

Lucas looked at the merry-go-round stage, Siena was sitting on a horse, holding the pole with both hands, as if she was afraid of falling, but her eyes were full of smiles.

"Young master! I'm here!" Siena was afraid that Lucas would not find her, so she reached out and waved at him.

Lucas felt that she was a bit silly, but felt very warm in her heart.

He took out his mobile phone, turned on the camera, and pressed the shooting button in Siena's direction.

Five minutes later, the carousel stopped.

Siena walked in front of Lucas with a satisfied face.

"Young Master, let's go ride the roller coaster!" Siena was actually a little afraid of riding the roller coaster, but Lucas felt that the merry-go-round was childish, so he would definitely like to ride the roller coaster.

The screams from the roller coaster project could be heard there.

Lucas: "Aren't you afraid?"

"Scared! Then you sit alone, and I will watch from the side." Siena said and smiled.

Lucas suddenly changed his face.

"Then I'll accompany you! In fact, if two of you sit together, you shouldn't be so afraid." Siena was just testing him just now.

If Lucas needed company, she's there for him.

.....

Aryadelle.

After thinking about it for a day and a night, Layla decided to follow her brother's advice—to ask for marriage.

Chapter 2548

At dinner, Hayden brought this matter up to the public.

It's a coincidence that today, relatives and friends came to Foster's house to pay New Year's greetings. Everyone gathered together and heard Hayden say that he wanted to help Layla to find a suitable person for Layla's marriage. This was undoubtedly a thunderstorm, and everyone was burnt on the outside and tender on the inside. Especially Elliot and Avery.

"Marriage?" Avery was a little puzzled. She looked at Layla, then at Hayden,

"You said Layla wanted to marry? Does she agree?"

"She's already made up her mind." Hayden said to his mother, "Layla doesn't have a suitable opposite s-e-x around her, so she can quickly recruit highquality men from all over the world for her to choose from."

The words "for her to choose" made Tammy turn into a lemon with envy.

"That's great! Avery, we need to open our minds and enlarge our structure. If we only introduce boyfriends to Layla, then the introductions will basically be people from Aryadelle. If we seek marriages from all over the world, we will definitely be able to find better men! Layla deserves to be the best man in the world!" Tammy said, getting more and more excited, "Wait for Layla to pick the rest, let's choose Kara for our family too!"

Jun: "Tammy! Our Kara is only 17 years old! What is going on in your mind?"

Tammy: "Let's be friends first and get along slowly! I don't mind our daughter getting to know more outstanding people of the opposite sex. This will also have a positive impact on motivating her to study hard."

Jun was speechless. It's certainly possible to meet more excellent people.

Kara had been loved by thousands of people since she was a child, so she perfectly inherited part of Tammy's character.

For example, she didn't like to study very much, and her personality was more arrogant and self-indulgent. She said one thing at home, and no one could teach her, otherwise she would cry a lot, and went on a hunger strike in severe cases.

Another example was that she loved beauty very much. Tammy's skills in makeup and grooming were already better than blue.

Although Kara didn't like studying, prefers beauty, and had a more unrestrained temper at home, but she's quite obedient.

Kara: "I don't want it! I don't want to study hard... I just play happily every day like this. I would rather not have a boyfriend or get married..."

Tammy: "..."

Jun raised his hand to his forehead.

Gwen smiled and said, "Layla, what is your request for marriage?"

Layla said calmly: "I haven't thought about it. My brother will help me think about it."

After the marriage announcement was sent out, the candidates would have to pass Hayden's test first, and only after passing Hayden's test could they get in touch with Layla.

So Layla just needed to wait for her brother to check it out for her.

"Layla, why didn't you tell Dad about such a big matter?" Elliot, who had been silent all this time, put down his chopsticks. He couldn't eat that meal.

-My daughter wants to ask for marriage!

-My daughter is still so young, she can't wait to get married!

Elliot also planned to accompany his daughter for a few more years... It seemed that he was thinking too much.

"Dad, I didn't mean not to discuss it with you." Layla saw that her father was sad, and suddenly she couldn't bear it.

She agreed to ask for marriage, not because she really wanted to marry herself off immediately, but because she wanted to get to know more people of the opposite sex and get out of the haze of being rejected by Eric.

Chapter 2549

"I asked Layla to do this." Hayden looked at his father, "She is sad for Eric now, but she has never seen a better opposite sex."

"Hayden is right." Avery thought about it, "Layla has been well protected by us since she was a child. Almost all the people around her of the same age are people we know. Many people have played since childhood, so it is difficult to produce love."

"Avery, I am not against my daughter's marriage proposal, I am against her seeking marriage now. She is only 24 years old, do we need to be so anxious? She is still young, wait for her to work for a few years and become more mature, maybe she will meet a suitable partner naturally." Elliot expressed his thoughts.

When Elliot finished speaking, everyone looked at him.

Layla was going to be 25 soon, but Elliot said she was still young...

If Layla is still young, why is Kara 17 years old? Kindergarten kids?

Layla picked up the drink cup, took a sip of the drink, and said calmly,

“According to my father, it would be more appropriate for me to start looking for a partner when I’m 30.”

“28 or 29 years old is fine. At this age, both women and men are relatively mature. This can avoid many conflicts and quarrels.” Elliot continued to express his opinion.

“My daughter wants to fall in love, and you can’t stop her!” Avery picked up a chopsticks of green vegetables for Elliot with chopsticks, “You eat more dishes and less express your feelings. I am relieved to have Hayden to help check it out. Don’t you worry? Is Hayden doing something?”

Avery’s move was really clever!

Even if Elliot had an opinion, Elliot didn’t dare to say that he had an opinion on Hayden!

“Dad, you don’t have to worry. Applying for marriage doesn’t mean I’m going to get married soon. I just want to know more people, maybe they can provide me with positive emotional value and urge me to work hard.” Layla assured her father, “If not when I meet a particularly good man, I would rather stay at home with you and my mother, and never marry myself out of nowhere.”

Layla’s words made Elliot’s frowning brows relax.

“You have a little confidence in our daughter, okay? Even if she loses her temper for a while, Hayden will take care of her.” Avery persuaded Elliot in a low voice.

“Hayden, after you finish writing the content of the marriage proposal, show it to me first.” Elliot was still worried, and decided to check on his daughter himself.

Hayden responded, and the matter was considered settled.

“Dad, if I can’t find a girl in the future, can I also ask for marriage like this?”

Robert thought this was interesting, so he joined in the fun and asked.

Avery frowned: “You just went to college, and you want to marry a girl?”

Elliot: “My son can fall in love now. Of course, under the premise of not affecting his studies.”

“Double standards!” Avery glared at Elliot, “A daughter has to be 30, and your son is only 19!”

“Because my daughter is my little princess.” Elliot said with a clear conscience, “I have to protect my daughter well.”

“Elliot, do you know that cute little boys are also very dangerous nowadays?”

Ben reminded, “Especially cute little warm boys like Robert. Many rich women like Robert..”

Elliot: “???”

“Our Robert is handsome and cute, not only rich women will like it, right?”

Tammy glanced at Robert and said, “Our Robert is like killing all men, women and children! Robert, girls who usually chase you should not less? If you walk on the street, there must be a lot of people who strike up a conversation with you, right?”

After hearing Tammy’s words, Elliot and Avery immediately looked at Robert.

Normally, Robert would not tell them anything related to this aspect.

“Mom and Dad, don’t worry, I won’t fall in love until I graduate from university. I just want to study hard and build my career after graduation.” Robert immediately promised his parents.

Avery breathed a sigh of relief.

“I’m full.” Layla put down the bowls and chopsticks after saying this. Also she added, "Eat slowly, I'll go out to get some air."

Chapter 2550

After Layla got up, Elliot immediately stood up from the chair without even thinking about it, intending to follow her and have a good time with her daughter talk heart to heart.

Avery grabbed Elliot.

Elliot's views on Layla's choice of a mate were relatively conservative and stubborn.

Let him talk to his daughter, he's afraid it will make her more and more worried.

"Brother, you can eat! I'm going to talk to Layla." Gwen picked up the water glass and took a sip of water, then followed Layla out.

"It's better for Gwen to talk to Layla. Do you know that when she told me before, she used Gwen and Ben to come out and reason with me?" Avery said to Elliot, "Actually, it's not that I can't accept her talking to Eric is together mainly because Eric has already made a choice..."

"Honey, I hope you can be more determined. Just like you chose to be with me back then." Elliot corrected his wife's wavering thoughts.

Avery: "Elliot, I know you despise Eric for being old..."

"It's not just that I despise him." Now that Layla is away, Elliot said freely, "He chased you before, you forgot? If I'm with Layla, it's because Layla looks like you. Isn't our daughter a substitute for you? I never agree with them being together!"

Avery was speechless: "Elliot, can you stop imagining So much? When did Eric chase me? He has always been grateful to me. Because I saved his life, he especially trusts me."

Elliot didn't want to talk to Avery about this matter, so he looked at the others.

Elliot: "Tell me, did Eric chase my wife back then?"

Ben and Jun didn't dare to say anything, and Wesley didn't dare to ask this question.

Wesley didn't know whether Eric had ever chased Avery, but Wesley had a crush on Avery at the beginning.

Maybe it's not a secret love either, others probably had seen it.

At this time, if he opened his mouth, he would easily be whipped to death.

Tammy cleared her throat and said: "I have the right to speak. Because Avery basically tells me everything... At best, Eric worships Avery and thinks that Avery is a lifesaver, so he especially listens to Avery. Avery will do whatever she asks him to do. If Avery doesn't ask him to do anything, he won't mess around. You just said that Avery chose you unswervingly, so she didn't consider Eric at all. The two of them Just like this dish."

Tammy took a spoon and scooped up a spoonful of shallot and white tofu.

Everyone: "..."

After Tammy finished speaking, Kara suddenly raised a banner for Eric and said, "I like Uncle Eric! I also want to marry him!"

Tammy immediately turned black: "Kara! Say it again?!"

"I said I like Uncle Eric! I asked Uncle Eric for a lot of autographs, don't you know that too?" Kara said calmly.

"I also like Uncle Eric." Wesley's daughter Maria said shyly and bravely, "Uncle Eric is so handsome and has a nice voice. It's a pleasure to listen to his singing. Apart from singing well, he also dances well. He's super handsome! I learned to dance just because I watched him dance."

"I like watching Uncle Eric's plays. I have watched all the plays he acted in. I also watched the plays he acted in when he first debuted. It's over. I also watched the play he and Sister Layla acted together when they were young! At that time, Sister Layla was really cute!” Seeing Maria speak, Lilly was not far behind, and bravely spoke out for Eric.

A group of adults did not expect that the topic would be taken away by a few young ancestors.

“I’ve also seen my sister and Uncle Eric play. Seriously, even if my sister doesn’t take over the Tate Industries and enters the entertainment industry, she will definitely be a hot star!” Robert boasted, “My sister has a talent for acting! And she is also good at singing and dancing!”

“Sister Layla and Uncle Eric are so good together, why do you despise Uncle Eric?” Leerain said.

Leerain was 12 years old, and his full name was Leerain Schaffer. He’s son of Ben and Gwen.

Chapter 2551

Originally, Ben wanted to name his son Lee Schaffer, but Gwen felt that the name Lee Schaffer was very similar to a girl’s name. With this name, his son will definitely be ridiculed by his classmates when he goes to school in the future. Therefore, Gwen took the initiative and added the word “rain” after Midsummer when she issued her son’s birth medical certificate, so it became Leerain Schaffer.

Ben named his son Lee because the son was born during the hottest summer.

Gwen added rain to her son Midsummer because it was raining outside the window when the birth certificate was issued.

As for why Leerain’s nickname is Lee, because after he was born, the lanugo hair was black and dense and he’s like a little monkey.

When Gwen saw her son covered in lanugo, she cried out of disgust.

She didn't like her son in the first place, but liked her daughter more, but in the end, the gender of the child was not what she wanted, so how could the child be so ugly and shocking?

The doctor comforted her on the spot, saying that the child will look good when he grows up, and the hair on his body will fall out after a while.

In addition to Gwen who disliked Leo very much, Ben also disliked his son a little bit after seeing his son.

Ben originally gave his son a very foreign-style nickname, which was still in English, but when he saw his son who looked like a monkey, he automatically forgot that foreign-style nickname in his mind, and called out the name 'Lee' .

After Gwen heard this nickname, her sad tears stopped.

Leerain was the youngest in this group of children, but also the most courageous.

Because Ben was born with a son, he doted on Lee very much, and followed his son in everything, while Gwen was busy with her career and neglected to discipline her son, and occasionally disciplined her son, but her son would not listen, so she could only let her develop freely.

After hearing what his son said, Ben immediately explained to his son:

"Because your Uncle Eric is too old!"

Leerain frowned and looked at his father: "Is Uncle Eric as old as you?"

Ben was stunned for a moment, then shook his head.

After a moment of 'oh', Leerain pouted, "You're not dead yet! You're alive and well, Uncle Eric will definitely live longer!"

Everyone: "..."

Ben felt that a knife had been stabbed in his heart, and the knife was stabbed by his son himself.

pain! It hurts so much!

In the yard.

Gwen put on her coat and walked to Layla.

“You like Eric so much?” Gwen spoke lightly, breaking the silence, “Is it because he has a superstar aura?”

Layla turned her head to the side, looked at Gwen, and shook her head: “He has retired. Now he is no longer a superstar. But when I think of all the kindness he has done to me in the past, I am still very grateful to him.”

Gwen: “Eric is not only kind to you, he is also kind to Kara, Maria and Lilly. He is a man of a milder personality... like your Uncle Wesley, he is also such a person.”

Layla: “Auntie, are you trying to persuade me to stop wishful thinking?”

“Silly girl, how can you use the word wishful thinking to describe yourself? Eric is not good enough for you.” Gwen said, “You don’t know how good you are.”

“Auntie, I want to ask you a question. Do you have any regrets marrying Uncle Ben? If you had to choose again, will you still marry Uncle Ben?” Layla asked.

Chapter 2552

Gwen said without hesitation: “Of course there are regrets. We must correctly view the word regret and the matter of regret. If I have magic, and I will definitely make your uncle ten or twenty years younger. It would be best for him to stay in his early twenties forever, always full of energy and drive, so that he can always take care of me and Lee.”

Layla looked at her auntie Gwen without interrupting her.

Gwen: “I used to think that your uncle Ben was too much older than me.

Especially before I was going to marry him, because of this incident, I was always unhappy. Later, everyone persuaded me. Besides, I also figured it out myself I regret marrying him, but I don’t regret it.”

“Why?” Layla asked.

Gwen: “People live for only a few decades. If there are one or two things to be proud of, and one or two people who are in the heart, there will be no regrets in this life. Your uncle Ben is not a perfect man, but he loves me enough. His tolerance and love for me are enough for me not to dwell on his shortcomings.”

Layla understood.

“I know you must compare my relationship with your uncle Ben to your relationship with Eric. Layla, this is different.” Gwen explained, “It was your uncle who chased me. If he doesn’t chase me, I won’t be with him. Your uncle is a bit shameless, and he is more confident. Unlike Eric, I don’t know if he really doesn’t like you, or if he deliberately finds a woman to piss you off. In short, I can’t pass his behavior.”

“Auntie, I think he lied to me. Because we met before he officially announced his relationship at the concert. He also said at that time that he was not in a relationship. Then he was busy rehearsing for a while, so he didn’t have time to fall in love! As a result, he suddenly announced his relationship at the concert, and it was clearly for me to see.” Because of this, Layla was bitter, “I feel like he treats me like a fool.”

“Layla, what if he really fell in love with that woman named Maggie Emond? People of their age, as long as the conditions are right in all aspects, they will get married if they say they get married. It won’t be like when they were young, so many Make rules.” Gwen wanted Layla to think about it.

If she can’t get out, even if she recruit better men from all over the world, she probably won’t cherish them.

.....

Thopiavelle.

Auxiliary building.

Master Hogan took his wife and three children out to celebrate the New Year today.

Lucas didn't want to go out with them, and Master Hogan didn't force him either.

Master Hogan saw it through, Lucas was a wild horse, hard to tame.

Master Hogan just begged Lucas not to cause trouble, and he was willing to stay at home, so he let him stay at home.

If he was forced to pay New Year's greetings to the relatives of the Hogan family, it would make everyone unhappy.

Lucas took a nap in the room, took a washed pear from the fruit plate, and walked towards the dining room.

When Siena was not cooking, she read and reviewed at the dining table.

When Lucas walked to the dining room, Siena didn't notice him coming.

"Why are you crying?" Lucas took a bite of the pear and found that Siena's eyes were red, so she sat down on the dining chair opposite her.

"I just read an article and thought of my mother-in-law." Siena wiped the tears from her eyes with a tissue, "My mother-in-law took me to live in a mountain when I was young."

"Why do you want to live in a mountain?" Lucas was puzzled, "If you don't go to the mountains, you will be poor. If you go to the mountains, wouldn't you be poorer?"

Siena: "It's not what you think. My mother-in-law should also go to the mountains to work. There is a temple in the mountain.

I was in that temple with my mother-in-law. There are many orphans in that temple, some younger than me and some older. There are many children who can play together."

“Are you thinking about your mother-in-law, or those friends?” Lucas saw her crying eyes were red, and the pears in her hand suddenly lost their fragrance.

“I want to.” Siena took a deep breath and said, “I want to save money. If I can be admitted to University of Thopiavelle, I want to visit that temple.”

“Where is that temple? I can take you there now.” Lucas was bored at home, so he was willing to accompany her out on the mountain.

Siena couldn't help raising a smile: “Young Master, thank you. But that temple is not in Thopiavelle, and that temple is in Aryadelle. I can go there alone but after so many years, I don't know if that temple is still there!”

Chapter 2553

“Aryadelle? Are you and your mother-in-law from Aryadelle?” Lucas was a little surprised.

Siena: “No. My mother-in-law and I are from Yonroeville.”

Lucas was even more surprised: “You are from Yonroeville, but you went to live in a temple in a mountain in Aryadelle. Now you live in Thopiavelle... Does your mother-in-law take you to work around the world?”

Siena didn't know how to explain to Lucas for a while.

After all, she couldn't figure out what happened to many things when she was a child.

She would do whatever her mother-in-law asked her to do, and she would be there wherever her mother-in-law was.

Seeing that Siena was stunned and unable to answer, she asked, “Do you have any relatives in Yonroeville?”

Siena shook her head, “I don't know. I have never been to Yonroeville. I was born in Yonroeville, but Since I can remember, I have not been in Yonroeville.”

“Then why don't you go to Yonroeville to see?” Lucas didn't want to see her live so poorly, so she said, "Go and find your relatives, just in case you have any relatives?"

"Young Master, do you want me to live in a relative's house and trouble others?"

Siena said, "I will be an adult soon, and I don't want to trouble anyone. Even if I have relatives who are willing to recognize me, I don't need a guardian anymore."

"I'm not asking you to live in someone else's house." After Lucas said this, all subsequent words stopped.

He himself didn't want to associate with relatives, so why did he ask Siena to find relatives?

Now that Siena already had the ability to support herself, it was good that she was helpless and had no burden like now.

"Young Master, this is a question I did. I have already checked the answer. Take a look." Siena pushed her homework in front of Lucas, "You should start studying too. Otherwise, you will not be able to pass the university entrance exam."

"Do you think my dad will prevent me from going to college?" Lucas pushed back her homework, "I hate liberal arts the most."

Siena: "Young Master, are you biased?"

Lucas: "Is it strange?"

Siena: "I am better at liberal arts than science."

Lucas: "Have you ever thought about what to do after graduating from university?"

This question was so difficult for Siena.

She still didn't know which university she could be admitted to, she had to go to university, and then wanted to see what major she could study.

Children of her age in normal families have parents and relatives to help them choose majors, but she didn't.

"I don't know... I don't know what major to graduate to get a job." Siena struggled.

Seeing her pitiful appearance, Lucas couldn't help but said: "When I make money in the future, you can continue to be my nanny!"

Siena was a little moved, but also a little embarrassed: "Young Master, I don't really want to be a nanny all the time. Maybe I can do something that contributes to society..."

Lucas: "I'll give you a high salary."

Siena: "..."

Chapter 2554

Siena couldn't find a better job because 99% of companies would not accept her because of the scars on her face.

she also knew that Lucas had good intentions.

After all, Lucas was the kind of person who didn't even bother to talk to other people, and usually only talked a little more in front of her.

"Young Master, after I graduate from university, if we still have contact, it's still too early!" Siena covered up her embarrassment with a smile, "What about you? What major do you want to study in university?"

She didn't say anything, for fear that Lucas would get angry.

"You'll know when I go to university." Lucas quickly finished eating the pears.

Siena thought for a while and made a suggestion: "Then you must keep in touch with me when you go to university. I send you messages, and you don't always fail to reply. Otherwise, if you never reply to my messages, I may not send messages to you again. You sent a message."

Lucas didn't like to answer the phone, nor did he like to reply to messages, because usually no one would look for him, and he was used to being quiet. If someone looked for him, basically nothing good would happen.

"The photo taken by the amusement park last time hasn't been sent to you yet." Lucas said and he threw the pear core into the trash can and wiped his hands with a wet tissue.

"Didn't you not take a picture of me? I don't have a picture in my phone." Siena thought Lucas didn't take a picture of himself.

"You didn't tell me your mobile phone password, how can I take pictures with your mobile phone? Stupid!" Lucas said, turned on his mobile phone, clicked on the gallery, and clicked on her photos, "Here, see for yourself, which ones do you want? I'll send it to you."

"I want both." Siena brought his phone over and looked at the photos.

She was wearing a mask at the time, so she looked no different from a normal person in the photo.

Although half of her face was covered, she could see how happy she was at that time from her smiling eyes.

"Yong Master, you don't have whatsaap, how can you send me the photos in your mobile phone?" Siena was a little embarrassed.

"I have." Lucas gave her an embarrassed look.

"Oh...then you lied to Miss Piper before... Young Master, why don't you like Miss Piper? She is so beautiful, and her family has money..." Siena could understand Lucas's mood.

If it wasn't for Miss Piper, Master Hogan's attitude towards Lucas would not have changed at all.

There was no way for Siena to return to work at Hogan's house.

Siena felt a little grateful to Piper in her heart.

Lucas couldn't understand Siena's words, so she made an excuse: "I hate her having money."

"Why? Is there anything wrong with having money?" Siena was even more puzzled, "Young Master, Your family is also rich."

"Her family is richer than mine." Lucas continued to reply calmly.

Siena: "I see, you don't like others to be richer than you."

Lucas: "..."

His silence seemed to Siena to be tacit consent.

Siena opened her Whatsapp, "Young Master, let me add you!"

Lucas gave Siena the phone again.

After Siena pulled out his QR code, she scanned it.

After the addition was successful, she directly took his mobile phone and sent a photo to herself.

"Young Master, why don't you have any friends on Whatsapp?" Siena didn't mean to peek at his privacy.

In fact, his Whatsapp was cleaner than his face.

Lucas dismissed it: "How many friends do you have on Whatsapp?"

Chapter 2555

"I..." Siena blushed, "I have my teacher's Whatsapp friend."

"You are amazing. You actually have a Whatsapp friend." Lucas teased.

"You are amazing now, and you also have a friend."

Siena's cheeks suddenly became hot, "Young Master, you took a really good picture of me. If I post it on Moments, will you like me?"

Lucas: "...Don't push yourself too far."

Siena: "Okay! I just said it casually, why do you take it seriously? If you don't like it, don't like it. I will like it myself."

After sending the photo, she returned the phone to Lucas.

She took her mobile phone and started editing the content of Moments in front of Lucas.

After uploading the photos, she attached a text: [I am really happy to go to the amusement park for the first time.]

Lucas felt sorry for her, so he gave her a compliment.

Seeing Lucas's likes, Siena's surprise was beyond words: "Young master, didn't you say you don't want to give me likes?"

Lucas: "I like it if I want to."

"In the future, I will give you likes when you post in Moments! I-I will definitely not let you suffer!" Siena happily promised.

"You can't wait until that day." Lucas didn't know how to post on Moments, so stupid!

.....

Aryadelle.

Avery and Elliot would take Lilly back to G-Temple every Spring Festival.

This year was no exception.

But this year, Avery asked Layla to go to the mountain to relax.

The car drove to the foot of the mountain and stopped.

They got out of the car and started climbing the mountain.

Elliot and Lilly walked in front, Avery and Layla followed.

"Mom, Auntie Gwen told me that she doesn't regret marrying Uncle Ben."

Layla chatted with her mother in a low voice, "She said she had regrets, but she didn't regret it.

After thinking about it, I felt that I understood Auntie Gwen a little bit."

Avery: "Some love will turn into family affection. We will not despise our relatives."

"Auntie Gwen said that I will understand why you and my father do not agree to my marriage to Eric when I have a child in the future."

Layla took her mother's hand and walked slowly and steadily step by step, "Actually, you don't need to wait for me to have children in the future, I can understand your feelings now."

Avery looked at Layla in surprise.

"Eric is older than me and has more life experience than me. I am like a naive child in front of him.

There must be a generation gap between us. If we have differences in the future, this relationship will be consumed.

There are too many in reality.

For example, it proves that the age difference is too big, and it will end in tragedy.

You don't want to see my relationship is too turbulent, because an ordinary quarrel between lovers is also very exhausting.

For example, now I am angry with Eric, which makes me very hurts." Layla expressed her understanding.

Avery: "Layla, mom and dad really love you very much, and I don't want you to suffer a little bit of grievance.

These days, your dad is tortured every day. He wanted to take revenge on Eric, but I stopped him."

"Mom, I know. Even if I get married in the future, you and my father will always be number one in my heart."

Layla held her mother's hand tightly.

On the mountain, 10 years were like a day.

The cold wind blew across their faces, blowing away the distracting thoughts in their hearts.

After burning incense, Lilly took the gift to find the teacher who raised her when she was a child.

"I'm in college now, and I'm in the same school as Brother Robert." Lilly told the teacher about her life, "I chose jewelry design as a major. I wanted to be a teacher, also my parents said I should be a teacher. They don't want me to be too tired...they really love me. So I listened to their advice."

The teacher nodded with satisfaction: "Little Lilly, they are right. You should pay more attention to your baby. Health is the most important thing."

There was a sound of children playing outside, which brought back memories of Lilly.

"Young Master, has Siena come back?" Lilly asked in a daze.

Chapter 2556

Lilly asked that question every year to the Teacher.

She got the answer of the every year from the Teacher was negative.

"I don't know how Siena is doing." Lilly sighed worriedly, "I thought she would call me, but she didn't call me at all."

"After so many years, Siena also has her own new life." The Teacher comforted, "In the future, if you are destined, you will meet again."

Lily: "Um."

Layla bought several peace charms at the temple, one for her father and one for her mother. She kept one for herself, and took the remaining two back to her brother Hayden and Robert.

"Mom, what wish did you make this year? My New Year's wish is for the whole family to be safe and healthy.” Layla asked.

Avery: “Mom’s wish is the same every year.”

Layla: “I know what your wish is. Get Haze back, right?”

Avery shook her head: “Mom’s wish is for our family to be happy and safe. Your father’s wish is to find Haze.”

Layla: “...”

Avery: “For fear of being too greedy, the God will not agree.”

Layla couldn’t help laughing: “Mom, don’t be too pessimistic. You might find Haze someday.”

Avery: “I’ve been disappointed so many times that I’ve become numb. But I still have hope.”

Layla: “Well! The air on the mountain is so good. It feels like people have been purified when they come to the mountain. The troubles in my heart are not so annoying.”

Avery: “You can come out more in the future.”

“Well. Mom, I’m a little scared.” Layla looked at the scenery in the distance, and expressed her worries, “Brother helped me find a marriage, I agreed, and it’s not easy to refuse now. It feels like if I really want to marry, then I’ll be famous. I don’t want to be so high-profile.”

Avery listened quietly to her daughter’s mood.

Layla continued, “But I think what my brother said is right. I should get to know more people of the opposite s-e-x, so that I can open my eyes. So, I still have to seek marriage.”

“Layla, don’t care too much about other people’s eyes. Don’t worry about what others say about you, as long as you live comfortably and happily.” Avery put her hands on Layla’s shoulders.

Layla was a little taller than Avery. The mother and daughter were together and were often regarded as sisters.

“Mom, did Eric wish you New Year’s greetings?” Layla asked suddenly after being silent for a few seconds.

“He sent me a message wishing me a happy New Year, but he didn’t say that he would come to our house to pay New Year’s greetings.” Avery couldn’t help laughing, “I guess he was also scared. He had agreed to quit the circle and didn’t dare to come to see me for dinner.”

“Hmph! He’s going to his girlfriend’s house to pay New Year’s greetings! Isn’t his girlfriend from Bridgedale?” Layla snorted coldly.

Avery: “Layla, don’t think about it. Let’s go see the kids in the backyard!”

Layla: “Um.”

.....

Santos family.

Today, relatives and friends came to pay New Year’s greetings, and Eric played with a group of children in the room.

No matter how old Eric was, he was always very attractive to children.

Children as young as 1 or 2 years old, up to 8 or 9 years old, all liked to cling to him.

So every year during New Year, as long as he was at home, his task was to take care of the children.

Eric also liked to take care of children, because if he did not bring children, he would be urged to marry by his relatives.

Years ago, he officially announced his relationship. This year, relatives stopped rushing when they saw him, but asked when they would bring their girlfriend back to see him.

Chapter 2557

Maggie Emond was now in Bridgedale, and Eric didn't intend to trouble her to come there again.

The cell phone rang suddenly, and a six-year-old boy picked up the cell phone he had placed on the table and handed it to Eric.

"Uncle Eric, did your girlfriend call you?"

Eric took the phone over and glanced at it. Sure enough, it was the video call from Maggie.

Eric walked towards the balcony and closed the partition door between the balcony and the room.

A group of children didn't even try to hide it, they just lay on the glass door, staring at him, watching the excitement.

After Eric took the video call, Maggie's voice came, "Eric, Happy New Year."

Eric: "Maggie, Happy New Year! Is it night over there?"

"Yeah! I just returned to my room after dinner." Maggie scratched her head, "I really have a big head. Just now a bunch of relatives came and asked me when I will get married with you."

Eric smiled and said, "What a coincidence, my relative came to my house today and asked me this question."

Maggie joked, "Why don't we just get married?"

The smile on Eric's face froze, and after a few seconds, he said, "I'm not ready for marriage yet. It's more comfortable to be alone."

"Have you chatted with Layla? She was so angry last time, and I don't know if her anger has subsided." Maggie sat down on the small sofa, picked up a water glass and took a sip of water.

Eric said shyly, "I didn't dare to contact her."

Maggie: "Are you so cowardly? What are you afraid of, at worst, you will be scolded by her."

"The main reason is that being scolded can't change anything, I'm afraid she will become more and more angry." Eric knew Layla's character too well.

Then do you have any contact with her parents? Shouldn't you just cut off contact with them because of this matter?" Maggie felt that the loss outweighed the gain.

After all, Avery was Eric's savior.

"I sent a text message to Avery, and she replied to me." Eric replied.

If it was usual, Avery would invite Eric to play at home, but this time, Avery didn't invite him.

It wasn't that Avery was stingy, but that Eric was invited over. Firstly, it was awkward to meet Layla, and secondly, Elliot would be angry.

"That's good. Avery shouldn't block you because of this incident." Maggie smiled, "What are your plans next?"

Eric: "I have no plans. Rest at home first."

"Eric, I've been chasing you for so many years. Although you rejected me, you can still be my friend. Now Layla confesses to you, although you also rejected her, but you dare not contact her at all... ..You treat me differently from her."

Maggie analyzed, "Eric, you like Layla."

Eric: "Maggie, you don't need to analyze who I like. No matter who I like, I am more suitable to live alone."

"You're lying." Maggie exposed his lie, "Just now you called me Maggie, but I pierced your heart, so you call me by my name."

Eric smiled helplessly: "You called me not to wish me a happy New Year, but to make me unhappy in the New Year."

“Where. I sincerely wish you happiness. Not only a happy New Year, but every day from now on.” Maggie looked at his face on the screen and sighed slightly, “I was worried that you would break up with them, so let me ask you what’s going on right now.”

“They’re also busy with New Year, so they don’t have time to settle accounts with me.” Eric said in a relaxed tone, “I’m taking care of the children now, let me show you.”

Eric switched the camera to the rear, so the group of children who eavesdropped on his video appeared on the screen.

Seeing so many children lying on the glass door to watch the fun, Maggie burst out laughing.

“You should make plans for yourself.” Eric turned the camera back and said to Maggie, “Don’t waste your time on me, see if there is a suitable man around you!”

“I’m younger than you, so I’m not in a hurry. Let’s wait and see! What if you want to marry me someday?” Maggie thought wishfully.

Chapter 2558

During the concert, Eric asked Maggie to help him pretend to be his girlfriend.

Maggie readily agreed.

After making Layla give up, the two went back to their own homes and became friends again.

It’s just that this matter was not told to the third person.

“You don’t have to worry about me, people who chase me can line up outside my house to where I go to work.” Maggie laughed to make Eric relax, “My plan is to wait until I’m forty before thinking about the big things in my life.”

Eric: “As long as you have a plan in mind.”

“I heard your tone seems to have thrown off a big burden!” Maggie teased.

“No. I’m definitely not a burden.” Eric immediately explained.

The two of them failed to go on a blind date many years ago, and they didn’t even meet each other seriously.

But then one time, Eric went to Bridgedale to shoot a TV series, in which the heroine was a doctor, so the crew hired several doctors in Bridgedale to guide them. Maggie was one of the doctors.

Although the two have never met before, they have never deleted their social friends.

After meeting with the crew, Maggie saw Eric at work, so she fell in love with him.

And Eric also took care of Maggie because of his previous fate with Maggie.

After going back and forth, the two became good friends.

“Maggie: Go and take care of the children! If you still need me to act with you, call me anytime.”

“This is too much trouble for you. You probably won’t need to act in the future.”

Eric said. After all, Layla has completely ignored Eric.

“No trouble! I can be considered a small person in charge now, and my time is much freer than before.” Maggie was very happy to help Eric.

The two of them had known each other for so many years, and this was the first time Eric asked Maggie for help.

And Maggie had asked Eric for a lot of help.

Many younger relatives knew that Maggie knew Eric, so they asked her to ask Eric for autographs and autographs of other celebrities.

Every time Maggie asked Eric for help, Eric agreed.

.....

In the evening, the Foster family.

After dinner, Hayden showed his mother the first draft of the marriage proposal he made for Layla.

Avery took the first draft and looked at it, then pursed her red lips, and said unceremoniously: "Hayden, according to your requirements, I'm afraid no opposite s-e-x in this world can meet the requirements. I'm afraid your sister will die alone."

Layla stared at the first draft in her mother's hand. After reading it, Layla felt the same as her mother.

"Brother, you really think highly of me." Layla had goosebumps all over her body, "Brother, are you trying to find a marriage for me, or are you just trying to get me on the news and don't want me to get married? Such an excellent and simple man?"

Hearing this, Elliot immediately walked over, took the first draft from Avery's hand, and studied it carefully.

First draft of marriage request:

Male, 20 to 30 years old, in good health, no smoking, no drinking, no bad habits. I hope you are studying or graduating from a top university (within top 10) in the world. You are not limited to majors and have excellent studies. Experienced in one or more well-known competitions and won the top three places.

Family harmony, loving parents, I hope you are the only child of your parents, if there are more than two brothers and sisters, then you must have better advantages in other items. Parents' assets must exceed 10 billion, and you must be the main heir of your parents' assets.

Respect women, have a strong sense of family responsibility. No emotional history, no s*xual experience.

...

Elliot frowned after reading the first draft.

“Dad, do you also think that brother’s conditions are too harsh?” Layla wanted to find approval from her father, “According to brother’s request, I really can’t find a boyfriend.”

Elliot: “Your brother’s list is not enough. I think there should be quite a few people who can meet these conditions. The threshold should be set higher.”

Layla: “???”

Avery: “Husband, are you serious? I think the first few things are okay, but the fourth one may be a bit difficult...30 years old and have no relationship experience...”

“It’s not for Layla to find a man who is 30 years old. 30 years old is just the maximum age.” Elliot said, “I think 30 years old is a bit too old, too young and naive. Finding someone of the same age will be more Good.” Elliot had his own ideas, “I have to listen to Layla in everything. I’m too old, I’m afraid I can’t do this.”

Avery and Layla were speechless.

“Dad, you can add it!” Hayden felt that what Dad said had some truth.

The father and son had never been so harmonious in anything, and they never expected that the terms of marriage proposed for Layla would allow the father and son to reach a unified opinion.

“Okay. I’ll add it up and show you.” Elliot readily accepted the job and went to the study with the first draft.

Avery couldn’t help laughing: “I’m afraid your dad will have to work overtime in the study tonight.”

“Mom, you don’t need to be so anxious!” After speaking, Layla looked at Hayden again, “Brother, did you write the request according to your own situation?”

“Your boyfriend can’t be much worse than me.” Hayden said seriously, “How can a person who has no self-control achieve great things?”

Layla wanted to argue with reason, Avery said: “Layla, I think your brother is right. If the other party’s private life is too messy, he really doesn’t deserve you.”

“Okay!” Layla calmed down and she said, “Maybe I think I’m average! After all, I can’t even satisfy the conditions written by my brother, such as the school...”

“Layla, it’s because we don’t let you study abroad, it’s not that you can’t meet that requirement.” Avery said, “After calming down now, I feel that the conditions written by your brother are not too much. Those are just the most basic requirements.”

Layla: “....”

Layla was really curious about what her future husband would look like from the perspective of her parents and brothers.

.....

Thopiavelle.

The year was coming to an end.

Master Hogan and Esteban Hogan, the eldest Young master began to return to work in the company.

Cyrus Hogan was about to graduate soon, and now he could practice. Master Hogan asked him to go directly to Hogan’s company for an internship in two days, and then went to get his graduation certificate when he received his graduation certificate.

Cyrus never questioned his father’s decision, so he acquiesced to his father’s decision.

Paulina Hogan couldn't stay at home, so she bought a ticket back to school and left.

After Cyrus sent Paulina to the airport, he returned to Hogan's house. He didn't go directly into the main building, but turned to the side and entered the auxiliary building.

"Second young master, why are you here?" Siena was reading a book in the dining room, and immediately came out when she heard the movement.

Lucas said that Cyrus couldn't be allowed to enter the auxiliary building.

"I'm here to see my brother. Where's my brother?" Cyrus didn't treat himself as an outsider, and strode into the living room.

"Young Master went back to his room after breakfast, he may be sleeping now! Second Young Master, please keep your voice down." Siena began to think about how to get Cyrus to leave the auxiliary building.

"I'll come over and sit down, you don't have to worry about me." Cyrus said, sat down on the sofa, took out his mobile phone, and started to check the news. Suddenly, a piece of news from Aryadelle attracted his attention.

Chapter 2560

Layla Tate, the daughter of Sterling Group President Elliot's global marriage proposal!

Cyrus had heard of the famous Sterling Group, so when he saw Elliot's daughter applying for marriage, he clicked on the news with anticipation and excitement, wanting to see if he met the requirements in the marriage application content.

After seeing the first request, Cyrus was very excited and heaved a sigh of relief.

He was physically fit and within the required age range. So he immediately looked to the second request.

Cyrus felt a little depressed when he saw that he was studying or graduating from a TOP10 university in the world.

The school he was studying in was not top 10, but it was also a famous university. He felt that there was no big problem for him to match Layla Tate. As long as Layla Tate liked him, it didn't matter whether the university was top10 or top20.

He continued to read... and quickly read all the requirements.

After reading it, he satisfied the two requirements in it.

The first was age and physical health, and the second was a history of no relationship.

Although he only met two requirements, he still confidently felt that he might be able to fall into Layla Tate's eyes.

As long as Layla Tate liked him, there would be no problem with this marriage.

When the time comes when he becomes the son-in-law of the Fu family, will his father and elder brother kneel on the ground to curry favor with him?!

Thinking of this, his face was flushed red and his blood was surging. He planned to edit and beautify his resume later, and wanted to send it to the marriage mailbox!

"Second Young Master, do you have a fever? Your face is so red." Siena was still uneasy and wanted to send Cyrus away. Otherwise, when Lucas saw him here later, he would definitely be furious, "I'll take you to the main building!"

Cyrus stood up from the sofa and said with a smile, "I don't have a fever, but I'm a little excited when I read a piece of news."

"Oh... Then let me go outside with you to blow some air! You look very hot."

Siena walked to the door of the auxiliary building first, and opened the door.

Cyrus also wanted to calm down, so he followed Siena out.

When the two entered the yard, Cyrus remembered something: "Siena, I heard that your mother-in-law has been ill for a year, and you borrowed money to buy medicine for her. You are such a filial and good girl."

Siena's cheeks were slightly hot: "Second Young Master, this is nothing to praise. My mother-in-law raised me for more than ten years, and what I did for her is far less than what she did for me."

"You are really sensible. How much money do you owe outside?" Cyrus felt that she was very pitiful, and looked at her with pitiful eyes without concealing it.

"I still owe $20,000 now." Siena hurriedly said again, "Second Young Master, I can pay off the debt by myself, so you don't have to worry."

"Let me help you pay it back! You save some money. Don't you still have to go to college?" Cyrus put one hand in his pocket, and the other hand pushed the courtyard door, "When you go to college, you shouldn't work in Hogan family."

"I haven't thought about the future. I don't know where I can take the exam!"

Siena said, "Second Young Master, thank you very much, but I really don't need you to help me pay off my debts."

"This small amount of money is nothing to me." Cyrus said with a superior look, "My monthly pocket money is more than this. If I don't help you, you can pay the debt by yourself. It's not easy for you to see my brother's face every day."

Siena: "Actually, Young Master Hogan..."

Chapter 2561

"You don't have to speak for Lucas. I know what kind of person he is." Cyrus said arrogantly, "He and I are both illegitimate children, but he looks down on me. It's ridiculous. He can't study, nor can he have emotional intelligence.

Besides eating and sleeping all day long, what else do he does?"

Siena froze for a moment, then continued: "Young Master Hogan can play games. He plays games very well."

Although Siena didn't know how to play games, but seeing Lucas playing games every day, he must be very good at games.

With his proud self-esteem, if he was a rookie at playing games, he would definitely not be able to continue playing.

"Hahaha! Playing games... When did playing games become something to be praised?" Cyrus said, took out his mobile phone, and showed Siena the marriage news he had just seen, "Look at this news. The daughter of the richest man in Aryadelle is seeking marriage globally. They listed some requirements, but it didn't say that they want to play games, hahaha!"

Siena looked at Cyrus's phone screen.

She saw the two key words 'Elliot' and 'Layla'.

"Elliot's daughter is asking for marriage?" Siena mumbled, "Why is she asking for marriage?"

"Maybe there are no suitable candidates around, so they are looking for marriages around the world, so that they can quickly meet more and better candidates." Cyrus talked non-stop, and Siena took out her mobile phone to search for this news.

Although this was news from Aryadelle, because it was a global marriage call, Bridgedale's headlines also published this explosive news.

"Oh... Layla Tate... she looks so beautiful!" Siena exclaimed when she saw Layla's photo.

"Hahaha! Her father is very handsome, and her mother is also very beautiful, so she is naturally not far behind." Cyrus puffed up his chest, looking for confidence from Siena, "Siena, do you think I am suitable?"

Siena froze for a moment, then glanced at Cyrus: "Second Young Master, do you want to apply for the recruitment?"

Cyrus responded: "Do you think I have a chance of being selected when I apply?"

Siena quickly found the marriage request and read it again.

After reading it, Siena looked puzzled and said, "Second young master, does your family have more than 10 billion assets? I didn't know that your family is so rich..."

Cyrus looked embarrassed and turned blue: "Our family doesn't have that much money. Of course, I don't know how much money our family has. I think it shouldn't be that much."

"Oh... If you don't have that much money, you won't be able to meet their requirements! If you apply, you should provide proof of family assets." Although Siena only read the marriage requirements once, but she has already kept the content in her mind, "It is written on it, and each requirement needs to provide proof."

Cyrus's face turned dark immediately.

Siena: "Also, Second Young Master, the second item..."

"Okay, stop talking!" Cyrus said impatiently, "Don't you just think I'm not good enough for Layla Tate? Although our family is not that rich and my university didn't meet their requirements, but there are also a few items that are up to the mark."

Siena immediately picked up the phone and showed Cyrus the red letter reminder in the content of the marriage application: "Second young master, it said above that you must meet the standards in every item before you can enter the primary election. If you submit your resume in the past, I'm afraid you won't be able to enter primary.”

After Siena finished speaking, her little heart began to tremble...

Cyrus seemed to be getting angry.

In Siena's heart, Cyrus had always been the image of a gentle and graceful young man. She never thought that Cyrus would turn his face because he could not meet the requirements for marriage.

Siena immediately took back the phone, and encouraged: “Second young master, you are so handsome, you have a good personality, and the family conditions are also very good. Plus you study well, so I think you can still submit your resume to try this. If Miss Layla sees your photo and falls in love with you at first sight, maybe she will relax the standard.”

Chapter 2562

Cyrus's black face turned back to normal in an instant.

Cyrus: “I think so too. No matter what the result is, I will try first.”

“Well! Second young master, try it! I support you.” Siena continued to encourage, “If you can become the son-in-law of the Foster family, your father will definitely be proud of you and everyone in your family will be proud of you, and they will look at you differently.”

Siena's words reached Cyrus's heart.

“Who did you borrow the money from? Tell me his contact information, and I'll help you pay it back.” Cyrus was very happy, so he decided to help Siena repay the debt.

The main reason was that $20,000 was not worth mentioning to Cyrus. But this time for helping Siena, Siena could be grateful to him for the rest of his life.

Cyrus had always been submissive at home, watching people's faces, so he enjoyed the feeling of being admired.

“Second young master, it’s really not necessary. If I need your help in the future, I’ll tell you again, okay?” Siena sent Cyrus to the gate of the main building courtyard, “Second young master, go and submit your resume! Waiting for you News!”

Cyrus was not as excited as he was when he saw the marriage news, but he still had some confidence in himself.

After all, he was talented, and he was willing to sacrifice many things that other men cannot sacrifice.

For example, he could marry into Foster’s family!

When the time came to write this in the resume, red and bold, it was estimated that it would add a lot of points!

Thinking of this, Cyrus clenched his fist and strode into the courtyard of the main building.

Siena turned back to the auxiliary building.

Siena did not know when Lucas came out of the bedroom, and stood at the door of the auxiliary building. Lucas was watching her walking step by step.

Siena: “Young Master, are you hungry?”

Siena ran to the door of the auxiliary building, quickly entered the room, and closed the door.

“The second young master came over just now, I know you don’t want to see him, so I sent him away.” Siena explained with a smile.

The chill on Lucas’s face dissipated: “Did he say what he was doing here?”

“He has nothing to do, just come and sit.” Siena changed her shoes and walked towards the kitchen, “Your father and your eldest brother went to work, and your sister has also left. I guess he is bored at home alone!”

“I didn’t admit that Paulina is my sister.” Lucas and Paulina were the same age, but their identity information was smaller than Paulina's.

"Young Master, have you seen the news on the Internet? The one from Aryadelle." Siena began to prepare the dishes.

The area of the auxiliary building was relatively small. Siena was in the kitchen, Lucas was in the living room, and the two can do their own things and chat unimpeded.

"What's wrong with Aryadelle?" Lucas said, obviously not seeing the news.

"Do you know Elliot, the boss of Sterling Group?" Siena talked about this gossip with him, "He has an only daughter named Layla Tate. Today they released a global marriage recruitment, and they are recruiting a husband for Layla Tate. The age requirement is 20 to 30 years old."

Lucas pretended not to hear it.

It's none of his business for Layla Late to recruit her husband?

"The second young master wants to apply." Siena continued to gossip with him,

"I think the second young master will definitely not be able to apply."

Only then did Lucas become a little interested: "The toad wanted to eat swan meat."

"Actually, I don't blame the second young master. I saw Layla Tate's photo, she is really beautiful. There is no man who would not like her." Siena complimented.

Lucas: "I do not like."

"Young master, you didn't even look at her picture." In order to let Lucas know more about her, Siena dried her hands, found Layla Tate's picture, and showed it to Lucas, "Look, she really so beautiful!"

Chapter 2563

After Lucas glanced at Layla's photo, he looked up at Siena's serious face: "If I'm pretty, I'm going to like it?"

"Uh... yes, young master, you are different from ordinary people. I am so ugly, and I have never seen you despise me." Siena put away her phone, and suddenly a white light flashed in her mind, "Young Master, am I ugly?"

Siena remembered that she had seen the obsession with ugliness on the Internet before.

In this world, there are so many people, there must be many people who have different aesthetic preferences from normal people.

Siena felt more and more that Lucas must have a fetish for ugliness.

Piper Lawson, daughter of the Lawson family, was so good-looking, but Lucas didn't take her seriously at all.

Layla Tate was also so beautiful, but he didn't look at Layla Tate's photo but looked up at his own ugly face...

"Yes, I love ugliness." Seeing that Siena was already determined, Lucas didn't bother to argue with her.

Siena blushed, turned and ran into the kitchen, buried herself in cooking, and stopped talking.

.....

Aryadelle.

After the announcement of the marriage proposal, Elliot regretted it.

Elliot felt that the request was not enough.

At that time, there must be many people who met the conditions.

Elliot's afraid that Hayden would choose tricky eyes when the time comes.

"Honey, do you think I'm going to hold a press conference to supplement the content of the marriage proposal, or accept an interview right away to talk about it?" Elliot discussed with Avery.

Avery looked at her husband in surprise: "What else do you want to add? The request for marriage is nearly 2,000 characters long. Who asked for so many requests? I have never seen it before."

"Our daughter is not an ordinary person. Isn't it right to ask for more?" Elliot didn't think there was any problem with the requirement of 2,000 characters.

"Then what else do you want to add, tell me." Avery also regarded her daughter as her treasure, and was unwilling to let her marry off casually.

After thinking about it for a while, Elliot said, "I should refine the majors studied in the other university. For example, those who study philosophy must not."

Many rich second-generation students studied philosophy.

It was probably because keeping a business and managing property required more rationality, and to improve rationality, studying philosophy was undoubtedly a good choice.

"Why not?" Avery had no opinion on any subject, so she wanted to hear Elliot's analysis.

"I hate other people talking to me the most. I believe that my daughter would not like such a person as a partner." Elliot said, "It's not good to study finance. It's too realistic and calculating, and our daughter is too simple, so we must not go to financial."

"Oh. What about computer students?" Avery picked up her water glass, intending to pour him a glass of water.

"No. Those who study computer can't take care of their families when they are busy. I don't want our daughter to be left out. Look at Hayden, he is a good example. He has never been in a relationship until now..." Elliot vetoed it again.

Avery poured the water and handed the glass to Elliot.

Avery: "Then do you think it would be better for our daughter to find someone to learn from?”

Elliot frowned and began to think seriously.

This thought, five minutes passed.

“Husband, according to your critical attitude, we can only go to outer space to see if there is any suitable candidate.” Avery picked up her water glass and took a sip of water, “You are worried about small problems, the most important thing is still depends on whether Layla and the other party have a common topic. If we can chat, it doesn’t matter what major the other party studies. It doesn’t mean that after studying a certain major, you will have to engage in a corresponding career in the future.”

“Since they all require the other party’s family assets to exceed $10 billion, even if the other party does nothing at that time and takes care of the children at home, they can live a good life.” Avery expressed her opinion, “According to our current requirements, the men who come out are not far behind.”

Chapter 2564

“Avery, you are always too soft-hearted.” Ever since Elliot knew that Layla was going to seek marriage, he had been anxious all day long.

He was supposed to go to work at the company today, but he didn’t. He went to the company and was not in the mood to work. It’s better to stay at home and see what happened after the news of the marriage announcement was released.

“It’s not that I’m soft-hearted, it’s that you think this matter is too important. It seems that Layla can really find the right man through this marriage proposal.” Avery took a longan from the fruit plate, peeled the shell at a leisurely pace, and let it go into the mouth.

Elliot saw Avery eating longan, so he also reached into the fruit plate, ready to take longan.

“Don’t eat it, you are already on fire, and eating it will add to the fire.” Avery brought him a pear, “You eat pears.”

Elliot: “...”

“Layla also said that this time, she just wanted to get to know more people of the opposite s-e-x. She didn’t say that she must find a man to marry. Husband, take it easy.” Avery continued to comfort, “Maybe after she met many people of the opposite s-e-x, she finally found out that she didn’t feel anything, and she still like Eric more in her heart...”

Elliot: “Honey, can you stop irritating me?”

“You have to prepare for the worst! Many things are not what we think. Things like feelings are the most uncontrollable. When I first fell in love with you and quarreled, I really wanted it many times. I made up my mind to make a clean break with you, and finally returned to the original point by accident. Layla is my daughter, maybe she is the same as me, and if she finds someone right, she will be determined to the end?”

Elliot held the pear with a look of lovelessness on his face.

“Husband, don’t be sad. It’s good for us to live our lives well. Our children and grandchildren have their own blessings. We can take care of them now, and when we’re gone, we can’t take care of them. It’s better to learn to let go now...”

“I can’t let go. As long as I haven’t closed my eyes, I can’t let it go.” Elliot picked up the fruit knife and peeled the pear.

Avery didn’t want to provoke Elliot, but she was also afraid that things would develop as he imagined and that he wouldn’t be able to bear it, so she was vaccinated in advance.

“If your daughter is really determined, it’s useless for you to care about it.

Instead of breaking up your relationship of the father and daughter, it's better to let Hayden take care of it." Avery thought of a good way for him, "Hayden has taken care of Layla since he was a child, and his thoughts are the similar as Yours, and you don't want Layla and Eric to be together. It's said that an elder brother is like a father, so you have to trust Hayden."

Elliot finished peeling the pear and handed the pear to Avery.

Avery took the pears.

"Okay! Let's see how the marriage proposal is going to be. With Hayden in charge, I'm more at ease." Elliot took another pear and began to peel it.

After Avery took a bite of the pear, the phone rang. She picked up the phone and glanced at it.

"Eric called." Avery put the pear on the table, took the phone, and was about to step aside to answer it.

"Can't you tell me?" Elliot looked at Avery, "He must have called you about Layla's marriage proposal..."

"You eat the pears first. I'll tell you after I've finished." Avery didn't want Elliot to hear the two of them talking on the phone, but was afraid that Elliot would lose control of his emotions and start arguing with Eric.

Avery took the phone and walked towards the second floor. When she was almost on the second floor, she answered the phone.

"Eric, Happy New Year." As usual, Avery was not indifferent to Eric because of Layla's matter.

Elliot couldn't sit still anymore, so he immediately got up from the sofa and quietly moved towards the stairs on the second floor.

Avery entered the master bedroom and closed the door.

"Avery, Happy New Year. I called you because I saw the news about Layla's marriage proposal.” After Eric saw the news today, he was caught off guard and shocked.

Chapter 2565

Eric didn’t expect Layla to seek marriage all over the world.

In his opinion, this was a bit absurd.

“Well, it was made with the help of his father and his brother. She also feels that she knows less of the opposite s-e-x, and wants to make more friends.” Avery explained, “How are you and your girlfriend? When do you get married?”

Eric: “Not yet. I thought she wanted to get married quickly.”

“If we can meet someone of the opposite s-e-x who is more compatible, we will not stop her even if she decides to get married in a flash.” Avery said, “Layla is 25 years old this year, and she has reached the marriageable age.”

After a few seconds of silence, Eric responded.

“Eric, you don’t have to feel guilty. I know you should like Layla, after all, you grew up watching her. Did Layla confess to you rashly, did it scare you?” Avery said lightly, “You can come out when you are free, and we will meet for dinner.

No matter what, I don’t want to lose you as a friend.”

“Avery, thank you for understanding me. I was indeed frightened.” Eric has been holding back his mood during this time, and he didn’t know who to tell. Now Avery took the initiative to talk about it, so he opened up the conversation box, “I’m talking to you. Maggie is just a friend.”

“I guessed it. If you and Maggie had been on good terms long ago, you wouldn’t have kept it from us. But if you did this, even though Layla retreated, Layla knew in her heart that you were lying to her. You must know that the last time she met you, you still said you were single!”

“Avery, I can promise her anything, but this is the only thing I can’t promise her.”

Eric wondered, “I can’t give her happiness.”

Avery: "Eric, you are really nice. I..."

"Avery, you don't need to comfort me. I think clearly. Even if you and Elliot have no objection, I will not agree to her." Eric knew everything, there were too many obstacles between him and Layla.

"You know I've always been more tolerant of children. I won't stop them from doing anything, as long as they decide for themselves." Avery explained, "In fact, no matter who blocks it, it's up to Layla's choice in the end. Elliot and Hayden are very hurt her."

Eric didn't know how to answer, and after a while, he said, "Then don't tell her about Maggie and I pretending to be lovers."

"I won't tell." Avery smiled, "What are your plans next? Have you thought about what to do after you rested?"

Eric: "I haven't thought about it yet. Maybe I will go to college to be a music teacher for a while. Several colleges and universities have invited me."

"Yes! It's good to experience a completely different life." Avery said, "Let's have a meal together before you go to work!"

"Does your husband mind?" Eric hesitatedly asked.

Avery: "Hahaha! If he minds, then I will have dinner with you alone."

Eric: "Okay! Let's make an appointment then."

Avery: "Um."

After talking on the phone, the bedroom door was pushed open and Elliot walked in.

Elliot: "Avery, I heard everything."

Just now Elliot pushed the door open a small crack.

"I saw it." Avery said indifferently, "Eric is far more gentlemanly and polite than we thought. He never thought of marrying Layla, so don't worry."

Elliot: "He better be self-aware, otherwise I won't let him go."

.....

Thopiavelle.

After Siena cleaned up the dishes, she took a break and clicked on Avery's Facebook page.

Avery posted Lilly's eighteenth birthday photo last time in her Facebook.

The photo was a landscape taken on a mountain.

Siena saw at a glance that it was filmed in G-Temple.

Although Siena hadn't been back for many years, Siena still vaguely remembered the temples of G-Temple and the scenery on the mountain.

She even remembered that her mother-in-law said that Avery might be a bad person.

Looking at it now, how could Avery be a bad guy?

After Lilly left with Avery, she lived so happily, and she often returned to the G Temple, So Avery was a good person.

Siena couldn't help but like her facebook page.

Avery's facebook had more than one million fans. Although the number of fans was not as large as that of Internet celebrities, her fans were sticky.

Under each of her facebook posts, there were countless comments and likes.

Siena looked at her facebook and started to be in a daze. The thought of going back and taking a look popped up again.

Unfortunately, she has no money. When she has more money, she must go back and have a look.

If possible, she also wanted to go back to Yonroeville to have a look.

She had no idea what Yonroeville was like. But she still remembered that her mother's name was Rebecca Jobin.

Searching for Rebecca Jobin on the Internet in Thopiavelle could only find a person named Rebecca Jobin in Thopiavelle, but not her mother.

She didn't know who the father was.

If she went to Yonroeville, she would be able to find the answer.

In the afternoon, the Teacher came over and saw that Siena was out of her mind, and asked, "What are you thinking? Are you afraid that you won't be able to get into University of Thopiavelle?"

The Teacher knew that Siena wanted to take the University of Thopiavelle, so she encouraged her all the time.

"Teacher, I'm a little confused." Siena quickly adjusted her mood, "I'm from Yonroeville, so I should be able to go back to Yonroeville to take the exam!"

Teacher: "Okay! But do you really want to go back to Yonroeville for the exam? Yonroeville is not as good as Thopiavelle..."

"I just think about it casually. I'm not familiar with Yonroeville, and I don't know what to do when I go back." Siena took out the book, and then said, "I'll call the young master to attend the class together."

"Didn't he say not to quarrel with him?" The Teacher said.

"The big exam will be coming soon, and he won't be able to take the exam if he doesn't attend the class." Siena said, went to the master bedroom, knocked on the door, and walked in directly.

After a while, she pulled Lucas out.

The Teacher looked at the two of them and couldn't help laughing.

Although Siena was the nanny of the Hogan family, Lucas still listened to her to some extent.

"Young Master, you promised me that we agreed to have classes together in the next year." Siena pushed him into a chair and sat down.

Lucas picked up a pen from the table and spun it casually.

Siena watched him turn his pen and brush freely, like some students in the previous class who didn't like to study.

Dining hall at main building.

Chapter 2567

Everyone chatted about Layla Tate's global marriage proposal.

"It would be great if Layla Tate could marry into our family." Master Hogan glanced at his two sons.

Whether it was the eldest son or the youngest son, they were all within the prescribed age range.

Except that the family didn't have $10 billion, Master Hogan thought his two sons were pretty good.

"Hehe, our family doesn't have $10 billion. Others look down on us." Mrs. Hogan saw the news during the day and boldly imagined that it would be great if Layla Tate could marry her son.

It's a pity that, except for the age compliance, the others were not eligible.

"I thought about it for a while. The Foster family put forward such a strict requirement. It must be that when the time comes to marry their daughter, they will give a high dowry." Master Hogan calculated, "Although we don't have $10 billion, we can think of a way."

Cyrus asked: "Dad, are you planning to borrow money? Can you borrow that much money?"

"Cyrus, don't you think you're also moved?" Esteban joked when he saw his younger brother speak.

Cyrus shyly said, "Brother, you can actually try submitting your resume. You are so good, if Miss Layla takes a fancy to you, maybe other conditions will be relaxed.”

After hearing what his younger brother said, Esteban became thoughtful.

“Cyrus is right.” Master Hogan said, “Both of you can try. The sons of our Hogan family are no worse than those super rich second generations who are worth $10 billion. What if Layla Tate takes a fancy to one of you two, then our Hogan family has really achieved a great class leap! Let alone the Gagnon family in the future, even if it is the Lawson family, we don’t have to pay attention to it.”

“Well. I’ll sort out my personal information later, and then try to send it over.”

Esteban said, “I checked Layla Tate’s information today. She is now the president of the Tate Industries. She just graduated and directly took over the Tate Industries.”

“Do you think she is really in charge of the company? The Tate Industries has a professional manager, and Layla Tate officially takes over, so it will take a year or two of experience.” Master Hogan sneered, “Whether she is capable or not, she will return sooner or later. It’s not about getting married. When she gets married, her property will be owned by her husband’s family.”

“I guess her father and her brother will guard her.” Esteban suddenly lost his confidence, “Elliot Foster and Hayden Tate definitely don’t like our family.”

“Try it before talking! This thing is sometimes very metaphysical. Can you imagine that the daughter of the Lawson family will take a fancy to your younger brother?” Master Hogan said proudly, “A few days ago I sent a message to Mr. Lawson to celebrate the New Year, and Mr. Lawson sent me a message! I sent him a message before, but he didn’t reply. This is all due to Lucas’s light.”

Esteban and Cyrus immediately lowered their heads and remained silent.

Mrs. Hogan said sourly: “I don’t see Lucas going out to date the daughter of the Lawson family either! I think he stays at home with his little nanny every day.”

“It is precisely because Lucas has too much personality that the daughter of the Lawson family likes it. Aren’t you women a bit rebellious?” Master Hogan replied in a tone that sees through everything, “At that time, I will find a way to get Lucas to University of Thopiavelle, when they go to university with Piper, they will have more opportunities to get in touch.”

Mrs. Hogan was so angry that she couldn’t eat, she put down the dishes and prepared to leave.

Before leaving, she did not forget to tell her son: “Esteban, don’t forget to send your personal information to the Foster family later. If Layla Tate takes a fancy to you, then you will shine in the family! Your father will not take Lucas that kid came out and yelled.”

Esteban: “Okay, mother.”

After dinner, Esteban went back to his room to edit his personal information.

At the dinner table, only Master Hogan and Cyrus were left.

Master Hogan: “Cyrus, you can also send a copy later.”

“Dad, I already sent it during the day.” Cyrus whispered, “As long as there is a chance, I will not let it go.”

Master Hogan: “Very good. Among the three sons, I actually like you the most. Your eldest brother is too proud, and Lucas doesn’t listen to me at all. Only you are not only excellent, but also listen to me. I will go to the company today and talk to the executives. After discussing it, they all agreed that letting you rotate in various departments can improve your work ability.”

Cyrus: “I will follow your arrangement.”

Master Hogan: “That’s good! You go to work with us tomorrow.”

Cyrus: “Okay.”

.....

Country Aryadelle.

Elliot held his notebook and read the emails in the marriage mailbox.

“Husband, let the people below screen it first. Don’t be in a hurry.” Avery sat in front of the vanity mirror, wiped her face.

“A lot of emails that don’t meet the requirements.” Elliot gritted his teeth, “Do these little ba*tards think my daughter will take a fancy to them? Shameless!”

Chapter 2568

“Normal. If I were a man, I would see our daughter asking for marriage, and I couldn’t help sending an email to try.” After wiping her face, Avery walked to Elliot’s side and glanced at the computer screen.

Elliot just clicked on Cyrus Hogan’s email.

“This young man is quite well-behaved.” Avery casually glanced at Cyrus Hogan’s resume and then saw the red and bold phrase ‘Acceptable for marriage’, “Haha, this young man can marry for marriage!”

“He’s the toad who wants to eat swan meat! The man in this world who wants to marry into our family can go around the earth several times. He thinks that he can make me look different by adding this sentence in red and bold?! I suspect that he has a problem with IQ.” As Elliot said, he deleted Cyrus Hogan’s email.

“Honey, don’t read it. I’m afraid that if you read it for a while, you will lose sleep later.” Avery closed his notebook and took it away.

“Honey, what should I do if Layla can’t find a suitable partner?” Elliot wasn’t in a hurry at first, but after he started looking for a marriage for his daughter, his thoughts went to another extreme. “She’s all alone.”

“Isn’t there still Hayden and Robert? Why is she alone?” Avery took the notebook to the table and put it down, then went back to the bed and sat down next to Elliot.

“Will Hayden and Robert be able to take care of Layla after they marry their wives?" Elliot said worriedly, "I'm not worried about Robert. Robert will definitely find a wife in the future. I'm not worried about Hayden either. Even if Hayden doesn't find a wife in the future, he must be able to arrange himself very well. I am worried about Layla..."

"You should worry about who will die first between the two of us in the future!" Avery felt that he was simply idle, "If you die first and leave me alone, what should I do?"

Elliot: "The three children will take care of you. If they don't take good care of you, I'll be a ghost, and I won't let them go."

Avery: "..."

It seemed a little heavy to talk about this topic at night.

"If you can take care of yourself, you don't have to disturb the children." After a few seconds of silence, Avery said, "If I leave first, will you look for me again?"

Elliot knew what Avery was talking about, but he didn't want to answer the question: "I'll leave as soon as you leave."

Avery: "..."

Elliot: "So you have to live well."

Avery: "Who would deliberately seek death. I'm using a metaphor."

Elliot: "I can't live without you."

Avery: "Okay! Then let's sleep! Don't worry too much. Anxiety won't do anything; it will only consume our energy. You see, we have been asking for so many years and Haze's whereabouts are always disappointing... If anxiety can make me find Haze, I will not sleep tonight. Not only will I not sleep by myself, but I will drag you along to be anxious together."

This was really a bad joke.

Elliot: "Maybe this child really left this world very early. Otherwise, there will be no news of her all the time.”

Avery sighed: “Yes! I hope she doesn’t suffer any pain when she leaves.”

Elliot: “I hope she has been reincarnated into a happy family.”

Avery: “Why does she have to be reincarnated?”

Elliot was stunned.

Avery: “I didn’t say it’s bad to be alive. I’ve been thinking about a question recently, such as where do people go after death and whether there are other planets with intelligent life outside our planet; Besides, is there a more vast mysterious space? If so, what would it be like?”

Elliot looked at Avery’s face and didn’t know what to say for a while.

“Actually, there are many things to think about in life. You don’t have to worry about your children’s marriage all day long.” Avery wanted Elliot to relax.

But Elliot raised his vigilance: “Did Eric tell you something? He asked you to speak for him?”

Chapter 2569

Avery: “.....”

Avery laid down and covered the quilt.

“Honey, you can’t betray!” Elliot also laid down, raised his long arms, and turned off the light.

“What am I betraying? You have too much imagination.” Avery grabbed the corner of the quilt and covered him.

“Did Eric really not seduce you?” Elliot put his arms around her waist.

“Didn’t you stand at the door and hear me when I was talking on the phone with him?” Avery smiled. “Or you would secretly ask him behind my back.”

“I wouldn’t do such sneaky things.” Elliot said proudly, “If I go to him secretly, I’m afraid I won’t be able to help him.”

“Husband, don’t do this.” Avery said pitifully, “If you go to fight with him at your age, I’m afraid of you because you can’t beat him. If you get hurt, I will feel sorry for you.”

Elliot: “Wife, I’m not that fragile.”

Avery: “Although men have a young heart until death, you also have to be realistic. As you grow older, the loss of calcium in your body accelerates, and you can no longer be as aggressive as you were when you were young. If something happens, it will take a long time to recover. It may take a long time to recover to a normal state. The gain outweighs the loss. If you asked the bodyguards to do it, I wouldn’t be so worried. Don’t have nothing to do by yourself, do you hear me?”

Elliot: “Okay, wife, I will remember.”

“But if you call the bodyguards to find Eric together, I will know.” Avery put her arms around him, touched his face with her hand, and said, “You go to work at the company tomorrow! Or we go on a trip.”

Anyway, Elliot couldn’t be left idle at home.

Elliot: “Robert hasn’t started school yet! I want to wait until Robert starts school before going to work.”

“Robert hasn’t started school yet, and I haven’t seen you playing with him!”

Avery said.

“I’m not interested in car repair.” Speaking of this, Elliot’s heart ached again, “If Robert insists on becoming a car mechanic in the future, what should I do with my huge family business?”

Avery: “Being a car mechanic... It’s not impossible. As long as Robert can accept it.”

“Then who will inherit my company?” Elliot asked this heart-wrenching question.

Layla took over Tate Industries, Hayden established his own business kingdom in Bridgedale, planned to settle in Bridgedale, and would only visit Aryadelle during the holidays.

Avery: "Let it be taken care of by a professional manager! It would be nice to pay him dividends every year. This way he has money to spend, and he doesn't have to bear as much pressure as you. How good is it?"

Elliot: "..."

"Okay, husband, don't be anxious. You have just finished worrying about your daughter's marriage, and now you are starting to worry about Robert's career. Let yourself go!" Avery coaxed.

"Well, sleep." Elliot didn't want to disturb Avery's rest.

After Avery breathed evenly, Elliot opened his eyes and looked at the dim room with countless thoughts in his mind.

He was not interested in the universe or whether there were mysterious spaces beyond the universe. He just wanted to live his own life and take care of the lives of his children.

He couldn't help but reflect on the majority of his life.

Along the way, the ups and downs he had experienced, and those who had helped him and those who had betrayed him...

Haze was the most disappointed.

Chapter 2570

In the blink of an eye, a month had passed.

The snow in the yard had all melted, and the temperature was rising day by day.

Although it was still very cold, Siena's mood was very high.

Recently, the teacher praised her for making great progress in her studies, saying that if she kept on like this, as long as she played steadily in the final exam, she should be able to be admitted to the University of Thopiavelle.

Besides, it's her birthday soon.

Eighteen years old seemed to be a dividing line, turning a person from a child into an adult.

"Young Master, after dinner tomorrow, I have to go home first." Siena began to discuss tomorrow's itinerary with Lucas. "Then let's meet at the cinema, okay?"

Lucas: "Why do you want to watch a movie?"

Siena froze for a moment: "Didn't I tell you that I wanted to tell you a secret on my birthday?"

Lucas didn't forget this, but he couldn't figure out why she wanted to go to the movies: "Can you only say the Secret in a movie theater?"

Siena: "That's not true. I'm afraid to tell you suddenly; you are scared. If you go to the movie theater, after I tell you the secret, you can watch the movie to calm your shock."

Lucas: "Wha—" What was the secret that needed him to be shocked after hearing it?

"Young Master, it's actually because I haven't been to a movie theater yet."

Siena revealed her selfishness: "I want to go to a movie theater. You can watch any movie. If I go alone, I'm a little scared."

Lucas: "What's there to be afraid of? What time will it be tomorrow night?"

Lucas agreed to her request.

"How about 7 o'clock tomorrow night? It's not too late after watching the movie."

Siena turned on her phone and found the nearest movie theater to Hogan's house, "How about we go to this movie theater? There's a movie at exactly seven o'clock. "

Lucas took her mobile phone and took a look.

This movie was an action movie.

Lucas glanced at the title and the leading actor, and it was okay.

“Then go watch this one!” Lucas wondered when he said this: “Can’t you tell me your secret after twelve o’clock tonight? Do you have to wait until tomorrow night? What if I have something to do tomorrow? Why couldn’t you tell me earlier? I wasn’t curious at first, but what you said just now made me curious.”

Lucas looked into Siena’s eyes and asked, “What kind of secret can scare me? You exaggerated on purpose to scare me, right? If you don’t scare me tomorrow, see if I don’t knock your head off.”

Siena immediately covered her head with her hand: “I don’t know if I can scare you, but it would be best if I didn’t scare you! Anyway, I can tell you tomorrow. My mother-in-law said, and this secret can only be revealed after my eighteenth birthday. I will tell you tomorrow night, which is considered to have been told to you in advance.”

“Okay! I won’t force you. Get off work early and rest! You can come later tomorrow.” Lucas originally wanted to explain that he would give her a day off tomorrow, but thinking of giving her a day off, she also stayed in the rented house.

And Siena liked to make up lessons, so she could continue to make up lessons when she comes over tomorrow.

“Why did you come late? I’ll make you breakfast in the morning. Otherwise, what if you’re hungry?” Siena began to pack her things and prepare to leave work.

“Sleep a little longer tomorrow. I’ll order takeout when I’m hungry.” Lucas said at night, “Siena, you can come back when you have make-up classes.”

“Young Master, thank you! But no need. My biological clock is very punctual, every morning at 6 o'clock I wake up. I won't be able to fall asleep when I wake up." Siena had no habit of sleeping in. "Happy birthday is just another year older, no different from usual."

Chapter 2571

Lucas: "Whatever you want."

"Then I'll go first. See you tomorrow!" Picking up the bag, Siena quickly disappeared in front of his eyes. Every time Siena walked, she was very crisp and neat.

For some reason, Lucas felt a little lost. Probably because when his mother decided to hand Lucas over to the father, she didn't discuss it with Lucas in advance but called the father directly and asked the father to talk to him.

Siena trotted all the way home, sweating on her back. After locking the door, she put down her school bag and took a shower in clean clothes.

After a busy day, she's a little tired. If she started to review her homework like this, she would lose her concentration easily.

She would wake up a lot after a bath and be able to read more deeply.

Auxiliary building.

Lucas came out of the bathroom after taking a shower.

He seemed to hear a knock on the door. He immediately took a T-shirt and put it on, then walked out of the bedroom.

Sure enough, someone was knocking on the door. He strode to the door and opened it.

"I said, why don't you answer the phone and don't open the door, so you are taking a bath!" Master Hogan glanced at Lucas and then entered the auxiliary building.

"What are you doing?" Lucas stood at the door without closing it.

The chill penetrated, making him feel bitingly cold.

The reason Lucas didn't close the door was because he didn't want his father to stay there any longer.

"Close the door! Don't catch a cold." Seeing that Lucas didn't close the door, Master Hogan immediately strode to the door and closed it. "Piper called me just now and said that she will have a birthday party at home tomorrow and wants to invite you to go and play. I asked her why she didn't call you, and she said you never answered her phone. You boy, you are trying to piss me off! I thought Piper hadn't contacted you, but you have ignored her."

"I won't go." Lucas thought of Siena's birthday tomorrow, and he had already promised to accompany her, so it was impossible to break his promise.

"Hehe! Since I came here to tell you, there is no choice for you to say no! The Lawson family is not something we can offend! If you don't go, the Lawson family holds a grudge, and they can just move their fingers and step on us. Do you want our Hogan family to die with you?" Master Hogan roared.

Lucas clenched his hands tightly and stared at his father sharply.

"It's useless for you to stare at me! There is no room for you to refuse! You go there tomorrow with a big gift to celebrate Piper's birthday. I know you don't like to please people, so you don't have to talk when you go over, but you must not offend people by talking nonsense, do you hear me?!"

Lucas said nothing.

"Lucas, Dad beg you," Master Hogan said, realizing that the threat was pointless. "If the Hogan family is ruined, I will not be able to give you good material conditions in the future. If you coax Piper and she'll be happy, whatever you want in the future, dad will give you whatever you want, okay?"

"I'm old, and I don't have much ability. Just treat it as if it were me who wronged you. If you have any dissatisfaction, come to me. You must not offend the Lawson family!” said Master Hogan.

Master Hogan saw that Lucas’s mind was loose, so he struck while the iron was hot.

A quarter of an hour later, Master Hogan came out of the auxiliary building contentedly.

Lucas was rebellious and hard to control, but his father could get him to listen if he made a good case. After all, he was now the young master of the Hogan family. If the Hogan family finished, then his good life would also be over.

Chapter 2572

After the door of the auxiliary building was closed, Lucas returned to the bedroom.

He picked up his cell phone and wanted to explain to Siena that he couldn’t spend her birthday with her tomorrow.

Between calling and texting, he hesitated.

If he called and told Siena, she would definitely ask for the bottom line. He didn’t want to tell her that he couldn’t spend her birthday with her because he was going to spend his birthday with Piper.

It made him feel ashamed.

After struggling for a while, he sent a message to Siena: [No more movies tomorrow night.]

Siena came out of the shower, picked up the phone to check the time, and saw the message from Lucas.

Stop watching movies?

What’s wrong?

She immediately replied: “OK.”

Seeing her reply, Lucas felt a little uncomfortable.

Why didn't she ask why?

Wasn't she very strong sometimes? For example, when she took Lucas to class together every day.

Siena held the mobile phone and wanted to ask him how to arrange it if he didn't watch a movie tomorrow, but she thought that she was just a servant of the Hogan family, and she and Lucas were in a master-servant relationship, not friends, so she didn't dare send a message to ask.

Since Lucas said he would not watch the movie and did not say anything else, he refused.

Just as Siena sat down in the chair, turned on the desk lamp, and was about to review her homework, Lucas's second text message came over.

—I have something to go out tomorrow. You wait for me in the auxiliary building at night, and I will celebrate your birthday.

After Siena saw his second text message, the corners of her mouth immediately raised, and she quickly replied: [OK!]

She didn't ask Lucas what's going on tomorrow, she asked him when they met tomorrow night.

After sending the message, she read the two text messages sent by Lucas several times.

It's hard to imagine that someone like Lucas, who doesn't like to communicate with others, would take the initiative to send her a message.

What was even more unexpected was that before she fell asleep, she received a third text message from Lucas: [You don't need to come over tomorrow morning.]

Without hesitation, Siena replied: [Yes.]

After that, Lucas did not send any more messages.

Siena put down the phone and turned off the lights. After turning off the lights, she opened her eyes and looked at the night.

Thinking of not having to get up early tomorrow, she suddenly became sober but also confused.

She didn't know what the future would be like, and she didn't know what she would become in the future.

Lucas asked her what she wanted to do after graduating from college, but she never thought about it.

After all, it was very difficult for her to even enter the university, and after she was admitted to the university, she had to worry about tuition fees.

Some people have everything and worry a lot every day, but she was the opposite.

She had nothing, but because she had too many worries, she couldn't be bothered. But most of the time, her thoughts were relatively relaxed.

Fate pushed her forward and did not give her a chance to breathe.

If Lucas didn't let her go to rest tomorrow morning, she wouldn't be thinking wildly now; she usually slept as soon as she touched the bed.

After tossing and turning on the bed past midnight, she fell asleep exhausted.

The next day, at ten o'clock in the morning, Siena came to Hogan's house.

Chapter 2573

Siena first went to the auxiliary building to take a look; Lucas was no longer at home, so she came to the back kitchen of the main building.

Seeing her coming, Mrs. Perry smiled and said, "Young Master is not at home tonight; you can rest at home!"

"Master asked me to come over at noon, so I came here. I see him not at home anymore.” Siena said as she assisted Mrs. Perry with the dishes.

“He went to the Lawson family to celebrate the Lawson family’s daughter’s birthday! He just left not long ago!” Mrs. Perry said, “Master Hogan went with him and brought a lot of expensive gifts.”

Siena froze for a moment.

It turned out that he said he had something to go out today and was going to celebrate the daughter of the Lawson family’s birthday.

What a coincidence! Unexpectedly, she had the same birthday as the daughter of the Lawson family.

“I heard that today’s birthday party invited a lot of dignitaries from the city! It was held at the Lawson family’s manor, and Madam Hogan couldn’t go if she wanted to! Because the Lawson family only invited Young Master Lucas, and the master will have to come back first.” Mrs. Perry couldn’t stop talking about this gossip, “Young Master Lucas is really lucky! He was actually taken by Miss Piper’s family. Miss Piper’s parents didn’t stop it, which means that Young Master Lucas and Miss Piper are still possible. “

Siena responded: “Young Master is handsome, and girls really like him!”

“Haha! You also like Young Master Lucas, right?” Mrs. Perry glanced at Siena and said, “There are no outsiders here, you don’t need to say sorry. If I were 20 years younger, I would also be fascinated by Young Master Lucas’s appearance. He doesn’t look like the master at all. It is said that he looks like his mother. His mother must be a great beauty.”

“Hmm. The Eldest Young Master and the Second Young Master are actually a bit like the Master, especially the Second Young Master.” Siena chatted with Mrs. Perry.

“Yes. Madam has always said that the master prefers the second young master because the second young master looks more like the master. The second young master goes abroad to study, and the tuition fee for a year is quite a lot! It is more expensive than the previous tuition of the eldest young master. I heard that the master secretly gave the second young master extra pocket money.”

Mrs. Perry lowered her voice a lot.

Siena remembered that the second young master wanted to repay his debt.

Thinking about it, the second young master did have a lot of pocket money.

“How should I put it? The three young masters are the master’s own sons, and the master must value them all. But now the master’s most important thing should be Young Master Lucas. If Young Master Lucas can marry Miss Piper, Madam will not dare to bully Young Master Lucas anymore.” When Mrs. Perry said this, she took a special look at Siena and said, “Siena, you don’t have to feel bad, Young Master Lucas is destined to marry a woman of the right family. It’s not something ordinary people can imagine.”

Siena concealed her embarrassment with a smile: “As long as Young Young Master Lucas is happy, I will be happy.”

Mrs. Perry: “Yeah. He is really good to you. We all know that his teacher is for you. You can get a salary and not delay your studies. You must be good at it. Only by taking the exam can you be worthy of Young Master Lucas’s kindness to you.”

Siena: “I know. I will definitely take the exam.”

For lunch, Siena ate with Mrs. Perry in the back kitchen of the main building.

After lunch, Siena helped to clean up the back kitchen and returned to the auxiliary building.

The teacher would come over in the afternoon.

In the evening, Lucas said he would help her celebrate her birthday.

So even though Lucas was not at home now, Siena’s mood didn’t fluctuate much.

Mrs. Perry was right.

Lucas was the Hogan family's young master, and there had to be more than one young lady willing to marry him, Miss Piper. When the time comes, he could choose any young lady to marry, and he could live a comfortable life in the future.

She could only be Lucas's nanny at best.

After all, Lucas had already promised that she would be willing to hire her as a nanny in the future.

Thinking of this, she felt a bit of bitterness in her heart.

She really didn't want to be a nanny for a lifetime.

She studied so hard in order to get rid of this poor life in the future and make a difference.

Her mother-in-law said that as long as she studied hard, she would surely succeed in the future.

Time flies, and it's night.

Siena cooked a bowl of noodles and ate them. Someone knocked on the door of the auxiliary building while she was washing the dishes.

She thought it was Lucas who came back, immediately put down the bowl, ran to the door quickly, and opened it.

"Second Young Master."

"I thought it was Lucas who came back! He is not at home today, you can rest."

Cyrus Hogan said, "Don't you know that he went to celebrate the daughter of the Lawson family's birthday? Probably tonight, they won't come back."

Siena: "But Young Master Lucas said that he would come back tonight."

“Haha! I bet he probably won’t come back tonight. The daughter of the Lawson family celebrates her birthday, you think the day of celebration is over?” Cyrus vowed, “Let’s see if he can come back tomorrow! My dad sent him to the Lawson family manor today, saying that there will be a two-day celebration!”

Siena: “Oh... .Second young master, thank you for reminding me. I’ll be off work later.”

“Well, why do you look a bit disappointed?” Cyrus joked, “Are you in love with my younger brother?”

“Second young master, this joke is not funny at all.” Siena said blankly, “Young Master asked me to come here today. I am just his nanny, and I will do whatever he asks me to do.”

“Siena, let me ask you a question.” Cyrus sat down on the sofa and asked sincerely, “Is Lucas really more attractive to women than me and my elder brother?”

“Second young master, I don’t understand these questions. If you test, I may be better able to answer my study questions.” Siena would not be so stupid as to offend Cyrus.

“Hehe, I know it in my heart. Isn’t it because he is more handsome than me and my oldest brother? What’s the use of being handsome, if you can’t eat it. This daughter of the Lawson family is really shortsighted.” Cyrus said indignantly, “Dad is now as proud as if our family has married the Lawson family.”

Siena didn’t know how to answer, so she asked, “Second Young Master, do you drink water? Let me pour you a glass of water!”

“I’m not thirsty.” Cyrus said and asked, “I said to help you pay off the debt last time. How did you think about it?”

Siena was stunned: “Second young master, I don’t need you to help me pay off the debt. I thought I told you last time that you made it clear.”

“Your salary is not high, although you can barely repay the debt, but in the near future, what will you do with your college tuition?” Cyrus especially wanted to help her, “You refused to accept my help because Lucas helped you pay it off?” Siena immediately shook her head.

“Or did Lucas tell you bad things about me and make you avoid me?” Cyrus continued to ask.

Siena shook her head again: “Second Young Master, young master doesn’t talk much, and he doesn’t talk to me usually. He never said anything bad about anyone in front of me.”

“Although you are young, you are really fluent in speaking and doing things.” Cyrus said this with both praise and criticism.

“Second young master, what you said is too profound; I don’t understand.” Siena pretended to be stupid, “Did I do something wrong?”

Cyrus stood up from the sofa with a smile: “It’s nothing; I just saw that the lights of the building are still on, so I came and had a look.”

“Oh, Second Young Master, I’ll finish my homework here and then get off work.” Siena wanted to send him out.

“Is the house you rented without heating?” Cyrus asked.

Siena: “Well. It’s colder there. The young master said that I can finish my homework here and then go back.”

“Okay, then I won’t bother you with your homework.” Cyrus finished speaking and walked out.

Siena closed the door, then went back to the dining room and sat down in the dining chair.

Last night, Lucas said that she would celebrate her birthday tonight, so she must wait a while.

What Cyrus said just now made her sober again.

If Lucas didn't come back tonight, she could understand.

After all, Miss Piper was more important.

Thinking of this, she took out her textbook from her schoolbag and began to review what she had learned today.

At 9:00 p.m., she picked up her mobile phone and sent a message to Lucas, asking: [Young Master, are you coming back tonight? If you don't come back, then I will go back first.]

Five minutes passed, ten minutes passed, half an hour passed... Lucas did not reply to the message.

It was almost 10:00 p.m., and Siena felt that it was time to go back. But she was afraid Lucas would return at any time.

She wanted to call Lucas to confirm whether he would come back tonight, but she didn't dare to dial his number.

After staring at the phone screen for a while, she saw that it was 10:30 p.m., so she picked up her schoolbag and prepared to leave.

After turning off the lights in the auxiliary building, she came out and closed the door.

The night was quiet, with the occasional croaking of frogs.

Siena walked out of the yard and looked toward the end of the road.

Nothing but her shadow was stretched by the streetlights.

Before she started to go home, she still couldn't help but took out her mobile phone and dialed Lucas's number.

Chapter 2575

No matter what, it would be better to tell the Young master.

What if he came back later?

She put the phone to her ear, and listening to the beeping sound from the phone, her heart beat faster.

She didn't know what Lucas's state was now, and she didn't know if he would answer the phone.

Just when she thought the call would not be connected, the call suddenly connected.

"Hello, who are you?"

A strange female voice came from the other side of the phone.

Siena froze for a moment, her heart skipped a beat: "I'm Hogan house's nanny. I'm looking for Young Master Lucas."

"Oh, nanny! Lucas drank too much, stay at my house tonight." Piper said,

"Which nanny are you? Did I see you last time I went to Hogan's house?"

Siena suddenly panicked and didn't know how to answer: "No... you haven't seen me before."

"You sound very young! How old are you?" Piper doubted.

Siena noticed the hostility in Piper's tone, and thought it was terrible.

If she offends Piper, she's afraid she won't be able to keep her job.

If she had known that Piper would answer the phone, she would not have called.

"I..." Siena stammered, not daring to say her age.

Piper hung up the phone.

Seeing that the call had been hung up, Siena breathed a sigh of relief.

Unexpectedly, the phone rang, and Piper used Lucas's phone to send her a video call.

Siena: "..."

Siena took a deep breath of the night's cold air, and with a heartbeat, she picked up the video.

When Piper saw Siena's face under the street lamp, she opened her eyes wide in fright, then saw the scar on Siena's face clearly, cursed softly, and threw the phone with a 'bang'.

Siena: "....."

Siena knew that she would look scarier in the dark than in the daytime.

She wasn't supposed to be like this tonight.

According to her previous plan, she would take off the mask on her face tonight and watch a movie with Lucas in the cinema with her real appearance.

That way, she would never scare anyone.

After a while, the video call was hung up by Piper.

After all, the mobile phone belonged to Lucas, and it was impossible for Piper to throw away Lucas's mobile phone.

Siena came home feeling very depressed.

It's not clear whether this frustration was because Lucas didn't come back to celebrate her birthday with her, or because Piper called out 'ugly' when she saw her face.

After being depressed for a while, her thoughts suddenly became clearer.

If what Piper saw was her without a scar mask, she's afraid the Hogan family would expel her immediately!

After all, Piper only heard that her voice was relatively young, so she made a video call to confirm.

She suddenly realized that her mother-in-law made her wear a scar mask to make her look ugly, which was really full of great wisdom.

Otherwise, with her humble background, she didn't know how many troubles she would encounter.

The next day, at 7 o'clock in the morning, Siena came to the auxiliary building as usual.

Lucas hasn't come back yet.

But according to what Cyrus said yesterday, Lucas should be back today.

Chapter 2576

At 9 o'clock in the morning, Siena finished her breakfast, arranged the dishes, and came out of the kitchen.

She planned to read for a while, and while waiting for Lucas to come back, she waited for the Teacher to come.

Not long after, someone knocked on the door.

Siena walked to the door and opened it, and saw Cyrus Hogan.

"Second Young Master."

Siena didn't understand why Cyrus always liked to run auxiliary building.

If Lucas was at home, she would never dare to let him in.

Now that is was not at home, she dare not let him in.

"I'm right!" Cyrus said, opened the door and entered the living room, "I said he won't come back last night."

"Second young master, do you come to see me?" Siena didn't want to talk about Lucas with him.

But Cyrus insisted on talking about this topic.

"Siena, I know Lucas is good to you, so you protect him very much." Cyrus sat down on the sofa and said calmly, "But listen to my advice, don't be hostile to him. Practical fantasies."

Siena saw that Cyrus insisted on talking about this, and insisted on persuading her, so she didn't speak.

If Cyrus was not allowed to finish speaking, he might feel uncomfortable.

Cyrus said: "My brother is ignorant, and he has nothing but a good face! Every penny he spends now is given by my father. Once he leaves the Hogan family, he will be nothing."

Cyrus continued: "For a person like Lucas, even after graduating from university, it will be difficult to find a decent job. Even if he stays in Hogan's company, he can't do much. My father knows it well, so the request for him is very simple, that is, he uses his appearance to find a wealthy daughter, so as to ensure that his future life will not be too downcast. Siena, this kind of man who can only eat soft food in the future, are you sure you still like him?"

Cyrus's words let Siena's face and ears were red, very embarrassing.

For some reason, everyone in the Hogan family thought that she liked Lucas and had plans for Lucas.

Just because she was poor, everyone speculated about her like this.

Although she was a maid of the Hogan family, she can't always put her self-esteem on the ground for them to trample on.

"Second young master, I never said that I like young master Lucas. I clean up his house and cook for him every day, just because I get the salary paid by the Hogan family. Like other maids of the Hogan family, I take money for home service. I don't know why you think I like Young Master Lucas, because you think I have no other way out except clinging to him? Second Young Master, I study hard every day, and I will be admitted to university. When I am admitted to university and graduate successfully, I will no longer be a maid for others."

Siena's eyes were scarlet, and she said what she wanted to say in one go.

Cyrus looked at her in surprise, and the corner of his mouth raised a curve to cover up his embarrassment: "Very good! I don't think you are that silly and sweet. Take the job of serving Lucas as a springboard. When you go to university, you will have more job opportunities. Although the scars on your face are scary, as long as you wear a mask, you will be fine. As long as you are willing to work, there are still many opportunities.”

“Yes ” Siena followed his words, “As long as I am willing to do things, I will definitely not starve to death. So Second Young Master, please don’t make fun of me and Young Master Lucas in the future. I am not the daughter of a rich family, I can’t afford to support Young Master Lucas, I can’t afford to climb high.”

Outside the door of the auxiliary building, Lucas’s face became extremely pale when he heard the conversation between the two of them.

He was holding a cake in his hand, and his finger bones were turning white because he was holding it too tightly.

He had told Siena not to let Cyrus enter the auxiliary building, so Siena didn’t take his words to heart at all.

Moreover, what she said to Cyrus just now made Lucas feel sick!

She just used this job as a springboard. When she enters university and has more job opportunities, she will never be a maid again!

Fortunately, Lucas thought about her before, fearing that she would not be able to find a job in the future, so he kindly promised her that she could be a maid by his side in the future...

No wonder Lucas was shocked when he heard this. It turned out that he despised the profession of nanny from the bottom of his heart.

What hurt him the most was her last sentence.

——I’m not the daughter of a rich family, I can’t afford to support Young Master Lucas, and I can’t afford to climb high.

In her eyes, Lucas was an unlearned, incompetent, soft-bodied man who could only live by marrying a wealthy family in the future!

'Bang'!

Chapter 2577

Siena heard a sound coming from outside in the living room.

Siena walked to the door vigilantly, opened it, and looked outside.

"My brother is back!" Cyrus saw Lucas standing beside the trash can outside the courtyard gate of the auxiliary building.

"Second Young Master, go back to the main building!" Siena's nerves were tense, and her palms were sweating.

She saw Lucas looking at them with hostile eyes.

"Okay, I'll go. If he troubles you, you can put the blame on me. Just say that I insisted on coming in." After Cyrus made his confession, he strode out.

Cyrus quickly walked to the gate of the courtyard and came to Lucas.

"Did you have a good time at Lawson family last night? Your little maid waited for you for a long time last night, saying that you would come back, hehe... Go and coax her!" Cyrus finished teasing, Seeing Lucas clenched his fists, he immediately turned and went back to the main building.

Siena opened the door of the villa in the auxiliary building, and waited for Lucas to come in.

But Lucas was like a sculpture, standing quietly at the gate of the courtyard, neither speaking nor moving.

The cold air quickly drifted into the room from the open door, Siena couldn't help it, and strode towards Lucas.

Lucas was angry.

Did he get angry when he saw Cyrus entering the auxiliary building, or did he hear what the two of them said just now?

Whatever it was, Siena had a clear conscience.

The auxiliary building was also a part of Hogan's villa. Cyrus wanted to enter the auxiliary building, and Siena, as a maid, couldn't stop him at all.

As for what she said to Cyrus, they were all from her heart.

If Lucas wanted to be angry, she couldn't help it.

Siena quickly walked in front of Lucas, before she could stand still, Lucas strode past her and walked towards the auxiliary building.

Siena stood on the spot, watching his back, until he entered the room, and then looked away.

A voice sounded in her heart: 'This job is coming to an end.'

She took a deep breath and opened the lid of the trash can – the cake inside shocked her instantly.

This was thrown in by Lucas just now.

When the cake was thrown in, it made a loud noise.

He should have bought this cake this morning!

If it wasn't for buying cakes, Lucas should have come back very early.

Siena's cheeks were hot, and she picked the cake out of the trash can.

The cake had been dropped and deformed, but the packaging box was intact, and the cake should still be edible.

This cake softened her heart instantly.

She carried the cake back to the house and closed the door.

Lucas had already returned to the bedroom.

Siena wanted to talk to Lucas, but she knew very well in her heart that he would definitely not talk to her when he was angry.

Siena led the cake to the dining table, opened it, and began to eat the cake.

The cake was delicious and sweet, but she felt very sad.

Tears were uncontrollable and fell hotly.

Chapter 2578

Was it the other way around?

She felt that Lucas would not forgive her easily this time.

Although what she said to Cyrus was from her heart, but now that she calmed down a little, she felt that some of her words were quite hurtful.

Regardless of whether Lucas was really ignorant or incompetent, and would only have soft food in the future, these words couldn't be said in front of him.

Thinking about it in another way, if Lucas laughed at Piper behind her back as a disfigured ugly monster, she would also feel very uncomfortable.

Why did she talk so much to Cyrus just now?

She obviously didn't want to talk about Lucas with Cyrus.

Probably stimulated!

Because Lucas promised to spend her birthday with her last night, but he broke his promise.

Also because Lucas spent the night at Piper's house...

.....

Aryadelle.

Layla's marriage news was released for a whole month, and there were thousands of emails lying in the marriage mailbox.

After screening by a professional team, 52 candidates were finally screened out for their age, education and family assets.

The 52 men who passed the primary election came from all over the world.

Next, Hayden would first interview the 52 men.

Tate Industries.

Layla received 52 emails from her brother.

Those 52 emails were the personal data of 52 men who had passed the primary election.

Layla looked at the unread emails, her head was getting big.

She called her assistant and asked her to look at it for her.

He took the coffee cup and went to make coffee.

After a while, Hayden called.

“Brother, I have seen all the emails you sent me. I will read them sometime.”

Layla stood in the tea room, drinking coffee and looking at the scenery outside the window.

“I want to tell you that if you don’t want to watch it, then don’t. I will meet them one by one. I will tell you after we meet.” Hayden attached great importance to Layla’s marriage proposal.

It was necessary to find a man for Layla who was worthy of her, a man who could make her happy.

“Brother, there are 52! Are you sure you want everyone to meet?” Layla worried that this would affect her brother’s work too much, “Actually, I can do it by myself. I’ll take a look at the photos first, or take a video with them to see if they can see each other, how about it?”

“If you don’t mind the trouble, you can take a look yourself first. After you finish reading, you give me the list, and I’ll talk to them.” Hayden said, “Although these people are richer and they have status, but you don’t have to worry too much about their identities.”

“Ah!” A scream came to Layla’s ears.

It was the assistant’s exclamation.

Layla walked towards her office with a coffee cup in one hand and a cell phone in the other.

“Brother, let’s not talk about it. I’ll look back at their information and tell you.”

Layla hung up the phone and strode back to the office.

“Boss, boss! Come here!” The assistant couldn’t take it anymore.

She was at the desk, jumping up and down, clenched her hands into fists, put them next to her mouth, and bit her fists from time to time...

“What’s wrong?” Layla walked to the assistant and put the coffee cup on the table.

The assistant turned the computer screen to Layla.

“Boss, look at this! He’s so handsome! Woohoo! Blonde hair, blue eyes, how delicate his facial features are! This sweet smile melts my heart! What’s more, he is a prince! There are not only money, and status!”

Layla glanced at the profile of the handsome blonde.

Chapter 2579

He’s indeed a prince, the prince of Carinovelle.

“If I remember correctly, there are quite a lot of people in the royal family of Carinovelle. The prince is not a rare species.” Layla has no filters for the nobles. After all, she was also a pampered princess at home. As long as she wanted, her parents and brother could give her anything.

“Boss! How can you say that! Even if he doesn’t inherit the throne in the future, he will definitely inherit a lot of inheritance in the future! In fact, when he grows up like this, money is not that important... Boss, he is so handsome, are you really not going to think about it?” The assistant was crazily moved.

Layla: “Is there nothing else?”

The assistant: “Yes! Everyone is handsome! Different temperaments! Different skin colors and different countries, the same thing is that they are all handsome, rich and powerful! Boss, if you can have them all...”

“Pfft!” Layla patted her heart, “Don’t talk nonsense. I only need one.”

“But it’s so hard to choose! Boss, see for yourself, All of them are excellent!” The assistant really had a hard time making a choice, “You can chat with them online first, and let them come to the company.”

“Come to the company?” Layla saw the assistant’s little thought, “Why don’t you help me meet them!”

“Boss, don’t tease me. When I see a handsome guy, my brain is easy to shortcircuit. Why don’t you ask your best friend to help you?”

“Okay! I’ll check the email first.” After Layla finished speaking, the assistant stepped aside immediately.

“Boss, that prince is really nice. His eyes are so clear and clean. From the perspective of physiognomy, he must be good.”

Layla: “...”

Assistant: “Boss, Take your time, I won’t bother you anymore.”

After finishing her work, Layla opened the email during lunch time.

After casually opening and reading a few emails, except for her tired eyes, there was no fluctuation in her heart.

It’s not that she had never seen a handsome guy.

Her father, older brother is very handsome, and her younger brother were also very handsome. She had long been immune to handsome men.

It’s not like she hadn’t seen rich people.

Her family itself was a super wealthy family, so looking at the family conditions of these people did not arouse her interest.

No matter how much money there was, how much could a person spend in a lifetime?

Just like no matter how many houses there were, people could only sleep in one room every day.

She turned off her mailbox, picked up her phone, and suddenly wanted to send a circle of friends.

She searched for the picture of Prince of Carinovelle on the Internet, and saved it to her mobile phone.

Later, she posted a circle of friends – my assistant said he looks very innocent, what do you think?

Attached picture·jpg

Avery was the first to see the moments posted by her daughter, and immediately commented: [Baby, do you like him?]

Layla replied: [Hey, mom, what do you think he looks like?]

Avery: [Not bad! As long as you like it baby.]

Soon, Elliot commented: [Daughter, you can read more, don't be in a hurry to settle down so quickly.]

Avery replied to Elliot: [As long as my daughter likes it, this boy is quite handsome.]

Elliot: [Carinovelle is too far away. Unless this person can give up his princely status, there is no need to talk about it.]

Avery: [My daughter is just asking for everyone's opinions, she didn't say she wants to marry, so don't worry.]

After Eric saw Layla's circle of friends, he wanted to comment but dared not.

In the end, he had no choice but to send a message to Avery: [I think what Elliot said makes sense. Carinovelle is too far away. You tell her to be more rational and consider many factors before making a decision.]

Avery: [Don't you dare to contact her?]

Eric: [Yes.]

Avery: [Since she started to choose a partner, it means that she has started to let go. If you have any advice, tell her yourself! You can't stay in touch forever.]

Chapter 2580

Eric looked at Avery's reply and fell into a deep entanglement.

Since he rejected Layla years ago, Layla had not contacted him again, nor had he contacted Layla.

The two of them didn't see each other very often before, but occasionally they chatted on Whatsapp and liked things in Moments.

Now, the two of them were stranger than strangers.

That feeling was very embarrassing.

He didn't want to continue being so embarrassing, so after thinking for a while, he sent a message to Layla: [Are you busy with work recently?]

Layla replied to the comments in Moments, and suddenly saw Eric's message pop up, and immediately opened the dialog box.

"Did he see my circle of friends?" Layla said to herself, and replied to Eric: [It's okay.]

After replying with two words, she immediately sent another message asking: [When will you and your girlfriend get married? I'm waiting to eat your wedding candy!]

This question stopped Eric from asking.

Layla questioned him again: [After you two get married, will you settle in Bridgedale or Aryadelle?]

Eric bit the bullet and replied: [There is no rush to get married. Do you plan to get along well with the person from Carinovelle that you posted in your circle of friends? Carinovelle is a bit far away. You have to think carefully. Your parents are definitely not willing to let you marry so far away.]

Layla: [They say they don't care about me. Besides, the transportation is so convenient now, anyone can go anywhere quickly by plane.]

Eric: [I think your father seems reluctant.]

Layla: [Oh, you sent me a message just to tell me that my father is reluctant to marry me to Carinovelle?]

Eric: [...]

Layla: [Eric, you are so interesting. Every New Year, you will give me a New Year gift. For example, last year, you specially sent someone to give me and my brother a New Year's gift. This year, because I confessed my love to you, my and my brother's New Year's gifts are gone. Why didn't I realize you were so stingy before? Those who didn't know thought it was you who confessed to me, but I rejected it!]

Eric: [What do you want, I will supply you and Robert.]

Layla: [Don't! It's as if I asked you for it.]

Eric: [Then I will make up for you next Spring Festival.]

Layla: [Whatever you want.]

Eric: [Regarding you finding a boyfriend, I suggest you listen more to your brother and your father. Neither of them will harm you.]

Layla: [Why don't you talk about my mother?]

Eric: [Doesn't your mother follow you in everything?]

Layla: [I like my mother like that. I used to like you, also because you are like my mother, everything follows me.]

Eric: [If you don't like to hear it, then I won't talk about it in the future.]

Layla put down her phone, feeling very blocked.

For Eric to see, She sent a photo of the Prince of Carinovelle.

She wanted to see Eric's reaction.

Unexpectedly, Eric really reacted.

.....

Thopiavelle.

Siena made lunch and went to call Lucas for dinner.

But when she knocked on the door, there was no response. She tried to turn the doorknob, but the door was locked.

“Young Master, I’m sorry! Come out to eat! I know I talked to the second young master in the morning, you heard me. I apologize to you.”

There was still no movement in the room.

Siena took a deep breath and quickly walked out the door.

His room was on the first floor.

She could go to the window and see what he was doing in the room.

Chapter 2581

Siena cleaned his room often, so she knew he didn’t have the habit of locking the windows.

She went outside, braving the cold, and pushed his window open.

The cold wind blew into the room along the open window...

Lucas who was lying on the bed immediately lifted the quilt, strode to the window, and was about to lock the window.

“Young Master, I’m sorry. I shouldn’t have said that you are a softie...Actually, I didn’t say that, it was the Second Young Master who said it. I just didn’t contradict him.” Siena stretched her hand into the window and didn’t let him close the windows.

Regardless of whether this job could continue or not, she didn’t want to break up with Lucas.

Even if she broke up, she must first apologize to him.

After all, Lucas was the only person who treated her so well after staying in the Hogan family for so many years.

“I saw the cake you bought for me, and I took it out and ate it.” Siena said gratefully, "I knew you wouldn't eat it, so I finished it. The cake is delicious, thank you, Young master."

Lucas: "..."

He remembered throwing the cake into the trash can. Siena picked it up and ate it?

"I admit that I was a little angry in the morning, so I didn't talk to you. You promised to celebrate my birthday with me last night, but you didn't come back last night. I've been waiting for you for a long time." Siena's nose was sour, and she told him her feelings, "I called you and you didn't answer. You couldn't come back last night and you should have told me earlier. That way I wouldn't be late and angry."

"You are just a servant of our family! Even if I break my promise, I don't need to explain to you!" Lucas said coldly, then pushed her hand out of the window, then closed the window and locked it.

Siena looked at the closed window in a daze, and patted: "Young Master, even if you are angry, you must eat! If you don't eat, you will get stomach problems.

You open the window, and I will bring you food in. I made your favorite pancake!"

Lucas ignored it.

Siena stood outside for a while, sneezed from the cold, and then quickly went back to the house.

Lucas had a very stubborn temper, Siena had already understood it. Now she could only wait for him to calm down, and then came out of the room.

In the afternoon, the teacher came to make up lessons for Siena.

Siena apologized and explained: "Teacher, the young master is not feeling well today, so he rested in his room."

“Oh, it’s okay. He took the big exam just as a formality. For a rich man like him, there are many choices in college. It’s you, don’t let your guard down.”

“Teacher, I know. The more critical the moment is, the more you can’t relax.”

Siena had adjusted her mood and took out her notebook from her schoolbag.

It copied some topics that she didn’t quite understand.

The teacher brought her notebook over, flipped through it, and then remembered something, “By the way, I found out last night that your class teacher is a former student of mine. I talked to him about your situation before I found out that you studied very well in the first semester of high school to high school.”

“Is it such a coincidence? My class teacher is very kind to me. He didn’t criticize me when my studies declined, but always encouraged me.” Siena said gratefully.

“Your family’s situation is quite special. It’s not easy for you to be able to work part-time and study at the same time. When you are admitted to university, I’m afraid you can’t continue to do this job now. When the time comes for your university tuition, I can help you pay for it.” said the teacher, “I believe you can be admitted to the University of Thopiavelle.”

“Teacher, thank you. Thank you very much. I will figure out a way first. If I really can’t make up the tuition fee, I will ask you for help. When I graduate from university, I will definitely pay you back.”

The bedroom door on the first floor Open.

Lucas was too hungry.

So he decided to go out and find something to eat.

Only two steps out, he heard the conversation between Siena and the teacher.

Even if Siena obeyed him just to make money, what’s wrong?

If he lived the life of Siena, he might not be able to live a better life than Siena.

If Siena lost her job, not only would she not be able to go to school, she would not even be able to eat.

It's so pitiful, there's nothing to get angry with her.

It's just that Lucas will no longer treat her as a special friend.

Chapter 2582

When the teacher was teaching, Siena glimpsed Lucas's figure walking towards the kitchen out of the corner of Siena's eyes.

Siena immediately asked the teacher to wait, and then ran towards the kitchen.

"Young Master, are you hungry? I made pancakes for you. It's probably cold now. I'll warm them up." Siena watched him go to the kitchen, and knew that he must be hungry and came looking for something to eat.

She entered the kitchen one step faster than Lucas, and got busy.

"The meat is stewed in the pressure cooker. You said you don't like it too greasy, so I don't put much meat. It is stewed with lotus root. You can try it." A bowl of lotus root ribs came out.

"Young Master, there is hot rice in the rice cooker. Would you like some more rice?" Siena asked.

"I'll do it myself." Lucas faced the microwave oven and his back to Siena.

Siena couldn't see his face, so she was a little at a loss: "Young Master, I'm sorry! I really know I was wrong, so don't be angry."

"You are just a servant, remember your identity. Every day except cooking and cleaning Sanitation, don't tell me anything else." Lucas said coldly.

Siena: "Oh... good young master, I won't bother you in the future. Then I will go to make up lessons first. After you finish eating, put the bowls and plates on the desk, and I will wash them later."

After Siena finished speaking, seeing Lucas ignored him, she walked towards the teacher.

“Teacher, let’s go to the guest room to make up lessons!” Siena hugged the book and took the teacher to the guest room.

The two entered the guest room, and after closing the door, the teacher asked, “Did you two quarrel?”

Siena blushed and said, “Yeah. It’s my fault. I made him angry.”

“Haha, he has a bad temper. Don’t let him affect your mood.” The teacher comforted her with a smile.

“Teacher, he is actually quite nice. You think he has a bad temper because you don’t know what he has experienced.” Siena said, “He lived with his mother since he was a child. His mother has to work and rarely cares about him. If he grew up in a normal family, and his temper is not like this.”

Teacher: “You have a strong empathy.”

“Because I am similar to him. Everyone thinks I am sensible, not because I am born sensible, but because I am not sensible. There is no way to survive.” Siena squeezed out a smile, “Teacher, let’s continue the lecture!”

In the evening. main building.

At the dinner table, Mrs. Hogan looked at Cyrus and asked, “Cyrus, didn’t you also apply for that Miss Layla’s marriage proposal? Did anyone reply to you? I heard that the first batch of primary elections has come out. A total of 52 people were selected.”

Cyrus showed embarrassment: “I didn’t receive a reply. Did older brother receive a reply?”

“No. It must be proof that our family does not have ten billion assets!” As Mrs. Hogan spoke, she glanced at her husband with a face full of resentment, “It’s a pity that such a good opportunity was rejected just because of Ten billion.”

“It’s a wishful thinking, and we’re not the only ones doing it.” Master Hogan didn’t want Miss Layla to marry into his home. Recently, he asked around and found that there were many people around him, as long as they had sons and were of the right age, they all delivered emails to Miss Layla’s marriage mailbox.

“Dad, how far have Lucas and the daughter of the Lawson family developed?”

Cyrus changed the subject, “I saw him this morning, and he looked very unhappy.”

Master Hogan laughed ‘heh’: “He doesn’t drink well. After going there yesterday, he didn’t drink much but got drunk. The Lawson family didn’t say goodbye to me except that he was drunk and couldn’t come back. Only Lucas and Piper know the exact stage of development. But I don’t want to ask Lucas. If I ask him, he won’t tell. I forced him to celebrate Piper’s birthday, and he has resentment in his hart.”

Chapter 2583

“He’s really ignorant. It’s rare that Pepe can fall in love with him, so he doesn’t know what to do. If Pepe is interested in courtesy, I don’t know how happy I would be.” Mrs. Hogan rolled her eyes, “Which university should he go to? Is it the University of Thopiavelle?”

Master Hogan had a troubled expression on his face: “I contacted the University of Thopiavelle, and there is no way to get Lucas in. It’s just that he can get in as a special student but Lucas may not be willing. After all, special students need training, so tired!”

“You really love this little son!” Mrs. Hogan said in a sly way, “Without the Hogan family, he is nothing. What are you afraid of him? Piper is just playing with him. “

“I’m not afraid of him. He just returned to Hogan’s house, and he’s not quite used to it yet..." Master Hogan argued.

"It's been almost half a year since he came back, and he still can't adapt? If he has such poor adaptability, how will he go to college in the future? How will he go to work in society after graduation? Do you think you can support him for a lifetime?" Mrs. Hogan sneered, "How did you treat Cyrus? You have never been so careful! Before Cyrus went to boarding abroad, I asked you to call him, so you called and asked..."

"What are you talking about?" Mr. Hogan couldn't get over his face, and his voice was a bit heavier, "He's been obedient since he was a child, and I don't worry about what happened to him at all. Can Lucas follow Cyrus?"

"Just because Lucas is disobedient, so you give him more care? Is this fair to Cyrus?" after finishing speaking, Mrs. Hogan put down her chopsticks. "Why can't the rest of us live in the auxiliary building? Why don't you just buy him a villa outside for him to live in?"

"If you are willing to go to the auxiliary building, go! Who is stopping you!"

Master Hogan roared.

"Mom, stop arguing." Esteban patted his mother on the shoulder, "Lucas is my younger brother, and it is right for Dad to care about him a little bit more. Besides, Lucas doesn't like to study, so it really needs Dad help him to study in a good school. Otherwise, he won't even be able to do a good job after graduation. Isn't this more worrying?"

"You are arguing with me about an issue that can be considered by courtesy!"

Master Hogan was so angry that he couldn't eat anymore, so he put down the bowl and chopsticks, and strode outside.

Auxiliary building.

Siena cleaned up the kitchen and walked to the door of Lucas's bedroom.

"Young Master, if you have nothing to say, I'll get off work first."

Lucas did not answer.

At this time, the door of the auxiliary building was opened, and Master Hogan walked in.

“Siena, get off work!”

“Okay master.” Siena picked up the trash on the ground and left quickly.

After Siena left, she closed the door of the auxiliary building.

Master Hogan knocked on Lucas’s door: “Lucas, I have something to discuss with you about your university.”

After a while, Lucas opened the door and walked out.

“I contacted the University of Thopiavelle, if you are sure you want to go to the University of Thopiavelle...”

“I’m not going to the University of Thopiavelle.” Lucas said firmly.

Seeing his son’s appearance, Master Hogan seemed to have an idea, so he asked: “Then which university do you want to go to? You don’t study well, as long as you go to a slightly better school, you have to spend money to get in.”

“You owe me this.” Lucas looked at his father coldly and said, “Either you leave me alone and let me fend for myself.”

Master Hogan blushed: “I owe you! Hehe, I really owe you!”

Chapter 2584

As long as Lucas didn’t speak, Master Hogan should leave.

Unexpectedly, Master Hogan walked to the sofa and sat down, looking at him:

“Come here, let’s chat.”

“What’s there to talk about? Just say what you want to say.” Lucas walked over impatiently.

“Your mother called me.” Master Hogan watched his son approaching and asked, “Have you blacklisted your mother’s number? She said she couldn’t get through to you. so she changed the number and call you, but you didn't answer her call."

"Yes, I blocked her." Lucas admitted frankly, "Is there anything else?"

Master Hogan's chest rose and fell quickly, and then said: "When I called your mother, she cried a lot. She told me..."

"I don't want to hear it." Lucas interrupted his father, "It's nothing else, I'm going back to my room."

"Lucas..." Master Hogan stood up from the sofa and walked quickly to his son, "Your mother told me a lot. She didn't deliberately not discuss with you years ago and asked me to pick you up. She told me, you two have quarreled many times, and you don't listen to her. She feels that she can't educate you, and she is afraid that you will go astray in the future, so she made this decision. If she discusses with you, you will definitely not listen to her, and maybe you will leave home and run away."

"She really understands me." Lucas sneered.

"She is your mother, how could she not understand you? She also entrusted you to me for you to have a better life in the future." Master Hogan said, "Also, I didn't abandon you on purpose. I'm with you. When Mom broke up, I didn't even know she was pregnant. She gave birth to you later and didn't tell me. I still heard that she had a baby. I went to her and found out that you were my son. At that time, I wanted to take you back. But your mother refused to give you to me."

Lucas clenched his fists. His mother never said these words to him.

"Your mother loves you. If she doesn't love you, why bother to bring you up?"

Master Hogan sighed, "Your mother did fall in love. She agreed to talk to that man only to force you to go back to Hogan's house with me. Falling in love, now she thinks that man treats her well, so they should get married soon. Your mother hopes you...”

“Impossible.” Lucas refused.

“Okay! You have your own thoughts. When you have children in the future, you will understand that your father is not a bad person, and your mother is not.”

Master Hogan said earnestly, “You tell me in advance which university you want to go to, and I will help you to get in touch. If you are from Aryadelle, then you must take the unified exam...”

“Overseas.” Lucas replied at night.

“Oh...which university?” Master Hogan was stunned for a moment, then said in a complicated mood, “Piper wants you to go to the University of Thopiavelle... but if you go to the University of Thopiavelle, you can only live with special skills. For example, you are a sports student... I think you are tall, but you are thin. I am afraid that you are not good at sports, right? It is not impossible for you to go abroad...”

“I will go abroad, you don’t need to see me upset anymore.” Lucas sarcastically said.

“Lucas, you are my son, how could I see you upset? I am like your mother, I hope you will be successful in the future, no worse than your two elder brothers.” Master Hogan patted him on the shoulder, “If you go to abroad, you have to learn a foreign language in advance. You think about it again. When you’re really sure, tell me the name of the college. I’ll find someone to help you with your foreign language.” Master Hogan finished, and then walked out.

The next morning.

After Siena finished her breakfast, she went to call Lucas for dinner.

Lucas quickly walked out of the room.

“Young Master, I thought you would ignore me!” Seeing him coming out, Siena breathed a sigh of relief even though her face was cold, “I made noodles with fried sauce. The fried sauce, I tasted it, it is very fragrant and delicious.”

Siena sprinkled the mixed fried noodles with crushed peanuts and capers, and handed it to Lucas.

“Young Master, I said I wanted to tell you a secret...” Siena hesitated for a moment before speaking.

“I don’t want to know.” Lucas walked towards the dining room with the fried sauce in his hand.

Siena looked at his back. She knew that the relationship between the two of them couldn’t go back to before.

She held her face and sat down on the small bench in the kitchen.

After a while, Lucas finished his noodles and strode back to the bedroom.

Chapter 2585

Siena thought Lucas would stay in the room for a day as usual, but he carried a black backpack and walked out.

“Young Master, do you want to go out?” Siena put down the noodle bowl and walked towards Lucas.

Lucas’s footsteps did not stop. Obviously, he was going out.

It’s just that he didn’t know what he was doing when he went out.

Siena stood at the door of the auxiliary building, watching Lucas get into a car belonging to hogan’s family, and the car drove away quickly.

Siena looked at the direction where the car disappeared, feeling a strong premonition in her heart.

She and Lucas will get farther and farther in the future, until there is no intersection.

After a while, she returned to the kitchen.

After washing the dishes, she went to the back kitchen of the main building.

She didn't know if Lucas would come back for dinner at noon.

Lucas didn't tell her anything now. If it were a normal master and servant, it wouldn't be like this.

Siena: "Auntie Perry, let me take care of the dishes for you!"

"Young Master Lucas has gone out? I heard he is going abroad." Auntie Perry said. She's in the main building, so the news was naturally relatively wellinformed.

Siena was stunned: "Is he going abroad to study in university?"

"Yes! Didn't the Master Hogan go to the auxiliary building to chat with Young Master Lucas for a while last night? It was probably decided last night. Madam Hogan was so angry that she didn't even eat breakfast this morning. It is said that it will cost a lot of money for Young Master Lucas to study abroad." Auntie Perry whispered.

Siena: "Which country and university does the young master go to? When he left, he was angry with me and didn't tell me anything."

"I don't know about that. When the driver comes back later, I'll ask him." Auntie

Perry was also very interested in this gossip, "When Young Master Lucas goes abroad, you should go to college."

"Yes." Siena lowered her head to wash the potatoes. Her mood was restless.

If Lucas had a better development abroad, she would be happy for Lucas. but she's afraid he chose to go abroad because he was angry.

At ten o'clock in the morning, Mr. Todd found Siena and had a private chat with her.

"Siena, I have something to tell you." Mr. Todd smiled and said to Siena, "From today on, the teacher will not come. Young master Lucas will go out every day to make up lessons. You can go to school now. you'll come 6:00 o'clock in the evening and make dinner for Young Master Lucas.”

Siena nodded.

“The salary can’t be doubled to you.” Mr. Todd continued, “Can you accept it?”

Siena nodded sharply: “Master and Madam didn’t let me go, I am really grateful.”

“You come to cook dinner every night.” Mr. Todd said: “I guess I’m afraid that if you don’t say that, Madam will fire you! Master Lucas is still kind to you.”

“Yeah! I know. Uncle Todd, Do you know young master is going to which country and university?” Siena inquired.

“I heard he’s going to Eozambiulle.” Mr. Todd said.

Siena immediately turned on her phone and searched for the distance between Eozambiulle and Thopiavelle.

Chapter 2586

There were several countries between these two countries. So it was a long distance to travel by plane.

“Siena, you don’t need to help the cook here. You can go home and rest. You can also go back to school. After all, you will have a big exam soon.” Mr. Todd said, “If you can be admitted to the University of Thopiavelle, you owe me money, there is no need to pay it back. I know your mother-in-law hoped that you could be admitted to a good university.”

“Uncle Todd, thank you. Regardless of whether I can be admitted to the University of Thopiavelle, I will definitely pay back the money owed to you.”

Siena said gratefully and left Hogan’s house.

As Mr. Todd said, the final exam was not long away, so Siena had to hurry up and study.

Back at school, during recess, several students immediately walked to Siena’s desk.

“Siena, I heard that your grandma passed away, and you have been working part-time.”

Naturally, the teacher told the students in the class. Because Siena didn’t come to school for such a long time, some students suspected that Siena had dropped out of school.

“Yeah.” Siena didn’t really want to talk about this, but she also understood everyone’s curiosity about this matter.

“Then don’t you have to work part-time now?”

“I work part-time. But it’s easier to work now. I can rush there after the afternoon class.” Siena explained patiently.

“Oh, what do you do part-time work? I heard that you work part-time in a rich family.”

“Cooking.” After Siena said, she didn’t want to answer anything else.

Fortunately, at this time, the head teacher came over and asked Siena to go to the office.

“Siena, your tutor sent me a document and asked me to print it out for you. I have already printed it out. Take it back and take a good look at it.” The head teacher gave a bound printout to Siena, “your tutor likes you very much! He hopes that you can get into a good school and not have to work so hard in the future.”

“Thank you.” Siena didn’t know what to say except thank you.

If it wasn’t for Lucas, she wouldn’t have known the tutor.

If it wasn’t for Lucas, she wouldn’t be able to return to school while working parttime.

So no matter what Lucas’s attitude towards her is, her gratitude to Lucas will not change.

In the evening.

Siena made dinner and waited for Lucas to come back.

At 6:00 p.m., the Hogan family's car stopped at the entrance of the auxiliary building.

Lucas got out of the car.

When Siena heard the sound, she immediately opened the door of the auxiliary building and trotted over, trying to help Lucas carry his schoolbag.

"Young Master, you must be very tired after studying all day, right? Let me help you!"

Seeing her trying to please herself, Lucas couldn't bear it after all: "No need."

"Okay! Young Master I Cooked radish soup. The radish soup is not greasy, you can drink more later." Siena said cautiously, "Young Master, I heard that you are going to go to university in Eozambiulle. I checked the map, and Eozambiulle is far away. If you have any difficulties in the past, you must tell your father. I will not be able to help you in the future..."

Siena said here, seeing Lucas frowning, she immediately said: "Young Master, I know you think I'm long-winded, so I won't say anything after I finish."

Lucas entered the living room and put down his schoolbag.

Lucas: "Finished?"

Siena shook her head: "I'm afraid you won't like to hear it, so I'd better not talk."

Lucas walked towards the dining room.

Siena immediately brought the prepared meals from the kitchen to the table.

"Young Master, I'll bring you water to wash your hands." Seeing that he didn't wash his hands, Siena went to fetch water immediately.

Lucas was so hungry that she forgot to wash her hands

Chapter 2587

Siena brought the water basin and put it in front of Lucas.

"Young master, what I said to the second young master before was not true. You know, people are easy to talk back when they are angry. I think as long as you work hard, you will never be worse than the first young master and the second young master.”

Lucas finished washing his hands, and said coldly: “I don’t care about your evaluation of me.”

“It’s good. Master, you should be like this. Concentrate on studying and don’t care what others say.” Siena put the basin aside, serve him soup, “Young Master, eat more. Otherwise, I would be ashamed to take your family’s salary.”

Lucas: “You only come to cook one dinner a day. It was so easy.”

Lucas’s appetite was not too big, usually two dishes and one soup were enough for a crispy meal.

“Young Master, are you good at foreign languages?” Siena asked him when he had eaten a bowl of rice and started to drink soup, “If you go to Eozambiulle, you have to learn the language there.”

Lucas glanced at her.

“Young Master, my foreign language grades are not bad...but my oral English is very poor. So I can’t teach you. After all, when you go abroad, oral English is more important. You can ask your father to hire a foreign language teacher for you to study foreign language.” Siena suggested.

“What do you think I’m going to do today?” Lucas asked, Siena suddenly understood.

“Young Master, I’m really happy for you to see your change.” Siena said, “Young Master, I’ve made up my mind. After you go abroad, I won’t work in the Hogan family.”

Lucas didn’t answer.

“My class teacher told me today that after I go to college, I can get a loan from the bank. No interest is charged. So I should study hard in college and not work part-time.” Siena told Lucas her plan, “Young master, I really thank you very much. The past few months should have been the most difficult period in my life. Thank you for not despising me, thank you for taking care of me.” When Siena talked about the emotional part, her eyes couldn’t stop getting wet. Lucas didn’t know how to answer the conversation, so he drank the soup in suspense.

“Young Master, drink another bowl! Today’s radish is very sweet.” Siena wiped away her tears, took the empty bowl in her hand, and filled it for him.

After Lucas drank two bowls of soup, he was ready to go back to his room.

Siena’s mobile phone rang, which made Lucas stop in his tracks.

Siena put down what she was doing, took out her mobile phone, and after looking at the caller ID, she answered the call in trepidation.

“Uncle, I haven’t get my salary this month. When I get, I’ll transfer the money to you immediately.” Siena lowered her voice.

“I heard that you are still planning to go to college. When you go to college, how can you pay me back? You must pay back all the money before September, otherwise, you don’t want to go to college!” The man threatened viciously.

“I see, I will find a way to return the money to you as soon as possible... My mobile phone battery is going to fully discharge, so let’s not talk about it.” After Siena finished speaking, she hung up the phone.

Her phone did say low battery.

There was still 10% of the electricity, enough to support her until she comes home from get off work.

She ran home every day after get off work, and she didn’t need to use her mobile phone.

After Siena finished talking on the phone, she was stunned for a few seconds.

“Give me the phone, and I’ll charge it.” Lucas’s voice suddenly came from behind, bringing Siena back to her senses.

“Oh...” Siena actually wanted to say no, even if the phone was turned off, it would be fine, but her body reflexively handed the phone to him.

Lucas took her mobile phone to charge, and Siena began to think about going out to find more work during the summer vacation, trying to pay off the money owed during the summer vacation.

Lucas took her mobile phone to her room, and after charging it, she wanted to turn on the screen.

— but had a screen lock.

Her screen lock was the pattern-luck.

He tilted her mobile phone screen slightly under the light, so he saw her drawing password.

After unlocked the pattern-luck, he turned on her screen and clicked on her call history.

Chapter 2588

Aryadelle.

Layla has been busy since the primary selection for marriage.

When she was tired from work every day, and during her lunch break, she would randomly find a man in the mailbox to chat with him via video call.

When talking about the first two, she was still a little uncomfortable. After talking about the first two, she was obviously more at ease and relaxed.

Wasn’t it very popular to randomly match netizens’ videos on the Internet now?

As long as she treated this matter as a similar small game, she would naturally relax.

In the evening, Layla said to Avery.

“Mom, do you know how outrageous the man I talked to at noon today?” Layla laughed when she said this, "I suspect he came after my brother. Because I'm almost done talking with him at that time, he even told me that if I think he is not suitable, I hope to be friends with my brother."

Avery: "Your brother is indeed better. Your brother did not rely on his family, but he achieved his current achievements entirely on his own. Some people admire him."

Layla couldn't help laughing: "My brother is so powerful, there should be many women who like him. I really don't know what he thinks, since his career is already stable, why doesn't he fall in love?"

Avery: "Layla, everyone thinks differently. Some people like to be in a relationship, while others like to be alone."

Elliot interjected, "Before I met your mother, I had never been in a relationship."

Layla: "Then my brother may be like you! You have already been so successful, but you still have to work so hard every day."

Elliot: "If you don't advance, you will retreat."

Layla: "Dad, when will you retire? After retirement, take my mother to travel around the world! My mother has worked hard for most of her life, and she should enjoy her happiness."

Avery blushed: "Layla, your father likes to go to work, so let him do it. If he doesn't go to work, he feels empty inside."

After so many years of ups and downs with Elliot, her feelings for Elliot have already grown.

Avery added, "The main reason is that I don't like traveling around too much."

If Avery liked to travel, Elliot would definitely take her out often.

"Mom, you stay at home every day, aren't you bored?" Layla asked.

Elliot only worked half a day a day, going to the company either in the morning or in the afternoon, and his working hours were limited to four hours a day. So he spent a lot of time with Avery.

“It’s not boring!” Avery actually just retired not long ago.

After Layla graduated, Avery handed over the company to Layla, and then she retired.

In addition to growing flowers and vegetables, she read books and did exercises, and her time passed very quickly every day.

“Your mother, like me, likes to be clean.” Elliot explained to Layla.

“Oh... then, didn’t you two get quarreled to death by your children?” Layla wondered, “Why do I prefer to be lively?”

“Your mother was very lively when she was young.” Elliot said again, “Lively and patient.”

“Hahaha! No wonder you are so fascinated by my mother.” Layla smiled and remembered something, “I talked to that Prince of Carinouvelle. He said he would come to Aryadelle. I agreed.”

Avery was a little surprised and asked: “Do you like him?”

Layla blushed slightly: “He is handsome and polite. He said he was on vacation recently and was worried. He doesn’t know where to go, so I invite him to travel to Aryadelle.”

Elliot: “Layla, you have to make it clear to him that if the two of you are together, he must give up his useless prince status and settle in Aryadelle.”

Chapter 2589

Layla: “Dad, I haven’t talked about marriage with him yet! I just think he is very interesting and I can get to know him. If I can’t fall in love with him, it’s good to be friends. Don’t you let me know more about the opposite s-e-x?”

Avery: “Mom supports you. There is no harm in meeting more motivated friends.”

Elliot: “Baby, you have to pay attention to safety. When you meet him, you must bring bodyguards. You can’t meet him alone. Don’t meet him at night. Before you meet him, let me know.”

Avery: “...”

Layla: “Dad, I understand. I can still let Robert accompany me!”

Elliot: “Your brother is a bit weak. If something happens to you, I’m afraid he won’t be able to protect you. It’s better for you to bring bodyguards.”

Layla did not say anything. She left after eating.

After Avery caught a glimpse of Layla walking away, she said to Elliot, “Eric is going to be a music teacher in college. Before he joined the job, I made an appointment to have dinner with him. Do you want to go with me then?”

Elliot: “When is the appointment?”

“This Saturday. Because I know you want to meet him with me. So I specially chose Saturday.” Avery smiled, “Are you going?”

Elliot: “You’ve said that, can I not go?”

“You can go, but you are not allowed to scold him, let alone do anything.” Avery warned.

“Why should I scold him?” Elliot said calmly, “I will do it only if he does not agree his confession.”

Layla was in the living room, listening to their conversation in the dining room.

Mom and Dad are going to see Eric on Saturday.

“Robert, you can go and find out later to see where Mom and Dad will meet Eric on Saturday.” Layla ordered in a low voice.

“Sister, you still can’t let go of Uncle Eric?” Robert muttered, “Aren’t you afraid of embarrassment when you meet? If I were you, I would definitely not go...”

“You little brat, you want revenge!” Layla said in a low voice, “Just say you can help me? If you don’t...”

Before Layla’s hand came over, Robert immediately surrendered: “I’ll ask Dad later! Dad hasn’t finished eating right now! Just wait!”

“What game are you playing? Besides playing games all day long, do you do anything else?” Layla wanted to snatch his phone.

Robert immediately jumped up from the sofa and said, “Sister! You misunderstood me! I only played two games every day when I returned home! I don’t play at school!”

Layla: “I get a headache when I see you playing games! Why doesn’t daddy play games? Why doesn’t brother play games? I don’t play games either, but you like to play games!”

Robert, “Sister, let me relax! I have no addiction to playing games.”

“Have you ever thought about what to do after graduating from college? You are not a kid, so it’s time to plan.” Layla was afraid that Robert would hinder the whole family, so she decided to teach Robert, “Don’t go to my brother’s place during your winter and summer vacations. Now that the car has been repaired, I think you can go to Dad’s company to exercise.”

Layla wanted Robert to grow up quickly, so that he could slowly take over Elliot’s work after graduating from college, so that Elliot could retire early.

“Sister, let me go! I don’t want to think about such a heavy topic yet. Dad didn’t force me...”

“Because Dad doesn’t force you, you always feel that you still have a lot of time to play. Dad can support you now, but he can’t protect you forever! If you don’t work hard, people will laugh at you in the future. It’s impossible to be by your side all the time, let’s see what you do in the future!”

Robert suddenly stopped playing the game.

Chapter 2590

“You go to inquire about it, and ask your college classmates. Those who have ideas and goals have already taken various certificates to prepare for future studies or entering the society. Only you have an empty head and do not think about making progress.” After Layla said this, Robert quit the game.

Robert: “Sister, I won’t play games at home anymore.”

“It’s not that I don’t let you play games, but you play games here every day when you come back for dinner. Don’t you have anything else to do?”

“Sister, I’m going to read.” Robert said bitterly, ready to go back to the room “Wait, I’ve eaten too much, you go out for a walk with me.” Layla walked to the door and put on her coat.

Robert: “Okay.”

The siblings had been like this since childhood, no matter what happened a second ago, as long as Layla treated Robert a little better, Robert would become a little follower and follow behind her sister.

After the siblings left, Avery and Elliot looked at each other in the dining room.

Why did the two of them seldom put pressure on Robert? Because Layla gave.

If the whole family put pressure on Robert, They’re afraid that Robert would not be able to bear it.

In fact, Layla was also relatively strong and domineering in front of Robert. This was probably the sister’s natural suppression of the younger brother’s blood.

Saturday morning.

Avery and Elliot were going out to meet Eric.

Layla usually slept in on weekends, and often slept until noon before getting up.

Unexpectedly, when Avery and Elliot were about to go out, Layla was also going out.

Layla was wearing the latest spring jacket of a certain brand, with her long hair draped over her shoulders. It seemed that she had been smeared with essential oils, which smelled very fragrant.

With delicate light makeup on her face, she looked very good.

“Honey, are you going out? Haven't you had breakfast yet?” Avery asked.

While the two of them were eating breakfast, neither Layla nor Robert came down.

The two of them defaulted that the two children were sleeping late, so they didn't call them.

“I ate some snacks in the room, and I'm not hungry anymore.” Layla's face was full of joy, “I made an appointment with Prince today. If there is a chance, I will bring him to see you.”

Layla finished speaking and went out.

Elliot and Avery looked at each other.

Avery spoke first: “Didn't she tell you in advance?”

Elliot: “No.”

“Oh... Maybe the prince just arrived today! What's the name of the prince?”

Avery had a premonition in his heart, feeling that Layla would bring the prince to meet them later.

Elliot: “Let me check the mailbox.”

Elliot read all the information on the 52 candidates, and after reading them, he felt that they were not as good as Hayden, so Elliot didn't remember their names at all.

“Forget it, that young man will also introduce himself when we meet.” Avery grabbed his hand, “Let's go!”

.....

Thopiavelle.

Siena was getting paid today.

When her class was over, she saw the transfer information, so she immediately transferred the money to the Uncle, surnamed Seguin.

After the money was transferred, after a while, the other party replied with a question mark.

Siena: [Uncle, do you think it's too little? I don't have double salary in the future, next month will be less. But I will use the summer vacation time to work a few more jobs. Don't worry, I will definitely pay back the money owed to you.]

Man surnamed Seguin: [Your money has been paid off!]

Siena felt dizzy in an instant, and a layer of hot sweat broke out on her back.

Her debt paid off?

Who paid her back?

Chapter 2591

Was it Second young master?

The second young master told her several times before that he would help her pay off the debt...

Siena's heart beat faster, and the finger that sent the message was trembling:
[Who will pay it back for me? I don't even know!]

Man surnamed Seguin: [I didn't ask! As long as you pay me back, I don't care who will pay it back!]

Siena was in a hurry, and immediately walked out of the classroom with her mobile phone, calling the man surnamed Seguin.

"Uncle, please check the specific information of the person who transferred the money to you, please! Please help me to see it!" Siena begged.

"All right, all right! Let me take a look." The man surnamed Seguin opened the bank app, glanced at the transfer details, and then clicked his tongue, "It's from the Hogan family! Siena, I didn't expect you to be so powerful to get the Hogan family to pay you back the money!"

Siena's heart hanging in the air gradually fell down. She didn't expect it was really the Second Young Master.

She didn't know how the second young master found out that she owed money to a man surnamed Seguin.

Siena's brain was running at high speed, and she asked at the same time:

"Uncle, when will the money be returned to you?"

"Just yesterday." After the man surnamed Seguin finished speaking, he yawned a lot and hung up the phone.

Siena originally wanted to ask her mother-in-law about the bracelet, but the phone had already hung up and the class bell rang.

She immediately went back to the classroom and sent a message to the man surnamed Seguin to ask about the bracelet.

The second young master didn't know that the man surnamed Seguin took away her mother-in-law's bracelet, and whether the man surnamed Seguin took the initiative to return the bracelet.

The money she owed was more important than the mother-in-law's bracelet.

The man named Seguin did not reply to her messages.

She couldn't help but wonder, was it possible that the man surnamed Seguin sold her mother-in-law's bracelet?

Halfway through the class, she suddenly thought that The second young master, Cyrus Hogan may have gone to Mr. Todd to inquire.

When her mother-in-law was sick and needed medical treatment, she first borrowed money from Mr. Todd. Later, after being introduced by Mr. Todd, he found this man surnamed Seguin to borrow money.

Although the man surnamed Seguin often urged Siena to pay back the money, the man surnamed Seguin did not charge particularly high interest.

After figuring this out, Siena decided to go back and thank Cyrus.

After class in the afternoon, Siena immediately went to the fruit shop outside the school and bought some expensive fruits.

After choosing the fruit, she took a taxi on the side of the road and went to Hogan's house.

Cyrus was working in the Hogan Group now, and the time he came back every day was about the same as Lucas's time to come back from night make-up classes.

After Siena arrived at the auxiliary building, she prepared dinner as quickly as possible, and then went to guard the entrance of the main building with fruits.

At six in the evening, Cyrus drove back and saw Siena standing at the door of the main building, immediately stopped and walked down.

"Second Young Master! Thank you so much." Siena handed the fruit in her hand to Cyrus, "You said before that you would help me pay off the debt, but I said no, I didn't expect you to help me pay off the debt. When I have money in the future, I will return the money to you."

Siena forced the fruit into Cyrus's hands.

Cyrus was surprised.

Pay back?

Pay her back?

Cyrus didn't know who she owed money at all, so how could he help her pay off the debt.

Just when Cyrus was about to explain, he saw Lucas coming back.

Lucas got out of the car, stood at the door of the auxiliary building, and looked towards them.

“Haha, Siena, our family buys fresh fruits every day. Don’t you have them in the auxiliary building? You can take the fruit back and eat it yourself! Or give it to my brother.” Cyrus delicately showed harmony with Siena. The appearance of a good relationship made Lucas angry.

“Okay! Then I’ll take it to the auxiliary building.” Siena turned her back to Lucas and didn’t see Lucas looking at them, “Second Young Master, please tell me your contact information! When I make money in the future, I will return the money to you immediately. But I may pay it later. But I will pay you interest.”

Chapter 2592

“All right! Let me give you the contact information!” Cyrus said, took out his mobile phone, Show Siena.

Lucas saw the two of them so close, his face was gloomy, and he strode back to the auxiliary building.

“By the way, Second Young Master, did the person surnamed Seguin give you my mother-in-law’s bracelet? He took away my mother-in-law’s bracelet before and said he would return it to me after paying off the debt. I’ll send him a message today, he ignored me.” Siena asked.

Cyrus didn’t help her pay off the debt, and he didn’t know what kind of bracelet it was: “No!” After saying this, Cyrus returned to the car, “I’ll drive the car in first, otherwise my elder brother and I will be in the car later and Dad’s car can’t go in.”

Siena watched Cyrus drive into the yard of the main building.

She had already finished asking all the questions she wanted to ask, and she got the answer, and also added Cyrus’s contact information. In the future, she only needed to return the money to him when she made money.

Thinking of this, she carried the fruit and walked towards the auxiliary building.

Entering the auxiliary building, she saw Lucas eating in the dining room, with a surprised expression on her face: “Young Master, you are back! I didn’t even see you back.”

Siena carried the fruit to the kitchen and put it down, then walked towards the dining room.

“Young master, the second young master helped me pay off the debt. So I went to find the second young master just now.”

Siena told Lucas about this.

Lucas looked down at the rice and dishes in front of him, and said casually:

“He’s so kind to you!”

“He must be looking at me with pity! My mother-in-law has worked in the Hogan family for many years. The second young master has seen me when I was a child.” Siena explained.

Lucas felt as if he had knocked over the five-flavored bottle, and asked, “How do you know that he paid you back?”

“He told me several times before that he would help me pay back the money. But I refused.” Siena continued to explain, “Although the second young master is not bad, but the second young master likes to quarrel with you. So I don’t want to owe the second young master money.”

Lucas did not expect that Cyrus would approach Siena in private, saying that he wanted to help Siena pay back the money.

He didn’t know what Cyrus was thinking.

“Young Master, don’t be angry. I will return the money with interest to the second young master in the future. I have to pay back the money I owe others and the money I owe him. It's just that I owe him money, and he can let me read so that I can pay back after finishing college, so I can relax a lot now." When Siena said this, she breathed a sigh of relief, "Finally, I don't have to think about finding a job during the summer vacation."

Lucas could feel her pressure relieved a lot.

After eating, Lucas deliberately asked: "Did you get your mother-in-law's bracelet back?"

He had strong self-esteem and wanted to say directly, "I paid you back the money", but he couldn't open his mouth.

Moreover, Siena had already determined that Cyrus helped her pay it back, and Cyrus shamelessly took credit for it. He only found it ironic and didn't want to get involved.

Siena shook her head: "Second young master didn't know that person took away my mother-in-law's bracelet, so I didn't ask that person for it. I asked that person about the bracelet, but he didn't answer me. I suspect that he has already taken the bracelet and sold it."

"Are you going to let it go like this?" Lucas asked and then wiped his mouth with a tissue.

Siena: "Otherwise, I have nothing to do. I don't know where that person lives. If I call the police, what if he retaliates against me in the future? I'm about to take the big exam, and if I get into trouble at this time..."

"Indeed. If you lose it, you lose it, nothing is as important as your final exam."

Lucas interrupted her and stood up from the dining chair.

"Young Master, are you angry again?" Siena saw that his face was not good, and immediately asked, "I know you have a bad relationship with the second young master, I will not go to him if I have nothing to do."

“You don’t have to tell me these things. As long as you cook well every day, I don’t care about the rest.” After Lucas finished speaking, he strode into the bedroom.

Siena watched Lucas walk away, feeling a little disappointed.

Before today, the relationship between the two of them had improved a little.

Unexpectedly, the second young master Cyrus helped her pay back the money, which made Lucas angry again.

How much would she like to return the money owed to the Second Young Master right now! It’s a pity that she didn’t have that much money.

Reason told her that the debt owed to Cyrus should be repaid after she formally enters work, and she should save tuition fees for college now.

Thinking of this, she quickly adjusted her mood.

In the bedroom, Lucas took out a square cardboard box from his bag.

Chapter 2593

This was the package he received today.

When he helped Siena pay back the money yesterday, he asked the man surname Seguin to send her mother-in-law’s bracelet to the place where he supplemented his foreign language.

After receiving the mother-in-law’s bracelet today, he planned to find a suitable time to give the bracelet to Siena.

He didn’t expect to see Siena and Cyrus together as soon as he came back.

‘Bang bang’, there was a knock on the door—

Young Master, I cut some fruit for you, you can eat some fruit!” Siena stood outside the door, holding a dinner plate in her hand.

Inside was the fruit she had just cut.

Lucas put the bracelet in his schoolbag, walked to the door, did not open the door, and refused coldly: "I won't eat it."

Lucas knew that the fruit Siena sent was intended to be given to Cyrus.

This answer was within Siena's expectation.

Although it was expected, Siena was still a little sad.

She really wanted to have a good relationship with Lucas, but Lucas was like a hedgehog, full of barbs.

Obviously knowing that he was a good hedgehog, but there was no way to get close to him.

She carried the fruit, went to the kitchen, and ate it piece by piece.

She usually didn't eat fruit.

Fruits were expensive and she couldn't afford them.

Especially durian. She knew that durian was expensive, so she bought durian specially.

The smell of durian was not very pleasant. After she swallowed the smell, the taste was unexpectedly sweet, and the smell turned into a fragrance.

She suddenly thought, why not Lucas?

Lucas looked fierce and bad, but he was actually kind.

.....

Aryadelle.

After Avery and Elliot came to the restaurant where they had agreed to meet Eric, they began to order from the menu.

After a while, Eric arrived.

Eric was wearing a black baseball cap and a set of gray sportswear, as if he just dropped by after exercising.

Avery immediately gave Elliot a wink when he saw Eric, telling him to control his emotions later.

Elliot picked up the water glass and drank.

“There was a traffic jam on the road, so I was late.” Eric said. He sat down opposite them and took off his hat.

“How do you feel after retiring from the circle?” Avery looked at his face that had hardly changed from before, and asked with a smile, “Why didn’t you bring a bodyguard?”

“If you recognize it, it should also cause commotion! You’d better hire one or two bodyguards, anyway, you’re not short of the money.” Avery suggested.

“There are bodyguards, but they are not allowed to follow.” Eric picked up the menu, ordered a few dishes, and handed the menu to the waiter.

“When will you and Maggie get married?” Elliot asked.

Avery immediately elbowed Elliot: “He doesn’t necessarily have to get married! When he decides to get married, he will naturally send us invitations.”

Not long after, the food was served.

Avery picked up the chopsticks, ready to eat.

At this time, Layla took Prince and knocked on their private room.

Chapter 2594

When Avery saw Layla and the tall and handsome young man beside her, she immediately understood what would happen next.

Elliot also understood.

Daring Layla hadn’t let go of Eric yet!

Layla actually brought a man there to show off in front of Eric.

Elliot hoped that he was thinking too much, otherwise this matter would be more difficult.

“Hey, what a coincidence!” Layla had the cheek to arrange Prince to sit next to Eric, and she sat down next to her mother, and said, “I happened to be looking for a place to eat, and then I saw you outside the hotel door I'll come in."

Layla pretended to meet them by chance.

Eric glanced at the blond man beside him, and saw that he was the prince that

Layla posted on Moments before, and immediately said politely: "Hello."

The prince also greeted politely: "Hello. You are Eric, right? I know you."

"Malcolm, my parents don't know how to call you yet, please introduce yourself!"

Layla said to Prince with a smile.

The prince nodded, and immediately introduced himself generously: "Uncle and aunt, Mr. Eric, hello. My name is Malcolm, from royal family of Carinouvelle. I am 24 years old..."

Malcolm finished introducing himself. Layla immediately asked Avery in a low voice: "Mom, do you think he is more handsome than he looks in the photo?"

Avery said with a polite smile on her face, "Layla, eat."

"Oh..."

Elliot asked the waiter to bring over two sets of tableware.

After getting the tableware, Layla said to Malcolm: "Don't be restrained, my parents are very easy-going. My Uncle Eric is more easy-going. You can call him Uncle Eric with me in the future."

Malcolm listened and smiled: "Uncle Eric, hello."

Eric said with an awkward but polite smile on his face, "Hello. Try this restaurant's signature dish, steamed flower crab. See if it suits your appetite."

Eric calmly and generously introduced the dishes to Malcolm.

Malcolm wanted to move his chopsticks, but he noticed that Elliot had been staring at him, so he was a little embarrassed and said, "Uncle, you eat first."

Elliot: "I'm not hungry, you can eat!"

Avery said to Malcolm with a smile on her face: " You have to try it! This crab is shelled, you can eat it directly. This is the sauce, which tastes sweet. You can eat it with the sauce. If you like spicy food, you can also ask the waiter to add some spicy food. “

Avery handed the sauce to him and spoke enthusiastically.

“Auntie, I can eat both sweet and spicy. Then I won’t be polite.” Malcolm took the sauce, took a small piece of crab meat, dipped it in the sauce and put it in his mouth.

After eating, he immediately showed a satisfied look.

“How is it? Is the taste still acceptable?” Layla asked.

“Well, the taste is very fresh and not greasy.” Malcolm said, holding his chopsticks again.

“This sea cucumber dish is also good, and it’s also the signature dish of the store.” Layla recommended to him, “You’re welcome, eat whatever you want. If you don’t have enough dishes, you can order more.”

“Thank you! You are so enthusiastic, I’ll pay later.” Malcolm said sensibly.

“Hahaha! You came all the way, how can I let you pay the bill? With the elders around, you don’t rush to pay the bill.” Layla said, and asked her mother, “Mom, is there anything interesting here? I plan to take him around later. But I found that I am not very familiar with this place.”

“Look at what Malcolm likes, and then see where to take him. Maybe he made a travel guide.” Avery originally wanted to chat with Eric, but after Layla and Malcolm came, Avery had forgotten what to say.

Moreover, with the two juniors around, it was not easy for Avery to chat with Eric.

“Okay! Then I’ll take him for a stroll later.” Layla took a few mouthfuls of food and found the atmosphere a bit weird.

Avery, Elliot, Eric, the three of them didn’t speak.

“Did we bother you?” Layla asked. “We’ll be leaving after dinner.”

Chapter 2595

Elliot reminded again, “Did you bring bodyguards?”

Layla: “Dad, can I go home before 7 o’clock? I have to treat someone to dinner tonight! How come 6 o’clock is too late?”

Elliot was confused.

Eric said, “6 o’clock is indeed a bit early. 7 o’clock is not too late.”

Layla and Elliot looked at Eric one after another.

Eric was speaking for Layla.

Layla frowned: “You would be happy to see me dating other men?”

Eric said unhurriedly: “If you can find a good partner, I will be happy for you.”

Malcolm listened to Eric and didn’t even think about it: “Thank you, thank you!

Uncle Eric, I will behave well.”

Eric looked at Malcolm: “You are only one of the 52 candidates. Sincerity is the most important thing, if you want to win Layla’s favor.”

Malcolm: “I understand. I like Aryadelle very much. When I was very young, my father came to work in Aryadelle. I have also come here several times since then, and I like it very much. The climate in this country has four distinct seasons. It will not be cold and cold all the year round like in Carinovelle...”

The implication of Malcolm’s words was the same as the amount of information Avery saw in the mailbox marked ‘may be married’ before. it’s the same.

Avery was reluctant to let Layla marry far away. If Malcolm could settle in Aryadelle, Avery would be very happy.

After Eric chatted with Malcolm for a while, Layla was full and put down the dishes.

“Malcolm, let’s go!” Layla originally brought Malcolm to anger Eric, but Eric actually chatted with Malcolm so speculatively.

When Malcolm put down the bowls and chopsticks, he did not forget to exchange contact information with Eric.

Layla watched the two of them exchange contact information, trying to maintain a calm face, but her eyes had betrayed her heart.

Avery couldn't help laughing seeing Layla so awkward.

After Layla took Malcolm away, Avery changed the subject: "Eric, are you nervous about going to the school to report next Monday? Will you be secretly photographed by students during class?"

"I'm already mentally prepared." Eric said and then asked the waiter to take away the tableware for Layla and Malcolm on the table.

"How long do you plan to be a teacher? How many years have you signed the contract?" Avery asked.

Eric: "Signed for two years."

"Is there a salary?" Avery asked with a smile.

"Yes. I said it's fine to pay the salary of an ordinary music teacher, but the school insists on paying the salary of a professor." Eric blushed, "If you want to see it, I'll show you when I get paid."

"Haha Okay!"

Elliot was a little jealous seeing the two of them chatting so happily.

"Are you both very optimistic about Malcolm?" Elliot ended their topic and changed it to something he could talk to.

Avery: "I think Malcolm is pretty good. My first impression is that he's quite simple."

Eric: "I also think he's not bad. His looks, temperament, and manners are all okay."

Elliot: "Why didn't I see him? How good is it?"

Avery: "Husband, Layla is clearly not interested in him, if she were really interested in him, she wouldn't bring him here."

Elliot: "You mean, Layla still wants to marry Eric?"

Avery and Eric were speechless.

Eric has tried his best to avoid the center of the storm, so why is he still being targeted?

Chapter 2596

"What does this have to do with Eric?" Avery picked up a chopstick for Elliot, and said, "Didn't you see Eric's behavior just now? Eric doesn't have that kind of thought for Layla. It's Layla's problem."

"What's wrong with Layla?" Elliot was eager to protect Layla, "She is just a blank sheet of paper, and we need to guide her well."

"You can't guide her always." Avery had patiently communicated with Layla before.

If Layla was a child, Avery might be able to guide her. But she was 25 years old, and she would no longer follow other people's arrangements and guidance casually. Everyone had the right to choose their own life.

"I'll have a good talk with Layla tonight." Elliot vowed.

"Okay! Don't finish talking, Layla will come to me to complain." Avery teased.

Elliot: "Don't you believe me?"

Avery: "I just know Layla too well."

Eric listened to what they said, and dared not interrupt. He lowered his head and ate food in silence.

"Eric, I will tell you clearly today," Elliot suddenly looked at Eric, and said coldly,

"I will never let Layla marry you. If you want to marry Layla, do it in your next life!" After a pause, he said again, "It won't work in the next life either!"

Eric: "I don't think I asked Layla to marry me?"

Avery blushed in embarrassment: "Honey, let's stop this matter. You want to guide Layla, so you should find an opportunity to talk to her. Eric didn't do anything wrong, so don't target him."

Elliot didn't refute, but he couldn't eat either.

Avery understood his mood.

Elliot had always held Layla as a treasure in his palm. When Layla was a child, he was afraid that she would stumble, and wished to install a surveillance camera on Layla and wished to follow her all day and guard her 24 hours a day. All the while, Layla listened to them both very well.

The choice of high school and university, Layla followed Elliot's arrangement.

And the postgraduate study also obeyed Elliot's arrangement.

In the past few years, their family atmosphere had been very harmonious and happy.

Unexpectedly, the daughter showed her strong consciousness in choosing a mate.

Avery respected Layla and understood Elliot's distress.

"Husband, you'd better be careful! We still have two sons who haven't found a partner. Hayden shouldn't worry about it, but Robert will give you a surprise when the time comes." Avery said this because she is a parent. The desire for children was idealized.

And things like fate were sometimes unreasonable.

"Avery, you remind me of my parents." Eric said awkwardly, "After my accident, they started urging me to have a baby."

Avery: "Haha, I know! Although I really want Hayden and Layla to have a family,

I hope they can find someone they like and start a family. Otherwise, it's better to be single after getting married.”

Eric: “Yes.”

A thought flashed through Elliot's mind: “If I remember correctly, you had hemiplegia before, right? Are you still fertile?”

Eric: “...”

Avery: “This is his privacy, it's too rude for you to ask directly like this.”

Elliot raised his eyebrows and looked at Eric provocatively.

Chapter 2597

Eric: “Thank you for your concern. Apart from hypoglycemia and not being able to exercise strenuously, I have no other serious physical problems for the time being.”

....

Thopiavelle.

There were still 40 days until the final exam.

Whenever Siena saw the countdown on the blackboard, her heart beat faster.

Today the teacher assigned a homework for everyone to relax.

That was to write a plan after the final exam.

It could be a plan for future study and work, or a summer play plan.

Siena held the pen, stared at the blackboard for a while, and then started to write.

After the big exam, no matter what the results are, I want to go to Yonroeville to see it first. I checked the air ticket to Yonroeville, and the student ticket can be discounted by 30%. After the discount, the fare is less than $300. I start saving money now, and then I can not only go to Yonroeville once, but also go to Aryadelle again. From what I can remember to the present, I have been completely vague about Yonroeville. Ironically, it's my home country. I want to see my homeland, and I want to know what my family has been through in that land.

When I was young, my mother-in-law always told me not to ask too many questions and not to be curious, but the seeds of curiosity never stopped growing. They have taken root in my heart, and it would be a pity if I didn't go and see them.

At that time, if the funds are sufficient, I still want to go to Aryadelle, where there are people I care about. I believe they should have not forgotten me...

After finishing the composition, Siena didn't look back.

Because this was an idea that came to her mind very early on.

If her mother-in-law was still alive, she would also beg her mother-in-law to let her go out and have a look.

After handing in the homework, in the afternoon, the head teacher called her out of the classroom.

"Siena, I saw your summer vacation plan. You haven't traveled far before, are you planning to go alone in summer vacation?" The head teacher was worried about her personal safety.

The head teacher knew that she and her mother-in-law depended on each other for life. Now that her mother-in-law was gone, the head teacher had the responsibility to care about her safety.

"I haven't traveled far when I grow up, but I will be very careful." Siena assured the class teacher.

"I'm still worried! You should go to Yonroeville with a group! I'll help you contact the tour group. Otherwise, if something happens to you outside alone, there will be no one to take care of you." The head teacher said earnestly, "You go to Yonroeville and Aryadelle, you can wait until you graduate from college.

Although the ticket price for summer students is not expensive, you still have to save some money to go to college, don't you?"

Siena felt that what the head teacher said was right, so she nodded: "Then please help me contact the tour group."

"I have a friend who runs a travel agency. I'll ask after get off work. I'll tell you when I get in touch. Don't be distracted now, and prepare for the exam. Your mock exam score is not bad. For ordinary student, the big exam is the most important turning point in life. If you pass the exam this time, the road ahead will be much easier."

Siena: "Thank you for your teaching. I will definitely work hard."

In the evening, Siena returned to Hogan's house.

She had calculated the time and quit her job at the Hogan family before the big exam.

Her simulation results this time were considered normal, but her score was only just above the pass mark.

So before the big exam, she had to work harder to review her homework.

The money owed to Cyrus and Mr. Todd could be repaid after graduating from university, so she didn't have to worry about work so much.

After finishing the dinner, she stood in the courtyard of the auxiliary building, waiting for Lucas to come back.

Winter was over and everything was revived.

The early spring was a bit cold, but it was not the chill of winter.

An osmanthus tree was planted in the yard, which she asked for from Hogan family's gardener.

The height of the sweet-scented osmanthus sapling was at the waist of Siena.

It's not too short, but it's not too high. She didn't know how long it would take to bloom.

While she was staring at the sweet-scented osmanthus tree in a daze, the driver brought Lucas back.

Chapter 2598

Lucas got out of the car and saw Siena standing in the yard. Siena eyes quickly swept across his face.

"Young Master, the meal is ready." Siena immediately walked up to Lucas and asked, "How are you doing with your make-up lessons? We got the mock test results today, and I did good in the test."

Lucas: "Are you able to take the University of Thopiavelle?"

"It's a bit uncertain." Siena said shyly, "I'm not 100% sure. So I plan to work for another month, then resign and concentrate on preparing for the exam."

Siena told Lucas her plan, hoping that Lucas could understand her decision.

"Young Master, when I resign, you can ask Auntie Perry to cook for you. Auntie Perry cooks delicious food." Siena recommended to him.

Lucas strode into the living room and changed his shoes.

Siena stood beside him changing shoes.

"I will go abroad in half a month. The visa has already been issued." Lucas told Siena his decision, "After half a month, you can resign and concentrate on preparing for the exam. I can ask my dad to pay you a month's salary."

Siena was a little surprised, and shook her head violently at the same time: "No need, young master. Just pay as long as I work. I can go to work outside to earn living expenses during the summer vacation. When the time comes, the tuition fee can be borrowed from the bank."

Seeing that Siena had plans, Lucas didn't say anything.

“Young master, you are leaving in half a month, so suddenly!” Siena was a little bit reluctant, “Then you will go abroad in the future, will you come back once a year?”

“I don’t want to come back even once.” Lucas walked towards the dining room after washing his hands.

“Okay! If you go abroad, if you’re happier outside, then you stay abroad.” Siena put the food on the table, then sat next to him, watching him eat, “Young Master, I thought about it for a while, It is indeed better for you to go abroad. Otherwise, in Thopiavelle, your father will force you to do things you don’t like, and you will only be more unhappy.”

Lucas looked at her with a smile on his face.

In her impression, she was either crying or laughing.

“Young Master, I’m a bit reluctant for you to go abroad... because it’s so rare that there is someone who doesn’t dislike me and is willing to talk to me... Young Master, I will always remember you.” Siena said sincerely, “I was admitted to University of Thopiavelle, and I will call you to announce the good news.”

Lucas did not answer.

Siena quickly thought of the time difference between Thopiavelle and Eozambiulle, so she quickly corrected: “I still won’t call you because there is a time difference between the two countries. I will send you a message. Whether you reply me or not, I will tell you any happy things in the future.”

Lucas: “I will change the sim card when I go abroad.”

Siena froze for a moment: “...then will you tell me the new number?”

Lucas: “No.”

Siena: “...”

The atmosphere suddenly became awkward. Siena was a little sad.

Lucas ate sullenly.

“Young Master, I plan to visit Yonroeville during the summer vacation.” Siena thought of this when Lucas was about to finish eating, “I’m here, and I can’t find any information about my mother at all. If I go to Yonroeville, perhaps more information can be found.”

“You decided to go to Yonroeville in person just to connect with Yonroeville’s network?” Lucas felt that her behavior was a bit stupid.

“That’s right! I don’t have any relatives in Yonroeville. Even if I have relatives, they wouldn’t be able to associate with me. So I went to Yonroeville just to find out about the past.” Siena blushed slightly, “I checked the air ticket to Yonroeville, and it only costs more than $200, which is not too expensive. I originally planned to go by myself, but my head teacher felt that it’s not safe, so he asked me to go with the tour group.”

After hearing her words, Lucas put down the bowl and chopsticks, and reached out to her: “Give me the phone.”

Siena was stunned for a moment, without asking why, she took out her mobile phone and handed it to him.

After Lucas took her phone over, she unlocked it naturally...

“Master, you... how do you know my lock screen gesture password?” Siena stared blankly.

Chapter 2599

Lucas was slightly stunned, then turned off the screen of her mobile phone, and showed her the mark on it: “You never disinfect the screen of your mobile phone, right?”

Siena looked at the clear print on the phone screen, her face was slightly hot:

“You are so smart, why didn’t I think of this.”

“I’ll install a software for you, and you can search foreign news later.” Lucas turned her phone back on.

Siena thought it was miraculous, and immediately walked to his side to watch him operate.

His fingers were long and slender, with well-defined phalanges, and they were very beautiful.

Siena looked at the phone interface for a while, then stared at his hand intently.

“Young Master, will this save me from going to Yonroeville?”

Lucas: “You can go if you want.”

“Oh...then I’ll see if I want to go during the summer vacation.” Siena murmured, “If I don’t go to Yonroeville, then I’ll go to Aryadelle.”

Lucas did not answer. After downloading the software, he returned her mobile phone to Siena.

“You can use this browser.” Siena took the mobile phone and quickly thanked:

“Young Master, thank you! You are amazing. I don’t even know this method.”

Lucas got up from the dining chair, feeling very stuffy, and wanted to go out to get some air.

Seeing him walking towards the door, Siena followed immediately.

“Young Master, are you going out? Where are you going? Do you want to buy something? I can buy it for you.” Siena said politely, “It’s a bit cold outside, you’ll catch a cold if you go out wearing so little.”

Lucas turned around and came back, took the coat from the sofa and put it on:

“I’m going out for a walk, don’t follow me.”

“Oh, okay! Then don’t go far away. It’s going to be dark soon.” After Siena finished speaking, Lucas strode out.

Seeing him walking out of the courtyard of the auxiliary building, Siena turned around and went to have dinner.

She filled a bowl of rice and walked to the dining room. After sitting down, she couldn't help but turn on her phone, trying to see if she could really search for news from Yonroeville.

She clicked on the software downloaded by Lucas, entered the browser, and searched for the word 'Rebecca Jobin'.

Her heart beat violently when she pressed the search button.

She believed in Lucas, and believed that this search could find the information she wanted to see, so she was a little nervous and a little scared.

When the page about Rebecca Jobin appeared, she didn't even think about it, and immediately clicked on the first encyclopedia about Rebecca Jobin.

Rebecca Jobin, the daughter of Kyrie Jobin, the boss of Jobin Industries. At the age of twenty, she married Elliot, the boss of Sterling Group, and gave birth to a daughter. One year later, he was assassinated at home and his whole family was wiped out. The case of killing the family of the Jobin family caused a great sensation in the society at that time.

.....

After seeing these messages, Siena couldn't stop crying.

She used to be young, even though she knew her mother's name was Rebecca Jobin, but she couldn't find any relevant information.

No wonder her mother-in-law always took her to hide when she was a child.

No wonder her mother-in-law insisted on her acting ugly to avoid the bad guys.

Was Elliot and Avery responsible for the case of killing the Jobin family?

Her biological father...is it really Elliot?

Why are they so cruel? Even if they don't want to recognize her as a daughter, they can completely ignore her, and they have to kill all the members of the Jobin family to feel at ease?

Siena wiped away the tears from her eyes, entered the word 'Elliot' in the search box, and pressed the search button.

Chapter 2600

There was a lot of information about Elliot Foster.

Siena opened the first encyclopedia about him. Next to his character relationship list, there was Avery Tate's photo and name.

Under the name, the word 'wife' was written.

Next to Avery Tate's photo was a photo of their son. Their son was Hayden Tate, the owner of Dream Maker Group.

Siena flipped down casually, and saw the history of the rise of a business empire.

Siena quit Encyclopedia and looked at Elliot's photo on the screen, tears streaming down her face.

She could almost conclude that her biological father was Elliot.

Because she and Elliot looked a lot alike.

But when she thought of the murder of the Jobin family, she couldn't help but feel uncomfortable, hated!

When Lucas came back from a walk at night, she saw Siena sitting in the dining room, motionless as if enchanted, but her eyes were red, as she had just cried.

The expression on her face was also very sad, as if stimulated.

"What's the matter?" Lucas walked to the chair opposite her and sat down, looking at her face, "Have you found the information you want to know?"

Listening to Lucas's voice, Siena came back to her senses: "Yes, young master, thank you!"

After Siena said this, she stood up and began to clean up the dishes on the table.

Lucas saw that the rice in her bowl was barely touched, and the dishes on the table were also the leftovers from his previous meal, not missing.

“You haven’t eaten yet! Are you going to go back hungry?” Lucas called to stop her, “You shouldn’t have eaten in the rented house, right?”

Siena looked down at her bowl and saw that she hadn’t eaten, so she sat down again and began to eat.

“Do you know who your biological parents are?” Lucas asked, seeing her devastated look.

Siena responded: “It’s useless to know. The more you know, the sadder it is. No wonder my mother-in-law never let me ask.”

Seeing her sad tone, Lucas didn’t continue to ask.

After Siena quickly finished her meal, she took the plate to the kitchen.

Lucas looked at her mobile phone on the table. For a moment, he really wanted to take her mobile phone over to see what she had searched just now.

But reason made him hold back.

This was Siena’s privacy, and Siena might not be willing to let others know her privacy.

Half an hour later, Siena cleaned up the kitchen and was ready to leave work.

“Young Master, thank you today!”

Seeing that the expression on her face was still heavy and sad, Lucas didn’t know what to say.

Siena put her schoolbag on her back, carried the garbage bag, and strode out of the auxiliary building.

Not long after Siena left, Master Hogan came to the auxiliary building.

“Lucas, are you sure you’re leaving in half a month? Have you told Piper?”

Master Hogan asked after thinking about it.

“You care about her so much, just tell her no!” Lucas sat down on the sofa, picked up the water glass, and drank water.

“Okay! I’ve already told her. She feels sorry, but she also understands that you have higher pursuits. She said that she will go to Eozambiulle to find you when she has time.” Master Hogan asked again, “Are you with me? Did Siena say it?”

“She said it. When I left, she also resigned from the Hogan family.”

Master Hogan was a little surprised: “Why did she resign from the Hogan family? I didn’t drive her away! Our family has one more servant, and we can afford it. Her mother-in-law has worked in our house for many years, and she also stays with us for many years... Besides, for your sake, as long as she doesn’t ask to leave.”

“She is from Yonroeville.” Lucas interrupted his father, wanting to know how much his father knew about Siena.

Chapter 2601

“Really? I don’t know very well. Her mother-in-law was brought in by the housekeeper. At the beginning, a helper in the back kitchen resigned, and there was a shortage of people, so the housekeeper recruited her mother -in-law. The housekeeper told me that her mother-in-law was a little older, but he does things more neatly and can endure hardships, so he recruited her.” Master Hogan recalled.

“So you don’t know their details at all.”

“It’s just a kitchen helper, and I don’t want me to pay her insurance.” Master Hogan said casually.

“Aren’t you afraid that she has problems?” Lucas deliberately threatened.

The expression on Master Hogan’s face was a bit serious: “Lucas, what’s wrong with them? Don't scare me. I really don't know their details. Her mother-in-law is usually in the back kitchen, and I can't get in touch with her. If your stepmother hadn't arranged for Siena to take care of you, I wouldn't have been able to get in touch with Siena."

"I'm just joking. What's wrong with them... two poor people!" Lucas saw that his father didn't know anything, so he ended the topic, "When I leave, you give her the salary Settle. If You can give her a little more money, maybe you can do yourself some virtue."

Master Hogan: "..."

Siena returned to the rented house, feeling like she was falling apart.

She returned to her room, put down her schoolbag, and lay down on the bed.

She was suddenly confused. She didn't know what to do with herself.

After the big exam, does she still want to go to Yonroeville? Does she want to go to Aryadelle in the future?

If Elliot found her, would he kill her?

A fear suddenly arose in her heart.

It would be nice if the mother-in-law was still there.

At least not so isolated and overwhelmed.

.....

After several contacts between Layla and Malcolm, Layla told Malcolm her true feelings.

"I think I like you quite a bit." Layla said.

Malcolm had a flattered expression: "Really? This makes me so happy. Because I like you very much too. Originally, I was only attracted by your beautiful appearance. After roaming with you for a few days, I found that I also like you very much character."

“Haha, me too. I think you are cute. Every time I see you laughing, I want to pinch your face.” Layla said this, and changed the subject, “You are very similar to my brother Robert.”

Malcolm: “...”

Layla: “I’m telling the truth. You should think about it!”

Malcolm sighed: “Am I being too naive? I can feel the way you look at me sometimes.”

Layla: “Ah? What kind of eyes? I didn’t know that I would unintentionally reveal my true inner thoughts.”

Malcolm laughed loudly: “There are very few mature men my age. But I think you should like more mature men. For example, your Uncle Eric when we first met.”

Layla couldn’t laugh or cry: “He’s too old. My parents don’t agree.”

Malcolm: “I see.”

“Don’t think that you seem to know some big secret. I don’t know what kind of man I like. I like mature men, and I also like simple men! As long as he is handsome and treats me well, I like it.” Layla laughed.

“If you like it, you like it, but whether you want to marry or not is the most important thing.” Malcolm told the truth.

“Okay, when do you plan to return to your country? Or stay in Aryadelle for a while? If you continue to roam in Aryadelle, you can call me for dinner at any time.”

“I just came out, and I won’t go back for the time being. Are you going to meet another blind date next time? I really want to watch the fun.” Malcolm smiled unkindly.

Layla: “You can watch the excitement, but you must listen to my arrangement.”

Malcolm: “sure!”

After the two talked, Layla sent a message to Avery: [Mom, why is it so difficult to find a partner? I don't like younger ones. really don't like it.]

Chapter 2602

Avery immediately messaged her back: [Don't like Malcolm?]

Layla: [It's not that I don't like it. He is very nice and treats me very well. Pay attention to my emotions all the time. But there is no such feeling. When I look at him, it always feels like I'm looking at another brother of mine. After all, Robert was so kind to me.]

Avery: [Then you can check your mailbox and chat with someone older than you.]

Layla: [...take it easy! If men watch too much, it is easy to lose interest in men.]

Avery: [Hahaha! If your father saw this sentence, he would probably break out in a cold sweat.]

Layla: [During this period, my father worried about me more than the sum of the past 24 years.]

Avery: [Don't have a psychological burden. That's what parents do. You still have to go with your feelings. Don't be afraid to go the wrong way. You have the capital of trial and error.]

Layla: [Mom, I really love you. Just because you dote on me so much, I have grown up and still feel like a kid.]

Avery: [You will always be Mom and Dad's little baby!]

Layla looked at the text sent by her mother, her nose was sour, and her eyes were hot.

She decided not to be so willful, but to listen to her parents.

In this world, the only people who loved her the most were her parents.

She couldn't make her parents sad because of her obsession.

Let go of Eric first, and look at other men, maybe She could really find a suitable one.

.....

Thopiavelle.

On the eve before Lucas went abroad, Siena wanted to say a lot to Lucas, but she couldn't say a single word.

She silently watched Lucas finish his dinner

Lucas would usually get up and go back to the room immediately after eating, but not today.

After eating, he sat in the dining chair, picked up the water glass slowly, and drank water.

Lucas: "It's finished. You can eat!"

Siena: "Oh...tomorrow...will someone send you to Eozambiulle?"

Lucas: "I'll go by myself."

"Isn't your father going to send you there? You have never been to Eozambiulle, and you are not familiar with the place there...Or ask your father to find you a nanny in advance. That's good too!" Siena worried about him.

Lucas: "I'm not a three-year-old kid. I can live well without anyone taking care of me."

"What time is your flight tomorrow? Can I take you to the airport?" Siena thought for a while, and used a far-fetched reason to hide her sincerity, "Young Master, I haven't been to the airport yet! I don't even know What's airport look like?"

After finishing speaking, she was afraid that Lucas would refuse, so she continued: "Young Master, now that you're gone, I don't think we'll ever see each other again. Let me see you off!"

Seeing her red eyes, Lucas felt a little soft-hearted.

Siena was right.

In the future, the two of them may never meet again.

“Siena, it’s rare that you have this kind of heart. Lucas’s flight at 8 o’clock tomorrow morning, we will leave at 6:30. If you come here before 6:30, we can take him to the airport together.” Master Hogan said. When Master Hogan walking in, he heard the conversation between the two of them just now.

Siena immediately stood up from her chair: “Okay sir, I’ll come over at 6:30 tomorrow morning.”

“Well. Have you really decided to resign?” Master Hogan walked up to Siena and looked at Siena, “Then what will you do with your living expenses and tuition fees?”

Siena hesitated for a moment, wondering if she should tell the truth.

“Young Master, the second young master helped me pay off the debts outside. The second young master allowed me to pay him back after graduating from college, so now I...” Siena said.

Lucas stood up from his chair and strode back to his room.

Siena regretted seeing Lucas go away.

If she knew it earlier, she would tell a lie to deal with Master Hogan.

Master Hogan saw Lucas walk away in anger, and his eyes returned to Siena.

“I didn’t know about it. Cyrus didn’t tell me. How much did you owe outside?”

Master Hogan asked.

Chapter 2603

Siena lowered her head and said in a low voice, “$20,000.”

“Oh, such a small amount of money... You told me earlier that it’s the same if I help you pay it back.” Master Hogan pretended to be generous, “It’s okay if you pay it back from Cyrus. Since you are sure to resign, I’ll have someone pay you your salary tomorrow.”

Siena: “Thank you sir.”

“You’re welcome. I’ll give you a little more money as a pension for your mother-in-law over the years. You can use it to pay tuition fees then.” Master Hogan said.

Siena was very grateful, and quickly thanked: “Thank you! I thank you on behalf of my mother-in-law!”

“It’s worked hard for you to take care of Lucas these past few months.” Master Hogan said, “It’s getting late, you should get off work!”

“Okay. I’ll leave after I’ve cleaned up the kitchen.” Siena took the plate away from the dining table.

Master Hogan walked towards Lucas’s room.

Lucas didn’t lock the door, Master Hogan directly turned the doorknob, pushed the door and walked in.

When Siena packed up and was about to leave, Master Hogan hadn’t come out yet.

She didn’t know what the father and son were talking about.

Siena could feel that Master Hogan’s attitude towards Lucas was much better than last year when Lucas just returned to Hogan’s house.

Whether it’s because Piper liked Lucas or not, seeing Lucas being treated kindly by his father, Siena was happy for him.

Although the Hogan family was not comparable to those top rich families, it was much richer than ordinary families, at least it could make Lucas’s life worry-free at night.

The next day, at 6 o’clock in the morning.

Siena came out of the rented house and trotted all the way towards Hogan’s house.

At the same time, the Hogan family's car drove towards the airport.

When Siena ran to Hogan's house, a bodyguard of Hogan's family told Siena that Lucas had already left.

Siena couldn't believe it and took out her phone to check the time.

It's 6:20 in the morning.

Didn't he say go out at 6:30?

"Master Hogan left at 6 o'clock." The bodyguard said, "No one sent him off."

Siena gasped for breath, her eyes were red.

There was a place in her heart that seemed to be hollowed out.

She felt the same way when her mother-in-law passed away.

With her schoolbag on her back, Siena left Hogan's house step by step.

After arriving at school by the first bus in the morning, she couldn't help but send a message to Lucas: [Young Master, I went to look for you, but you had already left. I am coming to school now. Best of luck. I will also work hard to get into the University of Thopiavelle.]

After the message was sent, there was no surprise, and Lucas did not reply.

Siena looked at the phone with a black screen, feeling a sense of grievance.

Tears could not stop falling down.

After a while, she raised her hand to wipe away her tears, picked up a pen, and wrote a sentence in her notebook: Study hard, and only by making myself stronger can not be afraid of being abandoned.]

In a blink of an eye, It's summer.

Siena started the three-day exam with other candidates who took the big exam.

Those three days had passed extremely quickly.

After the last exam, the head teacher used the rest of the class fee to take everyone to the restaurant for dinner.

“Siena, have you contacted the travel agency I introduced to you?” the head teacher asked.

Siena shook her head: “Not yet! I’ve been preparing for the exam before, so I didn’t think about it.”

“Well. Are you going to wait until the scores come out before going, or leave within two days?” the head teacher asked, “I’ll ask them to charge less money.”

Siena: “Thank you! I probably won’t go to Yonroeville anymore.”

Chapter 2604

Siena smiled.

“I’ll send you the answers to each subject later, and you can estimate the score yourself.” The head teacher said again, “It would be great if you can be admitted to University of Thopiavelle!”

“Siena, can you be admitted to the University of Thopiavelle?” The students heard the head teacher’s voice, so they asked curiously.

Siena shook her head: “The score hasn’t come out, so I don’t know.”

“Siena’s mock test scores are very good.” The head teacher boasted.

“Teacher, the mock exam is much easier than this big exam. I can’t do many math problems this time.” Another student said, “Siena, have you done all the math problems?”

Siena shook her head: “ Yes, but not necessarily right.”

“Siena, you are really good. You took so long before.”

“Siena is not a suspension. She is self-study at home.” The class teacher spoke for Siena, “It’s not easy, even if you can’t sympathize with her, don’t be malicious towards her.”

After the class teacher said this, everyone naturally didn’t dare to show any malice towards Siena.

“Siena, I actually admire you very much. You can earn your own tuition and living expenses, which is better than many of us. We only ask our family for money.” A female classmate said, “I believe you will be able to pass the exam and will go to the University of Thopiavelle.”

“Thank you! I don’t know if I can get in yet! If I can’t get into the University of Thopiavelle, I will go to another university.” Siena said, “I hope you can all get into your favorite university.”

“Come on, let’s toast! I wish you all can be admitted to the university you want to go to!” The head teacher raised his drink glass and toasted everyone.

After dinner, it was getting dark outside.

Someone suggested going to K-TV to sing.

Immediately many people echoed.

“Siena, are you going? You haven’t played with us yet!” A female classmate asked, “Only boys pay for it not girls.”

Without thinking, Siena shook her head: “I can’t sing but I can go and play!”

“It’s okay if you can’t sing! I can’t sing either. Come and join in the fun! When we go to college, we high school classmates may find it difficult to see each other in the future.” The female classmate warmly invited, “If you are afraid that no one will pay attention to you, I will accompany you!”

Siena was very moved, but still refused: “I... I am not used to that kind of occasion. But thank you very much! I’m a little tired, and I want to go home and rest.”

“Okay! Then I won’t force you. Remember to announce the good news in the class group when you get your score!”

“Yeah, if you can get into the University of Thopiavelle, I will say so.” After Siena said goodbye to her female classmates, she walked towards the bus platform.

For the past three days, she had been tense, and now she could finally breathe a sigh of relief.

She planned to go home, take a hot bath, and get a good night's sleep.

The next morning, the teachers of each subject posted the correct answers to the big exam papers in the class group, and asked the students to estimate their own scores.

Siena slept until 10 o'clock in the morning and woke up. When she saw the group news, she immediately got up from the bed and began to answer the questions.

An hour later, she was so hungry that she couldn't stand it, so she cooked a bowl of noodles and ate it.

After a while, the head teacher called and asked how she was doing.

Siena replied conservatively: "Except for composition, everything else is fine."

"You mean, as long as you don't lose too many points in your homework, you can get into University of Thopiavelle?" The head teacher was very happy.

If the students do well in the exam, the head teacher also has a bright face.

"I don't know the score line of University of Thopiavelle this year..." Siena didn't dare to be too sure, for fear of being disappointed when the time comes.

"Haha, that should be stable! I heard that this year's score line may be a little lower than previous years. Because this year's math is more difficult." The class teacher laughed.

Siena: "Well, I also think mathematics is more difficult than the mock papers we did before."

"It's not that it's more difficult, it's a lot more difficult. But it's okay, if everyone's math scores are low, it won't affect anything." The head teacher said, "By the way, Your college tuition."

“My college tuition is already prepared.” Siena replied, “When I resigned from Hogan’s family, they gave me an extra sum of money. Just enough for my college tuition.”

Chapter 2605

If you want to succeed in learning, you have to work harder than others, so you can be better than others.” The class teacher taught.

“Teacher, I understood.” After talking on the phone, Siena went to the bathroom to wash up.

She looked at herself in the mirror, took a deep breath, and decided to start a new life today.

As long as there are no accidents, she should be admitted to University of Thopiavelle.

After working so hard for so long, she finally got a good result.

In her heart, she was very excited and very happy.

She carefully removed the scar on her face.

She looked at her real self in the mirror, and she tried to raise the corners of her mouth to give herself a smile.

In the future, it would definitely get better and better.

.....

Aryadelle.

Summer vacation was coming.

Foster family.

Everyone began to discuss where Robert would work during the summer vacation.

In fact, this topic had not been brought up, after all, there was still half a month before the summer vacation.

It was Robert who offered to go to his brother Hayden's place during the summer vacation.

Elliot frowned when he heard Robert's words. Like last winter vacation, go to Hayden's to repair the car?

Elliot either couldn't accept Robert learning car maintenance, or he was afraid that Robert would take this as his main job in the future.

"Shouldn't you go to Dad's company to practice? If you don't want to go to Dad's company, you can also go to my company!" Layla said, "Who doesn't know that you said you want to go to brother's company, but you actually want to run to play."

Robert: "I haven't seen my brother for a long time, I want to go to my brother's place..."

The older Robert grew up, the more he adored his brother Hayden.

Avery said: "Do you want to go, does your brother accept? You first agree with your brother."

Robert: "Of course my brother wants me to go! I won't quarrel with him."

Avery: "Okay, as long as your brother accepts then you can go if you want!"

Elliot and Layla looked at Avery.

"Mom, are you pampering Robert too much? He should learn to do something serious and help Dad share his worries." Layla expressed her thoughts.

"Robert doesn't care about this, so it's useless to force him." Avery said, "Your father's company is always busy. Robert hasn't graduated yet, so don't put him under so much pressure. Not everyone is like your brother Hayden. In that way, both studies and work can be taken into account. You see, when you were in school before, we didn't let you work."

Layla was persuaded.

With Avery helping Robert to speak, Robert immediately felt a lot easier.

“Sister, are your 52 blind dates finished?” Robert asked concerned after eating,

“Are you satisfied?”

Layla glared at Robert: “Don’t gloat. My today, maybe it will be your tomorrow.”

During this time, Layla chatted with some men and met a few.

Those men were all rich, good, and polite to Layla.

Layla was so dazzled that she didn’t know who to choose. So her current progress was still 0.

“I’m not in a hurry! Men can get married later, hehe!” Robert said sarcastically.

“A man who can marry later is a man like my brother Hayden who has a successful career. Are you?” Layla said.

Chapter 2606

Robert was hit and did not know how to parry. Thinking about it carefully, what his sister Layla said was indeed reasonable.

“Layla, don’t worry about this matter. Take your time.” Elliot persuaded her, “Fate is sometimes magical. If you look for it deliberately, you can’t find it. If you participate in more activities, you might meet someone you like.”

“Dad, didn’t you let me come back too late at night? Everyone has to go to work during the day, and many activities start at night.” Layla couldn’t help but ask this question.

After hearing what Layla said, Avery couldn’t help laughing: “Your father is out of his mind. He didn’t have to work hard to find a wife, so he took it for granted.”

“I can see it too.” Layla laughed, “ Then I’ll come back before 9:00 p.m., okay?”

“As long as you bring bodyguards, of course.” Before Elliot could speak, Avery agreed to Layla’s request.

“Then I’m going out to play tonight and will come back later.” Layla said happily,

"I'm going to visit the night market. Robert, come with me later!"

Robert: "Sister, why are you taking me to Aventure? I will affect your luck."

Layla: "..."

"I am so handsome, we stand together, and people always misunderstand that we are a couple. You take me out, no man would dare to strike up a conversation with you." Robert continued to explain.

Robert liked to follow Layla when he was a child, and Layla also liked to take Robert with him.

So the bickering between the siblings was the quarrel, and what Layla was doing, she liked to call Robert together.

"Forget it, Malcolm hasn't left yet." Layla continued.

Avery "Layla, it's not okay for you to take your younger brother! He has often helped you on blind dates, right?"

Layla: "I'd better call my best friend!"

"How is your best friend and her boyfriend? Have they decided to get married?"

"Avery asked, "I remember you telling me that the two of them planned to get married after graduation."

"They broke up." Layla said calmly, "Her boyfriend is not from the local area."

"Region is indeed a problem. If two people can't even reach an agreement on where to live, there will be more problems that cannot be solved in the future."

Avery said objectively, "It is rare for two people who are born to be perfectly compatible. Personally, in the process of getting along, we need to constantly adapt, make appropriate changes, and regress, and only then can we go far."

"Well, let me see if Malcolm is free tonight." Layla finished speaking excitedly, and put down the chopsticks, happy to go back to the room.

Avery saw that Elliot's face was not looking well, so she held his big palm: "We protect Layla so well that she doesn't have a life of her own. This is actually not very good."

Elliot: "I realized the problem. So I didn't stop it."

Avery: "Honey, I'm glad you can think about it. The child is ours, but not our property."

Elliot: "Go for a walk! Let's get some air."

Avery looked at the sky outside. It was almost 7 o'clock in the evening, and the sky was still bright.

"Do you want to change into long sleeves? There must be a lot of mosquitoes outside." Avery stood up from the dining chair and said, "Let's go to Bridgedale for summer vacation!"

"Okay."

"Then you make time." Avery went to get Elliot a long sleeved shirt.

"Honey, let's go to Bridgedale for vacation and leave Layla at home alone." Elliot suddenly thought of this question, "Isn't that good?"

"Your own little home. You'd better get used to it as soon as possible!" Avery took out the long sleeves and asked Elliot to put them on.

After a month and a half,

Elliot flew to Bridgedale with Avery and Robert.

After Layla sent them to the airport, she drove to the company alone.

It's an amazing feeling.

It was the first time since she could remember that her parents had left her at home alone.

Chapter 2607

If she was not working yet, her parents would definitely take her to Bridgedale.

Time flies, she had been at Tate Industries for a whole year.

It was also a year of rapid growth for her.

Elliot and Avery had begun to let her go and no longer interfere with her work and life. She felt a little uncomfortable psychologically, but she also knew that this was a process that everyone must go through when growing up.

In the evening, Layla came home from work.

Originally she thought that the house would be deserted, unexpectedly, Auntie Shea brought Maria and Lilly over.

“Layla, your parents haven’t arrived in Bridgedale yet, have they? I was afraid that you would be bored when you came back from getting off work, so I brought Maria and Lilly over to play.” Shea said with a smile.

“Auntie Shea, you are so kind! My parents took Robert to Bridgedale. I was really sad in the morning, but now that I see that you have come to see me specially, I feel so happy.”

Layla stroked Maria and patted Lilly’s head again.

“Do you two have any plans for the summer vacation?”

“I follow my sister.” Maria has been Lilly’s follower since childhood.

Whatever Lilly did, she liked to follow suit.

Although they were not real sisters, they had the same feelings as real sisters.

“I don’t have any plans, I just want to stay at home and be with my parents.” Lilly couldn’t tan in the sun, so she had to be extra cautious about sun protection every summer.

“Then you can often come to eat with me!” Layla said, “Or you can just stay at my house. Although I can’t play with you two usually, I can take you out on weekends.”

Layla was very kind to her sisters. Because the younger sisters were like angels, well-behaved and sensible.

Tammy's daughter Kara was a little naughty, but she was also very good in front of Layla.

"Do you two want to live here? If so, I'll get your luggage later." Shea asked her two daughters with a smile.

Maria looked at Lilly, and Lilly looked at Maria and nodded.

"Then I'll go back and pack your luggage for you. I'll pick you up tomorrow morning to go to the mountain." Shea said.

Layla asked: "Auntie Shea, are you going to G-Temple tomorrow?"

"Yes! Lilly is usually busy with her studies, and she goes to the mountains during the winter and summer vacations." Shea said, "The teacher, who raised Lilly is retiring too soon, and I have time to go and see more."

"Well, time flies too fast. I should go and see more." Layla said, understandingly, "It's a pity that I have to go to work tomorrow, otherwise, it will be really difficult. I want to go to the mountains with you."

The next day, at 7 o'clock in the morning.

Shea came to pick up Maria and Lilly.

Originally, Wesley said that he would go to the mountain with them, but he was on the night shift last night, and Shea felt sorry for him, so she didn't call him when she got up in the morning.

After Shea received her two daughters, the car set off from Foster's house to G-Temple.

At the same time, Siena came out of the homestay at the foot of the mountain with a backpack on her back, planning to climb up the mountain on foot.

Her final test scores and the score for getting into the University of Thopiavelle were both out.

She was accepted into the University of Thopiavelle.

So she bought a plane ticket to Aryadelle and planned to visit G-Temple.

She arrived in Aryadelle yesterday. She was sleepy when she checked in yesterday, but she suffered from insomnia last night.

She didn't know why, but she felt panicked.

She wasn't sure if the teacher on the mountain still remembered her.

More than ten years, whether they were long or not, were not short.

Chapter 2608

At eight in the morning, Siena came to G-Temple.

Her impression of G-Temple was actually very vague. After all, she was young at that time, and she only had a relatively clear memory of the Buddhist temple where she lived.

But the feeling G-Temple gave her had not changed.

She had no home since she was a child, so G-Temple was one of her homes.

At this point, the temple has only recently opened.

After Siena entered the temple, she asked the staff member who opened the door, "Is Mrs. Jimenez still here?"

"Do you have an appointment with the teacher?" asked the staff after a brief pause.

Siena shook her head: "No. There is a Buddhist monastery in the back, that has adopted many children. I lived here when I was a child."

"What's your name? The name you used to have here."

"My name is Siena."

"Okay, wait a moment." The staff turned and walked quickly towards the backyard.

Siena wanted to wait where she was, but as the staff walked, her feet kept leading her to the backyard.

After a while, Mrs. Jimenez came out from the meditation room in the backyard.

Seeing her, Siena immediately strode over to her.

“Master!”

The expression on Mrs. Jimenez’s face was a little surprised at first, and then a smile appeared on her face.

“Are you really Siena? You came alone? Where’s your mother-in-law?” Master Jimenez looked at Siena’s face from a close distance, and she could vaguely see her childhood appearance on Siena’s face.

“My mother-in-law passed away last year.” Siena held Master Jimenez’s hand and said, “I have just been admitted to university, so I came to see you during the holiday.”

“Hey, where do you live now? Are you alone? Do you have any difficulties?”

Master Jimenez took her hand and led her out through the backyard door, chatting while walking.

Siena: “I’m in Thopiavelle. I’m renting a house. Don’t worry, I’m not in trouble. I just came to see you.”

“You still remember me, I’m very happy. It’s just that you came here from Thopiavelle, isn’t it quite far?”

“It’s not far. You can go there quickly by plane. How is your health?” Siena asked.

Master Jimenez smiled and said, “I’m fine. In two years, I’m going down the mountain.”

“Are you going home? Did your family let you go home?”

Master Jimenez nodded, unwilling to continue this topic, so she asked, “Do you remember your childhood friend Lilly? She often came to see me, and often asked me, “Have you been here long?”

Siena was stunned, and her footsteps stopped: “Does she really remember me?”

“Of course. She has never forgotten you. Since you have come all the way this time, you can meet her. Do you need her number? I can give it to you.” Master Jimenez said enthusiastically, “She is still the same as when she was a child, very kind and enthusiastic, you don’t have to be afraid.”

Siena hesitated. She wanted to see Lilly, but she was worried that after meeting Lilly, she would get into trouble that she shouldn’t have gotten into.

It was Avery who led Lilly down the mountain. She was afraid that Avery and Elliot would find her.

Although they were not sure that they were the murderers in the Jobin family termination case, they were not afraid, just in case.

Seeing Siena’s hesitation, Master Jimenez knew what she meant, so she didn’t continue this topic.

At 9:00 a.m.

Shea brought Lilly and Maria to the temple.

After Lilly entered the temple, she carried the gift and walked towards the backyard.

“Sister, wait for me!” Maria chased after her.

“Maria, you should exercise more. I don’t walk fast.” Lilly stopped and waited for her sister.

When a master saw them, she immediately called out to Lilly.

“Little Lilly, your childhood friend Siena is here! She is chatting with Master Jimenez on the back mountain now.”

Chapter 2609

After Lilly heard this, she immediately ran towards the gate of the backyard.

Mara was about to catch up with Lilly, but now Lilly ran away again.

“Mom! Hurry up! My sister has already run away!” Maria said anxiously to the unhurried mother behind her.

Shea’s temperament was more gentle, and Maria was more like her.

“Let’s go sit and have a rest in the monastery, your sister will come to see us later.” Shea walked in front of Maria and spoke calmly.

“No! You accompany me to find my sister. I’m going to see what my sister’s good friend looks like.” Maria dragged her mother to the backyard gate.

Back mountain.

After Siena chatted with Mrs. Jimenez for half an hour, Mrs. Jimenez suddenly remembered something.

“Lilly called me last night and said she would come to see me today. If you don’t want to see her, I won’t let you have lunch.” Mrs. Jimenez was too afraid of Siena’s embarrassment.

Siena froze for a moment, a little at a loss.

Was it such a coincidence?

After thinking briefly, Siena decided to go down the mountain.

The purpose of her trip had been achieved, and she had no regrets in her heart.

Just as she was saying goodbye to Master Jimenez, Lilly screamed, “Siena! I’m Lilly!”

Lilly had long legs, and ran to them in two or three steps.

Siena: “...”

Lilly recognized Lilly quickly.

Siena’s hair was as white as snow, and she liked to wear white clothes.

For example, now, her hair at the temples was pulled back, and the white hair on her back was spread out smoothly. She was wearing a long white dress, and she was very beautiful.

Siena's footsteps stayed in place. She wanted to go, but couldn't.

She wanted to see and chat with Lilly.

"Siena! It's really you! Why haven't you called me! Aren't you going to take my auntie's phone?"

Avery originally regarded Lilly as a goddaughter, but later Lilly went to live in Shea's house, and together with Lilly called Avery auntie and Elliot uncle.

"My auntie is Avery, did you lose her number?" Seeing Siena's eyes drooping and not speaking, Lilly continued, "Anyway, I'm so happy to see you today! "You are as cute as you were when you were a child!"

Lilly said happily, and gave Siena a big hug.

Siena's heart softened at this moment.

Lilly was indeed as kind and enthusiastic as she was when she was a child.

Any suspicion seemed foolish in front of her.

Lilly asked, "Siena, how are you doing now? Where's your mother-in-law?

She..."

"Lily, Siena's mother-in-law, died last year." Mrs. Jimenez reminded, "She is now living in Thopiavelle. She has been admitted to a very good university. This time, she came to visit me during the summer vacation."

"Oh..." Lilly held Siena's hand tightly and said, "Siena, since you are here, you can go to my house to play! Summer vacation is still in its early stages! Can you spend more time with me? We're still like when we were kids... When we were kids, we said we'd be best friends forever."

Lilly was older than Siena, so she remembered a little more than Siena.

Just as Siena was thinking about how to refuse, Shea and Maria walked over.

"Lilly, is this your good friend Siena?" Shea walked to Lilly and looked at Siena.

Siena looked very white, and had beautiful facial features. Shea felt an inexplicable sense of familiarity.

It seemed like Shea had seen Siena somewhere before.

“Mom, I want to invite Siena to our house for a while, is that okay?” Lilly immediately told Shea her thoughts.

“Okay! You haven’t seen each other for so many years, now that we meet, it’s fate.” Shea said, taking the hand of Siena, “Siena, I welcome you to visit our house very much.”

Siena looked at Shea, and her heart became more entangled.

Chapter 2610

Shea and Lilly were kindhearted people. The eyes of both of them are very innocent, and their enthusiasm could be felt when they spoke.

“Siena, you just agree! Lilly often mentions you! She has always regarded you as a good friend.” Shea smiled and said, “Usually Lilly plays with Maria. She doesn’t have any other good friends.”

Siena looked at the girl next to Shea.

The girl was shorter and thinner.

She looked at Siena timidly, as if she wanted to speak, but was too embarrassed to do so.

“Siena, this is my sister, Maria.” Lilly saw that Siena had been silent, so she dragged Maria to introduce her.

Siena nodded.

“Then let’s put it this way. I’ll call Wesley and ask him to get the room ready.”

Shea walked aside with a smile and went to make a phone call.

It’s too late for Siena to refuse.

“Who is Wesley?” Siena asked in an annoyed manner.

“Wesley is our father.” Lilly replied, “After auntie Layla took me down the mountain, they adopted me. They treated me like their own daughter, and Maria also treated me as their own sister. Everyone treated me very well.”

Siena nodded: “That’s good.”

“Siena, don’t you want to go to my house to play? You don’t think I want to show myself off to you, do you? I definitely don’t mean that.” Lilly explained sincerely, “It’s just that I haven’t seen you for too long. I miss you. If you have any difficulties, I can ask my parents to help you. They are very good people.”

Maria nodded fiercely at the side: “Sister Siena, my whole family is good.”

Siena: “…”

Shea finished the phone call, walked over, and held Siena’s hand again: “My husband welcomes you to our house very much. He said that he would cook for us at noon. My husband’s cooking is very delicious. We’ll go home after a while!”

Lilly: “My dad’s cooking is really super delicious. As long as my dad doesn’t work the night shift, he cooks for our family. By the way, my dad is a doctor, and he is super powerful.”

Shea: “Your father should be embarrassed to hear that.”

Lilly: “No matter what others say, my father is the most powerful in my heart anyway.”

At 11 o’clock in the morning, Shea took the three children down the mountain.

Along the way, Lilly pulled Siena to talk.

“You haven’t been to Aryadelle yet, have you? I’ll take you to play then! I have a lot of pocket money.”

Maria: “Sister, take me with you! I also have pocket money.”

Lilly: “It depends on whether Siena agrees.”

Siena said awkwardly: “Then let’s play together!”

“Sister Siena, you are so kind. Come to our house to play for a while longer! You can come to our house to play often in the future!” Lilly’s chatterbox opened up, and she was no longer so stage-frightened.

“Maybe I won’t have so much time when I go to college in the future.” Siena tacitly refused.

“Okay! Then, when you are free, you can come play with us again! Or when we are free in the future, we can come to play with you!” Maria continued.

Siena: “It is good.”

Not long after, the car arrived at the gate of Foster’s Courtyard.

Siena glanced at the mansion in front of her, a little confused.

She didn’t expect their family to be so rich and live in such a big mansion.

“Siena, this is my uncle’s and auntie’s house,” Lilly explained to Siena after getting off the car, “and Maria and I planned to live here for a while, because my uncle and auntie have all gone to Bridgedale, and now only my cousin stays at home alone, but now my cousin is also at work.”

Lilly said, holding Siena’s hand, going into the yard.

Siena immediately asked vigilantly: “Is this the home of Elliot and Avery?”

“Yeah! Do you know them? They are also super good people. They send me many gifts and red envelopes every year.” Lilly said, “But they are very busy because they have to go to work.”

Chapter 2611

Siena was silent.

“Why don’t you come in?” Shea asked after seeing them still at the door after entering the house.

“Mom, Siena is a little embarrassed. I’ll wait outside with her!” Lilly said, and then she said to Maria, “Go and help mom with the luggage.”

Maria immediately ran to help.

After a while, the servant of Foster's family came out with the luggage and talked to Shea: "Since Lilly's good friend is here, I should treat her well. I will tell Layla when she comes back."

"I'll call Layla." Shea said politely, "Thank you for your hard work."

"It's not hard." The servant came out carrying the luggage. When passing by Siena, he stared at her: "This is Lilly's good friend, right?"

"Yeah! Isn't she so cute? She's just as adorable as our little Lilly. If she weren't an adult now, I'd like her to be my daughter as well." Shea boasted.

Shea did not have a job, so she had more patience taking care of the children.

"This little girl is really fresh, a bit like..." The servant got stuck in his throat when he said this because Elliot's face appeared in his mind.

When the servant saw Siena for the first time, he only felt that she was very beautiful. After a few more glances, he could see the familiar feeling.

Because the servant didn't say anything later, Shea said goodbye to the servant after closing the trunk door.

Brooks's house.

After Wesley received a call from his wife, he quickly got up and prepared a few special dishes.

He still had a little impression of Siena.

When Lilly first arrived at their home, she always mentioned Siena.

Not long after, Shea returned home with her three children.

Wesley immediately asked them to wash their hands and prepare to eat.

"It smells so good, Dad!" Maria exclaimed when she entered the bathroom.

"Siena, eat more later. I remember you having a round face when you were young, but now you have lost a lot of weight." Lilly whispered to Siena.

"Wouldn't anyone else come over from your house?" Siena asked vigorously.

“Uh... my grandparents come to visit us occasionally. They live in the old house.” Lilly thought for a while and replied, “No one will come except my grandparents.”

Siena breathed a sigh of relief.

After washing their hands, everyone sat down and began to eat.

Wesley was afraid that Siena would be restrained, so he took the serving chopsticks and kept picking up vegetables for Siena: “Here, treat it as your own home. Don’t feel restrained. If you need anything, feel free to tell us. “

“Thank you, uncle; you don’t have to pinch it for me, I can’t eat so much.” Siena said, taking a peek at Wesley.

Wesley looked very gentle, and he looked like a refined man.

Wesley also took a look at Siena.

At this glance, Wesley was stunned.

Because Wesley was very familiar with Elliot’s appearance, after seeing Siena, he immediately thought of Elliot.

“Siena, besides your mother-in-law, do you have other family members?”

Wesley asked casually.

“No more. My mother-in-law also passed away.” Siena didn’t know what was going on in Wesley’s mind, so she replied calmly.

“Oh, you can stay at our house for a while longer!” Wesley said, “We all like you very much.”

“Thank you.” Siena was not very nervous at first, but after meeting Wesley, she began to panic.

Chapter 2612

After dinner, Lilly dragged Siena to her room.

“Siena, I have so much to tell you; let’s sleep together tonight!” Lilly invited.

After a brief hesitation, Siena nodded, "Okay!"

It could be seen that Lilly really regards her as a friend, and the feeling she had when she was a child returned immediately.

After the children entered the room, Wesley walked towards the study room.

Shea followed curiously.

"Husband, what are you going to do?"

Wesley replied: "I remember we had a camera at home before; did you put it in the study room?"

Shea thought for a while, then nodded: "It seems so. Husband, what do you want a camera for? Do you take pictures? You can take pictures with your mobile phone! The pixels of mobile phones are so high now."

If you don't really love photography and just take pictures as an amateur, the pixels of mobile phones can indeed meet the needs of ordinary people.

"The photos taken by a professional camera are better and clearer. Isn't my daughter going out to play with Siena? I'll take the camera to them and see if they need it." Wesley explained his intentions.

Shea: "Husband, you are really thoughtful. But if it were me, I wouldn't want to bring a camera. It's too heavy."

"Well. They are young; maybe they are not afraid of being tired." Wesley found the camera without any trouble and came out.

The camera was probably new, the battery was sufficient, and the functions were intact.

After the inspection, Wesley went to his daughter's room with the camera.

"Lilly, Dad knows that you are very happy that your good friend is here. Dad also allows you to go out to play, but Dad has only one request: to avoid going out during the day as much as possible. Early morning or evening is fine." Wesley considered that Lilly could not be exposed to the sun, so he made this request.

Siena knew that Lilly couldn't bask in the sun, so she nodded quickly: "Uncle, don't worry, I won't let Lilly bask in the sun. Let's go out at night."

"Siena, you are really sensible. No wonder Lilly has been thinking about you."

Wesley said, handing the camera to them, "Since you finally got together, you can take more photos as souvenirs."

As Lilly took the camera, she said, "Thank you, Dad. I didn't even think of it."

Wesley: "It's just a little heavy."

"It's okay!" Lilly accepted the camera happily, "I'll sleep with Siena tonight, you don't need to worry about us. I'll just entertain her."

Lilly was also afraid that Siena would feel uncomfortable.

"Well. If you have anything to tell us anytime." Wesley explained one more sentence before leaving the room.

Coming out of the room, Wesley dragged Shea back to the master bedroom.

"Shea, have you noticed that Siena looks a bit like Elliot?"

Shea was taken aback for a moment, then nodded dully: "Don't tell me I haven't noticed her yet, but once you say it, she does look a bit like Elliot."

"Well, let's not say this in front of her. Let me find a way to verify it." Wesley's brain was running at high speed.

Now Avery and Elliot were not in the country, but Layla was still there.

Wesley could find a way to let Siena and Layla do a genetic test. If they were related, he could ask Avery and Elliot to go back to Aryadelle, and then do a further paternity test with Siena.

Thinking of this, Wesley's chest couldn't stop heaving rapidly.

Chapter 2613

For so many years, Elliot and Avery had been brooding over Haze's affairs.

They had been looking for Haze for so many years to no avail, and Wesley also tried to find a way, but unfortunately his ability was limited and he couldn't help.

Now, when he met Siena, he immediately had the idea that she was Haze.

There was indeed a probability in this world that two unrelated people would look alike, but the probability was very small.

in Lilly's room.

Lilly introduced everything in her room to Siena.

Most of the decorations, jewelry, and daily necessities in her room were gifts from her parents or relatives.

Because they sent too much, Lilly didn't need to buy anything by herself.

"Because I always knew that I was not the biological daughter of my parents, so when I first came to this family, I was always very scared. I was afraid of being abandoned again." After Lilly introduced the things in the room, she sat by the bed and followed Siena talked in her heart, "I know you must understand my feelings. I dare not make mistakes, and I dare not be willful. Fortunately, my parents and relatives have always been very kind to me over the years."

"Lilly, don't think about it. I can feel that your parents really treat you like a daughter. And your sister also treats you like a sister."

"Yes. It's just that I have no friends." Lilly said.

"Why?" Siena recalled that Shea had indeed said that Lilly had no friends.

"I dare not make friends. Because I don't know how to distinguish between true friends and fake friends." Lilly told her about an incident that happened when she was a child, "When I was in elementary school, there was a boy in the next class who always liked to call me W!tch, he even called after me. One day I couldn't help crying... After my mother found out about it, she told my uncle. Guess how my uncle handled it?"

Siena said in her heart After “uncle” was converted into “Elliot”, she shook her head in fear.

“Uncle asked that boy to apologize to me in front of the whole school, and let that boy drop out of school.” Lilly was very grateful to her uncle for protecting her at the beginning. After that time, no one in the school dared to bully her again.

Everyone treated her respectfully, and many people treated her well. But she couldn't help but wonder if they were doing this because of their uncle.

How did they feel about her? She did not know. So she had never made friends. Fortunately, Maria and some relatives' friends of the same age play together, so she wasn't as lonely.

“He is very kind to you.” Siena said these words in an unconscious state.

Lilly: “Are you talking about my uncle?”

Siena: “Yeah.”

“He doesn't talk much, but he is very kind. His biggest request for me and Maria is that we are both healthy and can spend more time with my mother because my mother is not in good health. Okay.” Lilly said, with the corners of her mouth raised, “Actually, I want to study medicine. I want to be like my auntie, who can save many people. But studying medicine is too hard, and they are afraid that my body will not be able to bear it.”

“That's right. Since they love you so much, it must be for your own good. Just listen to them.” Siena envied Lilly for being so happy for the past ten years.

She was really happy for Lilly.

“Well. Siena, what about you? How have you been living these years?” Lilly looked at Siena and said, “If you have difficulties in life, I can help you, I can really help you... My uncle's family is very rich, and they donate a lot of money to charity every year. In fact, our family should not be poor. If I say I want to help you, they will definitely help you.”

“Lilly, thank you. I know you really want to help me, but my most difficult period has passed. I have no worries about food and clothing now. Otherwise, I wouldn’t have the money to buy a plane ticket.” Siena smiled and rejected Lilly’s kindness.

At night.

After dinner, Siena offered to help clean up the dishes.

“Siena, the nanny will take care of the dishes and chopsticks. You’re a guest, so I won’t let you do anything.” Wesley said, “I think you have a white hair on your head, can you give me your white hair? Recently, I’ve been conducting medical research.”

Without even thinking about it, Siena immediately walked up to Wesley and showed her own head.

Chapter 2614

Wesley did not expect her to cooperate so much, and was slightly taken aback.

“Dad, why didn’t you tell me if you wanted white hair? I have it all over my head! Pull out mine as much as you want!” Lilly said.

Wesley: “Lilly, Dad doesn’t want yours. Because your white hair is different from other people’s white hair.”

Lilly said resentfully, “Okay!”

“Dad! What about mine?” Maria joined in the fun and came over.

Wesley couldn’t laugh or cry: “Dad saw the white hair on Siena’s head, so I suddenly remembered this research that Dad did... Dad doesn’t need a lot of white hair!”

Shea knew her husband’s mission, so she immediately pulled Maria away.

Wesley spread out the crispy ponytail.

Her jet-black hair fell over her shoulders.

Wesley worked hard to find the white hair on Siena's head.

Unfortunately, no.

Wesley secretly took a deep breath before casually pulling out a black hair.

"Dad, show me Siena's white hair." Lilly was curious about the difference between Siena's white hair and her own, so she made this request.

Wesley had never been so flustered. because he had never deceived others so blatantly in his life.

"Lilly, if you want to see white hair, you can look for it on Siena's head." Wesley said this as he walked into his study room.

Lilly looked at the back of her dad leaving in a hurry, said a little 'oh', then walked to Siena's side and raised her hand to pluck Siena's hair.

"Siena, your hair grows really well."

Siena reached out and touched her hair, but she couldn't find anything good.

Wasn't all the hair like this?

"I didn't even know I had white hair!" Siena whispered.

"I didn't see it either." Lilly searched hard on Siena's head, but no matter how hard she searched, she couldn't find the white hair. "Maybe my dad pulled out the only white hair on your head. Let's go."

Siena couldn't stop laughing, "What a coincidence! It happened that there was only one, and your dad found it."

"It's such a coincidence. He has very good eyesight." Shea smiled and covered her husband, "Siena, do you want a new hairstyle? Our family has a card in the barber shop, and Lilly can take you there."

"Okay! Mom, I'll take her there now!" Lilly was reminded. She immediately pulled Siena aside and went out.

Maria went to the room to get the camera, and chased him out.

“Be careful when you go outside! Be careful!” Shea followed the children to the door and explained.

“Mom, don’t worry! I will always send you a message to report the situation.”

Lilly changed her shoes and promised her mom.

Shea sent them downstairs, told the driver to follow them at any time, and then watched them go.

.....

Wesley called Layla.

Layla answered the phone and said, “Uncle Wesley, I heard that Lilly’s good friend Siena is here. I still have a little impression of this name!”

“Well, Layla, are you at the company or at home now? Wesley asked, “If you’re not busy right now, then come over to my place.”

The driver of the family car took the three children out, so Wesley could only call Layla to come over.

“I’m not busy, I’ll go there now.” Layla happened to be on the way, ready to drive home. Now she answered Wesley’s call, so she turned around at the intersection ahead and drove towards Wesley’s house.

After the car turned around, Layla realized that she forgot to ask Wesley what was the matter.

Wesley had never looked for Layla alone.

This made Layla curious.

Layla dialed the phone to Wesley: “Uncle Wesley, what are you looking for? You don’t usually call me, but you suddenly called me. I’m a little flustered now.”

Wesley is an elder. If he had anything to do, he would go to Qin An'an or Fu Shiting directly, not to the junior Ruila.

Wesley was silent for two seconds, and said cautiously: "I'll tell you when you're here."

"Okay! I'm already on my way. I'll arrive in about 20 minutes." Layla said, feeling a little hungry, "Uncle, do you have any dinner over there? I'm hungry."

"There are some leftovers... I'll let the nanny do it now."

"No, no, I'll just eat the leftovers. I don't like picky eaters." Layla finished speaking and hung up the phone.

Twenty minutes later, Layla entered Wesley's house with a bouquet of flowers in one hand and a bag of fruit in the other.

"Huh? Where are the little girls?" Layla thought she could see Siena, but there was no one.

"The three of them went out to play." Shea took the fruits and flowers from Layla's hand and said, "You said on the phone that you are hungry, go eat first!"

"Well... but I want to know, Uncle, why did you call me here? Could it be to introduce me to a boyfriend?" Layla stared at Shea and Wesley, respectively.

Shea: "Of course not. Even if we want to introduce you to a boyfriend, there is no one who is worthy of you! Wesley called you here to pull your hair."

Layla: "..."

Pulling, pulling hair?

Wouldn't it be bald if the hair was pulled out?!

Layla didn't know why, but her scalp had already started to ache.

"Layla, don't be nervous." Wesley suppressed a smile and said, "What your auntie said was a bit scary... I won't pull out a lot, I'll only pull out one."

Layla immediately breathed a sigh of relief.

“What are you two doing? You almost scared me to death! I was so hungry at first, but now I’m so scared that I can’t eat any more.” Layla sat down in the dining chair, leaned back her head, and asked Wesley, “What do you want my hair for?”

Wesley: “I want to do a genetic test for you and Siena.”

Layla: “!!!”

Wesley pulled a hair from Layla’s head after noticing she was stunned and speechless.

After Layla’s hair was pulled out, she immediately patted her head: “Uncle Wesley, do you suspect that Siena is my sister?!”

“Let’s talk about it later.” Wesley was afraid that things would not be as he thought.

Layla nodded sharply: “Uncle, why do you suspect that Siena is Haze? Does Siena look a lot like my mother?”

Wesley shook his head.

Shea answered: “She looks very similar to your dad.”

“My God...” Layla was shocked again, “I must see her tonight! If I don’t see her tonight, I won’t go back!”

Wesley said: “Layla, you will scare her like this. Her life experience is different from that of ordinary people, and her temperament is naturally different. We managed to keep her in our house. Don’t disturb her until the result comes out.”

Layla regretted: “Okay! Then you can send me her photo later.”

“If I have her photo, I will send it to you.” Wesley agrees.

At 9:00 p.m.

The three girls returned home.

Wesley and Shea had been waiting for them in the living room.

“Siena, your new hairstyle is very beautiful.” Wesley boasted.

Crispy hair turned into water rippled curls. It made her more mature.

“Siena looks good, and her hair looks good no matter how you do it.” Lilly boasted.

“Have you taken any photos? I’ll export them for you.” Wesley reached out to Maria for the camera.

Maria gave the camera to her dad: “I went to the barber shop today, and I didn’t take a few photos!”

Wesley smiled, went to the study with the camera.

Chapter 2616

Lilly looked at her mother in surprise: “Mom, can Dad edit pictures?”

Of course Shea didn’t know Wesley can edit pictures, but Shea has to speak for Wesley: “Your father can do everything. Even if he can’t, he will learn it soon.”

Lilly nodded: “It seems to be true. Dad is really good. It’s just that, I can also edit pictures, I can do this kind of small things by myself, and my father has to go to work, so busy...”

“Lilly, since your father wants to help you edit pictures, you can let him do it for you. Let’s take a picture! Your friend is here, you should spend more time with your friend.” At this point, Shea looked at Siena softly, “It’s getting late, you should be tired too? Go take a bath and rest!”

Lilly immediately led Siena back to the room.

Maria ran towards the study, wanting to see her father retouching the pictures.

Wesley had already opened the notebook and transferred the photos from the camera to the computer.

Shea also followed into the study.

The mother and daughter stood beside Wesley, carefully looking at the photos on the computer screen.

“It’s a beautiful shot! Maria, did you take all the photos?” Shea asked.

The sudden sound of Shea startled Wesley.

Wesley was too absorbed in watching the screen just now, and didn’t notice that their mother and daughter came in.

“Why don’t you go to rest? It’s already very late.” Wesley got up from the chair, wrapped Shea’s waist with one hand, and held her daughter’s hand with the other, leading them out of the study.

“Dad, how about the photos I took?” Maria asked.

“It’s a good shot. Dad doesn’t think it needs to be repaired!” Wesley boasted, “Maria, you did a good job. It’s rare for your sister and Siena to meet each other.

It’s great that you can help them take pictures to commemorate “

“This is what I should do! My sister wants to take Siena to watch the sunrise tomorrow. I don’t know if I can get up tomorrow morning.” Maria muttered.

“Get up if you can. It’s okay if you don’t get up.” Wesley said, “If you can’t get up tomorrow morning, I’ll take pictures for them.”

“Dad, you go, I’m going too.” Maria pouted, “If I can’t get up, then you wake me up. Otherwise, if you all go to watch the sunrise and don’t take me with you, I will be angry.”

Wesley: “...”

After sending the mother and daughter out of the study, Wesley returned to the chair and sat down again.

There were a dozen photos in the camera.

Several of them were taken outdoors. The light at night was not good, and the photos looked dark.

Wesley chose a photo taken in the barber shop just after Siena had her hair done, and sent it to Layla.

After the photo was sent, Wesley took a deep breath, and then sent the photo to Avery.

.....

Bridgedale.

It was daytime.

Hayden was located in a mansion in the city center where every inch of land was expensive. His family was sitting on the sofa in the living room, and the atmosphere was a bit weird.

Hayden sat on the side of the sofa, holding a coffee cup, drinking coffee and reading magazines, with an attitude of nothing to do with himself.

Avery felt that Hayden was more and more like Elliot.

It's not about their looks, but about their manners and temperament.

It turned out that the father and son were incompatible. What Hayden hated the most was his father, but after all, he had now become a man like his father.

Elliot sat on the other side, examining his nervous young son Robert with a puzzled expression.

Robert said that he had to confess to them. But after he said he wanted to confess, a quarter of an hour had passed, and he still hadn't said a single useful word.

Avery didn't know what kind of medicine was sold in Robert's gourd. Tired of waiting, so she took a banana from the fruit bowl.

When the skin was about to be peeled off, Elliot stretched out his hand.

Avery gave him the banana, and then looked at his youngest son: "Robert, mom, guess what you want to say. Are you going to say that you found out that you don't like girls, but you like boys."

Robert's face flushed with surprise: "Mom, no! I'm normal. I'm very interested in girls. I just haven't met the girl I really want to fall in love with. Besides, I don't want to talk to you about emotional problems, I want to talk about my future development."

"What's your development?" Avery asked, "It's not emotional, that's work?"

Chapter 2617

Robert nodded: "I will graduate in the future, and I want to work here with my brother."

Avery and Elliot were stunned.

Robert's heart was beating wildly with fright, and his buttocks had already started to move slowly towards his brother Hayden.

"That's it!" Avery said, "I thought it was a big deal! You want to work in your brother's company, that's fine! But you haven't graduated from university yet, maybe when you graduate, your mind will change. This is in advance. Don't rush to make a decision."

Elliot had a different idea from Avery.

He kind of minds.

"Why don't you want to work at Dad's company?"

After Elliot asked this question, Robert sat down next to his brother Hayden, wanting him to talk for him.

As a result, Hayden stood up directly, intending to separate the relationship.

"I let him learn how to repair cars before, just to make him quit. I don't want him to come to work in my company after graduation. Of course, if he cries and begs me to take him in, as a brother, I can't refuse anymore." Hayden showed his attitude.

Robert had always been trained as the future successor of the Sterling Group.

It's not that Elliot was biased; he insisted on doing this.

It's that Hayden and Layla didn't like Sterling Group.

Hayden knew that if Robert insisted on following him in the future, then there would be no successors to the country that his father had built so hard all his life, and he couldn't bear it.

That's why he asked Robert to learn how to repair cars.

Originally, Hayden wanted Robert to retreat in the face of difficulties. But who knows, Robert didn't cry tired at all, but studied very seriously.

This also changed Hayden's view of Robert who grew up in this greenhouse a lot.

Although Robert looked weak, he was actually very resilient.

"Hayden, this matter has nothing to do with you." Avery said, "Your brother Robert has the right to choose, and we will respect his choice."

Hayden nodded, put down his coffee cup and magazines, and left.

In the living room, Avery, Elliot and Robert were left.

Robert's body trembled slightly, feeling like a sinner, I'm sorry dearest father!

He even wanted to plop down right away, kneel down in front of his father, and beg him to forgive him.

Just when he was about to do this, Avery's phone screen lit up. She picked up her phone and stood up from the sofa.

"Let's chat! I'll go and have a rest." Avery wanted the father and son to chat alone.

She knew that what Elliot cared about was that the children didn't want to stay with him. But this kind of thing cannot be forced.

Avery went up to the second floor with her mobile phone.

After returning to the room, she turned on her phone and checked the message.

She saw Wesley sent her a picture of a girl.

She subconsciously thought it was Maria.

But when she clicked on the picture, she immediately found that it was not.

Not Maria, who was this?

Why did Wesley send her this?

Chapter 2618

In the living room.

Robert walked up to his father and sat down, and confessed to him: "Dad, it's not that I don't want to work by your side. I want to go to my brother's place to practice first."

"Can't you practice by your father's side?" Elliot asked back.

Robert thought for a while, and replied: "I will go to my brother's place to practice first, and then I will go back to you to practice...Dad, I love you very much, and I love my mother very much..."

"I know You love your mother." What Elliot said was that I don't know if you love me or not, "When you told your brother Hayden behind my back that you were going to work with your brother, you thought about my feelings, is it?"

Robert: "I didn't tell my mother either."

Elliot: "So you don't love us at all."

Robert: "Dad, that's not the case. I wanted to discuss it with my brother before I told you. In the end, brother let me learn how to repair cars first... I finally learned how to repair cars, but my brother still refused, and he asked me to tell you first."

Robert knew this would happen, so he might as well tell his father first.

"You don't want to stay with us at all. You want to go out and set up your own family, far away from us, like your brother, so that we can't control you." Elliot never thought that his beloved little son Robert had already grown up before his wings hardened and wanted to fly away.

This really made him a little sad.

It's better for Layla. At least Layla never thought of leaving them.

"Dad, of course I don't want to leave you and mom! Even if I work by my brother's side, even if I want to stay in Dream Maker forever, I will let my brother open a Dream Maker branch in Aryadelle! I definitely won't follow my elder brother, he settled in Bridgedale." Robert showed his sincerity, expressing that he would never leave them.

When Elliot heard this, his heart ached even more.

"You'd rather let your brother open a Dream Maker branch for you than work for Dad's company. Is Dad's company that bad?"

Robert didn't expect that the more he explained, the more he couldn't explain clearly. Finally understand what it's like to be unable to argue.

"Dad, since you said that, let me tell you straight!" Robert took a deep breath and planned to tell his father what he really thought.

He didn't want to work for Sterling Group because Sterling Group gave him an invisible pressure.

This pressure comes from the top team of Sterling Group, as well as the deeprooted corporate culture of Sterling Group... To put it bluntly, he is afraid.

Hayden's dream maker group was relatively younger, so Robert would not find it difficult to integrate.

Before Robert could speak, Avery hurried down the stairs.

The father and son walked towards the stairs at the same time.

Avery usually takes her time, no matter whether she talks or walks.

Now her footsteps are so fast, what's wrong?

"Have you two finished talking?" Avery walked quickly to Elliot's side and asked.

Elliot: "Not yet, what's the matter?"

"Why haven't you talked yet?" Avery said, looking at Robert, "Your father and I are planning to go back to Aryadelle today."

Elliot: "???"

Robert: "Why? Mom, you haven't played for a few days, so you're going back now? Did I do something wrong and you're angry?"

"Robert, about your work, you just have to know it in your own mind. Mom won't get angry over such a trivial matter. You haven't finished talking with your dad yet, so let's talk quickly! You can take us to the airport later." After Avery finished speaking in a hurry, she was ready to pack her luggage.

Chapter 2619

Robert nodded obediently, staring blankly at his mother's back.

With a "whoosh", Elliot got up from the sofa and chased after Avery.

"Honey, why are you going back to Aryadelle suddenly? What happened?" Elliot caught up with Avery, and reached out to grab her arm.

Robert wanted to know his mother's answer, so he followed immediately, trying to eavesdrop.

"Look at this." Avery showed Elliot the photo that Wesley had sent her.

Robert stood at the stairs, watching his parents staring at their mobile phones...

It's a pity that he was far away and couldn't see anything clearly.

"What are you looking at? Can you show me?" Robert wanted to follow upstairs.

As a result... the parents who always called him baby seemed to have not heard his voice at all.

The two of them didn't even slow down their pace, and went straight to the second floor.

Robert was shocked!

He immediately took out his mobile phone and called his brother Hayden:

“Brother, my parents are going back to Aryadelle today, let me take them to the airport later. Do you know about this?”

“Know?” Hayden’s answer made Robert freeze.

Robert: “Mom told you?”

“Yeah.”

Robert: “Why are they going back to Aryadelle? Is it because I made them angry? The morning is fine... and I said that we will go surfing together for a few days!”

“Don’t take yourself too seriously. It has nothing to do with you when they return to Aryadelle.” Hayden was kind of giving Robert a vaccination.

Robert had always been the youngest child in the family, so everyone was very tolerant of him.

“Oh, that’s good. I thought they were mad at me.” Robert exhaled.

“Father may be angry, but mother will definitely not.” Hayden said, and changed the subject, “Maybe Dad will not be angry soon. No one cares about what you like to do in the future.”

Robert was stunned and terrified: “Brother! Are you telling the truth? Why can I do whatever I want, why no one cares about me anymore?! Could it be...they finally found out that I am not their real son?!”

After Robert expressed his conjecture, he felt that all the strength in his body was drained, as if he was about to pass out in the next second!

“Robert, have you watched too many TV shows and become a brainless person? If I tell you any more, I feel like I’m going to be infected by you.

Goodbye.” Hayden finished cursing and hung up the phone.

Robert: “...”

The second floor.

Avery packed her luggage, while Elliot took Avery's phone and looked at Siena's photos.

He just stared at the girl in the photo quietly, his eyes gradually mourning.

"Husband, do you also think she is our daughter?" Avery quickly packed her luggage, looked at the time, and could stay at home for half an hour, so she walked up to Elliot and sat down, "At first we suspected that she was Haze, but she was taken away from under our noses like this!"

"Fortunately, she looks very healthy and lively. Wesley said that she came to G Temple to see the Teacher who raised her ...It shows that she is well-educated and knows how to be grateful. She should have been well-educated in these years." Avery said gratefully, "We have returned to Aryadelle. If the results of the appraisal have not yet come out, don't bother her first. Wesley said She has a more restrained and cautious personality, and she must have had a hard life in the past few years."

When Avery finished speaking, Elliot's tears fell. He had not shed tears for many years.

Seeing this scene, Avery immediately hugged Elliot, and gently wiped away the tears from the corners of his eyes with her fingers.

Avery: "Husband, don't cry. If she is our Haze, we will double compensate her in the future, and she will definitely forgive us."

Chapter 2620

The living room on the first floor.

Robert's cell phone rang, and the call was from Hayden.

"I forgot to tell you, I have to go back to Aryadelle tomorrow afternoon at the latest. Don't you like my company very much? I can let you play with my office."

Robert didn't understand after hearing this: "You all go back to Aryadelle, What happened in Aryadelle? No one told me what happened in Aryadelle!"

Hayden: "Because it hasn't happened yet."

"Oh... If it didn't happen, why did you go back? What's the matter, brother?"

Robert didn't want to be kept in the dark, "I'll call you brother..."

"You don't call me brother, I'm your brother too." Hayden was unmoved.

"If you don't tell me, then the next time I see you, I'll kiss you!" Robert knew that his brother hated others touching him the most, so he said that on purpose.

...

A moment later, Elliot came downstairs with his luggage in one hand and Avery's in the other.

When Robert saw his parents going downstairs, he immediately went to pick up the luggage from his father.

"Mom and Dad, you go back first. I'll go back with my brother tomorrow." Robert said.

Of course Robert was very happy in his heart, but besides being happy, he was a little bit disappointed.

As Hayden said before, maybe his parents won't care about what Robert will do in the future.

"Did your brother tell you?" Avery asked.

Robert: "Hmm. Dad, Mom, why don't you two seem unhappy? You have been looking for Haze for so long, and now you finally found her, shouldn't you be very happy?"

"Robert, you don't understand. Of course your father and I are very happy... When people are very, very happy, they will also cry with excitement." Avery said, her voice choked up.

Robert immediately handed the tissue to his mother.

“Mom, don’t cry. Maybe that girl is not my sister?” Robert wanted to comfort his mother to stop crying.

As a result, Elliot immediately looked at him with cold and serious eyes.

Robert swore that this was the first time in his life that his father looked at him with such fierce eyes.

He was so scared that his heart almost went into cardiac arrest.

“She must be your sister! There will be no accidents!” Elliot said every word with confidence.

Avery: “Robert, if she wasn’t your sister, I would be very sad. Originally, the impact of this incident on me and your father has faded over time, but now there are new clues and hopes. If she is not, it will be a serious blow to me and your father.”

After listening to his mother’s explanation, Robert immediately understood their feelings.

“Mom, she must be my sister.” Robert said suddenly, “I have a strong sixth sense!”

“Good son!” Elliot patted him on the shoulder.

Robert secretly heaved a sigh of relief. Now he completely understood!

If he wanted to make his parents happy, He had to pray that this little sister must be Haze!

If not, the consequences would be disastrous.

If that’s the case, he must first make Sister Haze happy if he wants to make his parents happy in the future! Because parents would be happy only if sister Haze was happy.

Aryadelle.

At 4:30 in the morning, Lilly came out of the room with Siena.

They were going to the beach to watch the sunrise.

Before the two of them fell asleep last night, they decided not to wake up others.

After all, it was too early at this point!

The two came out of the room, Lilly turned on the flashlight function of the mobile phone — after the flashlight was turned on, there was a 'pop' sound in the living room, and the light in the living room was turned on.

Wesley was fully dressed and stood there.

"I was afraid that you two would oversleep, so I was hesitant to wake you up!"

Wesley said, carrying a bag, and went out with them.

"Dad, we can go by ourselves. Go back to your room and rest!" Lilly felt sorry for her father. After all, Dad still had to work.

"Haha, I'm resting today. I'll accompany you to watch the sunrise and then come back to sleep." Wesley laughed, "Besides, I haven't seen the sunrise for a long, long time. I really want to go and see the sunrise with you and take some beautiful photos for your mother."

Siena saw that Wesley had heavy bags under his eyes, and he looked much more haggard than yesterday, so he knew that he was seriously deprived of sleep.

Siena: "Uncle Wesley, I'm really sorry for disturbing your rest..."

"Siena, you didn't disturb my rest. I often have to work night shifts at work.

Actually, I don't need to work night shifts because the current level can actually be very easy, but do you know why I have to work the night shift?" Wesley was not good at lying, but in order to convince Siena that he was really happy to watch the sunrise with them, he could only find ways to make it up.

Siena really believed Wesley's words, and asked very curiously: "Why?"

Lilly also wanted to know the reason: "Dad, you haven't told me this!"

Wesley: "Because this is a small matter. In fact, it's because Dad doesn't sleep well. He's more energetic at night, and it's easier to fall asleep during the day."

Lilly: "Dad, are you sick? Do you want to take medicine?"

"Sleep disorder is not important. I just want to say that I stay up late at night and it really doesn't affect anything. I can just sleep back in the daytime." Wesley smiled kindly at Siena, "There's breakfast inside."

Lilly brought the bag from her father's hand, heavy.

"Dad, what time did you get up? You even prepared breakfast for us."

"It was prepared last night. I just heated it up now. Try it later and see how it tastes So." Wesley took the car keys, changed his shoes at the door, and gently closed the door when he went out.

Siena listened to Wesley's every move and every word he said.

Siena had never seen such a good father... It should be said that she had never seen such a gentle and good man.

Wesley's kindness made them feel warm inside; even in the dark, they felt like they could see the light.

"Uncle Wesley, you and Auntie are very good." Siena said in a low voice, "I now believe that Lilly is really doing well."

"Siena, in fact, we didn't do anything for you. You, don't think too much, just be happy." After Wesley finished speaking, he drove the car towards the beach.

Now that it was summer, it would be a little cooler at this point.

If they went out during the day, the temperature would be at least ten degrees higher.

Half an hour later, the car stopped at the beach.

Wesley asked the two of them to play without worrying about himself.

Wesley was also young, and he knew that if he followed them, they would definitely feel uncomfortable.

When the sun rose later, he would take a few more pictures of them.

.....

In a few hours, Elliot and Avery walked out of the airport anxiously.

"I really want to go directly to Wesley's house." Elliot pondered for a few seconds, then a gleam of light flashed in his deep eyes, and said, "Let's buy some gifts and take them there, and say we're going to see Lilly and Maria. Not only does it make sense, but we get to see our daughter!"

Chapter 2622

Avery and Elliot were in the same mood.

She also wanted to meet Siena soon.

Regardless of whether Siena is their daughter or not, she wants to go and see.

Now that Elliot came up with such a good idea, why not use it?

So, the two went to a store to buy gifts.

"Honey, I'm a little nervous." Avery felt a little weak after picking out a few gifts.

If it was normal, Elliot would definitely comfort her.

"Me too." Elliot's symptoms were a little more serious than Avery's. "My clothes seem to be wet. Should we go back to take a shower and change?"

Avery walked behind him and took a look.

Sure enough, Elliot's shirt was soaked.

"You really need to go home and take a shower first." Avery said, seeing that Elliot's face was a little red, so he raised his hand to touch his forehead.

His forehead was not very hot.

Avery withdrew his hand and touched his forehead.

They were in the store now, and the air conditioning was plentiful.

Avery's forehead was slightly cool.

"Husband, you are more nervous than I am." Avery took the selected gift to the cashier.

After paying the bill, the two came out of the store.

"You're sweating nonstop." Avery took Elliot's hand.

Elliot's palms were constantly sweating.

"I can't control myself. My heart is beating very fast now, touch it." Elliot took Avery's hand and placed it on his heart.

Avery felt his strong heartbeat, and her own heartbeat also accelerated.

"Husband, you're making me more and more nervous."

"Let's go to Wesley's house first! If we don't see the child as soon as possible, I'm afraid I won't be able to calm down. I'm worried that if we don't pay attention, she will leave us again." Elliot led Avery into the car.

"Okay! Then go to Wesley's house first." Avery took out her mobile phone, "I'd better call Wesley and talk about it!"

"Needless to say. He is too cautious. The daughter belongs to us, but not His. We can go see our daughter if we want." Elliot said calmly, "Call him, if he advises us not to go, will you listen to him, or quarrel with him?"

Avery put down the phone. Most of the time, she was willing to listen to Wesley, because Wesley basically didn't miss anything.

But this time, she decided to listen to Elliot.

Although rationally knowing that Siena was with Wesley, she would definitely not disappear for no reason, but she was not afraid, just in case.

Wesley's house.

Both Wesley and Shea were at home.

Because Siena came to be a guest, Wesley asked for leave from the hospital and planned to treat Siena well at home.

Now that Siena was at his house, he had a great responsibility.

On the one hand, he wanted to treat Siena well and let her have fun.

On the other hand, Siena was here, and he had to keep Siena safe.

When Elliot and Avery came over, Wesley was very surprised.

Wesley knew that the two of them were going back to Aryadelle today, but he didn't expect them to come to him as soon as they came back.

"We brought gifts for Lilly and Maria." Avery smiled and handed the gift to Wesley.

Wesley immediately accepted the gift.

At this time, Maria heard the movement and ran out.

"Uncle! Auntie! Why are you here?"

Chapter 2623

We brought gifts for you and your sister.

Maria pouted and accepted the gift.

"Lilly and Siena were sleeping?" Avery lowered her voice.

Wesley nodded.

"Then let's go out and chat!" Avery was afraid that chatting would wake them up.

If they had known that Siena was sleeping, Avery and Elliot would not have been in a hurry to find her.

"They won't wake up!" Maria dissatisfied muttered, "They just fell asleep not long ago. They sneaked out to watch the sunrise in the morning and didn't take me with them! I'm so angry!"

Shea patted her daughter on the shoulder, let her calm down: "Let my sister take you there next time. There's nothing to be angry about."

“Oh, so they got up early to watch the sunrise... they’re pretty good at playing!”

Avery laughed and sat down on the sofa.

Shea noticed that Elliot’s shirt was wet, and immediately said, “Brother, why don’t you take a shower? I’ll change it for you with Wesley’s clothes.”

“Husband, go take a shower! Since you’re here, I think you definitely don’t want to leave for a while.” Avery’s heart has completely settled down at this moment.

“Well, then I’ll take a shower.” Elliot saw Avery guarding the living room, so it could be said that Siena couldn’t fly now!

After Elliot went to take a bath, Maria sat next to Avery, complaining to Avery.

“Last night, we clearly agreed that the family went to watch the sunrise together this morning, but neither of them called me.”

“The two of them are afraid of disturbing your sleep! Look, Maria, you slept well last night, how beautiful you are today!” Avery touched her little face, “This is a gift I bought for you and your sister. Since your sister is still awake, you can choose a gift first!”

“Okay, auntie, don’t you think I shouldn’t be angry?”

“As long as it’s sunny, you can watch the sunrise. You will have many, many opportunities to watch the sunrise in the future. So there’s no need to be angry.”

Avery immediately coaxed Maria.

Originally, Maria was sulking alone in the room, Wesley and Shea took turns to coax her for a long time but failed to coax her well.

“Avery, are you hungry? Do you want to eat?” Wesley asked.

“Don’t bother!” Avery took a bag of snacks from the coffee table, “Just eat some snacks and fruit.”

“I’ll go and see if there is any food in the kitchen.” Seeing her taking snacks, Wesley knew that Avery must be hungry.

Avery asked Maria: "Maria, your sister's friend Siena, what do you think of her?"

Maria replied without thinking, "Sister Siena is very nice! We are very happy to play with her. My sister likes her very much. She sleeps with her!"

"The two of them sleep in the same room?" Avery didn't expect them to be so close after not seeing each other for so many years.

Maria: "Hmm."

Avery: "Did Siena enjoy playing with her?"

Maria: "Happy! Anyway, I think she is very happy."

"Did she tell you about her life? I'm more curious about her." Avery continued to ask Maria.

Maria shook her head: "Sister Siena didn't talk about her... She mainly listened to my sister. My sister kept talking in front of Sister Siena."

Avery: "Hahaha!"

After chatting for a while, Elliot came out of the shower.

Wesley had already prepared a simple two dishes and one soup, and called them to eat.

Elliot and Avery sat down at the dining table and began to eat.

Shea asked Wesley to rest.

"You didn't sleep last night. If you don't go to sleep again, be careful not to get tired."

Wesley actually wanted to go to sleep, but he was worried about Siena and Layla's test results.

"Wesley, go to sleep! Elliot and I just came to see Siena, we won't do anything to Siena until the result comes out." Avery assured Wesley.

Wesley: "Then I'll go to bed for a while."

After Wesley walked away, Elliot looked down at his clothes: "Honey, Wesley's clothes are a little tight for me... Will this be okay? Will I loss my image in front of my daughter?"

Chapter 2624

Avery glanced at Elliot's body.

He was indeed too small in Wesley's clothes.

A good casual shirt was worn out to look like tights.

"Then ask someone to bring you clothes." Avery said, "Actually, you have such a good figure, it's okay to wear it as tights. It's not ugly."

Avery said, and reached out to touch his abdominal muscles.

Elliot: "...Standing two steps away from them, Maria couldn't help laughing when she saw this scene.

"Maria is watching! Pay attention to your image." Elliot reminded.

Avery smiled towards Maria: "Your uncle is in good shape, isn't he?"

"Yes! I think uncle looks handsome in my father's clothes! If Sister Layla sees her father, she must also think her father is handsome!" Maria went to the dining chair next to them and sat down, "Uncle, I think you don't need to change clothes, it's fine like this!"

Avery aslo comforted him.

Elliot felt a little more at ease.

"Uncle and auntie, do you like Siena so much? You have never seen Siena before!" Maria looked puzzled.

"We've seen Siena's picture. Your father sent it to us." Avery didn't intend to avoid this matter in front of Maria.

After all, both of them had come here to block Siena, and everyone would know about it soon.

"Oh...why did my dad send you the picture of Siena?" Maria didn't want to understand.

“Maria, do you think that Siena looks a little like your uncle?” Avery looked at Maria calmly.

Maria immediately looked at Elliot, stared at him for a full two minutes, and then said, “It seems a little bit.”

Elliot and Avery smiled knowingly, as if Maria replied that Siena is your daughter.

About an hour later, Lilly woke up and came out of the room. She was thirsty and came out to drink water. Unexpectedly, as soon as she came out, she saw her uncle and aunt.

She thought she was dreaming, otherwise how could she see her uncle and aunt at home? They obviously went to Bridgedale for vacation.

If Lilly saw her uncle and aunt in real life, she would call them the first time.

But now, Lilly didn't.

Lilly held the cup, looked at the two of them, and went to fetch water.

“Lilly, are you awake?” Avery saw Lilly first, so she called her.

Lilly's eyes widened suddenly: “Auntie, this is not a dream!”

“Hahaha! No wonder you looked at us with sleepy eyes just now... You are not dreaming, we are back from our trip.” Avery got up from the sofa and walked to Lilly, “Has Siena woke up?”

Lilly shook her head: “I woke up thirsty. Siena is still sleeping. Auntie, come here... Is there something wrong?”

“We came to see Siena.” Avery confessed to Lilly, “We suspect that Siena is our daughter Haze.”

Lilly didn't know what to say to express her feelings. If it was true, she would be very, very happy. Because it meant that she could play with Siena all the time.

And when Siena arrived at Foster's house, she won't have to suffer anymore.

Lilly: "Auntie, that's great!"

"The test results haven't come out yet. And I don't know how Siena will react when she finds out about this." Avery struggled, "Lilly, you have a good relationship with Siena, if Siena is our daughter, and she doesn't really want to recognize us, can you talk to us when the time comes."

Lilly was entangled.

Chapter 2625

On the one hand, Lilly wanted to promise Avery and On the other hand, she also wanted to respect Siena's meaning.

"When Siena wakes up, can I talk to Siena? I don't know what she thinks, and I can't guess how she will react... But I am really happy, if she is Your daughter, then we can often play together in the future." When Lilly said this, her excited little face flushed.

Avery: "Yeah."

"Then I'll go drink water first. I'll go back to my room after drinking water." Lilly said.

"Okay. You two will chat later. If there is any situation, you can tell me immediately. You can also send a message." Avery was afraid that Siena would not come out to meet them, so she made a plan first.

After Lilly drank the water, she returned to the room.

Avery went back to the sofa and sat down, and began to wait anxiously.

Elliot paced up and down in Wesley's living room.in the room.

As soon as Lilly entered the room, she saw Siena opened her eyes.

"Did I wake you up?" Lilly smiled and walked to the bed and sat down, "Did you sleep well? Are you thirsty?"

Siena rubbed her eyes, then sat up: "I slept well."

Lilly handed Siena her water glass: "Siena, My uncle and auntie are outside now."

Siena stopped drinking water.

"My auntie just told me something... Siena, drink water first. We'll talk after you drink water." Lilly said, walked to the window, and opened the curtain.

The sun shone in, and Siena narrowed her eyes slightly.

"What did she tell you?" Siena finished drinking the water and put down the glass.

Originally, she wanted to get out of bed, but now that Avery and Elliot were outside, she didn't want to.

"She said you might be her and uncle's daughter. Siena, you do look a bit like my uncle." Lilly walked up to Siena and smiled, "It would be great if you were their daughter!"

"My mother's name is Rebecca Jobin." Siena corrected Lilly's words, "I was born in Yonroeville."

The smile on Lilly's face froze. She didn't know anything about these things, so she didn't know how to answer.

"My mother's family was killed. That's why I had to live in hiding when I was a child. If I wasn't Elliot's daughter, I wouldn't have lived such a hard life." Siena suppressed these words in her heart and whispered out.

"Siena, you already knew that your father was Elliot?" Lilly felt this information from her tone.

"I just found out not long ago." Siena said, "It's better not to know! It's more uncomfortable to know."

"But the Elliot I know is a very good person." Lilly lowered her head and spoke softly for Elliot.

Siena didn't speak.

No matter how bad a person was, there was also a good side, but it depended on whom.

Lilly looked up at Siena, "Do you want to go out and meet them?"

Siena shook her head.

"Then I'll let them go back." Lilly said and walked out.

As soon as Lilly came out of the room, Elliot and Avery immediately went up to meet her.

"Uncle, auntie, Siena doesn't want to see you. Go back first!" Lilly conveyed Siena's meaning, "If you were here, she wouldn't even come out."

"Lilly, you told her?" Avery was a little worried.

"Yes." Lilly said, "She already knew."

Elliot and Avery were stunned.

Siena actually knew her life experience a long time ago...but she didn't come to them!

Chapter 2626

It seemed that Siena didn't want to recognize them.

Elliot and Avery were at a loss for a moment, not knowing what to do.

After all, Siena was not a three-year-old child, so she could be coaxed casually.

At this age, Siena already had her own consciousness and opinions, and she no longer needed to rely on anyone for her life. She matured earlier than girls of the same age and knew how to survive in this society.

So no matter what social status Avery and Elliot had, as long as money was not the most important thing in Siena's heart, then they were dispensable to Siena.

"Uncle, auntie, you go back first! I will persuade her." Seeing the two of them in a daze, Lilly felt distressed and embarrassed, "My parents will also persuade her.”

Avery took the lead to return.

“Lilly, if Siena wants to leave, you must tell us immediately. No matter what, we will definitely see her.” Avery said.

Lilly: “Okay.”

Avery pulled Elliot away from Wesley’s house.

After they left, Lilly immediately went back to the room and told Siena.

Siena immediately got off the bed and wanted to pack her luggage and leave.

“Siena, don’t be like this! They’ve already left.” Lilly held Siena’s hand, not wanting to let her go, “They won’t force you to recognize them.”

Siena: “I know. I just feel too embarrassed. There was a layer of window paper in the middle, but now this layer of paper has been pierced, I feel that I am here, very uncomfortable. Lilly, you can go to Thopiavelle in the future and find me to play. I can also take you to play around.”

Lilly: “I will definitely find you in the future. Just don’t leave now, okay? If you want to leave now, my uncle and auntie will come to you.”

Siena: “...”

“They already know you are here, they haven’t seen you yet, how could they let you go like this? No matter what, they must want to meet you.” Lilly held Siena’s hand tightly, “Siena, calm down first, don’t worry. I will protect you. If you really don’t want to recognize them, I will stand by your side.”

Listening to Lilly’s words, Siena really calmed down a lot.

“My parents will also stand by your side.” Lilly continued.

.....

After Elliot and Avery returned home, they took a shower and changed their clothes.

After a while, Layla came back from the company.

“Dad, Mom! Have you seen Siena?” Layla asked.

“She doesn’t want to see us.” Avery wiped her hair with a towel, “Lilly talked to her a little bit. She said that she already knew about her life experience.”

“Does she not want to go back to our house? Doesn’t it mean that she has nothing else?” Layla didn’t quite understand Siena’s thoughts.

“The old woman who raised her passed away. She is living alone now.” Avery said, “She can live alone, which shows that she has a very strong ability to survive. And she didn’t come to us knowing her life experience, which shows that she doesn’t care about our family’s wealth and status. She must hate us.”

“Why does she hate us? It’s not that we don’t want to raise her.” Layla frowned,

“How about I go talk to her.”

Avery held her daughter back: “Don’t go. We’ll wait until the results of your appraisal with her come out. Let’s calm down first.”

Avery calmed down a lot after taking a bath, but Elliot didn’t seem to calm down.

He was sitting on the sofa, drinking a cup of coffee.

Chapter 2627

In most of his life, what kind of troubles had he never seen? But there was nothing to do with Siena.

Too active and aggressive, afraid of scaring Siena.

But staying at home like this, there was no progress.

“Dad, haven’t you slept all day? Look at the red blood in your eyes.” Layla took out a small makeup mirror from her bag and looked at her father, “After dinner, you go and have a good sleep with my mother. The little girl’s mind needs to be handled by a caring big sister like me. You leave this matter to me, and I promise to do it for you.”

Elliot glanced at Layla: "What are you going to do?" How to tell her?"

"I didn't think about it, I'll talk about it when I see her! She doesn't want to recognize us, nothing more than one thing, that is, she thinks we are not good.

As long as she knows that we are not what she thinks, she will change her mind." Layla sat down beside her father, and said her thoughts, "Dad, am I right?"

Elliot nodded, "You're right. Are you going to find her later?"

Layla: "Wait until the results come out and then look for it! Let me talk to her first. I don't think you two are very calm. If you two meet her, you may be led by the nose."

Elliot Pursing his lips, he felt that what her daughter said made sense.

So he looked at Avery for her opinion.

"Okay! Then you go to see her first. But you must not quarrel with her. Even if she doesn't want to recognize us, don't speak too fiercely or loudly, and don't scare her...We can take our time." Avery confessed.

"I know, I know. Don't worry about my work." Layla felt a strong sense of responsibility in her heart.

The important task of touching Haze and letting her return to the family falls on Layla's shoulders!

She had the responsibility and obligation to help mom and dad share their worries!

The next day, in the morning, the results of the genetic test between Layla and Siena came out.

The identification results showed that the two of them were sisters of the same father and mother.

Layla went to Wesley's house immediately after receiving the notice.

Wesley's house.

Wesley showed the result to Siena.

“Siena, I'm really sorry. I pulled out a piece of your hair the day before yesterday, not for any research, but just for you to have an appraisal with Layla. Layla is your sister.” Wesley apologized to Siena, “The first time I saw you, I realized that you looked a little like Elliot, so I was a little skeptical.”

Siena was shocked by the words ‘same father, same mother’.

Siena: “Her mother and I are...”

“Your mother is Avery.” Wesley answered, “I know you must have a lot of doubts. Your parents have experienced many things in Yonroeville back then. Specifically they will tell you about the situation. Your sister will come soon, she wants to chat with you.”

“Layla?” Siena was very strange to Layla, but not to Layla's name strangeness. Layla's public proposal for marriage last year caused a worldwide sensation.

“Yes. If you don't believe that Avery is your mother, you can do another paternity test.” Wesley continued, “Rebecca Jobin is not your mother, and Rebecca Jobin is a very bad woman.”

Siena thoughts were completely subverted, her head seemed to have been hit, and it became very heavy.

“Uncle Wesley, my mother-in-law won't lie to me...she won't lie to me.” After struggling for a while in pain, Siena felt that the appraisal might be fake.

“Siena, I believe your mother-in-law will not deceive you on purpose. Is it possible that the information she knows is false?” Wesley said softly, “The source of your mother-in-law's information may be from others. Is there a scientific basis for this to be accurate?”

Lilly: "My father has never lied to anyone."

Siena: "You also think my mother is not Rebecca, but Avery?"

"Okay, don't trust my father, don't trust the testing result, you can take your own samples and Avery's samples to Thopiavelle for inspection." Lilly said. She thought this was the only way to make Siena feel at ease, "Dad, you can do this, is it?"

Wesley: "Of course."

Now it's Siena's turn to struggle.

Doing so would be too costly.

Moreover, wouldn't it be embarrassing if the result was still the same in Thopiavelle?

After a while, Layla came.

Siena came out of the room and met Layla for the first time.

"You are Siena, right?" Layla saw Siena, strode up to her, and stretched out a hand to her, "I'm Layla, nice to meet you."

Siena didn't know what to say, so reach out and shake hands with her.

Unexpectedly, after her hand was held by Layla, her body was pulled over directly.

"Let's go out and talk! I'll treat you to dinner." Layla led Siena to the door.

Siena was taken out like a marionette.

Coming out of Wesley's house, Layla and Siena walked aimlessly along the street.

"Did you come over to have fun?" Layla asked.

Siena: "Yeah."

"You don't remember much about what happened when you were young, right?"

"I still remember Lilly. I remember what happened in G-Temple." Siena didn't know what happened when she was a child, which ones specifically.

“Then you have a good memory!” Layla boasted, “I remember clearly from when you were born to when my parents looked for you.”

Siena looked at Layla, hoping she could continue.

Because Siena was very curious about how she was born and how she lived outside.

“Did no one tell you about this?” Seeing Siena’s curious face, Layla asked,

“Didn’t the person who raised you tell you that?”

Siena shook her head: “My mother-in-law didn’t even know a lot.”

“Actually, I only know the general idea. My parents can tell you more details.”

Layla said, “My father had an older brother in Yonroeville, whom he met when he was outside. This older brother was Rebecca Jobin’s father, named Kyrie Jobin. Kyrie Jobin wanted my dad to marry his daughter Rebecca Jobin, and this Rebecca Jobin also liked my dad very much. Of course my mother couldn’t let my dad marry someone else, so she went to Yonroeville and found my dad, and then she got pregnant with him. In the end, you were transferred to Rebecca Jobin’s stomach, but my dad and my mom didn’t know.”

Siena was so shocked that she couldn’t say a word.

“Do you think it’s ridiculous?” Layla dragged Siena into a restaurant.

It was too hot outside.

“I was removed, how could your mother not know?” Siena raised her own puzzlement.

“My mother had a tumor in her brain. She asked a classmate to operate on her.

My mother was injected with anesthesia. You were removed when my mother was unconscious. It was her classmate who removed you.” Layla said, “Actually, that classmate was also kind. Because of my mother’s body, she was unable to conceive and have children at that time. Logically speaking, you should be aborted.”

Chapter 2629

“After you were removed, Rebecca Jobin killed my mother’s classmate. I didn’t know you were their daughter.” Layla added, “After they found out the truth, they have been looking for you all over the world. Your real name is Haze.”

After Siena heard Layla tell the ins and outs about herself, her heart suddenly became clearer.

“Then what about the case of killing the Jobin family? Who did it?” Siena’s only doubt now is this.

“Headed by Kyrie Jobin, there were seven members in their brotherhood. A few died later, and a few remained. After Kyrie Jobin passed away, the remaining few coveted the property of the Jobin family, so the partnership wiped out the Jobin family.” Layla said lightly, “Man dies for money and birds die for food.

Many people commit crimes for profit.”

After Siena knew the reason, she fell silent.

Layla picked up the menu and began to order.

After ordering a few signature dishes, Layla handed her the menu.

“I’m not hungry.” Siena pushed the menu back.

“Then do you want something to drink? There is juice. Do you want orange juice, watermelon juice, or sugar cane juice?” Layla glanced at the drink area.

Siena: “Orange juice!”

“Yes.” Layla ordered two glasses of orange juice, and then gave the menu to the waiter.

“Let me briefly introduce our father and mother to you!” Layla looked at Siena calmly. “My father is a very successful businessman. He loves work and family very much. My mother used to be a doctor, later in order to take care of the family, so she also went into business. My father is only a woman in this life, and my mother is only a man in this life. The two of them often quarreled in the early days. Because they have very different personalities, they got along well afterward. Let's stop arguing. I haven't seen them quarreling for a long time. Our family is basically warm and harmonious..."

"Let's talk about our elder brother Hayden! He is a genius. He founded Dream Maker Group at the age of 18. He has been living in Bridgedale. So our family has always been parents, and Robert and I live together. Let's talk about Robert again! He is your second brother, a little older than you, now he's going to college, and he's in the same school as Lilly."

After listening to Layla's words, Siena felt that she should say something.

"I know it's a little difficult for you to accept so much information at once. The summer vacation is still long, you can stay in Wesley's house all the time, think carefully. Shea is our aunt, they are not outsiders." Layla said and Siena wanted to say something but before she could say it, Layla continued. "Tomorrow at the latest, my parents should meet with you. I hope you don't refuse at that time. The two of them have been looking for you for more than ten years, and they have spent countless energy... They are the best parents I have ever seen, if you accept them, all of us will make it up to you."

At night, Siena was lying on the bed, and Layla's face and the words she said to Layla kept appearing in her mind.

If what Layla said was true, then she really shouldn't continue to blame Elliot or Avery.

But if she was asked to recognize them now, it would be difficult for her to nod.

It would be nice if her mother-in-law was still there.

.....

Foster family.

Hayden and Robert had returned home.

The family sat together and began to discuss how to get Siena home.

“It will be a matter of time before Siena comes back. I met her today and I think she is quite obedient.” Layla expressed her opinion.

“Didn’t you say she didn’t talk much?” Avery asked.

“Although she didn’t speak much, I could see it from the expression on her face.

I told her the facts and reasoned. She has read the book, so it’s impossible to be inseparable?” Layla took a small fork, forked a small piece of watermelon into her mouth.

“I’ll go to Wesley’s house to pick her up tomorrow morning.” Hayden spoke after a moment of silence.

Elliot and Avery: “...”

Siena didn’t even agree to recognize them, so Hayden intended to take them by force.

Chapter 2630

“Brother, I will go with you tomorrow.” Robert said.

Robert especially wanted to see Haze.

Although the youngest position in the family has been replaced, Robert has adjusted his mentality.

“Okay.” Hayden agreed.

Avery looked confused: “How are you two going to pick her up? What if she doesn’t want to come back with you?”

Hayden looked confused and confident: “No. Mom, don’t worry.”

Avery: “Did you think Is there any way?”

“No.” What Hayden was worst at was dealing with people.

He didn’t even like to talk. So when he said to bring his sister back, he meant it literally.

“I’m afraid your sister Haze won’t come back with you.” Avery said worriedly.

“Mom, things are not as complicated as you think. Go and rest! I’ll bring her back tomorrow.” Hayden promised Avery.

“It’s best to bring her back. If she doesn’t want to come back with you, don’t force her.” Elliot said, “There is no rush for this kind of thing. You just came back, go and rest!”

Hayden was not tired. Probably after searching for so many years, Haze was found, and the knot in his heart was finally solved.

Robert was not tired either. He felt asleep on the plane, and now he was wide awake.

“I’m a little hungry...” Robert stood up from the sofa, “I’ll go to the kitchen to get something to eat, and whoever wants to eat, I’ll cook together.”

Layla: “Go and see if there is any food in the kitchen. I want to eat instant noodles.”

Robert: “Our family has never had instant noodles, right?”

Layla: “Then go and buy instant noodles for me! I just want to eat instant noodles.”

Robert : “Okay... what kind of instant noodles do you want?”

Layla: “Sauerkraut.”

Robert: “Sister, don’t you like sour food?”

Layla: “I sometimes eat pickled cabbage. I don’t like it, but it doesn’t mean I don’t like it every day.”

Robert: “...”

Robert went out to buy instant noodles, Elliot looked at the time, it was already ten o’clock in the evening.

“Honey, go to sleep! No matter whether Hayden can bring Siena back tomorrow, we have to meet Siena.” Elliot said to Avery.

“Alright.” Avery held Elliot’s hand, stood up from the sofa, and told the children,

“Don’t stay up too late.”

“Mom, go to bed! I’ll go to sleep after supper!” Layla said.

“Hmm.”

After Elliot and Avery returned to their room, Layla looked at Hayden, “Brother, you really have no idea?”

“What idea?” Hayden dismissively said, “It’s a very simple thing, what do you think? It ‘s too complicated.”

After Hayden finished speaking, he also went back to his room.

The next morning.

Hayden came to Wesley’s house.

Wesley opened the door and was a little surprised to see Hayden.

Wesley: “You came alone?”

Hayden: “Robert also came with me. He is in the car.”

“Why didn’t he come up together?” Wesley opened the door and let Hayden in.

“He’s angry. He doesn’t dare to see anyone.” Hayden finished his words calmly, and asked, “Has Siena woke up?”

“I’m up. I just finished breakfast and I’m going back to guest room now. I’ll call her.” Wesley said, he walked towards the guest room.

The room where Siena and Lilly slept well last night.

Chapter 2631

Wesley knocked on the guest room door.

Lilly opened the door. She accompanied Siena in the room.

“Siena, your elder brother is here.” Wesley stood at the door and said to Siena,

“He was originally in Bridgedale, and he came back to see you.”

Layla gave Siena a brief introduction yesterday.

So Siena quickly substituted ‘Big Brother’ into the name of ‘Hayden’.

Siena was completely unfamiliar with Hayden, she only knew that he was a very powerful genius, thinking of him coming back from Bridgedale to see her, her heart beat violently.

“Siena, Brother Hayden is very nice. Don’t be afraid. He just looks fierce...not fierce, Brother Hayden is not fierce at all. Brother Hayden just doesn’t like to laugh, but he is really nice.” Lilly introduced to Siena in a low voice, and sent Siena out of the room at the same time.

Hayden stood in the living room, his eyes fell on Wesley’s direction.

After a while, Lilly came out accompanied by Siena.

“Brother Hayden!” Lilly called Hayden affectionately.

A gentle expression appeared on Hayden’s face: “I came back in a hurry this time, so I didn’t buy you a gift. I’ll bring it for you next time.”

Hayden’s voice was deep and sweet, not only not fierce, but also calm and magnetic.

Siena couldn’t help but look up and look at him.

When she was looking at Hayden, she saw that Hayden was also looking at herself.

The two looked at each other, as if an electric current had hit her body, making her blush.

“Siena, I’m your elder brother Hayden. I’ll take you home.” Hayden took the initiative to ask, “Have you packed your luggage?”

Siena didn’t pack her luggage.

No one told her that Hayden would pick her up today.

However, Siena had no luggage.

“Hayden, did your mother ask you to pick up Siena?” Wesley was also a little surprised, “Your mother didn’t tell me.”

“Siena is my sister, I will pick her up, I don’t need my mother’s orders.” Hayden said this to Siena, “My parents are waiting for us to go back at home now, so we won’t bother you here anymore.”

Wesley nodded, and then looked at Siena: “Siena, how about you first go back with your elder brother? You can leave your luggage with us first, and you can come back at any time. If you talk to your parents, I can help you send your luggage back.”

After hearing this, Siena shook her head: “Uncle Wesley, thank you. I don’t have much luggage, I’ll pack it myself.”

After Siena finished speaking, she immediately went back to her room to pack.

Wesley walked up to Hayden, and said in a low voice: “It seems that she is willing to go back with you.”

Hayden: “Yeah.”

Wesley: “I was worried that she would not want to!”

“My parents are also worried about this. But I don’t think so.” Hayden said.

So Hayden came to pick up Siena, thinking that he would be able to take her back.

“After taking her back, you all have to be more patient with her.”

“Uncle, don’t worry. She is our family, and we will naturally let her feel the warmth of home.” Hayden said sincerely.

After a while, Siena packed her luggage and walked out of the room.

Hayden strode forward and took the backpack from her hand and held her wrist with the other hand.

“Auntie, uncle, let’s go first.” Hayden said goodbye to Wesley and Shea, “It’s been hard for you these few days.”

Wesley: “It’s not hard. Be careful on the road.”

Hayden: “Yes.”

Downstairs, Robert saw them coming out, immediately open the door.

“Little sister! I’m your second brother. My name is Robert.” Robert ate instant noodles last night, and got angry today, and a blister grew on the corner of his mouth. In order not to affect his appearance, he put a band-aid on the corner of his mouth, “From now on I’ll protect you. If anyone bullies you in the future, just tell me.”

Siena stared at Robert for a few seconds and asked, “What’s wrong with your mouth?”

“Uh... last night my sister and I ate instant noodles with her, but she didn’t have anything to do after eating, So I got angry.” Robert sighed, and took off the band-aid, “I wanted to appear in front of you handsomely, but it turned out to be so handsome. It’s like this.”

Siena: “You’re not ugly like this.”

“Really? My sister laughed at me for at least half an hour this morning. It’s better to be a younger sister, who is caring.” Robert sighed.

Chapter 2632

Siena blushed embarrassingly.

“Little sister, my parents have been looking for you for more than ten years. Now that the DNA test results are out, you are part of our family. You won’t think about leaving us again, will you?” Robert asked with doubts in his heart.

Robert forced Siena to express her opinion.

“Robert, are you looking for something to talk to? She is already a member of our family, where will she go?” Hayden answered the question.

Those words made Siena's heartstrings tighten.

This was an opportunity not to give her any other thoughts!

Hayden was worthy of being a big brother; not only was his aura invincible, but every word he said made Siena feel invincible and powerful.

"That's good! I really don't want to see my mother sad anymore." Robert laughed and continued to talk to Siena, "Siena, when you go to our house, you will know that we all love her very much."

Half an hour later, the car slowly drove into the Foster's villa.

Siena was there a few days ago.

At that time, Elliot and Avery were on vacation in Bridgedale, and there was no one at home.

At that time, she thought this was Lilly's home, and she still sighed in her heart that Wesley's home was so luxurious.

Unexpectedly, Siena came here again so soon. And here, became her home.

Elliot and Avery immediately walked out of the room when they heard the sound.

Today was a beautiful day, sunny and cloudless.

When Siena got out of the car, she saw Elliot and Avery.

The two of them were no longer empty photos on the Internet, but standing in front of her vividly.

Elliot was tall and had an outstanding temperament, his real age could not be seen from his face at all.

And Avery nestled beside him, with a slender and petite figure, a gentle temperament and picturesque features.

The two of them were like a pair made in heaven, they were very well matched, and it could be seen that their relationship was stronger than gold, and no one could separate them.

Because their hands were always holding each other.

“Siena, I’m Avery, and I’m your mother. He’s Elliot, and he’s your father. We’ve been looking for you, but we haven’t been able to find you. I don’t know where you went, and we can’t find you anyway. It’s a good thing you’re back this time, if you don’t come back, we might never find you.”

Avery let go of Elliot’s hand, and held Siena’s hand with both hands, “Let’s go into the house. It’s too hot outside.”

Avery led Siena into the house.

“You change these shoes.” Walking to the door, Avery took Siena’s shoes.

All Siena’s daily necessities had been prepared by Avery’s Security Department.

All were brand new.

Chapter 2633

Siena looked at the pair of pink sandals in front of her, and saw the sandals on Avery’s feet.

It’s the same color, same style, just different size.

“Siena, have you had breakfast? Are you hungry?” Seeing her changing shoes, Avery hurriedly asked again, “Are you thirsty? Do you want something to drink? There is water and drinks...”

“I’m neither hungry nor thirsty.” Siena changed her shoes and replied.

“Then let me take you to familiarize yourself with the house! By the way, I will show you your room.” Avery wanted Siena to get familiar with the environment here as soon as possible.

Siena was very nervous, so she started shopping with Avery.

Except for Avery who was talking to her, everyone else was staring at her.

Including Elliot and the others, as well as the servants in this family.

“There are six rooms on the first floor. In addition to a master bedroom and two guest rooms, there are also nanny rooms and multi-purpose rooms. We usually live on the second and third floors.” Avery introduced to Siena, “There is an elevator here, don’t want to walk to climb the stairs, you can take the elevator to climb the stairs. But we usually take the stairs. Moderate exercise is better for your body. But if you are sick and can’t exercise, you can take the elevator.”

“I live on the second floor with your father, and your sister also lives on second floor. Your eldest brother and second brother live on the third floor.” Avery continued, “Your room is next to your sister. I will take you to see it now.”

Siena followed Avery, looking sideways from time to time.

“Siena, I know that you still need to go back to deal with your life in Thopiavelle. Then I will go there with you with your father.” Seeing that Siena didn’t talk much, Avery said, “You can have any ideas. tell me.”

“I don’t know what to say, my head is in a mess.” Siena thought for a while and said, “I thought Rebecca Jobin was my mother, but things don’t seem to be like that.”

“Many people don’t know the truth about this matter.” Avery took Siena into her room, sat down on the small sofa in her room, and chatted in detail, “First, this matter is disgraceful. Second, the Jobin family’s series of accidents is beyond my control and that of your father.”

“I don’t know if you remember a person. It was this person who bought you from the traffickers. The mother-in-law who raised you. She was hired with money by Gloria Wiens.” Avery spread out the past and told Siena one by one in detail, “The information you know should be passed on to your mother-in-law who takes care of you, and then to you. At first, she thought that the murderer of the Jobin family murder was me and your father. She lurked beside me and investigated this matter.”

“It’s a pity that I didn’t know you were with her at the beginning, otherwise these things would have happened in the first place. I can talk about it.” Avery regretted, “Fortunately, although I missed you for more than ten years, fate still brought our family together.”

“Siena, how have you lived these years? Why can’t we find you?” Elliot stood at the door of the room and asked his doubts, “Your mother and I have never stopped looking for you. It was not until the day before yesterday that we stopped letting detectives continue looking for you.”

Siena covered half of her face with her hand, “I have an ugly scar on my face. I just took it off a few days ago.”

...

“This d*mn old woman! If it wasn’t for her, I would have found my daughter a long time ago!” Elliot was so angry, so he couldn’t help but yell.

Avery patted Elliot on the shoulder to calm him down: “Gloria had taken care of Siena for so many years, and she had worked hard without credit.”

“She has brought my daughter to suffer for more than ten years. Don’t tell me about the hard work. Fortunately, she was dead. If she is not dead, I have to settle the score with her!” Elliot thought of her daughter’s inability to show her true colors all these years, wearing an ugly mask, and suffering so much indifference and ridicule, his heart ached!

“Okay, Husband, Gloria had passed away, and this matter is over. From now on, we will take good care of our daughter and prevent her from being wronged.”

Avery’s mood was very serious but overall, the joy of finding her daughter still prevails.

“I don’t think there is any need to go to Thopiavelle anymore. My daughter’s life there is hard. I don’t know what kind of hardship it is...I will never let my daughter suffer any more!" Elliot said coldly, clenched his fists, "I want her former identity to disappear completely. From today on, there will be no Siena in this world, only my daughter Hazel."

"Let's discuss it with my daughter first!" Avery said.

"Mom, you don't need to discuss this matter with her." Hayden said, "Since Haze is back, her past life must be erased. Or will it be kept as a laughing stock for others?"

Chapter 2634

Thank you for reading this post, don't forget to visit Again!

Elliot and Hayden had a high degree of unity in this matter.

Avery felt that their worries were unnecessary, so she didn't stop them.

"I'll do this." Hayden said, "You stay at home and accompany Hazel well."

"Just send someone to do it, and Hayden, don't go there yourself." Elliot was afraid that something unexpected would happen to his son on this trip.

Hayden: "I'll go and see where my sister lives."

"Alright. Bring bodyguards and be careful." Elliot said.

...

Hazel fell asleep in the room. When she woke up, she looked at the strange room, her eyes open in a daze.

In the morning, Avery took her around the entire villa and explained to her all the details of what happened that year.

She no longer had any doubts in her heart.

Now some, just at a loss.

It's not that she didn't want to recognize her biological parents. After knowing that Elliot and Avery hadn't stopped looking for her all these years, she was very moved.

It's just that her life in the past ten years and the life in front of her now were two extremes.

Take her from one extreme to the other and she needed time to accept and adjust.

She sat on the bed, stayed there for a while, got out of bed, and walked out of the room.

"Hazel." Avery saw her coming out of the room, and immediately walked towards her.

Avery was in the bedroom with the door open. If there was any movement on the daughter's side, she could be aware of it immediately.

Siena was not used to hearing her mother call herself 'Hazel'.

But she knew in her heart that she was Hazel. Now that she has returned to this family, she will be Hazel from now on.

"Are you hungry? Mom will accompany you down to eat some fruit!" Avery took Hazel's hand, "Your father is taking a nap."

"Mom, why didn't you sleep?" Hazel hesitated for a moment and asked.

When Avery heard her daughter yelling the word 'mother', a hundred flowers bloomed in her heart, and all the sorrows turned into sweetness.

"I can't sleep. I want to talk to you. I call you Hazel, are you awkward?" Avery asked.

Hazel shook her head: "It's not awkward, it's just that no one called me that before, so I'm not used to it."

"Your name was given by Ben Schaffer." Avery told her the origin of the name,

"When you were born, we only know that you are Elliot's child. At that time, I thought you were the child of Elliot and Rebecca, so I broke up with Elliot. Elliot was caught between me and you, and it was very difficult. I didn't even bother to name you. So Ben gave a name. He is a good friend of your father and also your uncle Wesley.”

“Do I have two uncles?” Hazel asked.

“Well. Your father has a half-sister named Gwen White. She met your father later. Your auntie Gwen’s husband is Ben. Another auntie is Shea. Shea and your father have no blood relationship, but their relationship is better than brothers and sisters. They grew up together and have a deep relationship with each other. So mother understands the relationship between you and your mother-in-law.”

Hazel gratefully said: “Mom, mother-in-law treated me really well.”

“I can see that you have been educated so well. It’s just that life is a little bit hard... Your father can’t stand this. So he doesn’t want you to go back to Thopiavelle.” Avery said , “Your brother has gone to Thopiavelle. He is going to end your life there.”

“How does it end?” Hazel’s eyebrows jumped.

Chapter 2635

Thank you for reading this post, don't forget to visit Again!

“Hazel, this is also so that you will not have any worries in the future.”

Hazel lowered her head, thinking about her mother’s words.

It’s not impossible to let the identity of ‘Hazel’ die, but it’s a bit uncomfortable.

After all, she has lived in this capacity for more than ten years.

“Hazel, I know you must be a little bit reluctant, but this is the best choice. We will give you anything you want in the future.”

“Mom, I’m just a little bit reluctant. Since you think It’s good to do this, so let’s do it! I didn’t have any friends at first.” Hazel quickly adjusted her mood, “But I still owe money to others.”

“Give me their names and account numbers, and I’ll help you pay it back. Or if I give you the money, you pay it back yourself.” Avery said, “Is there anything else I need to do?”

Hazel shook her head and said with some regret: “I finally got into the University of Thopiavelle, but unfortunately I can’t go to the University.”

“It’s really not easy to get admitted to a good University. But we go to a good University not just for the sake of going to a good University, but also for the purpose of studying and furthering our studies in the University. If this is the case, then whether you go to the University of Thopiavelle or the University of Aryadelle, as long as you study hard, you will be worthy of your heart.” Avery reassured, “You can choose any university in Avonsville. In the future, you can study whatever you want, and your parents will fully support you.”

Avery seemed to have Like magic, a few words calmed the uneasiness in Hazel’s heart.

“Mom, I have a small request.” Hazel ate the fruit and put forward her own thoughts, “I want to live an ordinary life. I don’t want others to know that I am your daughter. I am afraid of others because of my identity. And pay too much attention to me.”

Because in the past few years, she has been living an unknown life.

She’s used to that kind of life.

“Okay, mom understands your feelings. Many relatives knew that we had found you and wanted to visit you, but I refused.” Avery said in a soft and gentle voice, “I know you must not be used to your current life. Mom and Dad accompany you to get used to it slowly.”

“I feel like I’m dreaming.” Hazel said her psychological feelings, “I dare not do this even in my dreams. Suddenly I have a big house to live in, and there are so many delicious food, there are so many family members who like me...

Suddenly everything is there, I'm afraid it's fake..."

"Hazel, everything is real. You are my daughter, you are the little princess of our family. In addition to your parents, you also have a sister and two brothers. They will love you like us. If you encounter any problems in the future, you will not face them alone. Everyone will help you. So when you encounter anything, don't take it to heart, but tell it."

"Mom, I don't have any problems." Hazel felt that her life seemed to be completely complete.

"May I hug you, Mom?" Avery didn't dare to make this request in the morning, for fear of scaring her daughter.

Talking to her daughter now, she could clearly feel that her daughter had accepted her.

Hazel immediately moved towards Avery, and then hugged her.

Avery had a pleasant fragrance on her body.

The scent was clearly not perfume.

More like a body wash or shampoo scent.

The next morning.

A car stopped in front of Foster's house, and several staff members moved things down from the car.

Hazel didn't have the habit of sleeping late.

After hearing the movement, she walked out of the room.

"Hazel, you got up so early? Why don't you sleep more?" Avery saw Hazel wanted to go downstairs, and immediately went to the stairs to greet her, "Your father bought you a gift, come and see."

In the living room, there were already many boxes piled up.

There was even a row of shelves next to it, and there were staff members in uniform who hung the goods on the ground to the shelves.

Chapter 2636

Avery: "I didn't think you got up so early! There will be shoes later, and skin care products will be delivered."

"Mom, there are too many..." Hazel was startled. She had never seen such a battle.

"You pick slowly, keep the ones you like, and let others take away the ones you don't like." Avery said, "The weather is too hot now, otherwise mom wants to go shopping with you and chat while shopping."

Hazel Nodded: "Mom, I just need to choose two clothes. I don't need a bag, I just have a schoolbag."

"You can pick and choose! There are also more casual bags. There are also styles like your schoolbag. Your room has a big dressing room, and you can put a lot of things in it." Avery whispered, "Hazel, we owe you a lot, although we want to accompany you, I will give you compensation but you are an adult after all, and we will not be able to accompany you when you go to University. So parents will give you material compensation, please don't refuse?"

Hazel understood that her parents wanted to compensate her. However, buying so many things for her at once felt too extravagant and wasteful.

"Do you care about money? Mom knows your past life. It is not easy to earn some money. But the most important thing in our family is money. Your father has been on the rich list for many years. Before your mother retired, she was also in the rich list. It's no problem for us to let you wear new clothes and bags every day." Avery said, "If your elder brother comes back and sees that we didn't even buy you decent clothes and bags, he will definitely take you to buy. Do you want to go shopping with your elder brother?”

Hazel: “.....”

Although the eldest brother Hayden was nice, she didn't want to go shopping with him.

The main reason was that Hayden was not very talkative. It would be embarrassing for Hazel to stay with Hayden.

“Then let me choose one!” Hazel walked to the shelf, and the staff immediately unwrapped the packaging bag for her to see.

“Miss Tate, these are the new summer clothes in our store this year. But summer is coming to an end, if you want to buy autumn clothes, I can have someone send you the new autumn clothes for you to choose.” The staff said enthusiastically.

Hazel was stunned for a moment: “It's still summer!”

“That's how it is. We usually have summer collections in spring and autumn collections in summer. Usually at this time, our summer collections will be discounted.”

Hearing that, Hazel's eyes lit up: “Are these clothes on sale?”

“It's on sale. You can pick a few more. According to the weather in Avonsville, you can actually wear summer clothes until September and October!”

Hazel nodded and began to choose clothes.

“Your sister used to like our brand better. Because the design style of our brand is more lively and cute, it is very popular among young people.”

“Does my sister not like this brand now?” Hazel asked.

“Your sister is working now, and her clothes are more mature. Our brand can't meet her needs.” The staff member said.

“Oh...Mom, there are too many clothes, I don't know how to choose.” Hazel was dazzled, so she asked Avery for help.

Elliot stood beside her, and opened his mouth, "You don't need to choose, just buy them all."

Hazel: "..."

Avery said, "Hazel, pick and choose which ones you don't like. We will list the ones you don't like. Take out some, and keep the rest."

But Hazel thought those clothes were very beautiful.

"If you think they all look good, then keep them all." Avery saw Hazel's thoughts, so she took her to the other side to choose bags, "If you like schoolbags, then buy more schoolbags... You can also buy some small bags. It is more convenient to carry small bags when you usually go shopping with your classmates, or we go shopping together."

The staff took the bags on the ground out of the box and put them out one by one for them to choose.

Hazel still couldn't pick well. Because every bag was beautiful.

Chapter 2637

Hazel: "There were many more bags than those on the ground."

Avery answered immediately: "Yes! Hazel, your sister has more bags. So keep these bags! They are all classic and versatile."

Hazel: "..."

Not long after, the shoe delivery person and the skin care product delivery person also came.

The servant took the bags and clothes from the living room to Hazel's room.

After the skin care products and shoes were arranged in the living room, Layla and Robert got up and came down to watch the fun.

"These shoes, as long as the shoe size is okay, you can keep them!" Layla said,

“You have to try the skin care products! What if you have allergies?”

Layla said, and began to help her sister Hazel try skin care products.

“Sister, this series is easy to use. If you are not allergic to this series, then use this series first.” Layla took the most expensive series and tried it on the back of Hazel’s hand.

“Sister, Mom and Dad bought me a lot of clothes, shoes and bags, it feels like a waste.” Hazel felt uneasy.

“What a waste! It’s a waste of money if you don’t spend it in your card.” Layla said, “In a few days, my sister will take you to the show, and then I will find a designer to make it for you. How long are you? If you are so cute, you have to dress nicely.”

Robert took a glass of milk, and while drinking the milk, he said, “Dad, why didn’t you buy jewelry for my little sister? Our little princess of the Foster family can’t be shabby.”

“Your brother ordered it, and it will be delivered later.” Elliot said.

Hazel: “....”

“Robert, what about you? Didn’t show any sign?” Layla raised her foot and kicked Robert.

Robert drank the milk in the cup in one gulp, and immediately took out a car key: “Little sister, brother will give you a car! I haven’t driven this car since I bought it!”

“Your old car is yours. Let’s drive! I’ll buy a new car for Hazel.” Avery stuffed Robert’s car keys back into his hands, and said, “The main reason is that your car doesn’t look good, and Hazel won’t like it.”

Robert scratched his head: “Then I’ll give it to you. What’s up, little girl? Money...is money okay?”

Robert seemed to remind Elliot.

Elliot immediately took out a bank card and handed it to Hazel: "Hazel, this is the card Dad gave you. The password is your birthday. There is no limit, just use it as you like."

Robert: "..."

Give him a chance to show off?

Avery took the card from her husband and stuffed it into Hazel's hand: "Here is the card, and you can buy whatever you want when you go out in the future. Don't save money for your father. If you spend more, your father will be in better."

Hazel: "Mom, I..."

"Are you hungry? Let's go, let's have breakfast first. These skin care products are very mild and should not cause allergies. Just don't use allergies Already." Avery felt that there was no need to choose.

As long as it was good and expensive, it would be used by Hazel.

"Little sister, if you have anything to do in the future, just tell me, and I will promise to help you handle it!" Robert promised Hazel.

Hazel felt the heart of her second brother: "Second brother, thank you."

"Go and buy a mobile phone for Hazel. Get a number card by the way." Elliot instructed Robert.

"Sure! I'll go buy it right away." After Robert took the order, he drove out immediately.

Hazel's life, starting today, has completely turned a new way.

Chapter 2638

Thopiavelle.

When the news of Siena's death reached Hogan's family, it didn't actually cause any waves.

After all, Siena was just a servant of the Hogan family.

After Siena left the Hogan family, no one in the Hogan family mentioned her again.

It was Cyrus Hogan who got the news of Siena's death.

Because Siena returned the money owed to him.

"Dad, do you still remember the ugly little servant in our family? It's called Siena." During dinner, Cyrus mentioned this matter.

"Of course I remember. Lucas was nice to her." Master Hogan glanced at Cyrus,

"Why did you mention her? Did she look for you?"

Cyrus shook his head: "She's dead."

The atmosphere at the table suddenly changed.

Although they didn't care about Siena's life or death, they were still shocked by this incident.

"Why did she die? Didn't she die of illness? I think she works quite neatly." Mrs. Hogan felt a little unlucky.

She prayed in her heart that she must not suffer from any strange disease.

"I don't know how she died. She owed me a little money. Someone sent me money during the day, saying that it was for her to pay back the money. Then she said she died, and thanked me for taking care of her before." When Cyrus said this, his heart felt a little cold.

"Someone help her pay back the money? Who? Doesn't she have no family?"

"Maybe some kind of charity organization!" Cyrus guessed.

At this time, Mr. Todd intercepted: "She also paid back the money she owed me."

"Did the person who returned the money say she was dead?" Cyrus asked.

Mr. Todd nodded: "I also said thank you for taking care of her before."

"I don't know how she died, it was so sudden. I heard that she was admitted to the University of Thopiavelle!" Cyrus regretted, "I guess it wasn't a disease, what disease happened so quickly? It must be some accident."

Mrs. Hogan breathed a sigh of relief: "This child's fate is not good. It's fine if she dies, and she dies early and reincarnated early. So what if she is admitted to the University of Thopiavelle? After graduating, she still can't find a job. Just like her, she will be a servant for others. Others will despise her. It's only because our family doesn't care so much that we will use her."

"She is dead, what are you talking about?" Master Hogan suddenly lost his appetite, so he left the table.

Master Hogan thought that he hadn't contacted Lucas in the past week. It wasn't that Master Hogan didn't contact Lucas, but that he called him and he didn't answer.

Master Hogan knew that there was a time difference between Thopiavelle and Eozambiulle, and sometimes the time of the two sides did not match, but Lucas didn't answer the phone and never said anything, and never called Master Hogan back when he saw a missed call.

Master Hogan was very disappointed.

But the heart was chilling, the son was his own, even if the son didn't answer the phone, Master Hogan still had to call from time to time.

Like today, Siena died, Lucas definitely didn't know about it.

Master Hogan called and wanted to share the news with Lucas, but he didn't answer the phone.

In desperation, Master Hogan had no choice but to send a message to Lucas. After sending the news of Siena's death, about ten minutes later, Lucas called.

Master Hogan didn't expect that it was Siena who made Lucas take the initiative to call.

"You said Siena is dead? What's going on?" Lucas's tone was a little hasty, and his voice was cold.

Master Hogan: "I don't know the exact situation. It was your second brother Cyrus who said it. The housekeeper Todd also said it. Didn't Siena owe them money before? The money was paid off today... the person who paid her back said she was dead. It must have been an accident! Life is like this, I don't know who will come first tomorrow or the accident."

Beep beep!

Lucas hung up the phone.

Siena was dead.

She actually died.

When was the last time the two of them saw each other?

What was the last thing they both said?

Lucas couldn't remember clearly.

Chapter 2639

Lucas only remembered that he was very angry at the time, so he refused Siena to send him to the airport.

He could even imagine her disappointed expression when she arrived at Hogan's house the next morning, only to find that he had already left.

For some reason, when he saw her frowning because of him, he felt a little pleasure in his heart.

But that's because he didn't know she would leave this world so soon.

If he had known that she would die so soon, he would never have been angry with her.

It's too late to say anything now.

she died.

As suddenly as when his dog died.

Without having time to say goodbye, she left him forever.

Could it be that as long as it is what he likes, it must be taken away?

.....

Aryadelle.

It had been half a month since Hazel returned to Foster's house.

This half month was the happiest time in Hazel's life.

She didn't have to worry about the last meal, the wind and rain, the livelihood of tomorrow, and the tuition fees.

She woke up from the big soft bed every day, and the bright sunshine outside the room, There were beautiful flowers in the room, and the flowers were different every day, just like her new clothes and shoes, they were new every day...

She didn't have to do anything, she just needed to enjoy it all.

Going downstairs every day, there were delicious snacks and delicacies, and she could have eat whatever she wanted.

There was no need for her to make any requests, and the delicious food was delivered to her.

Her parents and brother had been with her at home.

Except that Robert had summer vacation, she knew that her elder brother Hayden was usually very busy at work, so now in order to spend more time with her at home, she put off work directly.

They took her to various exhibitions and concerts, took her to amusement parks, and took her to museums.

Every day's itinerary was different, and every day's itinerary made her feel fresh.

In addition to taking her to play, they also took her to eat all kinds of delicious specialties.

Every time she went out to play, she would buy her various commemorative gifts.

The life of a princess she could imagine was nothing less than this.

The time suddenly came to mid-August.

In half a month, Hazel had to choose a university.

Avery and Elliot naturally hoped that Hazel would choose Robert's university.

The siblings were in the same school, so even if they were in different grades, they could at least have a support.

But Hazel didn't want to go to the university where Robert was.

"Are you afraid that others will know that Robert is your brother?"

Avery saw her daughter's thoughts, "It's fine if you don't go to the same university. I'll let your father arrange which university you want to go to."

Hazel: " Mom, I want to learn broadcasting."

Avery: "Why do you want to learn broadcasting? Do you want to be a host?"

Hazel: "I think being a host is very attractive."

Avery: "Then you should learn this!"

Hazel: "What did my sister study in college?"

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Your sister studied accounting."

Hazel: "Does my sister like this major?"

Avery shook her head: "Your sister doesn't have a favorite major, because she has a wide range of interests since she was a child, and she can learn what she likes, so she knows a little about everything.

It was suggested by your elder brother to study accounting."

Hazel: "Oh..."

"You don't need to worry about what they study. If you want to learn broadcasting, then learn broadcasting.

In fact, what major you study in university does not affect your employment after graduation. When you graduate from university, what do you want to do, just let your brothers and sisters take you for a while."

Avery reassured her daughter Hazel, "Maybe you will work in your father's company in the future. Your father is worried that no one will follow him!

Chapter 2640

Hazel blushed slightly, things after graduation were still far away.

If she hadn't returned to Foster's house, she wouldn't have said that she wanted to learn broadcasting.

She ought to pick a major that makes it simpler to find employment if she still lived alone in Thopiavelle, such as computer science, medicine, or regular schooling with the goal of becoming a teacher in the future.

Since she was no longer concerned about her financial security, she was free to make decisions based on her love.

Her life seemed to be full of countless opportunities.

"Hazel, you haven't met those relatives at home. They really want to see you.

So we want to hold a small party at home before you go to college, and invite relatives over to get to know you."

Avery told Hazel, "Your elder brother is going back to Bridgedale. If you are willing to meet them, then let's get together this weekend. If you don't want to..."

Hazel: "Mom, I would."

Hazel had fully accepted her identity as the Foster family's daughter after spending a month getting along with them.

She also knew some relatives in the family from her parents, brothers and sisters.

“Hahaha, Mom won’t force you.” Avery laughed, “Both now and at the start of the new year, I don’t want them to see you.

But those family members already yell every day because they want to see you so badly. Let me send them your pictures.”

“Then let’s do it this weekend! I also want to meet our relatives.” Hazel laughed.

“Actually, our family doesn’t have any relatives. Many of those who are close to each other are good friends of your father and me.”

Avery explained, “You don’t need to be nervous or afraid when the time comes. They are all very nice.”

“Well, I’m not afraid.”

After agreeing with Hazel, Avery began to plan and arrange the scene.

In the evening, when Layla came back from get off work, she saw her parents discussing the recipe for the party.

Layla: “Our family is going to have a party!”

“Well, after Hazel came back, she hasn’t celebrated yet! When the time comes, invite relatives and friends to the house and celebrate.”

Avery replied, “Layla, you have Friday off. Bring Hazel shopping for a nicer dress.”

Layla made an OK gesture with her hand: “Wrap it on me.”

After receiving the order, Layla immediately took Hazel and went shopping.

“Sister, you haven’t eaten yet!” Hazel hadn’t eaten either.

They were supposed to eat together when Layla came back.

“Let’s go out to eat!” Layla stuffed Hazel into the car.

“I think there is a dress in a store that suits you very well. I will take you to see it.

After we have a look, we will find something to eat nearby.”

Hazel was not hungry, so she put on her seat belt obediently.

“Little sister, when did you take your driver’s license test?”

Layla drove the car out, “Then I’ll buy you a car. How convenient that you can drive anywhere you want!”

“Well, wait until the winter vacation!” This summer, Hazel had been with her parents all the time, so she had no time to take the driver’s license test.

“Let Robert practice with you then.” Layla said, “Anyway, he’s good in driving.”

“Sister, are you very busy at work?” Hazel asked.

“It’s okay! Work is endless. If you want to be busy, you can be very busy, and if you don’t want to be very busy, you can sneak in.

After all, many things can continue to work even if I don’t care about them.”

Layla explained, “I am now an absorbing stage, I want myself to learn more, so I will do many things by myself.”

Hazel nodded.

Chapter 2641

Hazel planned to buy a casual dress later, so it didn’t take up her sister’s work time on Friday.

“What are you thinking!” Layla glanced at Hazel, “Don’t you think that I will take up my working time if I take you shopping for clothes?”

Don’t think so, sister, I also want to take a break from my busy schedule and take a break.

Let’s take a look tonight and come out tomorrow to try it out...Let’s buy one for each of us, and we’ll buy outfits.”

“Okay!” Hazel laughed, “Sister, you work every day, don’t you have time to fall in love?”

Layla blushed with a smile: "Why did you say this all of a sudden? Big brother Hayden isn't in a relationship either!"

"Because you were applying for marriage around the world before, I saw the news." Hazel gossiped, "Sister, have you recruited a better candidate?"

"It's difficult! In fact, many people are very good, but they are not suitable. You are still young, and you may not understand what I mean..."

Because it is a global collection, many qualified candidates are from abroad.

The region is first One problem, and Secondly, the two people live in different environments, so it is difficult to have common topics.

Boyfriends still have to be found by themselves, and this kind of global marriage is not very reliable."

Layla summed up her experience of this marriage search as experience, and told her sister share.

"Sister, you can find it yourself! You are so beautiful and capable, you will definitely find a suitable boyfriend." Hazel encouraged.

Layla frowned slightly, and said the plan in her heart: "Little sister, I want to move out, but I haven't dared to tell my parents.

I think I have been living at home, which may have a little influence.

I just want to go home late Mom and Dad will be worried, so I dare not stay outside for a long time.

I asked my friends around me, and they all think that if I want to get out of the single, I have to move out of the house first."

Hazel didn't know much about these things, so she didn't dare to talk nonsense, but Hazel fully supported Layla: "Then where are you going to live?"

"I'm looking at a house recently. I should choose one near the company.

Then I will live by myself on Mondays and Fridays, and go home on weekends.

What do you think?" Layla told her sister her thoughts.

Hazel: "If you're happier this way, then I support you."

"Great! With your support, I won't be afraid that my parents will disagree."

Layla said, "If my parents disagree, you can speak for me. My parents will definitely listen to you."

Hazel nodded: "But sister, you have to be careful when you live alone."

"Well, don't worry! I will definitely be very careful."

The car was driven to a designer clothing store.

The owner of the store knew Layla and immediately received them warmly.

"Does your store have any new styles?" When Layla asked, she led Hazel around the store.

"There is a new style, on the second floor." When the owner was talking, he looked at Hazel and asked Layla, "Miss Tate, is this your best friend?"

Layla: "more intimate than a girlfriend."

Layla knew that Hazel didn't want outsiders to know her identity, so Layla's answer was very clever.

When Hazel heard this answer, her face immediately turned red.

"I see that you two have been holding hands when you come in, and the relationship is not ordinary at first glance!"

The shop owner took them to the second floor and showed them a dress worn by the model, "This is a new model launched by our shop this month. It was a genius. There were three pieces in this collection, with slightly different styles, but the overall style was the same."

Layla looked at the three dresses separately.

Hazel moved closer to Layla's ear and whispered, "It just so happens that we each have one piece, and our mother has one piece."

“Hahaha! Do you like the style?” Layla asked with a smile, “The main thing is that you like it.”

“I think it looks pretty.” Hazel touched the fabric of one of the skirts, “The fabric is also very comfortable.”

That was a pink gauze dress with some jewels inlaid on it, which looked very eye-catching.

Hazel accidentally touched the tag on the skirt, so she picked up the tag and looked at the price.

Chapter 2642

Didn't Elliot give Hazel a card? She bound the card to her phone, and now she could pay with her phone, but she never had the chance to pay.

When she went out with her parents and elder brother Hayden, Hayden was always the one who paid the bill.

Basically, when Avery took a fancy to something, she picked it up and showed it to Hazel, and Hayden paid for it. If Hayden wasn't with them, Elliot would pay the bill.

Often before Hazel could react, Elliot had already paid the bill. So she didn't know much about the prices of many things.

Now that she was caught off guard when she saw that this dress cost $400,000, she felt like she was going to pass out.

It's just a skirt, how dare the Owner sell it for $400,000?

Although this skirt was inlaid with some shiny jewels, Hazel felt that these jewels were definitely not worth such a high price.

The eldest brother gave her a lot of jewels, and those jewels were all very valuable.

So she could tell what kind of jewelry was worth a little bit.

For example, those with large grams and pure colors would be more valuable.

Many of the jewelry on this skirt were relatively small.

Hazel pulled Layla aside and said in a low voice: "Sister, the dress I saw just now has a price tag of $400,000."

"Well, the new styles in this store are almost at this price." Layla looked calm, "This is a high-end customization, it will be gone after it is sold, and it will not compete with others. So the price is more expensive."

"Oh, so that's it." Hazel probably understood why it was so expensive, but still couldn't accept the price, "Sister, let's go to another store to see! I can accept competing with other people's shirts, there's no need to buy such expensive skirt, just to avoid them."

Layla laughed softly: "The price of this store is not too expensive, and the highend customization starts from hundreds of thousands. This kind of skirt is massproduced on the assembly line, and the feeling of wearing it is still different. You will know when you try it on. This kind of high-end custom-made clothes look better."

"Sister, I really think it's too expensive." Hazel was unwilling to try it.

"You just need to get used to it." Layla showed Hazel her bag, "My bag costs hundreds of thousands. This watch is also... the money is for spending. I'll buy it for you, you don't worry about the price."

Hazel: "Sister, is it so easy for you to make money?"

"It's not easy to make money. But the experience and contacts accumulated over the years will make it easy. For example, the Tate Industries is very easy for me. When I was young, the company actually went bankrupt. I also experienced many difficulties. After those difficulties have been overcome, it will be much easier now." Layla explained, "In addition to the Tate Industries, our family also has my father's company and my brother's company. The company is more profitable...so it's trivial to buy you a dress worth hundreds of thousands."

Layla asked the shop owner to take down the dress for Hazel to try on.

After Hazel put on her skirt, she walked out.

Layla's eyes lit up immediately.

"I'll take a photo for my mother." Layla took out her mobile phone, took two photos of Hazel, and sent them to Avery.

Avery saw the photo and immediately replied: [My daughter is so beautiful!]

"Little sister, what do you think? I think you look very good in this color, and you look very fairy, you look good without makeup... Mom also said that you look beautiful in this dress!" Layla said.

Could a skirt worth $400,000 look good?

Looking at herself in the mirror, Hazel didn't feel that she was immortal, but felt that she seemed to have matured a lot.

She used to wear school uniforms and cheap goods from roadside stalls, and she had never worn such beautiful clothes.

"If you don't like it, let's go to another store tomorrow. There are still many stores to look at!" Layla leaned into her ear and said.

Hazel immediately said: "I think this dress is pretty."

Chapter 2643

"Then let's come and take a look tomorrow. If you still think it looks good tomorrow, we will buy it." Layla wanted to show her sister more collection, try some more, and chose the one she was most satisfied with.

Hazel nodded and changed the skirt.

Coming out of the shop, Layla took Hazel to have a barbecue.

"You haven't eaten barbecue since you came back, have you?" Layla laughed,

“At this age, my parents pay more attention to health preservation. My dad has never liked hot pot and barbecue fried food. He thinks it is unhygienic, and not nutritious. His taste has always been relatively bland. Mom is a little better. Mom can eat spicy food.”

Hazel was with her parents these days, and her food was more nutritious.

She thought it's delicious, because even light food could be delicious.

But now smelling the aroma of barbecue, the appetite was instantly opened.

“Where's elder brother?” Hazel asked.

“Just treat your elder brother as your father. They used to be like enemies, and my elder brother hated my father very much, but now my elder brother is very much like my father in every gesture. Even my appetite is the same.” Layla laughed, “Only me and Robert are normal. We often sneak out to eat barbecue and hot pot.”

Hazel thought it was quite interesting: “Should I call my elder brother out to eat together?”

“Let's eat together, don't call him.” After ordering with the menu, Layla asked,

“Do you want to eat ice cream? This ice cream is not bad!”

Hazel nodded without thinking, “Eating hot and cold together, will it cause diarrhea?”

Layla: “I've eaten here a few times, but I didn't have any diarrhea! But maybe my stomach is better. You can eat hot pot and ice cream later.”

Hazel: “Yes.”

After ordering food, Layla pointed out the scenery outside to Hazel. “Look at that building, there is a spherical building on it.”

Hazel looked far away and saw the building Layla mentioned.

“That's the Tate Industries.” Layla explained, “The Tate Industries was first founded by our grandfather. Our grandfather is a very powerful person, but he is also a sc*mbag. When my grandmother was pregnant with my mom, my grandfather cheated. Fortunately, when I made my will, Later, the company was owned by my mom.”

Hazel listened very carefully as if listening to a story.

“Hey, Boss Tate!” Suddenly, someone came towards them, “Boss Tate, it’s really you. I thought I was wrong!”

It was an employee of the Tate Industries.

Layla looked at them: “Why are you guys only having dinner now?”

“Just got off work,” the employee scratched his head, glanced at Hazel, then looked back at Layla, “We won’t bother you having dinner with your friend, Boss Tate.”

Layla responded.

After the employees left, Layla summoned the waiter: “I’ll charge the bill for their table.”

The waiter wrote it down and walked away.

Hazel asked: “Sister, are you familiar with them?”

Layla shook her head: “There are too many employees in the company, but I am a little familiar with them. The technical department often works overtime. In fact, I don’t encourage employees to work overtime, but some people insist We can’t make people work overtime against their will.”

Hazel nodded.

“I’m going to buy a suite nearby.” Layla quickly changed the subject, “We’ll finish shopping for clothes tomorrow, so you can go and have a look with me.”

“Okay!” Hazel asked, “Do you want to tell your parents first?”

“I’ll talk about it after I buy it.” Layla said, “Sometimes it’s better to cut it first and play it later than to report it in advance.”

Chapter 2644

The next day, Layla took Hazel to continue choosing dresses.

After picking a few, Hazel still preferred the one she had tried last night.

So Layla and Hazel went to order the three skirts.

Layla knew her mother's size, so she didn't need to ask her.

"Can you change it today?" Layla said to the Owner, "We will wear it tomorrow."

"I will work overtime today and help you change the size." The Owner promised,

"Miss Tate, you are our regular customer, We will do our best to meet any needs."

"Okay, I'll pay now!" Layla took out the card from her bag.

Hazel also took out the card from her bag: "Sister, why don't you swipe my card? I haven't swiped the card yet! I don't know how much money is in it."

Layla laughed loudly: "You are my father's deputy. There is no limit on the card. If you go outside to swipe a house, you can swipe it off."

Hazel: "..."

Layla: "Since you want to try the feeling of spending money, then swipe your card!"

Hazel: "Will Dad know about the money I spend here?"

Layla: "Haha! Are you afraid that he will tell you? Don't worry, Dad never cares about our money. Robert also uses Dad's Secondary card, he especially likes to buy cars, and also likes to buy some digital products, all of which are very expensive, and my father never says anything."

After hearing what his sister said, Hazel immediately handed the card to the store Owner.

After the store Owner swiped the card, Hazel entered the password, and soon, the payment was successful.

“Sister, doesn’t the card you use belong to Dad?” Hazel put the card back into her bag and asked.

Layla: “I used to use my mother’s secondary card. Because I made some money when I was a child, I put it with my mother. But after I turned 18, I used my own card. My mother pays for my card every month. Transfer a sum of money and I will spend it myself. If you don’t want to be watched, you can also open the card yourself.”

Hazel shook her head: “I can open the card by myself after I make money!”

She didn’t have the ability to make money now, so she didn’t want to make any demands. Her Dad didn’t care about their money, as Layla said.

Layla: “It’s okay. But you really don’t have to think too much. Our parents can be said to be the best parents in the world. Their requirements for us are actually very simple, that is, to be healthy and happy. Believe it or not Spend more money, dad is actually happier. The money our dad earns, with your ability, you can’t spend it all.”

Hazel: “Mom said so.”

“Hahaha! The most important thing in our family is Money. You can buy whatever you want in the future without thinking too much about it. Just be happy.” Layla took Hazel to see the house.

Hazel: “Sister, I still can’t stand this kind of consumption habit. I couldn’t even eat fruit before.”

Layla: “Little sister, I know you have suffered before, but I didn’t expect it to be like this. So it will cost more money. Spend back what you owed in the past 18 years. How about you buy a suite too?”

Hazel shook her head fiercely: “Sister, I don’t want to buy it. I don’t want to be alone. After a while, when I go to college, I still don’t know whether to continue to live at home.”

Hazel liked Foster villa very much, whether it was the family members or the atmosphere of the home; she especially liked it.

“Have you chosen a good university? If you choose one close to home, you can go home and live every day!

“I chose N University.”

“N University...that’s a bit far from our home.” Layla thought about the distance from home to N University, “But if you want to live at home, you can just ask the driver to pick you up every day. Many people live very far away. It takes two or three hours to commute every day!”

Hazel: “Mom wants me to live at home. I will live at home first! If I feel too tired then, I can rent a house near the school.”

Rilla: “Yes.”

The two started to look at the house. After looking at several houses, Layla chose a well-decorated one that could be unpacked and moved into.

In fact, the houses they looked at were all well-decorated, and they could all be rented out. This house was finally settled because the Tate Industries Building could be seen from the balcony.

“Sister, you have really deep feelings for the company.” Hazel sighed.

Chapter 2645

“It is like my childhood partner. I watched it grow, and it watched me grow.”

Layla Standing on the balcony, looking in the direction of the company building,

“My childhood dream was to become a big star, because when I was young, I liked to express myself in front of others. But when I grew up, I didn’t have such a strong desire to express myself.”

“Sister, If you become a star, you will definitely be very popular.” Hazel boasted.

“But now being a star and being popular doesn’t appeal to me. I just want to make the company better. Become an entrepreneur like my father and brother.”

Hazel: “Sister, you are already very powerful.”

“What do you have? Do you dream?” Layla looked at Hazel and asked.

Hazel thought about it carefully, and finally shook her head: “I used to just want to go to a better university, and then find a decent job that can support me. Now I don’t need to worry about these things, and I don’t know what my dream is. “

Layla: “Then you can think about it slowly. Anyway, you are still young now.”

Hazel: “But I think I am not young anymore.”

“All children think so. When you really grow up, you will hope that time will pass slowly, not so getting old soon.” Layla patted her sister’s head, “Come on, let’s go to the home furnishing market.”

Hazel: “Yes.”

The next day, early in the morning.

Ben brought Gwen and Lee to Foster’s house.

After a while, Jun, Tammy, and their daughter Kara also came over.

Originally, today’s party started at night, but everyone couldn’t wait to see Hazel soon.

Not long after, Wesley, Shea, and their daughters Maria and Lilly rushed over.

Lilly went to Hazel’s room and pulls Hazel out.

Hazel knew that there were a lot of people coming downstairs, so she hurriedly changed into the dress, and before she had time to comb her hair, she was dragged downstairs by Lilly.

Avery and Elliot were entertaining guests. When they saw their daughter coming down, they immediately walked over, brought her over, and solemnly introduced her to everyone.

“This is my youngest daughter, Hazel.” Elliot looked at Hazel with a loving smile, and introduced to Hazel, “Hazel, this is your uncle Ben, this is Aunt Gwen, this is...” “ “Okay, let me introduce myself.” Tammy interrupted Elliot, and said affectionately to Hazel, “I am your godmother, you can just call me godmother Tammy. This is my husband, this is my daughter Kara, who is the same age as you!”

“Tammy godmother...”

“Hey! You are so good!” After Tammy responded, she immediately prepared to take out a good meeting gift, “This is a little meeting gift from the godmother. I hope you like it. I also hope that you will be happy every day in the future. If you are happy, your parents will be happy.”

“Thank you, godmother Tammy. Hazel was surrounded by everyone’s enthusiasm, her cheeks were flushed.

“Open it and have a look. I ordered it half a month ago.”

Hazel opened the box with a blushing face.

Inside was a beautiful diamond necklace..

The price was definitely not cheap.

Of course Hazel liked it very much, but because the gift was too expensive, Hazel dared not accept it.

She looked to her parents for help.

“You accept the gift from your godmother, it’s fine.” Avery said, “Do you like it?”

Hazel nodded: “I like it. Thank you godmother.”

“Hazel, your auntie has prepared a gift for you too.” Gwen immediately took out the carefully prepared gift from her bag, “This is what I prepared for you, and this is what your uncle prepared for you.”

Gwen took out two gifts.

“Why do you couple still prepare two copies?” Tammy didn’t expect them to do this.

Gwen was about to answer, when a whistle sounded outside the yard, and then the car door opened——

Chapter 2646

“Uncle Mike! Uncle Chad!”

Robert saw the two of them getting out of the car, and immediately ran out to greet them.

Mike and Chad knew that Hazel had been found half a month ago.

Originally, they wanted to come and see Hazel as soon as possible, but Avery said that Hazel was not ready yet, so they would not see them first.

So the two of them played outside for a while, and they just came here today.

“I thought we came early enough!” Mike looked at the luxury cars parked in the yard, and sighed, “Did they come here without breakfast?”

Robert laughed: “Did they eat breakfast? I don’t know about breakfast, we haven’t had it yet!”

“I knew, these guys are the most active every time they have something to do!”

Mike complained and strode into the living room.

The servant brought out slippers for them.

“Little sister Lilly, this man, He’s Uncle Mike. He brought up my brother and I when we were young. Next to him is Uncle Chad. Uncle Chad used to be Dad’s assistant.” Layla introduced to her sister in a low voice, “Uncle Mike is working in my elder brother’s company, and Uncle Chad works in the branch of Bridgedale of the Tate Industries, they are very, very good people, as close as our family.”

After Hazel knew it in her mind, a smile immediately filled her face.

Mike and Chad changed their shoes, walked up to Hazel, and looked Hazel over.

“Ouch! The little girl looks very similar to Elliot!” Mike almost pinched Hazel’s face, “I thought the little girl would look like Avery! She looked like her mother when she was just born, why? Will you grow up to look like your father?”

“This is the charm of heredity.” Chad answered from the side, “You can tell it’s my boss’s daughter at a glance, it’s so similar!”

Chad was so familiar with Elliot that he almost engraved Elliot’s facial features in his heart. So after seeing Hazel, he could quickly tell which part of Hazel resembled Elliot.

“Especially those eyes...it’s like copy and paste!” Mike commented.

“Not only the eyes, but also the mouth.” Chad said.

“The nose is a bit like Avery’s!” Mike continued.

“Hmm...”

“Have you done DNA?” Mike asked Avery.

“Hazel and Layla did it. You don’t need to do anything else with us.” Avery replied, “Where did you two go to play? I called you yesterday, but you didn’t answer.”

“We were diving yesterday! When I saw your phone call, I went to catch a plane.” Mike touched his nose, “Your daughter has been found, is it consummated now?”

Avery: “It is indeed consummated. When you come back this time, stay for a few more days!”

“Yes! I can take care of the children for you, hehe!” Mike said, and glanced at Hazel.

Avery: “Do you think any of my children need you to take care of them? Hazel is over 18 years old.”

Mike: “I’ll take her to play! You and Elliot don’t like to run around.”

Avery: “Okay If Hazel is willing to play with you, then you can take her to play.”

At this time, Chad took out the gift prepared for Hazel.

A red book.

“This is the house we carefully selected for you. You can live there when you go to Bridgedale in the future.” Chad explained, “The house has not been decorated yet. When it is finished, I will take photos for you to see.”

Chapter 2647

Mike added: “Your Uncle Chad personally designed it!”

“Little girl, just accept it! When the decoration is finished, let’s go visit together!”

Layla helped Hazel take the red book.

“Thank you, Uncle Mike, and thank you, Uncle Chad.” Hazel’s cheeks were burning hot, and she thanked her.

“Family, thank you!” Mike patted Hazel’s head and teased, “Isn’t he just waking up and getting woken up before dressing up? Hahaha! Let’s go and have breakfast first! I-I’m hungry.”

Everyone walked towards the dining room in a mighty manner.

Fortunately, there were a lot of ingredients at home, and the servants made a lot of breakfast while they were chatting.

“Hazel, I heard that you have a very good relationship with Lilly. It just so happens that your uncle Ben gave you a diamond. You can ask Lilly to design it for you and make it into a style.” Gwen whispered to Hazel, “The crown I gave you is a prize I got when I participated in a modeling competition, I have treasured it for many years, and now I give it to you, I hope you can go smoothly on the road of your dreams in the future.”

Hazel's eyes were red with emotion: "Thank you, auntie, I will treasure it well."

"Don't cry! You have to be happy. We are happy when you are happy. Did you know how long we waited for this day? The first few years of your father and your mother were looking for you was almost crazy. Although they couldn't find you, they always believed that you were still alive. Fortunately, you have returned safely. From now on, you must spend more time with your parents."

Hazel nodded: "I-I will."

"Alright, let's have breakfast!" Avery took a bowl of noodles and handed it to Hazel.

Because Hazel had lived in Thopiavelle for a long time, she preferred to eat pasta.

Avery already knew her daughter's dietary preferences, so she asked her servants to make pasta for Hazel every day.

"Auntie Gwen, you can put on makeup for my sister later! My skills are not as good as yours." Layla spoke to Gwen while eating a sandwich.

"Okay! I'll take care of your makeup." Gwen began to retreat behind the scenes in the past two years, and started to run her own beauty brand and clothing brand. She was much more sensitive to fashion than ordinary people.

"Auntie Gwen, and me!" Kara pouted, showing her presence angrily.

"Hahaha! I'll take care of you guys!" Gwen said boldly.

Tammy sighed: "Kara, you spent two hours putting on makeup in the morning, are you willing to take it off?"

"Of course, Auntie Gwen is amazing! If I had known she would do it for me, I wouldn't have done it in the morning." Kara especially praised Gwen's field.

After breakfast, Gwen took a group of girls to the room and put on makeup for them.

Others sipped tea and chatted in the living room.

“Hazel is going to N University? Why don’t she go with Robert? Brother and sister are together, at least there is a care. Don’t you worry about letting Hazel go to a university alone?” After Mike learned that Hazel was going to study in N University, he expressed his concerns to Avery.

“She doesn’t want others to know her identity. She has a relatively low-key personality.” Avery especially respects Hazel’s thoughts, “As long as others don’t know that she is our daughter, there shouldn’t be any trouble.”

Mike: “What does she want to learn?”

Avery: “Broadcasting. She wants to be a host in the future.”

“You children really have different interests and hobbies!” Mike said, looking at Elliot, “I will set up a TV station for your little daughter in the future?”

“Wait for her and let’s talk about it after graduation. Maybe after she graduates, she will think differently.” Elliot was not in a hurry.

If Hazel really wanted to be a host in the future, Elliot would definitely spare no effort to help her become a well-known host.

“If you want to train your youngest daughter to be your heir, you have to tell her as soon as possible!” Mike joked, “Like Layla knew she was going to be the boss of the Tate Industries when she was a teenager. A sense of mission, a sense of responsibility, Cultivate it first.”

Chapter 2648

Avery: “I hope she will relax and not have any pressure. What if I put too much pressure on her and scare her away? She is already 18 years old, and she already has the ability to survive in society. She doesn’t have to be wronged by anyone at all, and she can leave whenever she wants.”

“Hahaha! You are not so careful with other children.” Mike teased, “You have not been so careful with your wife, have you?"

Seeing that Elliot was deflated, Avery immediately chimed in: "My daughter has just come back, so she has to be treated with care. Don't try to provoke my relationship with Elliot. We are doing well!"

Mike tutted out: "You two are old husband and wife, What am I doing to provoke you? At the age you two are now, can you still file for divorce as easily as you did when you were young? Can you make a fuss?"

Elliot: "Why do you sound like we have already half-stepped into the coffin? You Find out, you're not much younger than me."

Mike: "..."

Elliot: "I'm just going to remind you that you two are not young anymore, and your bodies are not as tough as young people, so stop playing those exciting things. Extreme projects...what field adventures, wingsuit flying...don't even think about taking my daughter to do those things, I won't let my daughter play that kind of project."

Because Mike just said that he would take Hazel played, so Elliot put the ugly words first.

As with any extreme sport, there were risks.

Although walking on the main road might lead to disaster, Elliot still couldn't stand extreme sports.

"Look at you. Although you are not much older than us, you are old-fashioned.

Proper exercise can make you full of vitality..." Mike said.

"My husband exercises three times a week. He is very energetic." Avery retorted, "Not everyone likes extreme sports, and neither do I."

"I didn't say that I would take you to play! I will take Hazel there Camping, okay? Camping is not the limit, right?" Mike planned.

Avery frowned: "Don't you think camping is too bitter? Our Hazel has suffered for eighteen years, can you take her to enjoy life?"

Chad felt that what Avery said made sense: "Let's go to...It's time to ask Hazel to see where she wants to go. There is still half a month left, and there is enough time to go to any place in the world."

"Okay! Let's see where Hazel wants to go." Mike compromised.

When it was almost noon, several girls finished dressing up and came down from upstairs.

Everyone took Hazel to take pictures.

Layla sneaked up to Avery and confessed to her.

"Mom, when I was shopping with my sister yesterday, I bought a house."

Avery looked at her daughter in surprise: "Where did you buy it? What are you buying the house for? Do you want to move out?"

Layla pulled her arms around her mother's arm, whispered: "I want to move out, I can't live with the habit. I bought a real estate near the company. From now on, I can just walk to and from work. Ten minutes away, very close."

"Why do you want to move out all of a sudden? You think my sister is back, and our energy is all on her, so we ignore you, don't you?" Avery was afraid that Layla had something in her mind.

"Mom, what do you think of me? It's too late for me to be happy when my sister comes back! No matter how kind you are to my sister, I won't be jealous. She has suffered so many years outside, and my heart aches! I-I moved out because I felt that I was not independent enough in life. I wanted to exercise myself."

Chapter 2649

"Do you think you can't find a boyfriend because you haven't moved out?" Avery changed her thought.

Layla: "Mom, don't tell me if you see through, save some face for me, please? I will live outside on weekdays and come back to live on weekends. Is that okay? If you don't agree, I will ask my sister to help."

Avery : "Do you think mom is the kind of stubborn person? If you insist on moving out, how can mom stop? Mom is just worried about your life... Bring a nanny there? Bring also bodyguard there?"

"No... If I bring someone over there, my father will secretly ask me about my daily life every day. I bought the kitchen utensils myself, so I can cook by myself. If I don't want to Meal, I can order takeaway."

"What about safety?" Avery was most worried about this.

"I'll let the bodyguards pick me up every day, okay?"

"Okay. Why didn't you tell me in advance when you bought a house? Did you already have this idea?" After Avery promised Layla to move out, she began to worry again, "You still play with me, do you think I won't agree to you? Is your mother like this in your heart?"

Layla put her arms around her mother's neck, coquettishly: "It's not about cutting first and then playing. My heart is actually very Shaken. I want to be independent, but I also want to rely on you. I only dare to tell you if I force myself to buy the house!"

This explanation made Avery look better.

"Why didn't you tell your father? You wouldn't let me tell him, would you?"

"I'm afraid he won't agree! He will definitely say that it's not safe for me to live outside."

"Your dad is worried about you because he loves you. You have to understand dad's feelings." Avery said, "Tell your dad about it later. If he disagrees, I'll talk to him again. If you don't tell him, He must be very upset."

Layla nodded: "Then I'll tell him after lunch. My sister accompanied me to buy a house yesterday and bought a lot of household items with me. Let me show you Layla turned on her phone, clicked on the photo, and showed Avery her house and the household items she bought.

After looking the photos, Avery asked, "Does Hazel have any plans to move out?"

Layla shook her head: "I asked, Hazel said she wanted to live with you! You are so kind to her. Mom, don't worry, She loves you too."

Avery breathed a sigh of relief: "Layla, you can move out, but don't mess around! Don't associate with messy people."

Layla: Mom, I'm not a child anymore, and you're still worried that I'll be taken away!"

Avery: "Why don't you worry! Your mother will be worried."

"Don't worry! I don't like making new friends... If I make new friends, I will definitely tell you as soon as possible." Layla promised.

Only then did Avery feel relieved.

"Mom, why didn't you invite Eric to play?" Layla pretended to be indifferent, and asked, "Didn't we always notify him of any important events in our family?"

Avery: "The main reason is that you are afraid of embarrassment! Don't you feel embarrassed?"

Layla blushed slightly: "Why am I embarrassed! I'm not embarrassed. I'm not a fairy, and I can't be loved by everyone, how normal it is to be rejected!"

Avery sighed: "Baby, you are very strong. However, your father doesn't like him, so for the sake of family harmony, I still don't invite him."

"Mom, I don't want you to become enemies with him because of me. Then I will feel like a sinner." Layla felt the current situation was weird, "I don't hate Uncle Eric at all.”

Chapter 2650

“Baby, of course we are not enemies with Eric. Last time I met your father and he met him!

The relationship between people may become weaker. This is a normal phenomenon. Don’t think too much about it.”

Avery patted Layla on the shoulder, “Before you confessed your love to him, we didn’t have as much contact with him as before.”

“Isn’t it because he was too busy at work before, so he didn’t see much? But now he has retired, he is not busy.”

Layla didn’t want her relationship with Eric to become weaker.

After all, Eric filled her entire childhood.

“He didn’t take the initiative to contact us either! Layla, you have to understand that he didn’t take the initiative to contact us, maybe because he felt too tired to contact us.

Then we don’t need to bother him. We will never be enemies with him. If he has any difficulties and asks us for help, we will definitely help.

Similarly, if we have difficulties, he should also help us. But if there is nothing else, there is no need to contact us.”

Layla probably understood the relationship her mother was talking about, but still felt a little uncomfortable.

It may be because there were not many people who really cared about Layla.

After lunch, Layla dragged Elliot outside. It was the hottest time of the day.

As soon as Elliot went out, he was sweating from the heat.

“Baby, why do you have to come outside to talk?” Elliot was very puzzled when he saw Layla’s face flushed with heat.

“The house is full of people...Let’s talk about it outside! I bought a house yesterday, near the company.

I want to move out to live alone and come back to live on weekends. Dad, what do you think? How is it?” Layla raised her eyebrows slightly and looked at Elliot.

The expression on Elliot’s face suddenly became serious: “Why?”

“I want to try the feeling of living alone. I have already made an agreement with my mother.”

Layla was afraid that Elliot would object, so she moved out of Avery immediately.

“Why did you tell mom first? In your heart, mom loves you more than dad, right?” Elliot said sadly.

“Of course not. I told my mother first because the chances of my mother agreeing are higher.

Because my mother has always been more relaxed with us. But I know in my heart that you love us as much as my mother.

Dad, you just agree? I’ll go out and try it out, and if I’m not used to it, I’ll come back right away.”

Layla shook Elliot’s arm like she did when she was a child, and acted like a baby to Elliot.

“You think it’s convenient for you to fall in love because you live alone?” Elliot tried to analyze Layla’s heart.

Layla: “I also want to fall in love, but how can I talk about it if I don’t have a partner? Dad, at my age, it’s okay to fall in love, right?”

Elliot pondered for a while with a sullen face.

He felt very hot just now, but now his heart was cold.

“How did you negotiate with your mother?” Elliot asked.

“Bodyguards take me to and from get off work every day.” Layla replied, “I solve the problem of eating by myself, without a nanny.”

“How do you solve it yourself? You don’t know how to cook.” Elliot frowned.

“I can learn! I’ll buy a cookbook and follow the recipe. If I can learn how to cook, how about I go home and cook for you and mom on weekends?”

Layla said confidently, “Dad, I really want to see if I can live on my own. I’m 25 and I haven’t lived on my own.”

“Since your mother agreed, what else can father say.”

Elliot said helplessly, “You can move out to live, but if you are not used to living there, come back. Don’t hold on, it’s unnecessary.”

“Of course, I’m not stupid.” After talking with her Dad, Layla happily took Dad back to the house, “Dad, let’s take a family portrait!

After my sister came back, we haven’t taken a family portrait yet! “

Elliot thought this was a good idea, so he went to get the camera.

After the camera was taken out, Layla invited her father to sit in a chair, and then invited her mother to sit in a chair.

Then the four brothers and sisters stood beside their parents.

“Wesley, I heard that you take good pictures, come and take them!” Chad gave the camera to Wesley.

Chapter 2651

Mike has an opinion: “I’m good at taking pictures!”

“You forget it! Wesley is a professional!” Chad felt that for such an important occasion, of course the most professional people should be allowed to take pictures.

Wesley waved his hand in embarrassment: “I’m also an amateur. Let Mike take pictures! I saw photos of you two traveling, and many of them are very good.”

Mike said proudly: "Did you hear, Wesley said that I took pictures Good."

Chad glared at him: "Your three-legged cat's martial arts are not as good as mine!"

"Uncles, stop arguing! Why don't you let me take pictures!"

Kara came over and held Chad snatched the camera from Chad's hand, "Since everyone is amateur, there is nothing to argue about! I'm still the leader of our school's photography club!"

After Kara finished speaking, she took the camera and pointed at the already posed family clicked twice and pressed the shutter.

After the photo was taken, everyone immediately gathered to see the photo taken.

"It's ok, Kara! It's not bad!" Mike boasted.

Wesley also praised after seeing the photo.

Kara said with a smile: "Uncle Foster's family's good looks are there. I can take pictures of them with my eyes closed. I don't need any skills at all."

"Baby, why is your mouth so open today?" Tammy couldn't help laughing.

"Because I'm telling the truth!" Kara said again, "Would you like to take a group photo? If so, I'll find a tripod to set up a delayed shot."

Everyone immediately turned to Elliot's family and joined them.

The servant brought the tripod, and Kara set the camera to delay shooting.

After the group photo was taken, Kara took the camera and planned to export the photo for repair.

"Tammy, your daughter is really amazing!" Avery boasted, "What does she want to do in the future?"

Tammy: "I haven't asked. I always feel that she is still young, so I haven't talked to her about this issue."

Avery: "Isn't Kara going to college too? Didn't you ask her what major she wants to study?"

Tammy: "She told us to leave her alone. So we left her alone... But I think Looking at her admission notice, she seems to have applied for some ancient architecture... I asked her what this major is for, and she said that she chose it randomly, and thought it might be more fun, so she chose it."

Avery : "..."

It's really casual!

"Jun and I don't care about her. It doesn't matter what major she studies, as long as she is interested.

Anyway, I don't expect her to rely on her major for a living." Tammy said calmly, "She has to go home and inherit the family business."

After laughing for a while, Avery said, "Layla is planning to move out."

Tammy: "What does she think?"

Avery: "She wants to be independent."

"Are you a little sentimental?" Tammy asked.

Avery shook her head: "She always has to be on her own, and it is impossible to stay by my side for the rest of her life.

I just hope that she can meet the right person. Because she is very yearning for marriage."

"Normal. She is 25 years old. If there is no such...That's the problem."

"Are you saying that Hayden has to see a psychiatrist?" Avery sighed, "I'd better not interfere about his marriage and career, it's good to be able to focus on one side."

Chapter 2652

Avery thought about this and had a headache.

It's impossible for children to follow the beautiful life plan they imagined.

Elliot also got married very late back then, so there was no need to demand that Hayden get married and have children now.

She was very clear that her children were definitely not people who would make do with it.

Why marry if Hayden couldn't meet someone he really liked?

"I didn't say that Hayden needs to see a psychiatrist. I think Hayden is quite normal.

Wasn't Elliot like this back then? He only had career in his eyes. Because he hasn't met the woman he likes yet! Wait until he meets the woman he likes. You can't become an infatuated dog like Elliot..."

Avery's lunch was almost spat out by the word 'infatuated dog'.

"Avery, do you think you will be a good mother-in-law?" Tammy asked.

Avery hadn't thought about this question.

After all, Hayden had never been in love before, so he never gave Avery a chance to think about this issue.

Whenever Hayden brought a girl to her, she would probably think about it.

"I don't think I will interfere in the life of my son and his partner." Avery replied,

"After all, he is young and I know what young people think."

"What if your son's partner is unreliable? For example, hers character is not good..." Tammy asked, "Hayden has never been in a relationship, what if he lost his eye when choosing a girlfriend? Don't you care?"

Avery: "If that woman can make Hayden like it, it means that the girl has special charm. I don't think it is possible for Hayden to be taken by a woman to do murder and arson with the education he has received! As long as he is not taken to I don't care about doing illegal things."

Tammy gave Avery a thumbs up: "Can your husband think so?"

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Do you think my husband can take care of Hayden's affairs? My husband takes care of Hayden's affairs." Regardless of other children, other children will listen to him for the time being. Hayden has long been independent and does not live with us. My husband knows it well and will not make fun of himself."

Tammy: "Hey! The child is too capable It's not good if you have too many children. If one of you doesn't listen to you, at least there are other children who listen to you. If my daughter doesn't listen to me at all, I will be very sad. I can't accept Kara leaving me and settle down in another country. Then I will feel as if I didn't have this child."

Avery understood Tammy's feelings, so she comforted her: "If Kara wants to settle abroad in the future, you can go with Chad!"

"Kara probably won't go abroad to settle down. How could she have Hayden's ability! If she is really as good as Hayden, Jun and I will definitely follow her."

"Don't think so much, if the children leave us in the future, we can play together!" Avery began to think about the days after retirement.

"That's right! Let's go play cards! My mother said that playing cards can prevent Alzheimer's disease." Tammy pulled Avery to the recreation room.

The next day, Layla packed a box of luggage and moved to her new home where she lived alone.

Everyone in the Foster family went to visit Layla's new home together.

Regarding Layla's new home, Elliot and Hayden did not express any opinions.

The two of them sat down on the sofa after looking at Layla's new home in all directions.

"Sister, don't you think your house is a bit boring?" Robert expressed his thoughts, "It's too small!"

“Why do I have to be so big living alone.” Layla glared at Robert.

“But I can live here too! You should buy a bigger one.” Robert continued to express his thoughts, “It’s not safe for you to live alone! How about I stay and live with you tonight?”

Layla: ” Please let me be clean! I beg you.”

Robert sat down next to Elliot: “Dad, what do you think of my sister’s house?”

Elliot: “Not good.”

The villa where Elliot had been living was a detached villa, so he was naturally not used to living in crowded high-rise commercial buildings.

Looking out from the balcony, there were tall buildings all around, and he get goosebumps just looking at it.

Chapter 2653

“Okay! Brother, what do you think?” Robert turned to ask Hayden.

Hayden: “I think your sister bought this kind of house because of her insanity.”

Robert: “...”

Layla: “...”

Hazel: “I think this house is pretty good! Why do you think it’s not good?”

Hazel was very puzzled and asked a question.

“This house is transparent from north to south, and the lighting is good.

The floor is neither high nor low, and you can see the scenery, but it is not too high.

What’s more, you can see your sister’s company from the balcony.” Hazel felt that The pros of this house speak for themselves.

Elliot looked at his daughter tenderly, and Hayden also shut up.

Avery smiled and said: “Your father and your brother have never lived in such a small house, so they think this house is not good.

The two of them have never suffered, so they pick and choose.”

“But this house is lived by my sister, my sister Just feel good!” Hazel muttered.

Layla walked to her sister, put one hand on her shoulder, and looked at her father and brother on the sofa, “Dad, brother, you don’t have to feel sorry for me. How can I grow without suffering?”

Hazel sighed.

Living in such a nice house, was this called suffering?

Avery coughed lightly, and brought the topic aside, “Layla, you can find a housekeeping company to clean the house! I just touched the window, and there is dust.”

“Oh, I’ll just wipe it myself later.” Layla took out her phone and showed everyone, “I’ve placed an order for a cookbook, and it will be delivered later. You just wait for my big change Let’s go!”

Elliot, Avery, Hayden, Robert: “...”

Hazel: “Sister, I believe in you!”

Layla: “Yes! When sister’s cooking skills are mastered, I will cook for you at that time. You eat! By the way, didn’t Uncle Mike say he wants to take you out to play? Do you want to go out with them?”

Hazel: “I don’t want to bother them, but they seem to really want to take me out to play, so I’d better hang out with them!”

Layla: “Don’t worry about going out with them! Just treat Uncle Mike as your second father, don’t be polite to him.”

Hazel nodded obediently.

Layla: “Where do you want to go?”

Hazel thought for a while: “I want to go to Eozambiulle to see. I heard that there is a very beautiful aurora over there.”

Layla: “Seeing the aurora is a matter of luck, not necessarily I can see it.”

Hazel: “Well, I’ll try my luck. If I see the aurora, I’ll take a picture of it for you.”

Hazel’s desire to go to Eozambiulle was naturally not just to see the aurora. She wanted to see what the country where Lucas went to school was like.

It’s a pity that she didn’t know Lucas’s current number, and her previous number in Thopiavelle had also been suspended, so there was no way to tell Lucas about her new number.

She would not tell anyone about these little thoughts hidden in her heart.

Because Lucas appeared in her life, like a meteor, flashing by.

Sometimes she even doubted whether those fragments of memories were her own fantasies.

In this world, there might not be Lucas at all.

Chapter 2654

“I went to Eozambiulle a few years ago.” Layla spoke.

Hazel immediately inquired: “Sister, is Eozambiulle fun? What’s Eozambiulle like?”

“I also went to see the aurora, but I was unlucky and didn’t see it.” Layla said, “I only went to see the northern lights. A city in the north. I just went to see the aurora. On the night I left, there was an aurora. I almost died of anger.”

Hazel couldn’t help laughing.

“I don’t have much of an impression of Eozambiulle because I didn’t stay there for long. I have traveled to many countries, and it is rare for me to be acclimatized to the environment. However, when I went to Eozambiulle, I had a high fever, and the fever was almost 40 degrees, I can’t eat anything.” Recalling that experience, Layla still had a cold sweat on her back.

She had been in good health since she was a child, and rarely had a fever.

When she went to Eozambiulle that time, she probably had a problem eating the food there.

First, she vomited, and after she vomited, she developed a high fever at night.

On the day she watched the aurora, she was very weak, but she still waited for a long time, but she didn't wait for the aurora to appear.

The next day, her body couldn't bear it anymore, so she left.

As a result, the aurora appeared after she left.

Sometimes she had to give in; God just didn't want her to see the aurora at that time.

Later, there were many opportunities to see the aurora, but she was no longer interested.

"If you go to Eozambiulle, prepare all kinds of commonly used medicines. When the time comes, ask your mother to prepare a medicine bag for you and take it with you." Layla reminded.

"Well. Uncle Mike showed me the photos and videos of the aurora they had seen before. What they saw was a purple aurora, so beautiful." Hazel exclaimed.

"I know, I ran to watch the Aurora video because I saw it."

...

At noon, the family had lunch at a restaurant near Layla's house, and then sent Hayden to the airport.

Hayden took longer than usual to return home this time.

He had been looking for Hazel before, and now that she was finally found, he was relieved.

After sending Hayden away, Layla went to the company, and others returned home.

Because Hazel was going to Eozambiulle with Mike and the others, Avery started to prepare luggage and common medicines for Hazel when she got home.

“Mom, have you ever been to Eozambiulle with Dad?” Hazel watched her mother tidy up and chatted with her.

“I’ve been there, but your dad probably hasn’t been there. Your dad doesn’t like going to small countries.” Avery said, “He can’t bear the hardship. Going to those small countries is torture for him. He can’t eat well, drink well, or sleep well. It’s better to stay at home.”

“Honey, am I such a person?” Even if Elliot was such a person, he didn’t want Hazel to know.

Elliot wanted to have a perfect image in Hazel’s heart.

“I’ve been to a very small country before, you forgot.” Elliot defended himself, saying, “I can endure hardship.”

“Oh...” Avery saw that he was in a hurry, so she made amends for him, “Hazel, your father must have been from a small country. After all, the world is so big, and your father has been to many places. Your father is indeed able to endure hardships sometimes. It’s just that he will not take the initiative to seek hardship. For example, if you invite him to go to Eozambiulle with you because he loves you, he will definitely agree immediately.”

Hazel nodded: “I don’t want my father to suffer. So I will go with Uncle Mike and the others. You should rest at home and play with my dad all the time. You must be very tired!”

“You said it wrong. This period is the happiest time for me and your dad. We haven’t been this happy for a long time. How can we be tired? Your Uncle Mike wants to take you out to play, so I can't go with your dad. Your dad and you, Uncle Mike... It's okay for them to eat at the same table, but I can't imagine them traveling together."

Elliot sighed: "Honey, I'm not that fierce; I'm easy-going, and I'm good with everyone."

Avery glanced at him and gave him confidence: "My daughter won't dislike you."

"I haven't had a fight with Mike for a long time." Elliot argued.

Chapter 2655

"That's because the two of you didn't see each other much later."

Seeing her parents quarrelling, Hazel said in a timely manner: "Dad, I think you are very good. If you cannot suffer, don't suffer. That's right! Everyone has people they like and people they don't like. Like Uncle Mike and not like you."

"I don't dislike Mike. If I really don't like him, how can I let him get so close to you? Many years ago, he was very close to your mother, so I didn't like him for a while, and then I didn't quarrel with him." Elliot explained to Hazel.

"Dad, I like you even if you don't explain." Hazel blocked Elliot's words.

Elliot blushed instantly, feeling a little embarrassed.

Hazel's straightforward expression caught Elliot off guard, and he was secretly delighted.

"Let me just say it; Hazel won't dislike you. Who doesn't have any problems?"

Avery folded the clothes Hazel was going to bring when she went out and put them in the suitcase, and began to laugh at herself and say, "I have a lot of problems too! Now I can't bear hardships either; who would want to endure hardships when I have a comfortable life! Although I don't particularly hate anyone, I'm too lazy to socialize with people now.

"Mom and Dad, you are both very good." Hazel concluded, "Although I have not been back with you for a long time, I can feel that you are very good people. “I aspire to be like great people like you in the future.”

“Hazel, you will be stronger than us.” Avery was full of expectations for Hazel: “You can survive such a difficult environment, and your resilience and tenacity will accompany you and make you a success.”in the evening.

Layla got off work and went to a nearby supermarket to buy groceries.

Today was the first day she moved out.

She especially wanted to make dinner for herself.

She used to have servants cook three meals a day when she was at home.

Even if she occasionally had the idea of cooking by herself, she would give up quickly in the end.

Now that she lived by herself, she could do whatever she wanted without worrying about being laughed at.

She planned to eat hot pot at night.

Because hot pot was the easiest.

She bought some ingredients, and then bought a bag of hot pot base, cooked it, and ate it, and the taste was not much worse.

She bought some randomly according to the ingredients on the recipe, and then went to choose the hot pot base.

The bodyguard reminded: “Miss, you still have to buy some oil, salt, sauce, vinegar, bowls, and chopsticks.”

“I bought the bowls and chopsticks. You reminded me that I need to buy some oil, salt, sauce, and vinegar. Do I need to buy some green onions and condiments?” Layla walked towards the condition area.

Bodyguard: “See if you want to eat green onions.”

Layla: “I’ll eat it!”

“Did you buy the kitchen knife?”

“I have a fruit knife.” Layla had only bought fruit knives before.

“Then you have to buy a kitchen knife.”

....

Originally, Layla just planned to go to the supermarket to buy some ingredients and go back to cooking, but she ended up buying a lot of kitchen supplies.

Fortunately, there were bodyguards to help her carry them back.

After the bodyguard delivered her things home, he rolled up his sleeves and said, “Miss, how about I cook dinner for you before leaving?”

Layla: “No, I have the recipe. You get off work!”

After the bodyguard left, Layla started to prepare her own dinner in the kitchen.

An hour later, a delicious hot pot meal was cooked.

She had to say that the appearance of the hot pot was similar to that made by restaurants outside, with a tangy aroma that made people salivate.

Layla first took a picture and sent it to the family group to show off, and then she sat down to eat.

Chapter 2656

Layla picked up the chopsticks and picked up a slice of her favorite lotus root.

After taking a bite, the spicy taste suddenly choked her trachea, and she couldn't help coughing a few times.

She immediately put down her chopsticks and went to find a cup of water to drink.

“Why is it so choked? Could it be that there is too much hot pot bottom material?” Layla said to herself after drinking the water.

In fact, the taste was delicious, but it was too spicy, which exceeded the limit that Layla could accept.

The food at home has always been light. She occasionally ate some strong flavors when ordering takeout outside or having dinner with friends, but she could only eat mildly spicy food.

After drinking water for a while, she sat down in the dining chair again.

Before taking a second bite, she thought of a way.

She went to get a clean bowl, took a bowl of water, and put it on the table.

Then, after removing the vegetables from the hot pot, place them in the water to reduce the spiciness significantly.

After taking the second bite, she finally didn't choke on the spicy food.

This time her phone rang, and it was a video call from her mother.

Layla immediately took over the video, and her mother's face appeared on the screen.

"Baby, I saw the picture you posted. Are you eating hot pot tonight?" Avery asked.

"Yes, Mom! I'll show you the hot pot I cooked." Layla turned the camera to the rear and showed her mother the boiling hot pot. "I bought the hot pot base, and it tastes good!"

Layla didn't tell Avery that the hot pot was too spicy, she was embarrassed to admit that she overturned the car the first time she cooked.

"It looks okay... The soup base is a bit red, quite spicy, right?" Avery asked while looking at the thriving soup base.

Layla sniffed, and said bravely: "It's okay! It's a little bit more spicy. It's okay if I eat it with rice. Mom, have you eaten yet?"

Avery: "Just finished eating, there's still a lot of food left! If you don't go home for dinner, the house will feel deserted."

When Layla heard Avery say this, her nose suddenly became a little sore.

“Mom, I’m only a 40-minute drive away from you. I want to go back when you say that. Don’t shake my determination to be independent!” Layla complained.

“Mom misses you. But if you feel happy being alone, then mom will adjust her mood quickly. Mom hopes you are happy.” Avery smiled.

Layla turned the camera to the front and asked, “Where’s Dad?”

“He’s next to me! I’ll make a video for you, and so he just followed.” Avery immediately pointed the camera at Elliot.

Elliot walked to Avery’s side. After seeing Layla, he held back his emotions for a while, and finally couldn’t help it anymore.

“Layla, if you want to eat hot pot, you can buy it outside. You cook it yourself!?! What a lot of effort! And the photo of the hot pot you sent looks spicy. Can you eat spicy food? Be careful of diarrhea.” Elliot advised.

Layla was not bothered by Elliot’s nagging, on the contrary, she was even more homesick.

It was only the first day when she moved out, and her insistence on being independent was about to collapse.

“Will you wash the pot yourself later? I don’t think you should wash it. I’ll let the servant wash it for you.” Elliot didn’t want his daughter to suffer a little bit.

“Dad, my hot pot is not big, and it’s easy to wash. You don’t need to call someone. Don’t worry about me, I’m fine. It’s the weekend in two days, and I’ll be home on Friday night.” Layla promised Elliot, “I’ll show you something when the time comes.”

Elliot saw that Layla seemed quite happy, so he could only follow her: “Okay, show me something when you come back.”

After finishing the video call, Layla put down her phone and continued to eat dinner.

She didn't know why, after talking about a video call, the dishes in the pot weren't so delicious.

She seemed to have overestimated her appetite and cooked too much.

Not only the rice was overcooked, but the vegetables were also overcooked.

After eating a bowl of rice, she began to eat vegetables exclusively.

It took a lot of effort from cleaning to cutting these dishes, and she was reluctant to throw them away.

She watched short videos on her mobile phone to relieve boredom while eating.

An hour later, there was still a third of the food in the pot, and she couldn't eat any more, so she took it out and threw it away.

It took about half an hour to wash the pots and dishes. She had to admit that in just three hours, her cooking's freshness had decreased by more than half.

After packing up everything, she slumped on the sofa exhausted, and sent a message to Hazel to complain: [Little sister, cooking is really tiring! I made too much tonight! I didn't finish eating and threw it away.]

Chapter 2657

Hazel immediately replied: Sister, you should do less next time. One cannot eat too much. Do less and feel less tired.

Layla: [I've decided to have takeout tomorrow.]

Hazel made a snickering expression.

Layla: [My mother just made a video call for me, and I feel so uncomfortable. I really want to go home! But I can't go back! I have already bought a house, so I can't go home without staying for a day!]

Hazel: [Sister, you can find a movie to watch later, and you will get used to it in two days.]

Layla: [Mmm. In terms of independence, I am really not as good as you. Are you leaving tomorrow?]

Hazel: [Well, the plane is tomorrow morning. I'm going to bed early tonight.]

Layla: [Then you go to bed early. Please share with me whenever you arrive in Eozambiulle.]

Hazel: [OK!]

After lying on the sofa for a while, Layla dragged her tired body to the bathroom to take a shower.

She planned to listen to her sister and find a movie to watch later.

At 11 o'clock at night, Layla was halfway through the movie when a surge of stomach acid surged up.

She immediately put down her phone and ran to the bathroom.

"Ugh!" Elliot's words became a prophecy. Layla vomited for a while, then began to have diarrhea.

At the middle of the night, she came out of the bathroom, her face was pale, her body was weak, and she felt cramping pain in her stomach from time to time.

It took her a lot of effort to go to the bed and lie down. After lying down, the discomfort in her stomach spread more clearly throughout her body.

She might have acute gastroenteritis caused by food poisoning.

When she thought of the first time she cooked, she got food poisoning from eating, and she couldn't help but shed two lines of tears from the corners of her eyes.

At this point, her parents were asleep.

She wanted to find someone to talk to, to find someone to help, but she didn't know who to turn to.

If she looked for family members, they would definitely take her to the hospital as soon as possible.

She didn't want to do this. If she did, her parents would definitely not let her continue to live outside.

Tears flowed from the beginning, like a faucet that was unscrewed, falling unstoppably.

She flipped through the address book, trying to find someone to help.

She couldn't find her parents or sister Hazel, but she could find her younger brother Robert.

Although Robert might tell his parents about this, he might also keep it a secret for her mainly because she felt that she couldn't survive tonight alone.

Either find a doctor to give her saline water, or go to the hospital to hang saline water; without saline water, she couldn't survive at all.

With tears in her eyes, she dialed Robert's number.

At this point, she hoped Robert was still awake.

After a while, the phone was connected.

But it was not Robert's voice.

"Hello?" Eric's deep and magnetic voice came from the phone.

Layla thought she had heard wrong. She immediately reached out to wipe her tears and looked at the phone screen.

what! She called a wrong number!

She probably got dizzy from throwing up, and actually took Eric's name as Robert.

"Layla?" Eric didn't hear her voice, so he called her name.

Layla listened to his voice, all the grievances poured out, and tears blurred her vision again: "Eric, I may have food poisoning, but I dare not tell my parents... I don't want to call an ambulance because it was too embarrassing."

Chapter 2658

Layla had never been so embarrassed in her life.

In the evening, she even bragged to her family, but fortunately she only bragged to her family. If she also bragged to her friends, she would not dare speak out about her food poisoning.

"Where are you now?" Eric asked with a tense voice.

She was living at home with food poisoning, how could the family not know about it.

"I moved out to live..." Layla said this, feeling uncomfortable in her stomach, covered her mouth and retched again.

"Send me the location, and I'll take the doctor there." Hearing her retching, Eric immediately walked out of the bedroom.

Layla hung up the phone and sent him the location.

She couldn't take care of so much now, she just wanted to get better soon.

She said that she would go home on Friday to show her father... If Friday is not good, she can't hide it.

She didn't want her family to know about it. If they knew, they wouldn't know how worried they should be.

About forty minutes later, Eric brought the doctor to Layla's residence.

After Layla got ready to open the door for them, Eric grabbed her by the arm and helped her.

Her face was pale, her breath was short, and her body was on the verge of falling, as if she was about to fall down in the next second.

"Why is it so serious? When did you move out? Why did you move out? What did you eat tonight? Did your symptoms start at night, or during the day?" Eric helped her walk towards the bedroom, Questions are thrown out one by one.

Layla was gasping for words now.

Vomiting and diarrhea made her almost collapse.

“I ate a hot pot at night. It was too spicy.” Layla was a little more comfortable after lying down on the bed, so she answered his question, “Don’t tell my mom. I just moved out today, and I don’t want them to find out that I have a problem once I move out.”

Eric had a sullen face and didn’t answer her words.

Eric looked at the doctor and asked, “Have you brought any medicine?”

The doctor said, “I did. You said she had food poisoning, so I brought some medicine for gastroenteritis.”

The doctor took it with him. In the medical bag, he took out a few bottles of medicine.

“Give her this medicine now.” The doctor handed the medicine to Eric and said,

“I’ll give her an infusion! The infusion should be ready soon.”

“Yes.” Eric took the medicine and started looking for water.

Layla: “The water is in the living room. My cup may be in the kitchen, you can look for it.”

Eric immediately went to the living room to find water.

He came to her house for the first time and was not familiar with her house.

Fortunately, her home was not big, so Eric could get a general idea of the layout of each area after walking around a few times.

He took a glass of warm water, handed it to Layla, and opened the medicine.

Layla watched him take the medicine, and her eyes couldn’t help but stare at his clothes.

Eric was wearing a white vest inside, a casual shirt outside, and gray cotton cropped trousers on his legs.

It should be pajama pants.

After Eric answered her call, he rushed over without changing his clothes.

“Did you fall asleep when I called you?” Layla was a little embarrassed.

“Yeah. You can call the ambulance for food poisoning. Don’t force yourself on the so-called face. If you call the ambulance, they won’t tell your parents.” Eric gave her the pill.

“You think I’m bothering you?” Layla swallowed the medicine.

“That’s not what I meant. I just think that your mentality is wrong. How can you not seek medical attention when you are sick because of your face? What if it is a more serious illness next time?” Eric said seriously, “You can’t eat spicy food. Just don’t eat that spicy food. You’re not a child anymore, why are you making fun of your body?”

“You taught me that I’m addicted, right?” Layla took the medicine and drank a large glass of water, feeling her strength back.

It’s also possible that Eric was mad at him.

Chapter 2659

Eric’s heart sighed helplessly.

He was not teaching her. He just wished that she put her body first.

But she was sick now, and Eric was afraid she didn’t like to listen to nagging.

He took the empty water glass from her hand and put it on the bedside table.

The doctor had already prepared the medicine, but Eric found that there was no bracket on the head of the bed to hang the infusion bottle on, so he started looking for something to hang the infusion bottle on all over the room.

He searched around, but couldn’t find it.

“Mr. Santos, why don’t you take the infusion bottle first, and I’ll get the infusion stand.” The doctor discussed it with him.

Eric immediately took the infusion bottle from the doctor and agreed.

Lala had already had a needle inserted into the back of her hand, and she was now lying awake on the bed, unable to sleep; her mind was empty.

On a day when she felt good, she was made to run wild by herself.

“Doctor, will she vomit again?” Eric asked when the doctor was about to leave the room.

“Ah, it’s hard to say. She may still vomit.” The doctor replied, “If she wants to vomit, let her vomit in the trash can first. Don’t get out of bed until the medicine is infused.”

Layla: “Doctor, I not only vomit, but also have diarrhea.”

She wanted to ask, if she wanted to have diarrhea, wouldn’t she be able to get out of bed?

How could she pull if she didn’t get out of bed?

The doctor who asked this question was stunned.

Eric also became anxious.

Doctor: “You’d better bear with it first. If you can’t bear it, then go for it!”

Layla: “But I haven’t finished my medicine, how can I do it? Do you want him to go to the bathroom with me?”

Eric almost blurted out, “I can.”

“You can, I can’t! Don’t you think I’m embarrassed? I am!” Layla looked at the needle on the back of her hand and said, “I will pull out the needle when the time comes.”

The doctor looked puzzled: “Why are you pulling out the needle? You go to the bathroom with the infusion bottle. It will be fine!”

Layla: “...”

Eric: “...”

“Why didn’t I think of that!?! I can carry the infusion bottle by myself!” As Layla said that, she asked Eric for an infusion bottle.

Eric pushed her hand away: "Lie down and have a good rest, and I'll give it to you when you go to the bathroom."

"Oh..." Layla withdrew her hand.

The doctor breathed a sigh of relief: "I almost confused you. Don't you get sick often?"

Layla: "This is the worst illness I've ever had. I didn't get sick like this even if I ate spicy food before."

"It means that what you eat is not clean." After the doctor gave this answer, he left.

Layla felt as if her heart had been trampled and crushed to pieces.

"I washed the vegetables for at least half an hour. How could it be unclean?"

Layla questioned her soul.

"You cook yourself?" Eric stood aside holding an infusion bottle and looked at her indifferently, "How did you think of cooking by yourself?"

Layla: "Because I don't know how, so I want to learn! Who knows how to do it? I almost sent myself away with my first meal."

"Don't do it in the future. You can find a nanny to serve you. If you don't want a nanny, just order food and have someone else deliver it." Eric was afraid that this would happen again.

"Do you think I'm useless?" Layla said in frustration.

"If you don't know how to cook, you're useless, and so am I." Eric laughed at himself, saying, "Everyone is good at different things, so there's no need to be depressed because of such trivial things. After taking the medicine, take a good rest for two days and recover."

"You don't walk around with our house anymore, did your girlfriend ask you?"

Lala's voice was small and her strength was low.

This question left Eric stunned for a moment.

"Did something happen?"

Eric did not purposefully walk around with their house.

After Layla confessed to Eric years ago, he knew that Elliot and Avery definitely didn't want to associate with him anymore, so he was very sensible and didn't take the initiative to contact them again.

"That's right! Something important has happened to our family." Layla said this, and put it off, saying, "You can ask my mother!"

Eric: "Since your mother didn't tell me, I won't ask about it."

Layla: "That's why I said that you don't want to walk around with our family, is it your girlfriend's request? You don't care about our family's affairs now."

Her absurd question prevented Eric from moving.

"Oh, it's not good for me to call you here now? Is your girlfriend here?" Layla suddenly thought of this question: "Why don't you give me the infusion bottle and go back quickly?"

"She's not here." Eric held the infusion bottle and didn't move. "It's very late, you should take a good rest and stop thinking about it."

Layla: "I'm going to sleep, what about you?"

Eric: "We'll talk about it after you've finished infusing the medicine."

"What's the matter? If I fall asleep then, will you just leave?" Layla asked.

Eric was thinking about this question.

He didn't know if she would vomit again in the middle of the night after the medicine was infused.

He wanted to stay and take care of her, but he was afraid that it would be inappropriate.

“Are you really not going to tell your family about this?” Eric asked instead.

Layla said with a guilty conscience, “I’ve already taken the medicine, so there’s nothing else to say. Didn’t you say that it would be good to rest for two days? Tell them now, so that they worry.”

Eric responded, “You go to sleep! I won’t leave tonight and see if you feel better tomorrow.”

“Then where are you going to sleep later? Although I have a guest room here, there is nothing in the guest room.” Layla said, “You can go back to your home now! After the infusion, I should be much better. Even if I vomit again, I won’t be in worse condition than before.”

“I’ll sleep on the sofa when I get sleepy later.” Eric has made up his mind, “Your complexion is very bad, I’m worried.”

Layla raised her hand to touch her face.

It’s cold.

She felt a little cold now; obviously, it was the scorching heat now.

“Thank you then; I’ll go to bed first.” Layla didn’t have the energy to argue with him about some trivial issues, so she closed her eyes and planned to have a good sleep.

After Layla fell asleep, Eric took out his mobile phone, opened Whatsapp, and found the dialog with Avery.

The last time the two of them chatted was when they met before.

They hadn’t been in touch since.

Layla just said that something big happened in her family, but Avery didn’t tell him.

He really wanted to know what major event Layla was talking about, but he was too embarrassed to take the initiative to ask Avery.

He clicked into Avery's circle of friends to see if he had missed any important information, but Avery's circle of friends still stayed at the one released during the Spring Festival.

He returned to the main interface of the phone, opened the browser, and searched for Avery's name.

Instead, some related news came up.

But it's all boring gossip.

For example, how did Avery marry Elliot? What method did she use? etc...

From the outside world's point of view, Avery's marriage to Elliot was a tall order.

But in Eric's view, it was not.

Avery and Elliot were a match made in heaven, no matter how they looked at it, they were a perfect match.

Some things could only be seen after years of accumulation.

Elliot was the one who could be worthy of Avery.

After an unknown amount of time, the doctor came over with an infusion stand.

It happened that the first bottle of potion was hung up, and the second bottle of potion was changed.

Chapter 2661

The doctor saw that Layla had fallen asleep, so he whispered to Eric, "Is your hand numb?"

Eric: "It's okay."

The two came out of the bedroom.

"Will she still have the needle tomorrow?" Eric stretched his wrist and asked.

"Look at her condition tomorrow. If she doesn't vomit tomorrow, she won't need to get an injection. She will be fine after taking medicine." The doctor replied,

“The important thing is that she must eat lightly and not indiscriminately. “Rested for a week or so, she will be back to normal.”

“Does she want to rest for a week?”

“Yes. She must eat a light diet this week, and it is best to eat porridge or noodles, which are easier to digest.”

The doctor’s words made Eric fall into silence.

Layla said that she would go home to cook for her family on Friday, so she might not be able to go back.

The next morning, Layla woke up with a thirsty mouth and a hungry chest against her back.

She lifted the quilt and wanted to find water to drink.

The moment she got off the ground, she felt like her body was floating, and if she lost her center of gravity at any moment, she would fall down.

So she leaned on the wall and walked out of the bedroom.

Unexpectedly, a scent wafted over.

It wasn’t the smell of big fish and meat. In her current state, she couldn’t eat big fish or big meat at all. It was porridge.

“Hey...” Layla saw Eric busy in the kitchen, so she opened her mouth.

“Are you awake?” Eric brought the green vegetable porridge to the dining table and helped her up, asking, “How do you feel now?”

“Hungry, thirsty, tired...” Layla supported herself to sit down.

Eric’s vegetable porridge was very fragrant.

Layla smelled the fragrance, and her stomach growled in disappointment.

“Didn’t you say you don’t know how to cook?” Layla’s nose was slightly sour, and she stirred the porridge with a spoon to dissipate the heat.

“I don’t need any skills to cook porridge.” Eric served himself a bowl of porridge and sat down opposite her, "Are you still sick today?"

"Not for the time being. Let's see if you will feel sick after eating breakfast!"

Layla took a spoonful of porridge and blew gently.

"Do you regret moving out?" Eric saw that her face was still pale and haggard, and he had never seen her like this before.

"There's nothing to regret. It's not terminally ill." Layla put the porridge in her mouth. The taste was neither salty nor bland.

"Don't say such unlucky words."

"Thank you for last night! If you didn't bring the doctor, I'm afraid I wouldn't be able to hide it from my family." Layla's words reminded Eric.

"The doctor said that you need to recuperate for a week before you can recover. For the next week, you have to eat a light diet." Eric said, "Why don't you tell your family!"

Layla suddenly panicked.

After finishing the porridge, she made a decision: "Then I won't go back on Friday."

"Your parents will ask you why, what do you say?"

"I'll ask my best friend for help." Layla took out her phone and gave Daisy a message.

About an hour later, Daisy arrived.

"Layla, why are you so haggard?" Daisy took Layla's hand and asked, "Do you want to go to the hospital?"

"I'm fine. The doctor came to see me last night." Layla sat on the edge of the bed, feeling better than when she just woke up. "You just need to lie for me. I'm afraid my parents will be worried."

"This is no problem!" Daisy said, glancing at Eric, who was standing beside her, out of the corner of her eye, "Eric, Is it really you?"

Daisy wanted to say, "You look much handsomer in real life than in photos, and you didn't show your real age at all."

No wonder Layla was so fascinated.

"Yeah. Let's talk; I'll go grocery shopping." After Eric finished speaking, he turned and left.

Daisy immediately asked Layla excitedly: "You two... Are you on good terms?"

Chapter 2662

Layla: "What are you thinking! He has a girlfriend. I was originally calling Robert last night. In the end, I called him."

Daisy became more excited: "He came to take care of you last night?"

Layla: "Well, don't think about it, he brought the doctor to give me an infusion, and I didn't finish the infusion Just fell asleep."

Daisy: "Oh, Layla, why are you so serious? Do you have a fever? I remember you had food poisoning once before, and you had a fever..."

" I don't have a fever...but it's more uncomfortable than last time. I didn't vomit so much last time. I feel like I've spit out all my bitter bile." Layla frowned when she said this.

A nauseating feeling spread to all limbs, and stomach acid surged up.

She had an infusion and medicine last night, but why did she still want to vomit?

Layla wanted to go to the bathroom, but felt that she was going to vomit in a second, so she bent down and vomited into the trash can.

"Why are you still throwing up? Didn't you say that you have seen a doctor?"

Daisy saw her throwing up and was in a hurry, patting her on the back while fetching paper for her... and felt that she might need water more now.

She vomited almost all the porridge she ate in the morning.

After vomiting, her body was covered in cold sweat, and most of the discomfort in her stomach disappeared, only a little pain now.

She took a tissue from Daisy, wiped her mouth, and then leaned against the head of the bed to take a deep breath.

After a while, Daisy brought her a glass of water, and then took out the garbage bag in the trash can, planning to take it out and throw it away first.

“Daisy, I’ll clean it up myself later...” Layla was embarrassed to ask Daisy to do such a thing.

After all, the vomit that came out was disgusting.

“Why are you being polite to me! You are like this, and I feel distressed when I see you.” Daisy took the garbage bag, walked to the window first, and opened the window, “Let’s get some air first. Then close it later.”

“Well...don’t tell Eric any more.” Layla confessed.

“Layla, you look like this, you have to go to the hospital.” Daisy worriedly said, “If you vomit after eating at noon, you can’t hide it from him!”

“I’ll take medicine right away...taking medicine should be much better. I haven’t taken my medicine this morning!” Layla took the medicine from the bedside table.

She took the medicine last night, and she didn’t wake up uncomfortable at night.

It’s said that taking medicine still had some effect.

When Daisy went to throw out the trash, Layla sent a message to Eric, asking him to buy a bottle of eye drops.

Eric didn’t ask her what she wanted the eye drops for, but replied ‘yes’.

About twenty minutes later, Eric came back after shopping for groceries.

In the bedroom, Daisy was putting on makeup for Layla.

Eric put the dishes in the kitchen, and walked to the bedroom with eye drops.

“What are you doing with makeup?” Eric looked at everything in front of him and asked in confusion.

Layla saw the eye drops in his hand and immediately reached out for it.

Eric gave her the eye drops, and continued to ask: “Are you going out?”

Layla said, “No! I want to go out, but I don’t have the energy...I’ll call my mom later and tell her that I won’t go back this weekend.”

Layla could already feel that her body wouldn’t be able to recover by the weekend.

“Okay, your complexion looks much better now.” Daisy showed Layla a mirror after finishing her makeup without makeup.

The makeup was not heavy, but the complexion had improved a lot.

“Hmm! That’s enough.” Layla said, handing the eye drops to Daisy.

Chapter 2663

Daisy took eye drops, dripped them into both eyes, then climbed onto Layla’s bed, and sat next to Layla.

Layla took a deep breath and made a video call to her mother.

Eric stood at the door of the bedroom, watching the two of them perform.

Avery quickly took Layla’s video call.

After the video was broadcast, Layla immediately called her mother sweetly, and then started to make up a story: “I can’t go back this weekend! Daisy came to me after breaking up in love, and I have to accompany her on the weekend.”

Avery was stunned for a moment, then she saw Daisy sitting next to Layla wiping her tears.

“Daisy, it’s okay to lose love, don’t cry, don’t cry!” Avery met Daisy, and Layla took Daisy home for dinner before.

Avery had a good impression of Daisy, she was a warm and polite girl.

“Auntie, I’m so sad...so I want Layla to stay with me for a few days...you don’t mind?” Daisy cried very sadly, the tears still kept coming to fall.

Avery quickly said: “Of course I don’t mind... I know you two have a good relationship, so let Layla stay with you more. Don’t be too uncomfortable! You will definitely find a better man in the future.”

Daisy nodded again and again: “Auntie, you are right...but I still feel very uncomfortable... Maybe I need a little more time!”

Avery: “Well, Auntie understands your feelings. Just stay with Layla for a few days!”

“Hmm! Thank you, auntie... I feel much better after I come to Layla’s place!”

Daisy said, leaning her head on Layla’s shoulder.

“That’s good.” Avery changed the subject and confessed to her daughter, “Layla, take Daisy out to eat some delicious food later, and go shopping outside by the way, so you can feel better soon.”

“I know. Don’t worry.”

After the video call, Daisy immediately wiped away the tears on her face with tissue paper, and said with emotion: “Layla, your mother is so deceitful.”

Layla sighed: “because I never lied to my mom before. That’s why she believes everything I say.”

Daisy: “Don’t feel guilty, this is a white lie.”

Layla: “Well, thank you for doing me this great favor. When I’m well, I’ll treat you to a big meal. “

Daisy: “Okay! Then get better soon.”

“I just took the medicine, and I feel much better now.” Layla cheered up and said, “Daisy, go and do your work! You have to go to work today “

“It’s okay, I just call my dad and talk to me.” Daisy worked in her own company, so there was no pressure.

Layla was afraid that Daisy and Eric would be embarrassed.

After all, they didn't know each other at all.

"I'll just take care of her." Eric said to Daisy, "I'll see you off!"

Eric directly ordered to evict her.

Because Layla was ill and needed to rest more, she must not have the energy to accompany her best friend.

After Eric said so, Daisy had no choice but to leave.

Eric sent Daisy out.

Daisy hesitated for a moment, then whispered to Eric: "When you went shopping, she vomited up her breakfast. She told me not to tell you, but I think it's better to tell you. She must be very hungry now, You can ask her what she wants to eat later."

Eric nodded: "Thank you."

"Thank you... Layla is my best friend. If you didn't come, I would also take care of her." Daisy was carrying her bag and was about to enter the elevator. After a moment of hesitation, Looking at Eric, she said, "By the way, since you have a girlfriend, I think you should be more careful. Layla still likes you! In fact, I like you very much too. I am your fan, but you didn't choose Layla. I think you're blind."

Eric was stunned, not knowing how to answer.

"I'm leaving, take care of Layla. Call me if you have anything." Daisy said here, remembering that the two of them had not exchanged contact information, so she took out a business card from her bag and stuffed it to Eric.

Chapter 2664

Eric returned to the house with his business card.

After saving Daisy's number in the phone, he put the business card in a small cabinet.

Thinking of Daisy saying that Layla vomited all the breakfast, Eric immediately went to the kitchen to take out the fruits he bought.

The doctor said that she couldn't eat cold ones now, so Eric washed the fruits and steamed them in a pot.

She had a bad stomach now, so the apples that Eric bought were relatively mild.

After the hot steam came up, he took out the apples.

After peeling and cutting into pieces, he carried the plate to the bedroom.

Layla was lying on the bed, playing with her mobile phone.

"I bought some fruit, do you want some?" Eric put the plate on the bedside table, "Have you taken the medicine?"

Layla immediately put down the phone and brought the plate over.

After spitting out breakfast, her stomach was completely empty, and she was so hungry right now.

"I took the medicine. Should I take it on an empty stomach? I forgot to take it on an empty stomach in the morning." Layla said, putting an apple into her mouth, "Hot?"

"You can't eat cold ones now." Eric said and sat down in the chair next to him, "I forgot to remind you to take your medicine in the morning."

"It's okay. What kind of food did you buy? Are you going to cook again at noon? Actually, you can order takeaway." Layla ate some fruit. Afterwards, she felt a little more comfortable.

"Let's cook noodles for lunch!" Eric replied, "Don't get out of bed today, I'll make them and bring them to you later."

Layla froze for a moment: "Did Daisy tell you something?"

He told Layla not to get out of bed, obviously because he knew she had thrown up for breakfast.

“You should pay attention now. Get out of bed after you stop vomiting.” Eric did not answer her question directly, “If you still vomit at noon, ask the doctor to give another injection.”

Layla: “Actually, today is really much better than last night.”

“It will definitely recover slowly. But you need to rest well and take medicine.”

Eric looked at the makeup on her face, got up from the chair, “I’ll get you makeup remover, You take off the makeup on your face.”

Layla wanted to say that she would just take it off when she took a shower at night, but he had already walked into the bathroom of the master bedroom.

After a while, Eric brought over her cleansing oil, cotton pads, and hair ties.

“You unload it first, I’ll fetch the water.”

Eric put the things on the bedside table and went to the bathroom again.

Seeing him busy, Layla talked to him while putting on the headband: “If I don’t vomit at noon, you can go back! I’ll order takeaway in the evening.”

Eric came out with a basin of water, and reply her unhurriedly: “I’ll go back when you’re completely cured.”

“Didn’t you say it will take about a week to be completely cured? You stay with me for a week?” Layla squeezed the cleansing oil onto a cotton pad, Accidentally squeezed too much.

“If you don’t want me here, then you have to tell your family, otherwise, I will worry if you stay alone.” Eric negotiated with her, “The takeaway is not clean enough.”

“It’s not that I don’t want you to be here.” If girlfriend finds out that you stay here, she will definitely mind.” Layla wiped off the makeup on her face indiscriminately, and then threw the cotton pad into the trash can.

Eric took the washcloth out of the basin and wrung it dry, and handed it to her to wipe her face.

“You don’t have to worry about my affairs. You just need to take care of your illness now.”

“Oh...” Layla wiped her face with a washcloth.

Eric took out another face towel from the basin, wrung it dry and handed it to her.

“Your girlfriend is in Bridgedale? You two are in such a different place, how can you fall in love?” Layla took the second washcloth from him and covered her face directly.

Because the face towel was hot, the hot compress was very comfortable.

Eric was afraid that she would not be able to breathe, so he quickly took the washcloth off her face.

“You are still sick, get well first and don’t think about it.”

Chapter 2665

“It means that my illness is about to recover. I won’t have the energy to ask you these things until last night!” After washing her face, Layla leaned against the head of the bed, “Aren’t you bringing me skin care products?”

Eric took the basin away and went to the bathroom to get her skin care products.

She just moved here and didn’t have many things.

So Eric quickly took her bottles and put them on the bedside table.

“I’ll just wipe off the water, and nothing else.” Layla didn’t have the energy to wipe so much, and now she struggled no matter what she did. “You said you stayed to take care of me, but my guest room is not cleaned up. How can you live? You can’t sleep on the sofa all the time...and you don’t have any daily necessities.”

Eric: "I'll get someone to deliver it later, don't worry about me."

"Your self-care ability should be about the same as mine, right? Others are serving you, you have never served others, have you?" Layla knew that he would not let anyone come into her house casually.

So he would have to clean up the guest room later, and he would have to cook the next three meals a day himself.

He didn't know if he could do it.

"I should be better than you, right?" Eric didn't want to hit her, but as soon as the words came out, the damage was already done, "Don't go into the kitchen from now on. Whatever you want to eat, let someone make it for you or order takeaway as well."

Layla snorted coldly, and slapped the water on her face.

"Does your face not hurt?" Eric picked up her bottles and jars, and looked at her, "Stop taking pictures. You have lost a lot of weight these days, and if you keep taking pictures, you will become even thinner. Then you can't hide it from your family even if you want to."

Layla was so frightened that she stopped immediately.

Eric really knew how to deal with her.

After putting away her skin care products, Eric saw that she was already lying down, so he left the bedroom.

....

Eozambiulle.

It was daytime when the plane arrived at the airport.

Mike and Chad carried their suitcases and brought Hazel out of the airport.

The hotel pick-up vehicle was waiting outside the airport.

After the three of them boarded the car, they arrived at the hotel they booked after more than an hour's journey.

"Hazel, are you tired? Let's have a meal first, and then take a rest to beat the jet lag." Mike said.

Hazel: "I'm fine. I slept on the plane for a while."

Chad: "There seems to be aurora tonight and tomorrow night. If we live here for a week, we will definitely see the aurora."

"Do you often see the aurora?"

"It is written in the encyclopedia that you can see the aurora at least 200 days a year." Chad replied, "Your sister came here once before, but unfortunately she didn't see it. My other friends come here While watching the aurora, I almost squatted down."

"Oh...the people who live here are so happy!" Hazel sighed.

"The economy here is very poor." Mike reminded, "It depends on the natural phenomenon of aurora to stimulate the tourism industry."

Hazel saw it.

The capital of Eozambiulle was quite prosperous, but after arriving in this small town by car for more than an hour, it was obviously much deserted.

There were no high-rise buildings in this small town, and the houses were sparsely populated. It felt that there were not many people.

The hotel they chose was the best hotel in this small town.

After checking in, they took the luggage to the room and put it away, and then went to the restaurant for dinner.

While waiting for the meal, Hazel sent a message to her parents, brothers and sisters to report that she was safe.

"Hazel, after watching the aurora, let's go to the capital of Eozambiulle for a few days! The capital of Eozambiulle is still quite prosperous and fun." Mike suggested.

Without thinking, Hazel agreed.

It's a pity that Hazel didn't know which university Lucas was studying in Eozambiulle, otherwise, she really wanted to visit his university.

Chapter 2666

At this time, Hazel's mobile phone rang.

It was Avery who called after seeing the news.

Hazel answered the phone: "Mom, I'm here. We are in the hotel now, ready to eat."

Avery asked: "There is a time difference between Eozambiulle and Aryadelle, how do you feel?"

Hazel: "I fell asleep on the plane for a while, so I feel okay."

Avery breathed a sigh of relief: "That's good, you must eat light food over there, and you must eat cooked food. If you drink water, it is best to drink boiled water or bottled water. Your sister went there once before, and she said that she had a high fever after eating bad food! So be careful there."

Avery had confessed to Mike and Chad.

But Avery still wanted to tell Hazel again.

Hazel: "I know, I will be very careful."

Avery: "Well, be careful outside! Mom is waiting for you to come back at home."

Hazel: "Okay. If I see the aurora, I will make a video call and show you."

"Okay, I'm waiting for your video call."

After talking on the phone, the waiter brought the dishes to the table.

Mike put the food in front of Hazel: "Your mother said that you are not picky eaters, you can eat everything."

Hazel blushed: "Yes! I can eat sour, sweet, bitter and spicy. But I can't eat raw..."

For example, sashimi and undercooked steak, I am not used to it.”

“It’s good to eat cooked food. It’s safe.” Mike said, and gave her a bottle of bottled water. “This is domestic water from Aryadelle. Your mother told you to drink bottled water for you.”

Hazel smiled and then she took the water bottle, unscrewed it, and took a sip.

“After dinner, if you don’t want to go to rest, I can take you outside for a walk.

I’ve been here a few times, and I’m quite familiar with this place.” Mike discussed with Hazel.

Hazel took a mouthful of noodles, thought for a while, and said, “I’d better go to the room to rest later!”

She wasn’t sleepy herself, but she was afraid that Mike and Chad would be sleepy.

“Are you afraid to trouble me?” Mike saw her careful thinking, “Don’t look at me as older than you, I am definitely not less energetic than you. I can still work during the day after staying up all night!”

Chad echoed with a smile: “Your Uncle Mike doesn’t like to sleep. I have known him for so many years, and he is always like this. If you don’t want to rest after eating later, let him take you around. I will go back to the room to sleep next time. You two, don’t worry about me.”

Seeing what Chad said, Hazel nodded boldly.

After lunch, Chad went back to his room to rest.

Mike took Hazel out for a walk.

The temperature there was not high, and the highest daytime temperature in summer was only about 20 degrees.

It was the end of August, and the highest daytime temperature today was only 18 degrees.

Avery brought Hazel a thin down jacket and a thin coat for daytime.

Hazel was now wearing a thin coat and walking outside, neither hot nor cold.

Mike was only wearing a T-shirt, and he didn't seem to be afraid of the cold at all.

"Uncle Mike, aren't you afraid of the cold?" Hazel asked.

"It's not cold! Are you cold?" Mike was afraid that she would be cold, so he reached out and shook her hand.

Hazel's hands were hot.

"I see you are not wearing a coat." Hazel replied.

"It's more than ten degrees right now! I can only wear a coat if it is lower than ten degrees." Mike pointed forward, "We will walk for ten minutes and we will see a lake...there is the best to see the aurora. Because when the aurora appears, you can see the reflection in the lake...it is very beautiful."

Hazel nodded: "Uncle Mike, you have known my mother for many years!"

Chapter 2667

"Yes! I knew your mother when she was in her twenties. Baby fat! It's not as thin as it is now. But the only thing that hasn't changed is that your mother has always been beautiful over the years." Mike boasted.

Hazel: "My father is also very handsome."

"Haha! Do you like your father so much?"

Hazel responded without thinking: "He treats me very well."

"Well, your father is indeed not bad. Ever since he stopped talking to me after your mother quarreled. I think he's getting more and more pleasing to the eye."

Mike really didn't have any objections to Elliot now.

It seemed that the two of them hadn't had an argument for a long time.

"If it wasn't for your mother, I should have died long ago. Your mother saved my life.” Mike told Hazel about the past, “After your mother cured me, I made up my mind to rely on your mother. Fortunately, I made this wise decision at the beginning, otherwise I don’t know where I am fooling around now!”

Hazel: “Uncle Mike, what did you do before?”

Mike: “Hacker.”

Hazel immediately admired: “Are you a computer expert?”

Mike was a little proud: “Yes! I’m still your elder brother’s master! Your elder brother was taught by me. Of course, he became better than me later on.”

Hazel adored him even more.

“Did you know that the content we can search and browse on the Internet is actually only a very small part of the Internet?” Mike followed this topic and chatted with her in depth.

Hazel shook her head: “I don’t know. No one told me about this.”

“It’s okay if you don’t know. It’s useless to know too much. It’s all useless information. You just have to enjoy life.” Mike pulled out a kind smile, “Forget all the unhappy experiences in the past, now it’s your real life.”

Mike’s childhood was not good, and his childhood experiences troubled him for quite a long time.

He worried that Hazel would also be affected by the poverty of the past eighteen years.

“But it’s hard to forget all of them.” Although Hazel’s status as ‘Siena’ has ended, she could vividly remember many things that ‘Siena’ has experienced.

Mike: “Then think about happy things.”

“I can do this.” Hazel raised a smile, “Uncle Mike, in fact, I want to come to Eozambiulle, not only because I want to see the aurora, but also see my friend.”

After Hazel said this, she felt a little regretful.

“Uncle Mike, can you not tell my parents about this?”

Her family hoped that she would make a clean break with the past. So as not to cause unnecessary trouble.

After all, her identity was different from the past, and she was no longer alone.

She didn't want to cause trouble to her family.

So she understood her family's feelings very well, and she was very obedient and didn't contact people she knew in the past.

Mike looked at her face, nodded and agreed: “Don't worry, I won't tell anyone. I won't tell your Uncle Chad.”

“Thank you! You are so kind.” Hazel breathed a sigh of relief.

“What's the matter, everyone has secrets. I'm glad you're willing to tell me.”

Mike asked, “Who is this person you mentioned who treats you well?”

“He's a little older than me. I used to work in their family, and he took good care of me. Because I used to have ugly scars on my face, no one wanted to talk to me, and I had no friends...but he didn't dislike me because of it..” Hazel stammered out these words.

She didn't tell her family these words. She's afraid they would feel distressed.

“Then do you want to meet your friend? I can take you to meet him secretly, and I won't tell anyone.” Mike asked.

“I don't know where he is. I only know that he came to a school in Eozambiulle.”

Hazel also wanted to say that she was not ready to see him.

After meeting, what could she do?

Lucas was studying in Eozambiulle, and Hazel would soon return to Aryadelle to study, and it would be difficult for Hazel to meet Lucas in the future.

“Oh, the two of you haven't been in touch, have you?” Mike said after getting a general idea of the situation, “Do you want to know which school he goes to? I can help you find out.”

Chapter 2668

Hazel was just talking to Mike casually, but she didn't expect Mike to help her.

What was even more unexpected was that Mike actually said that he could find out for her.

She really wanted to know which school Lucas attended.

It would be even better if she could visit his school.

After all, it's all here. It's just that she won't go to Lucas.

Even if Lucas saw her, he would not recognize her as Siena.

“Uncle Mike, can you really find out which school he is in?” Lucas asked a little excitedly.

“Of course. You tell me his name, is it male or female.”

“His name is Lucas Hogan, he is male.”

“Oh... male! He Don't you think you were ugly before?” Mike was a little surprised.

Hazel nodded: “He is really nice. But then he got angry with me, I don't know how to make him unhappy. But he is really a nice person. He is the best to me besides my mother-in-law.”

Mike thought to himself – you are such a silly girl, people get angry with you behind, and they don't tell you why, obviously they don't take you seriously, you still treat him as a very good person, there is no need.

But Mike didn't say it.

Hazel's previous living environment must have been very bad.

If there was someone who treated her a little better, like a ray of light briefly illuminating her dark world, her feelings for that person would naturally be different.

“Uncle Mike, you don’t know. Except for my mother-in-law, no one was willing to eat at the same table with me before. He was the only person who was willing to eat at the same table with me except my mother-in-law. He really never disliked me.” Hazel talked about this with a sore nose, “I really appreciate him.”

“Well, he is indeed a good person. But do you want to keep in touch with him?”

Mike asked.

Hazel shook her head: “I want to study hard first.”

“Your idea is right. You are still young, study hard first, and when you go to college, you will meet many friends with similar interests.”

Hazel: “Alright.”

The two walked to the lake, and after looking at the scenery by the lake, Mike went to a small shop nearby and bought an ice cream.

“Your mother won’t let you eat the snacks here.” After Mike paid, he explained to Hazel.

Hazel expressed her understanding: “My sister also told me not to eat indiscriminately. She said that I should wait until I see the aurora before eating.”

“Hahaha! Then when I see the aurora, I will take you to eat the food here “

“Okay!”

After Mike’s ice cream was finished, they went back to the hotel.

There were two VIP rooms, next to each other.

Hazel lived alone.

“Call me anytime you have anything to do, don’t come out alone.” Mike sent her into the room.

Hazel: “Okay.”

“I’ll call you when dinner is over.”

After Mike left, Hazel closed the door.

She opened the suitcase, took out the daily necessities inside, and put them in the bathroom.

After finishing these tasks, she walked to the window and looked out the window.

It was darker than an hour ago.

The temperature there was low, and she didn't know if Luca was not used to it.

Like Uncle Mike, he didn't like coats and thick clothes.

After thinking wildly for a while, she felt a little dizzy.

Due to jet lag, she felt a little uncomfortable.

She went to the bed and laid down, but she never fell asleep.

When Mike called her, she answered instantly.

"Not asleep, are you? Come out, let's go eat!" Mike stood outside her room door.

Hazel hung up the phone and got out of bed immediately. Avery told her to wear a thin down jacket at night, so she obediently took out the down jacket from the suitcase and put it on.

Mike ordered the meal in advance, so the three of them could eat directly when they went to the restaurant.

Chapter 2669

Mike: "Night will be more lively than daytime. Come out and do some activities."

They were sitting by the window, and they could see that there were obviously more pedestrians outside than during the day.

"Will there be an aurora tonight?" Hazel looked forward to it.

"It is said that there is. But sometimes the forecast is not accurate. This natural phenomenon will not be shifted by human will." Mike said, "Let's eat slowly, don't worry. When the aurora appears, we can see it immediately."

Hazel glanced at the sky outside and nodded.

She suddenly thought of a question: "Uncle Mike, if there is an aurora in the sky here, can other cities in Eozambiulle see it?"

Mike: "I'm sure you won't be able to see it from a distance."

Hazel: "Yes."

"Otherwise, you don't have to come here to see the aurora. This is the northernmost part of Eozambiulle, and the climate and environment here are quite difficult."

Hazel: "It's cold here. It's okay!"

Mike: "There's nothing interesting here. When I take you to the capital, you'll feel the difference."

After dinner, the three of them went for a walk outside, toward the lake.

When Mike walked to the ice cream shop in the daytime, he said: "I'm going to buy ice cream, Chad, would you like it?"

Chad shook his head: "You go and buy it! Hazel and I will go on and you'll come to us."

The ice cream shop's business was not bad, and there was a queue to buy ice cream at the moment.

Mike went to buy ice cream, Chad and Hazel continued to walk.

They walked forward for less than three minutes, when a blue-green light suddenly appeared in the sky! Instantly illuminate the dark night!

Then the screams of people broke out!

Aurora appeared!

After Hazel froze for a moment, she was awakened by the enthusiasm around her.

“Uncle Mike!” Hazel immediately ran to call Mike.

Chad immediately caught up: “Hazel, he will come to us! Hurry up and take out your mobile phone to take pictures! The aurora may only appear for a short time.”

After being reminded, Hazel took out her mobile phone from her pocket in a panic.

Chad brought a camera.

Hazel took pictures of the aurora, while Chad took pictures of Hazel and the aurora with a camera.

Not far away, Mike made a video call to Avery and showed her Aurora and Hazel.

“You are very lucky! You will encounter the aurora as soon as you go!” Avery looked at the blue-green and purple lights on the screen, and her inner enthusiasm rose, “It’s so beautiful! Hazel must be very happy!”

Mike: “Hmm. Chad is filming her! I will send you the video later.”

Avery: “Okay. Thank you for your hard work.”

Mike: “What a hard work! Hazel is very sensible. I heard her call me just now. I was buying ice cream, After Aurora appeared, she first thought of calling me, this little girl, she is so heartwarming.”

Aurora appeared for six minutes and then disappeared.

After the aurora disappeared, Hazel immediately sent the video she shot to the family group.

Robert immediately replied: Little sister, you are so lucky! See the aurora as soon as you go! My sister was about to cry and faint in the toilet.

Hayden: [Robert, don’t sow discord.]

Robert immediately shut up.

After Hazel posted the video in the family group, Chad showed Hazel the photos and videos he took.

After Hazel saw it, she liked it very much: "Uncle Chad, can you send me these photos and videos?"

"I'll send them to you when I get back to the hotel."

"Thank you! You didn't take pictures of yourself, you just took pictures of me Huh?" Hazel was a little embarrassed.

Chad laughed loudly: "We have been here before. This time you are the protagonist."

After returning to the hotel, Hazel went to take a shower.

When she came out of the shower, she saw the messages sent to her by Chad and Mike.

Chad sent her pictures and videos of tonight.

Mike sent her the school Lucas attended.

Chapter 2670

Hazel didn't expect that Mike could find out the School Lucas attended so quickly.

Mike was simply awesome!

Hazel replied "Thank you, Uncle Chad" to Chad, and then quickly thanked Mike.

Mike sent her a message back: [I will accompany you to this school for a walk tomorrow? How about without Chad?]

Hazel looked at the message from Mike and hesitated for a moment.

Mike sent another message: [Don't worry, I checked, this school is very big, even if we go in there for a day, it is impossible to meet your friend.]

Only then did Hazel dispel her worries: [Okay, Uncle Mike, thank you! You are really good!]

Mike was flattered, and suddenly he was proud: [It's a small thing. If you have anything you dare not tell your parents in the future, just tell me. Not only can I join with you, but I can also help you with a little favor!]

Hazel felt that she was completely spoiled: [No wonder my sister said that you are our second father! You are so kind to us.]

Mike: [You go to bed early tonight, and I will call you tomorrow morning. Or call me any time you wake up. Don't be afraid to disturb me, I don't sleep much.]

Hazel: [Alright.]

After sending messages to Mike, Hazel saw the message 99+ displayed in the family group.

She immediately opened the group message and saw Layla scolding Robert in the group.

Layla: [Robert, you'd better avoid me! Otherwise, when I see you next time, believe it or not, I will beat you hard!]

Robert: [Sister, I was wrong!]

Layla: [I'm angry, it's useless to admit your mistake!]

Hazel watched Layla get angry, but she was still wondering why Layla was angry with Robert.

She flipped through the news quickly with her fingers, and found that it was because Robert lamented in the group that she was so lucky to see the aurora, while Layla was crying and fainted in the toilet.

No wonder Layla was angry! Hahaha!

Hazel immediately smoothed things over in the group: [Sister, don't be angry! Let's see the aurora together next time!]

When Layla saw Hazel's message, she immediately replied: "Little sister, the aurora you took is really beautiful!" The aurora you saw this time is so colorful!

It's even more beautiful than the aurora that Uncle Mike and the others saw last time!]

Robert reminded: [Sister, Uncle Mike also went this time.]

Layla suddenly became angry again: [Robert, you are going to beat!]

Robert: [My little sister save me!]

Hazel laughed so hard that her stomach hurts: [Second brother, send a red envelope to sister!]

Robert listened to Hazel's suggestion and immediately distributed red envelopes in the group.

Layla: [Don't expect me to forgive you for this little trick!]

Robert: [Sister, don't be angry just because of my little sister's sake! My little sister is so happy to see the aurora today!]

Layla: [That's all! For my little sister's sake, I will spare your dog's life! [Hmph]

Robert probably got carried away with his complacency today, so he replied cheaply: [I'm a dog, so what are you guys?]

Layla was so angry that she almost jumped out of bed!

There was a sudden pain in the abdomen, and Layla immediately put down the phone and covered her lower abdomen.

"Hiss..." Layla breathed heavily, feeling a bad premonition in her heart.

This painful feeling was so familiar!

In the living room, Eric heard the slight movement in the bedroom, and immediately strode over.

"Layla, what's wrong with you?" Eric saw her hunched up and curled up, and immediately sat down by the bed, and raised his hand to touch her forehead.

There was a layer of cold sweat on her forehead, but she didn't have a fever.

"Layla, do you want to go to the bathroom?" Eric hesitated how to help her go to the bathroom.

Layla was thin-skinned, and she definitely didn't want others to follow her to the bathroom.

She actually didn't vomit today, and she didn't hear her have diarrhea.

Hazel didn't expect that Mike could find out the School Lucas attended so quickly.

Mike was simply awesome!

Hazel replied "Thank you, Uncle Chad" to Chad, and then quickly thanked Mike.

Layla was thin-skinned, and she definitely didn't want others to follow her to the bathroom.

She actually didn't vomit today, and she didn't hear her have diarrhea.

Chapter 2671

Layla had been taking medicine for two days, but it was more or less effective.

"No... I had a fight with Robert just now. He pissed me off. I feel like I'm mad at him."

Layla explained the reason.

Eric did not expect this to happen.

The gastroenteritis was not completely cured, and her period was coming...did she still need to take the medicine for gastroenteritis? And what should women pay attention to during menstruation?

Eric had no experience in this, but he knew that drinking more hot water was definitely right. So he took her water glass to fetch a cup of hot water.

“I’ll call the doctor and ask.” After putting the water glass on the bedside table, Eric took out his cell phone and planned to ask the doctor.

Layla raised her head and looked at him: “It’s just a period, what’s the point of asking the doctor... why don’t you go and buy me a few packs of sanitary napkins...”

Now except for Eric, Layla couldn’t find someone else to do it either.

Eric blushed slightly, put away his phone, and nodded: “Then I’ll go buy it now. Besides this, do I need to buy anything else?”

Layla couldn’t think of anything else for a while, So she replied: “Just buy this.”

“Okay, bear with me, I’ll go buy it now.” Eric couldn’t help, walked away quickly.

Coming out of the house, he called the doctor and asked whether Layla should continue to take stomach medicine in this situation.

The doctor replied: “Continue to take it. This medicine will not affect menstruation.”

Eric: “Okay. By the way, what should a woman pay attention to during menstruation?”

Doctor: “Get more rest, don’t catch a cold, don’t be tired. You let her rest in bed Enough.”

Eric: “What about diet?”

Doctor: “Eat a light diet. After her gastroenteritis is cured, supplement her nutrition! A woman’s menstruation is not a big deal, so you don’t need to be too nervous.”

Eric: “Why isn’t it a big deal? It hurts so much now. She didn’t suffer from the pain when she got food poisoning.”

Doctor: “It’s true that some women have dysmenorrhea, and they can take painkillers.”

“Can she take painkillers now?”

“Yes. The stomach medicine will be ready in a while.”

“Okay.” After finishing talking on the phone, Eric went to the pharmacy to buy painkillers.

He bought a painkiller that he used well and another that the pharmacist recommended.

After buying the medicine, he walked towards the nearest supermarket.

In the supermarket, the shelves of women’s products are full of all kinds of sanitary napkins.

When Eric went to the supermarket in the past, he never stopped in front of such shelves, so he had no idea which brand of sanitary napkins was better.

“Sir, are you buying it for your girlfriend? Are you buying it for daily use or for night use? Does your girlfriend use pure cotton or dry ones? Which brand does she usually use?” A salesperson saw Eric standing in front of the shelf in trouble, so she came over to help him.

It’s good that the salesperson didn’t speak, but after speaking, Eric frowned even tighter.

“I’ll call and ask.” Eric stepped aside and wanted to call Layla, but found that Layla had sent a message.

Layla: [Buy me a pack for day, a pack for night, a pack of night pants, and a pack of pads. The SU brand, if you don’t have this brand, you can just choose a brand! If you don’t understand, just ask the salesperson.

Layla had made it very clear.

After Eric read the information several times, he began to look for it on the shelves.

...

In the family group, Robert called Layla because Layla hadn't bubbled up for 20 minutes.

After Layla answered Robert's phone, she heard Robert's confession.

"Mom and little sister sent me messages respectively and asked me to call you to apologize." Robert's voice was full of regret, "Sister, I was joking with you, why are you really angry?"

"Did you come here? Are you apologizing to me, or are you here to add fuel to the fire?" Layla lay on the bed, her voice was a little weak, "Okay, don't quarrel with me. I'm on my period, so I don't have the energy to argue with you."

Chapter 2672

Robert hung up the phone and immediately told Avery about Layla's period.

Robert wanted to explain that if Layla didn't have her period today, she would never be angry with him.

Because usually Robert always liked to joke with Layla.

Avery frowned slightly after hearing what Robert said.

Layla just moved out, and she was on her period, and no one was taking care of her, it's so pitiful!

Avery talked to Elliot, Elliot didn't even think about it, and immediately said: "Let the Nanny make some dishes that Layla likes, and we'll send them to her later."

Avery: "I thought so too. Cook soup for her."

Avery said, and immediately went to order the Nanny to cook. in the apartment.

Layla looked at the sanitary napkin that Eric bought back.

Basically according to her request, Eric bought twice as many.

“I bought painkillers, and the doctor said you can take them if you are in pain.”

Eric took out the painkillers, “Do you want to take one now?”

Layla shook her head, “It’s not as painful as before. Mom said that if she can bear it, she won’t take medicine.”

After she finished speaking, she took a sanitary napkin and clean clothes and walked towards the bathroom.

On the bed sheet, there was a smear of bright red blood.

“I’ll change the sheets myself later.” Layla walked to the door of the bathroom, saw Eric looking at the sheets in a daze, so she spoke.

After Layla entered the bathroom, Eric opened her wardrobe and looked for a clean four-piece suit.

Before retiring from the entertaining circle, Eric did not do housework.

That’s why Layla said before that he had never served anyone.

But after retiring from the circle, he had begun to learn to take care of himself.

He lived alone now, and he invited a part-time worker to clean the house every other day. So far, he had not encountered any difficulties in life.

Layla came out of the shower, and the four-piece set on the bed had been changed.

And the dirty ones had been cleaned up.

Layla walked towards the living room in confusion.

“Eric, didn’t I say that I change the sheets myself?”

In the guest bathroom, Eric was washing the blood on the sheets by hand.

Seeing his slender and white fingers covered with soap bubbles, Layla’s face suddenly turned red.

“You have to stay in bed now, I’ll do such trivial things.” Eric didn’t dislike the bloody bed sheet at all.

Layla stood at the door of the guest room, looking at his appearance, as if watching a fairy descending from the earth.

“Eric, what do you mean? I confessed to you before, but you refused, but now you treat me so well, don’t you think you are contradictory?” Layla didn’t wait for him to speak, and continued to ask, “If your girlfriend sees that you live with me and take care of me like this, what do you think she will think? You make me look like a mistress.”

After Eric washed the blood on the sheets, he threw the sheets into the washing machine, turned on the power, and chose mode, press the start key.

“Layla, do you mean that once you have a girlfriend, you have to cut off contact with all friends of the opposite s-e-x?” Eric walked to the door of the guest room, looked down at Layla, and said calmly, “You are sick now, don’t you? I take care of you as an elder, and I believe others can understand.”

“Oh...the elder takes care of the younger!” Layla mocked lightly, “Then why don’t you help me wash my underwear too? Since it’s taking care, let’s take care of it to the end!”

Hearing her sarcasm, Eric’s handsome face flashed a momentary look of embarrassment.

Layla took a deep breath, turned and walked towards the bedroom.

She had a stomachache, fatigue, and a little cold, so after returning to the bedroom, she immediately got under the covers and lay down.

After a while, Eric entered the bedroom and went to the main bathroom.

When Layla heard the commotion, she immediately raised her head and looked at the main guard—could Eric really go to wash her underwear?

Layla couldn’t believe it, and was very dazed.

If Eric really washed her underwear, what would she do?

Chapter 2673

Main guard.

Eric saw the soiled underwear she threw away in the trash can.

She didn't throw her pajamas in the trash, though.

There was also blood on her pajamas.

After Eric washed her pajamas, she came out of the main bathroom carrying the garbage bag in the trash can of the main bathroom.

Layla was lying on the bed playing with her mobile phone. When Eric came out from the main guard, she couldn't help but ask, "Eric, do you have a nanny at home? Why don't you let your nanny take care of me? Go back!"

Although Eric was working as a male servant, So Layla was very moved, but she didn't want to torment Eric like this.

Eric hands were particularly beautiful. It was no exaggeration to say that his hands were more tender than hers.

How dare Layla let him do rough work here.

"I didn't hire a nanny." Eric replied, "If you want to hire a professional nanny, I can hire one for you right now."

Layla thought for a few seconds, and replied: "Forget it! I'll be fine in two days. I won't eat indiscriminately again."

"Yes. You lie on the bed and don't move around. I'll dry your clothes. Let's cook."

When Eric said these words, he was thinking about dinner tonight.

Layla's appetite was pretty good today, and she was wondering if Eric should cook her some nutritious meat dishes tonight.

She had been eating porridge and noodles for two days in a row, and she had lost a lot of weight visible to the naked eye.

About an hour later, Layla's cell phone rang.

When Layla saw the call from Avery, she answered it without thinking.

“Layla, your father and I came to see you! I brought you dinner. You can open the door for us later.”

Layla: “...Mom! Where have you been? Have you set off?!”

In the kitchen, the sound of Eric cutting vegetables stopped.

Eric heard Layla talking on the phone, and immediately walked over to see what happened.

“We’ve arrived in your neighborhood. We just parked the car.” Avery returned unhurriedly, “Aren’t you on your period? I’m afraid you won’t be able to eat well, so I brought you food and soup.”

Layla so touched!

Really moved! It’s just that Eric was at her house.

If her parents saw Eric living in her house and taking care of her, how would they explain it!

Layla hung up the phone and she slipped out of bed!

“Eric, my parents are here! They’ll be here soon! Hurry up and hide in the guest room!” When Layla was speaking, she took off the apron from Eric’s body and put it on herself.

Eric also panicked: “Is it safe to hide in the guest room?”

“I will try to keep them away from the guest room!” Layla hurriedly sent Eric to the guest room, “If you really find out, don’t be afraid! I will protect you.”

After sending Eric into the guest room, Layla began searching the room to see if there were any of Eric’s personal belongings.

Five minutes later, the doorbell rang.

Layla took a deep breath and opened the door.

Avery and Elliot were taken aback when they saw the apron on their daughter.

“Baby, are you cooking? Didn’t mom say to bring you food?” Avery was so startled by the apron on Layla that she didn't notice that her daughter had lost a lot of weight.

"I didn't do it, I'm tidying up in the kitchen!" Layla smiled and fetched slippers for Mom and Dad, "You are really kind to me. I'm just on my period and I'm not sick... Why bother to come and bring me food?"

Avery changed her shoes and asked, "Where's Daisy?"

"I'm not feeling well during my period today, so Daisy went back first." Layla said, "Mom, Dad, please sit down!"

Avery couldn't sit still: "No one has taken care of you these two days... ..Mom will help you tidy up the room."

Layla suddenly remembered that there was a pile of stomach medicine on the bedside table in the master bedroom!

So she quickly grab Avery!

Chapter 2674

"Mom! I can find someone from the housekeeping company to clean up! You don't need to do this kind of rough work." Layla forcefully invited Avery to sit down on the sofa, "Mom, Have you had dinner? If not, let's have it together!"

"I have eaten with your father." Avery couldn't sit still because she found that her daughter's face seemed to have lost weight, "Layla, have you lost weight? Why have you become so haggard after two days of absence?"

Elliot also looked at Layla after hearing this.

It's okay if he didn't watch it, but he couldn't sit still after watching it.

"Baby, do you not eat well every day? Do you not sleep well either?"

Layla panicked all of a sudden.

The worried and distressed eyes of Avery and Elliot made Layla feel particularly guilty.

She felt that she shouldn't hide it from her parents, but she also thought that if she told the truth to her parents, they would definitely feel even more heartbroken.

"I... I'm just on my period... I don't have a good appetite." After hesitating for a few seconds, Layla decided to make the big problem smaller, after all, her gastroenteritis was almost cured.

"Then you should go home for the next few days! Why do you have to cook for yourself when you're so haggard! No matter how bad it is, you can order takeaway!" Avery said, taking off the apron from her daughter.

Seeing her daughter wearing an apron, Avery couldn't stand it.

Layla had never been in the kitchen to cook since she was a child. Now that she was so weak, she still had to cook and eat by herself. It was really hard!

"Mom, I'm just on my period and I'm not sick! I look weak, but I'm actually fine!"

Layla stood up from the sofa to prove that she was fine, "Look, I'm really fine!"

"You just don't want to go home, right?" Avery saw Layla trying to be brave, although she felt distressed, she would not force her.

"Hey, I just want to stay in bed these two days and don't want to move." Layla curled her lips, "I'll be fine in two days. When my appetite improves, I'll gain weight back soon."

"Okay. You can eat first!" Avery took out the food she brought from the bag, and the aroma immediately hit her nostrils.

Layla's stomach growled.

In the past two days, she followed the principle of eating less and more meals, and she didn't eat much at each meal, so she was hungry quickly.

"Are you so hungry?" Avery handed the chopsticks to Layla, and then brought out the soup for her.

Seeing Layla starting to eat, Elliot got up and walked towards the kitchen.

Out of the corner of her eye, Layla watched her father go to the kitchen.

Although her heartstrings were tense, she was still calm.

As long as Elliot didn't go to the guest room, it's fine.

"I'll go to the kitchen to have a look." Avery thought about what Layla said to clean up in the kitchen, but she might not have cleaned it up yet, so she wanted to go to the kitchen to help her clean up.

"Okay!" Layla responded, and Avery walked towards the kitchen.

On the counter in the kitchen, there were pre-cut vegetables, and on the cutting board, there were chopped green onions, ginger and garlic...

"Our daughter is quite patient!" Avery looked at the ingredients on the counter, and smiled, "It seems that she really likes to cook. People who have their periods are very weak. If it were me, I would definitely not cook by myself."

Elliot didn't want Layla to suffer from cooking, so he didn't pick up the compliments on Avery.

Layla saw her Mom and Dad in the kitchen, so she slipped into the bedroom immediately with the bowl in hand. Hide all the stomach medicine in the bedroom under the bed!

In case Avery insisted on coming to clean her room later, no matter whether it was placed in the bedside cabinet or in the closet, it might be seen by Avery.

After hiding the stomach medicine, Layla's tense nerves immediately relaxed a lot.

She came out of the bedroom with the bowl in her hand, and suddenly found that her mother was alone in the kitchen.

"Mom! Where's Dad?" When Layla asked this sentence, she found that the door of the guest room opened at some point!

With a bang, Layla felt a thunderbolt knocking her down!

"I don't know! The house is only this big, let's see if your dad went to the bathroom..." Avery didn't know where Elliot went.

Chapter 2675

"Dad!" Layla ran into the guest room with a bowl in her arms.

in the guest room.

Elliot stood in front of the bed, frowning slightly, looking at Layla.

"What's wrong?" Elliot just came in out of curiosity.

It was found that the bed was made in the guest room, and it seemed that someone was sleeping here.

"Dad, this is... This is the room where Daisy sleeps. There are her personal belongings in it... nothing to see." While lying, Layla quickly looked around the guest room, and unexpectedly she didn't see Eric!

She didn't know where Eric was hiding!

Fortunately, he hid, otherwise, if his father saw him, there would be a storm!

"Aren't you two good friends? You're so weak now that she won't stay to take care of you?" Elliot came out of the guest room and asked doubts.

"She also wanted to take care of me, and I asked her to go back. I'm not very strong today, and I don't want to talk to people. I just want to stay by myself.

Dad, you haven't had a period, so you don't know how it feels. You can go and ask Mom," Layla said, walking toward the kitchen.

Avery: "You don't have the energy to talk to people anymore, you still have the energy to cook by yourself!"

Layla: "I didn't have any energy when I let her go! After that, I slept better."

Her explanation made sense.

"Okay, after you finish eating, I will leave with your father. Don't disturb you and rest." Avery quickly cleaned up the ingredients on the desk, "I will put the chopped vegetables in the refrigerator for you I see that you have bought a lot of noodles in the refrigerator. You can't just throw away your three meals a day like this! If you don't want to cook, you can order takeaway!"

"Got it! You can buy noodles casually. It may not be possible to finish it." Layla quickly finished the rice in the bowl, and then went to drink the soup, "Mom, I will put the rest of the food in the refrigerator and eat it tomorrow."

Elliot and Avery did not speak. Because both of them were very sad.

When Layla was at home before, they never let her eat leftovers.

Now Layla had moved out to live, and life had become like this.

If there was a nanny, it would not be like this.

"Dad, Mom, don't you two look at me with such pitiful eyes! I'm really fine...I look weak because of a special situation. I promise to eat it in two days!" Layla forced a smile.

"I don't think you were so weak when you had your period before?" Avery recalled when Layla had her period last month, "Are you really okay?"

"It's really okay!" Layla said, "It's because you haven't seen me for two days that you think I've changed a lot."

"Okay! Layla, if you have anything to do, you must tell your parents. If it's not convenient for you to tell your father, just tell your mother." Avery urged.

"Sure! You are not only my mother, but also my best friend! I will never hide anything from you." Layla promised.

Only then did Avery feel relieved.

Before Avery left, she went to her bedroom to take a look.

Seeing that the bedroom was relatively clean, she left with Elliot.

As soon as her parents left, Layla immediately put down the soup bowl and ran to the guest room.

“Eric! My parents have left! Where have you been hiding?”

At this moment, the wardrobe door opened and Eric came out.

Layla: “.....”

Chapter 2676

Layla couldn't help laughing out loud: “Eric, I didn't expect you to be hiding in the closet Hahahaha! Have you ever been so ashamed?”

Eric blushed slightly, “Yeah.”

“Are you so afraid of my parents?” Layla sat down by the bed and continued to laugh.

Fortunately, there was nothing in the wardrobe in the guest room, it was empty. So it wouldn't be too crowded for Eric to hide inside.

“I'm afraid of causing unnecessary trouble. You are still sick, and you refuse to tell your family about your illness. If they see me, how can I explain it?” Eric stood in front of her, looking down at her, “Have you had dinner yet?”

“Yes. My parents brought it for me, a lot, and it's still hot, go eat it!” Layla stood up, still couldn't help laughing, and joked, “Eric, you are not like an elder at all... There is no elder like you.”

“I am indeed too indulgent to you. I should have secretly told your mother the first time I found out that you were sick. As long as your mother finds an excuse to come here, she can find out that you are sick without betraying me.” Eric said seriously.

The smile on Layla's face disappeared immediately: “Don't make up your mind. If you really betrayed me, I can feel it. And I'm getting better soon, and you don't need to betray me anymore.”

Eric: “Yes.”

“The food is on the table, go and eat!” Layla pointed to the food and dishes on the coffee table.

Eric took a look: "You haven't eaten much, have you?"

"After eating a small bowl, I can't eat anymore. My stomach has been hungry for the past two days." Layla sat down on the sofa, leaned against the back of the sofa, and sighed slightly, "It feels like I'm going through a catastrophe these days. I've been eating for a long time Not so unlucky anymore."

Eric went to the kitchen to get his own bowls and chopsticks, chatted with her while eating: "You are not unlucky, it's because you were taken care of so well in the past and never suffered."

Layla: "Forget it What you said makes sense. But I don't think it's necessary to praise suffering, why do you have to suffer?"

"Yes! You don't have to come out to suffer, why do you have to move out?" Eric looked up at her, "When you recover from illness Just move back and live!"

Layla: "...I moved out with great difficulty, and I won't move back. Don't worry, if anything happens to me in the future, I won't bother you anymore."

Eric: "That's not what I meant."

Layla: "Then what do you mean? Eric, I find that you are becoming more and more dishonest."

Eric bowed his head and ate in silence.

"You rejected me because you were afraid of my parents' opposition." Layla said her analysis, "You have been so good to me these two days, it is clearly the same as before. Eric, you are afraid of my parents, but I am not. I can persuade them."

"Layla, be more sober." Eric put down the bowl and chopsticks, lost his appetite, and moved his lips. He clearly wanted to say a lot, but in the end, he only said one sentence," ...You deserve a better man."

“What is better? According to my parents, my brother, and my age, a man with outstanding abilities and a distinguished family background is better. Is it right?”

“Yes.” Eric said firmly, “You can do nothing wrong if you listen to your parents. They won’t harm you.”

“Of course they won’t harm me. But they are not me after all. They don’t know what I want.” Layla’s tone was also very firm, “I only know that whoever I am happy with is the one I want to be with. I don’t care if the other party is rich or similar to me in age...”

“You have too little contact with the opposite s-e-x.” Eric made a judgment.

“My parents said the same thing. I also tried to listen to them and meet many men, but the end result is still the same. I can’t talk to those people. Sometimes I wonder if you are a fairy tale I have seen too much. You think that the happy life of the princess and the prince is the end. But in reality, not everyone can be so lucky and find someone who will stay together for a lifetime. I can’t control the future, I just care about my present I like you now, and I want to marry you, even if I am not happy with you in the end, can’t we still separate and start again? Why don’t you give me a chance to try and make mistakes?”

Eric looked at Layla, it felt like she had changed somewhat from before.

Now Layla could make him speechless and overwhelmed.

“You all think of me as a child, whether I am five years old, or fifteen years old, or twenty-five years old now, I will always be a child in your eyes. I know you love me, but I don’t like this kind of love. So I moved out.” Layla said these words, then got up from the sofa and walked towards the bedroom.

Chapter 2677

Eric watched the bedroom door close, and rubbed the space between his brows with his slender fingers.

...

Eozambiulle.

After Chad, Hazel and Mike had breakfast in the hotel restaurant, they went to check out.

They had already seen the aurora, so there was no need to stay in this small town.

Next, they were going to the capital of Eozambiulle.

Mike promised Hazel yesterday that after watching Aurora, he would take her to the capital to play.

Avery said that Hazel had suffered a lot in the past 18 years, and taking her out to play, it was best to go to a prosperous place.

That's what Mike planned too.

In addition, the school that Lucas attended happened to be in the capital of Eozambiulle, so Mike planned to live in the capital after going to the capital. In the afternoon, He could take Hazel to that School.

That School was a noble school, and the tuition fees were so high that ordinary families couldn't afford it.

Lucas didn't dislike Hazel before, and he treated Hazel well, so his character should be good.

However, Hazel didn't want to see him, and said that he would focus on his studies in the future, Mike didn't investigate Lucas's detailed family situation.

After nearly two hours of driving, the car stopped at the entrance of the hotel in the center of the capital.

Mike booked a room in advance, so after arriving at the hotel, he went directly to the front desk to get the room card.

After taking the luggage to the room and putting it down, the three of them went to the restaurant to have lunch.

Mike assigned Chad afternoon tasks.

“You make a guide for the game. It must be fun and interesting.”

Chad: “Yeah.”

“I will take Hazel outside for a walk in the afternoon. I hope to see the guide you made during dinner.” Mike continue.

Chad raised a question mark: “You two go out to play, let me do strategy in the hotel?”

Hazel suppressed a smile. It seemed that Uncle Mike really didn't say anything to Uncle Chad.

Mike: “Yes. Are you dissatisfied?”

Chad saw Hazel smiled, so he held back Mike: “Okay! No problem. We won't eat at the hotel tonight. I'll order a restaurant outside, and we'll eat something good. “ “Uncle Chad, thank you for your hard work!” Hazel said sweetly.

“It's not hard, but don't you take a nap?” Chad asked.

Hazel: “I'm not sleepy.”

She didn't have the habit of taking a nap at first, but now that she came to Eozambiulle, she felt that she was very close to Lucas, so she wasn't sleepy anymore.

Mike: “I've never been sleepy. So you go to bed after dinner, and Hazel and I will go out for a stroll.”

Chad: “Okay.”

After lunch, Mike took Hazel to the hotel entrance so they could stop a taxi and go to that noble school.

Chapter 2678

“Can we go in?” Hazel was a little uneasy.

Mike laughed and said, "Theoretically, tourists can't go in casually, but we just need to register."

Hazel: "Oh...Uncle Mike, do you know anyone there?"

"No." Mike said. "But the guard doesn't know. Don't talk later, just follow me. I promise to take you in."

Hazel looked at the confident expression on Mike's face and trusted him.

Mike was embarrassed by Hazel's look, and touched his face, "Are you afraid that I will speak big?"

"Of course not. I think you are very powerful. You are different from my father and brother." Hazel said from the bottom of my heart.

"Can there be different types of prowess?" After Mike asked, he suddenly understood, "Do you think I am better at crooked ways?"

Hazel couldn't help laughing: "Why is this crooked way? We don't do bad things?"

Mike: "Actually, you're right. I'm really different from your father. I just like to think about messy things..."

"I think it's quite interesting." Hazel sincerely praised, "As long as I don't do bad things."

"Before I met your mother, I was not a good person. Then I met your mother, and your mother took care of me. Later, when I met Chad, he also took care of me...Hey, I like someone to care about me."

"Because it means someone cares about me." Hazel and Mike felt the same way, "Who doesn't like someone who cares about you?"

Mike: "Hazel, someone will always care about you in the future "

Hazel: "Yes!"

Half an hour later, the car stopped at the magnificent gate of the School.

After Mike and Hazel got off the car, they walked directly towards the gate.

“I have an appointment with Professor Niggin. He’s in a meeting right now, so let’s just register here and go in.” Mike lied to the security guard at the door without blushing.

The security guard gave Mike a serious look.

Probably because Mike was well-dressed and had an unusual temperament, so the security guard didn’t question anything.

After all, Professor Niggin might really be in a meeting right now.

There was no way for him to call Professor Niggin to confirm.

The security guy pulled out the registration book and told Mike to fill it out.

Mike turned his head and smiled at Hazel, then quickly wrote down the message.

After the registration was over, Mike took Hazel into the campus smoothly.

Hazel breathed a sigh of relief, and said, “Uncle Mike, is there really Professor Niggin in this school?”

“Yes! And he is a relatively famous professor in this school. The security guard should know.” Mike put his hands in his pockets, with a smug expression on his face. Laughing, “Professor Niggin is indeed in a meeting right now.”

Hazel gave Mike a thumbs up: “Uncle Mike, you are too good! You can even make up a complete story when you lie. True and false, It’s so unpredictable.”

“Hahaha! We can’t treat people as fools, can we?” Mike said, walked to the side, and looked at the guide map.

Hazel also walked over.

“This school is quite old. Look at these buildings, they were basically built in the last century.” Mike explained to Hazel while looking at the map.

“Well, I think the stone bricks on the ground also have a sense of age.” Hazel said, “It’s very beautiful here. Going to school here will increase your happiness.”

“That’s because you are easy to be satisfied.” Mike read the map, took Hazel to the side road, “Let’s go around first, then go inside and walk around again, and we can almost see this school.”

“Yeah. I’ll take a photo.” Hazel took out her phone and pressed the shutter on a building in front of her.

“I knew I would bring a drone!” Mike said, “It will look better if you use a drone to take pictures.”

Hazel: “Will others let us use a drone?”

Mike: “We are all in, no one cares that we’re here.”

“I’ll just take a few photos as a reminder.” Hazel didn’t have too high requirements for the photos, she came here just to fulfill her little wish in her heart, and now she has been fulfilled.

“Would you like me to help you?” Mike asked.

Hazel: “No need! I don’t want my parents to know that I’m here.”

The main reason was that She didn’t want her parents to know the existence of Lucas.

Because she was Hazel now, she didn’t want her parents to think that she still wanted to have anything to do with the past.

Chapter 2679

The two walked leisurely all the way. After walking for about twenty minutes, Mike stopped.

“Hazel, look over there.”

In the direction Mike pointed, there was a big tree.

The big tree grew thick and strong, but it wasn’t particularly tall.

There were many small signs hanging on the branches of the tree.

“Hahaha! Superstition knows no country.” Mike led Hazel towards the tree.

Not far from that tree, there was even a pavilion.

The plaque above the pavilion said Wishing Pavilion.

Correspondingly, that big tree was called the wish tree.

Everyone wrote down their wishes, hung them on the wish tree, and prayed for blessings.

Mike walked under the big tree and took a few signs to see everyone’s wishes.

“Uh...do not fail the exam.”

“Catch up with the male god.”

“Successfully lose weight!”

“Get rich!”

After reading the wishes of several people, Mike couldn’t help but asked Hazel with a smile: “Do you want to write down your wish too? What if this broken tree comes true?”

“I don’t seem to have any wish. I feel that I am the happiest person in the world now. If I make another wish Any wish feels like greed.” Hazel thought for a while and found that she really didn’t have any wish.

In the future, let nature take its course.

She’ll finish college well, and do career planning after college.

“It doesn’t have to be a wish. You can also write down what you want to say, or what you want to say to your friend... What if your friend sees it someday in the future? Right!” Mike said, seeing Hazel didn’t object immediately, so he walked towards the pavilion.

There was a machine at the kiosk that automatically sold wish tokens.

Mike took out his wallet, took out a coin and put it in the coin slot of the machine. Soon, a wish card fell out.

Mike took the wish card and handed it to Hazel.

The pen was on the table and was free.

“I don’t want to read it, you write it!” Mike said, walking away a few steps.

Hazel held the wish card, hesitated for a few seconds, and picked up the pen.

She did have something to say to Lucas.

But she didn’t necessarily want Lucas to see these words.

Let’s use this wish card as an emotional outlet!

Ten minutes later, she finished writing and walked to Mike with the wish card.

“Where do you want to hang it? Higher or lower?” Mike asked.

Hazel blushed slightly: “I want to hang it higher, so that no one can see it.”

She remembered the scene where Mike read someone else’s wish just now. It would be a shame if her wish was read out so casually by others.

Mike glanced at the top of the tree.

He couldn’t reach it.

He could either use a ladder or climb a tree. But there were no ladders, and climbing trees was afraid of being hit...

Mike’s brain was running at high speed, and soon he thought of an excellent place.

“Hazel, don’t you want people to see your wish card?” Mike asked.

Hazel nodded.

“Then we don’t hang here anymore. I know there is a good place.” Mike led Hazel away from the wishing booth.

Chapter 2680

“What a good place?” Hazel asked curiously.

“Let’s go to the administration building.” Mike replied.

Hazel: “Ah? Administrative building? Are you going to the administrative building?”

“No. Let’s go to the principal’s suggestion box.”

Hazel immediately understood Mike’s thoughts: “Uncle Mike, you want me to put this in the principal’s opinion Box?!”

Mike: “That’s right! Let me tell you, the principal’s suggestion box is just a decoration. Even if someone writes a prank letter and throws it in, no staff will open it.”

Hazel thought what Mike said was a little bit reason.

After all, Mike’s expression and tone were so determined. Mike was so much older and had more experience. Listening to him, it should be right.

So the two went to the administration building.

Outside the principal’s office in the administration building, there was a principal’s suggestion box.

Mike snapped his fingers proudly, then took the wish card from Hazel’s hand, and delivered it into the principal’s suggestion box.

When he heard the sound of ‘Boom’, Mike laughed and said: “I’ll just say it! This is just a decoration. There is no letter of opinion in it.”

Hazel nodded: “Uncle Mike, you are so amazing! You can think of this place.”

Mike: “Hahaha! Your mother always said that my brain circuit is different from normal people.”

Hazel: “But I think your brain circuit is very interesting. It’s very fun to be with you.”

“After that, you will have a long vacation and You can find me in Bridgedale.”

“Okay! My eldest brother is also in Bridgedale. When my studies are stable, I will visit you if I have time off.”

“Okay.”

A week later.

Hazel finished her tour in Eozambiulle, and set foot on the flight back home with Mike and the others.

At the same time, Lucas's cell phone rang.

He picked up the phone and saw that it was an unfamiliar call, but it was a number from Eozambiulle.

He answered the phone, and a woman's voice came: "Are you Lucas? I am Anna, the supervisor of the Student Affairs Department."

Lucas frowned slightly: "Hello, what can I do?"

"Can you come to the Student Affairs Department? The principal's secretary gave me something and asked me to pass it on to you. And there are some things I have to say to you face to face." Anna's words aroused Lucas's curiosity.

Lucas had been in school for several months, and his life had been quite peaceful.

He was not very gregarious, and basically stayed in the dormitory except for classes. He's rarely participating in various club activities and private gatherings among classmates.

He closed his notebook and came out of the dormitory.

There was a special place for bicycles at the entrance of the dormitory.

He pushed his bicycle out, then checked his phone to see where the Student Affairs Department was.

About ten minutes later, he came to the Student Affairs Department.

When Anna saw him, she warmly asked him to sit down.

"This is from your friend." Anna picked up a wish card from the table and handed it to Lucas, "I checked and you are a freshman this year. You know that our school has a wish tree, right? It's a very old tree.”

Lucas shook his head while taking the wish card.

He passed the wish tree many times by bicycle, but never stopped.

So he didn't know what wish tree was.

“Oh, I bought this brand at the wish booth in the school, and it can be hung on the wish tree. However, your friend delivered this brand to the principal's suggestion box.” Anna shrugged, “Of course, this brand may also be Someone took it from the wish tree and delivered it to the principal's suggestion box as a prank.”

“The principal's secretary asked me to give you this wish card, so that you can ask your friend whether she did it on purpose or was it pranked by someone else. If so On purpose, then tell her not to do it again in the future. The principal's suggestion box is for submitting opinions, not a wish box!” Anna conveyed the words of the principal's secretary to Lucas.

Lucas stared at the words on the wish card, dazed.

What was written on it was—— To: Young Master, I'm here to see you. You have to take care of yourself! I hope you are happy every day. []

Chapter 2681

“By the way, there is no signature on this wish post. Go back and ask which friend of yours wrote it.” Anna continued.

Lucas held the wish sticker tightly in his palm.

This was written by Siena.

Although she didn't sign it, Lucas knew it was Siena.

Because only Siena called him young master.

But wasn't Siena already dead?

When did she come here and write this wish post?

Before she died?

“Director, can I ask you how often the principal’s suggestion box is opened?”

Lucas asked, rolling his Adam’s apple.

Anna shook her head: “I don’t know about this either. How about I call and ask?”

“Then I will trouble you.”

Anna picked up the phone, found the number of the principal’s secretary and dialed it.

After the call was made, Anna asked Lucas’s question.

The other party replied: “This is irregular. It mainly depends on whether I am busy with work. Sometimes it is once a month, and sometimes it is once every two months. It will not exceed three months at the latest.”

This answer made Lucas a little hope that rose in his heart was shattered.

Might be this was really what Siena came to write to him before she died.

But, why did Siena deliver the wish card to the principal’s suggestion box?

Did she think that by posting it in the principal’s suggestion box, Lucas could see it?

It must be so.

If she hung the wish card on the wish tree, then it was impossible for Lucas to see her wish card in his life.

Thinking of Siena’s good intentions, Lucas’s eyes couldn’t stop getting moist.

“Lucas, why are you crying?” Seeing this, Anna immediately handed him a tissue.

He was seldom talkative, and he didn’t like to talk to teachers or classmates.

It was even more impossible for outsiders to speak their minds.

But at this moment, he couldn’t help the grief in his heart.

“She’s dead.” When Lucas said this, tears rolled down from the corner of his eyes.

Thinking of Siena coming all the way here to write this wish card before she died, his psychological defense collapsed.

He regretted it.

He regretted that he shouldn't have been so fierce to her before.

He regretted not letting her take him to the airport before.

If he knew in advance that her life was running out, he would listen to her nagging patiently and say goodbye to her.

...

Aryadelle.

After the tour, Hazel began to adjust her mentality and prepare for college life.

The night before Hazel went to report at the university, Layla went home for dinner and had a heart-to-heart talk with Hazel.

"When you first arrived at university, you don't know everyone, but don't worry, you will definitely make good friends with similar interests."

Hazel: "Okay."

She felt that if other students could adapt, she must be able to.

"By the way, didn't Uncle Mike and Uncle Chad give you a house? You definitely don't have time to pay attention to decoration and the like. When I'm free, I'll go to Bridgedale to help you take a look." Layla said, "I'll take care of the soft packing."

"Sister, aren't you very busy with work? You don't need to bother yourself with such trivial matters. Uncle Mike and the others will definitely fix it." Hazel didn't know that Layla wanted to go to Bridgedale for another matter.

Chapter 2682

"How can this be troublesome! I often go to Bridgedale." Layla laughed, "The traffic is so convenient, if you want to go there, just go there. I will go to see your house, and I will also go to see my brother!"

"Oh... good! It's a pity that I can't run around before the winter vacation."

"Isn't there a long holiday on New Year's Day?" Layla said, "You can go to play on New Year's Day! Then your house Pretend it too."

"New Year's Day is only a few days away, right?"

"You can ask for a few more days off."

Hazel shook her head: "I'll go to see Big Brother again during the winter vacation. Anyway, the winter vacation will not be long after New Year's Day."

"That's okay too! I'll take a video for you then." Layla smiled, "Are you sure you won't let our parents send you to university tomorrow?"

During dinner, they chatted about this topic.

Hazel said that it would be good to let the driver take her to university tomorrow. She would not be staying on campus for the time being, and after reporting, she would probably be able to go home.

"If Mom and Dad go, what if someone recognizes them?" Hazel smiled awkwardly, "I don't want to become a famous person in university before I go to university. There are not many people in Avonsville who don't know Dad's face!"

"Hahaha! Mom is much more low-key, you can ask Mom to take you there!"

Layla said, "Or let them both wear masks so that others can't recognize. The two of them really want to send you to University."

"Sister, when you were in University, were your parents also sending you there?" Hazel asked.

"That's right! I didn't live on campus. If I didn't live on campus, I would actually save a lot of things... I remember when I went to report at the University, I walked around the University and came back." Layla laughed.

“Don’t you have to pay tuition or something?” Hazel asked.

“When I received the admission notice, there was a card in it. If you recharge it in advance, the University will automatically deduct the tuition fee.” Layla recalled the situation at that time, “There are also some miscellaneous procedures, such as applying for a campus card. Yes, it was my father’s assistant who helped me run the errands. I didn’t do anything anyway. If you don’t want your parents to wear masks, you can wear a mask yourself. Then others won’t recognize who you are.”

Hazel couldn’t help laughing : “What a good way.”

The next day.

Elliot and Avery accompanied Hazel to the university to report.

Nantah(N) University was a key university in Avonsville, and the broadcasting and hosting major of this university was relatively strong.

This was also the main reason why Hazel chose this University.

Knowing that her daughter didn’t want to be too high-profile, Avery prepared masks for herself and Elliot.

After the car arrived at the University, Avery and Elliot put on masks consciously.

Hazel didn’t ask her parents to wear masks. Because she prepared the mask herself.

Now that her Mom and Dad were wearing masks, she felt a little embarrassed.

“Hazel, I discussed it with your father last night. Because your University is indeed a bit far away from home. If you sometimes have classes at night, or there are activities at University at night, it may be troublesome to go home, so Your father and I want to buy you a house outside the University.”

Avery held Hazel’s hand and told Hazel what they thought.

Hazel was stunned for a moment.

Buy house?

Others started University to pay tuition fees, but she started University to buy a house?

“Let’s go to the University first to get familiar with the University environment.”

Seeing Hazel in a daze, Elliot said softly, “Next time, you will come to University by yourself. If you have anything to do, you must tell us.”

Hazel nodded, “Dad, have you paid the tuition?”

Elliot: “Yeah. It’s all done. We’re here today to get acquainted with the University.”

Hazel remembered what Layla said last night.

It was exactly as Layla said.

Immediately after entering the University, a strange male trotted towards them.

Chapter 2683

“Mr. Foster, the tour bus is here. There are a lot of people in the University today, so it may take a little longer to finish the tour.”

Hazel: “...”

Looking at the busy students of the same age on campus, but sitting in the tour bus, it seemed that she was here for sightseeing.

The man driving the tour bus should be a staff member on campus.

While driving, he explained to them.

Hazel listened carefully, after all, this was where she would spend the next three years.

After about half an hour, they finished a rough tour of the University. The staff asked if they wanted to take them for a walk.

Hazel immediately said, “Uncle, we can go shopping by ourselves. Thank you for your hard work.”

Seeing Hazel say that, Elliot asked the staff to leave.

“Mom, there are cold drinks sold there.” Hazel was a little thirsty.

Today the temperature was quite high and the sun was quite bright. At this point, the temperature was high.

Avery looked towards the beverage store, and there were many students buying cold drinks there.

“If you want to drink, go buy it!” Avery said.

“Mom, do you want to drink?”

“Mom just drinks water.” Avery had a bottle of water in his hand.

“I actually want to eat ice cream more.” Hazel smiled and said what was in her heart, “Mom, do you want to eat it?”

Avery glanced at Elliot, then took Hazel's hand and walked towards the cold drink shop.

Elliot definitely wouldn't eat ice cream.

Avery didn't like eating ice much either. But she saw Hazel was interested, so she ate with her.

After a while, Avery and Hazel walked up to Elliot with an ice cream.

“It's almost time to see the University. It's a little early for lunch now. How about we go and see the house?” Avery said to her daughter, “Your father saw a few houses near your University last night, and made an appointment to see the house today.”

“Ah? Already have an appointment?” Hazel didn't expect them to act so fast.

“Yeah! It's just outside the University, very close. Let's go and have a look before we decide whether to buy it or not.” Avery added, “It's good for you to live here once in a while, so you don't get too tired from running back and forth.”

“I think it's too waste of money.” Hazel said shyly.

“The location of your University is a bit remote, and the housing prices here are quite cheap.” Avery said, “I also checked last night, and it’s not expensive. You don’t have to worry about money. It’s more important than anything else for you to go to University with peace of mind.”

“Mom and Dad, you are so kind to me. I always feel like I am dreaming.” Hazel held Avery’s arm, sniffed, and then took a bite of the ice cream.

The ice was cold and had a sweet taste, filling the whole body.

“You are our daughter, of course we want to love you.”

The three came out of University and drove to see the house.

Elliot took a fancy to three houses last night.

The first house was the closest and the newest community to the University.

He took a fancy to a well-decorated 110-square-meter apartment inside.

The second house was a little farther away from the University. It was a townhouse with a slightly better living environment.

The third house was the farthest from the University, but it was a detached villa, very close to the sea, with the best environment. The biggest disadvantage was that it was far from the University.

Avery felt that her daughter would probably choose the first one.

Chapter 2684

Sure enough, after they looked at the first house, Hazel already had a satisfied expression on her face.

“Mom, how much is this house? I think it’s a bit big. I can’t live in such a big house alone. It would be great if I had a smaller house.”

Elliot listened to Hazel’s words, embarrassed and at a loss.

“Hahaha, this house is not too big. The housing price here is cheap, and the area of the house is generally larger. There are more than 130 square meters in this community, and more than 150 square meters! The one I chose for you is already smallest.” Avery said.

The agent didn’t seem to understand the meaning of Avery’s words, and immediately said: “There are still 56 square meters of apartment in this community. This apartment is usually rented to students from Nantah University.”

After the agent said this, Avery, Elliot and Hazel had completely different expressions on their faces.

“Mom, the agent said that there is a 56-square-meter apartment! Let’s go and see the 56-square-meter apartment!” Hazel said excitedly.

Avery didn’t have time to speak, but Elliot spoke first: “Baby, 56-square-meter is too small. If mom and dad come here to see you one day, there’s not even a place to stay. Don’t you think so?”

Hazel was stunned for a moment.

Since Elliot said so, it was indeed not good to buy a place that was too small.

But a 56-square-meter house didn’t mean that parents didn’t even have a place to stay, right?

Hazel secretly took a look at Elliot. Her father was different from other people’s fathers.

Maybe the area of 56-square-meter would make Dad feel uncomfortable, right?

In this case, it was better to listen to Dad.

“Then let’s go and see the second set!” Hazel wanted to see what the second set was like.

Seeing that Hazel thought 110 square meter was too big, Avery felt that there was really no need to watch the next two sets.

“The other two houses your father chose for you are both villas. And they are farther away from the University.” Avery explained the advantages and disadvantages to Hazel first.

When Hazel heard that it was a villa, she stopped immediately.

“Then let’s do this!” Hazel didn’t even think about it, and directly decided to want this 110 square meter.

It was too big just now, compared with the villa, it must be smaller.

“Don’t you really want to take a look?” Elliot wanted to take Hazel to have a look. “It doesn’t matter the size of the house, it mainly depends on how the living environment is. That single-family house can see the sea when you go out.

Although it is a little far from your University, but I can provide you with a driver.

The distance is not a problem at all.”

Hazel shook her head and refused without thinking: “I bought a house near the University, just to live here occasionally. It really doesn’t have to be so troublesome. I can go home and live at home.”

Elliot was particularly moved by Hazel’s words.

Hazel said that if she could go home, she still wanted to go home.

Elliot immediately took out his card and decided to buy this 110-square-meter house.

Before 12 o’clock at noon, they paid the money, signed the purchase contract, and got the keys to the house.

After doing all this, Elliot took Avery and Hazel to lunch.

Because Avery said she was hungry, they chose a restaurant near the University for lunch.

After ordering, Hazel sent a message to Layla: [Sister, you must have never imagined that Dad bought me a house near the University.]

Layla: [Hahaha! Because your University is too far away from home. I’m afraid you come home too late sometimes, aren't you?]

Hazel: [Yes! I feel that mom and dad buy a house as casually as others buy cabbage.]

Layla: [Just get used to it. What is the difference between making money and not spending it and waste paper? Spend more money to boost GDP.]

Hazel: [Sister, are you used to living outside now?]

Layla: [I'm used to it. The first week is much better.]

Hazel: [Mmmmm! After dinner, we will go home. Report today, a lot of people! I feel the most relaxed.]

Layla: [Do you want to come to my company? I send you a drone. You haven't played it yet, have you?]

Hazel: [No. But I still won't go to your company. Afraid of disturbing your work. If you want to send me a drone, bring it back on Friday night!]

Layla: [I can get the driver to drive you home right now.]

Hazel: [Thank you sister!]

Layla: [In fact, there are drones at home, but they are all old models. I will send you the latest model. You can let our parents teach you how to use it.]

Chapter 2685

Hazel: [Okay.]

"Who are you sending messages to?" Avery asked Hazel with a smile, "Here comes your favorite cold preserved egg."

Hazel liked to eat preserved eggs, as well as coriander.

So when ordering just now, Avery told the waiter to put coriander in the preserved egg.

Hazel: "Send a message to my sister. My sister said she would give me a drone."

“Oh, yes! I will teach you how to use it later.” Avery took the initiative.

“Hmm!”

In the blink of an eye, half a month passed.

Hazel had fully adapted to university life during the half month.

At 2:30 this afternoon, she went to an elective class with her classmates.

Her elective course, she chose music.

It's not that she liked music so much, but that she liked music more than art.

After entering the music classroom, she opened the music textbooks casually.

Not long after, the class bell rang.

The door of the music classroom was pushed open, and a tall man walked in.

“Ahhh!” There was a burst of exclamation in the classroom, “Eric!”

Hazel stretched out her hands to cover her ears, and looked forward at the same time.

Why was Eric there?

Hazel knew Eric, but this was the first time seeing a real person.

Eric was a very famous artist. Hazel had heard his songs and watched the TV series he acted in.

She saw that Eric stood still on the podium in front of him, and raised his hand to the audience: “Hello, everyone, because your music teacher is sick and asked for leave, so today's class is for you. Come on.

There was another burst of exclamation from the audience!

“Eric! I like you so much! I am your fan!”

“I am also your fan! Can I take a photo with you after class? It would be even better if I can get your autograph!”

.. ...

Eric: “We'll talk about it after class is over. Now let's go to class first.”

Eric's eyes swept across the audience.

Because 99% of the students showed abnormal excitement, Hazel, who was relatively calm, was highlighted.

Eric's gaze stayed on Hazel's face for two seconds.

The more he looked at her, the more familiar she looked.

Originally, he wasn't going to roll the roll, but he picked up the roll reflexively.

On the roster, he suddenly saw a name that was not unfamiliar... Hazel Foster!

—Hazel Foster!

If his memory hadn't been confused, Avery and Elliot had a missing daughter named Hazel Foster.

The calmness on Eric's face was broken. He stared at the roster for a few seconds, and at the same time, it sounded in his mind that Layla had told him a few days ago that a major event had happened at home.

Could it be that this big event was...Hazel Foster's back?!

Eric originally wanted to roll the roll to confirm whether the girl in the audience was Hazel Foster.

But he took the lead in stepping down and came to Hazel.

He picked up the music textbook on Hazel's desk and opened it.

Her name was impressively written on the title page – Hazel Foster.

Chapter 2686

In the classroom, everyone was looking at Eric.

Because Eric was standing in front of Hazel, everyone's eyes fell on Hazel.

Why did Eric suddenly stop in front of Hazel?

Why did he pick up Hazel's book?

Could it be, did they know each other?

Eric quickly came back to his senses, and realized that his behavior was a little abrupt, he immediately held up the book and explained to the students: "I forgot to bring the textbook." Then he lowered his eyes and asked Hazel: "Can I borrow it?" Do I use your book?"

Hazel nodded.

After speaking, he took Hazel's book and strode towards the podium.

"Teacher, my book can also be used by you!" A female student said.

Eric: "One book is enough. Alright, let's start class."

The students sitting next to Hazel whispered to her: "I thought you knew Eric!"

Hazel smiled, shook her head.

"But my textbook is also taken out, why didn't he ask me to borrow it?" The female student sighed regretfully.

Hazel: "Maybe he just saw mine!"

"Oh... you are so lucky. There is a faint fragrance on Eric's body... your books will change in a moment...It's become fragrant."

Hazel: "..."

When Eric was lecturing on the stage, many students below secretly took out their mobile phones and secretly took pictures.

Hazel thought it was quite interesting, but she resisted the idea of secretly taking pictures with her mobile phone.

Some of Eric's music knowledge could be understood by Hazel, and some Hazel couldn't understand, but no matter whether she understood it or not, she listened very seriously After Eric talked for a while, he sat down in front of the piano next to him. The slender fingers danced on the keys, and pleasant notes fluttered out.

Some female students couldn't help but let out a low cry of excitement.

Eric's every move was extremely elegant.

Hazel quietly watched him playing the piano.

After the song was over, Eric invited students to play the piano.

Hazel didn't know how to play the piano, so she didn't raise her hand.

Eric invited a male student and a female student to come on stage.

The classroom atmosphere was relatively relaxed throughout, and soon, the bell rang for the end of get out of class.

"Mr. Eric! Can we take a group photo? A group photo is also fine!" The female student was afraid that Eric would leave, so she immediately asked.

The other students followed suit.

Eric took Hazel's textbook and walked up to Hazel's seat: "Thank you."

Hazel: "You're welcome."

Hazel took the book and really smelled a faint fragrance.

The scent was not overly fragrant, but it was also impossible to ignore.

This scent was a bit like the smell of sunshine.

She wanted to describe it, but she couldn't. "Mr. Eric, please! Take a photo with us! I really like you so much!" A girl chased after Eric and begged.

Eric smiled at Hazel, then turned to take pictures with other students.

Hazel didn't go over to take pictures.

Because the podium was already full of people.

Hazel put the textbooks into her schoolbag and left the classroom.

It was strange to say that Eric's gentle smile still appeared in her mind even though she had already walked out of the classroom.

Did Mr. Eric treat everyone like this? No wonder so many people liked him.

In the evening, the driver came to the school to pick up Hazel.

After Hazel got into the car, he chatted with the driver.

"A big star came to our school today."

The driver asked, "Which big star?"

“Eric, you must have heard of it, right?”

The driver laughed when he heard Eric’s name: “I’ve heard his name, and I’ve seen him before! He and your mother are friends!”

Chapter 2687

The smile on Hazel’s face froze suddenly.

Eric and his mother are friends.

Then Eric asked her to borrow books today, was it possible that he recognized her?

Hazel immediately opened her schoolbag, took out her music textbook, and opened it she patted herself on the head!

On the title page of the textbook, Eric left her a message.

Eric said he wanted to meet her privately, and he left a number on it.

This should be Eric’s number.

“Please stop the car.” Hazel immediately said to the driver.

The car had just been driven, not far away.

Hazel got off the car and dialed the number on the textbook.

Soon, the phone was connected, and Eric’s voice came: “Hello.”

“Mr.Eric, I’m sorry, I just saw what you wrote in my book.” Hazel said blushing.

“Are you still in school?” Eric said with a smile.

“Well, I’m at the school gate now.”

“Okay, I’ll go find you. I’ll be there in about ten minutes.” Eric said to Hazel after checking the time.

“Okay.”

After talking on the phone, Hazel saw the driver walking towards him.

“Uncle, I’ll go back later.”

“Oh, what’s the matter?” the driver asked.

“Eric asked me to meet.” Hazel couldn’t hide it, so she said directly, “Don’t tell my parents first. I’ll see what he wants to do with me.”

The driver nodded with a smile: “Okay. I won’t tell anyone.”

Because The driver knew that Eric was a good person, he wasn’t worried that something unpleasant would happen when Hazel and Eric met.

Ten minutes later, a black car stopped in front of Hazel.

The car window fell, and Eric’s face appeared in front of Hazel.

“Hazel, I’ll treat you to dinner.” Eric said.

This point was dinner time, and there were students everywhere outside.

In order to avoid unnecessary trouble, Eric didn’t get out of the car.

After he sent out the dinner invitation, Hazel readily agreed.

Hazel opened the door of the passenger seat and got into the car.

After the car drove out, The driver immediately drove to keep up.

“The car behind is my driver.” Hazel explained to Eric.

Eric smiled and said, “I’ve seen him.”

“Oh...I didn’t know you and my mother were friends!”

“I see. I only saw you after seeing that my guess was your parents brought you back.” Eric was in a good mood, “Your parents didn’t tell me about it.”

“Maybe it’s because I told my parents not to tell too much about it.” Hazel tried to find love for Eric.

“It’s better to keep a low profile. Otherwise, you won’t be able to go to school well.”

“Well, Mr. Eric, can I tell my parents about the dinner I had with you?” Hazel asked, “I’ll be late when I go back later, Mom will ask me.”

In fact, Hazel could choose to lie, saying that something happened at school, but Hazel didn’t want to lie to her mother.

“Of course. I’ll call your mother now.” Eric said, put on the bluetooth headset, and dialed Avery.

The call got through quickly.

“Aery, I met Hazel today. I’ll take her to dinner now, is that okay?” Eric confessed.

Avery was very surprised: “How did you meet?”

“I came to Nantah University today to help a friend take a class, and it happened that Hazel took this class. I saw her name, so I recognized her.” Eric replied.

“That’s such a coincidence.” Avery also smiled, “As long as she agrees to have dinner with you, it’s fine.”

“Well. She’s in my car now. After dinner, I’ll take her back home.”

“Okay.”

After talking on the phone, Eric took off his earphones.

Chapter 2688

“I made an appointment with your mother.

“Mr. Eric, do you specialize in teaching now?”

Eric said with a smile: “I am retired now, and teaching is just a small hobby of mine. There are not many classes every week.”

“Oh, what a coincidence today!”

Eric didn’t take music class, if the teacher didn’t ask for leave, then she and Eric wouldn’t be able to see each other.

“Indeed. Today is such a coincidence. When I saw your name in the textbook, I thought I was dreaming.” Having said that, Eric asked, “When did you return to Foster’s house?”

Hazel: “Just this summer vacation.”

Eric: "How are you getting along with your family?"

Hazel: "Yes. They love me very much. They treat me very well."

Eric asked again: "How are you getting along with your older brothers and sisters?"

"I stayed at home for a while! The second brother Robert and sister Layla are also very kind to me. Everyone is very kind to me."

"That's good. Your parents must be very happy! They have found you. They never gave up on you." Eric could almost imagine how happy Elliot and Avery would be.

"I'm so lucky to be their daughter. In the future, I must be filial to them." Hazel said with emotion.

"You are very sensible. Why did you choose to study at Nantah University?"

"I liked a host very much before. I just didn't know what major to study, so I wanted to learn broadcasting and hosting. Nantah University is a better major, so I came here."

Eric: "Quite assertive."

Hazel: "The main reason is that my parents are more open-minded, and they respect my ideas."

When Hazel talked about this, she was still very grateful, "At first they wanted me to go to the school of my second brother Robert, and to be in the same school as my second brother."

Eric: "Well, if you go to school here alone, your parents will definitely be worried."

Hazel: "I go home after school every day. They are not as worried as before."

"What do you want to eat?" Eric asked.

"Whatever! I'm not picky eaters. I can eat anything." Hazel looked at the scenery outside.

The car drove all the way from the suburbs to the bustling area, and Eric finally parked the car in front of a barbecue restaurant.

“How about eating barbecue?”

“Yes!” Hazel replied with a smile, “Mr. Eric, your skin is so good, I thought you usually eat very light!”

Eric blushed when she praised him.

After the two entered the barbecue restaurant, they asked for a private room.

Eric must have been here before, so he didn’t even look at the menu and started ordering directly.

“Do you really have no taboos?” After Eric ordered the meal, he confirmed with Hazel again.

“I can eat anything. My sister is allergic to peanuts, but I don’t seem to have any allergies...” Hazel thought it might have something to do with her rough life since she was a child.

“You also know that your sister is allergic to peanuts.” Eric smiled.

“I know! My sister and I have a very good relationship.” After Hazel finished speaking, the phone rang.

It’s Layla.

Layla went home for dinner tonight. She had waited for Hazel to come back to eat together, but Hazel didn’t come back.

When Layla asked Avery why Hazel hadn’t come back, Avery hesitated and said nothing.

Layla thought it was too suspicious, so a video call was sent to Hazel.

“My sister is here to make a video call for me.” Hazel picked up the phone, said to Eric, and then answered the video call, “Sister.”

“Little sister, why haven’t you come back yet? Are you missing tonight? Class? I bought something nice to show you, when will you come back?” After finishing speaking, Layla saw that Hazel seemed to be outside, so she asked, “Where are you? A barbecue restaurant?”

Layla saw posters on the wall of the private room.

Hazel responded, and confessed honestly: “Sister, I have a music class today, and the teacher is Mr.Eric. I am with him now, and he treats me to dinner.”

Layla heard Eric’s name, her face was full of tears. The relaxed expression disappeared.

“He invited you to eat barbecue? Why didn’t he call me?” Layla said deliberately.

Chapter 2689

Layla: “Send you the location.”

“Forget it! They didn’t call me.”

Eric heard Layla’s unhappy tone, so he reached out to Hazel for a cell phone.

Hazel didn’t think much, and immediately handed the phone to Eric.

“Hazel and I ate near her school, and you’re quite far. So I didn’t call you.” Eric patiently explained.

“Why are you inviting my sister to dinner?” Layla said with a needle in her voice,

“My sister doesn’t know you at all and she doesn’t know about the two of us...”

Hazel heard her sister’s words.

After the sentence, She immediately had a melon-eating expression on her face.

Sister and Mr. Eric...had a story?

“I just invited your sister to dinner, I didn’t talk nonsense to her.” Eric blushed, a little embarrassed, so he changed the subject, “Have you eaten yet?”

“No! But I-I’m going to eat. Hang up.” Layla hung up the video call.

Eric returned the phone to Hazel.

Hazel took the phone and put it on the table, feeling uneasy.

Before knowing these things, Hazel was quite calm, but now she felt weird.

“Your sister and I... are not what you think... I watched her grow up, so I have a good relationship with her.” Eric bit the bullet and forcefully explained.

“Oh, you guys have a good relationship, but my sister didn’t tell you that I’m back at Foster’s house.” Hazel broke down.

Eric was even more embarrassed.

At this time, the waiter pushed the dining car in and put the dishes they ordered aside.

Eric picked up the juice jug and poured juice for Hazel.

At this time, the screen of Hazel's phone lit up.

Layla sent a message: [What did he tell you? you can send me a live message to tell me.]

Hazel: [OK. He just said that you two have a good relationship.]

Layla: [Huh.]

Hazel: [Sis, do you like him?]

Layla: [Mmm. I confessed to him and he rejected me. In order to make me give up, he quickly found a girlfriend.]

Hazel: [That’s too bad.]

Layla: [Please help me and ask him and his girlfriend what’s going on.]

Hazel: [OK.]

Eric saw Hazel keep sending messages, but didn’t say anything.

He could guess who she was messaging.

“Mr. Eric, When do you and your girlfriend plan to get married?” Hazel put down her phone and asked obediently.

Eric: "Your sister asked you to ask?"

Hazel took a sip of juice from the juice cup: "hmm."

"Hazel, go back and persuade your sister not to be too horny." Eric didn't answer the question, but said earnestly, "I'm too different from her, it's not suitable."

"What's the difference?" Hazel could feel that her sister liked Eric very much, so she wanted to find out why thing.

"Age gap."

"Oh...you can't tell! You look quite young." Hazel stared at Eric for a while, then said with a smile.

"Your parents won't allow me to be with her. I don't want to see her falling out with the family because of this."

"Okay, I will persuade her when I go back." Hazel said in a low voice, "I don't think the age gap is a problem."

"I don't have a good relationship with your father." Eric said the deeper reason, "Your mother saved my life. At that time, your father and your mother often quarreled. I don't want to see your mother suffer, so I want to protect her. Maybe my way is too clumsy; your father regards me as a rival in love, and I also regard him as an enemy."

Chapter 2690

Hazel didn't expect things to be so complicated, and felt a little tricky all of a sudden.

"Then why does my sister like you so much?" Hazel was puzzled.

If Eric had a bad relationship with Elliot, shouldn't Layla stand by Elliot?

"I just said that they always quarreled at that time. Hayden and Layla were relatively young at that time. When they were on winter and summer vacation, Hayden would follow your uncle, Mike, and Layla would follow me.” Eric recalled and the corners of his mouth twitched at these past events, “Later, after your father and your mother completely reconciled, the relationship between me and your father was not so rigid.”

Hazel nodded: “So, you and my sister spent a lot of time together. Long, so my sister should have liked you since she was a child. What about you? Do you like my sister?”

“Of course I like your sister. But what I mean by liking is not the kind of love between a man and a woman. A beautiful girl like your sister, is destined to be liked by people. No matter if they are younger than her, or the same age as her, or elders, as long as they see her, they will basically like her very much.”

Hazel agreed with this point.

Hazel: “My sister is not only beautiful, but also has a good personality. If I were a man, I would like her too.”

“Yes.” Eric took the tweezers and concentrated on grilling the meat.

Hazel suddenly thought of another question: “Mr. Eric, my sister confessed to you, do my parents know about it?”

“I know.” Eric put the grilled meat into Hazel’s bowl, “Because of this incident, my relationship with your parents is very awkward now.”

Hazel: “Oh... no wonder I came back and my mother didn’t tell me about this.”

Eric: “I can understand their feelings.”

“I don’t think my mother will treat you with that kind of prejudice, right? My mother gives me the feeling that as long as it is reasonable, there is nothing she cannot accept. She has a particularly strong tolerance and it’s also very high...”

Hazel speculated.

“You are right, your mother is indeed a very tolerant person. But this matter cannot be considered from this aspect alone. Your father and your mother have a very good relationship, and they are very loving. Your mother can't just consider her own feelings, regardless of your father's feelings."

When Eric said this, Hazel completely understood that the biggest obstacle between Layla and Eric was his father.

After dinner, Eric sent Hazel home.

The car stopped at the entrance of Foster's courtyard.

Hazel got out of the car.

Layla heard the movement and strode out of the living room.

"Sister!" Hazel shouted immediately when she saw Layla.

Layla responded and strode over.

Eric was sitting in the car, whether he was going or not.

"Sister, I packed a barbecue for you." Hazel showed the bag in her hand to Layla, "It's all baked by Mr. Eric."

Layla took the bag over and said, "You go back to the house first! I'll be back after talking a little bit with him."

Hazel nodded sensibly, and quickly ran towards the door of the villa with her schoolbag on her back.

When Hazel went to the door to change her shoes, Avery and Elliot walked over.

They had already seen Layla talking to Eric at the gate of the courtyard.

Hazel was afraid that her parents would go out and make trouble with Eric, so she took the initiative to say: "Mom, what a coincidence today! Our music teacher is on sick leave."

Avery said with a smile on her face, "It's a coincidence. Are you full?"

"I'm full. I ate a lot of meat." Hazel put down her schoolbag and touched her belly.

Seeing Hazel taking the initiative to speak, Elliot accosted, "What did he talk to you about?"

Hazel used her brains, and replied, "Talked a lot, about his work, and the past..."

He said that he had a serious accident before and was about to die, but my mother saved his life. He said he was very grateful to my mother."

Hazel's words reminded Avery of many past events.

"I'll ask him to come in and sit down!" Avery seemed to be discussing with Elliot, but actually walked out after speaking.

After Avery saved Eric, Eric never forgot this life-saving grace.

Chapter 2691

Avery had saved many people. She saved Eric at the beginning because of her little effort, so she didn't take this matter very seriously.

But to Eric, the meaning was different.

At the gate of the courtyard, Layla said goodbye to Eric, and Eric was about to leave, but at this moment, Avery walked over.

"Eric, since you're here, let's go in and sit down!" Avery invited.

Eric was a little confused.

"My mother called you, what are you still doing?" Layla teased and opened the door to let him get out of the car.

Eric got out of the car and followed Avery and Layla towards the villa.

After entering the living room, Layla took Hazel to the dining room.

Layla opened the barbecue brought back by Hazel and ate it with relish.

Hazel glanced towards the living room.

"Sister, don't you think it's too embarrassing for the three of them to stay together?" Hazel had already picked the ground for Eric's embarrassing toes.

“Your teacher Eric is very afraid of our parents. I guess he is also on pins and needles right now!” Layla laughed softly.

“Ah, sister, you did it on purpose!”

“He’s too timid. Let him practice his courage.” Layla said, taking out her mobile phone, “show you the renderings of your house. I’ll find Uncle Chad asked for it. He didn’t want to give it to us at first, because he wanted to show us when it’s ready. But I said I wanted to order a soft outfit, so I asked him for the picture.”

Hazel moved closer to Layla and looked at her mobile phone.

The house that Mike gave her was a villa, and the interior design of the villa was completed by Chad.

The finished renderings include soft decoration.

“Wow, it’s so beautiful! It’s like a candy house.” Hazel exclaimed.

Layla: “Yes. A lot of candy colors are used in it. If you like it, I will find someone to customize it according to the renderings.”

Hazel: “Sister, I feel like I was spoiled like a little princess by you.”

Layla: “You are a little princess! You are the little princess of our family, and I am the big princess. Hahaha!”

The laughter of the two sisters spread to the living room.

The living room fell silent.

Eric drank the water in the glass in one gulp, then looked at the time: “It’s getting late, I won’t disturb you.”

Avery got up from the sofa: “I’ll take you out.”

Eric: “No need.”

“Why are you being so polite?” Avery sent Eric out.

After the two went out, Avery whispered to Eric, “Don’t take Elliot’s attitude to heart.”

Elliot actually didn't say anything, but the expression on his face was not very friendly.

"It's okay." Eric smiled, "I'm very happy today. I'm really happy to see that you have found Hazel."

"We are also very happy. However, Hazel has a relatively low-key personality, and she doesn't want to be known by others, so we didn't notify many people."

Eric: "Understood. I won't tell anyone about this."

Avery: "Well. Be careful when driving on the road."

Eric: "Well. Go back to your house!"

Avery watched Eric off. After the car drove away, she went back to the house.

As soon as she entered the room, she saw Elliot and Layla sitting in the living room. The father and daughter seemed to be chatting.

Chapter 2692

"What are you talking about!" Avery walked up to Elliot.

"Just chat." Elliot said, "I want to chat with my daughter alone."

"Oh, are you driving me away?" Avery sneered, "Don't you just want to talk about Eric with your daughter? You think I can't guess what's on your mind? You still want to get me away... If you get away from me, I don't know what you two are talking about?"

Elliot's face was directly rubbed by Avery on the ground, his handsome.

"Mom, just give Dad some face!" Layla said calmly.

Avery responded, and then looked at Elliot: "Come to the room after talking with your daughter, and I have something to tell you."

Elliot: "..."

Suddenly Elliot felt a little uneasy.

He felt like he's going to be scolded by Avery.

After Avery walked away, Layla held back a smile and looked at Elliot: "Dad, what did you ask me just now?"

Elliot picked up the water glass on the coffee table, took a sip of water, suppressed his emotions, and said: "Eric has a girlfriend now, you won't mess around, right? Dad wants to remind you that there are many good men in this world. You are so good, what kind of man can't be found."

"Dad, I just talked to Eric a few words, not as much as my mother said to him!"

Layla couldn't laugh or cry, "I know he has a girlfriend, I can't be a mistress, don't worry!"

After hearing Layla's words, Elliot was relieved a lot. However, he quickly thought of another problem.

"Are Eric and his girlfriend still talking?" Elliot forgot to ask Eric just now.

Layla: "Should still be talking! I never heard that they broke up!"

Elliot: "Oh... I've basically finished what I want to say. I believe that you will not do things that will ruin your worth."

"Dad, don't worry about it. Even if I really want something, I will never disregard etiquette, righteousness and shame in order to get it. You go to my mother! I don't know what my mother will tell you!" Layla stood up from the sofa with a smile.

Elliot: "Your mother must say that my attitude towards Eric was not good enough just now. I can tell what she is thinking at a glance."

After Elliot finished speaking, he went to the bedroom to find Avery.

Avery had already taken out the pajamas of the two of them.

After Elliot entered the room, he closed the door behind him.

"Honey, do you want to tell me about Eric?"

"Are you guilty?" Avery raised her eyebrows and glanced at him.

Elliot: "Why am I guilty? I don't seem to have said anything to him?"

"Is there such a way of hospitality as you? When we met last time, you were not like this! During this period, Eric did nothing wrong, right?" Avery questioned.

Elliot sat down on the sofa next to him: "I just feel that my daughter has no more love for him. I'm afraid that my daughter will pester him. It makes me feel very humiliated, you know?"

"Please don't mix your daughter's feelings with your face." Avery looked at him seriously, "We have separated and reunited so many times, which quarrel was not trivial and without dignity? What do you think if you're still the same person you were back then... Can we still get together?"

"It's not the same thing. Can you ignore your daughter? If she becomes a mistress..."

Chapter 2693

"It's impossible for Layla to do such a thing!" Avery interrupted Elliot, "We watched our daughter grow up. Don't you know what kind of person she is? What do you think about our daughter?" Don't you have any confidence?"

Elliot: "Of course I believe in my daughter. I'm afraid that Eric will give her ecstasy soup."

Avery: "Eric is not that kind of person."

Elliot: "Avery, do you know Eric that well? We didn't know him that well."

"How can you say that! He is our friend, and we should give our friends the most basic trust. Just like Jun, Tammy... also there are Ben and the others, and we only met them later! But why can we trust them, but not Eric?"

"Don't get excited. Next time I see him, I just need to have a better attitude."

Elliot didn't want to quarrel with Avery.

It's been a long time since the two of them quarreled.

Now his face was suddenly flushed, but he's not used to it.

"I'm not excited, it's because you said more and more outrageous. If Eric is really the kind of person you think, do you think your daughter can still be at home now? I'm afraid she would have been abducted long ago." Avery complained.

Elliot: "If he dares to do that, I will never let him go!"

"Okay, go take a shower! There's nothing wrong with it, you have to act like a disaster is imminent." Avery stuffed him with his pajamas and pushed him into the bathroom.

On the other side, the two sisters were whispering in the room.

"What do you think about Eric?" Layla asked her sister.

Without hesitation, Hazel said, "Mr. Eric is so handsome! It doesn't feel the same as what I saw him online. He looks more vivid and three-dimensional with the naked eye. Anyway, the boys and girls in our classroom were screaming together hahaha! Many people secretly took pictures of him! He is really handsome! Sister, I can totally understand why you like him."

"Why am I such a superficial person? There are always many handsome guys chasing me, okay? And there are so many handsome guys in our family, I have long been immune to handsome guys. I like him for other reasons." Layla leaned on the sofa, her chin was raised slightly, "For example, he has a good temper, is gentle, and treats work with hard work and motivation... Besides being handsome, he has many advantages."

Hazel reminded: "Sister, But he has a girlfriend."

"I know. Dad reminded me just now." Layla was very calm, "I plan to go to Bridgedale to meet his girlfriend."

Hazel: "Go secretly?"

"Yeah! I've moved out, and even if I don't come home for two days, my parents won't ask me anything." Layla had already made up her mind, "I used to mainly deal with the soft furnishings in your house. By the way, I went to see her."

Hazel: "Sister, what if she sees you?"

"No way? Wait until I pass by. Don't tell anyone about this. Including Eric."

"I won't tell. I'm just worried." Hazel said, sighing, "I like Mr. Eric very much, but I feel that it is so difficult for you and Mr. Eric to be together!"

"Do you know how long Mom and Dad spent together?" Layla stretched out her left and right index fingers and crossed them together, "At least ten years."

Hazel: "..."

"Let me tell you, I don't think my eldest brother has ever looked for a girlfriend, maybe it's because A little affected." Layla guessed, "Because my father and mother used to fight very fiercely every time they quarreled, and I still remember many clips of their quarreling... Sometimes I even feel a little skeptical, I was also affected a little bit. I like Eric, because Eric gave me enough sense of security in childhood."

Hazel didn't know how to answer.

Mom and Dad used to quarrel, she didn't know.

She only knew that what she saw now was that her parents were very good parents and she loved them very much.

"I say that, not to blame them. Because I love them very much." Layla said here, raising a smile, "Little sister, do you have a boyfriend? Do you like him very much?"

Chapter 2694

Lucas's face naturally appeared in Hazel's mind. She should like him!

Otherwise, she wouldn't have gone to Eozambiulle, or his school. Even she couldn't meet him, but she would still feel satisfied to see his school environment.

“Sister...I...” Of course Hazel would not say this to Layla, after all, she and Lucas might never see each other again.

“Why are you still blushing? I’m sorry? Is it because you haven’t met a boy you like? Or a boy who has a crush, are you embarrassed to tell me?” Layla asked, and looked at Hazel with an expression of someone who had experienced it, “It’s okay, from now on you will meet better ones. There should be many excellent boys in your university, right?”

Hazel nodded: “There should be, but I don’t know them. I don’t want to know them either. I just want to study hard now.”

“Do you really enjoy studying?” Layla asked.

Hazel nodded again: “I like it very much. And I have many shortcomings. I want to make myself better.”

As for Layla, she grew up, no matter what she liked, there were professional people who taught her one-on-one, so she learned everything very quickly. She didn’t feel that she had many shortcomings like Hazel.

Even in the face of things that Layla didn’t know, she just had the idea of ‘I will learn it soon’.

Hazel: “Sister, every time I enter your room and see so many trophies and certificates of honor in the display cabinet in your room, I admire you so much!”

“Hahaha! That’s meaningless. I like that crystal display case, so I bought it back. I didn’t know what to put in the cabinet after I bought it, so I put those things in it.” Layla said. After finished talking she turned around, and said, “Do you like that cabinet? Do you want me to give you one?”

Hazel scratched her head: “That cabinet is very nice, but I don’t need it. I don’t have a trophy in it.”

Layla: “It doesn’t have to be a trophy, you can also put your trinkets! Anyway, you can put it in the room for you to see, and you can put it in whatever you want. If you like, you can put it in underwear or socks, hahaha!"

Layla's words made Hazel burst into laughter.

"Then I'll order one for you! Didn't you find that our sisters have the same preferences? I'll buy you one for whatever I buy in the future." Layla's words made Hazel's cheeks dry.

The next day, Layla took a flight to Bridgedale.

She went to Bridgedale this time, but she didn't tell her family.

Only Mike and Chad knew.

She told them both not to tell anyone about her whereabouts.

Because this trip was relatively short, she will return to Aryadelle within a few days.

After arriving in Bridgedale, Layla lived in Mike's house.

This made it easier for her to communicate with Chad about the decoration of her sister's house.

"Layla, do you have other things to do when you come to Bridgedale?" Mike prepared a sumptuous lunch for Layla.

"Is it so easy to see?" Layla raised her eyebrows.

"Because you didn't tell your parents. You usually tell your parents what you do."

Mike held the red wine glass and shook it lightly, "tell me, what do you want to do when you come here this time. Can I help you?"

Chad interjected: "Don't worry about the soft furnishings, since you have no objection to the renderings, then I will customize according to the renderings."

Layla naturally had no doubts about the abilities of the two of them, but she was still a little embarrassed to tell her private affairs.

"Since you are embarrassed to speak, let me guess." Mike took a sip of red wine and looked at Chad, "Does that Eric's girlfriend work in Bridgedale?"

Chad held back his smile and replied: "Yes! As far as I know, she has been in Bridgedale all this time!"

Layla covered her face with her hands, but they guessed it all at once.

Chapter 2695

"Okay, don't be embarrassed. If you want to find Maggie, go find her! What's the matter? you won't tell your parents." Mike laughed, "Eric didn't know you came to Bridgedale, did he?"

"I don't need to tell Eric about my own itinerary." Layla took the knife and wanted to cut the beef, "Do you know where Maggie works?"

"You can find the details of her working place online. How about I accompany you there?" Mike picked up his phone and helped her look it up.

"No need. I'll go there by myself."

"Okay, take a good rest today, and go to her tomorrow!" Mike looked at Layla face and joked, "you've been on the plane for so long, you're ashamed."

Layla: "I want to figure it out and go back quickly. If my parents find out the real reason for my running here, they will definitely be very disappointed."

"It's not disappointing. It's just going to make trouble!" Mike held a fork and put the beef in his mouth, he chewed it, "Your father hates Eric, just like he hated me at the beginning. Your dad doesn't treat me much better now than Eric did when I didn't get along with Chad. Your dad can hold grudges."

Layla: "Uncle Mike, don't say that about my dad."

Mike: "What I mean is that your Dad will go crazy if you really want to be with Eric."

Layla: "..."

After lunch, Layla drove Mike's car to the research institute where Maggie worked.

When she arrived at the institute, it was already 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The receptionist asked her if she had an appointment, she said no.

Seeing her extraordinary temperament, the receptionist felt that she was not an ordinary person, so she contacted Maggie's assistant for her.

"Miss, what's your name?" The receptionist asked Layla, holding the receiver.

"Layla." After Layla said her name, her heart began to beat faster.

She was not familiar with Maggie, but they both know each other's existence.

Maggie wanted to meet Layla as soon as she heard her name.

Sure enough, after the receptionist gave Layla's name, within ten minutes,

Maggie came out in casual clothes.

"Hi! Layla, why are you here?" Maggie greeted her with a smile.

Layla smiled: "I'm here for something. I heard you work here, so I stopped by to visit."

"Haha! I'm quite surprised that you came to see me. Let me treat you to dinner!"

Maggie took Layla out.

Layla: "I'm not hungry."

"How about coffee?" Maggie asked.

Layla: "Alright."

"There is a coffee shop near our research institute. I go there for coffee almost every day." Maggie took Layla over, "You came to see me, what is the matter?"

Maggie noticed that Layla's heart wanted to say some things even if she doesn't say it.

Maggie was also older than Layla, and her mind was clearer and more sensitive than hers.

"Have you always been this direct?" Layla asked jokingly.

“Yes. Does my way of speaking make you feel uncomfortable?” Maggie tilted her head and looked at Layla.

Layla shook her head: “Miss Maggie, I’m here... Actually, I came here on a special trip to find you. After you and Eric made it public, you have been working in Bridgedale and he has been in Aryadelle. Are you two really in love?”

“Hahaha! Does Eric know that you are looking for me?” Maggie asked without answering.

“I don’t know. I couldn’t find an answer from him, so I came to ask you. I always feel that the two of you are not in love.” Layla said in her heart, “Miss Maggie, I hope you don’t lie to me.”

Chapter 2696

Maggie curiously asked: “You asked Eric, how did he answer you?”

“He told me I shouldn’t worry about his business.” Layla felt that Eric didn’t answer directly because he didn’t want to tell the truth and didn’t want to lie.

“Oh. What do you think about the relationship between me and him?” Maggie wanted to hear Layla’s thoughts. She felt that Layla probably guessed it, so she made this special trip.

“I don’t think you two are in a relationship. If you two are really in a relationship, it’s impossible for him not to tell me before he made an official announcement.

Miss Maggie, before I confessed to him, I asked him if he had a girlfriend. I-I only confessed to him on the premise of confirming that he has no dating partner.” Layla said her analysis.

“Oh...that’s indeed a bit of a flaw!” Maggie laughed.

“Miss Maggie, what do you mean?” Layla was confused, “Are you admitting that the two of you are not really talking? He asked you to help play his girlfriend?”

“Layla, if you got an affirmative answer, what do you want to do?” Maggie asked curiously, “As far as I know, your parents probably won’t accept Eric. If you insist on doing what you want, you will make Eric very uncomfortable.”

“I will solve the problem by myself, and I will not let Eric face my parents alone.”

Layla said firmly, “Miss Maggie, can you answer my question first?”

Maggie’s face turned pale for a while.

It’s too late to call or send a message to Eric to ask what to do now.

Layla came here specially to block her answer.

Maggie: “It’s exactly what you think. I like Eric very much, but he doesn’t like me. To be more precise, he regards me as a good friend. So he asked me to do this.”

Layla got this answer, and it didn’t take long. Unexpectedly, but with reproach:

“Isn’t he afraid of delaying your search for a partner? He came up with such a bad idea.”

“I’m not in a hurry to get married.” Maggie smiled, “At my age, I’m not in a hurry anymore. If I can meet the right person, I will get married. If I can’t meet the right person, I will live on my own.”

Layla: “Then you two are a bit similar. I don’t think he is in a hurry.”

Maggie: “Because he doesn’t want to settle down.”

“Miss Maggie, thank you for telling me so frankly.” Layla said gratefully, “Will he blame you if he knows?”

Maggie shook her head: “No way. Even if I didn’t tell you, wouldn’t you have guessed it?”

Layla: “Well. I guessed it a long time ago. He can’t hide it from me.”

Soon, the two walked to the coffee shop.

“Miss Maggie, let me buy coffee!”

Maggie: “Okay! If you can convince your parents, I will still congratulate you.”

“It’s very difficult.” Layla didn’t dare to be 100% sure, “But I still want to try my best. I can't give up."

Maggie: "It seems really hard."

Layla: "Isn't there a saying that 'nothing is difficult in this world, as long as you are willing to give up'"

"It makes sense. I also want to learn this spirit." Maggie said.

"Miss Maggie, you are so good, there are many men chasing you, right?"

Maggie: "Yes! I fell in love with Eric at first sight. When we were on a blind date, because of some misunderstandings, he didn't see me, but I saw him. He's so dazzling! After I've seen him, it's hard to catch my eye when I look at other men."

Layla: "Yeah."

"Have you ever been in love?" Maggie asked.

Layla shook her head.

"It's really rare. It stands to reason that there should be more and better suitors around you, but you have never been in a relationship." Maggie sighed.

Layla: "The reason is very simple. I like mature men, but the people around me are basically people of the same age."

After drinking coffee, Layla and Maggie returned to Mike's residence, and then began to buy air tickets back home.

Mike: "Can't you stay with me for one more day? It's hard to come here, and you're going to leave without sleeping?"

Mike wanted to stay with Layla.

Chapter 2697

But Layla's heart had already flown back to Aryadelle.

"I'll come to play for a few more days next time. I came secretly this time. Now that the matter is settled, I'd better go back." Layla said energetically.

Because she got a satisfactory answer from Maggie, she didn't feel sleepy at all.

After Maggie parted ways with Layla, she told Eric about the meeting.

Eric had a severe headache.

Layla was so impulsive!

Now that she knew the truth, what would she do?

Eric looked at the screen of his mobile phone, and his breathing gradually became short of breath.

Layla didn't look for him. Did Layla want to go back to Aryadelle and look for him again?

Now that Layla was in Bridgedale, there was nothing she could do if she was in a hurry.

They could only wait for Layla to return home.

...

It was evening when Layla came home from the airport.

The length of Layla's Journey was twenty hours and she was very sleepy now, but she didn't sleep well on the plane, so after returning home, she looked very haggard.

Seeing her daughter's appearance, Avery immediately pulled her back.

"Baby, what's wrong with you? You look so bad, did you not sleep?"

"Mom, I'm going to sleep more now... When I have sound sleep, I'll let you know." Layla said, and walked upstairs by herself.

After Layla went upstairs, Elliot and Robert walked over.

"My sister looks like a thief." Robert said, "I haven't seen her sleep like this before."

Elliot asked Avery: "What did my daughter just say?"

“She said she will tell me after she sleeps.” Avery said, still worried, so she found her mobile phone and called the vice president of the company to ask if something happened to the company at upstairs.

After Layla went back to her room, she went to bed with her clothes on.

Shortly after she fell asleep, her phone screen lit up. Mike sent a message asking if she would return to Aryadelle. It’s a pity that Layla has fallen asleep and cannot reply.

Downstairs, Avery finished the phone call with the vice president, and said to Elliot: “The vice president said that everything in the company is normal. But Layla didn’t go to the company yesterday and today. The vice president told me secretly, and asked me not to tell Layla.”

Elliot frowned: “...So where has my daughter been these two days?”

Avery looked at Robert: “Do you know where your sister has been these two days?”

Robert shook his head: “Since my younger sister came back home, my older sister tells her everything, even though she used to not want to talk to me.”

Avery immediately went upstairs to find Hazel.

When Hazel heard that Layla was back, she immediately wanted to find her.

“Your sister is asleep. I just went to her room to take a look. She fell asleep without taking off her shoes. I guess he hasn’t slept in two days.” Avery sighed, “Did she tell you where she went these two days?”

Hazel wanted to keep a secret for her sister, but she didn’t dare to lie to her mother at all.

Seeing her daughter’s hesitation, Avery immediately smiled and said: “It seems that what Robert said is true, your sister will tell you everything now. Don’t worry and tell your mother! Your sister said to tell me when she woke up. now I’m too worried to ask you.”

“My sister went to find Mr.Eric’s girlfriend.” Hazel thought about it, and told the truth, “Mom, don’t be angry with my sister, okay? I don’t want to see you quarreling.”

Avery smiled, but after hearing this, Elliot, who was behind Avery, had a gloomy expression on his face.

Hazel: “Dad.”

Elliot: “Aside from telling you this, did your sister tell you anything else?”

Hazel shook her head.

“She didn’t say what her next plan is?” Elliot had a strong sixth sense, feeling that Layla would be desperate because of this matter.

“Hazel said there is no more, you still ask?” Avery glared at Elliot, then turned to Hazel and said, “When your sister wakes up, we will have a good talk with her, don’t worry, don’t worry whatever happens, we will resolve it peacefully.”

Hazel nodded.

Avery dragged Elliot back to his room.

Layla was asleep now, and everything had to wait for Layla to wake up.

In the bedroom, Elliot paced up and down the room.

Avery was dizzy due to his anxious expression.

“Okay, don’t walk around, I’m dizzy from the shaking of your head.” Avery took the pajamas from the closet, “Why don’t you go to the gym for exercise! Otherwise, I’m afraid you won’t be able to sleep at night.”

Avery knew Elliot too well.

Elliot must have trouble sleeping at night because this problem wasn’t solved and Avery didn’t know how Layla would react when she woke up.

“You still know me best.” Elliot was a little moved when he was anxious, “Honey, are you on the same page as me?”

Avery: “Elliot, you should go to the gym!”

“You call me by my name... ...Are you compromising?!” Elliot felt a sense of powerlessness in his heart, “How can Eric be worthy of our daughter?”

“What is worthy or not, I don’t like this word.” Avery said, “When I was with you, I heard enough people saying that I was not worthy of you. Even now, searching for our names was full of gossip and the news said that I was not good enough for you.”

“Really? I would have deleted those tedious headlines!” Seeing that his wife was unhappy, Elliot pretended to use his mobile phone to make a call.

“I don’t care now. Elliot, go to the gym! How about I go with you? I’m quite confused... Let’s talk about everything when my daughter wakes up tomorrow! Don’t be too anxious.” Avery Putting down her pajamas, she dragged Elliot to the gym.

In another room.

Robert sat on the sofa half a meter away from Hazel, and the two brothers and sisters had an in-depth discussion about Layla.

“Actually, I don’t know Uncle Eric very well, but I’m not very unfamiliar. Because Uncle Eric will give me gifts every year. Even if I can’t meet him, his gifts will be delivered.” Robert recalled, “Many of my classmates like him.”

“Then do you like him?” Hazel asked.

“I like him a lot! It’s just that if he wants to be my brother-in-law, I have to think about it.” Robert lowered his eyebrows, “Dad won’t marry my sister to him. If I were Dad, I probably wouldn’t either.”

“Huh? My sister likes Eric very much!” Hazel felt sorry for her sister.

Might be because Layla was a girl, she was more delicate emotionally. She didn't care about the gap with Eric, just like Hazel didn't care about the gap with Lucas.

Because Lucas has never disliked Hazel, so now that she was the daughter of the Foster family, she would not dislike Lucas's status as not worthy of the Foster family. But she knew that her Dad would care.

"Hey! It's not easy! My sister has a stubborn temper." Robert sighed suddenly.

"Second brother, what should we do if my sister quarrels with her parents?"

Hazel asked.

She chatted with Layla, and she could feel that her sister would probably fight for Eric.

Robert looked embarrassed: "To be honest, I don't know. I don't think Mom and Dad don't know what to do. Otherwise, I wouldn't be so worried."

Chapter 2699

After a few seconds, Robert said again: "Let it be!"

"I must help my sister." Hazel said, "I can't help my sister all the time. Then what if my sister runs away from home?"

Hazel's words gave Robert an idea: "Well, if they really quarrel, You stand on my sister's side, and I stand on my father's side to persuade my father."

"Yes!" Hazel continued to ask, "What's the attitude of the eldest brother?"

Robert said with a serious face: "The attitude of the elder brother should be the same as that of my father. The two of them are more and more alike now. The way they speak and behave...they are the men I admire the most."

"Maybe you will be like them in the future."

"No. I have a personality like my mother." Robert knows himself very well,

"Although I look more like our father, my personality is like that of our mother. I don't have such a strong sense of professionalism. I just want my family to be happy and healthy together.”

“I also really like our mother.” When Hazel talked about her mother, the expression on her face softened, “Second brother, who do you think I look like?”

“You look like our father, but your personality well, I can’t see it for the time being. Sometimes I think you are like our father, more calm and independent, and sometimes I think you’re very lively and warm. Maybe you combine the advantages of both of them.”

“Second brother, I’m ashamed of your boasting.”

“You are fine!” Robert boasted with sincerity.

“If I find a boyfriend in the future that you think is not good enough for our family, will you be disappointed with me?” Hazel put forward this hypothesis somewhat pessimistically.

Robert: “Why do you ask? Do you have someone you like?”

“I just think that sometimes I can’t control who I like. Maybe that person is not that good, but I like him...and you guys think it’s very good I don’t like a man like that?” Hazel explained.

“Oh... Indeed, emotional matters are more complicated. I haven’t figured it out yet. Maybe our parents don’t like the girlfriend I find in the future.” Robert was infected by his sister, and his mood was a little pessimistic.

“Then you will support me from now on, and I will support you too, okay?” Hazel smiled.

“Okay!” Robert suddenly felt emotional, “Then I’d better support my sister. Dad has our mother, so I don’t need to persuade you.”

Hazel: “Hahaha! Yes!”

The following day, Layla slept until afternoon.

After waking up, she didn’t have time to think about what time it was, nor did she have time to recall what happened before.

Because her stomach was rumbling with hunger.

Relying on her survival instinct, she quickly got out of bed and went downstairs to find food.

Unexpectedly, when she went downstairs, she saw that her parents and brothers were all at home!

The three of them sat in the living room, not knowing what they were doing.

“Sister, have you slept well?” Robert asked for leave today and waited for his sister to wake up at home.

Robert was afraid that they would quarrel, so he could at least persuade them at home.

“You don’t have class today?” Layla asked, walking towards the kitchen.

“Uh...I’m not feeling well today, so I asked for leave.” After Robert finished speaking with a smile, Elliot stood up from the sofa.

Avery pressed her back on the sofa again.

“Let my daughter eat first.” Avery glanced at her husband indifferently, “Are you trying to make her indigestion?”

What Avery said made sense, so Elliot sat down on the sofa obediently.

Layla heard their voices, and memories flooded back in an instant.

The food in her mouth was not particularly fragrant while she was eating.

Chapter 2700

Robert sat opposite Layla, drinking a bowl of soup.

“Are you feeling unwell? What’s wrong with you? I can see that your face is flushed, and you are very well.” Layla glanced at Robert.

“I...I feel uncomfortable.” Robert lowered his voice.

“Oh!” Layla figured it out, “You are staying at home to watch the excitement.”

“Don’t you want me to help you? If not, then I’m going back to school.” Robert’s desire to help her was overwhelmed. Feeling over watching the excitement. After all, they played together since childhood, and the relationship between the siblings was still very deep.

“You have a conscience.” After eating a bowl of rice, Layla felt a little uncomfortable in her stomach, so she served a bowl of soup, “Go to my room and take down my mobile phone.”

“Sister, are you sure you have finished eating? Why don’t you go back to your room to take a shower and change your clothes?” Robert reminded, “If you are arguing with our parents like this, they will think you are crazy.”

Layla immediately lowered her eyes and looked at her clothes.

She hadn’t changed her clothes for two days, and her clothes were already crumpled.

She didn’t wash her face or comb her hair before going downstairs. It is estimated that her hairstyle was as messy as her clothes.

“Aren’t I afraid that they won’t be able to wait?” Layla whispered, “Get me the phone first.”

“Okay!” Robert immediately went upstairs to get the phone for Layla.

When Robert took down Layla’s cell phone, Layla’s soup had just been finished.

She’d had enough to eat and drink, and her mind was much clearer now.

She took the phone from Robert, turned it on, and a lot of messages popped up.

Eric asked her if she had returned to Aryadelle.

Mike asked her if she got home safely.

Hazel told her that she had confessed to her parents last night.

Of course Layla wasn’t angry with her sister, she was going to tell her parents about it.

It just so happened that Hazel said it last night, and her parents were mentally prepared.

After Layla replied to Mike, she looked at Eric's dialogue box and thought about it, but finally she didn't reply to him.

Eric did not hesitate to find someone to pretend to be his girlfriend to avoid this matter, because she didn't want to have a confrontation with her parents.

Then let her talk about it!

She put down her phone and walked towards the living room.

"Dad, Mom, I've been thinking about it for a few days." Layla walked to her mother and sat down.

Because she felt that her mother might not object to it so strongly.

"These few days?" Elliot asked back, "What can I think about in a few days?"

"It's not these few days, it's because I've been thinking about what kind of partner I want since I started my global marriage search." Layla immediately corrected her own words, "Dad, Mom, what I want is a partner who can make me feel comfortable and at ease. I don't care so much about other conditions. If I am wrong, if I am not happy in the future, I will stop the loss in time. I-I won't let myself be turned into a resentful woman by marriage."

Avery nodded, and wanted to say something, but Elliot spoke first: "Since you can bear divorce in the future, why don't you try it with another man? Are you right? Eric's relationship is just because you haven't been with other men day and night. My relationship with your mother only came after we got along."

Avery nodded again, thinking that what Elliot said made sense.

"Layla, Dad doesn't want to have any unpleasantness with you because of this incident. From the day you appeared in Dad's life, you are Dad's most beloved baby. Dad wants to give you the best things in the world. Dad wants to give himself The experience of those who have been here tells you that I want you to avoid detours as much as possible. Mom and Dad want you to be happy the most.”

Elliot's sincere attitude moved Robert as well.

Avery was suddenly speechless. She didn't expect Elliot's eloquence to become so good.

Chapter 2701

And what Elliot said was impeccable, which made Layla completely unable to resist.

Seeing Layla's cheeks flushed, Robert immediately took a cup of warm water from Layla's cup and handed it to her.

After taking a sip of water, Layla looked at Avery, “Mom, what do you think?”

Elliot frantically gave Avery a look.

He hoped Avery was on his side.

Avery was really in a dilemma. If she was on Layla's side, Elliot would definitely feel emotional, and if she was on Elliot's side, Layla would be sad too. So after thinking twice, she chose to be neutral.

Avery: “Mom withdrew from the discussion on this matter.”

Layla, Elliot, and Robert were speechless for a while.

How else could this be?

“My wish is that our family is safe, healthy and harmonious.” Avery added, “You can think about what your father said just now. If you think what your father said makes sense, you should listen to him. If you feel that what Dad just said can't convince you, and you still want to stick to your own opinion, then you can talk to Dad again.”

Layla lowered her head. Although she slept well, her spirit had not fully recovered.

Her mind was a little confused right now.

She wanted to say something, but didn't know what to say.

"I'm going to take a shower." Layla rubbed her nose, stood up from the sofa, and walked upstairs.

Robert followed immediately.

"Robert, Layla's going take a bath, what are you doing with her?" Elliot was afraid that Robert would give Layla some crooked ideas.

"I...I'll persuade my sister." After Robert said this, Elliot didn't say anything else.

After Robert followed Layla up to the second floor, Layla glared at him.

"Don't you see that I'm unhappy now?" Layla said, striding towards her room, "You're just a kid, what can you persuade me?"

"I think what Dad said also makes sense. Sister, I thought of a good way to get the best of both worlds." Robert said in a low voice, "The problem now is that you want to marry Eric first, but Dad wants you to marry another man first. It's simple! Dad didn't ask you to get married now. You can have a secret relationship with Eric first, and if you have a happy relationship, you two can live together in secret! When you get tired of playing with Eric, you can marry someone else. Isn't it the best?"

Layla was stunned!

How did Robert say like this?

"Am I so sc*mbag in your heart?" Layla asked with difficulty.

Robert scratched her head in embarrassment: "I want you to be happy! If you don't want to dump Uncle Eric at that time, you can get pregnant with his child, so that Dad will definitely not object again."

Layla covered his face with her hands, very Pain: "Robert, stop this. Do you see too much romance movies? Why would you give me such a sh!t idea?!"

“Sister, I really want to help you!” Robert said sincerely, “Go take a bath! Anyway, don’t be too sad. I asked for leave today, it’s fine, if you want to chat with me, you can come to me anytime!”

Layla glanced at Robert, and she felt his concern for her besides the absurdity. Whether it’s Robert, or her parents, they were all very kind to her. She should be content.

Layla returned to the room with heavy steps.

After closing the door, she turned on the phone, found Eric’s number, and dialed it.

Chapter 2702

Eric answered the call in seconds.

“I’m back to Aryadelle.” Layla said without waiting for him to speak, “I talked to my father just now.”

Layla didn’t go into great detail, but Eric understood it without a doubt.

“My father won’t allow me to be with you.” Layla listened to his breathing, and told him the result, “Maybe we really don’t have a destiny.”

Eric didn’t feel too disturbed when he heard the result. After all, this result could be expected.

“Work hard, live well, don’t think about when fate will appear, it may appear at any time when you don’t want to.” Eric comforted Layla.

“Oh, what about your fate? It hasn’t appeared until now. Is it because you have been wondering when fate will come?” Layla retorted, “I think Miss Maggie is very good.”

“Maggie is indeed very good. I still owe her a meal.” Eric said calmly.

Eric was not required to be married. He was accustomed to living alone.

“He has done you such a great favor, and you just bought a meal?” Layla teased, "You are too stingy!"

Eric: "The meal was owed before. She helped me this time, and I owe her a favor. In the future If she needs my help, I will be obliged."

"Oh," Layla realised abruptly that she had nothing to say to him, since they were already acquainted, "what are you doing now?"

Eric: "Reading."

Layla: "What book do you read?"

"I Read 'One Hundred Years of Solitude' recently, and now I'm reading 'A Brief History of Mankind.'"

"Oh... you should go out more often! Isn't it boring to stay at home and read every day?" Layla said casually. In fact, she didn't like to go out.

Especially after work, she didn't like shopping anymore.

Even if the work was not very hard, staying at the company for a day was almost enough to wear out the body. She didn't want to do anything when she got home from work except lie down.

On the weekends, she's free, and she just wanted to sleep in.

"I used to run around at work, but now I just want to stay at home." Eric explained, "Don't be angry with your parents, adjust your mood as soon as possible, and let life return to normal."

"I didn't give birth to them I know they love me very much. Sometimes I am not sure whether my past life was too smooth, so I deliberately dig into the horns of this matter. I am not sure whether my persistence is right, So I can't fight against my father regardless of everything."

Layla didn't want to see anyone in her family sad, no matter how stubborn she was.

"Don't make your father sad. I didn't like him to be too hot-tempered and not good enough to your mother before. But after he reconciled with your mother, he is very responsible to your mother and his children. He is a Good father.” Eric said quietly.

Layla: “Understood, I’m going to take a shower first. I haven’t cleaned it for a few days, and I’m going to stink.”

Eric: “Alright.”

After hanging up the phone, Layla went to the closet, took her pajamas, and went to take a shower.

She thought that taking a bath would make her feel better, but she didn’t.

She walked to the window to look at the scenery outside. This season, the flowers in the yard were in full bloom, colorful and beautiful.

But she had never been so lost as she was now.

Rationality constantly reminded her that she was no longer a young child or teen, and that she couldn’t just show her displeasure with her face.

....

Nantah University.

After Hazel finished her afternoon class, she immediately took out her mobile phone, wanting to know what happened at home today.

Originally, she wanted to ask for leave today to stay at home with Robert.

Chapter 2703

And Robert said that even if they disagree, they won’t quarrel.

Because the family had never had a serious fight.

Hazel felt that what Robert said had some truth.

Avery promised her that she would resolve this matter peacefully, so she came to school today.

But when Hazel saw the message from Robert, she still felt a little sad.

Robert said that Layla gave up.

Because Layla told Hazel how much she liked Eric, so when she dnow Layla gave up, she thought that her sister might be very sad.

“Hi Hazel, may I become your friend?” A classmate asked. He walked up to Hazel while wearing glasses.

Hazel glanced at him.

This class was a professional class, and this boy was also studying broadcasting and hosting.

Hazel had a slight impression of this face, and had glimpsed it by accident.

“Hello classmate, I have something to do today, so I have to go first.” Hazel didn’t really want to make friends with the other party.

It’s not that she thought too highly of herself. After she went to college, she met several female students in the same major, but she was always wary of male students.

For one thing, she never thought about falling in love in college.

Secondly, she was not very good at dealing with the relationship with the opposite sex.

Other than spending more time with Lucas, she hadn’t spent much time with another person of the opposite gender who was the same age.

When She first came into contact with Lucas, their identities were not in the relationship of classmates, but in the relationship of master and servant, so Hazel was able to communicate with Lucas without thinking too much.

“Then let’s add the contact information first! When you are free, we can make an appointment to play together! For example, sports, or study together, it’s fine!”

The boy followed Hazel’s pace and walked out of the classroom, “By the way, do you know my name?”

Hazel shook her head.

“Cough, I know your name is Hazel, but you don’t know my name. It seems that you haven’t noticed me at all. When the teacher called me by name. But since you don’t know, then I will introduce myself. Let’s go!”

“classmate, I really don’t have time today.” Hazel looked at him seriously, “If you are free, you can ask other girls.”

“Ah... I-I’m not so free... Actually, I don’t lack friends, I have never lacked friends since I was a child, because my family is quite rich.” The male classmate, who desired to be Hazel’s friend, could only divulge the killer’s trump card.

Hazel’s pace really slowed down.

“Oh, what do you do at home!” Hazel asked.

“My father owns a factory. The factory is fairly large. There are over a thousand workers!” The male student said here and explained, “I’m not showing off to you, but I just want you to know that I really want to make friends with you. I-I was attracted to you the first time I saw you, you look so good-looking.”

Hazel blushed slightly when she was praised so straightforwardly by this male student.

“Let’s exchange contact information first! I know there must be many people who pursue you, but I’m not afraid that there will be many competitors. My name is...”

Hazel didn’t want to be friends with him, and she didn’t want to give him her phone number. But when she was almost at the school gate, she saw the driver who came to pick her up.

In order to send this classmate away, Hazel told him the number.

After the male student asked for the contact information, he finally walked away satisfied.

When Hazel walked out of the school gate, the driver immediately greeted her.

“Uncle, don’t wait for me at the school gate in the future. I’m afraid of being seen by my classmates. You wait for me near the platform in front.”

Driver listened and nodded: “The male classmate who followed you just now, is he pestering you? Do you want to tell your father?”

Chapter 2704

Hazel smiled and shook his head: “I can handle it myself. As long as he sends me a message, I ignore it several times. He naturally understands. Don’t bother my father with such a trivial matter.”

“This ba*tard toad wants to eat swan meat, he really doesn’t know what to do.”

The driver Uncle scolded.

Hazel: “He doesn’t know about my family. He came to strike up a conversation because he thought I was pretty.”

“That’s because a toad wants to eat swan meat! I’m afraid he will not only send you messages to harass you. If he follows you again, you must no longer be so polite. Just drive him away. If you can’t drive him away, tell me right away.”

Driver Uncle was afraid that Hazel would soften her heart.

It’s really good-natured to let people follow along.

“Hmm. How is my sister?” Hazel asked.

Driver Uncle: “When I went out, your sister was in the room. They didn’t quarrel, don’t worry.”

Hazel: “Well, the second brother told me. But I think my sister must feel uncomfortable.”

Driver Uncle: “Then you go back and persuade her. It’s just a man, so there’s no need to quarrel with the family because of this.”

Hazel felt that what Driver Uncle said was reasonable, but people are not cold machines. If she takes care of one side and abandon the other side, it will hurt.

When she got home, Hazel changed her shoes and walked directly to Layla's room on the second floor.

She knocked on the door and called out to Layla.

Layla heard Hazel's voice, got out of bed immediately, and opened the door.

"You leave school so early today?" Layla's expression was quite normal.

Hazel took out a handful of candy from her schoolbag and handed it to Layla:

"Sister, I bought it at noon. This kind of candy is sweet and sour, appetizing and refreshing."

"Okay! I'll try it. I haven't eaten candy for a long time." Layla took one, unpacked it, and put it in her mouth, "It's really a little sour."

"It's a little sour in the mouth, and it will be sweet after the sour taste passes."

Hazel also took one off and put it in mouth.

"I'm fine." Layla pulled Hazel to sit by the bed, "I just don't have much energy. I haven't slept well or eaten well."

Hazel: "Then you can rest at home for a few more days."

Layla shook her head: "I can't rest. I like to think wildly when I'm quiet."

"Then go to work tomorrow! You'll be fine after a while." Hazel didn't know how to comfort her, so she could only say this.

In fact, she also felt uncomfortable thinking about Lucas for a while, but because she had just returned to Foster's house, the family gave her too much love, so the pain eased a lot.

But Layla's situation was different, She was always surrounded by the love of her family.

It's like Hazel was bitter before sweet, and Layla was now sweet before bitter.

"It's like when you first moved out to live, you were not used to it, but after a few days of living, you gradually got used to it.” Hazel continued to comfort.

Layla nodded: “It’s much better to chat with you. Do you know how your second brother comforted me? Hey, don’t mention him! I have a headache when I mention him.”

Hazel: “Second brother asked for leave today, Is he at home now?”

Layla: “He called Mom and Dad out to play. He probably wants me to be alone at home. I know he treats me well, but he doesn’t speak properly and needs someone to control him.”

Hazel: “Second brother is quite simple.”

Layla: “I’m also a little brainless. I really don’t know what kind of woman he will find as his wife in the future.”

Hazel: “Sister, you are worried that second brother will be bullied!”

Layla: “He is the most thoughtless in our family.”

Hazel: “Maybe the second brother is not really heartless, but he acts more like a fool in front of us.”

Chapter 2705

Layla: “I hope so. After I go to work tomorrow, I won’t be staying at home.”

Hazel nodded: “Then you will come back on the weekend!”

“Of course. Although I haven’t settled with my father, I can’t deny my father’s love for me for so many years because of this incident.” Layla took a deep breath, “Little sister, don’t worry about me. Like you said, maybe I’ll be fine in a while.”

“Sister, let me go out for a walk with you! It’s not hot outside right now.” Hazel looked out the window, She felt like this was the perfect time to go out and get some fresh air.

“Okay. Give me a few more candies, it’s quite delicious.” Layla stretched out her hand towards her.

Hazel gave her all the candies: "I bought them for you."

The two sisters came out of the house and walked slowly in the community.

"Sister, when I got out of class today, a male classmate asked for my contact information." Hazel talked about other topics, and wanted Layla to stop thinking about unhappy things.

When Layla heard this, she immediately raised her eyebrows: "Is he handsome? What's your impression of him?"

Hazel: "I don't want to meet a male classmate at all. He followed me all the way to the school gate. It happened that Driver Uncle was waiting at the school gate, I want to get rid of him quickly, so I told him the contact information."

Layla: "Are you concerned that he will continue to annoy you in the future? Be tougher if you're not interested. Next time, he follows you, and you just let him go."

Maybe it has something to do with where Hazel has lived since she was a child. Her mother-in-law taught her that if you can't offend people, don't, and if you can, just put up with them.

So she never thought of letting the other party go away like her sister said.

"Next time he follows me, I'll let him go away." Hazel said.

"Well. You don't have to be afraid of anything. Our whole family is your strong backing. No one dares to bully you." Layla hoped that her sister would be stronger in the future so that she won't be offended.

Hazel responded, took out her phone, and saw the male classmate's friend request.

Layla glanced at her screen.

"Sister, do I ignore him?" Hazel said.

“If you ignore him, he might call you to bother you. You just tell him to give up now.” Layla said, took her sister’s cell phone and agreed to the friend request. The male classmate immediately sent a message: [Hello Hazel, I heard that you don’t live on campus! Isn’t it stipulated that our school must live on campus? Why can’t you live off campus?]

Layla replied blankly: [You are so good at inquiring, but you didn’t find out the reason?]

Male classmate: ;Hey, listen to what my classmate said. What students know is limited. Does your family have any relationship with school leaders? In fact, I also have the money to live outside by myself, but according to the school’s regulations, I live outside.]

Layla: [You want to inquire so clearly, do you want to check the household registration? Shall I show you the account book some other day?]

Male student: [Don’t be angry, I’m just curious. You are a local, so the conditions at home should not be bad, right? I really like you, if our talk goes well, I will take you home to show my parents. It’s just that my parents are more particular about being well-matched.]

Layla: [What does your family do?]

Male student: [Our factory produces canned food.]

Layla: [What’s the name of the factory.]

The male classmate immediately sent the name over.

Layla checked, a small factory.

“Sister, let me talk to him! I think he’s a pretty decent guy.” Hazel took the phone over.

“I’m just holding back, I’m afraid that if I say too much, he will trip you up and make you sick at school.” If Layla’s true temper was followed, the other party would have been too hurt to stand up to it.

Hazel: "I have a way to make him give up."

Hazel said with a smile, and sent a message to the male classmate: [My family is poor and owes a lot of money. If you insist on staying with me, my parents will definitely ask you to help us pay off our debts. By the way, I still have two older brothers who haven't found wives yet.]

Chapter 2706

Layla watched the message edited by Hazel beside her, and couldn't laugh or cry.

"I'm choked up after reading your message, you male classmate is probably going to be scared to death."

Hazel: "He always said that his family is rich, and he also said that his family requires a good family, so the way to make him give up is to pretend to be poor."

Layla gave a thumbs up: "You have a good idea. But will he spread it in the school then?"

"It's better to let everyone know! This will save a lot of unnecessary social interaction and trouble." After Hazel sent the message, she saw that the other party had been typing, but no message came.

The other party must be very entangled at the moment.

Hazel put her phone in her pocket, took Layla's hand and walked towards the gate of the community.

"Sister, let's go shopping for a while!" Hazel hadn't been shopping since she went to school.

"Walking around?" Layla said, "if you want to go shopping, you have to go back to pick up the car."

"If we want to go to the city center, we can take a taxi." Hazel said, "There is also a small commercial center near our community, and you can go there for a stroll.”

Layla: “Okay! Then let’s walk! I didn’t have much energy at home, but I felt better after going out for a walk.”

Hazel: “When I’m bored at home, I always think about unhappy things, so I tend to be listless. Go outside and get more fresh air Exercising more in the air and meeting new friends can improve your mood.”

Layla: “Little sister, you are my little padded jacket.”

Hazel: “Sister, I hope you are happy every day.”

Layla: “I will.”

Two days later.

Layla went home for dinner and told her family about her upcoming business trip.

“The Northland is so far away, and I remember the temperature over there is very cold.” Avery heard that her daughter was going on a business trip to the Northland, and she frowned, “It’s probably snowing over there this season.”

Elliot had already taken out his phone and take a look at the weather in the Northland.

Layla: “I’ve decided to go by myself. I stay at the company every day, and I’m a little bored.”

Avery understood that her daughter mood wasn’t good, so she wanted to go to a distant place to relax.

“Since you’ve made up your mind, let’s go! It’s cold over there, so you have to bring thicker clothes.” Avery said, “The temperature over there is not as cold as usual. I’ll go shopping with you after dinner to get some clothes!”

“There is heating in the room over there. I’ll just get off the plane and go to the clothing store over there to buy clothes.” Layla has already planned everything,

“Mom, I’m not a child anymore. I can handle it well. Don’t worry.”

“Well, I’m just worried that you’ll be frozen. How uncomfortable it would be if you get sick outside! The medical conditions there are not as good as in Aryadelle.”

Avery expressed her worries.

“I didn’t go alone. I have three companions with me! We go out together and look out for one another.” Layla said.

“Sister, you went over there and took pictures of the snow scene for me!” Hazel said, “I like snow very much.”

“Haha! I like it too. If I think it’s fun to go this time, then I’ll wait until you have a holiday next time, I’ll take you there to play again.” Layla said with a smile.

“Okay!” Hazel happily responded.

Robert sighed: “Sister, do you still remember my younger brother?”

Layla raised her eyes and glared at Robert: “You want to go too?”

“I’ll go if you call me! Where am I to go if you don’t call?” Robert said sadly,

“When the time comes, you can take my little sister, and I can go together and take pictures for you two!”

Robert’s proposal made Hazel nod her head.

Seeing her sister nodding, Layla said kindly to Robert, “We’ll see how you behave then.”

“Sister, did you sell the drone to the Northern Country?” After eating, Hazel went to her sister’s side, ask.

“Yes! In actuality, the market in Bregon City is sizable. Therefore, I value our cooperation greatly. I’ll visit Bregon in person even if there isn’t any snow.” Layla explained to Hazel.

Hazel: "I saw the reaction of my parents just now, and thought you wanted to go out to relax because you were in a bad mood!"

Chapter 2707

Layla: "Before, I hardly ever went on business trips. My parents did not want me to be overly worn out. I previously gave them a lot of attention. But as I sit here and reflect, how can I possibly be afraid of difficulty and exhaustion at work? Life for me cannot be like this, not just at work. I need to step outside of the safe haven my parents have provided for me if I want to improve."

Hazel nodded fiercely, expressing her agreement with what Layla said.

At night, before going to bed, Layla posted a circle of friends.

She sent a picture of the snow scene in the Northland, and a ticket to the Northland, with the attached text: Looking forward to this trip to the Northland.

After posting to Moments, Layla fell asleep.

Because there was only one flight to the Northland a day.

The only flight left at 7 o'clock in the morning.

That meant Layla had to be at the airport by six tomorrow morning.

It was about an hour's drive from Foster's house to the airport.

So at 5 o'clock in the morning, she had to go out.

She had to get up at least 4:30 in the morning in order to leave at 5 o'clock.

That didn't include breakfast time.

She rarely got up so early, so she kept thinking about it.

She controlled herself not to play with her mobile phone, but her sleep was still poor.

She woke up a few times during the night, stayed awake for a while, and then went back to sleep. Last but not least, until the phone alarm clock went off.

She lifted the quilt as if relieved, sat up, and turned on the light in the room.

When turning off the alarm clock, she saw a message from Eric.

He asked her what she'd do when she moved to the Northland. And reminded her that the temperature in the Northland was very low now.

After Layla replied 'on business trip', she put down her phone and went to wash up.

At 6 o'clock, Layla arrived at the airport and met her colleagues who were on a business trip.

After completing all procedures, the four of them waited in the VIP waiting room.

"Boss, didn't your family send you here?"

"I didn't ask them to. I got up at 4:30, so it's unnecessary to ask them to wake up early." Layla bought coffee and steamed buns. She wasn't very hungry, but she knew that drinking coffee on an empty stomach can cause stomach pains, so she took a steamed bun and ate it one bite at a time.

The assistant was dumbfounded: "Boss, you eat like this, aren't you afraid of choking?"

Layla: "Don't you think this steamed bun is a bit small?"

The assistant couldn't help but laugh: "Boss, is there no one you care about here? You don't pay attention to your own image at all."

Layla: "I'm the only one who picks men, and it's not my turn to pick me."

So she could eat one steamed bun if she wanted, and if she wanted to eat two, it wouldn't hurt her.

"Boss, you are so domineering! I adore you more and more."

"Stop flattering me. I didn't sleep well last night, and I'm so sleepy now." After finishing eating, Layla started to drink coffee.

With uncontrollable fingers, she took out the phone from the bag to see if Eric replied to the message.

After she sent 'business trip', Eric did not reply.

Yes, Eric probably hadn't woken up yet; it's only half past six.

She suddenly saw a news on the screen.

The title caught her attention — Can men and women who are unable to be lovers become friends again?

She clicked on the news and read it carefully —

Chapter 2708

The heroine in the article deleted all the contact information of the man who could not be a lover, making him completely disappear in her own world.

The conclusion is that in this world, men and women, or women and men, are born with intentions. If you can't be a lover, then you will say goodbye. Empty your heart, so that you can better meet the real Prince Charming.

After reading it, Layla was a little lost.

She was not the kind of person who would be led by the nose by other people's ideas casually.

— The heroine in the article deleted all the contact information of the man who could not be a lover, making him completely disappear in her own world.

The conclusion is that in this world, men and women, or women and men, are born with intentions. If you can't be a lover, then you will say goodbye. Empty your heart, so that you can better meet the real Prince Charming.

After reading it, Layla was a little lost.

She was not the kind of person who would be led by the nose by other people's ideas casually.

It's the relationship between her and Eric, if it was not completely broken, it would be difficult for her to get out.

She knew herself too well!

How could she forget Eric and begin a new relationship when he was still in her address book and would still care about her as long as she continued to post on Moments?

But if she wanted to completely end her relationship with Eric, she had to make an agreement with Eric.

Otherwise, if she unilaterally deleted Eric, Eric would be able to contact her.

She knew that if she told Eric not to contact or meet again in the future, then she would never see Eric again in the rest of her life.

“Boss, we are going to board the plane!” The assistant’s reminder brought Layla’s thoughts back to reality.

It took 18 hours to fly from Aryadelle to Northland.

Layla had never been to the Northland because the flight there was too long.

She would feel extremely exhausted if she flew for more than 12 hours.

She visited Bridgedale several times a year and had travelled to numerous countries, the majority of which were close to Aryadelle.

This business trip to the Northland was the first time she strictly traveled by herself, because she didn’t let the bodyguards at home follow her.

Bodyguards had to be hired in Bregon, and they were to pick her up at the airport.

Nantah University.

Since Hazel told the male classmate with glasses last time that his family owed debts, the male classmate didn’t look for her for two days.

Because of the same major, they still took the same class occasionally.

This semester had already chosen a class time, and there was no way to change it, so Hazel had no choice but to avoid it.

But this male classmate didn’t contact Hazel these two days, so Hazel didn’t think about anything else.

After the afternoon classes, Hazel planned to go back to the house her parents bought for her.

Because there were classes in the evening.

At nine o'clock in the evening, the class for today would end. So it's too late to go back.

While tidying up the books, a male classmate wearing glasses came over.

"Hazel, I have thought a lot these two days. I want to talk to you alone."

The female classmate sitting next to Hazel immediately asked Hazel with a smile: "Do you have a problem with this classmate, Hazel?"

Without even thinking about it, Hazel replied: "I don't know this male classmate.

Last time he asked my number and chased me all the way. I was really annoyed, so I told him the number."

The male classmate was embarrassed.

After the last chat, Hazel didn't have anything to say to this male classmate, but unexpectedly he came again.

She also worries that if she didn't make it clear to her female classmate, rumours about her chatting this male classmate would spread quickly.

"Hazel, I'm a little sad when you say that." The male classmate looked aggrieved, "We added friends and chatted..."

"I have already removed your contact information. You should delete my contact information." Hazel tidied up her books and started walking with her schoolbag on her back.

The male classmate was very uninterested and followed her out of the classroom.

Hazel took a deep breath, remembering what her sister said to herself last time.

Chapter 2709

“Can you stop following me? If you follow me like last time again, I will tell the school security department.” Hazel said the ugly words first.

The male classmate was stunned for a moment, he didn't expect Hazel's attitude to be so indifferent this time.

“Then let's talk here!” The male classmate pushed his glasses on the bridge of his nose, “Are you angry that I didn't reply to your message last time? This is the first time I have encountered this situation, and I don't know how to reply. I've made up my mind in two days, so I want to make it clear to you face to face.”

“Don't act like we know each other very well, okay? I don't want to be friends with you, nor do ordinary friends.” Hazel fully expressed her attitude Afterwards, the male classmate looked unacceptable.

“It seems that I did not reply to your message, so you are angry.” The male classmate seemed to be talking to himself, “I want to say that we can get along first, and the debts your family owes, and then slowly find a way to solve it.” His words could be interpreted to mean that she should not worry about whether or not her family is in debt. they were the first to fall in love, but they did not get married.

After all, he's still in college, so it's too early to talk about marriage.

“If you are my girlfriend, I can pay for your college living expenses.” What The male classmate said made Hazel turn her face in anger.

Hazel: “You say one more word, and I'll call the teacher right away to tell the teacher that you harassed me!”

After Hazel said this, the male classmate shut up.

Hazel's attitude was already very obvious.

She didn't want to see him anymore.

How could she not look down on the conditions he offered if it was the pursuit of the opposite s-e-x with better terms?

Living expenses at school cost at least three or two thousand a month, and he could spend four to five thousand a month for her.

Not far away, a middle-aged man secretly photographed the scene just now and sent it to Elliot.

The middle-aged man who took the photo was Mr. Cooper, the driver.

Mr. Cooper told Elliot about Hazel being pestered by a male classmate last time.

Although Hazel said at the time not to tell Elliot about this, but Mr. Cooper thought about it for a while. If something happened to Hazel at school, Elliot would blame him and he would not be able to bear the responsibility.

So Mr. Cooper quietly told Elliot about it.

After Elliot found out, he asked Mr. Cooper to come to the school every day to keep an eye on him.

Hazel didn't go back to Foster's house today, so she didn't know that Mr. Cooper came to school.

Mr. Cooper followed Hazel all the way back to the community, and he was relieved when he saw her enter the unit building.

Foster family.

Elliot frowned because of the photo sent by Mr. Cooper.

He had expected that Hazel would be pursued by the opposite s-e-x at school.

After all, his daughter was beautiful and gentle, who wouldn't like it?

If it was an ordinary pursuit that was rejected without entanglement, of course he would not intervene.

Like the boy in the photo, Hazel has already rejected him, but he still continued to pester Hazel and make Hazel so angry, Elliot couldn't sit idly by!

He had sent someone to investigate the boy's family details.

This boy's family ran a cannery.

"I've never seen Hazel so angry." Avery saw the photo on Elliot's phone beside him.

"This boy must have said something too much, otherwise Hazel wouldn't be so angry. His family didn't educate him well, so his parents are also responsible."

Elliot said this, which meant that he would take action.

Avery knew him too well.

"Elliot, don't go too far! Just teach that boy a little lesson, don't be serious. After all, he is Hazel's classmate, and they will meet again in the future. If you do too much, I'm afraid that boy will go to extremes." Avery expressed her worries,

"Hazel didn't tell us about this, because she didn't want to make a big fuss."

"I know." Elliot took his phone and sent a message to his assistant to give orders.

He had a sense of proportion.

Chapter 2710

After Elliot finished his work, Avery said, "I don't know what kind of boy Hazel would like."

Elliot: "My daughter is only eighteen years old..."

"She can fall in love at the age of eighteen. Elliot, don't ask Hazel with what you want from Layla.

Hazel's life was so hard before, if she wants to fall in love, you must not stop her."

Avery wanted to have a good talk with her husband through this incident, "As long as the boy Hazel likes has good character and treats Hazel well, we don't want to stop him."

“Honey, your idea is dangerous. Do you know why I set so many requirements for my future son-in-law?”

Elliot said his own opinion, “Because only under such requirements can highquality talents be selected...”

“Why do you think that a person’s quality is related to those messy conditions?”

Avery had different opinions, “A person’s character depends partly on heredity and partly on his acquired environment. Even children from ordinary families, or even children from extremely poor families, may have high qualities. The best An example is Hazel. Hazel lived so poor before, but Hazel is very kind.”

“Yes! If Hazel finds an ordinary boy, let him marry him!” After thinking for a while, Elliot said, “It is impossible for me to let my daughter marry and suffer! I will not object to her being with the man she is looking for, if that boy really loves her, he will definitely not refuse my request!”

Avery was stunned.

She knew that Elliot had made the greatest compromise by saying this.

After all, it was really difficult for him to accept an ordinary man as his son-in-law.

The two daughters of him were the jewels in his palm, not to mention that he couldn’t let his daughters marry and suffer, Avery can’t accept it either.

“It’s too early to talk about it now, and Hazel just wants to study hard now, and has no intention of falling in love at all. Let’s talk about it when she finds a boyfriend!” Avery patted him on the shoulder.

Elliot: “I also think it’s still early, because you insisted on talking to me about this topic.”

“I’m giving you a vaccination in advance. Because of Hazel’s previous living environment, I think her criteria for choosing a partner may be the same as you think.” Avery said, “Actually, I’m also doing psychological construction for myself.

Although the child is ours, the future life of the child is their own. We prevented Layla and Eric from being together this time, don't look at it Layla seems to be fine, she must be feeling uncomfortable."

"Since she was a child, she will do what she says and give what she wants, and she is used to living a smooth life, but now that we don't follow her, of course she feels uncomfortable." Elliot thought that this matter was over, and although there would be labor pains, it would pass, "You can pamper a child like a little ancestor, but it doesn't mean she is really our ancestor."

Avery gave him a glare.

"Honey, I have a hunch." Elliot sighed, and held Avery's hand, "I'm sure none of our children will satisfy me."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Because you think our children are too perfect, and you want them to find perfect people. But there are no perfect people in this world. Other children are also the treasures of other people's families. Let's not interfere too much, and don't treat them too. The younger generation is too picky and this will only lead to family discord."

Elliot nodded resignedly: "I will listen to you from now on."

"Let's have a good chat with Layla when we find a chance!" Avery said.

Elliot: "Okay."

The next day.

Hazel came to the school, and when she reached the school gate, someone called her.

Hazel recognized that it was the male classmate's voice.

The male classmate called her Hazel before, but just now they called her full name Hazel Foster.

"What's the matter?" Hazel stood on the spot and saw the male classmate trot over.

Chapter 2711

“There was an accident in my canning factory, did you ask someone to do it?”

The male classmate was scolded by his father last night, and he almost stayed up all night. He was in a particularly depressed mood, and stood guard at the door early this morning, waiting for Hazel.

His father called him last night and said something happened in the factory.

Several partners would terminate their cooperation with the factory.

His father asked the reason, and the other party said that it was because he provoked people who shouldn't be provoked at school.

If his hometown was close to here, his father would have rushed to school to beat him last night!

He couldn't sleep all night, thinking about who he had provoked recently.

After much deliberation, there was only Hazel.

“What happened to your cannery?” Hazel asked puzzled.

“You didn't do it? But I've only been having trouble with you recently, and I have a good relationship with everyone else.” The boy looked angry, “I didn't expect you to be so capable that you could cause an accident in my canning factory...

Several partners of my canning factory unanimously wanted to terminate the cooperation contract with our family last night, saying that it was because I provoked people who should not be provoked at school, and I only provoked you recently!”

Hazel probably understood what he said.

It must be that Elliot knew about it.

“If you don't speak, it's the default!” The boy's voice became louder, “I won't harass you anymore! I won't talk to you again, and I won't send you messages again, please don't deal with my factory!"

"I don't know about this matter. Think about it again, have you harassed other girls recently?" Of course, Hazel couldn't admit that this matter was done by her family, but she didn't want him to harass her, "Don't be so rude in the future! Chasing girls is not what you do, and your behavior like that really constitutes harassment!"

After Hazel finished speaking, she walked quickly towards the campus with her schoolbag on her back.

The morning was passed without incident.

When eating at noon, she hesitated and sent a message to Avery to ask.

Avery told her the matter calmly: [It was indeed your father who did it. But just to scare them. There was no substantial attack on their factory.]

Hazel breathed a sigh of relief: [How could Dad know about this!]

Avery couldn't betray the driver, so he made up a white lie: [Someone took a photo of you being harassed by that boy and sent it to your father. It may be a teacher at the school who knows your identity!]

Hazel: [Oh...he's just a little annoyed. Even though I refused, he still doesn't seem to understand.]

Avery: [He may be more confident. He has never suffered a disadvantage since he was a child! If this happens again in the future, you can tell your mother. Your mother is retired now, and she is very leisurely every day.]

Hazel: [I don't want to bother you with such trivial matters. I have warned him, if he wants to continue to study well in school, he will not dare to do anything to me.]

Avery: [Alright. Your sister has already arrived in Bregon, has she sent you a message?]

Hazel: [She sent me the snow scene in the Northland. There is really a lot of snow over there! Like a kingdom of ice and snow.]

Avery: [Do you want to go too?]

Hazel: [I'll go there when I have a chance! But this time for study hard. Also during the winter vacation, there are actually beautiful snow scenes in Aryadelle to see.]

Chapter 2712

Avery: [Well. What did you have for lunch?]

Hazel took pictures of the lunch for her mother.

She ate egg scrambled noodles and a bowl of pork rib soup for lunch today.

Avery's heart ached immediately: [Baby, can you eat this at noon, will you be full?]

In fact, when Avery was in school, she often ate casually, as long as it filled her stomach.

But people had different standards for themselves and children.

Hazel: [I ate too much in the morning. Not hungry right now. Eat well when I get home at night.]

Avery: [What would you like to eat tonight? I'll let someone do it later.]

Hazel: [I can eat whatever. Anything made at home is delicious.]

Avery looked at the message from Hazel, and the corners of her mouth couldn't help but rise.

Hazel was really well-behaved and sensible, and would not let Avery worry about it at all.

After being silent for a moment, Avery sent another message to Hazel: [Hazel, do you think it is not too much for parents to stop your sister's love this time? Mom wants to hear your truth.]

Originally, it would be better to talk about this topic in person, but Avery couldn't help but want to talk to her daughter now.

Hazel replied quickly: [Mom, let's call and talk! I'm done.]

Avery: [Good.]

After a while, Hazel came out of the cafeteria and called Avery.

"I just chatted with your father. Your sister went to the Northland this time. I feel that she is sad and wants to go far away to relax." Avery told Hazel her thoughts, "I feel a little bit about this result. It's uncomfortable. I always feel that things should not have developed like this."

"Mom, don't be sad. My sister said that she just wanted to be stronger. She didn't blame you and Dad. She told me herself." Hazel comforted, "I don't think you and Dad are wrong. I feel that Uncle Jin doesn't like my sister that much at all. Otherwise, why did I let my sister face this matter alone?"

Avery listened to her daughter's comfort, and laughed softly: "Even if Eric likes your sister again, he won't come to tell us about this matter. Because I saved him, he won't do anything to embarrass me. This is also the most uncomfortable thing for me. I don't think it's fair to Eric."

"But if they really want to love each other, I think two people must work hard together." Hazel expressed her point of view, "Even if you saved him, he should be brave. You are not an unreasonable person. If I were him, I would definitely come and look for you, I want you to help."

"Hahahaha! Hazel, you are so brave. You are braver than many of us." Avery was proud of Hazel's courage, "your mother was not as courageous as you when she was young."

"I'll just talk casually. Maybe it's my turn, and I don't necessarily have such an idea." Hazel smiled.

Avery: "Hazel, no matter who you choose in the future, mother will support you.

No matter what the other party's occupation is or what his family situation is, as long as he is a good person and truly loves you...”

Avery didn't say anything Elliot's request for the other party to marry.

After all, the men that Hazel would fall in love with in the future might not necessarily be ordinary people.

“I'm still early! I won't think about relationships until I graduate.” Hazel was very moved, but she also knew that she was relatively slow in relationships.

She absolutely disliked the frantic and straightforward pursuit of a male student with glasses.

But now many young people expressed their love more directly.

.....

Northland.

After Layla recovered from the jet lag at the hotel, she met with the client from the Northland according to the original work plan.

The customer wanted to be the sole distributor of Tate Industries products in Oregon.

Now they had to talk about some details, such as whether it was exclusive, whether it could sell competing products at the same time, and issues such as price and commission.

The other party was very sincere in cooperation, and could basically agree and agree to some of the questions raised by Layla, so the cooperation was quickly negotiated.

After the discussion was over, the follow-up matters would be handed over to the people below.

“President Tate, since you're here, you can play here for a few days. The snow scene here is very nice.”

“Well, before I came, I made a play guide.” Layla said with a smile.

“You have to go skiing in Gushan. I have been to many countries to ski, and our skiing experience in Gushan is the best.”

Chapter 2713

“Okay, I’ll take a look.”

After the talk, everyone went to dinner together.

The climate in the Northland was cold, and people there liked to drink.

“President Tate, this was a relatively famous wine here. I don’t know if you have heard of it.” The person in charge of the partner took a bottle of wine and handed it to Layla for her to see.

Layla didn’t drink alcohol, so naturally she didn’t study the brands of alcohol.

“Is this white wine?” Layla saw that the wine was transparent.

“Yes! We all drink liquor here. It feels good to drink.” The assistant immediately said, “We, President Tate, don’t drink alcohol. Let’s drink some beer!”

“Hehe, you can try a little.” The person in charge opened the wine, took an empty glass, and poured a little for Layla.

Seeing that the other party didn’t want to get herself drunk, Layla sincerely wanted her to taste the famous wine here, so she readily picked up the wine glass and took a sip.

Her willow eyebrows immediately frowned.

“Hahaha! President Tate, how do you feel?”

Layla: “It’s a bit spicy...”

“It seems that you really don’t know how to drink. Then you should drink!” The other party didn’t make things difficult for her.

“It’s not that I can’t drink at all. I can drink a little red wine, and I can also drink some beer.” Layla picked up a chopstick and put it in her mouth.

The taste of white wine was really too strong.

“Women here also drink red wine. My wife is especially good at drinking. She can drink better than me.” The person in charge said, asking the waiter to bring red wine and beer.

“Then I’ll try a little more white wine!” Layla passed the wine glass towards him, “A little bit will be fine.”

“You pour it yourself.” The other party gave her the bottle directly.

The assistant reminded in a low voice: “Boss, don’t get drunk. Liquor is easy to get drunk.”

“I should be fine if I drink a little. Do you want to try it?” The assistant shook her head: “I won’t drink it. Wait for you If you’re drunk, I’ll take you back to the hotel.”

“Since you said so, I’ll let you drink.” Layla said so, but didn’t pour much wine.

An hour and a half later, it was getting dark outside and the street lights were on.

The assistant helped Rilla out of the restaurant.

Layla didn’t drink much alcohol, but she couldn’t hold back the high alcohol content.

Layla ate a lot after drinking, but she was still a little drunk.

“Boss, do you want to vomit? If you want to vomit, there is a trash can over there.” The assistant smelled the alcohol on Layla’s body and felt a little nauseous.

Layla smiled and shook her head.

Ever since Layla was drunk, she had kept a weird smile on her face.

It’s actually not weird.

Layla had a pretty smile.

It’s just that in normal work, the assistant rarely saw the boss laughing like this continuously.

“I’m so happy, I’m so happy...I’m the happiest person in the world...” Layla muttered, “I’m not going back to the hotel...I’m going to climb Snow mountain...I want to cry to the sky.”

Assistant: “...”

“No, I want someone to come and climb the snow mountain with me!” Layla shook her head and took out her cell phone from her pocket.

Chapter 2714

“Boss! What kind of mountain are you climbing so late...I’ll take you back to rest! Be good!” The assistant took Layla’s arm and wanted to take her to the hotel.

But Layla moved quickly out of the way.

She drank wine, and now she was very energetic.

The assistant had never seen Layla like this.

Usually Layla was synonymous with intelligence and elegance in her heart, but now Layla had changed from a fairy to a real person who could be touched.

She’s still cute, but a little overwhelming.

The assistant was panting from exhaustion, and stood by to watch Layla dial a number. She didn’t know who Layla called.

The assistant was hesitating, and after Layla finished the call, she simply asked the bodyguard to carry her back to the hotel.

Otherwise, Layla would go crazy later and insist on climbing a mountain, what should she do?

Although she was the boss, it’s impossible for the assistant to let her do such a dangerous thing.

If something happened to her, the Foster family would definitely hold her accountable.

After the phone rang for a while, it was connected.

Eric's voice came from the phone: "Hello, are you still in Bregon?"

Layla: "Eric...come...come to climb the snow mountain! I have something to tell you...you can do it face to face... Climb the snow mountain while talking."

Layla spoke intermittently, and hiccupped in the middle.

Eric heard that Layla tone was abnormal.

Eric: "Layla, have you been drinking?"

"I drank a little... really just a little... I can drink well... I'm not drunk." Layla said, a gust of cold wind blew, blowing on her red cheeks, she immediately moved towards the assistant and hugged the assistant, "Are you coming... If you don't come... "

Layla's mind was a little fuzzy at the moment, and she didn't know where she was.

So she obediently gave the phone to the assistant.

The assistant took her mobile phone, saw Eric's name displayed on the screen, and immediately said cautiously: "Hi Mr. Eric, I am the assistant of our President Tate."

"Did she drink too much?" Eric heaved a sigh of relief when he heard the assistant's voice sound sober.

"Actually, my boss doesn't drink much...but what she drank was white wine... just a small cup...who knew this wine would have such a strong aftertaste." The assistant complained, "I'm going to ask the bodyguard to carry her to the hotel. She has been dragging me outside just now, it's so cold outside..."

Eric: "Which hotel are you at?"

The assistant told Eric the name of the hotel: "Eric, do you really want to come? It will take 18 hours to fly from Aryadelle!"

Eric hesitated.

Layla heard the assistant's words, and answered: "Come! Ask him to come! I have something to tell him...I have to make it clear in person...I can't make it clear on the phone."

The assistant held Layla's cell phone in one hand and supported Layla in the other.

The weight of Layla's body was not resting on the assistant, and the assistant felt that she was a little drunk, but not completely drunk and unconscious.

What if Layla really wanted to tell Eric face to face?

So the assistant conveyed to Eric: "My boss has something to tell you. Do you have time to come over... We finished talking about the cooperation today, and my boss plans to play here for a few days of."

Eric: "Well, I'll go there! Take her back to the hotel to rest quickly."

"Okay." The assistant hung up the phone, put her mobile phone in her bag, and then told the bodyguard to take Layla back to the hotel.

The next day, nine o'clock in the morning.

Layla woke up with a splitting headache, got out of bed and went to the bathroom.

Ten minutes later, she washed her face and came out.

The assistant was worried about her last night, so she slept on the sofa in the small living room outside her bedroom.

Chapter 2715

The assistant heard the movement in the bedroom and immediately knocked on the bedroom door.

Layla opened the door.

"Boss, how are you feeling today? Are you hungry? What do you want to eat?"

Why don't you drink a bottle of water first! Your lips are a bit dry." The assistant said, unscrewed a bottle of water, and handed it to Layla.

Layla took the water bottle and drank it. "Boss, don't drink red wine again. The alcohol content of red wine is too high for people like us who can drink normally. Do you remember what happened after you came out of the restaurant last night?" the assistant asked.

Layla drank half of the bottle of water and screwed on the cap. There was a churn in her stomach, she was so hungry.

"Is there anything to eat? I'm so hungry." Layla walked out of the bedroom, planning to find a menu to order and have it delivered.

"Boss, I bought you porridge this morning. I'll go and see if it's cold." The assistant handed her the menu, and then checked the breakfast temperature, "Boss, it's still warm."

"Then let me have some porridge first!" Layla walked to the table, picked up a spoon, and started eating porridge.

As the discomfort in her stomach gradually eased, Layla suddenly remembered the question her assistant had just asked her.

"What happened last night?" Layla's blank expression made the assistant dumbfounded.

"Boss, why don't I bring you the phone so you can look at the call history?" the assistant said, already taking steps, and went to the bedroom to get Layla's phone.

"What are you doing looking at the call log?" Layla took another mouthful of porridge calmly. Her stomach felt better, but her head was still dizzy.

She would never drink liquor again. It hurt when she drank it, and also it hurt after she drank it.

"Boss, look who you called." The assistant handed her her mobile phone.

She picked up the phone, unlocked it, and turned it on.

Layla stared blankly. The call showed that the call was made last night, and the call lasted for five minutes.

Layla's face flushed suddenly, and she looked at the assistant: "What did I say to him on the phone last night? Did I not talk nonsense?"

The assistant suppressed a smile: "I don't know if that's considered nonsense. Because you kept saying that you were not drunk, you asked him to come to Bregon to meet you, and you still said you had something to say to him. "

Layla: "..."

Drinking wine was for her a mistake!

She did think about meeting Eric in the past two days, and told him that she would never contact him again. But she hadn't made up her mind yet!

It took a lot of determination to really not even be friends with Eric.

Well now!

She called Eric when she was drunk, and when Eric arrived, it would be bad if she didn't say something serious!

Eighteen hours of flight time after all!

That's all! Maybe this was God's will.

God made a decision for her to make a clean break between her and Eric!

"Boss, Eric is really good to you! Last night you were obviously drunk and asked him to come to Bregon, and he agreed without hesitation. If it was me, I would definitely wait for the other party to sober up before confirming. "After all, the Northland is too far away!" the assistant said with a smile.

Layla was pale and not in high spirits. "I can't even be friends with him in the future."

"Why? Boss, don't you like him very much?"

"Because I can't be together with him. Since we can't be together, we should stop contacting him.” Layla said her decision.

Chapter 2716

The assistant looked regretful, but also understood her decision: “Boss, you are so nice, you will definitely find a man who loves you very much.”

“I don’t want to be emotional now, and I’m not in a hurry anymore.” Layla said relaxedly, “I was so anxious before, actually because I wanted to be with Eric.”

Now that it was impossible, Layla was naturally not in a hurry.

“Boss, even people like you have things that don’t go well. Thinking about it this way, I don’t think I have anything to worry about.” The assistant sighed, “People may be alive because of calamities.”

Layla made a smile: “Don’t say that, there are still many more beautiful things than annoying things. After I came here, I figured it out a lot. It should be said that as time goes by, the feeling of pain is really decreasing every day. Time is really a good thing.”

Assistant: “Boss, you said last night that you wanted to climb snow-capped mountains...so I checked the strategy. It is very tiring to really climb snowcapped mountains on foot. Let’s not choose this kind! There is a snow-capped mountain scenic spot, we can take the cable car up. We can take the cable car to the snow mountain to take a look and take pictures. But the cable car can only take us to the position of 1,000 meters from the snow mountain. Maybe the view is not as spectacular as the higher place, but this is what most people choose method. Let’s choose this one!”

After a moment of silence, Layla asked, “I asked Eric to come to the Northland last night, did he really agree to come?”

Layla vaguely remembered that she made a phone call, but she couldn’t remember who she called or what she said.

“Why don’t you call him to confirm?” The assistant didn’t have Eric’s contact information, and she didn't know if Eric had left.

Layla picked up the phone and dialed Eric.

—Sorry, the user you dialed has turned off the phone, please try again later.

When the system prompt sounded, Layla put down the phone.

Eric should be on the plane right now.

Layla sighed.

It's really frustrating.

She could go back to Aryadelle and talk to him, why did she call him here?

"If I want to drink liquor in the future, you must stop me." Layla said to the assistant with one hand on her forehead.

Layla: "Forget it! I should be able to control myself."

The main reason was that liquor was not very good for her. She won't think about drinking it a second time.

"Boss, when do you want to climb the snow mountain? You need to buy tickets. I'll book tickets in advance. It's the peak tourist season, and there are quite a lot of tourists." The assistant asked.

Layla: "Let's talk about it when Eric arrives!"

"Oh, do you want to go to the snow mountain alone with Eric? Then shall I go with you, or wait for you at the hotel?" the assistant asked.

Layla: "When the time comes, you can move freely."

Assistant: "I also want to go to the snow mountain to see the excitement."

"Then we'll go there together." Layla didn't really care if the assistant followed, after all, she and Eric should be able to finish talking soon.

.....

Aryadelle, Nantah University.

A strange text message entered Hazel's cell phone.

The person who texted her said it was her sister's good friend Malcolm, who said he was in a cafe outside Nantah University and wanted to meet her.

Hazel remembered that she seemed to have seen this name before. But not sure where she saw him.

She sent a message to Robert, asking if Layla had a friend named Malcolm.

Robert replied: [Why did you suddenly ask him? F*ck, he must be the one looking for my sister! He is my sister's suitor, the prince of Carinovelle, that my sister posted in her circle of friends before!]

Hazel: [Why haven't I heard from my sister! He said he wanted to see me, did he come to me because he wanted to tell me about my sister?]

Robert: [Ah, this guy! He pissed me off recently, that's why I blocked him! He likes my sister, but my sister has ignored him recently. Sister ignores him, it's useless for him to find her! So, you ignore him!]

Chapter 2717

Hazel didn't expect such a situation, and didn't know how to react for a while.

Robert sent another message: [Actually, it's okay if you talk to him. He's not bad, but he always acts like he's been abandoned. I don't know how to persuade him.]

Hazel asked: [How was your sister's relationship with him before?]

Robert: [It should be a relationship with a friend! My sister doesn't feel that way about him, she only treats him as a friend. But he obviously didn't think so.]

After thinking for a few seconds, Hazel replied: [He is outside my university. Since he is my sister's friend and I found him again, I'd better go see him! See if I can persuade him to think about it.]

Robert: [I thought the same as you at first, but then I found that I can't do anything! If he keeps annoying you, you block him right away.]

Hazel: [Okay, got it.]

An hour later, Hazel came to the coffee shop where Malcolm was.

Hazel recognized Malcolm at a glance, and Malcolm recognized Hazel at a glance.

Because Malcolm was the only foreigner in the coffee shop.

Malcolm recognized Hazel because after Hazel entered the store, his eyes locked on him directly.

Malcolm beckoned to Hazel, and Hazel immediately walked towards him.

“Hazel, hello. I’m your sister’s friend Malcolm. I don’t know if your sister has mentioned me to you.” Malcolm offered to speak with a smile.

Hazel shook her head: “My sister has gone to Northland.”

Malcolm: “I know. I feel sorry, I liked her a lot, but I didn’t make her like me.”

“I believe that there must be many people who like you and confess to you, but not everyone can accept your confession.” Hazel’s answer surprised Malcolm.

Malcolm: “Do you think there is hope for me and your sister?”

Hazel’s clear eyes looked at his young and handsome face: “I think you are clear in your heart.”

Malcolm laughed loudly: “You speak more directly than your sister.”

Hazel blushed in embarrassment: “I thought I was already being tactful.”

Malcolm: “Your expression is very tactful, and what you say sounds very tactful.

You work hard to be tactful. But this is more to the point.”

Hazel said sincerely: “It’s good if I can help you.”

Outside the coffee shop, someone held a mobile phone and took a sneak photo of them facing the floor-to-ceiling windows.

About half an hour later, Hazel ended meeting with Malcolm.

Malcolm sent her out very politely.

“No need to send me off. I’m afraid I’ll meet my classmates, and I won’t be able to explain it.” After Hazel waved goodbye to him, she walked quickly towards the University.

Probably in the evening, on the University forum, a photo of Hazel and Malcolm meeting in a coffee shop appeared.

Hazel’s face could be clearly seen in the photo, but only Malcolm’s back could be seen.

There was a voting competition in the University forum, and voted for the flowers and grasses of each department.

Hazel had never visited the University forum, so she didn’t know that she was very popular in the broadcasting and hosting department.

With her pure and clean temperature, she ranked among the top three in popularity.

So when a photo of her drinking coffee with foreigners appeared on the forum, it immediately aroused widespread discussion.

Someone anonymously commented: [This girl looks down on you because she likes mature men!]

Chapter 2718

Meeting foreigners didn’t mean anything.

Didn’t he do something dirty? As for taking sneak shots and posting them on the University forum?

There were still many students who were very disgusted with this behavior and spoke up for Hazel.

When Hazel saw the group news, the group was discussing this matter enthusiastically.

Group friend 1: It must be someone from our department who did it, right?

People from other departments wouldn't be so boring!

Group friend 2: I hate those candid photographers the most! If you are f*cking sick, go get a cure, okay? Others have to take pictures when they drink coffee.

Have you never drank coffee or met foreigners?! Poor thing!

Group friend 3: I think this candid photographer is probably Hazel's suitor!

Maybe the courtship will not work, so seeing Hazel with foreigners, I am crazy with jealousy!

As soon as this inference came out, a female classmate immediately said:

There are indeed people pursuing Hazel these days. I saw it with my own eyes.

This person is indeed from our broadcasting department, and he is in the group!

When Hazel saw this, the face of the boy with glasses appeared in her mind.

Originally, she had no impression of that boy, nor could she remember his name, but now, that boy's face suddenly became clear in her mind.

Since Hazel went to college, she hadn't had any conflicts with anyone.

She was kind to everyone, and she was not the only boy with glasses who asked for her contact information, but after she refused to meet once or twice, other boys were very interested and stop looking for her, only the boy with glasses had followed her.

Taking photos of her secretly and posting them on the forum this time was even worse.

In order to prevent this kind of thing from happening again in the future, Hazel didn't intend to suffer in silence.

After seeing the news in the group, the boy with glasses had no choice but to come out and respond.

The university forum was an anonymous forum, and everyone did not know the real identity of the person who posted it.

The boy with glasses: I'm the one you're talking about pursuing Hazel, right? I did confess my love to Hazel, but she didn't agree. This matter is over, and she and I are just classmates now, and we have deleted each other's contact information. I just saw the forum, everyone guesses, please don't point the finger at me, thank you!

After the boy in glasses sent a long string of texts, Hazel also spoke out.

Hazel: Since it's not you, I'll go to the forum administrator now and find out who posted the post. Then there are the boys who sarcastically follow the post.

Administrators can see the real information of each account. Even if the identity number cannot be found, at least the registered mobile phone number can be found.

The forum was registered with a mobile phone number.

The mobile phone number was a real-name system.

So even if only the mobile phone number was found, the real identity of the person who posted the post could be found.

After Hazel said these words, many students in the group supported her.

And someone posted the account of the forum administrator to the group, asking Hazel to contact him.

Hazel copied the administrator account and planned to add it.

At this time, someone added her as a friend.

She opened it and saw that it was a boy with glasses.

The verification message of the boy with glasses reads: Please Accept! I have something to tell you.

Hazel thought about it and accepted.

The boy with glasses immediately sent her a message: Sorry! Please don't ask the administrator. I will delete the posts on the forum! Please don't tell everyone

I did it.

Hazel: Why?

Boy with glasses: Because I'm afraid that everyone will hate me if they know the truth.

Hazel: What I asked was why did you secretly film me? You only think about yourself, have you considered the impact you have on me?

Boy with glasses: You hired someone to do the work of my cannery! I have resentment in my heart, what's wrong? Do you expect me to thank you for doing something disgraceful?

Hazel: Is your cannery in normal operation now or closed down?

Chapter 2719

Hazel remembered that her mother said that she would not really do anything to his canning factory.

Boy with glasses: What, you want to deal with my cannery again? I just apologized to you! I secretly took photos of you and posted them on the forum, I couldn't be more angry! You lied to me when you said that your family was poor, right? I see you had a great time chatting with that foreigner!

Hazel looked at the message he sent, and her body trembled slightly with anger.

Layla had always said that Hazel was too soft-hearted and easily bullied.

Hazel felt that the reason why the boy with glasses dared to be so presumptuous might indeed be because he had such a good temper.

She took a deep breath, took a screenshot of the chat history between herself and the boy with glasses, and sent it to the group.

After the screenshot was sent to the group, she immediately explained accordingly: If I had that much ability, I wouldn't be harassed by him repeatedly.

That's all for this matter. At the same time, students are reminded to be cautious when making friends.

After Hazel sent the message in the group, she finally felt happy.

When she was about to delete the boy with glasses from her facebook friend list, she hesitated.

She thought that if she posted the screenshot of the chat in the group, he would be so angry that he would curse, but unexpectedly, he didn't send a message.

Now the whole department knew what kind of person he was, as he said, after everyone knew the truth, they might hate him.

But everything was his own fault.

When Hazel got home, her mood was basically calm.

The matter had been settled, and she didn't plan to tell her parents.

She thought that mom and dad shouldn't go to see their University's forum.

"Hazel, are you hungry? The meal is ready." Seeing her daughter coming back, Avery immediately took her schoolbag with a smile.

Every night when Hazel came back, Avery would ask her if she was hungry.

Hazel: "I'm a little hungry today. I have physical education class in the afternoon."

Avery: "Well, let's go eat first. I won't wait for your father."

Avery took Hazel to the dining room.

Hazel: "Is Dad going to work overtime today?"

"I called him just now, and he said that he still has some things to deal with, so it shouldn't be too late to work overtime." Avery said, "How was your day at University?"

So Hazel told her mother what she learned in class today.

Every time Hazel went home for dinner, the mother and daughter would have such a conversation.

Hazel liked this kind of conversation very much.

When answering her mother, She could also recall what she had learned.

After a while, Hazel's cell phone rang.

Hazel picked up the phone and saw that it was the counselor calling.

She had an intuition that the counselor calling herself at this moment might be because of today's forum.

"Mom, I'll go to the side to answer the phone. The teacher is calling."

Avery nodded.

Hazel walked to the living room and answered the phone.

"Hazel, about the forum, after I knew the situation, I immediately reported to my superiors. The above also immediately found the students who posted the post, talked to them separately, and warned them. And we focused on talking to him. He has deeply realized his mistakes, and he will apologize to you. We have also adjusted his curriculum. You two will not face each other in the future. Sorry! If your classmates harass you in the future, tell me immediately, and I will deal with it in time."

Hazel: "Thank you, teacher!"

"You're welcome. This is what the school should do. Have you told your parents?"

"No. It's already been dealt with, so there's no need to talk about it." After Hazel said this, Avery walked away from the dining room come over.

Chapter 2720

Hazel hung up the phone and faced Avery.

"Teacher is looking for you right now, is there nothing wrong?" Avery originally wanted to wait for his daughter to finish talking on the phone in the dining room. But She couldn't let go of it.

“It’s nothing...it’s the boy from the cannery before. He saw me meeting Malcolm in the coffee shop, so he secretly took a picture and posted it on the University forum...” Hazel didn’t plan to say it, but if she didn’t, she was afraid that her mother would ask the teacher in private.

“Did you meet Malcolm today?” Avery focused on this, “Why did he ask you?”

“He likes my sister, but she seems to ignore him. He feels uncomfortable, so he complained to me.” Hazel Let her mother feel relieved, “I persuaded him, he probably won’t come to me in the future. He shouldn’t bother my sister anymore.”

Avery: “Why did that male classmate of yours post your photos on the forum?”

“He led others to believe that I am the type of dishonest girl on purpose.” Hazel took her mother to the dining room, “The school has deleted the photos and messy posts on the forum. The teacher said that the course of the male classmate has also been adjusted. I won’t run into him in the future.”

Avery nodded: “Has he apologized to you?”

Hazel turned on the phone and showed it to her mother: “He felt regret. Just now, he sent it.”

Avery looked at the screen of her mobile phone, and the male classmate indeed sent a long message, promising not to harass her again in the future.

“A good-looking girl from an ordinary family is easily harassed by men with bad intentions.” Avery said to her daughter, “If you encounter such a thing in the future, you still have to tell your mother. You’re still young, and you don’t understand that bad people have no reason to be bad.”

Hazel nodded: “I never encountered such a thing when I was ugly before.”

“This kind of thing will happen in the future. But you don’t have to be afraid because most people are normal, with only a few exceptions.”

“Well, Mom, let’s eat!” Hazel was really hungry. After sitting down, she ate heartily.

Avery’s appetite was not very good.

.....

Eric had gone to the Northland. Before leaving for the Northland, Eric told Avery.

Because Layla asked Eric to go, Avery didn’t say anything.

Avery also didn’t call Layla to ask why Eric was called to go to Northland.

At the same time, she didn’t tell Elliot about it.

“Hazel, do you know that your sister called Eric to the Northland?” Avery didn’t tell Elliot, but she could talk to her daughter.

Hazel didn’t even think about it, and immediately shook her head: “My sister didn’t tell me. Why did my sister call Mr. Eric to Bregon?”

Avery shook her head: “I don’t know what your sister thinks. She didn’t tell me.”

Hazel: “Mom, don’t worry. My sister may just call Mr. Eric to see the snow scene.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing after hearing what Hazel said.

“Actually, no matter what they do, I can accept it.” Avery was only worried about Elliot’s reaction after he knew about it.

“Your sister is not in a good mood recently. It may be more convenient for you two to speak your mind. Chat with your sister when you are free.” Avery said.

“Well. I’ll send her a message after I eat.”

After Hazel finished her meal, she went back to her room.

After she sent a message to her sister, she opened the dialog box of the boy with glasses again.

After re-reading his apology, Hazel deleted his contact information.

In the group, this topic had not been continued.

In the University forum, normal order had also been restored.

She saw a flower and grass selection event, so she clicked in.

In the main building of the post were photos and votes of some students.

She found the building of the broadcasting and hosting department, looked around, and then flipped through the comments.

–Why are Hazel's options gone? [] I still plan to vote for her!

–Yes indeed! Hazel is gone! I watched it an hour ago! Did Hazel ask to delete it?

Chapter 2721

–This is just an entertainment activity, why should I be implicated! I saw that Hazel has reached the second place! In fact, Hazel is number one in my heart! However, the one who ranks first now has a lot of background, and I heard that he spent money on tickets.

.....

Hazel's face flushed. She did not expect such a voting activity on the forum.

She didn't even know that she was quite popular.

Although she didn't care about these false names, she didn't expect so many people to vote for her, and she was quite happy.

She didn't ask the administrator to delete her vote, it should have been deleted by the forum.

It didn't matter if she deleteed it, she didn't want to attract too many people's attention.

The more attention, the more trouble.

After a while, Layla replied to her message.

Layla: [I won't be back until two days later. I haven't seen the snow mountain yet!]

Just now Hazel sent her a message asking when Layla would come back.

Hazel: [Elder sister, are you going to climb the snow mountain by yourself?]

Layla: [I'm afraid I can't climb it. I plan to take the cable car up at that time, just feel it.]

Hazel: [Oh, take more beautiful photos then.]

Layla: [Mmm.]

Holding the phone, Hazel wanted to ask her sister about Eric, but she was too embarrassed to ask.

If she lets her sister know that they all know, will her sister feel awkward?

Two minutes later, Layla's message came again: [I called Eric to Bregon. I plan to go to the snow mountain with him. At that time, I will completely break up with him, and I will never contact him again.]

Hazel was shocked when she saw the news from Layla.

Because she was shocked, she didn't know how to reply to the message.

She took her mobile phone, came out of the room, and called her mother.

Elliot came back, and Avery was accompanying Elliot on the first floor right now.

Hearing Hazel's call, Avery immediately walked towards the stairs.

Elliot also walked over.

"You go to eat!" Avery pushed him, "My daughter called me, but she didn't call you."

"I see why my daughter called you." Elliot was pushed away a step, and then followed Avery's footsteps.

Hazel came down from the stairs, and when she saw her parents looking at her expectantly, she immediately blushed.

"Dad, when did you come back? I didn't call you." Hazel's smile was so bright that Elliot laughed too.

"Dad just came back. Why are you calling mom?" Elliot asked.

Hazel lied without showing any signs: "I want my mother to help me choose clothes. I just saw a few winter coats online, and I don't know which one to choose."

"Can the quality of online shopping pass the test? If you want to buy a coat, Dad will have someone bring it home for you to pick out tomorrow." Elliot said fondly.

Avery glared at Elliot: "You don't understand the joy of unpacking our women's online shopping, go and eat!"

Avery took Hazel upstairs.

Upstairs, Hazel immediately showed Avery the news that her sister had just sent.

.....

Northland.

Layla and Eric had breakfast in the hotel restaurant.

"I've already bought a ticket to the snow mountain. I'll be on the snow mountain later, and I have something to tell you." Layla took a sip of milk and said solemnly.

Chapter 2722

Eric arrived last night. After arriving, he rested overnight in the hotel.

"Go and buy a thicker coat later!" Layla looked at the coat on his body, which was brought from Aryadelle.

The temperature there was much colder than in Aryadelle, and the thickness of domestic coats was not enough to resist the cold outside in the Northland.

And when they got to the snow-capped mountains, the temperature would be even colder.

If he just went up the snow-capped mountains like this, he would definitely suffer from frostbite.

“Hmm,” Eric responded.

“There is a clothing store near the hotel. That’s where I bought my coat.” Layla said. She came here earlier than him, and was a little more familiar with this place than him.

“Okay. Have you finished all your work?” Eric asked.

Layla: “It’s all settled. But even if I don’t call you, I will stay here for a few days. The scenery here is very good.”

When Layla spoke, she looked out of the floor-to-ceiling windows glanced.

Beautiful snow scenes could be seen everywhere there.

The pure white sky and snow could temporarily eliminate all distracting thoughts in the mind, and even the mind turned white, as if by magic.

“Don’t drink alcohol with such a strong alcohol content in the future. Especially outside.” Eric recalled her drunken tone that night, and said seriously.

“I’m not drunk.” Layla argued, “If I was really drunk, would I be able to call you so accurately? If I was really drunk, maybe the call would go to my brother or my dad.”

Layla had a point.

After Eric finished his breakfast, he took a tissue to pat the corners of his mouth, and said, “I told your mother before I came here.”

Layla raised her eyebrows immediately, “What are you talking to my mother about? I’m afraid they will find out, Are you afraid they won’t know?”

“We meet normally, so don’t be afraid of being known by them.” Eric explained.

“Since we met normally, why did you report to my mother?” Layla glared at him,

“When we met before, did we need to report to my parents?”

Eric picked up his water glass and took a sip.

“Why are you guilty? You told my mother...” Layla muttered, picking up her mobile phone to see if her mother had found her.

But Avery didn't say anything other than asking Layla if she had eaten and how she was sleeping.

"My mother didn't say anything." Layla was a little surprised, "Dad didn't say anything, didn't my mom tell my dad?"

"Maybe she didn't! Your dad didn't look for me either." Eric said and put drinking glass down.

"Oh..." Layla didn't like the sneaky feeling.

She obviously didn't make a mistake, so why should she feel guilty and afraid?

"I'm full, do you still want to eat?" Layla put down the tableware and asked.

"I'm full too. Didn't you say there is a clothing store nearby? Let's go and have a look." Eric put on the mask and stood up.

"It will take about ten minutes to walk there. You are too thin to wear, let's go by car!" Layla said, asking the bodyguards to go to the hotel to call for a car.

After the car was called, the two got in the car.

There were no vehicles or pedestrians on the road because the temperature was too cold.

It was now snowing, the road was slick, and the driver was driving more slowly.

Five minutes later, the car stopped at the door of the clothing store.

After getting off the car, Layla introduced to Eric: "This brand of clothing is a very famous brand in the local area. The clothes are really good, and they are very warm."

Layla was wearing a down jacket purchased from this store.

Eric stared at her clothes, and asked, "Why don't you buy long ones? Long ones are warmer."

Layla: "I also bought these trousers from their store. Down trousers are also very warm. Actually, I think wearing long styles will make people look bloated.”

Eric: “In this extremely cold temperature, keeping warm is the most important thing.”

After the two entered the store, Eric chose a long men’s down jacket.

Chapter 2723

“Are you afraid of the cold?” Layla stood by and laughed.

Eric: “Didn’t you say you were going to the snow-capped mountains?”

Layla: “Yes! You should buy a long style! I didn’t laugh at you. You are tall, so it will fit you comfortably no matter how long you wear it.”

Eric would get hot quickly after putting on this down jacket.

Because there was heating in the store.

“Just this one!” Eric took off his coat.

“You should buy another pair of down pants! Otherwise your legs will be cold.”

Layla stood in front of the shelf and gave him a pair of men’s down pants.

Eric took it and looked at the size.

“Is it the right size? you’ll take whatever.” Layla didn’t know what size his pants were.

“It fits, just right.” Eric took the trousers and went to the dressing room to put them on.

Layla went to the women’s clothing section and looked at the long styles.

It’s still the styles she saw when she came to buy last time.

“Miss, would you like to try this long one? This one is similar to the one your boyfriend bought. Many couples choose these two styles as couple clothes!”

The Sales Person recommended a long down jacket to Layla.

Without even thinking about it, Layla refused: “He’s not my boyfriend. I just look at it, I don’t buy it.”

“Okay!” The Sales Person hung the clothes back to their original positions.

After a while, Eric came out of the dressing room wearing down pants.

“How are you feeling?” Layla asked.

Eric: “It’s really warm.”

Layla: “Then buy this! Put on the coat again, and we can go.”

The Sales Person asked: “Where are you going to play?”

Layla: “We go to the snowy mountains.”

The Sales Person: “Oh, do you need gloves? It’s very cold over there. I think you need a pair of gloves. There are also hats and scarves...we have them in our store. Do you want to see them?”

Eric had already walked towards the place where hats, scarves and gloves were sold.

When the two came out of the store, the snow was heavier than before.

“Is it snowing here all the time?” When Eric came over last night, it was also snowing.

Layla shook her head: “No. It’s just that it snows a lot.”

Eric opened the car door and said to Layla, “Let’s go!”

Layla got in.

After Eric also came in, Layla asked: “Do you know what I’m going to tell you?”

Eric: “Didn’t we talk about it on the snowy mountains?”

If Layla couldn’t help but say it now, Then will they continue to go to the snow mountain?

“Are you so patient?” Layla teased.

“You always tell me what you want to say. It’s impossible to call me here, you just show me the scenery!” Eric had already adjusted his mood before coming over.

Layla also adjusted her mood, "Well. Before you came here, have you seen pictures of snow-capped mountains? They are very spectacular. Even if it is not for other things, it is worthwhile to come and see."

"Are these the ones you shared on Moments?" Eric didn't come to travel, so he didn't check the travel map here on the Internet.

Layla: "Of course not. I haven't been to a snow mountain yet! The ones I post on Moments are just snow scenes taken casually by the roadside."

"Have you brought your camera?" Eric asked.

Layla shook her head: "Just use your mobile phone to take pictures."

"When do you plan to return to Aryadelle?" Eric continued to ask.

Layla brushed her hair behind her ears: "In two days! I have booked a travel itinerary for tomorrow and the day after tomorrow with my assistant. You can also play here for a few more days, if you have nothing particularly important in Aryadelle. After all, you may not come here again in the future."

Chapter 2724

In fact, Layla's remarks had already revealed some information.

That was, even if Eric continued to travel in the Northland, Layla would not accompany him.

Eric understood the meaning of her words, but the expression on his face was still calm: "I'll see if there are any other interesting attractions here after I see the snow mountain."

"My assistant has a strategy guide. I'll ask her to send it to you later." Layla said generously.

"Okay. Why didn't your assistant accompany you?" Eric asked.

Layla: "She also went to play in the snow mountain today. I asked her to come with us, but she said she was afraid of disturbing our chat, so she acted alone."

After an hour's drive, the car stopped at the foot of the snow mountain.

This was a famous tourist attraction in the Northland.

There were a lot of tourists.

"The snow here is much smaller." After getting off the car, Eric said, "Put on your hat and scarf. The snow here is small, but the temperature is cold."

Only a pair of clear eyes could be seen outside after Layla put on her hat and scarf.

Even at the age of 25, Layla's eyes were still genuine and pure, which was extremely rare.

"Gloves." Seeing that she was not wearing gloves, Eric immediately reminded her.

Layla pulled the gloves out of her bag and put them on.

"Zip up the jacket." Eric continued to remind.

Layla exhaled: "Why do you sound like you are taking care of a child! I'm not cold."

Although Layla said it was not cold, she still pulled the zipper to the highest point.

Now her whole body was tightly wrapped except for her eyes, and she couldn't feel the cold at all.

"Where's the ticket?" Eric asked as he walked beside her.

"Ordered on the mobile phone. Just show the order on the mobile phone later."

Layla took out the mobile phone, "I can't use the mobile phone even if I wear gloves."

Eric: "You still want to play with the mobile phone in such a cold day? Your hands will get frostbite."

"How can I show others the order if I don't unlock it?" Layla retorted to him.

The two walked to the ticket gate at the gate and lined up.

“There’s a store over there.” Eric saw a store, “Why don’t you buy something to eat!”

Layla: “Didn’t you say that it’s too cold, and your hands will get frostbite if you take it out? You took off your scarf to eat, and your face is so pale. Don’t you also have frostbite?”

Eric knew that she was deliberately teasing him, but he was afraid that he would encounter traffic jams on the snowy mountains later, so he decided to buy something to eat.

Layla watched his back going to the store, her nose suddenly sore.

She felt like being forced to reboot, thinking that Eric would forever disappear from her life from now on.

Suddenly she felt a little out of breath. Immediately she lowered the zipper around her neck, and felt her palms sweat again, so she took off a glove.

Although the temperature was low, she didn’t feel particularly afraid of the cold.

She took out her phone, clicked on the address book, found Eric’s number, and planned to delete it.

“Miss, please go forward.” The tourist behind Layla reminded Layla that there was a lot of space in front of her.

Layla immediately put away her phone and took a few steps forward.

There were still about ten meters ahead to the ticket gate.

Layla looked towards the store, looking for Eric.

The speed of entering the scenic spot was a little faster than she expected, she was afraid that it would be her turn to enter later, and Eric hadn’t come yet.

Eric also kept an eye on Layla’s situation. Seeing that Layla had moved forward, he immediately took out his wallet and paid the bill.

Layla saw that Eric was carrying a black bag, and she didn't know what he had bought in it.

Eric strode towards Layla.

Layla put the gloves on immediately.

"What did you buy?" Layla asked.

Eric showed her the bag, "Some bread, biscuits and drinks."

Chapter 2725

Layla was obviously not interested in these snacks he bought: "I don't like eating these."

"You had breakfast It's a bit small." Eric replied, "There are no high-end snacks here. You can satisfy your hunger later."

"I didn't say I want to eat high-end snacks." Layla scolded him, "I don't like snacks."

"You like to eat fruit. But there is no fruit for sale here." Although Eric was quite familiar with her preferences, he was unsure if they had changed since then.

"You don't need to buy fruit. It's too heavy to carry. We won't spend the night here." Layla looked at the team in front of her and said casually, "It's very fast to take the cable car. It's cold up there, and those who can stay there for half an hour are warriors."

"Have you bought the cable car ticket for the return trip?" Eric looked at the running cable car not far away and asked.

Layla: "When buying a ticket, the default is a round-trip ticket."

Soon, they arrived.

Layla took off the gloves, turned on the phone, and showed the order to the staff.

The staff immediately gave her four lift tickets — Two up, two down.

After getting the tickets, Layla handed two of them to Eric.

The two entered the scenic spot and went to the place where the cable car was taken.

There was also a queue for the cable car.

“Look over there.” Layla saw people hiking up the snow-capped mountains at the foot of the mountain on the other side.

“It needs someone with experience to guide you.” Eric said, “I have made a related movie before. Before shooting, I trained with local guides for a long time.”

Layla was very surprised: “Then you still do it now. Is it?”

Eric shook his head: “Professional equipment, professional guides, and experienced climbers are all required... Climbing and filming are not the same thing.”

“Oh..... I’m not interested in outdoor adventures. But maybe I will be interested in the future. My uncle Mike said that every stage of a person’s thinking will change.” Layla said, “He said that he used to hate small animals, but now he likes small animals very much. He even bought an egg incubator to incubate eggs at home.”

Eric was taken aback.

“Have you ever seen yourself incubate an egg?” Layla laughed, “You can search online, there are not only egg sellers, but also egg incubator sellers.”

Eric: “Have they hatched and raised them in the yard by yourself?”

Layla: It should be! But he hasn’t succeeded yet. He hatched a chick before, and the chick died within a few days. Now he hatches duck eggs and goose eggs.”

Eric couldn’t help laughing: “This is curiosity!”

Layla: “It should be a bit!”

The two arrived at the place where they took the cable car.

It took about twenty minutes before it was their turn to go up.

The cable car could only accommodate up to eight people, and there were not many cable cars here, so it took so long to queue up during the peak tourist season.

After entering the cable car, Eric stood in front of Layla and protected her inside.

The sense of security he gave Layla was the accumulation of each such relationship.

Layla turned her head to the side, looking at the scenery outside the cable car.

The mountain was covered with pure white snowflakes, reflecting a faint silver light under the natural light. At a glance, it was sacred and lonely.

The joys and sorrows of human beings had thus become insignificant.

They had no idea how long it would take the cable car to arrive at the destination.

This was the largest flat land on this snow mountain.

It was like being cut by a knife, in sharp contrast with the steep mountain not far away.

Eric patted Layla on the shoulder: "It's here."

Layla came back to her senses: "So soon?"

"Yes." Eric took her arm and walked out of the cable car, "Many people are taking pictures. Why don't I take some pictures for you first!"

He was afraid that after they finished talking, she wouldn't be in the mood to take pictures again.

Chapter 2726

Layla thought about it, then took out her phone, unlocked it, and handed it to him.

“Where is it?” Layla asked.

As tourists continued to come up, this flat snow field seemed a bit crowded.

In order to find a better location for shooting, some tourists even climbed up the hill that was not too steep.

Eric took her mobile phone and looked around.

Layla was also looking for less crowded places.

“Everywhere is crowded.” Layla said, “Just take a few photos here!”

“Come here.” Eric waved to Layla. He found a place with few people.

Layla immediately walked towards him.

Eric pointed down: “The view from that place is not as good as here, but naijdate.com you only need to have a good view from one side to take pictures.”

He meant that the two of them could go down and come up after taking pictures.

Layla took a look. It shouldn't be a problem for the two of them to go down, and there were obvious trampled footprints on the way down, and tourists should have taken pictures there.

“Is it so hard to take a photo?” Layla said in her mouth, but she was ready to go on.

Eric reached out to hold her arm, afraid that she would fall.

Eric: “Be careful.”

“Well...how did you find this place? It's down below. We shouldn't be able to see it from the place just now, right?” Layla walked down cautiously.

Eric explained: “When I came out of the cable car, I saw a couple climbing up from this direction.”

“Oh. Your eyes are really vicious.” Layla said, and asked again, “How do you know that they are a couple? Do you think they are a couple when you see a man and a woman? Then we two are also a couple in the eyes of others?”

Layla thought of that time when she was in the clothing store, and the sales person in the store also thought they were a couple.

This rhetorical question made Eric blush: "I think they held hands after they came up."

"...You observed very carefully." Layla teased, "We are also holding hands now." Although it was separated by gloves.

"Brothers and sisters can also hold hands, sisters can also hold hands. Good friends can also hold hands. Those who hold hands are not necessarily lovers."

After Layla successfully descended to this piece of snow that was not so flat but could still stand firmly, she still held firmly Eric's hand.

Eric hadn't fully come down yet.

"Okay, they're not a couple." Eric followed her words.

"I'm not arguing with you." Layla felt a little funny, so she laughed out loud, "I just feel that sometimes many things are not what we imagined. It's not like when I was a child, I thought that everything is what it is."

Eric jumped down, stood firm beside her.

"No matter what it is, it won't affect your future life." Eric quickly ended the topic and asked her to stand in a direction with a better view, "Unlock your phone."

He handed Layla her phone.

Layla unlocked the phone, clicked on the camera, and gave it to him.

Layla raised her hand and made a V. Remembering that her face was covered by the scarf, she immediately pulled the scarf down.

Eric held her mobile phone, pointed the camera at her, and waited for her to pose.

"Did you shoot it?" Layla asked.

"You're not posing." Eric turned his face away from the phone a little and looked at her.

“I just compared V.” Layla said, and continued to compare V, “Just this pose.”

“Okay.” After she settled the pose, Eric pressed the shutter, “It’s taken. Change the pose and take a few more pictures!”

“Do you dislike my stupid posture just now?” Layla stood there in embarrassment, not knowing what posture to take next.

She took a lot of selfies. If she took selfies by herself, she could put on a lot of cute expressions.

“Not stupid, very cute.” Eric showed her the photo he took just now.

Chapter 2727

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2727

“The light seems a little dark.” Layla glanced at the picture, and then looked at the sky, “It’s very windy right now.”

“You can fix the picture at that time.” Eric said, “Are you feeling cold?”

“A little bit. I won’t take pictures.” Layla took the phone from him, “Eric, I called you here to tell you that I don’t want to contact you in the future.”

Facing the howling cold wind, Layla mustered up her courage and finished the matter in one breath. After saying this, her heart beat wildly. She lowered her head, not daring to look at Eric’s face.

“I can start a new life only if I don’t contact you completely and delete all your contact information.” Layla looked at the snow under her feet, her eyes were a little hot, but she didn’t want to cry.

After all, she considered this matter for a few days and made a decision in her heart.

Eric replied calmly: “Yes. Layla, if this can help you start a new life quickly, I have no objections. I won’t bother you or your family in the future.”

After hearing what Eric said, Layla raised her head quickly.

Layla: "I didn't mean that. You have such a good relationship with my mother, don't be influenced by me."

"I don't have much contact with your mother." Eric said, "I only realized it later. It's not that you have to meet often to prove that you have a good relationship."

Layla stared blankly at his face, thinking that she would never see him again, so she wanted to watch him as long as possible.

After standing quietly like this for a while, in the distance, suddenly there was the first shrill scream!

"Run!" Someone uttered a second cry!

The quiet world was broken, Layla and Eric immediately looked towards the snow-capped mountains above!

They saw a large piece of white snow swelling, collapsing, and rolling down quickly on the top of the pure and holy snow mountain!

Layla had seen such shocking scenes in the movies.

She watched it in a disaster movie!

It's...an avalanche!

Eric also saw it.

Eric not only saw the avalanche, but also saw the people on the flat ground above, rushing frantically to the place where the cable car was taken.

There were voices of women crying, and voices of men roaring. If you naijdate.com listen carefully, even wailing of children's voice came.

Almost out of conditioned reflex, Eric immediately held Layla's hand tightly.

"Go!" Eric took her hand, wanting to take her away from here, but he didn't know where to run.

The cable car could only take eight people at a time.

But now there were more than eight tourists stranded on the snow-capped mountains... At a glance, eight hundred or one thousand may be possible.

It was absolutely impossible for them to overwhelm those people.

"We can't go anymore." Layla's face was pale, her lips trembling slightly.

She had never been in such danger. All along, her family had protected her in a safe greenhouse, so she rarely thought about what to do when she encountered such an extreme disaster.

In fact, even thinking about it was useless.

She really encountered it, and she couldn't hide it at all.

"Let's go down!" Eric wanted to take her out of here.

No matter what method was used, he could die here, but he couldn't let Layla die with him.

"Eric, there is no way to go down...we can't go down." Layla held his big palm tightly, afraid that she would fall down, and the two would be separated after the fall.

If she had to die, she wanted to die with him.

At least it's less lonely and less scary.

Eric took another look at the large expanse of snow that was rolling down quickly, because the speed of the falling was so fast, it looked like a large cloud of snow fog at first glance.

Chapter 2728

"Let's go down and find a place to escape the impact!" Eric has made related movies before, and he had heard about avalanches, "If you can't escape, wait for rescue."

This kind of natural disaster couldn't be predicted in advance.

The screams still didn't stop.

But at this moment, Layla's mood was much calmer.

The worst outcome would be to die together with Eric in this disaster.

Hayden, Robert, and Hazel were all to take care of her parents, so she didn't have to worry too much.

Now she only felt guilty towards Eric.

If she hadn't called Eric to Northland, Eric would never have come here, let alone encounter this disaster.

"Eric, I'm sorry." Layla couldn't predict whether the two of them would escape, so when she could still speak, she would apologize, "I shouldn't have called you here, I hurt you."

"Layla, you didn't hurt me! There are so many people here, not just the two of us. No one can expect this kind of disaster! Don't feel guilty! Don't cry. Look at the road under your feet and come down." Eric had already gone down a steep slope ahead of her.

Layla quickly held back tears, held his hand, and went down slowly.

"Let's hide here!" Eric pointed to the corner inside, "This corner can help us block the impact, you should hide in quickly."

Layla looked at the place Eric said.

That corner was too small.

It felt like it could only accommodate one person.

"Don't hesitate!" Eric saw that the situation above was getting more and more urgent.

He saw that someone did not want to be crushed to death by the snow, but naijdate.com chose to jump off the snow mountain.

He saw that the person who climbed to a high place to take pictures was instantly submerged by the falling snow!

A great despair enveloped him! He was oppressed and out of breath.

Relying on the instinct of his body, he quickly took off his coat.

“Eric, what are you doing!” Layla was shocked when she saw him take off his coat.

Eric walked up to her with his coat and wrapped it around her body.

After Layla understood what he meant, she fought hard!

Layla: “Eric! If you want to die, we die together! If you want to live, we live together!”

“Layla! I can listen to you, but this time you must listen to me!” Eric wrapped his coat around her body. Finally, he quickly closed the zipper, and then used his greatest strength to hug her struggling tightly into the corner.

“Eric, I hate you! You’d better bless the two of us to die here together, otherwise I will hate you forever!” Layla was tightly bound by him, and she was not his opponent at all.

Eric blocked her in a safe corner that was cramped but guaranteed not to be hit.

In an instant, the breath of the two was sprayed on each other’s faces.

Layla looked at Eric with tears on her face, she had a lot to say, but she didn’t know what to say.

After Eric adjusted his body, he tightly held Layla’s hand with one hand: “Layla, don’t cry. Save your energy and wait for rescue. Rescue should not come up so soon. This place is far away from the foot of the mountain, so don’t cry. Don’t give up hope. Your parents will definitely come to save you. Don’t be afraid, I will be with you.”

Layla wanted to hear his words very much, but she couldn’t stop her tears.

“The temperature here is minus 30 degrees at night. Eric, can you live until tomorrow?” Layla took a deep breath, “Don’t say tomorrow, can you live until the next hour?”

'Boom'!

The world in front of them darkened!

Only the ears could hear the loud sound of snow rolling down rapidly!

Layla heard Eric groan.

Chapter 2729

His body was oppressed by Blizzard!

He was facing Layla, but his back was out!

"Eric!" Layla tried to touch his head with her forehead, "Eric, come in a little! Go in a little more! It's okay to press me!"

Because the space was too small, she wanted to reach out to pull his body, but the arm only moved a little, and it reached the hard mountain behind.

"It's okay...I'm fine." Eric's voice was much weaker than before, "Wait a little longer. The avalanche is not over yet..."

"Eric, why are you so nice to me? Is it really just because I am Avery's daughter? Is it really just because of this reason that you like me?" Layla asked.

The world in front of her was dark, and Layla couldn't see how close Eric was but she could feel his warm breath, "Eric, I regret it. I don't want to sever ties with you."

"Layla, let's talk about something else!" Eric had no idea how long it would last; he was exhausted.

"If the two of us can leave here alive, I will marry you." Layla said, "Eric, if you die and I live, then I will never get married for the rest of my life."

"Layla, don't say that. In fact, I died a long time ago. It was your mother who brought me back to life and allowed me to live for so many years. I have worked hard and kept breaking through myself these years, just to make my life more vivid. As long as you can live now, I have no regrets in dying."

“You have no regrets, but Eric, if you die, I will suffer forever.” Layla said, her voice choked up again.

Eric: “Don’t cry.”

Layla: “I can’t help it.”

Eric took a deep breath and coaxed, “Can I sing for you?”

Layla said hastily, “Don’t sing. Don’t waste your energy. We will wait for rescue.”

Eric: “Then don’t cry.”

Layla: “Okay.”

Half an hour later, Layla touched her forehead Eric’s face.

“Eric, I’m scared. There’s no sound outside.” Layla’s voice was trembling.

In fact, the screams of the crowd have long since disappeared.

Now the sound of the blizzard rolling down was gone.

The surrounding silence seemed to be in another time and space.

“Yeah.” Although Eric’s voice was very low, but with a calmness that reassured her, “Layla, lie still and let me see if I can clear the snow in front of me.”

Layla: “I’m with you.”

“Don’t move.” Eric’s voice became a little more nasal, “Don’t move until the rescuers find you.”

“Eric, in fact, I have always listened to you.” Layla thought a lot, and the more she thought about it, the more sad she became.

“Yes. You are very obedient. Now you have to be obedient too. If I die, I need you to do something for me.” In order to let her suffer well, Eric racked his brains and thought of one thing to explain to her, “I have some property, when the time comes, you can help me sort it out and exchange it for my parents’ pension. I don’t worry about leaving this matter to other people.”

“You never thought that I would die with you here?” Layla said hoarsely.

“You won’t die...I will protect you.” Eric’s body moved forward a little, and after a while, he pushed aside the snow covering the front, and the light came in immediately.

The light came in, but the despair within remained undiminished.

Layla saw that Eric’s face turned blue from the cold.

The mega avalanche in Northland quickly made headlines.

When the avalanche happened, Layla’s assistant just took the cable car down the snow mountain.

After seeing the avalanche, the assistant immediately found a safe place and dialed Layla. But the phone couldn’t get through.

Not only was she unable to get through to Layla, but everyone else was also unable to get through.

‘No signal’ popped up on her phone screen.

Chapter 2730

The avalanche caused all the circuit systems and network systems to malfunction.

It could be said that every day should not be called, and the earth was not working.

Fortunately, the situation here was quickly reported.

The other two colleagues in the hotel immediately called Layla and her assistant Jolene after they knew about the huge avalanche in the snow mountain.

“I can’t get through to the boss’s phone.”

“I can’t get through to Jolene’s phone either. The communication over there must be cut off! What should we do? Why don’t we find a car to go there now!”

“The road over there must be blocked!”

“Could it be that we’re waiting for the bad news in the hotel like this?! If something happens to the boss, we...”

“Can you stop thinking about it! The boss didn’t go alone, didn’t there be Eric?”

“So what if Eric is there? It was a huge avalanche, and it was beyond Eric’s control! Did you watch too many of his movies and really thought he was a superhero!”

“Why are you yelling at me! Isn’t this hoping that the boss is okay?”

The two started arguing, their faces flushed red.

“Call Mr. Foster! Are you calling or should I call?” the manager said to the supervisor.

Supervisor: “Your level is higher than mine, you can hit me!” After a pause, he added, “I’ll call, but Mr. Foster may not answer.”

“your...!”

“Stop complaining. If the boss really dies, both of us can’t get away with it.” The supervisor sighed, “He knew I went with the boss.”

“Are you going to die together? Didn’t you see the pictures sent back from the scene? Even the place where the tickets were sold was buried in the snow! Can people still live?” The manager said this with a chill in his heart, “The news said that there has been no such serious avalanche in more than ten years. Our boss is lucky. That’s bad. If I had gone yesterday, or postponed it for a day, I wouldn’t have encountered such bad luck!”

“This is called bad luck for eight lifetimes!”

“Okay, stop talking! I have a headache! I’ll give Mr. Foster a call! Even if the person is gone, the body must be found!” The manager said, dialing Elliot’s number painfully.

The moment the number was dialed, two lines of tears flowed from the manager’s eyes.

The supervisor stared blankly.

He could only be a supervisor, not a manager. Was that the difference?

It took several seconds for Elliot to answer the phone.

It's ten o'clock in the morning in Aryadelle.

After Elliot and Avery had breakfast, they went for a walk outside and returned home.

While changing shoes, Elliot heard the phone ring.

"Did you just go out without your mobile phone?" Avery asked.

"No." Elliot changed his shoes and walked to the living room.

"Who called you so early?" Avery changed her shoes and followed Elliot over.

Elliot picked up the phone from the table, looked at the call reminder, and immediately answered the call.

"Boss Foster, something happened here!" The manager's cry made Elliot's nerves tense, "Boss Tate and Eric went to play in the snow mountain today, but we just got the news that there was a huge avalanche on the snow mountain ...I couldn't get through to Ms. Tate and her assistant Jolene...Jolene also went to the snow mountain today, but she didn't go with Ms. Tate. Ms. Tate was with Eric. ...I don't have Eric's phone number, I wonder if Eric can be contacted..."

After the manager finished speaking, Elliot immediately kept on the call and found Eric's address in the address book and dialed.

Avery stood beside Elliot. Although she couldn't hear clearly, she vaguely heard the word 'Eric'.

Avery's back broke out in a cold sweat, and her eyes were fixed on the movements of Elliot's hands.

She saw him dial Eric's number.

She heard a system prompt from the phone: Sorry, the user you dialed is temporarily unavailable, please try again later.

“Eric went to find Layla, and said that Layla called him over. Did they encounter an avalanche?” Avery asked anxiously.

After Elliot responded, he put the manager’s call on hold, “Boss Foster, we didn’t protect Boss Tate well... Let’s call a car to go to the snow mountain... The road over there is blocked, we have to go and have a look... If we get in touch with Ms. Tate, I will notify you as soon as possible, but you’d better come here! We really don’t know what to do!”

Avery heard these words clearly.

Chapter 2731

Her body suddenly couldn’t stop getting chills.

She found her mobile phone and dialed the number to Hayden.

“Hayden, something happened to Layla! She went to the snow mountain with Eric, but there was an avalanche in the snow mountain! I will go to the Northland with your father right away! Didn’t you implant a positioning chip in Layla’s phone before! Find the location of my sister immediately!”

On the other side of the phone, Hayden heard Avery’s words, and his voice suddenly tightened: “I’ll check right away! Don’t worry, I’ll go to Bregon to look for her right away! I’m sure I can find her!”

Avery answered with choked sobs One sound, and then hung up the phone.

Elliot had already ended his call with the manager.

He’s on the phone, getting someone to apply for a flight.

There was only one morning flight from Aryadelle to Northland every day.

And they had to leave today, so they could only go there by private jet.

Private jet flights must apply for routes with the air traffic control department in advance.

When Elliot finished calling, Avery’s tears were already pouring out uncontrollably.

She just searched for the news about the avalanche in the Northland, and found that Aryadelle also reported the huge avalanche that just happened in the Northland.

There were pictures of snow-capped mountains in the news after the avalanche. Snow Mountain was a famous tourist attraction in Northland. But this avalanche directly destroyed the entire tourist attraction.

Avery couldn't imagine how scared and helpless her daughter must have been in this disaster!

She couldn't even imagine where her daughter was now.

Elliot reached out to wipe the tears off Avery's face.

"Don't cry. The route will be approved soon, and we will go find her right away."

Avery took a deep breath, and said lightly, "I'm going to pack my luggage."

"Let the maid pack it up!" Elliot led her to sit on the sofa, "Take a break."

"Eric's cell phone is also ringing. Doesn't make sense?" Avery suddenly asked in surprise after sitting down.

Elliot nodded.

Avery covered her heart in grief. She clutched the phone tightly, lowered her head, panting heavily.

Elliot patted her on the back, knowing why she was in such pain all of a sudden.

If something happened to Eric in this avalanche, what would Eric's parents do?

"Let me call his father!" Elliot's heart was equally sad and heavy. Only he couldn't cry.

Layla and Eric hadn't been found yet, as long as Elliot didn't see their bodies, he won't admit that they were killed.

"...I'll call." Avery quickly got up from the sofa, and walked towards the door with her mobile phone.

It was so stuffy in the house that she felt like she was out of breath.

She walked quickly to the yard.

Elliot looked at her back and ordered the maid to pack her luggage.

Northland.

After the assistant Jolene learned that all the communication and circuit systems on the mountain were broken, she immediately found a local at a high price and asked him to drive her to a place with a signal.

After the mobile phone has a signal, She first dialed Layla.

Finding that the phone couldn't be reached, she immediately called Avery for help.

Chapter 2732

Avery was on her way to the airport at this time.

When she received Jolene's call, her heart rose to her throat.

In order for Elliot to hear, she turned on the speakerphone.

"Jolene!" Avery shouted immediately after answering the phone.

"President Tate, I can't get in touch with the boss! Her phone can't be reached! I just escaped from the snow mountain, and I don't know where I am now... I have been looking for a long time to get here. There is no signal in the snow mountain. There was a serious avalanche nearby! It's really scary!" Jolene said, crying out, "I don't know if the boss is in the snow mountain... It's terrible there now! It's h-e-l-l on earth!"

When the avalanche happened, Jolene was at the foot of the mountain.

The road at the foot of the mountain extended in all directions and was very wide.

People who were at the foot of the mountain at that time fled in all directions immediately after seeing the avalanche on the mountain.

It was the first time Jolene saw such a scene. She didn't know how powerful the avalanche was, so she stood at the foot of the mountain and watched for a while.

Only when she saw the big balls of snow about to roll to the ground did she start to run away.

It's hard for her to imagine how those people on the mountain should escape.

"Are there rescuers over there now?" Avery asked with difficulty, clutching her heart.

Jolene: "I don't know... When I left, it seemed that only the nearby residents came to see the excitement... I didn't see the rescuers... Prescribe Tate, please hurry to rescue Boss!"

"We will rush there as soon as possible! Jolene, please call the police!" Avery said eagerly.

"Okay, I'll call the police immediately!" Jolene finished and hung up the phone. Two minutes later, Jolene's phone call came again.

"President Tate, the police said they knew about the situation in the Snow Mountain. They said they had sent all the police force to the rescue." Jolene had tears in her eyes, "There is no signal at all over there, and the electricity has also been cut off. If it can't be restored at night, it will take a long time to rescue! I really want to cry to death! But I can't do anything now!"

"Stop crying. Find a way to go back to the hotel!" Avery tried to calm down and persuaded her, "This kind of natural disasters, no one can predict, I don't blame you."

"President Tate, I should have followed the boss. But I was afraid that I would follow her, and it would be inconvenient for her to talk to Eric, so I said not to follow her. Actually, there was nothing to see on that mountain. There was a slightly flat land on the mountainside, and a lot of people were nesting there to take pictures. I went up and took two photos and then came down.”

Avery: “What do you do? Did you go up?”

“I went up by the cable car.” When Jolene said this, she remembered something and cried loudly again, “During the avalanche, many people crowded the cable car, and I saw many people crowded and fell from the mountain. ...It’s too tragic, it’s really tragic, I’ve never seen such a tragic scene...”

Avery held the phone receiver, tears could not help falling down.

Elliot took the phone from her and hung up.

“Don’t listen, don’t think about it.” Elliot pressed Avery’s head against his chest, “Layla won’t squeeze the cable car with those people. Maybe Layla wasn’t on the mountain when the avalanche happened. She can’t get through on her phone now. Maybe it’s just that they didn’t find the signal...”

Avery: “Elliot, if we had promised her to be with Eric at the beginning, they would never have gone to the Northland...so far away and so cold, If it wasn’t too sad, Layla wouldn’t want to go there at all.”

Elliot didn’t know how to answer this sentence.

Even if he admitted that he was wrong now, it would not help this disaster.

After a while, Avery suddenly grabbed Elliot’s lapel tightly: “Elliot, I don’t blame you. I just regret that I didn’t follow my daughter... As long as she didn’t want to do heinous things, we didn’t have to stop her from doing something!”

“Avery, it’s useless to regret, and it’s useless to feel guilty. Now find a way to find out our daughter and Eric. We’ll talk about it when we find someone.” Elliot’s eyes darkened, his voice was hoarse, “It was so difficult for us to find Hazel back then, didn’t the result disappoint us? Don’t give up hope until the last moment.”

Elliot's words revived Avery.

Chapter 2733

Northland.

After Jolene returned to the hotel and joined two other colleagues, Jolene hugged them and cried bitterly.

The manager and supervisor originally wanted to go to the snow mountain to see the situation in the afternoon.

But when they took a taxi to go there, the driver told them that the road to the snow mountain was closed.

Even if they could go in that direction, they can't go in. Because there were police at the scene to maintain order, no one was allowed to approach or take pictures.

So the manager and supervisor did not go to the snow mountain side in the end.

Since they couldn't do anything there, why bother to make a trip for nothing?

Fortunately, Jolene was back at the hotel!

It's just that Jolene's mental state had a problem. After seeing them, she couldn't speak a complete sentence except crying.

The supervisor saw that she was out of breath from crying, so he boiled a pot of boiling water beside her.

He picked up the menu again and ordered some dishes.

When the waiter brought the dinner, Jolene was also tired from crying.

“Jolene, drink some water first.” The manager poured her half a glass of boiling water into it, and mixed some bottled water into it. “Drink some warm water!”

Jolene took the water glass and drank the water in it in one gulp. After that, the supervisor delivered the dinner to her.

“I know you must be shocked. You should eat something!”

Jolene was indeed very hungry.

Still had it for breakfast.

Her stomach was already starving.

She picked up the bowl, picked up the chopsticks, and started to eat.

“Jolene, don’t worry. Be careful if you choke.” The supervisor said, patted her on the back, “We know you were terrified about today’s incident. Do you know what’s going on with the boss?”

Jolene couldn’t hold back the tears when she was asked this question.

“I don’t know... I told the boss when I was leaving this morning, and the boss replied ‘yes’ to me, and we haven’t been in touch since then. Because I know she and Eric together, so I didn’t dare to call her, nor send her a message.”

Jolene was afraid of disturbing her.

Who knew such emergencies would happen.

“God bless! I hope our boss will be blessed and happy, and nothing will happen! If something happens to the boss, what should we do?” The supervisor put his hands together and prayed.

“If the boss is gone, will President Tate come back to take over the company again? If President Tate comes back, it’s actually pretty good, I’m afraid...” The manager said.

“How is it possible? If the boss dies, how can President Tate have the mood to manage the company! Such a beautiful baby girl is gone, so sad!” The supervisor expressed his opinion.

“Didn’t you hear that President Tate still has a young daughter. It’s just that the identity of the youngest daughter has not been disclosed to the public.” The manager whispered, “Don’t gossip about this matter!”

“But even if there is another Little daughter, you will still be very sad! Our Boss Tate is the princess that everyone in the Foster family holds in their hands...”

“That’s true! I hope that President Elliot Foster and President Hayden Tate will come here quickly! They will definitely find Layla!” The manager also put his hands together and began to pray.

Chapter 2734

Aryadelle.

Hazel didn’t know the news of Layla’s accident until she came home from school at night.

When Avery and Elliot flew to Bregon at noon, they forgot to tell Hazel because they were in a hurry.

Not only didn’t tell Hazel, but also didn’t tell Robert.

Robert saw the news about the avalanche in Bregon from the Internet.

After seeing the news at that time, he immediately called Layla, but the call was not connected.

He sent a message to Layla again, but she didn’t reply.

He was really disturbed, so he called Avery but her phone was turned off!

Robert couldn’t sit still anymore, so he called Elliot immediately but he couldn’t get through on the phone either.

Robert was scared and cried at that time.

This was the first time he had been unable to get through to his parents at the same time since he was a child.

If it wasn’t for Layla’s accident, he couldn’t think of why his parents would shut down at the same time.

With tears in his eyes, Robert dialed Hayden’s number. Fortunately, the phone was connected.

But when Hayden answered the phone, he also planned to turn off the phone.

Because he was going to board the plane.

When Hazel returned home, Robert told her the news of Layla's accident with a sad face.

"Mom and Dad didn't tell me..." Hazel couldn't accept the news, so she lowered her head and took out her phone to see if she had missed any important news.

"Mom and Dad didn't tell me either. After they got the news, they should have flown to Bregon as soon as possible. It will take us 18 hours to go to Bregon. They should still be on the plane now." Robert's eyes were red and his voice was also a little hoarse.

"Second brother, are you sure something happened to our sister?" Hazel felt dizzy, almost unable to stand still.

"It should be certain. Otherwise, mom, dad and elder brother won't go to Bregon. I checked the flight, and there is a flight to Bregon tomorrow morning. Do you want to go with me?" Robert asked.

Hazel nodded without thinking, "Second brother, I'll go with you."

Robert hugged his sister: "Sister, I'm really sad."

"Second brother, I am too." Hazel hugged him tightly. Looking at the second brother, her heart was in a mess, "Why did the avalanche suddenly happen? Is there no treatment? I don't want my sister to have an accident..."

Layla was not only Hazel's sister, but also her best friend.

She could tell her sister anything, and her sister treated her without reservation.

If she was to miss her sister... Just thinking about it made her feel as if someone was pinching her neck, making it difficult to breathe.

"I checked and found that avalanches are natural disasters, and there are no preventive measures. The news said that such a serious avalanche has not happened over there for more than ten years.” Robert was distraught, “When I have money in the future, I will Just like my brother, buy a private jet by yourself.”

Hazel let go of Robert, not understanding why he said this suddenly.

“Dad has a private jet, and he and mom went to Bregon today in the family’s private jet. My brother also bought a private jet in Bridgedale. My brother also went to Bregon in a private jet. A relatively remote country like Bregon. We do not have a flight whenever we want to go, if we have our own private jet, then we can leave now.” Robert was so anxious that he wished to fly to the Northland immediately.

Chapter 2735

It’s a pity that the two private jets at home had flown away.

“Second brother, like you, I really want to go there immediately. But since there is only a flight tomorrow morning, let’s go tomorrow morning!” Hazel comforted. “I can’t calm down.” Robert originally had classes in the evening, but he asked for leave.

After he came back, he started to pack his luggage. After packing his luggage, the maid called him to have dinner, but he was not in the mood to eat.

“Second brother, I know you have a very deep relationship with our sister. Let me talk to you!” Hazel said thoughtfully.

The maid stood by and reminded: “Hazel, come and have dinner with your second brother! You will have the energy to go to Bregon tomorrow when you are full.”

Hearing this, Hazel immediately held Robert’s hand and persuaded: “You two haven’t eaten yet, so let’s go get some food!”

Robert was unable to eat, as he had lost all appetite. As he was Hazel’s older brother, and now only he and his younger sister remained in the family, he must pick himself up a bit.

The brother and sister arrived at the dining room, and the maid brought the dinner to the table.

Hazel also had no appetite and couldn't eat much.

She picked up the soup ladle, put a few spoonfuls of soup into the rice bowl, and ate the rice with the soup.

"Is this delicious?" Robert asked.

"It should be delicious! Second brother, do you want to try it?" Hazel asked while holding a spoon.

"Try it!" Robert couldn't swallow. It hurt everywhere.

"Second brother, tell me about you and our sister!" Hazel had never heard them talk about it in detail before. Now she was particularly interested in these past events.

Robert responded: "If my sister's childhood memories are with her brother and Uncle Eric, then my childhood memories are more with my sister. In fact, my parents spend a lot of time with me, but my sister spends a little more time with me. I also prefer to play with my sister. Maybe because my sister is a little bit fierce to me."

Hazel: "My sister did not intend to hit you?"

Robert: "I am a lot younger than her, and I often made mistakes. Sometimes I did things I didn't mean to. I made mistakes did so for no reason. For example, I used my sister's textbook to draw in, took her things to play with, and then didn't know where to put them when I was done..."

"No wonder my sister will hit you. If I have a naughty brother, I will also become very fierce." Hazel forced a smile.

"She always comes to comfort me after she makes me cry. I'll sometimes make her mad on purpose so she'll attempt to coax me out of it later." Robert remembered those things from his childhood clearly, "I didn't look at my sister when she spoke fiercely, but she was actually very kind. She takes good care of me."

But he didn't remember exactly how to treat her well.

"She sometimes made me mad, but if I held on to her, she'd still take me with her." Robert summed it up.

"Second brother, I really envy you." Hazel could feel the strong sister-brother friendship from Robert's words, "It would be great if I played with you at home when I was young."

"If you were at our house, I would want to play with you. We are the same age, so." Robert's mood improved a little bit, "Actually, we all think it is a miracle that you can come back."

"Sister will also Miraculous." Hazel said, "I believe my sister will be fine."

Robert: "Yes."

.....

Bregon.

After Elliot and Avery arrived, the person in charge of the search and rescue of the snow mountain gave them an overview of the situation in the snow mountain.

"These are some pictures taken from a search and rescue plane flying over. As you can see, there are basically no dead bodies... They are all covered by snow. This snow mountain is too large and the terrain is steep, so the search and rescue work is extremely difficult. Our manpower is completely insufficient. I have already responded to the above and asked for support."

"This is the picture we took yesterday afternoon. This is the cable car going to the snow mountain 1,000 meters away." The person in charge took out another picture and showed it to Elliot.

Chapter 2736

The moment Elliot saw the picture, a layer of cold sweat broke out on his back. “The cable car could only take up to eight people at a time, but there were at least 20 people crowded on the cable car on the return trip.” The person in charge said, “The cable car broke down due to being overweight and hovered in mid-air. Afterwards, the avalanche caused. The entire snow mountain area was cut off, and while waiting for the superior power company to come to repair the power, the engineering department located at the foot of the snow mountain was also affected by the avalanche, and the office was buried by the snow.” Avery listened to what the person in charge said, then asked them in a serious way: “So those tourists in the cable car have been rescued now?!”

The person in charge shook his head: “The power has not been fully restored yet. It was restored for half an hour before, and then the power was cut off again. The department above them said they couldn’t solve it, so they had to go up to the next level and ask for instructions...”

“You ba*tards!” Elliot scolded coldly, “These tourists didn’t die under the avalanche in the end, but were squeezed to death in the cable car and froze to death!”

“Boss Foster, I also want to rescue the trapped tourists as soon as possible, but our human and material resources really cannot keep up with such a difficult rescue work.” The person in charge lowered his head and blamed himself very much, “I transferred the matter. Posted the number of tourists who entered the scenic spot that day, and then made a preliminary estimate of the number of tourists who suffered this time... at least 300 people are now buried under the snow mountain...”

“Can I find my daughter and Eric?!” Avery clenched her fingers excitedly.

“This... I’ll ask someone to check it now... There are too many things on my side, and I didn’t check the tourist list specifically... What’s your daughter’s name?” While the person in charge was speaking to them, the satellite phone rang several times.

He simply handed over the phone to his assistant and asked the assistant to answer the call.

About half an hour later, Hayden also arrived. He didn’t come alone. He brought the most experienced outdoor rescue team from Bridgedale, as well as technical personnel related to power and network engineering.

After he came over, he immediately brought the team together with the general manager of Snow Mountain Rescue.

“Dad, Mom, let me send you to the hotel to rest first!” Hayden felt very distressed when he saw his parents haggard because of this incident, “I will rescue Layla.”

Avery didn’t even think about it, she said: “I-I’m not tired. It’s daytime now, so hurry up and restore the power, otherwise there will be no rescue at night! Last night was the best time for rescue, but they were sleeping soundly! Because there was no power, they didn’t do anything.”

When Avery said this, tears overflowed her eyes.

“Mom, I brought relevant technical personnel here. The power supply will definitely be restored before dark today!” Hayden wiped the tears off his mother’s face with a tissue, “When the power is restored, the network will also be restored. As long as the network is restored, we can find the location of Layla’s phone.”

Avery looked at the snow-capped mountains outside the window, her heart twisted into a ball.

Avery: "It's going to be night soon. How can I survive in such a cold temperature? If Layla isn't rescued as soon as possible, how can she survive?"

After a moment of silence, Elliot said, "The person in charge just now said that when the avalanche happened yesterday, there were at least 300 tourists on it... relying on the official rescue team of the Northland, I am afraid that there is no way to rescue those people quickly. I was thinking, how about hiring those outdoor adventure enthusiasts at a high price? Come to help. Many experienced outdoor adventurers may be more experienced than these official rescue teams."

"Let me ask Mike!" Avery thought that Mike had joined some outdoor expedition organizations, and maybe he could help to contact them.

After Avery finished talking, she took out her phone, only to find that it had no network.

Hayden said: "He knows something happened to Layla. He and Uncle Chad should have rushed over too."

Elliot: "There should be many local villagers who can help."

Chapter 2737

"Elliot, calm down. I don't want any more innocent people to die in this accident.

If the nearby residents take risks for money, the consequences will be disastrous." Avery was afraid that things would get out of control.

Elliot: "I'm not asking everyone to climb the snow-capped mountains. It's okay for them to go to the ground to help! There are so many casualties, and a lot of people will be needed to transfer the casualties. I'm afraid the medical treatment can't keep up with this poor place!"

Despair!

Avery was dizzy for a while.

Mom and Dad, let me send you back to the hotel first! I will implement all the plans you mentioned. I promise to tell you the clues of my sister before it gets dark today.” Hayden looked at his father when he said this, “Dad, you take mom to rest. Mom is very tired.”

Elliot agreed and supported Avery.

“You guys go live next door first. There is internet over there.” Hayden said, “When the power and internet are restored here, you can come and live here if you want.”

Avery and Elliot didn’t close their eyes almost all day and all night.

On the plane to Northland, the two of them didn’t sleep.

As long as Avery closed her eyes, various tragic pictures would appear in her mind.

As long as she thought of those pictures, she couldn’t stop crying.

After crying for a long time, the tears seemed to dry up.

After they arrived at the hotel, Elliot ordered a lunch.

Holding the phone, Avery saw the message from Robert: [Mom, did you and Dad arrive safely in the Northland? I plan to take my little sister to Northland tomorrow morning. If you see the message please call me back. I am very worried about you.]

Avery took the mobile phone, walked towards the balcony, and called Robert back.

Robert’s phone was turned off. He should have been on the plane.

Avery went back to the room with her mobile phone and sent a message to Robert: [Your father and I have already arrived in Bregon. Now at the hotel.]

After sending the message, Avery sent the location.

Let them meet at the hotel when they arrive.

Avery: "Elliot, Robert has brought Hazel over."

Elliot woke up like a dream: "When we came, we didn't say anything to the two children."

"They already know." Avery picked up the bag, Find the charging cable inside.

"After dinner, go to sleep!" Elliot looked at the bloodshot eyes of her tears, feeling very distressed.

"Aren't you going to sleep?" Avery was sore all over, feeling like her body was going to fall apart at any moment.

After all, it couldn't be compared with when she was young.

Even if she stayed up all night and continued to work the next day, she would not feel so uncomfortable.

"I can't sleep. Don't worry, I won't run around. I'll just stay in the room." Elliot believed in Hayden's ability.

Hayden said that he told them about Layla's clues before night, and she believed his son could do it.

"Lie down if you can't sleep!" Avery charged the phone, sat on the edge of the bed, and breathed a sigh of relief, "Don't be a burden to Hayden."

Elliot heard this, walked to her side, and sat beside her: "Do you feel that we are getting old?"

"Yes." Avery raised her chin slightly, "I can't keep up with my physical strength, my energy, or even my mind."

"Don't be so pessimistic." Elliot hugged her waist, "It's not time to be pessimistic yet."

Chapter 2738

After Avery heard Elliot's words, her throat seemed to be blocked.

She wanted to say something, but couldn't say it.

Elliot thought that Layla was more ominous than good—was that what he meant?

“But there may be miracles.” Elliot felt that he had said something wrong, so he immediately added, “Avery, we have to believe in miracles.”

“You really think we can encounter miracles over and over again, is it?” Avery felt that being able to find Hazel was already the luckiest thing, it was already a gift from God to them, now, could there be such a miracle again?

Of course she hoped to have it, but she felt that it was hanging again and again.

Just as the two of them were silent, Elliot’s cell phone received a message.

A staff member sent him the specific time when Layla and Eric entered the scenic spot.

According to this specific time, it could be inferred that Layla and Eric happened to be on the snow mountain when the avalanche happened.

It was almost certain that the two of them lost contact because of danger.

Nobody knew for certain if they were still alive.

Avery leaned in front of Elliot, read the messages on his phone, and closed her eyes.

“I guessed it... If they’re okay, they should have called us to report their safety.”

Elliot put his arms around her body, resting his chin on her head, with a gloomy and desolate expression on his face.

Before Hazel came back, Layla was his most beloved baby.

From the moment he knew Layla was his daughter a long time ago, his heart was touched by Layla’s every move. He devoted a lot of energy to this precious daughter, hoping that she will be safe, healthy and happy. He couldn’t accept such bad news now.

Elliot was not the only one who loved Layla so much.

After Mike and Chad came to join Hayden, and learned of the difficult and dangerous situation, they immediately contacted a professional outdoor expedition team to come to the snow mountain to search and rescue.

As more and more people came to participate in the rescue, people in distress in the snow mountain were found one after another and carried down.

At the foot of the snow-capped mountain, there were already cold corpses lying side by side.

They were neatly dressed, and their clothes were not damaged, but there were varying degrees of panic and fear on their faces.

By four o'clock in the afternoon, the electric circuit was successfully repaired, and the electricity was finally connected.

By this time the sky had begun to darken.

Today's snow was not heavy, but intermittent, almost non-stop.

By five o'clock in the evening, the network system was restored.

Elliot and Avery were notified and immediately set off for the hotel closest to the snow mountain.

After arriving at the hotel, Elliot couldn't stay any longer.

"Avery, I'll go and see the scene. You wait for Hazel and Robert at the hotel."

Elliot held Avery's hand tightly, pleading.

Both Mike and Chad had already gone to battle in person, looking for someone on the snow mountain.

He couldn't sit in the hotel and wait for the results.

If it wasn't for Hazel and Robert to wait, Avery and Elliot would go to the scene to see it together "Be careful." Avery confessed, "You'd better be with Hayden. Don't wander around by yourself."

"Okay." Elliot held Avery's face and pressed a kiss on her forehead, "wife, I Love you."

Listening to his confession, Avery knew that his heart was very fragile now, so she responded: "Husband, I love you too. No matter what the outcome is, we will face it together as a family."

Avery kept swiping her phone after Elliot left, afraid of missing any important news.

The network had been restored, and Hayden would soon be able to locate Layla's cell phone.

He could pinpoint Layla's exact location if he found her mobile phone.

...

When Robert and Hazel arrived in the Northland, it had already become dark.

Robert took a taxi to the hotel according to the hotel location sent to him by his mother.

The closer they got to their mother, the more nervous and frightened Robert and Hazel became.

"It's been almost two days, why is there still no whereabouts of my sister?"

Robert was gripping tightly in his heart.

Robert really wanted to call Hayden to ask about the latest situation, but considering that his brother must be very busy right now, Robert held back.

There was silence in the family group, and no one spoke.

When Avery called, Robert answered the phone immediately.

"Mom, my sister and I have already got off the plane. We are on our way to your side now." After Robert answered the phone, he immediately told Avery about the situation on his side.

"Okay, be careful on the road." Avery's voice sounded less sad than during the day because Hayden has discovered the location of Layla's phone. He just found out.

Hayden knew that her mother was worried, so after discovering the location of Layla's cell phone, he immediately told her the news.

Layla's mobile phone appeared at a height of 700 meters in the snow mountain.

This was actually not very good news.

The slightly flat area was an open scenic spot only 1000 metres away from the snow mountain. If tourists climbed to other locations on their own and something went wrong, the scenic spot was negligent.

And Layla would never attempt to climb from the mountain's base to the 700-meter summit without the assistance of a professional guide.

Not to mention going down to 700 meters after taking the cable car to 1,000 meters.

There was only one possibility.

That's when the avalanche happened, Layla's cell phone fell from 1,000 meters to 700 meters.

If this was the case, then there were two possibilities.

The first possibility was that Layla and the phone fell 700 metres to the snowcapped mountain.

The second possibility was that the mobile phone fell 700 meters away from the snow mountain alone.

Either way, it's not a good outcome.

Layla's current situation...was not good, no matter what Hayden speculated.

The avalanche had happened more than a day before. It was starting to get dark.

There were lights at the foot of the mountain, so it was still very bright, but the mountain was completely dark, which brought great difficulties to the rescue work.

And Hayden's goal was to find Layla and Eric before 12 o'clock tonight.

Their chances of survival were even slimmer if they were not rescued as soon as possible.

"Mom, sister..." Robert held the phone, hesitated for a few seconds, and asked the question.

"Hayden has located Layla's cell phone. Now the rescuers have concentrated on looking for your sister's cell phone." Avery said, "Are you and Hazel hungry? I ordered dinner at the hotel. We'll eat together when we arrive."

Hazel wanted to talk to her mother, so she asked Robert for a cell phone.

Robert immediately handed the phone to Hazel.

"Mom, don't worry too much, I will be fine." Hazel wanted to comfort her mother.

"Well. Your elder brother said that you will definitely find your sister tonight.

When you arrive, I want to go and see the scene." Avery expressed her thoughts.

Hazel: "Mom, my second brother and I will go with you."

Avery: "We'll talk about it when you come over. Your father hasn't eaten yet, so bring them food later."

Hazel: "Okay."

After talking on the phone, she felt a little relaxed after a day of fear.

Now that her sister's mobile phone had been located, her brother would definitely be able to find her soon.

Chapter 2740

When Hazel and Robert arrived at the hotel, there was no new news from the snow mountain.

When Avery saw them, she immediately greeted them for dinner.

"Mom, have you been up all this time?" Hazel saw her mother's bloodshot eyes.

Although she tried to calm down, she could see that she was in a bad mood.

“Don’t get tired.”

Avery said but she had no choice but to tell the truth: “I really can’t sleep.”

“But you can’t do without sleep.” Hazel wanted to ask if she should take some medicine to soothe the nerves and help sleep, but she didn’t say it. This drug definitely had side effects on the body.

“Mom, you can sleep in your room after dinner! My sister and I will go to see the snow mountain.” Robert actually didn’t fall asleep for more than a day. But he was still young, and he didn’t look so haggard even if he didn’t sleep for a day.

“I’ll go and have a look with you. If there’s no news, I’ll come back.” Avery said, “I’ll call your father back when the time comes. He hasn’t slept either.”

Robert and Hazel heard this, they couldn’t eat anymore.

Avery took the chopsticks and picked up food for them.

“Eat more. Don’t waste so many dishes.” Avery actually couldn’t eat it, but she had to cheer up in front of her children.

“Mom, it’s quite cold outside.” Robert took a bite of the meal and said, “Why don’t you let my sister accompany you to rest in the hotel! Even if we go to the scene, we can’t help. I’ll deliver the meal to Dad, and I-I will watch my father finish the food.”

Hazel understood what his brother meant, and immediately echoed: “Mom, why don’t I sleep with you! It’s really cold outside right now. If there is a result, they will immediately inform us.”

Avery glanced out the window.

The street lights outside the window were dim, and she could see snowflakes fluttering if she looked closely.

“It’s so cold outside, how cold Layla must be!” Avery sighed in a low voice.

Robert and Hazel fell into grief again.

The three of them had enough to eat, and Avery packed the rest of the food.

“In fact, Hayden also has food. I was afraid that your father would not eat well, so I wanted to send it to him. He drank two mouthfuls of soup at noon.” Avery packed the packed lunch box, “I’d better go and see. Let’s go together.”

After Avery said that, the two children couldn’t object anymore.

So the three of them took the car together and headed to the foot of the snow mountain.

The rescue team built simple tin houses and tents at the foot of the mountain, and the conditions were particularly difficult.

When Avery arrived at the foot of the snow mountain with her two children, the scene was brightly lit and countless rescuers were busy at the scene.

Some were carrying corpses on the ground, and some were treating wounds of injured rescuers in tents.

There were also people squatting on the side eating box lunch.

On the snow-capped mountains, numerous rescuers could be seen working.

After Avery took a general look at the situation at the scene, she couldn’t find Elliot’s person.

She handed the lunch box to Robert, then took out her cell phone to call Elliot.

Hazel suddenly saw a lot of people standing under a snow mountain, so she pointed over there: “Mom, look over there. Are Dad and the others over there?”

At this time, Avery just called Elliot.

Elliot answered the phone after hearing the ringtone.

Avery saw Elliot’s figure from a distance, and immediately stepped forward, stepping on the snow and walking towards that side.

Robert and Hazel followed behind their mother.

After Elliot answered the phone, he turned around and saw Avery, Robert and Hazel.

Rescuers were trying their best to find Layla's cell phone and Layla.

Rescuers were now almost 700 meters above the snow-capped mountain.

It was the most tense moment, so even though Elliot answered the phone and saw his wife and children, he didn't walk towards them.

After Avery hung up the phone, she took the food from Robert.

When she walked in front of Elliot, Avery gave him a steamed bun.

"Eat something! It's cold outside, and something will warm you up." Avery didn't force him to go back to the tent to eat, because she knew that the rescue was quite tense now.

Chapter 2741

Elliot took the steamed bun, took a bite, and looked at Robert and Hazel's faces.

Elliot: "It's cold outside, you go to the tent."

"Dad, we're not cold. Is my sister on this snow mountain?" Robert looked at the rescuers halfway up the mountain.

"Yes. She's right here." It was Hayden who answered, "Robert, take Hazel back to the tent."

After hearing what Hayden said, Robert obediently responded immediately, and then held Hazel's hand.

"Brother, Dad, I'm not cold." Hazel wanted to see Layla as soon as she was rescued.

Although Hazel said so, Robert took Hazel back to the tent to avoid the cold.

"Little sister, have you noticed that Dad's hair seems to be much grayer?"

Robert was standing next to Dad just now, so he could see it clearly, "Dad didn't have so much gray hair before. It was after my sister had an accident that it suddenly turned gray. “

Hazel didn't pay attention to her father's hair just now.

“I saw my parents getting old all of a sudden.” When Hazel said this, tears welled up in her eyes, “I thought my parents were so young before, and I always felt that they would not grow old...”

Robert: “This blow is too great.”

This was also the biggest blow Robert had ever encountered in his life.

But this was actually the second huge blow to Elliot and Avery.

The first blow was knowing Hazel's real life experience, but Hazel could not be found in the whole world.

It's just that Hazel couldn't be found, and They could also do psychological construction to comfort themselves that Hazel might have a good life somewhere in the world.

But this time, Layla couldn't be comforted at all.

Layla was here, and had been hit by an avalanche

“found it!” In the distance, there was a loud cry suddenly!

Robert and Hazel immediately walked out of the tent.

“Found the phone!” Another loud cry came.

Found Layla's cell phone.

Layla's phone fell into the thick snow.

Rescuers managed to find Layla's cell phone so smoothly under such a dim environment with great care.

“Is there anyone nearby?!” Hayden asked in a voice.

“I didn't see anyone near the phone!” The person above was wearing a loudspeaker, and the voice came loudly, “Let's continue to look up, there should be someone up there!”

Hayden: “Be careful!”

Hayden also wore an amplifier, sound equipment.

His voice was clearly diffused—

Layla seemed to hear Hayden’s voice. She wanted to call Hayden, but she couldn’t open her mouth, let alone make a sound. She was so cold, so tired...

her body couldn’t move at all. She felt that she was probably dead.

But why did she continue to hear Hayden’s voice in her dreams?

Thinking of her loved ones, she was in great pain.

She was just out on a business trip, and she didn’t want to be separated from her family.

How could she die if she hadn’t properly repaid her parents and said goodbye to her family?

Regardless of how unwilling she was, she was going to die.

Ever since she yelled no to Eric and couldn’t feel Eric’s vital signs, she knew that she would die soon.

...

“I found it! I found Eric!” After climbing more than 200 meters, the rescuers finally found Eric buried in the snow. “This man, he seems not to be breathing!”

Chapter 2742

The lunch box Avery was carrying fell to the ground with a ‘bang’!

Hayden’s voice spread louder than before: “Is there Layla?! Layla should be with him!”

The rescuers above carefully moved Eric’s body and saw Layla lying inside.

“I found her! Boss Tate, I found your sister!” The rescuer said excitedly, and reached out to check Layla’s breath.

The temperature on the mountain was very low.

Layla's face was cold, but there was a distinct warm breath on her neck.

The rescuers' hands were trembling, and they seemed to feel Layla's breath, but they didn't seem to...

Even if Layla still had breath, her breath should be relatively weak.

"Boss Tate...I'm not sure if your sister is still alive!"

"Get the people down first!" When Hayden was speaking, he wished he could climb up to see how his sister was doing but he couldn't.

He took the binoculars from his assistant and checked the situation above.

After he looked at it for a few seconds, Elliot brought the telescope over, looked at it himself, and then showed it to Avery.

"My daughter should be alive...Avery, our daughter must be alive..." Elliot's voice was tense with hope, and hope with anxiety.

Avery's mood was much sadder than Elliot.

Rescuers said that Eric was dead.

It must be that Eric was not breathing anymore.

Avery couldn't accept her daughter leaving, nor could she accept Eric leaving.

The two of them climbed the snow mountain together, why can't they survive together?

How would Avery face Eric's parents?

Since she rescued Eric, Eric's energy for her and her children had long outweighed the so-called life-saving grace.

Eric didn't owe her a long time ago, nor did he owe anyone else.

But now Eric died like this.

Helicopter transported Eric and Layla directly to the hospital.

When the helicopter flew away from the snow mountain, Hayden immediately took the whole family into the car and headed to the hospital.

“I will compensate his parents.” Seeing Avery’s depression, Elliot knew what she was feeling, “No matter what they ask, I will satisfy them.”

Avery had tears in her eyes: “You have met his parents, you should know that his parents are very kind and open-minded elders. What do you think they will ask of us?”

Elliot didn’t know how to answer.

If Eric died, then the inheritance left by Eric should be enough for the two elders to live comfortably for the rest of their lives.

“Avery, an avalanche is a natural disaster, not a man-made disaster.” Elliot wanted Avery to calm down a little.

“If Layla doesn’t call Eric, do you think Eric will come here for no reason?” Avery asked back.

“Layla called him, and he can refuse. Since he didn’t refuse and went up the snow mountain with Layla, then you can’t blame Layla.” Elliot frowned and expressed his opinion, “Layla couldn’t predict it either that there will be an avalanche, if she can predict it, she will never put herself and others in such danger.”

“I don’t blame my daughter. I’m just in pain! Eric shouldn’t die!” Avery’s voice overshadowed Elliot’s voice just now.

The three children saw their parents arguing, and no one dared to interrupt them.

This matter was beyond the scope of their ability to persuade a fight.

Eric really didn’t deserve to die.

But it was true that Layla did not do this on purpose.

When the car arrived at the hospital, Layla and Eric had already been sent to the emergency room.

The family waited anxiously outside the emergency room.

“Is Uncle Eric still alive?” Hazel asked in a low voice, “If he is dead, there is no need to go to the emergency room for rescue?”

Chapter 2743

Hazel’s words brought a glimmer of hope to Avery’s eyes again.

If the doctor determined that the injured person was dead, no further rescue would be performed on the deceased.

There was no need to save the deceased if he was not breathing and his pupils were dilated.

Hayden’s cell phone rang. It was Mike who sent him some pictures.

Mike went up to find Layla with the rescue team. After discovering Eric and Layla, he took a few photos.

Now Mike had gone down the mountain. He felt compelled to send them the pictures.

Hayden opened up the photo and took a closer look. In the photo, Eric’s face was black and blue, he had no coat on his body, only a thin sweater.

It was impossible for him to climb the snow mountain wearing a sweater.

Hayden immediately clicked on the second photo.

In the second photo was Layla.

Layla’s expression was much more normal than Eric’s.

She was like falling asleep.

She was wrapped in a thick men’s down jacket... This should be Eric’s coat.

Hayden immediately understood what happened when the avalanche happened.

“Uncle Eric gave Layla his coat.” Hayden said, and handed the phone to Avery.

Avery immediately took the phone and clicked on the photo.

After looking at the two photos, Avery held the phone, leaned on Elliot's shoulder and began to cry.

Elliot put his arm around her, and took the phone from her with the other to look at the photos.

When he saw Eric's frozen blue face in the photo, Elliot said in his heart that it would be a lie not to be touched.

He protected Layla on the inner side of the mountain and gave Layla his coat to wear, which was enough to show his determination to protect Layla at the cost of his life.

Robert and Hazel were also curious about the photos in their brother's phone, so they walked up to their father and stared at the photos together.

After a few seconds, Robert's eyes were a little red, and his voice was a little choked up, "In this kind of danger, most people only think about how they can survive... they don't care about other people's lives. But Uncle Eric gave my sister to wear his own clothes. He wears so little clothes, even if there is no avalanche, he will freeze to death. Uncle Eric is so stupid!"

Hazel and Robert were in the same mood.

At the same time, Hazel also felt that Layla did not love the wrong person.

Layla said that she liked Eric not entirely because Eric was famous and handsome, but more importantly, being with Eric was very relaxing, Eric gave her a sense of security.

This sense of security was given to her by Eric since she was a child.

At that time, Hazel didn't understand deeply.

Now seeing the photo in front of her, Hazel deeply understood.

Eric could give up his life to protect Layla, and he would have no regrets in this life if he could receive such love from someone in this life.

Avery fainted from crying before the door of the emergency room opened.

Just in the hospital, Elliot sent her to see a doctor directly.

After seeing her condition, the doctor told Elliot not to worry.

She fainted because she was extremely tired and emotional.

She could wake up normally as long as she slept well.

“You can send her home to rest. She can also rest in the hospital. If she rests in the hospital, you need to go through the formalities.” The doctor said.

Elliot wanted to stay in the hospital to wait for the results of Layla and Eric, and also wanted to take care of Avery, so he chose to let Avery rest in the hospital.

Chapter 2744

“Dad, I’ll stay here and look after Mom!” Hazel took a chair and sat beside the hospital bed.

She saw that there were still tears in the corners of her mother’s eyes.

She knew that her mother must be very sorry.

She regretted that she didn’t agree with her sister and Eric to be together.

If they had been agreed to be together at that time, they would have started planning the wedding, and they would have been so busy that they would never have gone on a business trip to the Northland, let alone go to see the snowcapped mountains.

Elliot took Avery’s hand and let go: “Hazel, tell me when your mom wakes up.”

“Okay.” Hazel said obediently, “If sister comes out of the emergency room, tell me too.”

“Yes.”

Time passed very slowly.

After Hazel wiped away the tears from the corners of her mother’s eyes with a paper towel, she sat on the edge of the hospital bed and began to be in a daze.

Her head had a lot of thoughts suddenly flashing through her head, but when she thought carefully about what thoughts popped up in her mind, she couldn't remember anything.

After much deliberation, she only hoped that her sister and Eric could wake up properly.

If Layla woke up and Eric had an accident, it would be a huge blow to both mother and sister.

This blow might last a lifetime.

It was quiet in the ward, but Hazel's heart was hard to be at peace.

She wanted to talk, but now everyone in the family was sad.

She had no friends and didn't know whom to confide in.

She took out her mobile phone, clicked on the address book, and found Lucas's number.

This was Lucas's number in Thopiavelle before.

After moving to Eozambiulle, Lucas got a new phone number. But he did not tell her the new number.

So she didn't know Lucas's current contact information.

In fact, she really wanted to find Lucas, and she could.

Whether it's Dad or Uncle Mike, they could help her find Lucas.

But she didn't want to disturb them, and she didn't know how to face Lucas with her current identity.

So, she decided to write him a message.

–Young Master, how are you doing now? Hope you are doing well.

–guess who I am? Guess where I am texting you right now? Let me tell you! I am in Northland now. It is far away from Thopiavelle and Eozambiulle. I'm really sad right now. I was so sad when my mother-in-law passed away last year. My sister and someone she likes had an accident and they're both in the emergency room now and don't know what's going on. Because of this incident, my father's hair turned gray from anxiety, and my mother also fainted from crying. I can't do anything but be with them. I feel so small and wish I had superpowers to keep my family safe.

–Forgot to tell you, I am Siena. But I am not called Siena now. My name is Hazel Foster now. Everyone calls me Hazel. It's the name an uncle gave me after I was born. I adore my new name, and I adore my family. Like my mother-in-law, they treat me very well. They even doted on me more than my mother-in-law. Whatever I want, they buy it for me. But now, our family is very sad because of the accident between our sister and Uncle Eric.

–Bless my sister to wake up quickly. Bless Uncle Eric is still alive.

...

After the message was sent out, there was no reply.

Lucas no longer used this number.

Hazel didn't intend for Lucas to see the message, but there was really no response, and she was still a little disappointed.

The next day.

Chapter 2745

Hazel opened her eyes and woke up, and saw herself sleeping on a hospital bed.

Seeing Robert guarding her in the ward, Hazel immediately said, "Second Brother, why am I sleeping here? Where's Mom? What time is it?"

Robert said, "It's 9 o'clock now. You stayed with your mother last night, probably too sleepy, so you fell asleep lying on your mother's bedside. Seeing that you fell asleep, I got you a ward."

"Is mother awake?" Hazel sat down stand up.

She slept through it last night and felt much better now.

After asking her mother, she immediately thought of Layla and Eric.

Hazel: "Where are my sister and Uncle Eric? How are they?"

Robert: "My sister is not in danger. But my sister has not woken up yet. Uncle Eric...he is not dead, but his condition is very bad. This hospital couldn't cure him... so the elder brother arranged for a plane to send him to Bridgedale. The elder brother also went to Bridgedale. After all, Uncle Eric saved my sister's life, so he must be trying to save Uncle Eric back.."

Hazel heaved a sigh of relief.

Fortunately, they were still alive.

"Mom woke up at 7 o'clock in the morning. After she woke up, she read Uncle Eric's inspection report last night, and then she didn't say a word... I guess the situation is really bad." Robert sighed, "Little sister, are you hungry? I'll buy you something to eat."

"Second brother, I'm not hungry." Hazel wanted to go and see Layla, "Can you take me to see our sister?"

"Let's take you to eat something first! Otherwise, what if you faint from hunger later?" Robert picked up her schoolbag, "Sister hasn't woken up yet, the doctor told us not to disturb her. We'll talk about it when she wakes up."

Hazel: "Oh. Then let's go see our sister when she wakes up."

Robert: "Yes."

"Where are father and mother?" Hazel asked.

"They're waiting outside sister's ward. But mom wants to go to Bridgedale, so she can't worry about Uncle Eric." Robert said, "When sister wakes up, mom should go to Bridgedale."

"Well, second brother, Are you asleep yet?" Hazel looked at Robert worriedly.

"I slept for a while." Robert took Hazel to the ward last night, and slept on her stomach on the table next to her for a while.

Hazel: "Did Dad sleep?"

"He should have slept in Mom's ward for a while." Robert said, "After the doctor said that sister's life was not in danger, the tension in Dad's heart was also relaxed."

Hazel: "That's good."

"I heard that sister is the only survivor in that avalanche." Robert told Hazel the gossip he heard.

Hazel frowned immediately: "Isn't Uncle Eric still alive? Why do you say that my sister is the only one? Uncle Eric will also get better."

Robert: "They think Uncle Eric can't live. Because Uncle Eric was sent to the hospital, at that time, he was in shock and was not breathing. After being sent to the emergency room for rescue, he was breathing weakly again...Anyway, Uncle Eric's condition is very bad. I am really worried that Uncle Eric will not be able to hold on."

Hazel : "No. Uncle Eric will definitely be able to hold on. Doesn't it mean that Uncle Eric had an accident before, but did he recover later? Uncle Eric's willpower must be extremely tenacious, otherwise he would not be so successful. I read before It was written in a book that successful people are those with strong willpower."

Robert: "Indeed. Those who can succeed are those who can withstand high pressure."

Intensive care ward.

Layla woke up after being in a coma for a day and a night.

"Layla." Seeing her daughter waking up, Avery trembled with excitement, "Layla, you finally woke up."

Layla's eyes were a little distracted.

She kept looking at her mother's face, trying to recall why she was lying here in her mind.

After a little hard thinking, she remembered everything.

Chapter 2746

Layla's tears came out one step ahead of the crying.

"Don't cry, baby. Eric is not dead yet." Avery immediately held Layla's hand,

"Mom knows you were frightened, it's over. It's all over."

Layla clutched Avery's hand tightly and couldn't stop crying.

Elliot walked to the hospital bed and wiped Layla's tears with a tissue.

"Layla, don't cry. We will do our best to treat Eric. This matter has nothing to do with you. Don't blame yourself." Elliot wiped Layla's tears, but her tears kept coming gushing out.

"It's me...it's me who killed him." Layla pushed away her father's hand wiping her tears, "If I didn't call him over, nothing would happen to him. ...Mom and Dad, I killed him."

Elliot and Avery stood by the hospital bed in a daze, watching Layla's tearful pain, and listening to her heartbroken cry, they didn't know how to answer.

Because no matter how much they comforted, Layla decided that she was responsible for this matter.

They actually understand their daughter's feelings very well, but they don't want their daughter to have such feelings.

The disaster had already happened, and the days to come would continue.

Even if Eric died unfortunately in this disaster, she would still have to live on in the future.

Layla let herself cry for a while, then fell asleep again.

The doctor came and examined Layla.

“Mr. Foster, Ms. Tate, you don’t have to worry. She has no major problems now. It’s just that you need to pay more attention to the psychological aspect. It’s better to find a professional psychiatrist to intervene.”

Avery: “Thank you.”

Now they had to wait for Layla’s physical condition to improve a bit, then took her out of the hospital and brought her back to Aryadelle.

After Hazel had breakfast with Robert, she came to visit Layla. Her Mom and Dad were outside the ward, talking about something.

After Elliot and Avery approached, they stopped and looked at Hazel.

“Mom and Dad, is sister still awake?” Hazel asked.

“She awoke just now but fell back asleep.” Avery walked up to Hazel and held Hazel’s hand, “Hazel, your sister’s mood is very unstable. She blameed herself and felt that everything was her fault. Now she can’t listen to other people’s comfort. Only when Eric’s situation improves can your sister’s guilt be relieved. So I plan to go to Bridgedale now to see if I can help her.”

“Mom, go to Bridgedale! I’ll watch over my sister.” Knowing her mother’s intentions, Hazel immediately said sensibly, “I’ve already asked for leave from school, and I can ask the teacher to help make up the missed classes.”

“Well. Hazel, thank you for being so sensible. When your sister is discharged from the hospital, your father will take you back to Aryadelle.” Avery said, looking at Robert, “Robert, you should also persuade your sister when the time comes. Let’s help her get through this toughest time first.”

“Mom, I know. Are you going to Bridgedale today? I’ll take you to the airport!”

Robert turned on his phone and glanced at the flight to Bridgedale today.

There was another flight to Bridgedale today, just two hours later.

Avery also checked the flight, so she agreed.

Avery: "I'll go to the hotel to pack my luggage and leave later."

"I'll accompany you to the hotel." Robert accompanied his mother to leave the hospital.

Hazel glanced into the ward through the glass of the ward door.

Chapter 2747

"Dad, can I go in and stay with my sister?" Hazel was afraid that her sister would wake up later, but she would not be able to find out immediately when she was outside.

Elliot nodded: "Hazel, your mother thinks we were wrong. If we had promised your sister to be with Eric from the beginning, they wouldn't have come here, and nothing would have happened."

"Dad, no one is wrong." Hazel said firmly, "If everyone can predict what will happen in the future, there will be no accidents and disasters in this world."

Hazel's answer comforted Elliot a little.

"Dad, you use your experience to guide us to make the right choice. This is your responsibility as a father. Even if you choose the wrong direction for us, it is not your fault. No one is perfect, and no one can last forever. Dad, in my eyes, you are a good father."

Elliot hugged Hazel into his arms: "Hazel, Dad thanks you for being so sensible."

"Dad, my sister won't blame you." Hazel hugged her father and said firmly, "My sister told me that she loves you and mother very much. So you don't feel guilty."

"Yeah. Go in!" Elliot let go of his little daughter, "If your sister wakes up, if she's not feeling well, you can talk to her alone first."

“Okay.” After Hazel finished speaking, she pushed open the door of the ward and entered the ward.

She walked to the hospital bed and looked at Layla’s pale face. Although Layla was not life-threatening, she also suffered from frostbite.

Layla had an indwelling needle inserted in the back of her hand and was infusion.

Hazel reached out and touched Layla’s hand.

Layla’s hands were slightly cold. So Hazel reached out and gently held her sister’s hand, trying to make her warmer.

About half an hour later, Layla woke up again.

She’d been in a coma long enough that she wasn’t physically that tired, she was mostly emotionally broken.

“Sister.” Seeing Layla open her eyes, Hazel immediately called softly, “Sister, I’m Hazel.”

Layla was in a daze when she saw Hazel.

Wasn’t Mom and Dad by the hospital bed just now?

“Second brother sent mom to the airport. Mom plans to go to Bridgedale to find Uncle Eric.” Hazel explained to Layla, “Tell me to see if I can help you.”

Layla clicked her chin and spoke with a hoarse voice: “Is Eric really not dead?

Little sister, don’t lie to me...”

Obviously on the snow mountain, she could no longer shout at Eric.

“I didn’t see Uncle Eric. But if Uncle Eric passed away, Mom won’t leave you to go to Bridgedale now.” Hazel said, “Uncle Eric was sent to Bridgedale for treatment.”

Layla’s vision was blurred again, and her memory was pulled back to the snow mountain again: “I called him, but he didn’t answer. I touched his head with my forehead, but he didn't respond. His face was blue with cold, his face was so cold. I thought he was dead."

"When rescuers discovered him on the snowy mountain, they reported that he was dead. Indeed, he was not breathing at the time. My mother collapsed when we all believed that he had passed away. Thankfully, he was taken to the hospital. After the doctor's intervention, he now has a heartbeat. His condition appears to be shock."

Hazel's words made Layla stop crying.

"Little sister, do you know what the last words he said to me are?" Layla's tears, which had been so hard to stop, burst out again.

Hazel wanted to know very much, so he asked, "What did he say?"

Layla: "He made me forget him. Because he thought he was going to die, he was afraid that I would feel guilty for this incident, and that I would never get out of it. So he made me forget him and live a good life in the future."

Chapter 2748

Layla's voice choked up at the end, and she couldn't say anything else.

Hazel immediately wiped away her sister's tears with a tissue.

"Sister, please do not cry. Uncle Eric and you will be fine. You will be discharged from the hospital soon." Hazel persuaded, "There is such an accident. When Uncle Eric gets well and you want to marry him, Mom and Dad will definitely not say anything more."

"Little sister, I think his condition must be very bad." Layla had been with Eric at that time, so Layla knew very well, "He put his coat on me. He only wore a very thin sweater. In such a cold weather, he wore so little, and he didn't even plan to survive. He said that the rescue of my parents would not arrive so quickly, and he let me wait until the rescue."

When Layla said this, Hazel couldn't help crying.

“Sister, I used to think that Uncle Eric was a very good person. Now that I have gone through this incident, I think he is more than a good person. He is a person with flesh and blood, soul and breadth. When he recovers, I must thank him very much.”

Layla’s chest rose and fell rapidly.

About Eric, she couldn’t say a word anymore. All the pain, all the love, all buried deep in her heart.

If Eric survived, she would tell him in person. If Eric died, then she would tell him after she died.

After a while, the nurse came to change Layla’s dressing.

“Miss Tate, you are really lucky. There was an avalanche in the snow mountain this time, and many people died. You and Mr. Eric are the only survivors. So you must recover well and strive to be discharged from the hospital as soon as possible.” Layla was encouraged by the nurse’s words.

She and Eric were the only survivors.

“Miss Tate, you are permitted to eat liquid food today. If you don’t feel particularly uncomfortable after eating, you can eat as much as you want.

Nowadays, you should eat light, easily digestible foods. You can eat fruit and milk. You can only eat more to help your body recover as quickly as possible.”

The nurse continued.

Layla nodded: “Thank you.”

“You’re welcome. If you feel uncomfortable, please press the call bell at any time.” After the nurse finished speaking, she glanced at the medicine she was going to infuse today, “After this bottle is finished, there will be another bottle of medicine later.”

“It is good.”

After the nurse left, Hazel immediately asked Layla: "Sister, do you want to eat something? The nurse said liquid food, noodles and porridge are fine."

Layla was weak now and had little strength.

Even if she didn't get cold, if she didn't eat for a few days, her body would become extremely weak.

Hazel got up excitedly: "I'll ask the bodyguards to buy porridge for you."

After Hazel finished speaking, she walked out of the ward.

Hazel didn't expect Uncle Mike and Uncle Chad to stand outside.

Hazel: "Uncle Mike, Uncle Chad, when did you come here?"

"Just here. How is your sister?" Mike asked, "I saw you two talking inside, so I didn't go in to disturb you."

Hazel: "My sister is better. She is willing to eat porridge now."

Chad immediately said, "I'm going to buy it now."

Hazel: "That's hard work, Uncle Chad."

"It's not hard. As long as your sister can recover quickly, no matter how hard it is, it will be worth it." After Chad finished speaking, he walked towards the elevator.

"Uncle Mike, do you want to go in and talk to my sister? She is in a better condition now." Hazel said.

Mike nodded and entered the ward.

Outside the ward, Hazel and Elliot were left.

"Dad, my sister is better. I told her that Uncle Eric is not dead, so she thought about it a little bit." After Hazel finished speaking, the expression on Elliot's face did not relax.

Hazel was a little puzzled.

Elliot's voice came in a low voice: "Just now your elder brother said that Eric's condition is critical, and the doctor plans to use ECMO for him."

“ECMO?” Hazel seemed to have heard of this word, but it was a little unfamiliar. Elliot had heard of this word before, but he didn’t know much about it. Hayden sent Elliot a message just now, and after talking about this incident, he specifically checked ECMO on the Internet.

Chapter 2749

ECMO stands for Extracorporeal Membrane Oxygenation. This technique is mainly used in patients with severe cardiopulmonary failure. When the patient’s heart and lung function fails to sustain life, ECMO can be used for extracorporeal breathing and circulation. In layman’s terms, it is to use the machine to bypass the patient’s heart and lungs, and use the machine to replace the work of the heart and lungs to maintain the patient’s life.

The cost of using ECMO was very expensive, and ordinary people simply couldn’t afford it.

Although Eric didn’t have to worry about medical expenses, his subsequent treatment was still a very difficult issue.

Various instruments could only guarantee that he was alive medically, but they couldn’t make him open his eyes and speak like a living person.

He looked like a living dead now.

Layla would be devastated if she found out about it.

Hazel looked up the word on the phone, and after seeing the explanation, Hazel also fell silent.

“Don’t tell your sister about this beforehand.” Elliot said, “We’ll talk about it after she’s discharged from the hospital.”

Hazel: “it is good.”

Three days later, Layla’s body had recovered enough to be discharged from the hospital.

Layla didn't want to stay any longer. She wanted to leave the hospital.

After She was discharged from the hospital, Hazel helped her sister out of the ward.

Elliot prepared a wheelchair.

Layla didn't really want to use a wheelchair. She was able to walk, but she was clumsier than usual and not particularly mobile.

Elliot knew that Layla would make this request, so he agreed straight away:

"Okay. Should I go to Hayden's house or your mother's house?"

Both Avery and Hayden had houses in Bridgedale.

"Go to mother's house!" Layla lived a little more at mother's house. The more important thing was that her mother's house was close to the city center, while her brother's house was on his company's side, which was a bit far from the city center.

The best hospital in Bridgedale was in the city center.

Layla wanted to go to the hospital to see Eric after she got better.

"Okay." Elliot was now obedient to Layla's request.

He had already felt the pain of losing his daughter once, and he never wanted to experience it again.

Even if his daughter wanted the moon in the sky now, he would try his best to get it off for her.

"Dad, I feel better today." Layla had seen her Dad's gray hair long ago. After she woke up, her Dad didn't talk to her much.

Probably afraid of saying the wrong thing and making her cry. In fact, she knew very well what her dad was thinking.

It's just that she didn't have much energy these two days, and her mind was in a mess, so she didn't take the initiative to talk to her dad.

Now that her dad was pushing herself in the wheelchair, she felt as heavy as her dad's love for her.

"That's good. The doctor said that you should keep warm and not catch the cold." Elliot took the initiative to talk to him, and he was very happy. "It's colder in Bridgedale. When you arrive in Bridgedale, you'd better rest at home. Don't go out."

Layla: "Dad, is my phone broken?"

Elliot: "Yeah. I'll buy you a new mobile phone when we get to Bridgedale."

Layla: "Can the phone card be replaced?"

"It has to be made up in Aryadelle. I'll have someone make it up in Aryadelle and send it to Bridgedale." Elliot replied.

Chapter 2750

Layla thought of something and looked at Hazel: "Little sister, go back to Aryadelle! You have wasted a lot of time by coming to see me."

Hazel immediately said: "Sister, I can make up lessons and come back. I want to be with you."

Layla said, looking at Robert, "Robert, you take Hazel back to Aryadelle. Both of you go back to school."

Robert: "Let's stay with you for a few more days!"

Layla: "I'm fine. Besides, it's enough to have my parents and brothers with me."

Robert: "Okay! Then we have to go to Bridgedale first. I want to see Uncle Eric."

After Robert said this, Layla didn't say anything more.

The family boarded a private jet and flew to Bridgedale.

After more than ten hours of flight, they arrived in Bridgedale smoothly.

Back at home in Bridgedale, Avery took Layla and looked her up and down.

"Mom, I'm really fine. I just woke up feeling weak. After three days of infusion, I'm much better now." Layla said, "Mom, how is Eric?"

Avery knew that her daughter was going to ask this question, so she thought about how to answer it in advance.

"He needs a heart and lung transplant." Avery said, "Now we are looking for a suitable donor."

Layla's eyes darkened: "He's so sick..."

"It's not as serious as you think. As long as we find a suitable donor, we can have an operation. If the prognosis of the operation is good, it will not affect his future life."

"It's not so easy to find a donor, is it? Does it need to be matched? Otherwise, give him my organs..."

"Layla, you need a match." Avery held her daughter's hand in both hands, "We will do our best to keep Eric alive. We will also do our best to restore him to health. When you were young, you often said that your mom was the greatest doctor, can you trust your mom again?"

"But mom, you can't help him with surgery...it's not what you're good at." Layla's eyes were red.

Avery: "Your mom is not the only excellent doctor in the world. Although your mom is not a general practitioner, she has confidence, and you should also have confidence."

Layla nodded: "Mom, I believe in you, and I believe in him."

"Well, let's eat first! I asked the nanny to cook the dishes you like." Avery led her daughter to the dining room, and at the same time greeted the others to take their seats, "Everyone has worked hard these days. After dinner, take a good rest first."

The nanny brings the prepared meals to the table.

“Mom, sister told me to go back with my little sister.” Robert said.

“I’ve already been discharged from the hospital, so I don’t need you to waste any more time with me.” Layla answered, “Robert, if you want to continue playing, I have no problem, but my little girl has to go back to school.”

Layla said this because she knew that Hazel attached great importance to study.

“I want to spend more time with you!” Robert didn’t dare to play too serious a joke on his sister, after all, her sister had just been discharged from the hospital and hadn’t fully returned to normal.

“I know, but I won’t have any more accidents. We still have a lot of time to see each other in the future.” Layla was also more patient than before, “Go back to school first.”

Avery: “Since your sister said so, you two should go back to school!”

“Okay! Mom, can we go to the hospital to see Uncle Eric?” Robert asked.

Avery shook her head: “He’s in the ICU now, so you can’t visit there.”

When Avery finished speaking, the atmosphere at the dinner table suddenly became a little heavy.

“I’ve been in the ICU too, so don’t be nervous. With the current medical technology, even if young people are admitted to the ICU, most of them will be able to come out smoothly. Unless they are seventy and eighty, and the organs of the whole body are failing, then they are helpless.” Mike said.

“I’ve also been in the ICU.” Elliot answered, “What Mike said is indeed true.”

Chad said: “Layla, you don’t have to worry too much. We are using the world’s best medical treatment on Eric, and he will definitely not die.”

Layla lowered her head slightly and responded, “Let’s eat!”

After dinner, Elliot called Robert aside.

Chapter 2751

“Robert, you and your sister go back on a private plane. I’ll stay in Bridgedale to accompany your sister. After you go back, you should take care of your sister. I don’t know when I’ll go back for the time being.” Elliot said.

Hazel was next to Robert, listening to Elliot and Robert’s instructions.

“Okay, I will take good care of my sister.” Robert agreed.

“You guys go to sleep first, and go back tomorrow!” Elliot considered that they had only been on the plane for so long, so he arranged, “Call me if you have anything to do when you go back, and don’t make up your own mind about everything.”

Robert: “Dad, I know.”

Elliot finished explaining to Robert, then looked at Hazel.

Elliot: “Hazel, you can go back to school with peace of mind. When the situation here gets better, we will go back to Aryadelle.”

Hazel nodded, thinking of one thing: “Didn’t the doctor say before that it’s best to hire a psychiatrist for my sister?”

Elliot: “This matter has to be discussed with your sister. Let your mom discuss it with her then.”

Hazel nodded.

“Dad, your hair is turning gray.” Hazel was now close to Elliot, so she could see clearly.

Elliot knew, but he didn’t care.

Avery came over and stroked Elliot’s hair: “Tomorrow I’ll buy hair dye cream to dye you black. It’s better to be black.”

Elliot didn’t mind his white hair, nor did he mind that Avery dyed him black.

Elliot: “Sooner or later we’re all going to have gray hair.”

“Wait until that day comes.” Avery looked at his white hair at the temples, feeling a little distressed, “Your gray hair is caused by excessive mental stress. Maybe it will turn black after a while when your mental state returns to normal.”

“I’ve also reached the age when my hair should grow gray.” Elliot was not afraid of aging.

Avery: “I don’t want to see you grow old.”

Elliot couldn’t help but laugh: “Then I can only fulfill your wish if I disappear in front of you from now on.”

Avery: “Do you want to see me become an old woman?”

Elliot: “When you become an old lady, I will also become an old man.”

Avery: “What I’m asking is do you want to see it?”

Elliot thought for a while, then shook his head: “Of course I hope you will always be young and beautiful.”

“That’s what I mean. It’s not that I can’t accept you getting old.” Avery smiled and said softly, “Next, you need to take a good rest.”

Elliot nodded.

“How about I go buy hair dye now?” Robert stood beside Elliot, blushing when he heard what his parents said, “There should be some in the supermarket.”

Avery: “Then go buy it! It’s cold outside, so go by car.”

It took less than ten minutes to walk from Avery’s residence to the nearest supermarket.

But now the weather was colder, Avery didn’t want Robert to suffer from the cold.

She found the car keys and handed them to Robert.

After Robert went out, Hazel asked her mom, "Mom, can you still dye your hair? You are really good."

Hazel's words made Avery's expression froze.

Elliot was also stunned.

Dyeing people's hair...Avery probably never did it.

"There are instructions on the hair dye cream. Just follow the instructions later." Avery bit the bullet and said.

Chapter 2752

Mike laughed loudly: "It should be similar to shining shoes."

Chad: "Dyeing hair must be much more difficult than shining shoes. But Avery is smart, even if she hasn't done it before, it will definitely be fine. According to the instructions, there will generally be no problems."

Elliot's scalp was already numb.

Hayden made an opinion: "Mom, why don't you take Dad to the barber shop to get dyed? So as not to get your hands dirty."

Hayden really knew the art of speaking. He was obviously worried that Avery would fail to dye Elliot's hair, but said that she would not get her hands dirty.

"Your mom wants to dye your dad herself. Do you know what it's called?"

Mike said and put his hand on Hayden's shoulder and taught, "It's called fun.

You don't have a girlfriend, so you don't understand."

Hayden: "..."

"It's getting late, Chad and I will leave first." Mike said goodbye to Avery immediately before Hayden fought back.

Avery sent them out.

After sending them away, Avery went back to the house and asked Hayden, "Are you staying here tonight, or going back to your place?"

Hayden: "Just live here."

Avery nodded, and asked in a low voice, "Is there still no suitable girl around?"

Avery rarely asked Hayden about his relationship.

When Mike mentioned it just now, Avery followed up and asked.

Hayden didn't feel much pressure on the question raised by her mom.

Because his mom and dad didn't urge marriage as hard as other parents did.

Their attitude towards his marriage was generally more accommodating, fully respecting his wishes.

They never arranged a blind date for him like other parents did.

"No." Hayden answered truthfully.

"It's because there are few girls in your company, and you basically have no social reasons other than work!" Avery pointedly said, "You can increase your social interaction appropriately. Break away from your social activities outside of work. For example, you participate in some social activities that you are interested in. If you are interested in something, you can find offline activities in that area...so you can definitely find girls with the same interests."

Hayden nodded, fully affirmed his mom's suggestion, and replied at the same time: "I'm too lazy to meet strangers."

Avery: "Then you look for it among familiar people?"

Hayden: "I don't want to find a wife now."

Avery: "Oh... that's fine too. You're not very old."

Hayden: "Why don't you watch a few teaching videos on hair dyeing first?"

Otherwise, I'll be in a hurry later, and I won't be able to help you."

After being reminded by Hayden, Avery immediately found her mobile phone and began to search for teaching videos on hair dyeing.

Hazel accompanied Layla to the room.

“Sister, I’ll sleep with you tonight!” Hazel said, “I’m going back to Aryadelle tomorrow, and I don’t know when I can see you again.”

Layla: “I will definitely go back to Aryadelle. I can’t help anything by staying here. Before Eric wakes up, all I can do is to live well.”

After all, this life was bought by Eric at the cost of sacrificing his life.

Hazel: “Sister, I’m really happy that you can think like this.”

“Mom made me trust her.” Layla said firmly, “I trust her.”

Hazel also believed in her mom.

“I have to go back to Aryadelle to find Eric’s parents.” Layla told her plan.

Hazel: “Sister, I will go with you when the time comes.”

Layla shook her head: “I’ll go by myself. I’ve seen his parents, and I know where his parents’ house is.”

Hazel: “I’m afraid they will blame you.”

Layla: “They should blame me. If they don’t blame me, I will feel more guilty.”

Chapter 2753

“Sister, when Uncle Eric wakes up, he will definitely not blame you. He will be very happy to see you well.” Hazel wanted her sister to always remember this.

Her life was saved by Eric, she just had to remember Eric’s attitude towards her.

Because Hazel said to wait for him to wake up, the corners of Layla’s mouth rose slightly: “I will wait for him to wake up.”

After the sisters took a bath, they came to the living room.

They saw their mom dyeing their dad’s hair.

Robert helped his mom by the side.

“Dad, are you nervous?” Hazel walked to the side, watched her mom operate for a few seconds, and asked Elliot.

Elliot was a little nervous at first, but after the nervousness passed, he thought about it.

Since Avery was currently unsure of how to dye his hair, she should give it a shot; if she was successful, she would then have experience.

“Dyeing black, even if it fails, it won’t be too bad.” Elliot answered Hazel’s question, “When I get old and my hair turns gray, your mom will continue to dye it for me. She will definitely be an expert in this field in the future.”

Hazel experienced a warm current in her heart after hearing her dad’s response.

Hazel: “Then mom’s hair is gray? Dad, do you dye mom’s hair too?”

Elliot: “If your mom doesn’t dislike it, I have no objection.”

Avery: “Let’s talk about it when my hair turns gray!”

After watching for a while, Layla asked, “Dad, do you think I’m dead and that’s why I’m dying?”

Just as Elliot was about to answer, Avery spoke up first: “Your dad couldn’t stop crying when he saw the picture of the avalanche scene.”

Elliot wanted to refute, but he opened his mouth, but in the end he didn’t refute.

He really felt that Layla had almost no chance of surviving, so he was very pessimistic and sad.

“Layla, it’s really good that you’re still alive.” Elliot said, “Don’t go to dangerous places again. Dad can’t bear such a second blow.”

Layla: “Good dad. I will never go to such a far place again, and I will never go to such a dangerous place again.”

After this incident, Layla saw how good Eric treated her, and also saw how much her dad loved her.

She had no reason not to live well. Because she lived not only for herself, but also for those who loved her.

The next day, Robert and Hazel got on the plane back to Aryadelle.

Elliot and Avery stayed in Bridgedale, taking care of Layla and taking care of Eric at the same time.

Entering winter, the weather was getting colder every day.

However, no matter how cold the winter in Bridgedale was, it was far less cold than that in Northland.

Layla stayed at home, and after recuperating for half a month, her body finally returned to normal.

During dinner, Avery came back from the hospital.

“Mom, I want to go back to Aryadelle.” Layla had already made an agreement with her dad, and now she just needed to tell her mom.

Avery: “Yes! If you go back to Aryadelle, let Dad go back to Aryadelle with you.”

“Mmm. Mom, I want to see Eric before I go back to Aryadelle.” Layla already knew that Eric was using ECMO to support his life.

She checked some information on the Internet, and she was already mentally prepared.

After hesitating for a while, Avery agreed.

The next day, Avery took Layla to the hospital.

It was a clean ward in the intensive care unit. They had to put on protective clothing before going in.

Avery personally put on the protective clothing for Layla.

After the mother and daughter were disinfected, they entered the intensive care unit.

Layla thought she was mentally prepared, but when she saw so many tubes inserted into Eric's body and saw his bright red blood flowing through several cold tubes, tears blurred her vision immediately.

Chapter 2754

Avery patted Layla on the shoulder: "Let's go out!"

Layla stood where she was, as if enchanted by someone, and could not hear Avery's words at all.

Avery held her hand and took her out of the intensive care unit.

After coming out of the intensive care unit, Avery immediately helped Layla take off the protective clothing.

"Layla, don't cry. He will get better." Avery comforted, "This situation is only temporary now. After the operation is performed on him, he will be able to get out of the machine."

Layla sobbed as she hugged Avery: "Mom, you must save him...I have so many things to tell him."

"Mom knows." Avery patted Layla's back lightly with the palm of her hand, "Now he is the savior of our family. Mom and Dad are very grateful to him, and we are all trying to find a donor... As long as we find a suitable donor, he will have hope."

"Mom, what can we do as soon as possible? Find a donor?" Layla was desperate to help. No matter what the price.

"Layla, mom knows you're in a hurry, and mom is in a hurry. But this kind of thing doesn't just cost money to find immediately. We've scoured the globe to find donors. Be patient and wait. Your dad and I don't care about the cost, the hospital is matching every day, as long as there is a suitable one, I will tell you as soon as possible.”

Avery's words made Layla calm down a little.

“Mom, can he feel pain now?” Layla asked, wiping away her tears.

Avery: “He's unconscious now. You can take it as if he doesn't feel pain.”

“Is it dangerous if he stays unconscious?” Layla worried that Eric would be in pain if he became conscious, and worried that he wouldn't wake up if he remained unconscious.

Avery: “It will be fine after the operation. Layla, you should go back to Aryadelle first! The situation here is currently under control. You stay here, besides worrying, you are still worried. Mom will stay here and wait for his recovered from the operation.”

Layla: “Mom, thank you for your hard work.”

Avery: “Compared to his taking care of you, mom is nothing. After you return to Aryadelle, go and see his parents. They called and wanted to come here, but I asked them to come here after the operation.”

Layla: “Yes. I just want to apologize to them when I go back to Aryadelle.”

Avery raised her hand to wipe away the tears from the corners of Layla's eyes: “ Don't blame yourself too much. If you could save him, I believe you will save him too. Love is mutual.”

.....

Aryadelle.

After entering the winter, Hazel lived in the house outside the university much more frequently.

One reason was the weather, and the other was that she needed to make up for the lessons she had missed during her previous absence.

When get out of class was over, a female classmate approached Hazel.

“Hazel, your home is outside the university? No wonder you don’t live on campus!”

Hazel glanced at the female classmate in front of her.

They were in the same major, but not in the same class.

Hazel’s attitude towards female classmates was much friendlier than that of male classmates who stroke up a conversation.

“How do you know?” Hazel put the books into the schoolbag, and then put the schoolbag on her back.

The female classmate walked out of the classroom with her.

“It’s a bit of a coincidence...the tutor you found recently is my aunt.” The girl smiled kindly at Hazel, “My aunt came to my house for dinner yesterday and was a little late. She said there was a student in our school Looking for her to make up lessons, I was curious who worked so hard, so I asked a lot. She refused to tell me your name, saying that this matter cannot be said to the outside world. I overheard it when my uncle asked her secretly.”

Hazel smiled awkwardly: “I asked for leave before, and I couldn’t keep up with some courses, so I asked the teacher to find your aunt. The teacher said that your aunt is specialized in training in this area.”

Chapter 2755

“My aunt used to be the host of the TV station. Later, she resigned after suffering a serious illness. Not all students are accepted for training now. In fact, I was also influenced by my aunt when I learned broadcasting and hosting. I grew up I especially admire her.” The female classmate said.

“I learned this major because I adore a host.” Hazel answered.

“Oh? Which host do you like best?” asked the female classmate.

Hazel didn’t know how to answer. Because the host she admired was from Thopiavelle.

The TV she watched before was from Thopiavelle, and all the sources of information she came into contact with came from Thopiavelle.

She was not very familiar with the host of Aryadelle.

"I don't know her name." Hazel lied casually and brought the subject aside.

"Hazel, I think you don't participate in school activities. Is it because you don't want to participate or your family members don't let you? The neighborhood next to our university is not cheap. Your family is quite rich!"

Hazel: "No. It doesn't matter if I make friends. It's because I don't really like to participate in group activities. If there are activities with credits, I will definitely participate."

"Hahahaha! It's really funny what you said. They all said that you look down on your classmates because of your beauty. My aunt said that you are not such a person. My aunt said that you not only take your studies very seriously, but also treat people very politely. Absolutely you're not that kind of person." The female classmate boasted.

Hazel blushed a little, not knowing how to answer.

Because she didn't want any of her classmates to know her family situation.

As long as one person knew, countless people would know.

"Hazel, don't worry, I won't tell other students that you asked my aunt to make up lessons. Also, your family lives outside the University, so I won't tell others."

Hazel: "Thank you! I just want to study hard and don't want to spend too much energy on other aspects."

The classmate: "I'm so proud of you. You are not only gorgeous, but you also put in a lot of effort. I feel a little self-conscious."

Hazel: "Don't say that. I don't have a good background, so I need to work hard to catch up with everyone.”

The classmate: “You are so humble!”

Hazel couldn't tell this female classmate that she got into this University through connections, so she could only continue to find topics to talk about. :

“What else did your aunt say?”

The female classmate frowned slightly, and after thinking carefully, she shook her head: “My aunt refuses to tell me too much about you. She said she couldn't. But I listened that she told my mother that your tuition fee is very high. So I guess your family is rich. Even if my aunt doesn't say this, I know your family is rich. Because my aunt's tuition fee has always been higher than that of ordinary training teachers. If you can afford my aunt, then your family is not poor.”

Hazel nodded: “I feel that most of the students around me should not be poor, right?”

“It's very bad. I know that people from poorer families will choose majors that are easier to find employment. For example, girls will study medical care and accounting, and boys will study computers.”

Hazel felt that she said very sincerely, and gradually let go of her guard.

“I'm going to eat in the cafeteria, are you going?” Hazel asked.

“I'm going to the cafeteria too. Let's eat together!”

Hazel: “Okay.”

After the two arrived at the cafeteria, Hazel's cell phone vibrated. She immediately took the phone out of her bag. Seeing that it was Robert's calling, she immediately stepped aside and answered the phone.

“Little sister, I checked your schedule. You don't have class tonight, right?”

Dad and sister are back, and I'll pick you up from your University.” Robert said.

Chapter 2756

Hazel was very surprised. She didn't know that her dad and sister were coming back today.

Holding her mobile phone, she said to the female classmate beside her, "Sorry! I have to go home now. Next time I have a chance, I will treat you to dinner."

The female classmate understood and said, "Then you go first! I will eat by myself."

"Hmm." Hazel responded and walked out of the cafeteria with her mobile phone.

"Little sister, who were you talking to just now?" Robert heard what Hazel said just now.

"A female classmate." Hazel replied, "Second brother, where are you now?"

"I'm almost at the gate of your University." Robert said calmly, "You met another new friend?"

"No, it's a coincidence. I asked the teacher to introduce me to a teacher who can help me make up lessons, and our teacher introduced one to me. It turned out that the teacher who gave me make up lessons was the aunt of this female classmate." Hazel simply told the second brother about the matter, "This female classmate feels pretty good, and she shouldn't be the kind of person who talks nonsense."

Robert himself was a man of the hour in University, and everyone knew that he had a lot of background, so Robert had never Hazel's troubles.

Robert stood in Hazel's position and said, "Anyway, don't trust others."

"I understood." When Hazel said this, she thought of her dad and sister, and the corners of her mouth suddenly rose, "Why didn't you tell me in advance when Dad and sister came back?”

“I only found out after they came back. Maybe they also decided to come back temporarily!” Robert said.

“How is sister? Has she recovered?” Hazel asked.

Robert: “I haven’t seen them yet! Dad called me and asked me to take you home for dinner. When he called me, he had just got off the plane. I answered his call and asked for leave to pick you up.”

Hazel: “You can ask the driver to pick them up!”

Robert: “The driver is picking them up.”

Hazel: “Oh! I can take a taxi home by myself.”

Robert: “Isn’t it good for your brother to pick you up?”

Hazel laughed: “Of course. But you asked for leave to pick me up, didn’t you delay your class?”

Robert: “Even if I don’t come to pick you up, I still have to ask for leave to go home and have dinner with you! You don’t have to worry about my study, my study is good! Even if I don’t come to College every day, I can pass the class.”

Hazel: “Why?”

“Because your brother is smart!” Robert laughed.

Hazel blushed in embarrassment: “Second brother, you look so stupid to me!”

The two of them asked for leave together to see their sister, but after returning to Aryadelle, she had to make up lessons every day to keep up with the progress of her studies, but the second brother did not care at all. As if affected.

After seeing her second brother return to Aryadelle, Hazel took part in various activities as usual and had a good time every day.

Because the second brother liked to post on Moments, Hazel knew.

“Little sister, of course you are not stupid. I know you have been admitted to a good university in Thopiavelle!” Robert boasted, “I have arrived at the gate of your university. Shall I get out of the car and wait for you?”

“Second brother, I recognize your car. It’s cold outside, so you wait for me in the car.” Hazel was almost at the university gate.

Robert: “I thought you didn’t let me get out of the car because you were afraid of being recognized by your classmates! Haha!”

Hazel blushed slightly: “There are also considerations in this regard. If some classmates who know me see me getting into your car, they will talk behind my back.”

“Will they say you found a rich boyfriend?” Robert teased.

Hazel: “Maybe! Anyway, they have very rich imaginations.”

“Just say they are your relatives.” Robert gave her a suggestion, “Who doesn’t have one or two rich relatives!”

“That’s right. Then I’ll try next time.” Hazel came out from the university gate and saw her brother’s car at a glance.

She ran over quickly and got into the car.

....

Foster family.

After Elliot and Layla returned home, the maids immediately carried their luggage back to their respective rooms.

Layla turned on the phone and reported to Avery and Hayden that they were safe.

Chapter 2757

Also Layla sent messages to her best friend, Daisy at the same time.

After her accident in Bregon, Daisy called her a lot and sent her a lot of messages.

When she was recuperating in Bridgedale, Daisy even wanted to visit her in Bridgedale, but she refused.

Now that she had returned home, she wanted to tell Daisy.

On the other side of the company, the executives were very concerned about her health, so she replied to the executives one by one with the news of her return to Aryadelle, so as to prevent them from thinking wildly.

After a while, Robert's car drove into the front yard.

Seeing the Hazel and Robert coming back, the maid asked Elliot if it was time to serve.

Elliot nodded and stood up from the sofa.

"Sister!" Hazel got out of the car, saw Layla coming out of the villa, and ran over immediately.

Layla gave Hazel a hug after she ran over.

Hazel: "Sister, let me take a look at you."

"I have fully recovered." Layla turned around in front of Hazel.

"That's good." Hazel went to the door to change her shoes, and then dragged Layla into the house, "Dad!"

Elliot: "I heard you've been living outside recently."

"Well, I found a teacher to help me make up lessons. The house over there is more convenient." Hazel returned, "Dad, why didn't you tell us in advance when you came back?"

Elliot: "I want to give you a surprise."

Hearing his dad say this seriously, Hazel couldn't help but stop laughing.

"Let's eat first!" Elliot said to the children when he saw the maids bringing the food to the table.

“Dad, when is Mom going to come back?” Robert asked after taking his seat.

“We have to wait until after Eric’s surgery.” Elliot replied.

“Oh...is it so hard to find a donor?” Robert A little anxious.

“We need a type match.” Elliot didn’t know much, “I heard from the doctor that this kind of organ transplant usually has to wait.”

Robert: “I hope to find a suitable donor before the end of the year. This way we can have a happy new year.”

Elliot: “Yeah.”

After dinner, Hazel went back to her room to make up lessons.

She couldn’t make up lessons face-to-face today, so she would use video Call.

After the two connected the video call, the teacher saw the background of her room.

“Hazel, your room is so beautifully decorated. It’s like the princess’s room I saw on TV.” The teacher said with a smile.

Hazel looked around the room. She got used to it by herself and didn’t feel anything. But when she saw this room for the first time, she was also shocked.

Mom and Dad spoiled her like a princess.

So the decoration of the room was more luxurious and dreamy.

“Well, my parents love me more.” Hazel said lightly, “I saw your niece at University today, and today I have a class with her.”

The teacher: “Oh, she asked me about you But I didn’t say much. My niece is very nice, and she won’t tell you about your make-up lessons.”

“Well, I should make up two lessons so I don’t need to make up lessons.”

Hazel said.

“If you have nothing else to do tonight, I can finish it for you tonight.” The make-up teacher said, “Actually, this professional theoretical knowledge is not the most important thing. The important thing is that you should practice more.”

...

Another room.

After taking a shower, Layla dialed Eric’s mother.

Chapter 2758

The call was quickly connected.

“Auntie, I’m Layla.” Although Layla called Eric uncle before, she always called Mrs. Santos auntie.

Because Mrs. Santos was very beautiful. Even though she was old, she was charm.

Every time Layla went to Eric’s house and called Mrs. Santos auntie, she would not call Eric uncle, but just call him by his name.

If it was normal, Mrs. Santos would definitely be very enthusiastic and happy when she received a call from Layla.

But now, Eric had become like this, and she still didn’t know if the operation would be successful. Mrs. Santos’s heart was very heavy and sad.

Mrs. Santos didn’t have the energy and thought to force a smile on people.

After Mrs. Santos responded, Layla continued: “Auntie, I’m back in Aryadelle.

I want to visit you and uncle tomorrow.”

Mrs. Santos hesitated, and then agreed.

“Then I won’t disturb your rest. See you tomorrow.” Layla finished talking on the phone and hung up.

Although Mrs. Santos didn’t blame Layla on the phone, Layla was already overwhelmed by guilt.

.....

Santos villa.

After talking on the phone with Layla, Mrs. Santos sat by the bed, weeping absentmindedly.

Mr. Santos took out a tissue and wiped his wife’s tears.

“Wife, don’t cry. It’s not Layla’s fault.” Mr. Santos sighed, “If our son didn’t have that kind of thought for Layla, could he be called to that place casually? It’s fate. Let’s accept our fate!”

Mrs. Santos: “I know this is fate... I don’t blame anyone... What right do I have to blame them? If Avery hadn’t rescued our son back then, Our son may have died long ago. He has lived for so many years, we are not at a loss.”

Mr. Santos nodded: “That’s the reason! And isn’t our son still dead? Isn’t Avery telling us about his situation every day? As long as he is not dead, there is still hope!”

Mrs. Santos leaned on her husband’s shoulder, said: “Why is our son so miserable! I feel sorry for him.”

Mr. Santos: “He’s not suffering. At least his career is going well. He told me that all the goals he wanted to achieve in his life have been achieved, even if he really passed away unfortunately, he shouldn’t be in pain.”

Mrs. Santos: “He is not in pain, but we are in pain!”

Mr. Santos pursed his lips and did not answer.

Although what Mr. Santos said was calm, why didn’t he feel pain in his heart?

The most painful thing in life was the loss of one's mother in one's early years and one's son in one's old age.

The next day, Mr. Santos and his wife went to the vegetable market early in the morning to buy vegetables.

Because Layla said last night that she would come today, Mrs. Santos planned to cook for herself.

After Layla had breakfast, she drove here by herself.

After she got off the car, she took out the gift she had brought.

The door of the villa was always open.

When Mr. Santos saw Layla's car stop, he immediately changed his shoes and came out to greet her.

Chapter 2759

"Uncle," Layla shouted immediately when she saw Mr. Santos.

Mr. Santos responded, seeing that she came alone, so he asked, "Did you drive here by yourself?"

Layla: "Yes."

Mr. Santos took the gift from Layla's hand: "Your aunt is cooking in the kitchen. You like to eat She cooks the dishes, so she will cook herself later."

"It doesn't need to be so troublesome. We can go out to eat later." Layla didn't want to burden the two elders.

"I bought a lot of vegetables this morning, so let's eat at home!" Mr. Santos said, and brought a pair of clean slippers for Layla. "This is the pair you wore last time. It's clean after washing."

While Layla was changing her shoes, Mrs. Santos came out of the kitchen.

"Auntie." Layla changed her shoes and strode towards Mrs. Santos, "Auntie, I'm sorry. I came here today to apologize to you and uncle."

"Your parents called us and apologized too." Mrs. Santos suppressed her sadness, "Did he ask you to call us! Before he had an accident..."

Layla held Mrs. Santos's hand and sat on the sofa sit down.

Mr. Santos sat down on the other side and wanted to hear about the situation at that time.

"He asked me to take care of his property, and the money will be given to you and uncle for retirement." Layla said truthfully, "But I don't plan to do that.

Because he will be fine. My mother said that as long as a suitable donor is found, she can perform an operation on him. The chance of success of the operation is very high. After the operation is successful, he will gradually return to normal. He will return to you and uncle, and will give you old age."

Layla's words made Mrs. Santos's psychological defense collapsed, and her eyes were wet.

"Layla, we think so too." Mr. Santos pulled out a smile, "He's not dead yet, there's still hope for everything."

"Yeah. I went to see him before I went back to Aryadelle." Layla paused after saying this, "He's still alive. I saw the lines on the ECG monitor beating.

That's his heartbeat."

Mrs. Santos Choked up and said: "I want to see him too. But your mother told me to go see him after the operation. In fact, we can also live in Bridgedale and wait...Wherever we wait, we always wait!"

"My mother is afraid You and uncle are close to him, and you feel more anxious." Layla explained, "When I was in Bridgedale, I wanted to go to the hospital every day. But I couldn't help at all by going to the hospital, and it would only make my mother follow her anxious."

Mrs. Santos nodded: "I understand... I understand your mother's feelings. If I go to Bridgedale with Mr. Santos, your mother will definitely be under great pressure. We'd better wait in Aryadelle. We trust your mother very much.

With your mother watching Eric over there, we are very relieved.”

“Me too.” Layla took a deep breath and told them her plan, “Uncle, auntie, wait for Eric Wake up, I want to marry him. No matter what he looks like in the future, as long as he is alive, I will marry him. I want to use the rest of my life to make up for him and take care of him.”

Mrs. Santos and Mr. Santos were stunned.

Layla continued, “My parents won't care about me anymore, so now I mainly ask for your consent. I've already considered this matter. If Eric dies, I will never marry for the rest of my life and will take care of you.”

Mrs. Santos held back tears and fell again: “Layla, you don't need to be like this... really unnecessary. We don't blame you... really don't blame you. Eric can live to Now, it's a blessing in misfortune. If your mother hadn't kindly saved him, he would have left us long ago.”

“I don't care about the matter between him and my mother. I only know that I-I want to marry him, and I will be with him in the future. If he stays in bed for the rest of his life, I will take care of him for the rest of his life. If he can return to normal, I will live with him...I want to give birth to his child, and then raise the child with him.” Layla had planned the future and made up her mind to do so.

She knew that Eric's parents would not stop Eric.

Like Eric, his parents were kind-hearted and very talkative.

Mrs. Santos held Layla's hand and sighed heavily: “We'll talk about it when Eric wakes up. We won't interfere with your affairs. As long as you are good, we can do whatever we want.”

Layla said with red eyes: “Auntie, I'm really sorry. I won't be so willful and reckless in the future. I won't torment him again."

Chapter 2760

Mrs. Santos: "Layla, I can be regarded as watching you grow up. You are very sensible and obedient. This accident was due to your bad luck, and it was not your intention. I don't blame you. There is no need to apologize to me anymore. You stay and eat, and I will cook."

Layla: "Let me help you!"

Mrs. Santos: "No. Your uncle will help me. You rest here. Only a few days had passed since your hospital discharge. You've not fully recovered."

"I've recovered. Otherwise, my parents wouldn't let me go out of the hospital."

Layla replied.

"It's good... If you are like Eric, I will be even more sad." Mrs. Santos looked at Layla's face and said, her heart was completely untied, "Why don't you watch TV for a while!"

Layla didn't want to watch TV. So she asked: "Auntie, can I go to Eric's room for a while?"

"Go!" Mrs. Santos replied.

Eric brought Layla to play before, and Layla knew which room Eric was in.

Apart from Mrs. Santos, Layla was the only one who had entered Eric's room.

Eric hardly ever invited people of the opposite s-e-x over to the house.

Because he owned real estate outside, he usually invited friends to play at home, all of which were outside his real estate.

Those who could be brought back to their parents' house had a particularly good relationship.

After Mr. Santos and Mrs. Santos went to the kitchen, Layla walked towards Eric's room.

Every one or two months, Eric would return for a brief visit. However, it was very clean inside because his room was cleaned almost daily.

Layla pushed open the door and saw that the furnishings inside were almost the same as those she had seen a long time ago.

Wasn't there a display cabinet in Layla's room? Her display cabinet was constructed in accordance with Eric's room's display cabinet.

There were several display cabinets in Eric's room, which were filled with various trophies, which were very spectacular at first glance.

These were all Eric's hard work over the years.

Only he himself knew how much bitterness and blood and sweat he had experienced.

Layla walked to the display cabinet and looked at each trophy carefully.

After reading all the trophies, she walked to the desk by the window.

There was a bookshelf above the desk.

She looked up at the bookshelves, which were mostly magazines.

A large part of them were magazines he had photographed before.

There were also some books given to him by others.

Layla was a little tired from standing, so she sat down in the chair.

There was a laptop and an iPad on the desk.

This iPad was a bit dated, in stark contrast to the newest laptop next to it.

Layla felt that the iPad looked familiar, so she picked it up.

She pressed the power button, unexpectedly, it turned on the screen directly.

The iPad didn't even have a security passcode set up.

She turned on the iPad, looked at the modern interface, and felt that it was an electronic product left over from many years ago.

She casually clicked on the photo album, unexpectedly, she saw her own photo.

She turned over the photos one by one, her face getting redder.

Because these photos were taken by herself with her ipad. There was even a group photo of her forcing Eric to take a selfie together.

After flipping through the photos, she saw the video in it... and the protagonist of the video in it was also her.

Familiar memories suddenly flooded into her mind.

Her singing, dancing and other talents were basically taught by Eric from professional teachers.

Chapter 2761

When the teacher teached Layla, Eric would take videos beside her.

She asked Eric why he wanted to make a video, and Eric said that he would show it to her after taking the video.

Praise what was done well, and correct what was not done well.

She felt that what he said made sense, so she got used to letting him shoot and record.

She actually watched the replays of these videos.

Eric did praise her for what she did well, and pointed out to her what she did badly at that time.

She just didn't anticipate that these videos would exist at all and not be lost or deleted.

What she didn't expect was that this ipad was placed on his desk.

Did he pick it up often?

Thinking of this, Layla's eye sockets became moist unconsciously.

After she went to university, because she had already made it clear that she would not enter the entertainment industry again, but planned to inherit her mother's Tate Industries, so her contact with Eric was much less.

Aside from the fact that she didn't plan to enter the entertainment circle again, it was also because of the nature of Eric's work. It was impossible for Eric to answer her calls at any time, nor could he reply her messages in seconds. So after she couldn't find Eric several times, she didn't take the initiative to find him.

On occasion, she would visit the theatre to support a new film starring Eric. She would purchase a digital album to support him when his new song was released online.

In addition, she would not take the initiative to search for his photos or videos on the Internet.

After she finished her work and learned she was old enough to get married, she carefully considered her feelings for Eric.

She had always had suitors by her side, and she had met all different kinds of suitors, but there had never been a man quite like Eric. The thought of it made her smile.

...

At canteen.

This morning, Hazel took the same class as her female classmate from last night. After class, Hazel took the initiative to invite her female classmates to dinner.

"I haven't asked your name yet!" Hazel asked, "The teacher spoke too fast during the roll call, and I didn't hear your name clearly."

"Hahaha, I also think the teacher speaks very fast during the roll call. I guess he doesn't really want to call names." After the female classmate finished speaking, she introduced herself, "My name is Xiomara Chiasson."

“Hi Xiomara Chiasson, my name is Hazel Foster. Just call me Hazel.” Hazel also formally introduced herself.

“Hi Hazel, you can just call me Xiomara” Xiomara said with a smile, “Let’s swipe our own card for lunch! It’s more convenient.”

Seeing that she didn’t mean to be polite, Hazel ordered while nodding: “Then I’ll treat you to a drink.”

Xiomara: “Okay! I like yogurt.”

Hazel: “I also like yogurt. I’m not used to many drinks.”

Xiomara: “Me too. Except for freshly squeezed juice, I-I only like to drink yogurt.”

“I also like to drink plain water.” Hazel added.

Xiomara: “Me too. We look alike haha!”

The two talked and laughed, and walked towards the cafeteria together.

On the way, they heard the classmates in front of them talking about the internship host.

Xiomara immediately pulled Hazel, and gossiped: “Did you know that every winter and summer vacation, a TV station will recruit intern hosts in our school?”

Hazel shook her head: “What are the requirements for applying for an intern host?”

Xiomara: “It’s usually for juniors or seniors, but if they are particularly outstanding, sophomores may also be selected. You can submit your resume and apply through professional teachers’ recommendation. Generally, there are two ways. Professional teachers generally recommend juniors or seniors.”

Hazel: “Well, freshmen like us will definitely not be selected.”

Xiomara: “Hahaha! Actually, we can also sign up. If we don’t get selected, we won’t lose anything. Why don’t we sign up together!”

Hazel was startled: “I...I’m afraid I’m not qualified enough, and I can’t be qualified for this job, so I don’t want to give it to the reviewing teacher. Sorry for the trouble.”

Xiomara: “But we don’t sign up, other students who don’t meet the qualifications will sign up too! In fact, the choice of host is also based on appearance. You are so beautiful, maybe you will be selected!”

Chapter 2762

Xiomara’s words moved Hazel a little.

But reason also helped her realise that she was utterly unqualified.

A professional announcer needs to be skilled. And training and ongoing learning produced professional ability.

Hazel: “Let me think about it again! I always feel that the review teacher will be speechless when he sees our resume.”

“Hahaha! Do you believe that at least 50% of the people in the broadcasting and hosting department will sign up? What does the review teacher think?

Review the matter of the teacher. There are so many students who signed up, the teacher can’t remember everyone. Don’t worry!” Xiomara said, “Opportunities are always in your own hands. This is what my aunt told me.

My aunt joined the TV station as an intern when she was a fresher. My aunt has a good appearance, speaks well, and is courageous. In addition, my aunt is not very professional...but she learned this at that time.”

Xiomara’s words moved Hazel’s heart again.

“However, I heard that other people’s candidates are basically selected from the candidates recommended by professional teachers.” Xiomara continued,

“Anyway, I plan to sign up.”

Xiomara: “Yes! My aunt said you worked hard, don’t you want to become a famous host?”

Hazel nodded without thinking: “This is my goal. At least for now.”

Xiomara: “In the future, after graduation, will you switch your major?”

Hazel: “Maybe, maybe not. Not everyone will be engaged in the major after graduation.”

Xiomara: “That’s right!”

After entering the cafeteria, the two found a table that belonged to no one and sat down to eat.

“Do you have a registration template? If you don’t have one, I can send you a copy.” Xiomara smiled, “I asked a senior to ask for it.”

Hazel: “Okay! Thank you then!”

Xiomara: “You’re welcome. Let me add your number as a friend! I’ll send it to you later.”

Hazel picked up her phone right away and added Xiomara to her list of friends.

When Hazel got home in the evening, she found Robert playing games on the couch while Elliot and Layla were not there.

“Second brother, where are father and sister?” Hazel changed her shoes, put down her schoolbag, and walked in front of Robert.

Robert hurriedly ended the game, and put one hand on Hazel’s shoulder:

“Father and sister are still at Uncle Eric’s parents’s house. They don’t come back for dinner.”

“Didn’t sister go to Uncle Eric’s house alone? Dad went too?” Hazel wondered.

“Dad went there in the afternoon. My sister called him to go.” Robert touched his nose, “It is estimated that after my sister went, Uncle Eric’s parents didn’t blame her, so she called Dad. Of course, it’s all I guessed, maybe they have something else to talk about!”

“Oh! Second brother, do you have no classes at night at school?” Hazel saw that the second brother seemed to have no classes every night.

Robert didn’t always go home at night, but it wasn’t because he had to go to class. Instead, he went to different social events.

“Elective courses are all scheduled in the evening.” Robert said, “It’s not that I don’t take elective courses at all, but my elective courses are basically in the daytime.”

Hazel: “Oh, no wonder you don’t have to take classes at night!”

“Evening self-study is offered at our college, but I don’t usually go. The teacher won’t criticise me as long as I don’t fail any classes.” Robert looked proud, “Being the child of parents has many advantages.”

Hazel knew that what Robert had said must have been a honour and privilege.

The thoughts of Hazel and Robert were completely different, but Hazel didn’t hate the behavior of Robert.

Chapter 2763

Robert said that he didn’t study hard because he knew he could pass the exam.

“Little sister, are you thinking wrong? The convenience I said is that my parents gave me a smart brain. I study very well.” Robert laughed.

“Second brother, I think I may be the least intelligent child in our family.”

Hazel sat down at the dining table, “I have to work hard to master the knowledge the teacher said.”

Robert explained in a brisk tone: “You know, when did I start taking extra classes? I have taken extra lessons with one person and training classes with many people. Before I went to college, I was always taking extra lessons. I’m so calm now because I had a hard time before I went to college. I finally went to college, and my parents stopped asking me to make up lessons, so I had to have fun.”

Hazel suddenly felt less inferior. “I haven’t made up any lessons.”

After saying this, Hazel remembered something.

Hazel made up lessons.

Lucas’s tutor gave her extra lessons. It was the tutor that Lucas hired for her.

Because Lucas never listened to the teacher’s class well.

But she didn’t tell Robert this.

“Little sister, believe it or not, if I don’t make up lessons, I’m definitely not as smart as you.” Robert gave Hazel confidence, “You study hard and don’t think about other things. If you have any problems, you can tell me. Even if I can’t help, but I can enlighten you.”

Hazel smiled sweetly: “Second brother, you enlighten me now. I think I should be more confident.”

“Aren’t you confident? Why not confident?” Robert asked.

“I think the classmates around me are all excellent. They speak confidently and gracefully...and I have an accent...” Although Hazel lived in Aryadelle for several years when he was a child, But then grew up in Thopiavelle. And she don’t have much contact with people, so the environment makes her personality more introverted, and the accent problem can’t be completely corrected all at once.

“It’s very simple. Find a teacher and practice with him every day.” Robert thought this was not a problem at all, “You can use the weekend to have the teacher come to teach you at home.”

Hazel thought Robert’s idea was a great one. But it’s just that she didn’t know how to find a teacher.

She didn’t want to find the teacher who gave her tutoring again.

“If you think it’s okay, I can help you find a training partner.” Robert wanted to help Hazel.

“Brother, you don’t know a teacher majoring in broadcasting and hosting, right?”

“Of course I don’t. But it’s too easy to know.” Robert smiled relaxedly, “Don’t worry about it. Let’s meet up first when I find it. You can settle it if you think it makes sense. If you don’t like it, I’ll look for a new one. These are small things. Just let me know if you have trouble studying in the future, and I can help you with it.”

Hazel: “Thank you, second brother.”

Robert: “Thank you. I’m your brother, and I still treat you like that.”

Hazel: “You can’t feel grateful just because you are my brother.”

Robert: “What you said is quite reasonable. According to what you said, I don’t think I am good enough to my parents. At least not as good as they are to me.”

Hazel: “Second brother, don’t say that. You are still in college!”

“Well, I still have to go to my dad’s company after I graduate to see if I can help him out in any way.” Even though Robert didn’t like Sterling Group very much, he was Elliot’s son, and he couldn’t avoid his responsibilities unless Hazel was willing to help his dad in the future. “Little sister, do you want to be a boss like your sister?”

Chapter 2764

Hazel's face flushed with a 'swish': "Second brother, I don't think I have that ability."

"You will have the ability to lead." Robert thought that Hazel was calm and logical, which made her a great leader.

Hazel was actually very confused.

After all, before this summer, her goal in life was only to have a decent job that could support her in the future.

She never thought that she could study her favorite major in university without considering future employment, let alone that she could now think about whether to be a boss in the future.

"You are hesitating." Robert said, "It means you are willing in your heart. I am different from you. If you ask me if I want to be a boss in the future, I will definitely not."

"Then what do you want to do in the future?" Hazel asked back.

"If I told you that my ultimate dream is to eat soft food for a lifetime, would you laugh at me?" After Robert said this, his face turned red, "Maybe I was spoiled by my parents, and I want to have someone for my whole life to take care of me like this."

Hazel thought that Robert's idea was very...very beautiful.

Who wouldn't want to live such a life if they could rely on the love of others for the rest of their lives?

"Elder brother may be able to support you for a lifetime." Hazel thought about this possibility seriously, and then said this sentence, "If I can make a lot of money in the future, I can also support you for a lifetime."

Robert listened to Hazel's words, he was completely moved.

“Little sister, I think so, but I won’t do it. Although I want to eat soft food, I don’t want to be a waste.” Robert said, “It would be a waste if my clever mind is left unused.”

Hazel: “Second brother, have you ever been in love?”

“Why did you suddenly ask this question?” Robert blushed even more.

Hazel didn’t know why she asked such a question suddenly.

Hazel: “I don’t think you are the same as elder brother. I wouldn’t ask elder brother this question. I think you like girls. And there must be many girls who confess to you...”

Robert couldn’t help laughing: “Do you think elder brother doesn’t like girls?”

“I don’t know. I can’t see it.” Hazel said sincerely, “Don’t you think elder brother is tall and unpredictable?”

“I wish I knew him better. He strikes me as unpredictable. He had this personality as a child; he was very cold, and he didn’t like to talk, let alone talk to strangers. He was quieter than my father. But he is a total actionist. He prefers to do things in silence, despite the fact that he does not speak. He is, in fact, a gentle and delicate man.” Robert praised his eldest brother, and he did not hesitate to use any compliments.

“Do you believe elder brother prefers boys or girls, then?” Hazel asked.

Robert: “Brother, he will undoubtedly feel hurt inside if he hears you say this.

Hahaha! Being a traditional man, he must enjoy dating girls.”

“Okay! But brother doesn’t talk to strangers, how can he find a wife?” Hazel was a little worried.

Robert: “He doesn’t think about finding a wife at all now. When he wants to find a wife, he will naturally find a wife.”

Hazel: “It seems that I am worrying too much. I still think about how to become an intern host.”

Robert heard the key words, and immediately asked: “What kind of intern host?”

“I heard from my classmates that the TV station recruits intern hosts from our university every winter and summer vacation. The internship period is determined according to the performance of the internship period. It’s a great opportunity to practice.” After eating the rice, Hazel took a spoon to fill a bowl of soup, and continued, “But the places for intern hosts are usually given to juniors or seniors. I’m definitely not qualified now. When I’m in my junior or senior year, I want to put a lot of effort into my studies in order to become an intern host.”

Robert nodded immediately after hearing Hazel’s words: “Little sister, you can definitely do it.”

He almost said later, ‘This matter is on me’.

Even if he couldn’t handle it, he could ask his father to help her.

A little trainee host, the little girl wanted it so much, so of course she had to give it to her.

Chapter 2765

For Robert, it was an honor for any TV station to allow Hazel to work.

There were so many TV stations in the country, but Hazel only had this one.

...

Elliot received a call from Layla at 2 o’clock in the afternoon, so he went to Eric’s parents’ house.

The reason why Layla called Elliot was because something happened.

During the meal, Mr. Santos drank some wine.

As a result, Mr. Santos spoke out because he was a little drunk after lunch.

Mr. Santos wanted to donate his heart to his son.

Layla was horrified at this.

First of all, no nation permitted heart donation. Only those who have agreed to donate their organs after death may.

After Elliot arrived, he persuaded him for a while, and finally dispelled Mr. Santos's idea of donating his heart.

"Didn't it mean that my son's lungs are failing too? I can give my lungs to my son." Mr. Santos blushed, but his eyes were very calm and sober. "I consulted a doctor with my wife. Living people can Lung donation. As long as my wife and I each donate a lung lobe, it will be fine! There have been such successful examples before..."

Layla was influenced: "Even if I want to donate, I will donate! If you donate your lungs, use mine."

Mr. Santos: "Layla, you're still young! Of course you can't use yours! Your aunt and I have already buried half of our bodies in the ground, and we're fine with half of our lungs missing... You still have a long way to go..."

Layla: "It is because I am young that I can bear it. You and auntie are so old, I would never agree to let you do this."

Elliot was dizzy when he heard them arguing.

So a video was sent to Avery, wanting her to preside over the overall situation.

With Eric's parents, he was not as important as Avery.

The time in Bridgedale was early morning.

After Avery received the video, he saw clearly that he was at Eric's parents' house, and immediately sat up from the bed.

After hearing Elliot explain what happened, Avery went to the bathroom with her phone and washed her face.

“You don’t need to donate your lungs. There are suitable lungs here that can be transplanted to Eric. We didn’t give him a lung transplant immediately, but we hoped that he could keep his own lungs through drug treatment.” Avery said calmly, “Don’t be too pessimistic. Give us some time.”

Mr. Santos and Mrs. Santos calmed down instantly.

Layla also calmed down.

After Elliot hung up the video, he asked Mrs. Santos for tea, and then started making tea.

Mr. Santos drank too much and needed tea to sober up.

They drank tea and chatted. After chatting for more than an hour, Mrs. Santos went to the kitchen to prepare dinner, leaving the father and daughter for dinner.

Elliot and Layla had dinner at Santos’s house, and when they were about to leave, Elliot suddenly remembered something, so he explained to the two elders.

“The heart needs to be matched. Not everyone’s heart can be transplanted. You must not do stupid things just to donate a heart to Eric.”

The two elders of the Santos family were stunned.

Chapter 2766

“If Eric wakes up and knows that the heart he uses belongs to you, do you think he can live a normal life in the future?” Elliot reminded, “Trust Avery once more, and Eric will be fine.”

The two elders of the Santos family nodded.

Mr. Santos said, “Don’t put so much pressure on Avery. No matter what the final result is, we are all mentally prepared.”

Elliot: "I understand your pain. We will do our best to save his life."

"Thank you."

After Elliot and Layla left Santos's house, Layla opened the car window to let in the cold wind.

Elliot looked at Layla: "Layla, close the car windows. Don't freeze."

Layla: "Dad, I feel a little hot."

Elliot: "Your mother told me that although you have recovered now, your body is still the same. It's relatively weak and can't catch a cold."

After Elliot finished speaking, he immediately gave the driver a look.

The driver immediately closed the window on Layla's side.

"Eric's parents are also much older." Layla recalled everything that happened today, feeling very uncomfortable.

"Even if Eric doesn't have an accident, they will still be old. Their aging is not caused by you. Layla, you can start going to work tomorrow!" Elliot was afraid that Layla would stay at home and think wildly, so he asked her to go to work.

"I do plan to start work tomorrow." Layla said calmly, "You also said that Eric will wake up. Since he will wake up, I just need to live and work well and wait for him to wake up."

Elliot's Adam's apple rolled up and down: "I was just persuading people. No one can guarantee you 100% that Eric will return to normal. Even if you find a suitable heart, it is very important after transplantation. Because of rejection There are not a few deaths."

"Dad, do you think we don't understand these truths?" Layla took a breath,

"People need hope to live. If there is no hope, what is the difference with walking dead."

"Dad is not trying to kill your hope. Dad wants you Be prepared to bear bad news.” Elliot stretched out his hand to hold his daughter’s cold hand, “In addition to getting married and having children, there are many things you can do when you are alive. The meaning of life is not only love.”

“Dad, you also lost Mom. You know how hard it feels. No matter what you try to persuade me now, I can’t listen.” Layla looked at her father and tried to calm herself. “I need hope and time. It’s painful, but I tell myself to live well every day. I know that there is more than Eric in life. I also have you and my mother, as well as brothers and sisters. Your love for me will never be less than Eric’s for me. So I have to live well.”

Elliot heaved a sigh of relief after hearing what Layla said.

The daughter was sober.

“You said just now that I lost your mother too, so I understand how you feel.”

After a moment of silence, Elliot continued, “I’ve never been alone since I had you and Robert. No matter what Whatever happens, as long as I think of you and Robert, I will have the motivation to live.”

After listening to her father’s words, Layla remembered how kind her father was to her when she was a child, and immediately threw herself into her father’s arms.

.....

Fast forward to Friday night.

After class, Hazel took out her mobile phone and saw the message from Teacher Lloyd.

Teacher Lloyd had already left the University.

Robert hired a teacher for Hazel to practice pronunciation with Hazel every weekend, and at the same time teach the skills of broadcasting. Robert organized a dinner tonight, and everyone met and chatted together.

“Hazel, today is my birthday. I have invited some students from our class out for dinner. Do you want to go with me?” A female classmate walked up to Hazel and asked

Chapter 2767

Hazel was a little surprised: “I have something to do tonight... But, happy birthday to you!”

The female classmate seemed to be ready to be rejected, and the expression on her face was calm.

But another female classmate was dissatisfied and said: “Hazel, you never participate in any activities in the class, and now you are not participating when Reese invites you on her birthday, you are so proud!”

“I have something to do.” Hazel said, “If it was yesterday or tomorrow, I would be free.”

“It’s okay.” Reese smiled, “I believe you are really busy.”

“Sorry!” After speaking, Hazel carried her schoolbag and left.

After Hazel left, the aggrieved female classmate immediately said angrily:

“She left in such a hurry, is she doing a part-time job outside?”

Reese: “I don’t know. She never tells us about her personal affairs.”

The classmate said: “She used to meet foreigners in the coffee shop outside the University... Her private life must be very ‘wonderful’. After all, she is special in our class, and she doesn’t need to live on campus. It’s so cool not to live on campus, She can do whatever she wants outside every day.”

Hearing this, Xiomara walked over with her schoolbag in her hand.

“Can you stop talking bad about others behind their backs? If you sincerely invite others to dinner, can’t you tell them in advance?” Xiomara said coldly,

“Hazel is not the only student who doesn’t live in our University, so why bother with this? Her home is in the community outside the University. If your family lives outside the University, you can also apply to live on campus.”

“Her home is in the community outside the University? Are you sure?” The female classmate blushed and retorted, “Did she tell you personally? You two have such a good relationship?”

Xiomara felt a little hot when she realized that she had slipped the tongue:

“We are all classmates, so there is really no need to speculate about your classmates with such dirty thoughts.”

“I didn’t say those things in front of her! I can say whatever I want in private, can you control me?”

Reese held the female classmate back: “Okay, stop talking, let’s go eat!”

“Reese, isn’t this person from our class? Is there something wrong with her?”

Meddling her own business! I’m so full!”

Xiomara was scolded, and she felt angry.

“Xiomara, why are you talking for Hazel? Are you two on good terms? I don’t think she said hello to you when she left just now.” A girl in Xiomara’s class came over and asked.

“What they said just now was too dirty. Hazel is not that kind of person.

Although I don’t know Hazel very well, I know she is not that kind of person.”

Xiomara said.

“If you defend her like this, she won’t have a heart-to-heart relationship with you.” The girl said, “I think someone on the forum was right. Hazel seems to have a crush on us classmates.”

Xiomara: “It’s not that she doesn’t. It’s that her mind is all on her studies, and she doesn’t have the energy to focus on socializing.”

These are the exact words Hazel told Xiomara and Xiomara understood Hazel’s mood very well.

Xiomara: "Not everyone likes to socialize."

The girl: "Well! I think she's kind of weird. At least I haven't met someone who doesn't need friends like her."

Xiomara: "She's not weird. She just knows her goals and works toward her goals. Work hard on the goal. Her family is in good condition, so there is no need to go out to work part-time." Xiomara continued to defend Hazel.

The girl: "Her family is in good condition? Did she tell you?"

Chapter 2768

"No. She won't tell anyone about her private affairs. She won't tell me either.

But I just know Anyway, don't speak ill of her behind her back like other students. I treat her as a friend." Xiomara confessed to the girl.

"I know! I have no grievances with her, and I won't talk nonsense. I also hate the kind of people who speak ill of others behind their backs. By the way, how did you and Hazel know each other? I think she is alone."

Xiomara: "I took the initiative to find her."

The girl: "Oh. She is not in our class."

Xiomara: "I know. We are all in the same department, and we are all classmates."

"Xiomara, you said her family is very Rich, how rich is it? Is it richer than your family?" The girl asked curiously.

Xiomara thought for a while: "To be honest, I don't know how much money my family has at all, and it's even more impossible for me to know what's going on with Hazel's family. Don't pay attention to these. You should study hard and try to get into a TV station in the future!"

The girl: "Has Hazel signed up?"

Xiomara: "Should have done so! I sent her a registration template."

The girl: "Oh!"

...

After Hazel came out of school and got in the car, Mr. Cooper drove the car towards the restaurant.

Hazel was a little nervous, so she sent a message to Robert, asking him who the teacher he hired was, but Robert refused to tell.

After the car stopped outside the hotel, Hazel got off.

Robert was waiting at the entrance of the hotel.

Seeing Hazel coming out, Robert immediately waved to her.

"Second brother, why are you at the door? Where is the teacher you invited?"

Hazel remembered that Robert said that the teacher had arrived.

"In the private room." Robert put one hand on Hazel's shoulder, leaned closer to Hazel's ear, and whispered, "Dad is here too."

Hazel's heart suddenly jumped violently nervously.

"Why is dad here? Second brother, didn't you say that you can solve such a trivial matter?" Hazel's nervous face also turned red.

Robert cleared his throat: "When I helped you find a teacher, I wanted to find the best one for you, so I asked Dad's assistant for help, and then Dad's assistant told Dad about it. It's okay, Dad knows It doesn't matter. The teacher I hired for you is the director of our city's TV station. He is a very experienced host of that TV station, and he is very good at hosting."

Hazel's footsteps stopped suddenly, and she couldn't walk.

"Second brother, why did you find such a good teacher for me? I don't know what to do...I'm too nervous." Hazel's breathing was a little short, afraid of herself that she couldn't meet the teacher's requirements, and she couldn't meet her father's expectations.

“Don’t be afraid. Just let nature take its course. The director is willing to teach you.” Robert said with a smile, “It’s not that we don’t give you money.”

“Oh...Second brother, next time Before you tell Dad about the matter, you can tell me first, so that I can prepare myself mentally in advance, okay?”

Hazel was really taken aback.

Originally, this was just a trivial matter, but now Elliot actually came to eat with others because of her affairs.

“It’s really an accident this time. Don’t be too nervous, that teacher is very good. It’s Hector Joly, the host of ‘Daily News’...”

“Ahh! Second brother! You actually let him be me My teacher!” Hazel felt that she was going crazy.

She knew Hector Joly.

She had been listening to Hector’s broadcast recently, learning his pronunciation.

Hector was a well-known host in Aryadelle.

“Isn’t it good for him to be your teacher? I heard he’s better.” Robert scratched his head.

Hazel: “He is very powerful and talented...”

Chapter 2769

“Don’t be nervous, my dad and I are here! It will be the weekend for make-up classes, and we will also be at our house.”

Hazel took a deep breath, and followed Robert into the private room.

“Dad,” Hazel called his father first, then looked at Hector, and bowed respectfully, “Hello, Teacher Joly.”

“With a kind smile, Hector responded to her greeting: “Hi Hazel. You just finished class! I also came from Nantah University.

“You’re very good in hosting.” Hazel said shyly.

Elliot beckoned to Hazel and asked her to sit between him and Hector.

Hazel immediately walked over, put down her schoolbag, and sat down.

“I just chatted with Hector. He has worked in the TV station for many years, and now he does not host other programs except ‘Daily News’. Because he is now the director of the news broadcasting department, he does more behind-the-scenes work.” Elliot said to Hazel, “He taught you, I think it’s not bad.

What do you think?”

Of course Hazel didn’t dare to say bad.

After all, Hector was present.

“I’m afraid of delaying Teacher Joly’s time...” Hazel said bluntly.

Hector immediately said: “No. I can try it with you this weekend and see what you think. If you think it’s good, then continue. If you think it’s not good, I can also recommend other hosts to teach you.”

Hazel was flattered: “Thank you, Teacher Joly. I’m flattered that you are willing to teach me.”

Seeing his daughter so happy, Elliot asked, “Are you hungry? Let’s eat first!”

Hazel nodded.

After a meal, Hector exchanged contact information with Hazel.

“I’ll send you some information, you can take a look when you’re free. I’ll come to you tomorrow morning.” Hector drank some wine and talked more than before.

Hazel: “Teacher Joly, did you come here by car?”

“I picked him up. I’ll just take Teacher Joly back.” Robert said, “Little sister, you go back with Dad.”

“Okay.” Hazel responded and waved to Hector, “Teacher Joly, see you tomorrow.”

After watching Hector leave, Hazel followed his father into the car.

The car drove towards home.

“Dad, I actually didn’t expect my second brother to find me such a good teacher... I didn’t want to bother you either.” Hazel was a little excited, but also a little embarrassed.

“Everything about you is not a trivial matter. If you have something to tell your father, he will help you solve it. Your second brother is still in school, so his ability is limited.” Elliot took advantage of his youngest son’s absence, so he didn’t have to worry about his son’s face.

Hazel could feel her father’s love.

Hazel: “Dad, I have nothing else to do next.”

“Do you want to go to a TV station for an internship?” Elliot asked this question casually, “Hector told me that their TV station recruits some students for internships every year.”

Hazel: “Dad, I’m not qualified yet.”

“As long as you are not dumb, you are qualified.” Elliot looked at Hazel indifferently, “After Hector teaches you for a while, you should be fine. When the winter vacation comes, you can go to the TV station to practice. Maybe after you pass The host’s addiction, you will find that you don’t like this job that much then you can learn other things.”

Hazel: “...”

“If you really like being a host, Dad won’t stop you. It’s just that Dad wants you to have a better future.” Elliot expressed his expectations.

Hazel: “Dad, do you want me to be the boss like my sister?”

Elliot: “It depends on your own interests. You can start your own company, or go to your sister’s company, your brother’s company, or come to Dad’s company, it doesn't matter."

Chapter 2770

Hazel knew that no matter what choice she made, her parents would not interfere.

She was different from her brothers and sisters. She had only returned to Foster's house now, so her parents would pamper her very much.

"Then try to be a host first!" Hazel said, "I can't predict what I think after graduation. Let's watch it after graduation!"

Elliot: "Well, no matter what you want to do, you have a chance of trial and error. You can do whatever you want, and Dad will always be your backing."

Hazel: "Thank you, Dad."

"Don't say thank you to Dad. Dad can do something for you, Dad is very happy." Elliot looked softly at her little daughter, "Do you want to learn to drive? It's okay if you don't want to."

Hazel: "I want to learn. But I can't make time."

"It's okay during the winter vacation. Let the driver at home teach you first.

You can take the test after you learn how to drive." Elliot said, "Robert learned how to drive when he was twelve years old. He begged the driver to teach him, but he secretly drove outside and didn't dare to tell us."

Hazel: "Second brother is too courageous. He dares to go on the road without a driver's license, and it would be bad if he is caught by the traffic police."

"How dare he drive in the city center. He enjoys himself in suburban places with few people." Elliot said, "Your second brother is bold but not too bold.

On the whole, he is more disciplined. Your eldest brother is brave."

Hazel stared blankly at her dad.

Elliot: "When I say your second brother is bold, I mean his imagination and creativity. I don't mean he is lawless."

Hazel breathed a sigh of relief.

The corner of Elliot's mouth curled into a smile: "With your mom here, your two elder brothers don't dare to mess around."

Hazel nodded, "That's true."

"Dad has nothing else to ask for now, but I hope you are healthy and safe."

Elliot said in a relaxed tone.

"I hope Uncle Eric gets better soon, and my mom returns home soon." Hazel said.

Hazel missed her mom very much.

Elliot: "Miss your mom?"

Hazel: "Yeah."

"Your mom misses you very much too. But she is in Bridgedale, and your elder brother will take care of her. You don't have to worry about her."

"Yeah." Hazel looked at the scenery outside the window. The walked tree beside her was swayed by the shadow of the wind, and the chill came into her heart. She thought of Layla, "Dad, if Uncle Eric wakes up, will you let my sister stay with him?"

Elliot thought about this question, but he didn't think about it for a long time, "Compared with life and death, other things are trivial. We almost lost your sister, so as long as she lives well in the future, I will be satisfied."

Hazel "Dad, don't be too sad. My sister won't do anything else to make you unhappy."

"I know. You are all sensible. I'm very relieved." Elliot smiled again, "I didn't worry about your sister."

“That’s good.” Hazel silently breathed a sigh of relief in her heart.

“I’m more worried about your elder brother.” Elliot’s voice came again in the dark carriage.

Hazel was startled: “Dad, are you worried about elder brother, why?”

“I’m afraid your big brother’s marriage will not be happy.” How could Elliot not be worried at all, after all, Hayden is his own son, “He has never been in contact with any girls since he was a child.”

Hazel was stunned. She always thought that her eldest brother had never been in a relationship, but she never thought that her eldest brother had never even had any contact with the opposite s-e-x.

Hazel: “But I think he gets along well with me and my sister!”

“It’s different. You are his younger sisters, and he takes care of you the same way he takes care of your second brother. But he doesn’t respond to people of the opposite s-e-x who are not related by blood.” Elliot rubbed his brows, “When he was young, I thought he would be better when he was older. I didn’t expect that he is still like this now. I don’t think he has ever thought about finding a wife.”

Hazel didn’t know how to answer. It was beyond her scope to help.

She couldn’t beg her elder brother to find her a sister-in-law, could she?

Chapter 2771

Besides, if the eldest brother didn’t want to get married, she thought it’s fine. People were alive, as long as they knew what life they wanted, it would be fine.

“Dad, sometimes I don’t understand why parents want their children to get married?” Hazel asked doubts.

“I don’t know what other people think. I want you to get married because I am happy with your mom. Happier than when I was single. After having you, I feel more fulfilled. I hope you can also have a support, someone to listen to when you want to talk, and someone to take care of you when you are sick. After all, human beings live in groups.”

Hazel understood what her dad meant.

“But if elder brother doesn’t want to find a wife, don’t force him. I don’t want to see you quarreling.” Hazel couldn’t imagine what would happen to the family when her dad and elder brother quarreled.

Elliot smiled wryly: “I’m just telling you what’s on my mind. I won’t tell your elder brother about it.”

HAZEL: “Dad, are you drunk too? You don’t usually talk that much.”

Elliot: “Alcohol may be the effect. But you usually want to chat with Dad, and Dad is also willing to talk to you.”

Back home, Hazel first went to take a bath.

After taking a bath, she was much more awake.

What happened tonight and what my dad said tonight echoed clearly in her mind.

Everything was going in a good direction.

Before turning off the lights and going to sleep, she picked up her mobile phone and sent a message to Lucas: [Young Master, do you think I will be an excellent host? I used to be too inferior. I want to overcome the fear in my heart and become a better person.]

This tree hole number was Lucas’s previous Thopiavelle number.

Lucas no longer used this number.

Hazel sent several messages to this number before, but all of them fell to nothing.

So now she regarded this number as her tree hole.

The next day, 9 o'clock in the morning.

Hector Joly came to Foster's house.

Hazel immediately invited Hector to the piano room on the first floor.

The piano room was very large, and there were two pianos in it.

One belongs to Layla, and the other belongs to Robert.

Now Layla was at work, Robert was in college, and the piano room was basically vacant.

"I printed some materials, take a look. Maybe your textbooks also have them.

I have extracted the key points." Hector handed the materials to Hazel.

Hazel took the information and read it carefully.

"Pronunciation standards are the foundation. Another important point is to learn to control your breath. Only when you can master your breath proficiently, you will not be chaotic when it comes to real broadcasting. Today I will mainly teach you how to breathe correctly. In the future, you will follow my instructions. Teach you the method and practice more, and you will gradually notice the changes." Hector said.

"Good Teacher Joly."

....

Bridgedale.

There was good news from the hospital that a heart that matches Eric.

After the HLA matching results came out, they immediately notified Avery of the news.

Avery got the news and rushed to the hospital.

Chapter 2772

It's 10 o'clock at night.

Avery rushed to the hospital, and after seeing the paper report, her excited hands trembled slightly.

“This is the donor with the highest matching degree with Eric that we have found so far. Although it is not a 100% match, the success rate is still very high.” The doctor said to Avery.

After getting excited, Avery calmed down and said: “If I can’t guarantee 100% success, I’m afraid of accidents.”

“Miss Tate, let me call you Dr. Tate! Even if the match is 100% perfect, there may be accidents after the operation. As long as you are on the operating table, no matter how small the operation is, there may be risks. Continuing to procrastinate will not do him any good. He is already the patient who has been using ECMO for the longest time in our hospital, and if he keeps using it, no one knows if there will be any mishaps.”

The doctor’s words made Avery fall into a brief silence.

Avery: “I need to talk to his parents.”

“You can call his parents. When the time comes for the operation, his parents’ signature is also required.” The doctor said.

Avery nodded.

When Avery got out of the hospital, she got into the car.

At this time, Hayden called her on the phone.

Hayden lived with Avery during this time. However, because Avery’s home was far away from the Dream Maker Group, he came back late every day.

He called Avery now, but when he got home, he found that his mom was not at home.

Avery typically awaited Hayden’s return before going to bed because he typically came home before 11:00 p.m.

Avery answered the phone.

“Mom, have you gone to the hospital?” Hayden asked sharply, “Did something happen at the hospital?”

“I found a donor.” Avery heard Hayden’s tone of nervousness, so she said bluntly, “It’s something to be happy about.”

Hayden breathed a sigh of relief: “Are you still in the hospital? Do you need me to go to the hospital?”

“No. I’m going back.” Avery said, “I have to tell Eric’s parents the news. I can’t guarantee that the operation will be 100% successful, so I don’t know how to speak.”

Hayden: “Let me tell them! No doctor can promise that an operation will be a complete success, and they should be aware of this.”

“Let me talk!” Avery finished speaking and hung up the phone.

It was morning in Aryadelle, so calling now would not disturb them to rest.

Avery had some thirst. Before dialling Mr. Santos’ number, she found a bottle of mineral water in the car, unscrewed the cap, took a sip, and temporarily reduced her internal anxiety.

When Mr. Santos saw Avery’s call, he answered it in seconds.

“Dr. Tate, did something happen to Eric?” Mr. Santos’s tone was very nervous.

Avery: “No. I called you because the hospital has found a heart that can be transplanted.”

After a brief period of silence, Mr. Santos whimpered, or perhaps it should be laughed, when he heard this “Great! Will he then be able to operate right away? Is it possible that he will be able to wake up after the operation?”

After Mr. Santos said these words, there was a sound of hurried footsteps coming from the phone.

Chapter 2773

Immediately afterwards, Mrs. Santos's voice came: "Have you found a heart that can be transplanted to our son? Is it possible to operate?"

"Yes! Dr. Tate said she found it!" Mr. Santos returned to his wife.

"Great! I'm going to pack my luggage right now, let's go to Bridgedale right away!" After Mrs. Santos finished speaking, she hurried away.

Avery listened to the conversation between the couple and could understand their excitement.

"Mr. Santos, Eric's doctor told me that the success rate of the operation is 90%." Avery clarified the situation, "The matching is not 100%. It is difficult to find a 100% matching donor. As for Eric's situation, it can't be delayed for a long time, so the doctor's suggestion is to have an operation. But the operation is risky, so I have to tell you clearly. Then it's up to you to decide."

Mr. Santos's excited mood suddenly cooled down.

"That's not what you said before... You said before that finding the right heart can restore him to normal." Mr. Santos couldn't accept Avery's statement.

Avery immediately apologized: "I'm sorry. I lied. I was afraid that you and your wife would collapse, and I was also afraid of my daughter's collapse, so I finished my words. But the 90% success rate is quite high. You can try it."

Mr. Santos: "Is this the only choice? Is there no other way?"

"You can refuse. We will continue to look for a donor for Eric. We may find a donor with a higher matching value in the future, or we may not be able to..."

Avery explained the situation, "I recommend surgery. Eric has been using ECMO for a long time, and I am afraid that it will be delayed to the critical value of the time limit..."

"I'll discuss it with my wife. Don't hang up. I'll ask her now." Mr. Santos walked quickly towards the bedroom with his mobile phone.

After a while, Mr. Santos told his wife all about what Avery just said.

Mrs. Santos hesitated for a few seconds after hearing this, and then expressed her attitude: "Since Dr. Tate suggested surgery, let's listen to Dr. Tate! We don't understand these things... If we miss it this time and we don't find a suitable heart in the future, won't our son have no hope at all? After waiting for this heart for so long, who knows when the next suitable heart will be found?"

"A 90% success rate is better than waiting to die!" Mrs. Santos added.

Mr. Santos took the phone, walked aside, and replied to Avery.

In fact, Avery had already heard what Mrs. Santos said just now.

After Mr. Santos replied to Avery, Avery continued to finish what he hadn't said, "One more thing, I asked the doctor, and the doctor said that the longest survival time for patients who have undergone heart transplantation in the world is 30 years. The longest survival period in Bridgedale after receiving a heart transplant is 25 years."

Mr. Santos was hit again.

"Even if the operation is successful, my son can only live for thirty years at most?"

Avery: "That's not what I mean. Maybe Eric can live longer, or maybe not that long. Everyone's physical fitness is different, and the degree of rejection after surgery is also different, so the time they can survive is also different. "

Mr. Santos was very frustrated.

Mrs. Santos listened to Avery's words, so she took the phone from her husband.

"Dr. Tate, I know you hope that Eric can live a good life. No matter how long Eric can live after the operation, this operation has to be done. He will earn money if he lives an extra day. Like now, he lies in a critical condition every day. In the intensive care unit, although he is alive, I can't see him, and I can't hear his voice, I don't want this anymore... So, let's have an operation!"

"Okay." Avery understood Mrs. Santos's mood, "I haven't notified Layla yet. I'll call Layla right away, and you will come over together when the time comes."

"Ok."

After talking on the phone, Avery dialed the phone to Layla.

Layla had just arrived at the company.

Chapter 2774

"Layla, the success rate of the operation is 90%. Mom hopes that you can treat this operation calmly." Avery reminded.

"90% success rate, isn't it high?" Layla asked after thinking for a few seconds.

Avery: "Well. This is already a very high success rate. As long as there are no accidents, there will be no problem."

"I believe the operation will be successful." Layla said confidently, "I have confidence in him."

Avery: "You come with his parents."

Layla: "Alright."

After Layla hung up the phone, she immediately came out of the company, intending to go home and pack her luggage.

On the way home, Layla excitedly called Elliot.

"Dad, I'm going to Bridgedale. Eric is ready for surgery! Mom found a suitable heart!" Layla's tone couldn't hide her excitement.

Elliot received a call from Avery just now, and already knew about it.

"I'll go with you!" Elliot not only wanted to see if the operation was successful, but also because he missed Avery.

This time was the longest time the two of them had been apart for so many years.

Since the two of them remarried, they had been together all the time. Even if one of them had to go on a business trip due to work, they would not be separated for more than three days.

Layla thought for a while, "If you go, won't my brother and sister be watched?"

"Both of them are adults, and I don't need to watch them all the time." Elliot said, "I miss your mom."

Layla immediately understood her dad's mood: "Okay, I'll go back and pack my luggage now. Dad, are you at home or at work now?"

Elliot: "I'm at home. Come back! We'll pick up Eric's parents later."

Layla: "Alright."

Layla drove home, and Elliot had already packed the luggage.

Layla quickly returned to the room, and after a brief tidying up, she came out with a small suitcase.

The driver carried their luggage into the car.

Layla walked over to Elliot and Elliot glanced at her: "Packed up so soon?"

"I just brought some daily necessities. There are actually all of them over there." Layla said. Her mom's home in Bridgedale had clothes and daily necessities.

Elliot: "Well, let's go pick them up now!"

"Dad, did you call them?" Layla asked.

"That's it. They've already packed their luggage. We'll just go there and pick them up." Elliot went to the door to change his shoes.

Layla stood beside her father changing her shoes.

“Dad, I have already decided to marry Eric.” Layla felt that Eric would definitely wake up.

After Eric woke up, Layla would disclose this matter to her family. Since she had to talk about this issue sooner or later, she told her dad now, which was to give him an early vaccination.

After changing his shoes, Elliot raised his eyes to look at his daughter: “Layla, what do you think will happen to Dad?”

Seeing Elliot’s calm expression, Layla said, “I know why you’re not angry. In fact, it’s not that you’re not angry. It’s just that you love me more, so you decided to pamper me.”

Elliot shook his head: “Dad is not pampering you. Dad has always wanted you to be happy. Now that you have experienced such an accident with him, I believe you have seen many things clearly, including your own heart, and also he has proved with his actions that he can protect you and your Dad has no reason to continue to object. Use what you told me before, if it is wrong for you to be together, you can separate at any time in the future.”

Layla: “Thank you, Dad.”

“You’re welcome. You are my daughter, not my subordinate. Your life is your own, and Dad can’t forcefully dominate your life. You have indeed grown up, and you have to face your own life independently.” Elliot said and the corners of Elliot’s mouth raised, revealing a loving and inclusive smile.

Layla held her dad’s big palm and took a breath: “Dad, I will stay awake and let myself be well.”

Elliot: “You are worthy of being Dad’s little padded jacket. You know what is most important to Dad.”

The father and daughter came out of the house holding hands. And driver immediately opened the door and welcomed them into the car.

A flight departed from Aryadelle to Bridgedale.

Chapter 2775

Robert sent a message to Hazel.

Hazel quickly texted him back: [Dad and sister both sent me messages. If it wasn't for the class, I would have wanted to go to Bridgedale with them.]

Robert: [I can ask for leave. But I still don't go! I stay at home with you.]

Hazel: [Did dad let you stay at home with me?]

Robert: [It was my own sense of responsibility that kept me at home.]

Hazel: [Thank you, brother. But if you want to go to Bridgedale, you can go. Never mind me. I am so old, and I have a driver who picks me up every day, so nothing will happen.]

Robert: [That's different. If I go to Bridgedale, I think my parents and elder brother will drive me back.]

Hazel: []

Robert: [You don't have class tonight, do you? You have nothing to do when you go home, how about I take you out to play?]

Hazel wanted to say that although there was no class at night, she could practice pronunciation and breathing when she returned home at night. But she didn't say that.

It was probably because Eric was able to have surgery, and her mood became particularly good.

Hazel: [Where are you going to play?]

Robert: [Where do you want to go? Where do you want to go, I will take you there?]

Hazel scratched her head, not knowing where to play.

During the summer vacation, she was taken by her family to play in Avonsville, but after school, she never went out to play again.

Robert: [If you want more people, I can take you to play with my friends. If you don't want to play with my friend, we can play alone.]

Hazel: [Let's play alone!]

Robert: [Alright! Do you want to watch a movie? There don't seem to be any good movies lately. Do you want to see a concert or an exhibition or something? I can search online.]

Hazel: [How about we just wandered around the street casually!]

Robert: [That's fine. It's just a little cold outside.]

Hazel: [How about going home and staying at home!]

Hazel was still a little afraid of the cold.

Robert should also be afraid of the cold.

Robert didn't wear much clothes in winter. He usually avoided being outside for too long during the winter, so wearing less wouldn't make him feel cold.

Robert had an idea: [How boring it is to stay at home! How about I take you to Dad's company?]

Hazel was stunned for a moment, and replied: [OK! But there should be no one in the company at night!]

Robert: [I'll pick you up, we'll talk when we meet.]

Hazel: [Alright.]

After the afternoon class ended, Hazel rushed out of the University all the way.

Robert's car was parked on the side of the road opposite the University gate.

The reason why Hazel recognized Robert was not because of his's car, but because he was standing beside the car.

The last time Robert came to pick her up from University, he drove a luxury car. After Hazel got in the car, she casually said that many people were staring at them.

Probably because Robert took her words into his heart, so the car he drove this time was not the luxury car last time.

Hazel strode over, got into the car, and asked, "Brother, did you buy a new car? I haven't seen you drive it before."

Robert stepped on the accelerator and drove the car out: "This is a car I borrowed from my classmate. Don't you think my car is too ostentatious? I thought that our family doesn't seem to have a car that is not ostentatious, so I borrowed it from my classmate."

Hazel: "..."

Robert: "You haven't eaten yet, have you? Let's go eat first!"

Hazel: "Where are you going to eat?"

Chapter 2776

Robert thought about it for a while, and then said: "How about going to the cafeteria of Dad's company? I heard that the food in the cafeteria is delicious, but I haven't eaten there."

Hazel: "Okay! Will others let us in?"

Robert was amused by Hazel's words: "I can brush my face."

"Do everyone in Dad's company know you?" Hazel was shocked.

Robert laughed straight away: "Of course not. The facial recognition I'm talking about is real facial recognition. The access control system at the door can use access control cards or face recognition. Dad recorded all the faces of our family."

"Oh! I thought all the employees in Dad's company knew you!" Hazel breathed a sigh of relief.

“Do you know how many employees Dad’s company has? Hahaha!

Thousands of people!” Robert said, “Only some executives have seen me.

Dad is very protective of my sister and me. If you don’t believe me, you can only find it when you search on the Internet. The dad-son relationship between dad and brother cannot be searched for my sister and me.”

“I did a search.” Hazel did a search when she was in Thopiavelle, and indeed only found her elder brother Hayden, “But my sister was seeking marriage all over the world, and everyone knows her identity.”

“Because my sister is already working, it doesn’t matter if she reveals her identity now.” Robert looked at the road ahead. After the red light in front turned on, he stopped the car slowly, “Society is actually quite complicated. The people we usually come into contact with seem to be good people, right, but in fact there are also many bad people and they are very close to us. The anonymity is also to protect us.”

Hazel: “I know. I’m afraid of being kidnapped.”

Robert: “Actually, in a society ruled by law, law and order are much better than before. There are quite a lot of rich people.”

“Brother, is it possible that because you’re rich, you are surrounded by rich people?” Hazel said, “There are quite a lot of poor people, but most of them are busy with making ends meet.”

Robert turned his head and took a deep look at Hazel.

“Brother, did I say something wrong?” Hazel was afraid that he would make Robert unhappy.

“Of course not. You’re right. Ever since you came home, I’ve become more impulsive.” Robert spoke from his heart, “I really want to try it out, what it feels like to be an ordinary person.”

“You should be very uncomfortable.” Hazel explained to Robert in detail the difference between ordinary people and their current life, “Ordinary people have to do everything by themselves. There is no driver to pick you up every day, and you can’t afford a car at your age. Every day to go to school, you have to take the bus, squeeze the subway, or live on campus. Ordinary people basically live on campus. If you live on campus, there may be four people in a dormitory, or six people and eight people in a dormitory. Brother, can you accept that? Do many people live together?”

Robert went quiet and began to think.

“This is just one aspect. There is also food. The University has a cafeteria, so it’s okay. If you graduate, you can’t eat takeaway every day! You don’t have money to hire a babysitter, so you have to learn to cook by yourself. Cooking is troublesome. It is very cumbersome to buy vegetables, prepare vegetables, chop vegetables and stir-fry vegetables. After that, you have to wash the pots and dishes. In addition to food, housing, and transportation, there are also consumption. Brother, you can buy whatever you want to buy now by swiping your card. But if you are an ordinary person, you count almost everything you buy even a bag of toilet paper.”

Robert: “Are ordinary people really working so hard? Buying toilet paper has to be counted?”

Hazel: “Maybe because I used to be too poor. I used to go to school, and the classmates around me were not rich. Meals have to be counted as living expenses every month. You can’t spend too much on each meal. If you spend too much, it may cost you money at the end of the month.”

Robert: “Little sister, hearing you say that, I feel very lucky.”

“I’m also very lucky.” Hazel said, “I’m so lucky. After I graduate, I will have my own business and be able to make money. I hope I can help people at the bottom.”

“Little sister, it’s good that you have such an idea. But there is a saying that it is better to teach people to fish than to give them fish. There are many poor people, and you can’t help them alone.” Robert was afraid that Hazel would be too tired in the future.

“Brother, I know. When I help, I also help the old, the weak, the sick and the disabled.” Hazel was very sober.

“It seems that my worries are unnecessary.” Robert said, and began to think about how he could try to be an ordinary person.

More than an hour later, the car stopped at the entrance of Sterling Group Building.

It’s evening time at 6:40. Everything was pitch black.

Chapter 2777

The building was brightly lit.

Hazel believed that nobody in the company should be present at this time.

She assumed that everyone went home after getting off work at the typical hour of six.

“Brother, what time does Dad’s company get off work?” Hazel asked innocently, “Doesn’t Dad come home at 6 o’clock at evening?”

“Dad is the boss. Dad can leave work at any time he wants, but the employees have to come on time. Dad’s company has two working hours.

One is 9 o’clock in the morning and 6 o’clock in the evening, and the other is 10 o’clock in the morning and 7 o’clock in the evening. You see now The lights in the office building are all on, because there are still many employees who haven’t gotten off work yet.” Robert explained.

Hazel obediently followed behind Robert and walked towards the gate of Sterling Group.

Hazel had seen this building before. When she was playing in the summer vacation, she drove past here. If it wasn't for Robert who took the initiative to bring her here, she probably wouldn't have dared to come here.

First, she didn't want to expose her relationship with her dad. Second, this was a place of work, so it's not suitable for her to come.

And dad didn't come to work in the company every day, even if he did, he won't stay for too long.

"Brother, let's come to Dad's company, will Dad know?" Hazel put on a mask and followed Robert into the company.

The security guard at the gate and the lady at the front desk stared at them for a few seconds as they passed through the gate.

"Isn't Dad on the plane now? We just come to the cafeteria for a meal, maybe we won't run into any acquaintances." Robert said confidently, "I just bring you to experience it. In fact, Dad's company is not as scary as you think."

Hazel: "Brother, you think Dad's company is scary, right? I'm not familiar with Dad's company, so I never thought it was scary."

Robert blushed instantly: "Okay! You're right."

Hazel: "Brother, are you putting too much pressure on yourself? In fact, don't think so much, and don't compare yourself with Dad. Dad wasn't so good at the beginning."

Robert: "Thank you for comforting me. I've been adjusting my mentality. I plan to go to my dad's company for an internship this winter vacation."

The two entered the elevator arm in arm.

After the front desk saw the two of them enter the elevator, they immediately reported the situation to the administrative supervisor.

—Director, the boss' youngest son is here! I'm sure he's the boss' youngest son! He also brought his girlfriend! The two of them just got into the elevator!

When the administrator saw the news, he immediately became nervous.

He didn't receive a notice that Robert was coming!

So the administrative director made a phone call to the vice president and explained the situation.

The vice president was a little confused.

At this point, Robert had come to the company? And he brought his girlfriend?

The vice president hurried out of the office, planning to find Robert.

Chapter 2778

The vice president knew that Elliot had gone to Bridgedale today, so he didn't tell Elliot immediately.

The vice president waited outside Elliot's office for a while, but Robert didn't arrive, so he dialed the phone to Elliot's assistant.

"Do you have Robert's number? If so, send me Robert's number." The vice president said, "I heard that Robert came to the company. I waited for him in the office for a while but he didn't come. What's the matter?"

The assistant immediately found Robert's phone number, edited the text message, and sent it to the vice president.

"Are you sure he's in the company now?" The assistant asked.

"Director told me. He must have come!" The vice president continued, "I heard that he brought his girlfriend here. I haven't even heard that Robert is in a relationship. Have you heard of it?"

The assistant said without hesitation: "No! Last time the boss talked to me about Robert, and said that Robert is not very good at handling private life. Oh, it seems that a girl came to Layla's place last time, which made Layla very angry."

Vice President: "Robert has a good temper, so he attracts girls. I think it's a real talk this time. Otherwise, he won't bring the company. Robert usually doesn't like to come here. Before the boss asked him to come to the company for an internship, he would rather go to Bridgedale to his brother."

Assistant: "That Robert brought his girlfriend to the company tonight, is it possible that he didn't want us to know?"

Vice President: "The front desk recognizes him, and many people in the company know him. Since he brought his girlfriend here, he probably wants to show off to his girlfriend. Let's give him face."

After the vice president finished speaking, he hung up the phone and called Robert. Robert brought Hazel to the cafeteria.

There were so many employees in the canteen right now.

Because the food in the company canteen was better than many restaurants outside, the employees basically ate in the canteen.

Even if they don't have to work extra hours at night, they still chose to eat in the cafeteria before going home.

Seeing the call from the vice president, Robert immediately stopped and answered the phone.

"Robert, I heard that you have come to the company. Where are you now? I waited for you in the office for a while, but I didn't see you, so I called you to ask." The voice of the vice The president was very gentle, "I heard that you brought your girlfriend here, let me invite you to dinner! Don't worry, if you don't want to tell your parents, I promise to keep my mouth shut and I won't say anything."

Robert: "..."

Girlfriend?

Robert looked at Hazel.

Hazel was wearing a mask, and her big eyes were staring at the cafeteria window.

Robert guess Hazel's hungry and wanted to eat.

"We're in the cafeteria, so we'll go to the cafeteria and have a meal before leaving."

Robert said, wanting to quickly end the call.

When the vice president heard that they were in the cafeteria, he immediately got into the elevator and planned to go to the cafeteria to find them.

After Robert hung up the phone, he said to Hazel, "The vice president knows we're here."

"Oh...isn't he off work yet?" Hazel saw that the time was almost 7 o'clock in the evening.

"Maybe he's not off work! He said he came to the cafeteria to see us, and he still wants to treat us to dinner." Robert scratched his head in embarrassment, "You haven't seen him yet, have you?"

Hazel nodded: "But it's okay to see him. I just don't want people in my university to know my identity. Because that will affect my going to university."

Robert: "Then let's wait a while! He should be here soon."

Robert and Hazel sat down at an empty table.

After a while, the vice president, the assistant to the president, and the administrative director all came.

Chapter 2779

Seeing that a group of them had come, Robert froze immediately.

Hazel was also stunned when she saw so many people walking towards her and her brother.

Hazel stretched out her hand under the dining table and pushed Robert's arm to bring him back to his senses.

Robert took a deep breath, and before they walked in front of him, he quickly introduced to Hazel, "On the left is the vice president, in the middle is Dad's assistant, and on the right is the supervisor of the administrative department."

Hazel nodded: "Then what should I call them?"

Robert: "Uncle! Everyone is called uncle."

After Robert finished speaking, the three walked up to them.

"Robert, let's go eat outside! I just reserved a table outside, we can eat there, no need to wait." The vice president said with a smile, and at the same time his eyes fell on Hazel's face, "Is this your classmate?"

Because Hazel looked young.

When Robert was about to answer, Hazel took off her mask.

"Hello, uncles. I am his younger sister. My name is Hazel Foster." Hazel said politely.

The three executives took a deep breath.

In fact, after Hazel took off her mask, they realized Hazel's identity.

"Hazel, I've heard about you a long time ago. I'm so happy to see you today!

It's a pity that I didn't prepare a meeting ceremony... Let's go out to eat!" The vice president grabbed Hazel's hand and made out with each other, said,

"After dinner, let's go shopping, I have to buy you a meeting gift."

Hazel felt that she was being held hostage by someone, and she couldn't help herself.

Hazel didn't know how to deal with it, so she looked back at Robert, hoping that her brother could help her.

As a result, Robert and his dad's assistant didn't know what they were talking about in the back, and they couldn't take care of themselves at all.

Of course, Hazel knew that the vice president had no malicious intentions, so after a brief panic, she quickly calmed down.

“Uncle, let’s go to the cafeteria to eat! Brother said that the food in the cafeteria is delicious...so we came here to taste it.” Hazel didn’t want the vice president to spend money, and he didn’t want to be taken by him later Go and buy a meeting gift by force.

How embarrassing!

“The food in our cafeteria is indeed okay, but after all, it is a big pot meal, and it is still incomparable with the top restaurants outside. I will take you to have a big meal. If you really want to try the food in the cafeteria, you can. I will call someone now Go pack it.” The vice president said, winking at the administrator, “Go pack the signature dish of today’s cafeteria, Hazel wants to try it.”

Administrator: “I’m going!”

Hazel: “...”

Hazel couldn’t hold back anymore, so she stretched her neck and shouted to Robert, “Brother!”

Robert heard Hazel’s voice, and immediately strode up to her.

Hazel quickly grabbed Robert’s arm and breathed a sigh of relief.

Robert felt that Hazel was shocked, and said to the vice president: “We won’t go out to eat. I brought my sister here today just to taste the cafeteria here. My sister still has a lot of homework to do at night, so I can’t delay too much outside.”

The vice president looked regretful: “Okay! Since Hazel still has to do homework at night, I don’t dare to waste your time. But, are you really just here to try the tentative food? If you like it, I can ask someone to pack it and send it to you.”

Robert was afraid that the vice president would take it seriously, so he quickly found an excuse: “In addition to tasting the food in the cafeteria, we also came to take my sister to see where Dad works, so that my sister can experience it.”

“Let me just say it! Although our cafeteria is not bad, it is far from necessary for you to make a special trip. Then we will eat in the cafeteria. I’ll take you to the various company departments after dinner. Do not worry; it won’t take long.” The vice president said, and invited them to sit down in a dining chair, “Let me tell you about our company’s development direction and plan for this year.”

Chapter 2780

Two hours later, Robert and his sister returned home.

Robert felt that his whole being was hollowed out.

Hazel was no better than Hayden. The main reason was that the vice presidents were too good at talking.

Hazel didn’t know Sterling Group at all at first, but after nearly two hours of hot chat with the vice president, Hazel’s mind was full of Sterling Group’s future development direction and plans.

“Brother, actually Uncle and the others are quite nice.” Seeing Robert sitting on the sofa and letting himself go, Hazel sat down beside him and chatted with him.

“It’s very good, but it’s unbearable. They always show us that they are elders to instill something in us, which makes me feel a little depressed. But the atmosphere in my brother’s company is different. Next time I will take you to my brother’s company.” When Robert talked about Hayden’s company, his eyes suddenly lit up.

Hazel said: "Brother, I don't feel like you. I think the uncles I met tonight are very nice people. They are very enthusiastic and willing to share their experiences and insights with us. Maybe it's because I was more Lack of love, so I don't think there is anything wrong with them."

Robert sat up straight after hearing what Hazel said.

"Little sister, do you want to go to Dad's company for an internship during the winter vacation?"

Hazel: "Brother, I want to try what it's like to be a host first."

Robert: "Don't worry. Try being a host first. You can try going to Dad's company in the future. If you like the atmosphere of Dad's company, then you can go to work in Dad's company. If this is the case, Dad will be very happy."

Robert didn't say anything later, that is, he would be very happy too.

"Brother, It's still early to go to Dad's company and you can try to go first!

Maybe you will get used to it soon." Hazel persuaded.

Robert: "Actually, I'm still early, and I'm only one year older than you."

"Well. Actually, if you don't want to work so early, you can tell Dad to wait until you graduate." Hazel said, "Dad respects us very much. He will definitely not force you."

Robert: "That 's true."

"Brother, did mother say when Uncle Eric will have surgery?" Hazel suddenly thought of this.

"Mom didn't tell me this. I guess we'll have to wait for my sister and the others to go!" Robert picked up his phone and looked at the time. "Little sister, it's already past eight o'clock. Are you still training tonight?"

"Hmm." Hazel got up from the sofa, "Teacher Joly said that when he was in college, he trained every day when he had free time. If talent is not as good as others, then you can make up for it with hard work. I think what Teacher Joly said is very reasonable, I admire him more and more now.”

Robert: “Little sister, don’t work too hard.”

Hazel: “I know, I will pay attention to the time. Good night, brother.”

Robert: “Good night.”

.....

Bridgedale.

Avery repeatedly confirmed the operation plan with the chief surgeon at the hospital, and after confirming that the risks were minimized, Elliot arrived at the hospital with Layla and Eric’s parents.

After Avery explained Eric’s current situation and operation plan to Eric’s parents in detail, the two nodded.

“Avery, with you here, we feel very at ease.”

“During the operation, I will watch Eric inside.” Avery said, “Go to the hotel to rest first, and I will notify you when the operation time is confirmed.”

Mrs. Santos hesitated: “Avery, can you let me see Eric? I haven’t seen him for a long time... In case something happens to him during the operation, wouldn’t I never see him in the end?”

Avery was taken aback for a moment, then agreed to her request.

Mr. Santos, along with his wife, also wanted to visit Eric.

Seeing that the two of them could go to see Eric, Layla wanted to go with her physically.

Elliot held her back.

“Didn’t you say you believed he could survive? Wait a little longer!” Elliot said, “If he could choose, he probably wouldn’t want his current appearance to be seen.”

To some extent, the patient didn't choose dignity. Especially critically ill patients.

Elliot once talked about this issue with Avery.

Chapter 2781

Elliot saw Eric, all kinds of cold instruments were placed in him, just looking at him, he felt cold to the bone.

If in the future, Eric suffered from an incurable disease, Elliot didn't want Avery to take the trouble to save him.

Now that Elliot knew that the ending couldn't be changed, just accept it calmly.

Layla understood what Elliot meant, so she stopped.

Surgery was scheduled for a week later.

In Bridgedale, the temperature was dropping rapidly. It snowed either heavily or lightly every day. There were strong winds now and then when it wasn't snowing.

They always felt that this winter was extremely cold and difficult.

They didn't freeze, even if they remained in the heating room all day.

Nervousness and fear increased as the surgery date neared.

Avery wanted to make the atmosphere more lively for dinner because she noticed that no one was in the mood to eat.

"Have you prepared any gifts for Eric?" Avery asked.

Eric's parents also lived in Avery's house.

Originally, the two of them wanted to live in a hotel, but Layla let them live with her, so that they could take care of her.

The two elders did not shirk.

After all, Avery also lived here.

Avery went to the hospital every day and knew Eric's situation best.

After hearing what her mother said, Layla answered immediately: "I'll buy it after dinner. Mom, will he be able to wake up after the operation is successful?"

Avery nodded: "So I asked you if you have prepared a gift."

Layla: "Is it possible for Eric to lose his memory? After all, he used someone else's heart."

"How is it possible! Even if his memory were to be lost, it wouldn't be as a result of the heart transplant procedure. Memory storage is a brain function. It makes sense that he wouldn't have lost his memory if there hadn't been a violent collision." Avery answered his daughter's doubts.

"That's good." Layla continued to ask, "How soon will he wake up after the operation?"

Avery: "If there are no accidents, he should wake up within 24 hours."

Layla: "Then we can talk to him soon?"

"He's relatively weak after the operation. Let's not quarrel with him." Avery reminded, "After dinner, Layla, take Eric's parents for a walk so they can relax. I have to go to the hospital later. Also, it's very cold outside today, so be sure to dress warmly if you go outside."

"Okay. Mom, take care of your body too." Layla looked at her mother's thin face, feeling very guilty.

If it wasn't for the trouble she caused, her mother wouldn't have stayed in Bridgedale for so long, let alone expending so much energy on Eric's affairs.

"Eat quickly! If you don't eat, the food will be cold." Avery said, looking at Eric's parents, "Don't worry about Eric."

The next day.

The surgery went on as scheduled.

Elliot and Layla stood outside the door of the operating room, while Eric's parents sat on the bench outside.

Time passed by every minute...

the operation started at 10 o'clock in the morning. Until 12 o'clock at noon, the door of the operating room was still closed.

Mike brought them lunch and persuaded them to eat.

"I don't have an appetite... wait until the operation is over." Layla looked at the monitor above the operating room, which read: In operation.

Chapter 2782

"What about you?" Mike looked at Elliot, "You have a gastric ulcer. Your wife ought to feel bad for you if you don't eat when you eventually get sick."

When Mike said this, Layla immediately looked at them.

"Let's eat!" Layla was afraid that if she didn't eat, the others would follow suit.

She was still young, so it's acceptable to experience temporary hunger, but Eric's parents were also ageing and her father had a gastric ulcer.

After a brief lunch, everyone continued to wait outside the operating room.

"Take it easy, the operation will definitely be fine." Mike leaned against the window, seeing them all looking solemn and depressed, so he advised them,

"This is Bridgedale's top private hospital, and the surgeon is from Bridgedale, the most skilled heart surgeon. Bridgedale's medical level is world-class. Is it possible that this operation will fail?"

Layla heard this and interrupted him: "Uncle Mike, my mother always said you have a crow's mouth."

Mike: "???"

Layla: "So don't talk about it. The more you talk about it, the more nervous I get."

Mike scratched his head in embarrassment: "Okay, I don't say it. But your mother told me that it was a long time ago, how do you still remember?”

Layla: “I don’t have amnesia. I may not remember things before I was five years old, but I still have memories of things after I was a little older. You used to have a crow’s mouth, and my mother always said you.”

Mike : “I’m not a crow’s mouth anymore.”

Layla: “Then don’t say it. If you have to talk, then say something else.”

Mike put his arms around his chest and his chin in the other. After thinking for a while, he asked : “After his surgery, will you go back to Aryadelle or stay in Bridgedale?”

“I can’t go back to Aryadelle. I’ll stay here first after his surgery. I’ll wait to see how he recovers before returning to Aryadelle.” Layla replied without thinking.

“So you haven’t been working for a while?” Mike asked.

“I can work from home. I know that I am the boss of the Tate Industries now, so you don’t need to remind me.” Layla said. She had been under a lot of pressure recently.

On the one hand, she was worried about Eric’s surgery, and on the other hand, she had to find time to deal with the company’s affairs.

Even if she was not employed by the company, the heads of all departments would report to her.

“Aren’t you worried that you are too tired?” Mike looked distressed.

Layla: “I’m not tired. As long as the operation is successful, I won’t be tired no matter how busy I am.”

An hour later, the operating room’s overhead lights suddenly stopped.

The surgery was over.

After a while, the door of the operating room opened slowly, and Eric was transferred to the intensive care unit for monitoring and treatment.

Layla only glanced at Eric hastily.

Eric was in a coma, breathing oxygen, had a pale face, closed eyes, and was lying on a hospital bed.

He had to remain in the intensive care unit without any visitors until he woke up.

Fortunately, heart transplant surgery usually woke up within 24 hours. This time, he won't be in intensive care for long.

When Elliot saw Avery coming out, he immediately stepped forward.

"The operation goes well." Avery's heart sank, "He ought to be able to wake up at the latest tomorrow, barring any mishaps."

Everyone heaved a sigh of relief.

"Honey, you've worked hard. I'll take you to dinner." Elliot held Avery's hand, knowing that she must be very hungry now.

Chapter 2783

Avery hadn't eaten much in the morning. Because of her personal habits, eating too much made her prone to feeling lightheaded and sleepy, whereas maintaining a healthy level of hunger would keep her mind sharp.

"Have you eaten?" Avery asked.

"We ate. It's past one o'clock in the afternoon now." Elliot replied, "Layla, take Eric's parents back to rest! When he wakes up, the hospital will notify you."

After all, Eric's parents wanted to stay in the hospital until he woke up. The doctor said that could happen in 24 hours.

"It's inconvenient to wait here. In addition to other family members, there are medical staffs who work in his care. Let's go home and wait!" Layla persuaded in a low voice, "You can take a nap when you go back."

The two elders were now more able to listen to Layla's words.

Like them, Layla sincerely hoped that Eric would wake up soon.

Furthermore, after Eric woke up, his health would definitely not be as good as before, and the two elders also hoped that there would be someone to take care of their son in the future.

.....

Elliot took Avery to a restaurant near the hospital for dinner.

Elliot ate an hour ago, so he ate with Avery now.

“Can I go back to celebrate the New Year this year?” Elliot asked.

“Not sure. It depends on Eric’s recovery. If he recovers well, he should be able to return to Aryadelle.” Avery suppressed her hunger after eating two mouthfuls.

She picked up the water glass, took a sip of water, and looked at Elliot: “Want to go home?”

“Robert took Hazel to my company.” Elliot said this, “I don’t know what they two are thinking.”

Avery couldn’t help laughing: “Did the two of them go secretly?”

“Yeah. But they were discovered when they went. Basically everyone in my company knows Robert.” Elliot also picked up the water glass and took a sip of water, “But they didn’t tell me, and I didn’t ask.”

“Maybe they just passed by your company, so they went in to have a look. Hazel probably didn’t dare to go, Robert must have brought her in.” Avery analyzed.

“Hazel doesn’t want to reveal her identity, she can’t get in at all.” Elliot guessed, “I guess Robert wants Hazel to work in my company after graduation. Then he will be free.”

“If Hazel is willing, that’s good!” Avery’s attitude was that whether Robert would like to stay by their side was actually not that important, what was more important was that Hazel was willing to stay by their side, which was also very good.

Furthermore, Avery felt that Robert would not work hard like Hayden.

Robert shouldn't be too far from Sterling Group even if he didn't work for them in the future.

"My daughter is still young, let's talk about it after she graduates. I don't want to put too much pressure on her." Elliot said fondly.

Avery couldn't help laughing: "It's really early to talk about this now. Don't put too much pressure on yourself. Health is the most important thing in life. We are healthy now, and God treats us well."

After eating outside, Elliot suggested going for a walk outside.

It was cold outside today, but they both wore thick coats.

"I didn't expect you to come." Avery held Elliot's hand, and the two walked slowly along the river.

It was quite windy by the river, but the two of them had just eaten, so it wasn't cold.

"Why didn't you think of it? We haven't been separated for such a long time."

Elliot squeezed her hand a little bit, "I also told the children that I came here because I missed you."

"Aren't you ashamed?" Avery blushed, her heart was sweet.

"There's nothing to be ashamed about. Our four children are all grown-ups."

Elliot teased, "I think they should see more about the benefits of marriage.

Otherwise, one, two, and three will not find a partner, and they will all be celibate and no grandchildren will be able to hug us in the future."

Chapter 2784

Avery teased: "Husband, do you want to take care of grandchildren? It's not easy. I'll take you to the orphanage now. You can have children of any age you want, and you can take as many as you want."

A blush floated on Elliot's face: "I just want to bring my own."

Avery: "Then why don't we have another one?"

Elliot: "..."

"What can you do by yourself, why bother your child?" Avery laughed.

"Husband, I'll just say it casually, the two of us still don't have children." Elliot had long given up on the idea of having children.

"What you told me just now, don't tell the children. Those words are quite boring. You can't force our children to have babies just because you want to have grandchildren!" Avery gave him a glare.

"I wanted to tell you this in private, I'm sure you won't tell them." Elliot shrugged helplessly, "Eric has been identified by Layla; will he now need to take anti-rejection medication? Future childbirth must not occur for them. As for Hayden, do you think I dare to urge him to get married?"

"You dare to urge Robert." Avery raised her eyebrows, "You brought up Robert with your own hands, and he listens to you more."

"That depends on whether he can find a girlfriend or not. If he finds a girlfriend, and the girlfriend is reliable, he might push her. Now that he doesn't even have a girlfriend, I can't force him to find one."

"If you are really busy, we can raise a cat or a dog." Avery thought of a compromise.

Elliot didn't even think about it, and directly refused: "I'm only patient with our children and our children's children, forget about the rest."

Avery: "Okay, don't raise it."

After walking along the river for a while, the two noticed people fishing.

Elliot was a little surprised and walked over to chat with the fisherman.

Elliot: "You can't fish in this river, right?"

The fisherman replied, "No one cares about this."

Elliot: "Why?"

The fisherman said again, "They don't care about me."

Elliot: "You have something to do with it."

"No." The fisherman pointed to his brain, "My brain is failing, and my family won't let me go far away. When my mind is fine, even if someone pays me to fish here, I don't want to! It's not easy to fish this day. I will release the fish if I catch it."

Elliot looked at the fisherman again.

This fisherman was about 50 years old, he didn't look too old, but his eyes were very vicissitudes.

Elliot really wanted to ask the fisherman what kind of illness he was suffering from, but Avery held him back.

"Let's go!" Avery said.

Elliot turned around and followed Avery.

"Why don't you let me chat with that person?" Elliot asked.

"Do you want to ask about his condition?" Avery explained, "When you are sick, you will know that this topic is cruel to patients."

"I think he seems more cheerful."

"Maybe because I am old Yes," Avery raised his mouth slightly, "he is more sensitive to birth, old age, illness and death."

Elliot: "Understood."

"You understand and you plan to ask others?" Avery raised her head and saw the hair on his temples.

Elliot's hair was gray once before, and Avery dyed him black with hair dye. Later, when he returned to Aryadelle, his hair should have been cut again after it grew long.

"It seems to have turned black." Avery stroked his hair, "There are not as many gray hairs as before."

"After returning to Aryadelle, the doctor prescribed oral medicine." Elliot said truthfully, "If the hair dye cream didn't smell too bad, I might not take the medicine."

"Taking medicine can't make your white hair turn black. It's a gamble." Avery smiled, "Your hair turns gray due to stress, as long as the pressure disappears, it may turn black again, or it may not go back."

"Isn't this a bet?" Elliot said proudly.

"Let's go back! It's a bit cold." Avery grabbed his hand and led him back the way he came.

Chapter 2785

"Go home or go to the hospital?" Elliot asked.

"Do you want to go home?" Avery asked back.

She was going to the hospital. She wanted to wait for Eric to wake up. Only when Eric woke up successfully could she give his parents an explanation.

"I'll accompany you to the hospital!" Elliot knew what Avery was thinking.

"You don't even need to ask me now, you know what I'm thinking." Avery couldn't help laughing.

"We've been together for so many years, if I still can't figure out what you're thinking, it means we don't have a tacit understanding." Elliot said this, and then changed the subject, "You should know me pretty well, right?"

"I know you quite well, but every time something happens, I quarrel with you to the death and the world is turned upside down. Then I stopped thinking about whether I understand you.” Avery deliberately avoided answering his question, “Together Just be happy, and it doesn’t matter if you don’t understand.”

Elliot: “If you don’t understand, why have we been together for so many years? You say you understand me.”

Avery: “Are you forcing me?”

Elliot : “Did you do it on purpose?”

Avery: “Hahaha! Why are you so naive?!”

After finishing speaking, Avery stretched out her hand and pinched his face.

A red mark suddenly appeared on Elliot’s face, but it disappeared quickly.

“Who is naive?” Elliot helplessly grabbed her hand.

“We’re both naive, okay? When Eric wakes up, I want to go back to Aryadelle.” Avery said seriously, “Go back and see Robert and Hazel.”

Elliot: “Don’t you feel tired from flying?”

Avery: “You stay with me! I won’t be tired if you stay with me.”

“Your mouth is so sweet! Didn’t you deliberately make me angry just now?”

Elliot put his arms around her waist, and kissed her on the lips the moment she raised her head.

“You really don’t know how to be ashamed anymore!” Avery glanced around.

There were still a lot of vehicles and pedestrians near the hospital.

Elliot: “What are you afraid of. Kissing on the street is not illegal.”

Avery: “...”

7 o’clock in the evening.

When Avery finished eating her boxed lunch in the hospital and was about to take away the garbage, a nurse walked towards her quickly.

“Dr. Tate, Eric is awake!”

Avery shook her hands as she threw away the trash.

After throwing the rubbish into the trash can, she quickly walked towards the intensive care unit.

Seeing her anxious steps, Elliot immediately ran after her.

“Is Eric awake?”

Hearing Elliot’s voice, Avery replied, “Yes! I’ll go and see, you stay outside first. If his indicators are normal, he will be transferred from the intensive care unit. Wait for him to come out.”

Elliot stopped after hearing her words.

Not long after, Layla brought Eric’s parents to the hospital.

“Don’t worry. There is basically no big problem when people wake up.” Elliot comforted the two elders, “Avery said that she can only visit after he is transferred to the special care ward. She will come to inform us when he is transferred to the ward.”

“Hmm! If I see him, I don’t even know what to say.” Mrs. Santos’s eyes were filled with tears because of her emotional agitation.

“Anyway, just don’t blame him.” Mr. Santos said, “Although he is awake now, he is still very weak. Let’s talk about it when he recovers a bit.”

Mrs. Santos: “I know. I definitely won’t say anything about him now.”

After a while, Avery walked towards them.

“He has been transferred to the ward. I will take you to see him.” Avery said, “He is conscious, but because his body is too weak, he may not be able to communicate with you.”

Chapter 2786

“Mom, did he talk to you?” Layla jumped up uncontrollably.

Avery shook her head: "He is conscious. I asked him a few questions, and he nodded in response to me."

After hearing what her mother said, Layla burst into tears with excitement.

"Mom, can I take care of him in the ward?" Layla asked, wiping away her tears.

"The intensive care unit he lives in now has nurses to watch over him 24 hours a day. You don't need to be by his side." Avery held her daughter's hand, "Mom knows you want to be with him, but he is still relatively weak, because he has spent a lot of time in coma. Wait until he gets better and is transferred to the general ward, okay?"

Layla nodded and calmed herself down: "Okay."

After a while, they entered the special care ward.

When the nurse saw them coming in, she immediately backed out.

On the hospital bed, Eric heard footsteps and opened his eyes.

Just now Avery came in and told him that his parents were outside and wanted to see him very much. Avery asked him if he wanted to see them now, and he nodded.

Memories flashed through his mind as soon as Eric woke up from opening his eyes, reminding him of what had happened.

At first he thought he was dead, and everything he saw was just an illusion.

It wasn't until Avery spoke, saying that he had just had a heart transplant, that he realized that he was not dead.

Of course, not dying was a joyful feeling, but his body was too weak to move, even if he just raised the corner of his mouth and smiled.

For the rest of his life, what he wanted to see most were his parents.

During the period of his accident, his parents must have been heartbroken.

He just didn't expect that Layla was there too.

Seeing Layla standing with his parents, he was stunned for a moment.

Just now Avery didn't tell him that Layla was there.

However, seeing Layla standing there properly, his mood quickly relaxed.

"Eric." Mrs. Santos walked to the hospital bed with tears in her eyes and a hoarse voice. She gently held his infusion hand with both hands, "You just finished the operation and your body is very weak, so you don't need to speak. Mom really wants you, your father misses you very much. Fortunately, you are fine. Otherwise, what should we do if you don't call mom and dad? Fortunately, you are fine..."

Mrs. Santos repeatedly said, 'Fortunately, you are fine', tears streaming down fall.

"Wife, don't cry." Mr. Santos wiped his wife's tears with a tissue, "Eric woke up, this is a great thing. If you cry like this, those who don't know think our son is dead."

Mrs. Santos: "You Crow's mouth! What nonsense are you talking about!"

"Okay! There are so many people watching!" Mr. Santos sighed, and turned to look at his son on the hospital bed, "Eric, I don't want to blame you for what happened to you this time. As a man, you should be responsible. But as your father, I really can't accept that you had an accident. Fortunately, there was no danger! You were rescued and came back! Next, you have to listen to the doctor's words, you should take medicine on time, you should rest, and try to take care of your body, don't let me send a white-haired person to a black-haired person!"

After hearing her husband's words, Mrs. Santos's tears flowed even more urgently.

Layla took a tissue and handed it to Mrs. Santos.

“...I’m sorry.” Eric made a deep voice on the hospital bed.

After he spoke, everyone looked at him.

“Son, don’t say I’m sorry. We didn’t blame you, we won’t blame you now, and we won’t blame you in the future. Take care of yourself and try to leave the hospital early.” Mrs. Santos looked at her son lovingly.

Eric nodded slowly.

After the two elders finished talking to Eric, they glanced at Layla.

After Layla entered the ward, she hadn’t spoken to Eric yet.

The two elders understood that Layla probably wanted to talk to Eric alone.

So the two elders left the ward.

Chapter 2787

After the two of them went out, Avery pulled Elliot out and followed them.

Layla watched the door of the ward being closed, and now only she and Eric were left in the ward.

She took a deep breath and looked at Eric.

“Look at the coat I’m wearing today.” Layla said, “This is the coat you bought that day. I’ll return it to you when you leave the hospital.”

Eric looked at the coat on her body. He was not much spirit. He was a little tired and powerless.

He should close his eyes if no one was in the ward at the time.

Digesting what his parents said just now had consumed all his energy.

Although he was very tired, he still looked at Layla with his eyes open.

“I’ve already told my parents and your parents. We’ll get the certificate after you leave the hospital.” Layla knew that he was weak now, so she didn’t intend to keep pestering him for a chat.

After she finished saying these words, Eric was like being electrocuted, all seven souls and six souls came out of his body, and he was severely frightened.

“I was just informing you, not discussing with you.” Layla watched him frown tightly, with a puzzled and shocked expression on her face, knowing that he could not accept it, but Layla had made up her mind and said, “You take good care of your illness. I’ll come to see you when you get better.”

After finishing speaking, Layla quickly turned around and left the ward.

After Layla left the ward, the nurse entered the ward quickly.

“Go back and rest!” Seeing Layla coming out, Avery immediately said to Eric’s parents, “Sleep well tonight, and come to see him tomorrow.”

Eric’s parents nodded: “Avery, thank you for your hard work. And thank you very much for guarding Eric in the hospital during this time. Without you, we would not be so at ease.”

“If it weren’t for Eric, my daughter might not be able to stand here safely.”

Avery said, “From now on, we will be a family, so there is no need to be so polite.”

The two elders didn’t say anything.

No matter how they look at him, it is Eric’s blessing that Eric could be with Layla.

Although approved by the Foster family, Eric almost paid the price with his life.

But now that everything was clear, they just hoped Eric could spend the rest of his life in peace and comfort.

A week later.

Eric’s mental state had recovered a lot.

He could now speak, and his sleep patterns were gradually returning to normal.

His parents came to the ward to stay with him for a while every day.

Every time the two elders came out of the ward, Layla would go in.

But every time Layla went in, Eric would say he was tired and dismiss Layla.

“Layla is determined to marry you.” Avery saw the clue, so she talked with Eric alone, “I have no objection with Elliot and our three children. If you two are together, We will bless you.”

Avery thought that Eric was unwilling because of this reason.

Eric shook his head and expressed his thoughts: “Now my heart belongs to someone else, and I will have to take medicine to fight against rejection in the future, and no one can predict how long I will live in the future. The only thing that can be predicted What’s more, I won’t live long...I’m sure I can’t marry her. If I really love her, I shouldn’t agree to her.”

“Eric, I believe you know her well. She has made a decision, and she will definitely do so.” Avery said helplessly.

Chapter 2788

“Layla is my daughter. When she was young, I had the obligation and responsibility to guide her and educate her, but she is no longer a child, and she no longer needs anyone to teach her what to do.” Avery thought out, “She likes you and wants to be with you. No matter how long you can last in the rest of your life, she has already considered it clearly.”

Avery said it clearly, and Eric clearly heard it.

After thinking about it for a while, Eric still couldn’t accept it.

“Eric, I know you are doing it for Layla’s sake. But if you reject her, she will be very sad.” Avery was in a dilemma.

Avery didn’t want to embarrass Eric, let alone see her daughter sad.

After both of them went through such a disaster, she hoped that the rest of their lives would be happy for both of them.

“Where’s Elliot?” Eric knew that he couldn’t make sense with Avery, so he wanted to talk to Elliot.

“You want to see him?” Avery asked.

Eric nodded.

“I’ll call him.” Avery took out her cell phone and called Elliot.

After making the phone call, Avery said to Eric, “He thinks the same as me. It’s useless if you tell him. Unless you can make Layla give up by herself.”

“If I can make Layla give up, I won’t tell you.” Eric was not Layla’s opponent at all.

Layla seemed to be very obedient and sensible, but she was also very stubborn.

Usually everyone depended on her, so it might not be obvious.

“You haven’t recovered yet, so you may be pessimistic.” Avery was comforted, saying, “In another week, your health will be much better. After you are discharged from the hospital, rest for a few more months, and you will almost be able to return to your previous normal level.”

“The doctor told me that I can no longer do strenuous exercise, nor can I do heavy physical activity.” Eric had already asked the doctor about his situation, so he resolutely refused Layla.

He couldn’t return to his previous state, so how could he bring Layla happiness?

Since he couldn’t give it, he couldn’t delay Layla.

“Yes, you really can’t do strenuous exercise in the future, but you have quit the circle, and it’s okay if you don’t do strenuous exercise in the future!” Avery persuaded, "There is no problem with normal life. There is no problem with jogging, as long as it is not severe, it won't be a big problem."

Eric didn't answer after hearing what she said.

A while later, Elliot came over.

Seeing Elliot coming in, Avery immediately got up from her chair and said, "Eric wants to talk to you about Layla."

After speaking, Avery walked out.

Elliot went to the chair Avery was sitting in just now and sat down. There was still her warmth in the chair.

"Are you unwilling to marry Layla?" Elliot also came to the hospital every day, and Elliot could see Eric's attitude towards Layla.

Elliot should be happy when Eric rejected Layla, but he couldn't.

Because Eric's refusal would only make Layla sad.

Layla had been sad for a long time because she couldn't be with Eric.

In the long run, Elliot was worried about Layla's emotional problems.

Going through an avalanche was already a great psychological trauma, but now he has suffered emotional setbacks. Elliot felt sorry for his daughter just thinking about it.

He no longer regarded Eric as a man who came to snatch his daughter.

Instead, he regarded Eric as a...toy that could make his daughter happy.

Chapter 2789

As Layla liked this toy, he had no choice but to give it to her.

From childhood to adulthood, Elliot always doted on his daughter like this.

"You should be very clear about my situation." After careful consideration, Eric said calmly, "You don't want Layla to experience widowhood after I'm with Layla. She will still be in pain at that time. Long-term pain is worse than short-term pain. Tell her clearly now, let her find a healthy man, and she will come out slowly in the future.” Eric told Elliot his thoughts.

After hearing this, Elliot felt that what Eric said made sense.

No matter how Layla looked at Eric, she would suffer.

Indeed, people have said since ancient times that long-term pain is worse than short-term pain. From the perspective of others, everyone will make a long speech.

Elliot couldn't keep himself out of the matter.

He only knew that now, he didn't want to make his daughter sad.

“My wife should have made it very clear to you.” Elliot looked straight into Eric's eyes and said, “We won't tell Layla to give up. If you want her to give up, then go talk to her yourself. She is already 25 years old, she decides her own life.”

Eric did not expect Elliot to change his previous attitude.

“Don't look at me like that.” Elliot frowned slightly and said, “If you have children, you'll understand that being a father is not easy.”

Eric: “I may never have the chance to be a father in my life.”

“You are an individual, not a puppet held by your parents. Your parents have been urging you to get married over the years. Have you ever heard what your parents said? If you can't completely obey your parents yourself, why should let's force Layla? ” After Elliot finished speaking, he got up from his chair and said, “Do you want to talk to Layla? I can call her here.”

“No.” Eric refused, saying, “I want to calm down.”

Elliot strode out of the ward.

.....

Aryadelle.

When Hazel came home from university, the maid immediately brought dinner to the table.

Hazel came back a little later today, so Robert didn't wait for her.

"Little sister, do you want to hang out with me tonight?" Robert walked to the dining chair next to Hazel and sat down. "It's my classmate's birthday. She called me early, because she's not bad, so I didn't refuse at the time.

"Then you go!" Hazel smiled and said, "If you go to the class reunion, I won't go. I don't even know each other."

"Didn't you know each other when you went? It seems that they are mostly girls, not many boys." Robert hoped that Hazel could go with him.

It wasn't that he felt that Hazel needed to know his classmates, but that his father had confessed before he left that if Hazel was at home, then he had to stay at home with her. Hazel couldn't just play by herself.

If something were to happen to Hazel and Robert wasn't at home, that wouldn't be good.

So during the period after his father went to Bridgedale, Robert honestly stayed at home every night.

"Brother, why don't you go by yourself!? I don't want to go." Hazel flatly refused, saying, "Since you said that girl is very good, don't let her go."

"But I can't leave you alone at home." Seeing that Hazel really didn't want to go, Robert quickly decided not to go.

Robert took out his mobile phone, sent a message to his classmates, and made up an excuse to refuse the appointment.

"Brother, I'm already an adult. Besides, here at home, I can still lose it at home." Hazel didn't know whether to laugh or cry, "Even if Dad asked you to take care of me, you don't have to guard me like this. If you go out to play, I will lose it. I won't tell my dad."

"Actually, I didn't think too much about going." Robert said in his heart, "It's too cold outside. Besides, there are so many girls chattering, it's too noisy. It's better to play with you at home."

Chapter 2790

Hazel knew that Robert stayed at home with her out of a sense of responsibility.

In the past, Robert often ate out at night, and then played outside until 9 o'clock before coming back.

"Dad, they should be back soon, right?" Hazel asked.

When Dad and the others came back, Robert won't have to look at Hazel every day.

"We have to wait for Uncle Eric to be discharged from the hospital." Robert covered his mouth with his hand when he said this, "I can't call him Uncle Eric anymore, I have to call him brother-in-law from now on. "

"Has the matter been settled yet?" The maid came over with a bowl of soup and put it in front of Hazel.

"It tastes better, try it."

Hazel smelled a fresh fragrance, immediately picked up the soup spoon, and took a sip: "Well, it's thicker than before."

"Take the lotus root thoroughly. The ribs are boiled and melted. The taste of the pork ribs is completely boiled." The servant smiled, "Your mom likes to drink this soup the most."

"People in Bridgedale don't eat lotus root. My mom can't drink such authentic lotus root soup over there." Hazel said regretfully, "But Uncle Eric is about to be discharged from the hospital, and Mom and the others are coming back soon.”

“Didn’t you just say that you wanted to change your name to brother-in-law?”
the maid joked.

Robert laughed loudly: “He hasn’t come back yet, I’ll change my words when he comes back.”

Thinking that everything was going in a good direction, Hazel’s appetite whetted.

“Brother, I heard a funny thing from my classmate today.” Hazel shared the funny story with Robert, “My classmate found a door-to-door hair-plucking service on Big Sweet Potato. This is the first time I’ve heard of this kind of service. Do you think it’s funny?”

Robert was also shocked by this service: “How do they charge for it?”

“It’s charged per head.” Hazel ate with gusto, and said with relish, “If you have more gray hairs, you will be charged more, if you have less gray hairs, you will be charged less, or you can charge according to the number of gray hairs... .There are also people who count gray hairs. I really admire people who can come up with this profitable business, and I admire people who spend money to buy this service.”

“Hahaha! It can only be said that the world is full of wonders. There are many poor people. There are also many rich people. Many rich people do not have jobs. They are very idle. If they are idle, their behavior may become strange.”

Robert analyzed with Hazel, “As long as it is a service that rich people need, so there are people who need money to provide services.”

“Well... I think there must be people who are curious about pulling out gray hair at home.”

“Would you like to try it?” Robert now had the psychology of seeking novelty.

Hazel couldn’t help laughing: “I don’t have gray hair! Brother, do you have any?"

"I probably don't have any. Even if I have, just a few! This kind of fee is not easy to charge... Maybe it will basic service fee?" Robert finished his soup and wiped his mouth with a paper towel, "There are also those who chat with others."

Hazel answered: "Chat with others?"

Robert: "Yes! Have you heard of chatting online...there should be door-to-door chatting."

Hazel's cheeks flushed suddenly.

"Little sister, why don't we call for a chat?" Robert had never ordered any door-to-door service, so he became very interested in door-to-door service. Parents weren't home right now, so he could call in the door service to try it out and see what he felt like.

Hazel was so scared that she almost choked: "Brother, are you talking about serious company chat?"

Robert understood that Hazel wanted to be crooked, and immediately explained: "Of course I mean serious company chat. I brushed it on the big sweet potato before. Yes. If we find someone who is good to chat with, maybe he can help us with our homework!"

Hazel: "Oh! That person should be serious...but your homework is so good, you don't need others to help you with your homework!"

Robert was very playful: "Why don't I call one to try? We can chat while fighting landlords!"

Chapter 2791

Hazel: "..."

Hazel could see that Robert was too boring.

It was indeed boring to stay at home with her every night.

Robert wanted to chat with Hazel so much, of course she couldn't stop him.

"Okay! I'll go back to my room to do my homework after dinner. You can call me when you come to chat with me." Hazel decided to finish her homework quickly, and then came down to fight the landlord with Robert.

After Hazel returned to the room, Robert began to chat with someone on Sweet Potato.

When the maid was clearing away the dishes, she reminded: "Mr. Foster, you can't let others take pictures when you invite people to your house."

Robert: "I'll make it clear with my companion. I'm just curious... .."

The maid smiled and said, "Is it too boring at home?"

"A little bit. Don't tell my parents about my chat."

"I won't tell. Do you want to fight the landlord? I'll go find cards."

"Maybe I can play, maybe I can't. Let's see if my sister wants to play! I see her locked in the room every day to practice vocalization, and I want her to relax." Robert explained, "Should I find a girl or a boy?"

"Since we are playing with Hazel, let's find a girl!" The maid suggested.

Robert nodded, and then found a girl who looked very innocent in the picture.

After sending the message, the other party responded quickly.

After negotiating the transaction and paying the bill, the other party said that she would be there in 40 minutes.

About 50 minutes later, Robert's chat with her online was long overdue.

After finding the gate of Foster's villa, the woman who was chatting with Robert repeatedly apologized to him.

"I still don't know how to call you! I'm so sorry! Your community is too big. I actually arrived 20 minutes ago, but I got lost in your community... I wanted to find Someone ask, but in this villa area, there is no one to ask for directions.”

Robert’s expression was dull.

Because the woman chatting with him and the woman in the picture seem to be two people.

But this woman’s voice was very nice.

If she hadn’t dressed so maturely and sexy, Robert might have invited her in for the sake of her nice voice.

But now, Robert dared not let people in at all.

“You... wear a little... less...” Robert couldn’t understand at all. On a winter night, this woman was wearing a thin coat with a suspender skirt inside.

Without socks, “Are you really not cold?”

The woman saw Robert’s face clearly through the street lamp, was attracted by his handsome appearance, and immediately rubbed into Robert’s arms as if he had no bones, “When I went out just now, I didn’t feel cold. It’s cold! It’s really cold now...don’t you invite people into the house? I feel like my body is going to freeze!”

Robert: Crack · jpg

“Miss, let go...Miss Please let go!” Robert had never encountered such a difficult situation, so he ran wild in his heart while thinking about whether it would be bad if he knocked this woman to the ground.

After all, the education he had received in the past 10 years was to be a polite gentleman.

When the bodyguard heard Robert’s cry, he rushed out and kicked the woman in Robert’s arms away.

Robert heaved a sigh of relief.

“Mr. Foster, are you okay?!” The bodyguard supported Robert and looked him up and down.

Robert shook his head and looked at the woman who was kicked to the ground and groaning in pain.

“Are you okay? Shall I take you to the hospital?” Robert walked up to the woman, trying to pull her up.

At this time, Hazel heard the movement and came out of the house.

“Brother, what’s the matter? What happened?” Hazel ran out wearing slippers in order to see what happened.

Robert covered his face with one hand, not knowing how to explain it to his sister.

Because it really didn’t need an explanation.

He could tell what’s going on from what this woman was wearing.

He just wanted to find someone to chat with to relieve boredom, but this lady obviously didn’t think so.

“Uh...” Hazel walked up to Robert, and after seeing the woman on the ground, she scratched her head in embarrassment, “Brother, is this the one you are looking for to chat with?”

Robert pursed his lips helplessly, nodded.

“Why are you beating someone? What did I do wrong, you want to treat me like this? Don’t think that you can do whatever you want because you are rich!” The woman lay on the ground, thinking that there must be no way to climb up to Robert, so she simply blackmailed him and wanted to take money from him.

She checked this villa area on the Internet before coming here, and the lowest house in it cost hundreds of millions.

And the villa where the employer who asked her to chat with her was definitely not the worst villa in this community.

Because the yard of his house was bigger and more magnificent than the yards of the villas she saw just now.

she just didn't know which local rich man's house this was.

Looking at Robert's face, she couldn't recognize him.

The bodyguard had seen a lot of people like this, and knew that this woman wanted to extort money, so without even thinking about it, he planned to beat this woman up and throw her out.

Robert stopped him.

If this matter got out, even if it only got to his parents or brothers and sisters, he would definitely be scolded.

This incident would definitely become a scandal that he would be laughed at all his life.

"Miss, I'm sorry just now. My bodyguard didn't want to hit you on purpose. It's because I told you to let go, but you didn't let go, so my bodyguard thought I was in danger." Robert explained in a good voice, squatted down, and wanted to help her up, "Why don't I ask my driver to take you to the hospital for an examination! I will pay for the examination and medical expenses."

The woman knew that this family was someone she could not afford to offend, so she scrambled along and caught Robert's hand, and stood up.

"It's really bad luck at night... You just give me the money, and I'll go to the hospital for a check-up!"

The bodyguard saw through the woman's tricks and immediately said, "Mr. Foster, she just wants..."

"How much do you want?" Robert interrupted the bodyguard and asked the woman.

The flesh on the bodyguard's face immediately began to twitch, his fists were clenched, his finger bones creaked, and he stared at the woman with a pair of big, black eyes like copper bells.

The woman was stunned by the bodyguard's stare, and she didn't dare to ask for a price: "you have to give $10,000! My waist feels like it's about to break, and I won't be able to work for the next week..."

Robert immediately took out the Cell phone: "Okay, I'll transfer it to you. But don't tell me what happened tonight. If I see you talking nonsense on the Internet, I will find you."

The woman opened her payment code, and said angrily: "Got it. I can't afford to offend rich people like you." At the end, she said, "You didn't like me, did you? If I were more beautiful, You definitely wouldn't push me away just now."

Robert: "!!!"

Seeing that Robert's body started to tremble, Hazel knew that he was angry.

"Don't talk nonsense. We are planning to find a companion to play poker."

Hazel said, "Aren't you a companion? Look at your current attire..."

"Little sister, find someone is all because of that thing..." The woman took the money, a little speechless and a little funny.

Hazel saw that Robert's body was trembling even more, so she dragged him into the house.

Chapter 2793

The bodyguard immediately threw the woman outside!

The bodyguard had never seen Robert being so angry.

Robert had a good temper since he was a child, and he was kind to everyone, not only to his family, but also to his maids.

"Brother, don't be angry. Things in society are too complicated. It's normal for us not to know.” Hazel comforted, “Don’t worry, I won’t tell my parents. I won’t tell my elder brother either and also my sister.”

Robert’s cheeks were red, and he looked at Hazel: “Little sister, tell me, is the service that pulls out gray hair at the door like this...?”

Hazel was shocked: “No way ?! I checked their account. That account is really about pulling out gray hair for customers.”

Robert: “Oh...it seems that I am still too naive.”

At this time, a maid came with holding mobile phone.

“Mr. Robert, Miss Hazel, your mom couldn’t get through to you, so she called me here.” After answering Avery’s call just now, the maid stood at the door and watched what happened at the gate of the courtyard.

Because there was quite a commotion just now, Avery asked the maid what happened.

If Avery didn’t know, the maid didn’t need to tell Avery, but Avery had already heard the woman’s scream just now, and the maid really couldn’t hide it.

Therefore, Avery knew everything.

Robert suddenly petrified.

Hazel opened her small mouth, speechless.

She just said that she would keep her brother a secret, but she didn’t expect her mom to call.

10 minutes later—

in the family group.

Hayden: [Robert, come out! @Robert]

Avery: [Hayden, I have already called Robert to talk to him. He has already realized that his behavior is inappropriate, and he will not do it again in the future.]

Robert: I was wrong! [Big cry] [Big cry] [Big cry] [Kneel down] [Kneel down]
[Kneel down]

Layla: [Robert, you really... I really have nothing to say to you now! My dad and I have only been away for a few days, and you have done such a weird and inexplicable thing. If you move out to live alone, won't you make a scandal every day!]

Hazel: [Actually, I can't completely blame the second brother for this matter... It's the second brother who wants to find someone to play poker with me...]

Robert: [Little sister, stop cleaning the floor for me. My brain is pumped tonight, and I feel that people who do such things must not dare to appear on the official platform...]

Hayden: [Your sense of crisis makes me unable to believe that you are my own brother. In the future, you must never take Hazel out. It might be safer for Hazel to be alone.]

Robert: [crying loudly] [crying loudly] [crying loudly]

Layla: [Robert, you were not as stupid as you are now when you were young! You go and write a review! Otherwise you don't have a long memory.]

Hazel: [Then I will write the review with my second brother!]

Seeing that his youngest daughter was going to write a self-criticism, Elliot showed up immediately: [Forget about it. Be careful in the future, don't bring people you don't know to your home.]

Avery: [We can go home in about a week. You two stay at home and wait for us to come back.]

Robert: [OK, mom.]

Hazel: [OK, mom.]

The Foster family, Robert and Hazel sat side by side on the sofa in the living room.

After the group chat ended, the two breathed a sigh of relief respectively.

Chapter 2794

“Brother, you are much simpler than I imagined.” Hazel felt that what happened tonight was very funny because Robert’s face was very red, she didn’t dare to laugh out loud.

Robert wiped his nose to hide his embarrassment.

“This shows that you usually play very innocently with your classmates outside.” Hazel concluded, “It’s pretty good. You are surrounded by very serious friends.”

Robert had already lost face, so it didn’t matter that it’s a joke right now.

“Dad has investigated all the friends around me. My dad won’t let me play with them if they are not serious.” Robert explained, “My parents are afraid that I will be a bad student.”

“University is actually a small society.” Hazel poured a glass of water for Robert, “But I think whether a person will learn to be bad depends on the individual. Some people will not learn to be bad in a very bad environment, and some people will degenerate in a good environment. “

“Then do you think I will learn to be bad?” Robert took the water handed by Hazel and took a sip.

Hazel: “Of course you won’t learn to be bad. No one in our family will learn to be bad.”

“Little sister, sometimes good and bad are relative. For example, bad people also have good sides. People who look good, in private There may also be a bad side.” Robert put down the water glass, raised his hand and touched Hazel’s head, “It’s good to be a man with a clear conscience.”

“Besides a clear conscience, you can’t break the law.” Hazel said, “Many bad people also have a clear conscience.” They all have a clear conscience.”

Robert felt that he had been taught a lesson by Hazel. But he didn't feel unhappy, on the contrary, he looked at her differently.

No matter how well-behaved he was, he should always be, according to his parents, who he had lived with since he was a young child. But Hazel was different.

Hazel did not live in a good environment and did not attend a good school, but her thinking was more developed than her own.

The training of people in a difficult environment was incomparable to other education.

This deepened Robert's desire to temper himself.

It's weekend.

Hazel got up early and started practicing.

Hazel looked forward to the weekend the most every week since Hector Joly came to study with her every weekend.

The maid made breakfast and called Hazel to eat.

“Miss Hazel, your reading is getting better and better now.” The maid boasted as she brought the breakfast to the table.

Hazel blushed instantly: “Really? Don't lie to me.”

“Of course it's true. I can hear the difference. It's much better than before.”

The maid said honestly, “When you talk and when you use broadcasting, the voices are different. It's like the voices of two people.”

Hazel: “Maybe there is a little improvement, you exaggerate too much.”

“Hahaha, I think you can become an announcer! Otherwise When your teacher Joly comes later, let him listen.” Of course the maid meant flattery.

Hazel had a pleasant personality and was often eager to assist in the kitchen.

Thus, the maid favour Hazel in particular.

Hazel knew that the maid said this because she liked her.

She had almost corrected her accent now, and there was still a lot of room for improvement in terms of skills when reading manuscripts.

At half past eight, Teacher Joly came to Foster's house.

Chapter 2795

Teacher Joly first listened to Hazel read a few manuscripts, after which she was given feedback, assisted in making corrections, and taught how to read more emotionally and coherently.

Time flies, two hours passed.

The maid came over with a fruit plate and snacks, reminding them to rest.

"Hazel, you have made great progress, and your reading is much better now than before." Teacher Joly boasted.

"Teacher Joly, I also said that just now, but Hazel didn't believe it." The maid smiled and said.

Teacher Joly: "It's really made great progress."

The maid immediately fought for Hazel: "I think Hazel can become an announcer, what do you think?"

Teacher Joly glanced at Hazel.

Hazel didn't even think about it, and immediately waved her hand: "My aunt is joking! I still need to practice hard."

"Hazel, do you want to try to be an intern anchor?" Teacher Joly asked,

"Winter vacation is coming soon. Our TV station will host Choose some outstanding students from your school to come as intern anchors..."

"I heard about it," Hazel said bluntly, "I also signed up. My classmates said that anyone can sign up, so I signed up. But I know that every year the intern anchors are selected among the third and fourth year students.”

“That’s not exactly the case. We only look at whether the student is excellent, not whether the other party is a junior or senior, or a freshman or sophomore.” Teacher Joly explained, “There were also sophomore students who came to our station for internships before. In fact, don’t feel pressured, because the intern anchors are broadcasting early morning programs.”

Speaking of this, Teacher Joly considered Hazel’s identity, and added:

“Maybe your parents will not agree. Because broadcasting early morning programs, you won’t be able to sleep at night.”

Hazel was not afraid of hard work. She didn’t care if she didn’t get any sleep at night as long as she could get an internship at a TV station.

It’s okay if she couldn’t sleep during the day if she couldn’t sleep at night.

“Teacher Joly, my parents won’t interfere with my study and work. They follow me in everything. I think I’m not strong enough. To tell you the truth, just take the students in our class as an excellent.” Hazel said modestly.

Teacher Joly smiled: “Not everyone is as hardworking as you, right? You are the fastest-growing one I have ever seen. Even if you are not Elliot’s daughter, I would still give you a chance to practice.”

Teacher Joly’s words gave Hazel great encouragement.

At lunch, Hazel told Robert about it.

“Brother, my heart is beating so fast right now.” After Hazel agreed to Teacher Joly, she always felt like a dream.

Robert didn’t realize what Hazel meant, so he asked, “Did you not sleep well? Did you wake up early today?”

“I slept well. I went to bed very early last night.” Hazel didn’t sleep well at night, “I promised Teacher Joly to be an intern anchor at a TV station during the winter vacation.”

“Didn’t you just say that? If you want to go, you can go. If you don’t want to go, don’t go.” Robert replied, “Now, after you go, which program will be broadcast? If you really go, our whole family will watch your program and increase your ratings.”

Hazel couldn’t laugh or cry: “Brother, the intern anchors are all broadcasting the early morning episode Program. I don’t want you to stay up late to watch my program.”

“Early in the morning? Do you go to work in the early morning?” Robert was shocked, “Little sister, this is equivalent to your night shift every day! It’s so hard, are you sure you’ve thought about it?”

Hazel: “Brother, it doesn’t matter when I go to work. The point is that Teacher Joly asked me to go for an internship and gave me such a precious opportunity. I am really touched and happy...”

Robert: “Little sister, if it’s really nice to you, it shouldn’t arrange early morning shows for you!”

“Brother, Teacher Joly explained to me that all the intern anchors start broadcasting in the early hours of the morning. He used to be like this. Just because I am Elliot’s daughter, I can’t let me directly override the rules of the TV station. Teacher Joly does not have this right, and I will not do it.”

Robert: “...Okay! Did you tell our parents?”

Chapter 2796

Robert felt that going to work in the early morning was really too tiring. He himself usually has the bad habit of staying up late, and every time he stays up late, he is basically listless the next morning, and he will be extra tired.

And Hazel didn't have the habit of staying up late, she always went to bed early and got up early, and now she was suddenly asked to work the night shift, her work and rest would definitely be messed up, and her body might not be able to bear it.

Their family was not short of money, and Robert felt distressed for Hazel to suffer like this.

He felt that his parents would love his sister too.

"I haven't said anything yet! It's late at night in Bridgedale, and they're already asleep." Hazel didn't want to disturb his parents' rest, "I'll send them a message! They will call me when they see the news."

"Hmm. Have you promised Teacher Joly?" Robert asked.

Hazel nodded obediently: "Of course I have to agree to such a rare opportunity. In fact, I was a little hesitant before agreeing. I think my strength is not worthy of this internship opportunity. Because usually students who choose juniors and seniors. I'm only a fresher, and I've only been in Univer' for half a year..."

"Little sister, you've worked so hard and improved so fast, and Teacher Joly has noticed it. He thought you're fine, so he gave you this opportunity.

Otherwise, if you are too bad, even if Teacher Joly wants to open the back door for you, he will think twice." Robert wanted his sister to be more confident, "You are really not bad. At least I think it will be fine for you to be the host. "

"Brother, thank you for flattering me so much, I almost believe that I am really good." Hazel laughed, "Teacher Joly told me that many opportunities need to be grasped by oneself. If you want to achieve great things, you must take the initiative. If you are too passive, sometimes the opportunity will be useless to you.”

“Teacher Joly is right! I have read the information about Teacher Joly. He actually came from a very ordinary background, but It is not easy to achieve the present achievement.” Robert said.

Hazel: “Yes, I think so too. I think what Teacher Joly said is very reasonable. I am just too timid, habitually timid, and not confident. But I will change. I promise Teacher Joly, too. In order to overcome these shortcomings of myself.”

Robert: “Well, if you insist so much, even if our parents don’t want to agree, you will probably agree. You know, parents will not stop you from doing anything.”

Hazel grinned and revealed,: “I’m really afraid that you spoil me lawlessly.”

“I really want to see what your lawlessness will look like.” Robert sighed with a smile, “Do you want to go out for a stroll in the afternoon? Besides studying, you still study every day. Are you tired? How about I call Lilly and the others to go shopping with you?”

Hazel recalled that it had been several days since she last saw Lilly, so she nodded: “I’ll call her myself! She asked me out once, but I was a little busy, so I refused, and she never asked me out after that. She probably thought I was always busy!”

“You were always busy.” Robert said, “Are you interested in having me go shopping with you?”

Hazel shook his head: “Brother, you haven’t played with your own friends for a long time, right? You go and play with your friends!”

Robert: “Okay.”

Maria, Lilly, and Hazel were all out shopping. While shopping, Hazel received a call from Elliot.

It was 3 o'clock in the morning in Bridgedale.

Elliot had a nightmare and woke up. He picked up his phone to check the time, and saw the message from Hazel.

After Elliot read the content of the message, he took his mobile phone to the bathroom and called Hazel.

Hazel walked out of the store immediately after receiving her dad's call.

"Dad, isn't it late at night over there?" Hazel asked wonderingly.

"Dad just woke up and saw the message you sent, so I called you to ask."

Elliot was worried, "Have you already promised Hector Joly?"

Chapter 2797

"Yeah! Dad, I also talked to the second brother. I know you are more worried about my night shift. I don't think this is a problem, nor should it be a difficulty that hinders my progress. I can do it during the winter vacation. Sleep during the day and go to work at night." Hazel had already decided to go to practice. Elliot could hear the determination in Hazel's tone, and knew it was useless to say anything.

Hazel might be submissive if she were stopped forcibly, but she would undoubtedly be troubled inside.

"I'll call Hector Joly and ask him to arrange a better time slot for you." Elliot still didn't want Hazel to stay up late to work.

"Dad, don't embarrass Teacher Joly." Hazel said seriously, "This is the regulation of the TV station, and I don't want to be a person who breaks the rules. And my current ability is not up to the level of broadcasting a good time and I may not be able to perform well because of being too nervous."

Elliot listened to his daughter, was silent for a few seconds, and decided to follow her.

He knew that his daughter could definitely endure hardships. After all, she had endured hardships every day for the past 18 years.

“You try it first when the time comes. If you don’t feel comfortable, you must tell your parents.” Elliot urged.

“I will.” Hazel’s mood suddenly improved, “Dad, I’m shopping with Lilly and Maria now. I haven’t played with them for a while, and I’m so happy now.”

Elliot listened Hazel’s laughter and the expression on her face relaxed a lot.

Elliot: “Have you brought bodyguards?”

Hazel: “Well. Uncle bodyguards have been following us!”

“Then you go shopping! Buy what you like, don’t be reluctant to spend money. You can also buy whatever Lilly and Maria like. You can buy them for them. I’m afraid they won’t be willing to spend money.” Elliot continued to instruct.

“Okay, dad. Go to bed!”

After talking on the phone, Elliot came out of the bathroom.

Avery was woken up, opened her eyes, and looked towards Elliot.

“What time is it?” Avery reached out and rubbed her eyes.

“it’s 3:30 a.m.” Elliot strode to the bed, flung his long legs, and got on the bed,

“I just called Hazel, did it wake you up?”

Avery’s voice was hoarse, and she reached out to hug Elliot: “Well, I heard a sound, I thought I was dreaming. Why did you call my daughter at this time? What happened?”

“Your daughter is planning to go to a TV station for an internship during the winter vacation. Hector Joly arranged for her to host at night. The show, my daughter will have to work the night shift. It will be very hard. Of course I don’t want my daughter to be so tired, but she has already decided to go.” Elliot explained the matter to Avery.

“Oh... work the night shift! It’s very tiring.” Avery sighed slightly, “But since Hazel has made up her mind, let’s not interfere.”

“No interference. I wanted to tell Hector Joly to give her a better time, but she refused. She doesn’t want to be special.”

Avery responded: “Actually, Hector Joly has opened the back door for her by letting her go for an internship. My daughter should also know this very well, so I don’t want to trouble Hector Joly any more.”

Elliot: “It must have opened the back door! My daughter said that this kind of internship position is usually done by junior and senior students.”

Avery: “Then we returned to Aryadelle and asked Hector Joly to do it.” Let’s meet Hector Joly!”

Chapter 2798

“Are you going to thank Hector?” Elliot didn’t think it was necessary. Because he paid a lot of tuition for Hector.

Moreover, the internship that Hector arranged for Hazel was a night shift, it would be nice if Elliot didn’t blame Hector.

Avery: “It’s not what you think. Because I haven’t met him yet, I just had a meal together. Doesn’t our daughter like broadcasting and hosting? Hector is a senior in this industry. My daughter should be very happy.”

Elliot: “Okay, I’ll arrange it when I return home.”

“Well... Did you say anything else to your daughter?” Avery was a little dizzy, so she closed her eyes.

“She is shopping outside with Lilly and Maria now, and she said that she hasn’t played with them for a long time, and she is very happy today.” Elliot’s voice was very hoarse, “Midnight host...how about watching my daughter’s show? we have to watch the show in the middle of the night...”

Hazel was going to host a show, and as it was first time so Elliot would definitely watch it.

“Don’t there be replays in general programs? You can wait for the replays.”

Avery lazily said, “But it’s my daughter’s first time hosting, so I should send her to the TV station, and go directly to the TV station to watch her live broadcast.”

Elliot: “You go, then I will definitely go too. It is the first time for our daughter to go to work, so we should indeed send her there.”

.....

Aryadelle.

After shopping around the mall for a while, the three sisters sat down in a tea restaurant to eat and drink.

“Hazel, you will come to play with us often when you are free in the future, okay? If you don’t come to me, I won’t dare to come to you.” Lilly took a sip of her drink and said, “Mom and Dad said that you study very hard, and I’m afraid that looking for you to play will affect your study.”

“I will look for you when I have free time. I have been making up lessons for the past few months because my ability is too far behind my classmates. In addition, my sister had an accident a while ago, and she asked for leave to go to Bridgedale for a while. It’s been a while, so I don’t have much time to come out to play.” Hazel replied sincerely, “I am very happy to play with you.”

“Sister Hazel, we also like to play with you! When you go to work in the TV station, our family will be watching your show in front of the TV.” Maria said with a smile.

“No need! I’m hosting a show very late. Don’t watch my show.” Hazel replied,

“Besides, it’s very likely that some small accidents will happen to me when I host a show for the first time. If I let you see it, then it’s too embarrassing!”

“We won’t laugh at you. And it’s your first time hosting a show, even if you make a mistake, no one will laugh at you. I saw a video before, that is, many well-known hosts are hosting the show Sometimes, I often read wrong words!” Maria comforted her, “Anyway, no matter how well you broadcast, I adore you.”

“Haha, with your support, I am not so nervous.” Hazel said and changed the conversation, “You two are at college, are there any boys chasing you?”

Maria laughed, “My sister is so beautiful, many boys like her!”

“Don’t talk nonsense. Boys who say they like me At least 99% of the people here are because they are curious about my illness.” Lilly said calmly, “I don’t plan to fall in love, nor will I get married. From now on, I will stay at home with my parents.”

“Lilly, as long as you are happy, I will support you in whatever you do.” Hazel said, and asked Maria, “You are also very beautiful! Are there any boys chasing you?”

Maria: “Yes! But I’m not yet 18, and my parents don’t let me fall in love before the age of 18. Sister Hazel, what about you?”

Hazel: “My parents didn’t say that. Probably because I said that studying is the most important thing when you’re studying! “ “Then do you have a boy you like at University?” Maria looked at Hazel with a gossipy face.

Hazel shook her head: “I’m not very familiar with the male students in our class.”

“Why? They don’t want to play with you?” Maria asked.

Lilly saw through everything: "It's clear that Hazel doesn't play with them. Hazel doesn't have time to play with us, so how can she have time to play with others!"

Hazel: "Lilly, you really understand me."

Chapter 2799

Ten days later.

After Eric was discharged from the hospital, he boarded the Foster family's private jet and flew back to Aryadelle.

After the plane stopped at the airport, Elliot sent someone to send Eric and his parents away.

After watching the car go away, Elliot patted Layla on the shoulder.

"Get in the car! We're going home too. Your younger siblings miss you very much." Layla came back to her senses, and said disappointedly: "Dad, he still hasn't promised me."

Elliot: "You didn't force him now. Let's talk about it when he's in better health!"

Layla frowned, and muttered, "He's really a deadhead. He's dead."

Elliot: "If he wasn't like that, I'm afraid you wouldn't like him so much."

Elliot's words were to the point.

Layla likes Eric, not only because of Eric's own strength, but also because of his character.

Whether two people could last long and whether their personalities fit were very important factors.

After the father and daughter got into the car, the driver drove the car to Hazel's University.

They had to go to Hazel's University to pick up Hazel first, and then go home together.

An hour later, they picked up Hazel at Nantah University.

Hazel was very excited when she saw her parents and sister.

Hazel: "Mom, dad, sister, are you okay?! I miss you so much!"

Layla: "We're doing well! Maybe we've gained weight."

Hazel stared at her sister's face: "No! Sister, you are still so skinny."

"Don't comfort me. Mom asked the nanny to make me some soup every day.

The pants I bought last year are a little tight this year." Layla couldn't help laughing, "Little sister, how about you? How are you studying recently? With your classmates, do you get along well?"

"Everything is fine." Of course, Hazel would not let her family worry about her,

"I started to do an internship at a TV station during the winter vacation.

Teacher Joly said that if I perform well during the winter vacation, I can continue to do an internship at the TV station until graduation."

"I heard it's a night shift?" Layla looked distressed.

"It's the night shift first. If I perform well, I'll adjust my time slowly." Hazel was full of motivation, "You don't have to worry about me. I'm really looking forward to this internship."

"Just as long as you like it." Layla touched Hazel's head, "If you love it, you won't feel tired."

Hazel: "Sister, you are so right."

"Hahaha! Because I have a deep understanding!" Layla felt that the relationship between herself and Eric was like this, and her relatives were not optimistic about it, but she still decided to take a gamble, "When I get married, you will be my bridesmaid!"

Hazel's face became hot: "Sister, when will you get married?"

"Within a year." Layla had already made plans.

Hazel: "Oh, good. I want to visit brother-in-law...Eric during my break. Sister, you can go with me when the time comes!"

"Yeah." After a pause, Layla explained, "Eric hasn't agreed to be your brother-in-law yet. Don't shout that in front of him."

Chapter 2800

Hazel was very surprised: "Why didn't he agree? Dad and mother... didn't they all agree?"

Hazel thought that her parents and brothers agreed, and this matter would be fine.

"He thinks he won't live long, and he doesn't want to hurt me." Layla replied.

"Oh...that's it! Wasn't the operation a success?" Hazel was puzzled, "Since it was successful, he should be able to live for a long time, right?"

Avery answered the question from her youngest daughter: "The heart transplant operation was successful, but there will be rejection after the operation. After all, it is someone else's heart. The body's rejection will always be there. It needs to be maintained by drugs. So no one can say how long he will live. It may live for a long time, may not live for a long time."

Hazel understood.

This matter was really difficult.

Hazel undoubtedly desired for Layla to be with the person she liked. But Eric's physical condition was like this.

"Sister, do you know this and still decide to be with him?" Hazel asked.

Layla nodded: "It's like you know that the night shift is very hard, but you are still very happy to decide to do it."

Hazel understood her sister's mood.

She decided to do her best to help her sister.

When they got home, the car stopped in the yard.

Robert immediately came out to greet them and helped them carry their luggage.

“Robert, why didn’t you pick us up at the airport?” Layla got out of the car and asked Robert.

Robert scratched his head: “When you arrived at the airport, I was still in class!”

“Why didn’t you ask for leave? Don’t you like to ask for leave?” Of course Layla knew why Robert didn’t ask for leave to pick up the airport.

Because of the oolong incident last time, Robert had not been able to raise his head until now.

“The final exam is coming soon, so it’s not easy to ask for leave.” Robert entered the room with the luggage.

Avery glanced at Layla, and said in a low voice: “Robert already knows he was wrong, so don’t blame him for that.”

Layla knew that Robert was very honest recently, and she also knew that his brother did something like that last time. Oolong is just an accident.

“Mom, I can’t help it!” After finishing speaking, Layla followed Robert into the room with big strides.

Elliot took Avery’s hand and signaled with his eyes that she didn’t have to worry, and didn’t worry about the bickering between the siblings.

Layla and Robert had been fighting since childhood.

Even if Layla teased and ridiculed Robert, he would not feel any psychological shadow.

“Robert, what does that girl you looked for last time look like? Show me.”

Layla reached out to Robert.

Robert knew that he couldn’t escape, so he was already mentally prepared.

Robert took out his mobile phone, clicked on the big sweet potato, found the woman's account, and handed the mobile phone to Layla.

"Heh, do you like this type of girl?" Layla saw the girl's profile picture.

The woman in the photo looked quite harmless to human beings and animals, and had a relatively recognizable appearance. She could be regarded as a unique beauty.

Layla mainly depended on Robert's preferences.

Robert waved his hands again and again: "No. I just look at her face and think she should be a good person..."

Layla: "Oh, when will you know the face?"

"It's the feeling she gave me." Of course Robert would not look at the face.

"Then why did you make a fuss when you saw her in person?" Layla asked deliberately.

Being a girl herself, Layla was aware that the majority of the attractive images on the Internet had been beautified.

"She looks quite different from the photos in person, and her dress is also different. It scares me." Robert feels flustered now thinking about it, "Sister, I will never dare to make random appointments online again."

Chapter 2801

Layla returned Robert's cell phone to him: "I believe you have been cheated. If you really wanted to mess around, you wouldn't invite someone to your house."

Robert nodded sharply.

Layla sighed, "But it's good to have you in our family. If everyone is too smart, it would be too boring."

Robert: "Sister, I feel that you are scolding me."

“Yes, you heard it.” Layla smiled and put a vegetable in her mouth, “But you don’t have to keep remembering this.”

Robert’s eyes lit up immediately.

Layla added, “Because I will help you remember it for a lifetime hahaha!”

“Sister, it’s worth it for me to make you so happy.” Robert also laughed, “You eat more meat.”

Layla: “I’m already gaining weight, and you still let me eat more meat.”

Robert: “How can you be fat? The doctor said that eating more meat and supplementing nutrition is good for your health.”

At this point, Robert thought of Eric, “Should I call Eric my brother-in-law in the future?”

Layla: “Eric didn’t agree it!”

Robert’s reaction was the same as Hazel’s before, very surprised.

“Brother, let’s go see him together this weekend!” Hazel said.

“Okay!” Robert originally wanted to visit Eric.

Eric saved his sister’s life, and Robert especially thanked him.

After dinner, Hazel quietly came to Robert’s room.

Hazel: “Brother, I want to discuss something with you.”

Robert had just finished taking a shower and was wiping his hair with a towel:

“What’s the matter? It’s so mysterious.”

“My sister wants to marry Eric, but Eric doesn’t agree now. I want to help my sister.” Hazel said in her heart, “Eric’s body has not fully recovered yet, and his mind must be relatively sensitive and fragile, so we have no way to persuade him, we can only think of other ways.”

“Then what can we do to make him change his mind?” Robert sat down by the bed and began to think of a way, “If it doesn’t make sense, there seems to be no way. Let’s do it!”

“We can be more tactful.” Hazel put forward her own idea, “We can give him books.”

Robert: “What books?”

Hazel: “It’s similar to the kind of people who still work hard to live and pursue true love after being seriously injured.”

“Oh, there seem to be a lot of books of this type. No...it’s a lot of movies of this type.” Robert remembered that he seemed to have seen this type of movie, “But I can’t remember the name for a while. “

Hazel: “Brother, I’ll look for books on this topic, and you can look for movies on this topic.”

“Okay. Your method is not bad. We don’t know, but Eric must have seen the gift.” Robert was full of praise to his younger sister, “You are so smart.”

“I don’t want to see my sister sad. My sister asked me to be her bridesmaid in the future, and she wants to get married within a year.” Hazel said, “The kind of begging is an uncomfortable feeling.”

“But our method may not be effective.” Robert reminded.

“Let’s try it first! I can’t think of a better way now.” Hazel said ideally, “Maybe Eric will be able to figure it out when he gets better after a while.”

Robert: “I hope!”

...

weekends.

Layla took her younger siblings to Eric’s house to visit Eric.

The two elders of the Santos family knew in advance that they would come today, so they prepared sumptuous snacks and snacks, and bought vegetables in advance, planning to keep them for lunch at noon.

“Uncle Eric, thank you for saving my sister. My sister and I are very grateful to you. So I prepared some gifts for you.” Robert handed the gifts brought by himself and his sister to Eric.

Both of their gifts were wrapped in wrapping paper.

Layla had no idea that the two of them had brought gifts.

“What did you two give? It’s so beautifully wrapped in wrapping paper.” Layla asked curiously.

Chapter 2802

“Hey, don’t take it apart yet.” Robert felt a little ashamed to take it apart in public, so he said to Eric, “We’ll see when you go back to your room.”

Eric immediately understood that this gift might be unusual.

He immediately took the gift and went back to the room.

Layla immediately looked at Robert with vicious eyes: “What did you give him? You didn’t tell me you wanted to give him a gift before you came here.”

Robert cleared his throat and quickly explained: “I gave him a disc. It’s just an ordinary disc. Isn’t he going to recuperate at home now? I’m afraid he’ll be bored.”

“Discs? His family doesn’t necessarily have a machine to put discs in.” Layla always felt that the discs Robert gave Eric must not be innocent.

At this time, Hazel said: “Sister, I gave him a book. It is the kind of book with more positive energy.”

Layla completely believed in Hazel, so she nodded: “Very good, He enjoys reading books a lot after leaving the circle. It’s better as a gift from you.”

Hazel was praised, and a blush appeared on her cheeks.

“Little sister is really good. She bought the wrapping paper at the stationery store, and then wrapped it herself.” Robert also praised.

Layla: “Are you really that skilled at gift-wrapping, little sister?”

Hazel blushed even more, “This is very simple. Sister, if you need to wrap a gift in the future, I can wrap it for you.”

Layla nodded: “Okay!”

After a while, Eric put the gift inside and came out.

Hazel secretly took a deep breath, and after Eric came over, she asked:

“Uncle Eric, I want to discuss something with you.”

Eric said kindly: “What’s the matter, tell me!”

“It’s just... I don’t want to call you Uncle Eric in the future. Because you are not so much older than my sister, I want to call you brother.” Hazel said the request.

After hearing Hazel’s words, Eric immediately glanced at Layla.

Layla didn’t meet his gaze, but replied to Hazel: “You can call him brother if you want, he won’t care about such trivial things.”

“Oh...” Hazel responded obediently, and then helped Eric to sit down on the sofa, “Brother Eric, I heard from my mother that you can’t work now and you have to recuperate at home. It seems to be recuperating for half a year, isn’t it?”

Eric was indeed unable to work now. He only took a few steps in the house, and his mother was worried.

Just now when he took the gift to the room, his mother stood not far away and stared at him, for fear that something might happen to him.

In fact, he was now in much better health than he was in the hospital before, and it’s okay to get out of bed and walk occasionally.

“Yeah.” Eric replied, “How are you doing at University?”

“I’m fine at University. Brother Eric, do you have to take medicine every day?”

Hazel continued to ask.

“Well. Because there will be rejection. So I need to take anti-rejection medicine.” Eric looked at Robert again, “Robert, how are you?”

“Brother Eric, I’m fine. Our whole family is fine, and I hope you are fine now, and nothing will happen to you.” Robert followed Hazel and changed his name to Brother Eric.

“I’m fine now. I take my medicine on time every day.” Eric smiled, “You don’t have to worry about me.”

“Brother Eric, do you live here in the old house during your recuperation?”

Robert asked, “If you will stay here for the rest of the day, then my little sister and I will come to see you often when we are on vacation.”

Eric was about to answer when Layla said, “He’s only live here temporarily.”

Hearing this, Eric looked at Layla with some puzzled eyes.

Eric had promised his parents that he would live here from now on.

Chapter 2803

Eric’s parents had retired, so he could take care of them with peace of mind. In his current situation, if he insisted on going out to live, it would only worry his parents.

“I’m contacting a nurse. When I find a suitable nurse, you can move in with me.” Layla explained to Eric, “I came here today to discuss this matter with your parents.”

The expression on Eric’s face was a little cold.

Layla was talking about consulting Eric’s parents, not Eric.

The reason Layla said that was because she knew that Eric would not agree.

Since Eric refused, of course Layla could only discuss it with his parents.

Seeing that Eric was unhappy, Hazel immediately pulled Eric’s mother over.

“Auntie, my sister said that she wanted to discuss with you about Brother

Eric's future life." Hazel said.

Mrs. Santos nodded, then walked to Layla, sat on the sofa with Layla, and chatted: "Where are you going to take Eric?"

"I bought a house near the company before. At that time, I will bring a nanny from my parents' house and recruit a nurse to take care of Eric." Layla said her plan, "Auntie, you and uncle are getting old, I don't want to make you too tired. If you want to see Eric, you can go to see him at any time."

Mrs. Santos hesitated.

Layla said before that when Eric woke up, she would marry Eric.

If Mrs. Santos stopped Layla from taking Eric away, it would be bad for their relationship.

After much hesitation, Mrs. Santos nodded, "Okay, just make an agreement with Eric. You can do whatever you want."

"Okay, I'll bring it here for you to see when I find a nurse." Layla said.

Mrs. Santos nodded and looked at Eric at the same time. Judging by Eric's appearance, she noticed that Eric seemed unwilling.

"Auntie, you have a really nice personality." Hazel was afraid that Eric would refuse, so she immediately changed the topic.

"Haha, your uncle has a better personality. After our family counts, Eric is a bit more stubborn." Mrs. Santos said with a chuckle, "But Eric is better than us. He has goals since he was a child and knows his own what is he going to do."

"I'm a fan of Brother Eric. Brother Eric is really good." Hazel worshiped and said, "Auntie, can you tell us something about Brother Eric when he was a child?"

"Haha! I-I told your sister, and your sister knows." Mrs. Santos said, got up and went to the room, took out a thick photo album, "This is Eric's photo album when he was young, he was very handsome and very attractive. People liked him very much."

Hazel took the photo album and flipped through it carefully.

Robert also came over and watched together.

"Look, I'm going to the kitchen to check on the soup." After Mrs. Santos finished speaking, she walked towards the kitchen.

Eric gave Layla a look.

"Whatever you want to say, just say it here. Aren't you tired of walking around?" Layla said directly, "My brother and sister are not outsiders."

Eric blushed when he heard Layla say that.

He didn't directly reject Layla's plan just now, just to save Layla's face.

"Let's talk in the room." Eric stood up from the sofa.

Layla wanted to put him on the sofa so he wouldn't be walking around all the time.

But thinking about the topic they were going to talk about next, there might be a dispute, it was better to go to the room to talk.

Layla was not out of her own face, but because she was afraid that his parents would hear badly

Chapter 2804

Layla helped Eric into the room and closed the door.

The moment she closed the door, Robert and Hazel's eyes immediately shifted from the photo album to the door.

"Brother, do you think the two of them will quarrel?" Hazel knew that Eric didn't want to move in with her sister.

Although Eric didn't directly refuse just now, his expression and eyes were already obvious.

Without hesitation, Robert shook his head: "Even if they argue, they won't yell or make a scene. Both the elders and we are present. They'll pay attention for sure."

"Oh, yes. However, I believe Brother Eric will avoid talking to Sister because of living together. Brother Eric had a bad expression just now..." Hazel said in a low voice.

Robert shrugged: "The two of them have to discuss their own affairs. Even if we want to help, we can't solve the real problem."

"Yes. Brother Eric was so cute when he was young! Like a porcelain doll."

Hazel said while looking down at the photo album.

"It's really good-looking. Many people on the Internet said that he had plastic surgery before. If you look at his childhood photos, you will know that he didn't have plastic surgery at all."

"Is there anyone else who says that about Brother Eric? Why are these people like this!" Hazel dissatisfiedly said, "Even if Brother Eric's plastic surgery has nothing to do with them."

"Look at your little angry face, funny! Since Brother Eric is well-known, others will talk about him! He can only become well-liked when it is talked about by others. Many famous people aren't all that well-liked, and they can't wait for people to talk about it! Black and red are also red whether it is true or false, positive or negative!" Robert patted his sister's head and explained with a smile.

"Okay! I don't understand these things." Hazel calmed down.

"A person who can get ahead in the entertainment industry, the psychological endurance is definitely beyond what we can imagine." Robert analyzed, “Didn’t Auntie just say that Brother Eric has clear goals since he was a child? He is really good. Some good-looking people, in my opinion, prefer to be brainless.”

Hazel couldn’t help laughing: “Second brother, you are also very goodlooking!”

Robert coughed lightly: “I said a lot, not all.” After a pause he added, “But Brother Eric is amazing.”

in the room.

Eric refused to move to the house in Layla.

Layla was not surprised.

Before coming here, Layla had already made psychological preparations and coping plans.

“You let your parents take care of you, don’t you really think it’s wrong?” Layla asked Eric, “The two of them are old, wouldn’t you let them enjoy their old age?”

Eric listened to her words and was speechless. He didn’t feel that his parents were too old to move. And his mother seemed to be very happy to take care of him every day. But Layla was right.

Eric also wanted to make his parents more relaxed, have more time and space for themselves, and go out more to have a look and have fun.

“I asked you to live with me, and I didn’t want to do anything to you. Don’t think too much.” Layla saw that he had listened to what she said, so she continued, “You live with me, nanny and the nurse to take care of you. My house has three rooms, one for you, one for me, and one for the nurse. The nanny doesn’t live at home.”

Eric: “It’s not necessary. I can go back to my own house. You can also hire nurses and babysitters yourself.”

“Do you think your parents will let you live by yourself?” Layla asked back,

“Since you don’t want to bother me so much, why didn’t you save me? You saved me, but did you want me to keep my distance from you, taking it for granted? You have your own thoughts, but please consider my feelings too.”

Her voice increased a little.

Eric blushed because of her training.

They both knew what the problem was.

Each of them was aware of the other’s thoughts. The current argument was started simply to see who would compromise first.

Chapter 2805

“Layla, you don’t know my current situation.” It’s not that Eric didn’t understand Layla’s feelings, it’s just that he was powerless now, “I may die at any time...”

“Forcing you to marry me.” Layla spoke very fast, “You should rest for half a year, if there is no accident in this half year, your health will be much better. If you are fine by then, I will ask my parents to help us prepare for the wedding. I don’t care when you die, as long as you don’t die before the wedding, then I will marry you.”

Eric lowered his head slightly, neither answering the question nor expressing any objection.

He couldn’t solve this problem at all.

He couldn’t change Layla’s mind.

Unless he died immediately, it couldn’t be changed.

“Is that why you don’t want to be with me?” Layla sat down by the bed and looked at Eric who was sitting on the small sofa, “If your life starts counting down, why don’t you make yourself happy? Why don’t you make me happy? Is it your intention to see me sad?”

Eric raised his head. Of course he didn't want to make her unhappy.

"Since you don't think that way, why don't you listen to me? You are with me, no matter how many days you have, I want to spend with you." Layla said and did not want to continue this topic, "Where is the gift from my brother and sister? Show me."

"They probably don't want you to see it." Eric put the gift in the cabinet.

Layla ignored his words.

She had been to his room before, and the display cabinet took up a lot of space, and the place where things could be placed was mainly the desk next to it.

She walked to the desk and opened the cabinet.

The gift Robert and Hazel gave Eric suddenly appeared in front of him.

Eric was afraid that the gift the two of them gave him would not be suitable for Layla to see, so he immediately got up from the sofa and walked towards Layla.

"I'll take it apart." Eric knew that Layla had to see it, so he proposed to take it apart by himself.

"My sister gave you a book, you open it yourself. I mainly want to see what kind of disc Robert gave you." Layla was more at ease with HAZel, so she handed the gift from Hazel to Eric.

Layla picked up the gift from Robert and tore off the wrapping paper with her hands.

The disc suddenly appeared in front of her.

Layla breathed a sigh of relief, and handed the disc to Eric.

"It's okay."

Eric took the disc, glanced at it, and asked, "You think Robert would send me messy things?"

Layla: "I didn't think so before, but last time he was at home and ordered a door-to-door service... yes, it is the kind of door-to-door service you want."

Eric: "..."

"Would you like to lie on the bed and rest for a while?" Layla asked, " You need to stay in bed more now. You should lie down! If you feel bored, I can accompany you."

Eric put the gift on the desk, and wanted to have a good talk with Layla about what happened just now.

"I've been to your house before." Layla pointed to the ipad on the table, "I turned on your ipad."

Eric glanced at the ipad on the table, and then blushed uncontrollably.

"Eric, you obviously like me, why don't you dare admit it? No one can stop us from being together now, and death can't stop us." Layla took a deep breath, "Your parents are also on my side."

Chapter 2806

"Layla, I feel tired when you force me like this." Eric confessed to her, "I didn't save you because of you. If it was Hazel, Robert or Hayden, I would be the same..."

"I know. You are going to say that because my mother saved you, you saved us to repay my mother's life-saving grace." Layla blocked the rest of his words, "I don't want to marry you just because you saved me. Before you saved me, I wanted to marry you. Don't think that I did it purely because of guilt. I'm not a fool. If I don't like you, even if you save me ten times, I won't marry you!"

Eric looked at Layla's firm eyes, and as Layla's words echoed in his ears, he lowered his head in shame.

“Anyway, you think you won’t live long, so you can accompany me during the last period of your life!” Layla said, “Just treat me as the last time you pet me.”

In the living room.

Hazel and Robert read the album, and then returned the album to Eric’s father.

“Are you still looking at it? There are other albums of his at home.” Mr. Santos asked enthusiastically.

Mrs. Santos was busy in the kitchen, and Mr. Santos stayed here to take care of the two children.

They were both sweet and sensible, like Layla.

“Okay!” Hazel responded in one gulp.

Mr. Santos immediately brought a few more photo albums.

They were all Eric’s photo albums.

Because Eric was good-looking, he took many photos of him since he was a child.

“Uncle, your family was in good condition before?” Hazel asked.

“It’s not particularly good. Our family’s conditions improved after Eric entered the entertainment industry. As soon as he entered the industry, he became popular.” Mr. Santos couldn’t hide his pride when he talked about this. “At that time, his monthly income was equivalent to our annual income. So my mother and I lost our jobs a long time ago.”

Hazel nodded: “Brother Eric became popular before graduating from university, right?”

“Was it a scout? I don’t seem to have heard much about it now. It’s all about drafts or something... We, Eric, were discovered by a scout while we were shopping. Back then we thought that scout was a liar!" As Mr. Santos said, he laughed, "Because Eric likes to perform and wants to be a star, so I let him try it. I didn't expect it to happen."

Hazel and Robert listened with gusto.

Mr. Santos: "Eric gave us all the first money he earned. Because he was not very old at that time, he listened to us more..."

"Is he not listening now?" Hazel asked casually.

"Haha, he's listening now too. To have such an excellent son, my whole life is worth it." Mr. Santos said, and out of the corner of his eye, he saw the door of Eric's room open, so he didn't continue.

Layla came out alone.

Mr. Santos saw Layla coming out alone, and immediately asked, "Has Eric rested?"

"Well, I'll let him lie down and rest." Layla replied.

"It's good. His mother gets nervous when she sees him getting out of bed.

Haha!" Mr. Santos said with a smile, and walked towards the kitchen, "I'll go to the kitchen to help your auntie. Layla, you play with your younger siblings."

"Okay." Layla went to sit next to her younger siblings.

After Mr. Santos entered the kitchen, Robert looked at Layla and teased:

"Sister, you look like the mistress of this family."

"I am not the mistress of this family. This is his parents' home." Layla picked up the kettle on the table and poured herself a glass of water, "I saw the gift you gave him. Why didn't you tell me in advance? It was so mysterious, I thought you were trying to play a prank!"

Chapter 2807

Robert and Hazel shook their heads immediately.

"Especially you, Robert. I opened the gift you gave him as soon as I went in just now. Fortunately, it wasn't some dishonest disc, otherwise I would have to cut you." Layla took a sip of water in a leisurely manner.

"Sister, is my image in your heart not clear? Brother Eric is like that, can I give him a dishonest disc?" Robert asked aggrievedly, "How did you two talk in the room just now? Is he unwilling to move to your new house?"

Layla said calmly, "It's true that he didn't agree, but he didn't refuse. He asked me to give him some more time to think about it."

"Sister, you're still amazing! He said to think about it, which means he is moved." Robert felt that Layla had basically taken the lead.

"If I'm really good, I wouldn't be able to talk to him after so long." Layla used to be a bit impatient, but now Eric had cured her, "Thank you too. I saw your gifts, I know you two want to help me."

"It's all my sister's idea." Robert confessed, "My little sister is really a caring little padded jacket. She saw that you chased Brother Eric too hard, so she racked her brains to help you... ..If my relationship is not so smooth in the future, I will also ask my younger sister for help."

Hazel blushed at Robert's compliment: "Brother, if your relationship is not smooth in the future, I will definitely help you. But it doesn't matter whether it will be useful or not. And I think you are so handsome, you will definitely have no problem falling in love."

Robert was praised by Hazel, and he swelled up a little: "I will help you find a boyfriend in the future."

"I'm still early!" Hazel lowered her head and flipped through the photo album.

"What are your plans for the afternoon? If there is no arrangement, then you can go shopping with me!" Layla said, "I want to rearrange my house. Or buy a bigger house."

“Sister, your house is too small. Besides, you are in a hurry to buy a house now, and I’m afraid it will be difficult to buy one you really like.” Robert came up with an idea, “Brother Eric’s house is very good! You two can live here Brother Eric’s house.”

Hazel: “But my sister’s house is close to my sister’s company.”

“Brother Eric’s house is also in a good location! It’s not too far from my sister’s company.” Robert continued, “Of course, It still depends on what my sister thinks. If you have to buy another set, you can do it.”

Layla was silent for a few seconds, then stood up, and strode towards Eric’s room.

If she wanted to live in Eric’s house, she had to seek Eric’s consent.

After Layla entered Eric’s room, Mr. Santos came out from the kitchen.

“Robert, what did your sister just tell you?” Mr. Santos asked.

“Doesn’t my sister want to live with Brother Eric? But my sister’s house is a bit small, so I said she can live in Brother Eric’s house. She went to tell Brother Eric.” Robert replied.

Mr. Santos nodded: “Yes! Eric’s place is indeed more spacious, and it’s convenient for us to go there.”

“I’m afraid Brother Eric will disagree.” Hazel interjected.

“Haha, your sister should be able to handle Eric.” Mr. Santos was not very worried about this problem, “Eric doesn’t want your sister to be sad.”

After a while, Layla came out of Eric’s room. As soon as Layla came out, she saw her younger siblings looking at her. So she gestured to them OK.

Layla had asked Eric to get the key to his house.

In the afternoon she went to move her luggage there and after the nurse was found, Eric would be picked up from Santos house.

Chapter 2808

–In the afternoon, Elliot and Avery also came over.

Because Layla told them that she would move to Eric's house.

This information showed that Eric agreed to be with Layla.

That being the case, they must meet and talk again.

In fact, Avery had nothing to discuss with Eric.

With Eric's current physical condition, he was struggling to take care of himself, so he definitely didn't have any ideas.

The matter between the two of them must be led by Layla.

Eric had always doted on Layla, and he didn't have to wait for Layla to cry, make trouble, and hang himself, before he raised his hand and surrendered.

After the two came over, Mrs. Santos quickly asked them if they had eaten.

"We've finished eating, you don't need to be busy, sit down and rest!" Avery pulled Mrs. Santos to sit beside her, "Elliot and I came here because Layla said that she would move to Eric's house. It's good that the two of them decided to be together. After all, we know each other well, so we don't have to worry about not being able to get along."

The smile on Mrs. Santos's face, a little haggard.

"It's his honor for us Eric to be liked by Layla. Who doesn't like such a beautiful and excellent girl as Layla! It's just that we are not lucky in Eric!"

Mrs. Santos sighed, "I don't know how long will he stay with Layla?"

Avery understood Mrs. Santos's worry: "Don't think so much. They can be together as long as they can."

"Yes." Mrs. Santos said enthusiastically, "You guys stay for dinner tonight! It's inconvenient for Eric to go out now, so it's more convenient to eat at home."

Avery nodded: "Will it be too much trouble for you?"

“Why? I bought a lot of vegetables today, and I have a nanny to help, so it’s not troublesome. “Mrs. Santos smiled.

“That’s good. Regarding the future life of Layla and Eric, Elliot and I have the same attitude. We will not interfere with their lives. But if they need help, we will definitely do our best to help.” Avery expressed her attitude.

Mrs. Santos nodded in satisfaction: “I think the same as you and we will not interfere. It is Eric’s physical condition, and Layla will have to work hard to take care of him in the future.”

Layla didn’t intend to intervene, but after Mrs. Santos said so, Layla immediately said: “It’s not hard. Even if it’s hard, I’m not afraid of hard work.”

“Is Eric resting?” Avery glanced at Layla and asked.

Layla: “Well. I went to see him just now, and he fell asleep.”

“Before this happened, he didn’t sleep very much. This time he came back from the hospital, he slept more.” Mrs. Santos explained.

“His physical function has not fully returned to normal now, more rest will help him recover.” Avery asked, “How is his diet recently?”

“It’s pretty normal. He doesn’t eat much, but he can finish a bowl of rice every meal. He also drank the soup that was stewed for him every day.” Mrs.

Santos thought about it for a while, and smiled, “After returning to Aryadelle, I feel that his complexion is a little better.”

Avery: “That’s good. As long as there is no serious rejection later, his body will return to normal.”

“Is there no other way to control this rejection except taking medicine?” Mrs. Santos hoped so much that Eric could live in health like ordinary people until he grew old.

“It can only be controlled by taking medicine for the time being. Remember not to stop the medicine casually. You must go to the hospital for reexamination on time. If all the indicators are normal later, the doctor will appropriately reduce the dosage of the medicine.” Avery consulted domestic doctors after returning to Aryadelle, “The situation I’m talking about is the best. Because after the drug is reduced, he can live like a normal person and have his own children.”

Mrs. Santos and Layla’s eyes lit up at Avery’s words.

Avery: “I’m talking about the best situation. It’s still too early for the best situation I said. But don’t worry, as long as you take good care of him, I believe he can do it.”

After chatting for a while, Layla brought her father and Mr. Santos pulled to the poker table.

It’s still early for dinner, and the content of the chat was basically settled, so they played cards to pass the time.

“Little sister, do you want to come and play?” Layla asked.

Chapter 2809

–Hazel shook her head without even thinking about it: “Sister, I don’t know how to play cards.”

After Hazel came on, Layla also sat down.

After playing for a while, Hazel basically learned it, so Elliot gave up the position to Robert.

“I’ll go and see what your mother is doing.” Elliot was afraid that Avery would be bored by herself, so he wanted to see what she was doing.”

Robert joked, “Dad, you don’t think it’s fun to play cards with us! Why don’t you call mom over to play.”

Elliot: “I’ll ask.”

After Elliot walked away, he didn't come back. He took Avery out for a walk.

The house where the two elders of the Santos family live was an old villa area, and the environment in the community was quite good.

"Honey, are you a little sad?" Avery glanced at him with a smile, "I guessed that Layla could convince Eric."

"It's okay." Elliot looked into the distance and spoke calmly, "Layla yearns for marriage. Even if there is no Eric, she will marry another man. Although I have a prejudice against Eric, it is undeniable that he is excellent in his field."

"This matter has come to an end now. From now on, we and Eric will be a family."

Elliot didn't answer, but he didn't raise any objections.

"Do you still remember that when Layla was 15 years old, she drew a picture?" Avery suddenly remembered the picture her daughter had drawn. Layla had painted many paintings, and Elliot had seen almost all of them, so he didn't remember which one Avery was talking about.

"She once painted a picture of a girl wearing a wedding dress in a church."

The reason why Avery remembered it was probably because Layla had fantasized about dreamy weddings.

Elliot had a little impression, "You asked your daughter who the girl in the painting was, and she said it was herself."

"Yes. You still remember!" Avery laughed, "Layla wanted a grand wedding. So let's help her prepare!"

Elliot: "Shouldn't you ask Layla first? What style does she want, and when will the wedding be? You have to decide first?"

Avery: "Then I'll discuss to her privately later. Let's see when she moves to Eric's house."

Elliot: "Yeah."

...

Nantah University.

After the list of intern hosts came out, the entire broadcasting and hosting department exploded.

A total of 18 people were selected, including four seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, and one freshman.

"Why are there freshmen and sophomores selected this year? I think in previous years, they were basically selected from the juniors, juniors and seniors!"

"Maybe they are better!" Someone mocked sourly, "The sophomore is also considered. We are a famous person in our department. She is indeed outstanding and beautiful. But the freshman... I remember that she has no strength at all besides being good-looking, right?"

"Hazel is really not good. I heard her talk. She has an accent."

"No wonder she doesn't like to talk! So it's because of her accent!"

"My God! She has an accent and can still get an internship in a TV station? Is the TV station run by her father?"

Chapter 2810

Chapter 2810—"If her father is so good, then what is she going to study! The TV station belongs to the country! It's not personal!" Someone mocked, "Besides, if the daughter of the TV station comes to our school, can we not know? "

"I'll look up the surname of the director of the TV station..." Another classmate was more serious and checked with his mobile phone, "The director's surname is not Foster hahaha! So she should have nothing to do with the director.”

Then how did she get in? It's a beautiful vase with an accent, can it be broadcast after entering? Could it be that the TV station opened a dialect column? Haha!”

“Okay, please keep your voice down... She must have some tricks to get into the TV station for an internship, if you talk about her like this, if she hears it, be careful that you won't get into the TV station in the future!” Someone kindly advised.

“It's funny, there is more than one TV station in Avonsville! Besides the provincial TV station, the city TV station, and the county TV station below! Can Hazel's relationship cover the sky with just one hand? Even if her backstage relationship is truly that good, I'll be able to leave Avonsville!”

...

Xiomara listened to everyone's discussion, feeling mixed feelings in her heart.

At the beginning, Hazel didn't know about the internship at the TV station, so she told her herself. And the registration form was sent to her by himself.

At that time, Hazel's reaction was obviously very sincere, and she felt that she couldn't make it through.

Although Xiomara would not speak ill of Hazel behind her back, like other students, she felt that Hazel was not capable enough to be an intern anchor.

Xiomara took out her mobile phone and sent a message to Hazel, telling her about her selection as an intern anchor.

Xiomara didn't directly ask how she was selected, after all, it seemed a little bad to ask directly.

Hazel was a girl with a strong sense of boundaries. If Xiomara asked directly, Hazel might not reply.

After Xiomara sent the message, after a while, Hazel replied: [I see, thank you.]

Xiomara looked at her reply and was a little confused.

Hazel didn't say how she was selected, if Xiomara asked about it, she didn't know if she would tell.

Xiomara thought for a while, and asked politely: [Our classmates are talking about you, saying that you were selected because of your relationship. There are people who know that I know you and come to ask me what's going on, but I don't know how to answer.]

Xiomara edited the text and sent the message.

At this time, someone walked up to Xiomara: "Xiomara, don't you know Hazel? Do you know how she was selected?"

Xiomara shook her head: "I don't know. I have no personal contact with her."

"Oh, it seems that you two are really unfamiliar." The person who spoke lowered his voice, "I saw her get into a luxury car at the school gate a few days ago. It's a real luxury car... It seems to be a Rolls-Royce...that was the first time in my life that I saw such a luxury car at such a close distance."

"Are you sure you saw her get on a Rolls-Royce?" Xiomara was a little shocked, "Did you take a picture?"

"I didn't. But I'm sure I saw her get in that luxury car."

"Are you sure that the car you saw was a Rolls-Royce? I don't even know What is the logo of Rolls-Royce..." Xiomara didn't quite believe what her classmate said.

Hazel usually wore pretty plain clothes. Neither her school bag nor the clothes she wore had a logo from a well-known brand.

"I didn't pay attention at the time, but after I checked it on the Internet, I thought it was a Rolls-Royce..." The student was a little agitated, "It's an extended car. Even if it's not a Rolls-Royce, it's definitely not cheap."

Xiomara: "Oh, you're not sure, so don't say that. Besides, even if Hazel's family has money."

"I didn't say that Hazel's family is rich. If Hazel's family is really rich, why hide it like this? She must have found a rich man and was taken care of by others."

This inference, in Xiomara's opinion, was too arbitrary, and if it leaked, it would be disastrous for Hazel.

Xiomara: "It's better not to talk about other people's private affairs. And don't talk about things without evidence."

Chapter 2811

"There are only eight places in the whole department, and she takes one...Of course everyone is not convinced! If she has the strength, let it be, but she obviously has no strength, and she still takes up other students's places, it's really shameless!" The classmate finished, walked away angrily.

Xiomara picked up the phone and saw Hazel's latest reply: [I will work hard.] It seemed that Hazel could be selected, it was really strange.

Hazel never mentioned how she was selected, which showed that she herself had a guilty conscience.

Xiomara thought that her aunt had taught Hazel extra lessons before, and that her aunt had also worked in a TV station before, so she might know the inside story.

So Xiomara sent a message to her aunt, asking her if she knew about it.

Because this was the first time that a TV station selected a fresher for an internship.

Her aunt replied quickly: [I don't know about this yet! If you hadn't told me, I wouldn't have known she had been chosen. I asked my TV friends.]

After a while, her aunt sent another message: [I just asked my friend from the TV station, and my friend couldn't explain it clearly.]

Xiomara: [You can actually ask Hazel.]

Aunt: [She didn't tell me, so I still don't ask.]

Xiomara: [You can congratulate her! If she wants to say it, she can say it, if she doesn't want to say it, forget it. Our department is in trouble, the main reason is that you know her situation well, she has an accent, how dare she go to a TV station for an internship?]

Aunt: [She does have an accent, but it's not a serious problem. She is very willing to learn, but also very hard. And she's very smart, basically it's all right. I don't know what level she is now, but as long as she is willing to work hard, she will definitely have no problem entering a TV station in the future.]

Aunt's words made Xiomara feel less out of balance.

Also, in order to improve, Hazel could privately ask her aunt to make up lessons.

This showed that her family was either not short of money, or she was willing to invest in her own education.

Hazel didn't go to University that day.

Because the courses had been finished, there were still a few exams and the winter vacation would be held.

Today her sister was going to move to Eric's house, so Hazel asked for leave to help her sister move.

She said it was to help her sister move, but in fact it was to visit Eric's house.

She could play with her sister in the future once she knew where Eric's family lived.

Layla had a lot of luggage, so she directly called a professional moving company to move it.

After the moving company moved the luggage to the destination, it was also responsible for helping to put the luggage into categories.

Layla just stood by and made them work.

Hazel had been following her sister, watching the staff busy.

Two hours later, the house was cleaned up, and after Layla paid the staff, the staff left.

The house suddenly fell silent.

“Brother Eric’s house is so beautiful.” Hazel praised with a smile.

“Are you busy today? I see you have been looking at your phone just now.”

Layla asked.

“The list of internships was announced today, because I was the only freshman selected, so it caused a lot of discussion in the University.” Hazel thought that she could withstand this wave of pressure, but when she thought of the current treatment of her in the University Public opinion and mood were still affected.

“Don’t worry about what other people say. Isn’t the winter vacation coming soon? When you enter the TV station for an internship in the winter vacation, everyone will not say anything after seeing your performance. Your sister believes in you.” Layla persuaded.

Chapter 2812

The matter was a foregone conclusion, even if Hazel wanted to retreat, it was impossible.

Hazel nodded: “Ever since I promised Teacher Joly, I’ve thought that there will be such a situation.”

“If you are really bad, Teacher Joly will not let you go to the TV station for an internship right now. Only when others don’t understand Will gossip behind your back, even if others know you, they may gossip about you. Even if they know your identity, they will talk about you in private. You have to know, no matter what you do, no matter how well you do in the future, there will always be people who don’t like you.” Layla comforted, “The first step in learning to grow is to make yourself stronger inside.”

Hazel: “Sister, have you experienced this too?”

“Of course. I’m different from you. I grew up with many friends and most of them are ‘relationship households’. Because I am Elliot’s daughter, no matter what I do or how well I do, as long as I get the reputation I want, others will say that I rely on my father’s relationship.” Layla said this and she no longer had any feeling, “We don’t live for others, but for ourselves. Just be happy. Your classmates are just passers-by in your life. When you graduate from university, you will have no intersection with them. “

Hazel: “Well.”

“Actually, your classmates are the least important. When the time comes, you perform well in the internship and your teacher Joly recognizes you, which is the greatest affirmation of your ability.”

“Sister, you are right.” The pressure in Hazel’s heart eased a little, and she asked, “Sister, are you going to pick up Brother Eric now?”

“I’ll see when the nurse arrives.” Layla took out her phone, found the number of the nurse, and dialed, “Wait for the nurse to arrive, let’s go there together.”

Hazel nodded.

The nurse arrived shortly after Layla finished her call.

“Miss Tate, I’m sorry! My daughter sent me here. She has never been here before. The navigation guide us to another gate of the community.” The nurse said. She was a middle-aged woman in her forties.

“It’s okay, I’ll take you to meet Eric’s parents first.” Layla finished speaking to the nurse and looked at Hazel, “You just stay here. If there are no accidents, we will be back soon.”

Hazel nodded.

“If you are sleepy, go to my room and sleep for a while.” Layla said, “Or you want to take a walk in the house, it’s okay, Eric usually lives here.”

Hazel: “Yes. Sister, you go and pick up Brother Eric!”

After Layla left, Hazel chatted with the nanny who came with her.

“Brother Eric’s house is quite beautiful.”

The nanny smiled and said, “The house he lives in is definitely not bad. The income of stars is very high, especially the income of top-tier ones like him, which is higher than that of many entrepreneurs. And he has been in the entertainment industry for so many years, his wealth is probably beyond our imagination.”

Hazel was stunned when she heard that.

The nanny continued, “Of course, this is also his ability. He is handsome and strong.”

“You said why didn’t my parents come over together? I thought they would come together!” Hazel was a little puzzled.

The nanny thought for a while and tried to analyze: “Hazel, you are still young, and you may not understand the feelings of your parents. When you have children in the future, you will know that every time you send your child away, it is very difficult for the parents.”

After carefully digesting the nanny’s words, Hazel nodded: “When my sister and brother Eric get married, my parents will have to suffer again.”

“It should be better by then. Today, your sister has officially moved out of the house. She will live here if there are no accidents in the future.” The nanny smiled, and continued, “But your parents and your second brother are with you, so you don’t have to worry.”

“My second brother and I have also moved out, aren’t mom and dad particularly lonely?” Hazel murmured.

Nanny: “Sure! But they’ll be happier if you all have a good home.”

Hazel nodded and whispered, “Actually, I don’t want to leave my parents.”

“Hazel, you are right to think so. If you want to live comfortably for the rest of your life, you should stay with your parents. It’s better.” The nanny sincerely advised her, “Your parents are both rich and love you. In this world, there is no better destination than you staying with your parents.”

Chapter 2813

Hazel only responded slightly.

“Haha, maybe when you meet someone you like in the future, you will think differently. But we will talk about it later. You are about to go to a TV station for an internship, and I am really proud of you.” The nanny’s words made Hazel calm and her mood fluctuated a little more.

But she was not as nervous and depressed as before, and her sister’s enlightenment was helpful.

About two hours later, Layla came back with Eric.

Hazel assisted in the kitchen while the nanny prepared meals.

After Layla helped Eric to sit on the sofa, she called Hazel out of the kitchen.

“Little sister, do you want to go to the studio to try out what it’s like to be an anchor?” Layla asked, “Eric has someone he knows in another TV station, and when their studio is free, someone can show you to them...”

Without even thinking about it, Hazel immediately shook her head: “Teacher Joly said that he will let me familiarize myself with the working environment in advance. I don’t need to bother my brother-in-law.”

As soon as the word ‘brother-in-law’ came out, the atmosphere froze up.

Layla wanted to laugh, but held back.

Eric’s face turned red, probably because he didn’t expect Hazel to change her words immediately.

“Hazel, your sister and I...” After Eric slowed down, he wanted to explain.

“I know you and my sister won’t get married for the time being. But my sister has moved to your house. As long as you don’t have any accidents in the future, you will definitely marry my sister!” Hazel interrupted Eric and added, “It doesn’t matter if I call you brother-in-law now.”

From the moment Eric gave Layla the keys to the house, he was doomed to be passive in the future.

“You really don’t need to go to the TV station to practice in advance?” Eric changed the subject.

Hazel insisted on shaking her head: “Thank you, brother-in-law, but there is really no need. Teacher Joly said that more training is the same. I will do what other interns do. I believe I will not be much worse than them.”

Two calls of brother-in-law successfully made Eric blush hot.

“So inappropriate?” Layla teased Eric, “When Robert calls your brother-in-law together, don’t you want to find a hole to drill?”

Hazel smiled and stood up, wanting to pour a glass of water for Eric:

“Brother-in-law, which glass is yours? Let me pour you a glass of water!”

“Let me pour it for him!” Layla’s face was also slightly red.

On the way back to pick Eric, Layla took the initiative to tell him about Hazel's upcoming internship.

The reason Layla said this was to distract Eric's attention.

Unexpectedly, after hearing this, Eric wanted to help Hazel.

Although Hazel did not accept Eric's kindness, Layla felt that the familiar Eric was coming back soon.

In the evening, Robert came over to have dinner, and took Hazel home by the way.

On the way back after eating, Robert asked Hazel: "Little sister, did you find that there seems to be no barrier between our sister and Brother Eric?"

Hazel: "Then did you notice that I called Brother Eric my brother-in-law?"

Robert: "..."

Chapter 2814

Brother Eric agreed?" Robert really noticed this.

"He didn't consent, but he also didn't object. Already, my sister has moved in with him. They appear to be together to outsiders even though they don't share a room." Hazel chuckled as she said, "Brother Eric has actually always liked my sister. My sister showed me Brother Eric's iPad, which was crammed with my sister's pictures and videos."

Robert was shocked: "Brother Eric hides so deeply! I had no idea he had such feelings for my sister."

"Our sister is beautiful, talented, and smart, how normal it is for Brother Eric to like her! If I were a man, I would like her too." Hazel boasted bluntly, "I-I think my sister is much prettier than me."

"You don't have to belittle yourself just to praise your sister." Robert glanced at her, "You don't have any make-up or dress up. If you put on a little makeup and dress up, you are no worse than our sister."

Hazel: "Anyway, I think my sister is more beautiful than me."

"All right, my sister is beautiful." Robert didn't argue with Hazel, "Little sister, I'm going on vacation soon, you go to work during winter vacation, I'll pick you up!"

Hazel didn't even think about it, so she refused: "I received notice of my show at 11:00 p.m., despite Teacher Joly telling me it begins at 3:00 a.m. I don't want you to deliver me because it's too late. Just hand it off to the driver."

"At night I'm still up at 11:00 p.m.!" Robert wanted to send Hazel to work in person, "I'll take you to work and then come back. After you download the broadcast, the driver will pick you up."

"Second brother, why do you have to send me? I don't want to bother you."

Hazel asked, "Don't you want to do something on your own during the winter vacation? Didn't you say you want to work at Dad's company?"

Robert: "Even if I work, I still spend the evenings at home! Dad won't arrange important jobs for me because I'm still young. Simply send you to work, please. There isn't any cause. I just want to be polite to you because my sister is moving out and my older brother isn't here."

What Robert said made Hazel feel a little sad suddenly.

Hazel: "Brother, do you think that the two of us will move out from home in the future?"

Robert shook his head: "I think that if you find someone you like in the future, you will also marry. Then I will be alone with my parents."

Hazel couldn't help laughing after hearing what Robert said, "Brother, won't you move out after you get married?"

Robert shook his head again: "Why move out? Our house is so big, I will live at home."

Hazel: "Today, however, a lot of people get married, move out, and don't want to live with their elderly parents."

"If my future wife doesn't want to live with me in our house, then I won't get married! Little sister, don't use the old man to describe Dad Mom, they are still very young in my heart." Robert also raised the corners of his lips, "I never thought about leaving them. Even if I wanted to work with my eldest brother, I didn't plan to stay with my eldest brother for the rest of my life."

After listening to Robert's words, Hazel breathed a sigh of relief.

Hazel: "Brother, I'm just like you. I also like to stay with my parents."

"That is satisfactory. If the future husband you find is not so powerful, you are welcome to bring him to live with us. Certainly, parents will not dislike it."

Hazel casually agreed: "Okay!"

She looked out of the car window.

There was a cold wind blowing outside the window, the shadows of the trees were swaying under the street lamps, and there were no pedestrians on the road.

The whole city was lit with neon lights, but the streets were indescribably deserted.

When the siblings returned home, Avery immediately asked, "Hazel, is your sister angry?"

"Why is she angry? My sister is fine! She is very happy today." Hazel replied truthfully

Chapter 2815

Avery: "Your father is in a mood today and refuses to help your sister move. I want to watch your father at home..." Avery expressed her worries, "So I am afraid that your sister will think wildly."

Hazel: "No. Mom, sister is not such a stingy person. You can promise her to be with my brother-in-law, she is already very satisfied."

"Have you changed the name Brother to brother-in-law?" Avery said and smiled.

Hazel: "They're all living together. It will be a matter of time before I call him brother-in-law! Anyway, he didn't object."

"Hahaha, it doesn't matter. Your sister has already recognized him." Avery breathed a sigh of relief, "Your teacher Joly came here this afternoon for a while. He said he came by the way. He asked you to contact him when you are free, and he will take you to the stage to familiarize yourself with the environment."

Hazel nodded her head: "Okay, I'll get ready for the exam next. Only after the exam will I be free."

Avery: "Then you should send him a message and make it clear." Avery took Hazel and sat down on the sofa, "Teacher Joly said that among the eight interns that have been selected this time, you are the youngest. As a freshman, many people are discussing in private. He asks you to stand up to this wave of pressure and prove your ability with practical actions. After your ability improves, no one will say anything."

Hazel nodded: " Mom, I will work hard."

"I know you are working hard. Teacher Joly said that you are very hardworking. You should also pay attention to regulating your emotions and don't put too much pressure on yourself. Besides, even if this internship doesn't go well, it doesn't count. Your life has just begun, and you may not be a host for the rest of your life." Avery said in relief.

Hazel: "Mom, I know. But I want to do well."

Hazel had a high sense of worth. Everyone was now bringing up her. She believed that if she didn't perform well in this internship, she wouldn't be able to stand on her own two feet in university in the future.

Avery: "Well, it's a bit late, let's take a shower and rest!"

"Okay. Mom, I'm going to work on the first day, and my second brother will send me there. I have already agreed with him." When Hazel was about to go back to her room, she remembered this, "A sophomore in our university Senior sister has also been selected. Her show is ahead of me."

Hazel was afraid that her parents would send her there together, and everyone would recognize her parents by then.

Avery: "Okay! Then your father and I will watch your show at home."

Hazel didn't want her parents to stay up late to watch her show, but she knew she couldn't stop it.

The next day.

Hazel went back to university to take the final exam.

After the exam, a classmate wanted to talk to her, but before the classmate could speak, the professional teacher came to her first.

Her professional teacher didn't know that she signed up for an internship as an anchor, nor did she know how she was selected.

So now she came to find Hazel to find out the situation.

Hazel put her bag on her back and followed the teacher to leave.

The professional teacher: "Hazel, I'm really surprised that you can be selected as an intern anchor. Can you tell me what happened? Don't worry, I won't tell anyone else."

Hazel couldn't say it was Hector Joly who gave her a chance, so she could only avoid talking about it: "You will see my performance when the time comes! I will try not to embarrass you."

The professional teacher laughed: "Actually, I see your progress. There is a big difference between talking now and when you first entered school. You usually work hard on training!"

Hazel nodded.

"Very good. Since you have this internship opportunity, you must cherish it. Maybe you will be one of my most proud students in the future." The professional teacher patted her on the shoulder, "You have an exam this afternoon, I won't waste your time."

"Thank you teacher." After Hazel thanked her, she planned to go back to her residence to review.

Chapter 2816

Otherwise, if Hazel returned to class, she would undoubtedly find herself surrounded by classmates who would want to talk to her about the internship. When she was about to walk to the university gate, someone called her name from behind.

It's Xiomara.

Hazel stopped and waited for Xiomara to run over.

Xiomara: "Hazel, how did you do in the morning exam? We have the same exam room in the afternoon. Let's have dinner together!"

Hazel: "I'm going to order takeaway."

"Oh, are you going home?" Xiomara was stunned. After a while she said, "I thought you were planning to go out to eat, and you would be with me!"

After Xiomara said this, Hazel was a little embarrassed: "Then let's go out to eat together!"

Xiomara: "Haha, let me treat you. Don't worry, I won't ask you about the internship. Because I asked my aunt."

Xiomara's words made Hazel's face even redder.

Hazel: "What did your aunt say?"

"My aunt asked the acquaintances at the TV station, but others couldn't explain clearly. Later, someone told my aunt that the selection of interns was done according to the normal process, saying Your recording works are excellent." Xiomara let go of her doubts about Hazel, "Although others didn't show your works to my aunt, but my aunt said that she believes you are great now, and I believe you too."

Hazel: "Xiomara, thank you! Actually, I'm still a long way from being great, but I'll try my best to catch up with my predecessors."

Hazel and Xiomara came to a restaurant, and after they sat down, Hazel picked up the menu and handed it to Xiomara and said: "Let me treat you to this meal!"

Xiomara: "Haha, you can also please. After all, you are paid for your internship."

"Is the internship paid for?" Hazel didn't know that the internship was paid. She thought that the TV station could give students the opportunity to practice, and the students would benefit more, similar to hospital interns, who also had no salary.

"Is there no salary for the internship?" Xiomara was stunned, "I don't know, but I think if you go to work, if the other party doesn't pay you, it won't make sense?"

Hazel: "I haven't signed the internship contract yet, I don't know Is there any money for internships? But I read a news article before, saying that interns in hospitals have no money during their internships."

Xiomara: "Oh...hospitals are special, but TV station internships must be paid.

I heard that if you perform well during the internship, you can directly enter the TV station after graduation. Hazel, do you want to become the official host of the city station?"

Hazel thought for a while, then nodded.

At least she liked this line of work now, and wanted to be an excellent host.

Xiomara: "You want to be very big, I don't know if you can do it. My dream is also to become a host of the TV station." Xiomara looked at the menu, ordered the dish she wanted, and handed the menu to Hazel.

Hazel: "Xiomara, don't be depressed. You are so good, you must be fine. If I can stay in city station in the future, I will recommend you when they choose interns."

Most likely because Xiomara just expressed her trust in her, allowing her to drop her barriers against others. In fact, her parents didn't stop her from making friends at university.

"Then I'm going to hug your thigh well." Xiomara smiled brightly and was very happy, "Don't worry about what those people in university talk about you."

Hazel: "Hahaha!"

After the three-day exam, Hazel dared not stop, Contact Teacher Joly immediately.

"You have a good rest tonight, and you come to find me tomorrow. After the exam, relax and don't be too nervous." Hector's voice was very soft, which greatly relieved Hazel's nervousness.

Hazel: "Teacher Joly, have the other interns started working?"

Teacher Joly: "The junior and senior students have already started working. The sophomore is the same as you and finished the exam today. When the time comes, your programs will be next to each other. She is From 2:00 to 2:50, you are from 3:00 to 3:30.”

Hazel replied, “Okay.”

Chapter 2817

“Do you know why 3 o'clock was arranged for you?” Teacher Joly asked.

“The program at 3 o'clock is half an hour. I'm a newcomer, I don't have any experience, and my foundation is not as solid as that of a sophomore. Maybe a half-hour program is already difficult for me.” Hazel said her own view.

Hector didn't expect her to be so clear.

Hector: “I really think so. If you can broadcast the half-hour program well, it will be very good for you at this stage.”

Hazel: “Teacher Joly, I will work hard.”

“By the way, you'll come the TV station tomorrow. If your parents send you here, that's fine, but they shouldn't accompany you. I am aware of your low key demeanour. You should maintain a low profile while you're learning. If not, there will be many voices after your identity is revealed and things start to affect to you.”

Hazel: “You're right. I won't let my parents send me off.”

Hector: “Then we'll see you tomorrow.”

Hazel: “Okay, see you tomorrow.”

The next day, 10 o'clock in the morning.

Hazel took a taxi to city station alone.

After she went to the front desk to verify her identity, she took the elevator to the 12th floor according to the guidance of the front desk.

The 12th floor was the broadcasting hall.

Hazel came out of the elevator and shivered nervously.

She found Studio 6 according to the detailed information sent to her by Hector.

Hector was standing inside at the moment.

Seeing Hazel coming, Hector immediately waved to Hazel and let her in.

Hazel immediately went to Hector's side.

Hazel met her sophomore senior.

At this moment, the senior was sitting in the chair of the host and broadcasting.

The senior was dressed in a suit, her hair pulled back into a ponytail, and her features were uncomplicated. Her voice was relaxed, she had a dignified expression on her face, and she appeared composed and professional as she stared at the teleprompter in front of her.

After the senior finished broadcasting, Hector put forward some suggestions for her trial broadcast just now, and then asked the senior sister to sign the internship contract with the staff.

Senior sister: "Teacher Joly, can I come and watch the trial broadcast of my university girl later?"

"Yes!" Hector nodded.

Senior sister looked at Hazel, smiled and said, "Hello, Hazel! I am your senior, you can call me Sloane or Ms. Sloane."

"Hello, Miss Sloane, you just played really well I was fascinated by it." Hazel boasted.

"Hahaha! You are so sweet. Teacher Joly pointed out a lot of problems to me just now. I still have to work hard. I will come and watch your pilot after I sign the contract!" After Sloane finished speaking, she followed the staff out up.

After they went out, Hazel looked at Hector: "Teacher Joly, I think Miss Sloane's broadcasting is really good."

"Her broadcasting was indeed good. But you are not bad." Hector boasted,

"Come here and read the script first! I'll give you half an hour, is that enough?”

Hazel followed Hector to the studio and picked up the script on the table.

It's exactly the same as what her senior sister broadcast just now.

Hazel: “The manuscript is not too long, it shouldn't take half an hour.”

“Although there is a teleprompter, I hope you can read the press release by heart and even memorize it.” Hector asked Hazel, “When you come to work officially, Try to come in advance to read the manuscript and prepare.”

Chapter 2818

Even if Hector didn't say it, Hazel would do it.

“Come here, I'll teach you the shorthand method.” Hector took out a pen from his jacket pocket, pointed at the manuscript, and began to teach Hazel, “First memorize the important nouns and numerals in the manuscript, and then memorize the key words. For words that are difficult to pronounce or are difficult to remember, focus on practicing more...”

In fact, Hazel knew what Hector said.

Hector gave her some information before, and it was written on the information.

“There is one more important thing that you have to remember it that is our image in front of the camera. Our image is determined by our hairstyle, clothing and facial expressions. Facing the camera, we must relax. My first way to relieve tension, Just think of the camera as your best friend.”

Hazel benefited a lot and nodded quickly.

“You recite the manuscript! You can call me after you recite it, or you can find a staff member.” Hector smiled, said, “As long as you perform normally, you will not be worse than your senior sister.”

Hazel nodded with a smile: “ Okay. Go get busy!”

After Hector left, Hazel began to memorize the manuscript.

When Hector came out, Sloane had already signed the contract and walked towards Studio 6.

“Teacher Joly, I’ve signed the contract.” Sloane took the initiative to greet Hector.

Hector asked, “Is there any problem with the contract?”

“No.” Sloane walked up to Hector and said enthusiastically and gratefully, “Teacher Joly, thank you for choosing me. I will definitely work hard and try not to let you down.”

Hector said: “I am not alone in the selection work. People will decide it. You are good enough to be selected. You don’t have to thank anyone. Of course, it’s right to work hard.”

“Teacher Joly, is my performance just now really not good enough?” Sloane felt a little uneasy, “It won’t make me feel particularly uncomfortable if I can’t compare with seniors and seniors who are not as good as Hazel. I will suspect that I have been studying for nothing in the past two years.”

Sloane didn’t know that Hector was Hazel’s tutor, so she spoke her mind without so many scruples in front of Hector.

“Her current strength should not be as good as yours.” Hector comforted, “but the psychology of comparison is bad. It’s not that you can’t compare, but you shouldn’t compare with your colleagues. It’s more important to do things than to be a person.”

Sloane said: “Teacher Joly, I’m just very nervous...I’m afraid that after my internship this year, you don’t want me...”

The TV station would talk to students who signed the contract to extend the internship period if they were excellent students and would stay. However, some individuals were dropped after the internship period. Because there were so many TV stations, some people had to leave.

Hector: "Don't think too much. Thinking so much will make you work hard. We gave you this opportunity to let you study hard and perform well. You just work hard, even if you can't stay in our station in the future. Here, you will also make a difference on other platforms."

Hector's words made Sloane's mood drop to the bottom.

It seemed that the possibility of her being able to stay was really low.

Sloane: "Thank you, Teacher Joly. I have benefited a lot from listening to your words. Go get busy! I'll go and see Hazel."

"She's reciting manuscripts, so don't disturb her right now." Hector said, "You can take a stroll first and come back in a quarter of an hour."

Sloane was stunned for a moment, then nodded.

After Hector left, Sloane went to the door of Studio 6 and took a look.

Hazel sat where she had been sitting just now, reciting a manuscript.

A staff member sat in a chair to one side and played with his phone.

It was very quiet inside, and Sloane could vaguely hear the voice of Hazel reading the manuscript.

Sloane didn't know why, but she always felt that Hector treated Hazel better.

But after thinking about it carefully, she felt that Hector had no obvious difference between Hazel and herself.

A quarter of an hour later, Sloane returned to Studio 6.

Hazel was no longer memorizing the manuscript, she was chatting with the staff, it should be the staff telling her some precautions.

Before Sloane started the trial broadcast, the staff member also explained a lot to her.

Sloane realized that Hazel was ready, so she walked in.

Chapter 2819

After a while, Hector also walked over.

When Hazel saw Hector coming in, she immediately smiled and gestured OK.

Hector nodded slightly, but did not speak.

After Hazel put it on, Hector's voice came from the earphone, "Hi Hazel, listen to my countdown, five, four, three, two, one, start..."

The content of the manuscript on Hazel's desktop had appeared on the front teleprompter, and the teleprompter and the shots were together.

Hazel only needed to look at the camera in front of her and read out the script in the teleprompter accurately.

"Hello, viewers, today is January 13th, Tuesday. Welcome to 'News Thirty'....."

The trial broadcast was only ten minutes long.

The draft of the trial broadcast was relatively simple, and the main purpose of this trial broadcast was to let them familiarize themselves with the working environment.

For Hazel, the significance of this trial broadcast was greater than that of Sloane.

Because Sloane was already a sophomore, there was a studio for students to train in the university.

Ten minutes later, Hector's voice came from Hazel's ear: "It's over. You did a good job!"

Hazel breathed a sigh of relief inwardly.

She took off her ears and returned them to the staff.

Sloane asked Hector: "Teacher Joly, what do you think of Hazel's broadcast just now?”

Because Hector commented on Sloane at that time, pointing out Sloane’s shortcomings, which made Sloane not very happy.

Sloane felt that what she had done was pretty good. After all, she was an intern anchor, not a professional.

Hector thought for a while, and then replied: “The problem is the same as yours. She’s a little nervous. The voice is not fully opened.”

After hearing Hector’s words, Sloane was relieved.

In fact, she felt that Hazel’s broadcast just now was not bad, but Hector’s evaluation made her a little dazed.

What kind of standard must be achieved to satisfy Hector?

After Hazel returned the ear, she walked over quickly.

Hazel: “Teacher Joly, can I sign the contract?”

Hector smiled and said, “Aren’t you going to ask for my evaluation?”

“I heard it just now. You said that I was a little nervous like Miss Sloane, and my voice was not fully opened.” Hazel was in a good mood, “I will try my best not to let others see that I am nervous next time.”

“Haha, come with me.” Hector took Hazel into the studio.

Sloane looked at the back of the two of them leaving, feeling a little jealous.

Hector actually took Hazel to sign the contract in person. It seemed that Hector really liked Hazel a little bit more.

Was it because Hazel was more beautiful than Sloane?

Sloane came out of the studio, took out her mobile phone, and complained in her friend group: [That Hazel Foster was usually so lonely and cold in university, but she seemed to be a completely different person on the TV station! When she saw Director Joly, she wished she could post it all over. I suspect that she had already opened up the relationship with Director Joly.]

Friend 1: [This girl is disgusting! When the photos of her with foreigners were circulated before, I guessed that she was a hot guy who would do anything for her superiority.]

Friend 2: [Sloane, how is her broadcast? Did you hear that? Didn't she say that she has a very strong accent? Will the TV station really want people of this level? Even if the relationship is hard, can't you force it? The audience is not stupid!]

Sloane fell silent while watching the messages from her friend.

In all fairness, Hazel's trial broadcast just now was quite good.

No matter in terms of spoken language or manners, Sloane couldn't find any problems.

She said just now that Hazel opened up Hector's relationship because of jealousy.

Chapter 2820

Hector took Hazel to the conference room.

Hazel's contract was on the conference table in the conference room.

Hazel: "Teacher Joly, have everyone else signed the contract?"

Hector nodded, "Yes. Everyone else has already started working."

Hazel picked up the contract and looked at it.

"I sent it to your father to read." Hector handed her the pen, "Just sign it."

Hazel took the pen, but insisted on reading the contract: "This is the first time I have signed the contract. I got a work-related contract, so I was very excited and wanted to see what was written in it."

Hazel used to be a nanny for the Hogan family and received payment, but there was no employment contract.

Hector: "What are your plans in the future? Do you want to develop in this industry for a long time?”

Hazel signed her name on the contract, and then replied: “Teacher Joly, I don’t want to lie to you, I didn’t go that far Career planning. I only know that I want to be a host now. As for whether my thoughts will change after graduation, I can’t say clearly now.”

Hector chuckled: “I can understand. Your family strongly opposes you becoming a host in the future!”

Hazel shook her head: “It has nothing to do with my family.” After a pause, she said, “It can’t be said that it doesn’t matter at all, they respect my ideas more, so I can choose what I want.”

“You are very happy.” Hector said, “I will send you the video of your trial broadcast just now. You can show it to your parents.”

Hazel: “Thank you, Teacher Joly.”

“You’re welcome .By the way, that senior of yours, you’d better not get too close to her.” Hector reminded her in a low voice, “She’s actually pretty good, that’s...”

Hector was deliberating use words.

“Teacher Joly, I understand what you mean. In fact, I can tell whether I get along with someone or not. I can feel it when I meet her.” Hazel smiled and reassured him, “Thank you today, you can go to your work, if you don’t What’s the matter with me, then I’ll leave first.”

Hector: “You’re on winter vacation now, so you shouldn’t have anything else to do? If you’re not in a hurry to go back, you can watch the broadcasts of other seniors. I can take you to the director’s room.”

Hector’s words made Hazel excited immediately.

Hazel: “Teacher Joly, is it really okay? Will I affect other people’s work?”

“It won’t affect you if you don’t speak. But if they take the initiative to chat with you, it will be fine.” Hector took Hazel and headed to the studio after picking up the contract from the table.

“Has my senior gone?” When Hazel passed by Studio No. 6, she found that there was no one there.

“Maybe! Don’t worry about others, just do your own thing.” When Hector took Hazel to the studio, Sloane came out from the bathroom next to him.

When she saw Hector bring Hazel into the director’s room, she wanted to call them to stop, but she was too shocked, she forgot to speak.

Hazel really hugged Hector’s thigh.

This Hazel was really capable!

At noon, Robert drove to the TV station to pick up Hazel.

Hazel came out of the building and saw Robert’s car at a glance.

Hazel opened the door of the passenger seat and got in the car.

Hazel: “Brother, have you eaten yet?”

Robert chuckled softly, “I should be the one asking you this question, right?”

“I’ve eaten. I ate it in the canteen of the TV station. Brother, the canteen here is making very delicious food.” Hazel boasted.

Chapter 2821

Robert asked: “Which one is more delicious? TV station or Dad’s company cafeteria?”

“It’s equally delicious. Not only delicious, but also cheap.” Hazel ate a total of more than $10 at noon today. Of course, it was the meal card that Hector swiped.

“Companies like this are subsidized by the canteen, otherwise who will do the business at a loss. It is equivalent to the benefits for the employees!

Otherwise, eating out by yourself is very expensive.” Robert said, “How about your trial broadcast today?”

“It went well. It’s easier than I imagined.” Hazel took out her contract from her bag, “I’ve signed the contract. From now on, I’ll be an intern anchor! Have you eaten, brother? Let me treat you to dinner!”

“Hahaha, okay! But at night! Parents are waiting for you to go back to eat at home right now!” Robert joked, “You had a trial broadcast today. Dad was very nervous and didn’t go to the company and stayed at home all the time, waiting for you to go back. But you never went back, so he asked me to pick you up.”

“Dad asked you to pick me up?” Hazel was a little surprised.

Hazel: “Yes!”

“Didn’t Teacher Joly send my trial video to Dad?” Hazel turned on her phone and found the video Teacher Joly sent her.

“No! I didn’t see your trial video when I went out!” Robert pulled over to watch his sister’s trial video.

After Hazel sent the video to the family group, she handed the phone to Hazel.

Robert took Hazel’s cell phone, clicked on the video, and concentrated on watching it.

Ten minutes later, Robert gave Hazel a thumbs up: “Little sister, you look really professional. You broadcast really well. Not only are you beautiful, but you broadcast so well... You are amazing!”

Hazel blushed because of Robert’s exaggerated praise: “Brother, I watched my senior’s trial broadcast, and she broadcast it very well. The students who can enter the TV station for internship are very good.”

“Are others good or not? I can’t see it, I only see that you are great.” Robert returned the phone to Hazel, restarted the engine, and drove towards home.

Foster family.

Elliot and Avery each took their mobile phones to watch the video posted by Hazel in the family group.

After watching the video, the two looked at each other with a tacit understanding.

“Our daughter looks like that.” Elliot was very surprised by Hazel’s performance.

“What does it mean to be quite like that? Our daughter is now a fully qualified host.” Avery was proud of Hazel, “It took her only half a year to reach such a height, she is really amazing. “

Elliot nodded, agreeing: “My daughter is like you, she is smart, and she can understand a little bit.”

Avery was delighted to hear Elliot’s words, but said modestly: “It’s all the result of my daughter’s own hard work. It’s a pity that she doesn’t let us go to the TV station to watch her broadcast. Otherwise, I really want to watch it live.”

“Since our daughter won’t let us, we won’t go.” Elliot listened to Avery as well as Hazel.

Chapter 2822

“Did you see the video your sister posted in the group just now?” Avery asked.

“I didn’t see it. I was in a meeting just now!” While speaking, Layla minimized the call and clicked on the family group.

“She went to the TV station for a trial broadcast today, and the broadcast is very good, very good.” Avery boasted.

“I knew she could do it.” Layla was happy for her sister, “I’ll go back after I get off work.”

“Yes!” Avery felt better, “Don’t be too tired from work, you should Pay attention to the balance between work and rest.”

“Got it! I’ll talk about it when I get back. I’m going to eat first.” Layla finished speaking and hung up the phone.

She clicked on the video posted by Hazel in the group, and after watching the video, she immediately sent a thumbs up emoji in the group.

Then she sent another one: [Our little sister is so powerful, won’t the big brother send a red envelope?] [@Hayden]

At this point, Bridgedale was late at night.

Hayden was a late-night party.

Layla thought that Hayden was most likely still awake at this point.

Sure enough, after a while, Hayden sent a red envelope in the group.

Avery asked: [Hayden, why haven’t you slept yet?]

Hayden: [I’m going to sleep. I fell asleep after watching my sister’s video.]

Robert took Hazel home. After the car stopped, the siblings strode into the house.

Avery put down her phone and immediately greeted Hazel with a smile.

Avery: “Hazel, were you nervous during the trial broadcast today? You performed really well! I can’t tell you were nervous at all!”

“I’m still a little nervous. Teacher Joly said I’m not relaxed enough.” Hazel took the contract out of her bag with a smile and handed it to Avery, “Mom, let me show you my contract.”

Avery took the contract and said: “Hector sent a soft copy of the contract to your father to have a look.”

“The contract is very important, and you can’t sign it randomly.” Hazel had a different identity now, so she didn't want to involve her family in anything.

"It's great that you have this vigilance." Avery praised Hazel, "Mom really thinks you're smart, well-behaved and sensible."

Hazel: "Mom, these are basic common sense, I'm ashamed of you boasting so much."

Robert said, "Little sister, you are really great. Many wealthy daughters have no brains. People who stay in a comfortable environment for a long time will lack a correct understanding of the real society. You have to stay sober at all times, so that you won't be cheated."

Hazel nodded: "Have you eaten yet, Mom? I ate it in the cafeteria, so go eat some!"

"Haha, have you integrated into the environment over there so quickly?"

Avery read Hazel's contract and handed it to Elliot.

"Teacher Joly took me with him, and everyone else treated me very well."

When Hazel said this, she thought of the Teacher Joly, "When I was broadcasting, he encouraged me. After I finished the broadcast, he even praised me. "

Avery: "You are so well-behaved and sensible, everyone must like you."

After Avery said this, Hazel naturally thought of her senior sister.

She wanted to say that not everyone likes me, but she was afraid that her parents would worry if she said it, so she held back.

When her mom and dad were eating, Hazel sat next to her dad and drank a bowl of soup.

After lunch, Hazel went back to her room to rest.

She got up early today because she was going to be on trial today, so she fell asleep very late last night.

Her heartstrings were tensed all morning and didn't let up until the broadcast was over.

After drinking a bowl of hot soup right now, she felt drowsy immediately.

After entering her room, she went to the bathroom to remove her make-up.

She put on light makeup this morning.

In fact, she didn't know how to make up. She just put on a foundation, traced her eyebrows a little, and then put on a lighter color lipstick, and her complexion immediately improved.

Chapter 2823

After Hazel removed the makeup on her face with cleansing oil, she took a mask from the drawer with great interest and applied it to her face.

She came out of the bathroom and checked the time on her phone.

Then she lazily sat down on the small sofa and started playing with her mobile phone.

Xiomara sent her a message, asking her how the trial broadcast was going today.

Hazel replied immediately: [It went well, the contract has been signed.]

Xiomara: [Hazel, you are too powerful. When does your show start? I will watch your live broadcast when the time comes.]

Hazel: [It starts at 3:00 a.m. the day after tomorrow.]

Xiomara: [Alright, then I will definitely do a live broadcast.]

Hazel: [I just learned today that not all programs will be rebroadcasted. Like the programs of our interns, rebroadcasts are not arranged.]

Xiomara: [Hahaha, it's okay. Newbies go through this process. When the time comes, ask the staff to copy out the video of your program and keep it for yourself.]

Hazel: [Yes.]

Xiomara: [By the way, did you see the sophomore senior today?]

Hazel: [I see. She went ahead of me. When I went to the TV station, she happened to be doing a test run.]

Xiomara: [How is she broadcasting?]

Hazel: [Very good. She is also very beautiful.]

Xiomara: [Hazel, I have never heard you speak ill of anyone. You always praise others, you are too kind.]

Hazel: [What I said is the truth. She is really beautiful.]

Xiomara: [I have seen her photos, she is indeed very beautiful in the photos, but I heard that she speaks ill of you behind your back.]

Hazel: [Since it was said behind my back, it doesn't matter. Although my programs with her are next to each other, there will be no intersection.]

Hazel just wanted to do her job well and didn't want to bother with other things. She didn't want to waste energy on things that didn't make sense.

Xiomara: [Well, she is not the only one who speaks ill of you in university. When your show is broadcast, and everyone sees your strength, they will naturally shut up.]

Hazel smiled and went over.

15 minutes later, Hazel got up from the sofa and went to wash her face.

The sky changed during the afternoon. There were dark clouds and thunder and lightning.

Hazel was awakened by the thunder, opened her eyes and looked at the dark sky outside the window, and couldn't believe that she had slept through the night.

She picked up her mobile phone and was relieved when she saw that the time was only 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

She lifted the quilt and came out of the room with her mobile phone.

The living room on the first floor was brightly lit. Avery was trimming the flowers on the ground, while Elliot was peeling an apple with a fruit knife. Robert sat on the sofa next to Elliot, holding a document in his hand, and read it carefully.

After Hazel came down from upstairs, she went to her mother first.

Hazel: "Mom, did you buy these flowers?"

"No, they are from the backyard. It was getting dark and it was going to rain, so I picked the flowers back to the house."

Avery liked flowers and plants. When she retired, she liked to mess around with them.

Fresh seasonal flowers were placed in the basement of the house all year round.

"Have you slept well?" Elliot handed the peeled apple to Hazel, "It's raining so heavily outside, let's eat at home tonight!"

Hazel took the apple and nodded, "Okay!"

Hazel took a bite of the apple, walked to Robert's side to see what he was looking at, he was so serious.

Hazel: "Brother, what are you looking at?"

Chapter 2824

Robert heard Hazel's voice, and immediately handed the document in his hand to her.

Robert: "Dad asked me to read it."

"Oh..." Seeing the title of the document, Hazel immediately lost interest in gossip, "Go ahead and read it! I won't bother you anymore."

Robert took back the document, dumbfounded, and then glanced out the window.

Robert: "It's raining so much, will my sister come over later?"

"Is my sister coming?" Hazel was a little surprised.

"My sister told my mother to come over for dinner tonight." Robert replied, "It should be to praise you in person!"

The corners of Hazel's mouth immediately turned up, her mood soaring uncontrollably. But she looked at the bad weather outside and was a little worried: "Is it dangerous to drive in this weather?"

"It's okay for experienced driver, like me. But my sister doesn't drive as much as I do." Robert praised himself, "Little girl, when you are free, I will teach you how to drive."

"Okay!" Hazel agreed without hesitation.

About half an hour later, Layla came back.

The weather suddenly changed in the afternoon, so Layla finished work early. Because of the weather, she dared not drive too fast.

If she didn't get off work early, it would be very late when she returned to Eric's side.

"Little sister, I bought you a gift." Layla held a gift box in her hand.

Hazel immediately walked up to her sister and took the gift: "Thank you sister. Are you not wet?"

"I have an umbrella." Layla changed her shoes, took Hazel's hand and walked towards the living room, said, "Watching your trial broadcast, it feels like you've become an adult all of a sudden."

"Because the clothes I wear are more mature. The staff lent me a suit jacket."

Hazel smiled shyly, "Sister, what gift did you give me?"

“Open it and have a look.” Layla said. At that time, seeing Hazel in a suit, she felt that Hazel would look better if she wore a watch, so after lunch, she went to the mall to buy a watch.

When Hazel saw that the gift from her sister was a watch, she was a little surprised and liked it very much.

The watch was silver with a white base inside the dial, but the hands inside were peacock blue.

Hazel: “Sister, I like it very much. But I don’t know if the TV station can allow me to wear a watch.”

“Of course. I deliberately didn’t buy a particularly expensive watch. I will take you to buy some work clothes tomorrow. The suit jacket you are wearing today is obviously too big and it doesn’t fit.” Layla came here just to give her sister a gift and ask her to go shopping tomorrow.

“Teacher Joly does not ask to purchase clothing! There are numerous options for clothing on the stage, so I should not have to purchase them.” Hazel was not afraid of spending this little money, because she was afraid that she would be too special and let other colleagues discuss.

Layla saw her sister’s careful thinking, so she said: “Then I will donate a batch of new clothes to the TV station. I’ll buy them according to your size and donate them.”

Hazel: “...”

Avery listened to the two daughters conversation, couldn’t help laughing out loud.

Avery: “Layla, are you hungry?”

“It’s not time for dinner yet! I’m not hungry yet.” Layla walked to the coffee table, looked at the flowers on the coffee table, “Did you put this in, Mom? It’s getting better all the time! It's not as bad as those expert senior flower arrangers."

"Really? Then you take it away!" Avery said, and began to search for bags all over the room.

"Mom, did you really give it to me?" Layla happily took the vase of flowers away.

Eric's house was very clean and had green plants, but no flowers.

"It's just a vase of flowers. You can take whatever you have at home." Avery found a large paper bag.

"I just want this bottle." Layla supported the paper bag and watched her mom put the vase into it. "I haven't married him yet, and I started bringing things from home to his house. It's shameless."

Chapter 2825

"It's just a vase of flowers, what are you doing with so many associations?"

Avery said in a relaxed tone, "Although you have moved to Eric's house, you will always be my daughter!"

"Mom, I wasn't really sad at first, but now I don't want to leave."

"Then you won't." Elliot spoke from the side.

Layla couldn't help laughing, and walked up to Elliot: "Dad, are you going to let Robert go to work with you during the winter vacation? Actually, you can hand him over to the vice president, so you don't have to worry about it."

Elliot: "I'm afraid that the vice president will be soft-hearted towards him.

Actually, I didn't ask him to come to the company for an internship now, he brought it up on his own initiative."

Layla immediately looked at Robert, who didn't expect him to be so sensible.

"Sister, what do you think I'm doing? Didn't you say that you want me to help dad share the work pressure?" Robert's skin got goosebumps when Layla saw him.

“Very good! Since you have decided to go to work, do it well.” Layla urged.

Robert: “I know, I’m already mentally prepared.”

After Robert said this, Layla asked Elliot, “Dad, what position do you plan to arrange for him?”

Robert was also very curious, so staring at his dad’s face and felt that his dad might let him be the assistant to the vice president.

Because of this, he could take him and let him learn the way of doing business.

Elliot said: “Let’s start from the lowest level!”

Layla couldn’t help teasing: “Is it a salesman? Or a cleaner?”

Robert: “...”

Avery was puzzled after hearing what Elliot said : “Don’t the people in your company know Robert?”

“Of course not to arrange him at the headquarters.” Elliot had been thinking about this question for the past two days, and today he had an answer, “Let him go to the branch below to practice.”

Robert: “...how do I feel like I’m going to be rejected? Distributed to the frontier?”

Elliot: “Your sister is not afraid of suffering, are you?”

Robert shook his head violently: “Of course I am not afraid. I will start from the grassroots, even if I am a cleaner!”

Avery felt relieved. There was a trace of panic in her heart: “How could your dad let you be a cleaner? Layla is scaring you, Robert!”

Elliot: “Robert, let’s start as a salesman! You go to the interview yourself, let alone my son.”

Robert: "..."

"Robert hasn't graduated yet, will others want him?" Avery didn't expect Elliot to be so cruel to his son.

"Grassroots salesmen only have a very low basic salary, and the requirements are not high." Elliot had made up his mind, "My son must have a strong ability to survive."

Avery stopped talking.

Elliot was right, the daughter could be pampered a bit, but the son should be tempered.

What's more, Hazel had suffered for so many years and was doing well now, and Hazel's current ability to survive was obviously better than Robert.

It's not that Robert couldn't bear hardships, but he just couldn't figure it out:

"Since you want me to work at the grassroots level of the branch company, why did you show me the information of your company's biggest competitor at noon?" Robert thought that his dad wanted him to help solve this serious problem!

Elliot said casually: "It's not bad for you to get acquainted in advance. But if your performance at the grassroots level is too bad, you don't want to take my position in the future."

Robert: "..."

"Okay, let's not talk about this for now, let's have dinner!" Avery felt that Elliot was under a lot of pressure this time, she was afraid that Robert would be scared, so she changed the subject.

Chapter 2826

—"It's just a vase of flowers, what are you doing with so many associations?"

Avery said in a relaxed tone, "Although you have moved to Eric's house, you will always be my daughter!"

"Okay, let's not talk about this for now, let's have dinner!" Avery felt that Elliot was under a lot of pressure this time, she was afraid that Robert would be scared, so she changed the subject.

Chapter 2827

–"Dad, is your competitor still the same as before?" Layla was a little worried about Dad, so she sat down and asked.

Elliot raised his eyebrows slightly: "Do you know which one it is?"

"Yes! Although you didn't tell me directly, I heard it before when you were in the study room for video conferences and telephone conferences!" Layla was very clingy to Elliot, and Elliot always treated his daughter like a child, so sometimes he would not avoid her when talking about business.

"Is GW company right? Even if I don't listen to you, I know about this company." Layla spoke faster, "The boss of this company seems to be a little out of order. He seems to be quite sober. No matter what new project your company develops, he will follow suit like a follower."

After Layla finished speaking, Robert couldn't help laughing.

Robert: "Today, when dad showed me the GW company's information, I almost thought that dad planned to let me sneak into GW company as an undercover agent."

Layla glared at Robert: "You are so smart, you are very suitable to be a screenwriter."

Robert: "Because I also know that GW Company is the opponent of Dad's Company! I am not capable enough to help with important decisions, but I can be an undercover agent.”

Layla: “You usually watch spy movies, right?”

Robert: “Hahaha, it’s useless to read. Dad asked me to go to the grassroots as a salesman.”

Layla: “Turn yourself hard at the grassroots level, don’t be impatient. A glass of water wants to hold. If the glass is full, first empty the water in the glass.”

Robert: “Understood.”

After dinner, Layla didn’t linger.

The weather was bad today, it’s completely dark outside.

“Drive slowly on the road.” Avery picked up the bag containing the vase, and planned to help Layla lift it to the car.

“Mom, it’s raining outside! Don’t send me out.” Layla took the bag from her mother, “You are all at home, don’t come out.”

Robert opened the umbrella and handed it to Layla: “Sister, be careful on the road.”

“Well, take care of our parents and sister.” Layla finished telling Robert, and then walked into the rain holding an umbrella.

She put the flowers on the passenger seat, fastened her seat belt, and drove the car out.

In the afternoon, she told Eric that she was going back to her parents’ house for dinner today, so Eric didn’t ask her when she would be home.

When the car came out of the community and encountered the first red light, she stopped the car and sent a message to Eric: [Have you eaten yet? I just finished eating and now I have come out of my parents’ house.]

Eric quickly replied: [It’s raining heavily at the moment, please drive carefully.]

Layla looked at his reply with a smile on her face: [It’s not like I drove on a rainy day. The weather with more rain than this is also open.]

After replying to this message, the red light changed to a green light.

Layla put down the phone, and drove the car out.

The weather was bad, but there were more cars on the road than usual.

While waiting for the third red light, Layla looked at the long queue in front of her and picked up her phone a little restlessly.

She sent a message to Eric: [I don't know what happened today, there are a lot of cars on the road. I reckon I'll be there in half an hour.]

Eric replied in seconds: [Don't worry, drive slowly, safety first.]

Eric was waiting for Layla in the living room.

This kind of weather was always reminiscent of disaster.

Layla looked at the message he replied in seconds, and couldn't help laughing: [You wouldn't hold your phone in the living room and wait for me to go back!]

Eric looked at her message and didn't know how to answer.

Layla saw that he was "typing" all the time, but no words appeared, so she couldn't help but want to laugh.

Suddenly, a whistle sounded from behind.

Layla looked up and saw that the cars in front had already left.

Layla immediately put down the phone and stepped on the gas pedal.

When the traffic light was approaching, there was only one second left for the green light.

Chapter 2828

—So she stepped on the brakes, planning to wait for the next green light before leaving.

But the car following her did not stop like her.

'Bang'!

The car behind hit Layla's rear end.

Layla felt her car jerk and the airbag deployed.

She closed her eyes tightly in fright, feeling like her heart was about to jump out of her body!

Fortunately, shortly after the airbag deployed, someone knocked on her car window.

She was still in shock, but her body reflexively opened the door.

When she opened the car door, someone helped her immediately.

"Miss, are you okay? I'm sorry! My husband didn't hit you on purpose, he didn't expect you to stop... because after the red light, there are three seconds of yellow light! If you don't stop, it can be passed smoothly." The woman said she was embarrassed, but she was complaining that Layla shouldn't stop.

Layla stood still on the ground, the rain quickly hit her face.

She raised her hand to wipe the water droplets on her face. After feeling that she didn't feel too much discomfort, she pushed the woman's hand away and strode towards the passenger seat.

She took out the umbrella on the passenger seat, and after opening the umbrella, she turned on her mobile phone and dialed the police number.

After explaining the situation, she called the insurance company again.

"Miss, let's go private! You see that you are fine, so you just rubbed the car for a while. I will pay for your maintenance fee." The woman's husband saw that the car Layla drove was a luxury car, so his attitude was quite friendly.

Layla was in a hurry to go back, so after a short thought, she agreed to go private.

Half an hour later, the taxi stopped in front of Eric's house.

Layla got out of the taxi with the bag containing the vase.

The moment Layla pushed open the courtyard door, the nanny and Eric in the living room noticed her.

"Huh? Why didn't Layla drive back?" the nanny said, ready to go out to greet her with an umbrella.

Eric also stood up from the sofa and walked towards the door.

Seeing Eric's figure, Layla immediately quickened her pace.

"Layla, why didn't you drive back?" The nanny walked up to Layla and took the bag from Layla's hand, "You still bought flowers? It's pretty."

"My mom's work." Layla covered her face with a smile, "It's raining too much today, so I took a taxi back."

"Oh, it's safer to take a taxi. Don't worry about driving by yourself! Eric has been waiting for you in the living room." The nanny was brought by Layla from Foster's house, so she was very kind to Layla.

Soon, they arrived at the gate of the villa.

While Layla was changing her shoes, Eric's voice came from above her head:

"Why didn't you drive back?"

"It was raining too much, I was too lazy to drive, so I took a taxi back." Layla lied without thinking road.

Eric saw through her lie almost instantly: "You came back from your parents' house by taxi? Will your parents let you take a taxi?"

After hearing Eric's words, the nanny suddenly realized! She even ignored that Layla came back from Foster's house tonight.

"Layla, what's going on?" The nanny was anxious.

Layla changed her shoes, stood up, and took a deep breath: "I was rearended on the way back, and the car was towed away. But I'm fine..."

After Eric heard the word 'rear-end', he immediately moved, pulled her body in front of him and looked at it carefully.

Just looking at it, he couldn't see any trauma.

Eric: "Did you go to the hospital for an examination?"

"I'm fine, I don't need to be checked. It's just that the car behind accidentally hit my car's b-u-t-t."

Chapter 2829

–Layla was one step ahead of him: "I'm afraid I'll suddenly have a headache at night, so I can call you."

When Eric came to her lips, he immediately burrowed back into his stomach.

"You sleep on the bed, I sleep on the floor." After thinking for a few seconds, Eric proposed a plan.

Layla hugged the pillow, strode in, and closed the door at the same time.

"Who are you showing this to? My parents have already acquiesced in the relationship between us... The relatives and friends around me already know the relationship between me and you. Let's sleep together. Don't worry, I won't do anything to you, you are still weak now, I won't mess around." Layla put the pillow next to his pillow.

Looking at the two pillows next to each other, Eric couldn't help pursing his thin lips.

His body was a little at a loss, and his mood was a little hard to describe.

Actually, Layla was right.

From the moment he gave Layla his home, he accepted the decision to be with Layla for the rest of the day.

"Let me tell you the truth!" Layla lifted the quilt, got on the bed, leaned against the head of the bed, and looked at his flushed face, "I'm a bit obsessed with the bed, and I feel very boring. You can just chat with me at night."

Eric was the opposite of her, because of his weak body, he slept well every day.

“Why don’t you go home and rest!” Eric walked to the bed, stopped, and had a friendly discussion with her.

“I’m not going home.” Layla pulled the quilt over to cover her legs, “I’ll get used to it after staying with you for a few days? It’s raining so much today, and you still drive me home, what do you think?”

Eric scratched his head at Layla’s complaint: “That’s not what I mean. I’m afraid you won’t sleep well.”

“Then I can’t sleep at home all my life just because I can’t sleep outside, can I?” Layla teased him, “Why don’t you come back to my house with me?”

Eric: “...”

This must be No way.

Even if Avery agreed, she couldn’t stand living with Elliot.

“Go take a shower! We’ll talk about it when you come to bed.” Layla was in a great mood.

Eric completely gave up struggling and accepted her.

After Eric went to the bathroom, Layla immediately got off the bed, went to the living room and brought in the vase of flowers that her mom had given her.

Like her mom, she liked flowers very much.

Eric’s room was relatively simple and the colors were relatively simple and elegant, which felt a bit dull.

In this room, Layla was currently residing and would continue to do so in the future.

The next day.

Layla called Hazel and informed her that she didn't want to go shopping with her and instead wanted to stay at home with Eric.

Hazel didn't even think about it, and smiled back: "Sister, you should spend time with brother-in-law! The weather is not very good today, so it's not suitable for shopping!"

"Tell the teacher to let him accept it." Layla said.

Chapter 2830

–Hazel was flattered, but she didn't expect her sister to really take action.

"Sister, you are staying with brother-in-law at home today. Is it because brother-in-law is not feeling well?" Hazel thought about this before hanging up the phone, so she asked.

Layla laughed softly: "He's fine. He just wants me to stay with him at home."

"Brother-in-law has become so clingy now!" Hazel also laughed, "Sister, are you very happy?"

"It's not what you think. I'll tell you secretly, don't tell your parents." Layla shared the matter with her sister, "I was rear-ended when I went back to his house last night. But I'm fine. He's afraid of me I have something to do, so let me stay with him at home today. Although he didn't say the reason clearly, I can guess."

The smile on Hazel's face disappeared immediately: "Sister, are you really okay?"

"The rear-end collision is just a small traffic accident. In case of an accident, the car needs to be sent for repairs." Layla explained to Hazel, "I'm really fine, don't tell mom and dad."

Hazel: "Well, then you should rest at home today. Go to the hospital for a checkup in time."

"Haha, I won't let anything happen to me. Eric always felt that he didn't live long, but I told him last night that I will definitely live well and collect his body when the time comes. He immediately doesn't worry about me." Layla thought of this, almost laughing out of tears.

On the other side of the phone, Hazel couldn't help laughing either.

After finished talking with Layla on the phone, Hazel adjusted her mood, and then called Hector.

After Hazel told Hector about Layla buying work clothes for the TV station, Hector joked: "It happens that the clothes in the station are about to be replaced, but our application form has already been submitted, and the station will pay for it by itself."

"Since my sister bought it, you can accept it! I can't refuse my sister's kindness." Hazel was a little shy, "My sister loves me very much."

"Okay, then I accept. But let's not make an example, let your family not spend money in the future." Hector agreed to Hazel, and at the same time, asked, "Would you like to come to the stage today? Studio 6 is empty now, if you want to come for practicing, you can come here now."

"Can I really go for practicing now?" Hazel was very surprised.

"Of course. Even if it's not you, but other interns, that's fine too." Hector said.

Hazel: "Then I'll go over now."

Hector: "Okay."

...

In the blink of an eye, it's Hazel's official internship day.

After lunch, Avery urged Hazel to go to rest.

Because Hazel had to go to work at the TV station at 10pm.

Avery knew that if she didn't get enough rest during the day, she would be exhausted at night.

After Hazel returned to her room, Avery began to prepare things for Hazel to bring to work.

Elliot was looking at how busy Avery was.

“Isn’t this unnecessary?” Elliot picked up the portable medicine bag, thinking it would be troublesome to carry this.

“Why isn’t it necessary?” Avery took the medicine bag and put it in a large satchel, “If my daughter gets injured by accident, can’t she use it?”

“Our daughter is going to work, not to get injured.” Elliot didn’t think it was necessary to curse Hazel for getting hurt because he believed she was fine.

“I didn’t say that my daughter was injured. In case her fingers are pinched, or she is accidentally scratched by a sharp object, she can use it! I usually carry a portable medical bag in my bag. It doesn’t take up much space.” After Avery put the medical bag in her bag, she began to pack snacks for her daughter.

Chapter 2831

–“Why don’t you let the bodyguard accompany your daughter to work?” Elliot frowned slightly, still worried.

“Do you think my daughter will agree? She is living as an ordinary person now, so there shouldn’t be any danger.” Avery mainly packed some bagged cakes and some preserved fruit snacks for her daughter.

Elliot didn’t know why he couldn’t do anything about his daughter. Since he promised his daughter not to reveal her identity to the outside world, he was doomed to face many such problems in the future.

“Do you want to prepare some refreshing drinks for her?” Elliot also wanted to help his daughter. This internship was very important to his daughter. His daughter would be devastated if there was an accident during the broadcast.

Avery: “I’m really going to buy some refreshing drinks for my daughter.” Avery also considered this, "We'll go together later."

"Well. When we come back from buying drinks, let's sleep for a while too! I have to stay up late tonight." Elliot's staying up late was fine, but he was a little worried about Avery's health, "Actually, you can watch the video tomorrow. Hector said that he will send me Hazel's broadcast video tomorrow."

"I still want to accompany my daughter." Avery said without hesitation, "This is the first time my daughter goes to work, and she's still on the night shift. I want to accompany her. After she's off the air, I'll call her to praise her."

Elliot: "You're such a good mother."

Avery: "You're also a good father!"

Hazel couldn't fall asleep after sleeping for about two hours.

She usually slept up to half an hour during her lunch break, and basically didn't take a lunch break when she was in university, so after sleeping for two hours now, she felt back pain and dizziness.

She went to the bathroom to wash her face, then went downstairs.

"Hazel, have you slept well? Why don't you sleep more?" Avery saw her daughter coming, and immediately showed her the bag she had prepared, "You take this bag when you go to work at night."

Hazel was astounded to see the large bulging satchel her mother had prepared for her as she walked to the sofa.

"Mom, what's in here?" Hazel said, and she had already walked to the coffee table.

Avery opened the bag and explained to her everything inside.

There were food, water, paper towels, drinks and snacks, a medical bag, a spare mobile phone and a spare charger, and even a baby warmer...

“There is cash in this interlayer.” Avery gave Hazel the bag after opening the interlayer so she could take a look: “in case of emergencies.”

Hazel was moved and wanted to laugh: “Mom, why did you prepare so many things for me? My working time is only 5 hours. I don’t need so much food. I don’t want to drink so much. There is a direct drinking machine in the TV station, and I can drink water whenever I want.”

“Bottled water should be purer.” Avery reminded, “You still need to be more careful outside. Didn’t the social news report a lot recently? A girl was playing outside, and the drink was drugged in a mess... This water bottle is a safety cap, and it cannot be unscrewed by twisting it directly. It can only be unscrewed after pressing it down for 5 seconds. You drank it Hurry up and screw the lid on.”

Hazel: “...”

“Your dad prepared this for you.” Avery suggested with a smile, “You can take it with you!”

Hazel nodded: “Okay, I will use this water bottle to drink from now on outside.”

“You have only slept for 2 hours, you must not have enough sleep.” Avery looked at the time, “Why don’t you go lie down for a while? Otherwise, you’ll be very sleepy.”

Hazel: “Mom, I really can’t fall asleep. I may have to gradually adjust my schedule.”

“That’s right, you don’t usually have the habit of taking a nap.” Avery took Hazel and sat down on the sofa, “It will be New Year soon, I saw your work schedule, and you have to go on the night of New Year’s Eve. Is it too hard to go to work? Do you want to adjust it?”

–“No need. Teacher Joly discussed it with me. I decided to go to work in the first year of junior high school.” Hazel said calmly, “I am the youngest intern in our group. Seniority-wise, I should be in the first grade of junior high school.” The first grade of junior high school had to leave home at 10pm on the 30th day of the new year.

It’s like Hazel wanted to celebrate New Year’s Eve on TV.

Even though Avery wasn’t overly particular about details, she couldn’t stand her daughter spending New Year’s Eve alone in her first year back at Foster’s house.

“Your elder brother doesn’t like the idea of seniority ranking the most.” Avery knew that she couldn’t change her daughter’s mind, but she also wanted to talk to her, “Too honest is easy to be bullied. Sometimes a little stronger, a little more selfish, you’ll get over it. It’s more comfortable.”

Hazel nodded and listened to her mom’s words.

“Mom, maybe I’m used to it.” Hazel was of the opinion that since she was able to secure this internship thanks to her relationship with Teacher Joly, she couldn’t be fussy or exhausted unless she could demonstrate her resolve. She only had the courage to fight for alternative because of her ability, “And then I will not only go to work alone, but many behind-the-scenes staff will also go to work.”

“You can comfort yourself.” Avery had always felt that her daughter’s mentality very stable, and good.

“It’s not self-consolation, it’s because I really feel that I am so happy. On New Year’s Day, I’ll at home during the day, but I’ll work for a few hours at night, and rested for a few days after that!” Hazel coaxed her mother.

Avery: “Well, when the time comes, I’ll let your elder brother come back to celebrate the New Year.”

“Of course the elder brother will come back for the New Year. It seems like a very long time since I last saw my elder brother.” Hazel missed her elder brother a little.

“If you want him, you can make a video for him!” Avery looked at his daughter’s face, “Are you a little afraid of him?”

Hazel blushed, “I’m mainly afraid of disturbing my brother.”

“Hahaha! Your elder brother doesn’t dare to play videos for you, for fear of disturbing your study. Everyone knows that you study hard, and I’m afraid it will affect you.”

“How can it affect me? It’s not every day, every day.” Having said that, Hazel frankly acknowledged, “I’m afraid of disturbing my brother, and I don’t know what to say to him. Maybe it’s because my brother is older than me.”

“Actually, it’s not a matter of age, it’s because your brother has a boring personality.” Avery said, “He is so much like your dad. When your dad was young, he didn’t talk much.”

“It’s good to be like Dad. How nice Dad is!” Hazel said smoothly, “Of course, like Mom That’s fine. Both mom and dad are fine.”

Avery: “Small mouth is so sweet. But since you miss your elder brother, you can send him a message.”

Hazel: “Well, mom, do you want to take a nap? Did dad go to sleep?”

“Yes! Then I’ll go to bed first. I’ll call you when you finish the show tonight.”

Avery stood up from the sofa as she spoke.

Hazel really wanted her parents not to stay up late at night waiting for her show, but she stopped talking.

She put herself in another place and thought that if she were a mother, she would stay up late to watch her daughter host a show for the first time.

Robert sent Hazel to work at 10pm.

Elliot and Avery looked at each other.

“Why don't you go to bed first? Set an alarm clock and get up at 2:20 a.m.”

Elliot considered that Avery didn't fall asleep in the afternoon, so he made a suggestion.

Avery nodded: “I'm really a little sleepy.”

Bridgedale.

It's 2:30 in the afternoon.

Hayden found the live broadcast of TV station Aryadelle in his notebook.

After a while, it would be his little sister Hazel's show.

A fellow intern anchor, caught Hayden's attention because she was dressed more maturely despite having facial features that suggested she was a young girl.

Hayden didn't know if his little sister would dress up in such a mature way later.

In the family group.

Robert sent a message: [This girl is my little sister's senior. Is this girl wearing a wig? This hairstyle is too old-fashioned. Will my little sister also wear this kind of hair cover later?]

Layla: [I told my little sister, just put it in a ponytail.]

Robert: [] [Sister, why didn't you sleep?]

Layla: [Didn't you sleep too? What a shock!]

Robert: [I often stay up late! Are you waiting for my little sister's show with my brother-in-law?]

–Layla: [I didn't tell him. He's not in good health and don't want him to stay up late.]

Robert: [Yes.]

When the siblings chatted up to this point, Hayden suddenly erupted: [Don't stay up late next time, you can wait for my little sister's program video.]

Layla: [Brother, you're cool, we don't have to stay up late to watch my little sister's show.]

Hayden: [Did you see that the official website of the TV station launched a selection activity for intern anchors?]

Layla: [What contest? Didn't see it! My sister didn't tell me either.]

Robert: [Little sister didn't tell me either!]

Hayden sent a screenshot of the interface to the group: [It hasn't started yet. It'll start tomorrow.]

Layla: [Oh, I guess it will start after the little girl finishes broadcasting tonight.

As far as my little sister's show at this time, not many viewers can see it!]

Hayden: [There is a replay on the TV station's official app. The show slots for the other interns weren't good either.]

Layla: [Brother, do you want us to vote for the little girl?]

Hayden: [No need. At that time, let's see how the real popularity of the little girl is.]

Layla: [... Brother, are you still the brother I know?]

Hayden did not reply to Layla in the group, but sent a private message to Layla: [Don't talk about canvassing in the group. The little sister was not happy when she saw it.]

Layla:[.....]

Her straight brother had become so gentle and delicate!

Hayden: [Besides, you don't need to canvass for votes.]

Layla: [So what? We don't canvass for the little girl, other anchors will definitely canvass. I can't watch my little sister lose.]

Hayden: [I can directly change the number of backstage votes.]

Layla:[!!!]

This was indeed something that Hayden could do.

Layla: [Why don't you check the real votes of your sister first? What if she can win without our help?]

Hayden: [Let's talk tomorrow.]

At 3:00 a.m. local time in Aryadelle, the "Evening News" hosted by Hazel officially started.

Hazel was wearing a white suit with a blue silk shirt as the inner layer, her hair was combed into a ponytail, and her face was clean with plain makeup.

On her wrist was the wrist watch that her sister had given her.

Her dress was young and fashionable, which was completely different from the mental outlook presented to the audience by her senior sister.

After the broadcast, Sloane didn't go home from get off work, but watched Hazel's program in the studio.

Sloane didn't have a choice about the suit on Hazel's body, because her skin was dark and she didn't usually wear white clothes.

Unexpectedly, in this white uniform, Hazel looked radiant and very beautiful.

"Sloane, don't you want to change clothes and get off work?" A staff member asked Sloane.

"Well, I'll go right away. I'll see how my junior is doing." Sloane replied in a low voice with a smile on her face.

"Although she is young, she has a good attitude. She came to the trial broadcast yesterday, which is much better than the first trial broadcast.” The staff replied.

“She also came to the trial broadcast yesterday?” Sloane was surprised.

“That’s right! Aren’t you two from the same university? Don’t you keep in touch in private?” The staff was also surprised.

Sloane immediately adjusted her facial expression: “Our university is very big.

I am a sophomore and she is a fresher, so we don’t usually meet each other.

The watch she wears is quite eye-catching. Is it from the station?”

The staff: “No. It’s her own watch.”

Chapter 2834

“Oh, I didn’t even know I could wear a watch!” Sloane laughed at herself.

“As long as it is not weird, you can wear it. If it is inappropriate to wear, we will remind you.” The staff explained, “Such as earrings and necklaces, you can also wear it. As long as the style is not too fancy.”

Sloane nodded, and looked at Hazel on the big screen again: “Is the watch in her hand cheap?”

“I don’t know. But she is a fresher, so she must not have money to buy a famous watch?” The staff asked back.

“She doesn’t have the money to buy it herself, maybe someone else bought it for her... Hazel is very good at interpersonal relationships.” Sloane said this sentence with the simplest expression.

The Staff: “Oh, our director also likes her very much. In fact, not only the director, but we also like her very much. Not only her, we all like you interns.

The current students are getting stronger and stronger Already!”

Sloane replied with a smile: “In terms of ability, Hazel is better. When she first entered university, she still had an accent! See how well she broadcasts now!

It’s only been half a year She is not only hardworking, but also talented.

Compared to her, I really feel ashamed.”

Sloane praised Hazel and left the studio.

Sloane had originally believed that Hazel entered through relationships, but it now seemed that even if this were the case, her strength would still be required to get people to stop talking.

After half an hour, Hazel’s show ended.

After Hazel came out of the studio, she immediately turned on her phone.

Her mom said she would call.

After she turned on her mobile phone, she first saw her family chatting in the group.

“There is actually a selection event...” Hazel muttered softly, “Should I canvass for votes? Just forget about it and simply follow my own agenda.”

Avery called at this time.

Seeing her mom’s call, Hazel immediately answered the call.

Avery: “Hazel, are you off work now?”

“Yes. I’ll return home after I change my clothes.” Hazel said, “Mom, how is my broadcast? I feel a little nervous when I broadcast, especially at the beginning.”

“How come? I didn’t see that you were nervous.” Avery’s tone was a little excited, “You played the broadcast very well, with a graceful demeanor, smooth broadcast, and no typos. And those professional hosts can’t see the difference!”

“Mom, you praised me too much. But I’m so happy.” Hazel smiled, “Mom, go to bed quickly! I’m going to change clothes.”

“Hmm. The driver has already arrived at the gate of the building.”

After talking on the phone, a staff member walked towards Hazel.

The staff: “You are calling your family!”

“Yes! They are all watching my show.” Hazel replied with a smile.

“You performed very well today! Your senior sister also praised you. She said that you still had an accent half a year ago. Your progress is really fast! By the way, how much is your watch?”

The staff looked curiously at the watch on her wrist.

Hazel heard from her sister that she didn’t buy an expensive watch on purpose, so she showed the watch generously to the staff: “I don’t know how much it is, it’s an internship gift from my family.”

“Oh, this brand is not cheap, at least thousands of dollars. Your family loves you very much!” The staff glanced at the brand logo on her watch.

It’s a mid-range brand.

Hazel nodded: “Did my senior really praise me?”

“That’s right! It’s a compliment! She said that you are better than her.” The staff member held a water glass in her hand, and was about to go to the tea to drink water. “You work hard, and you will have a bright future in the future.”

Chapter 2835

Hazel then went to the dressing room to change her clothes.

Unexpectedly, the senior sister was still there.

Hazel thought of what the staff said to her just now, so she couldn’t help talking to Sloane: “Senior sister, why don’t you get off work?”

“There is no taxi available at this time.” Sloane showed a gentle smile to Hazel, “Hazel, I misunderstood you before. The classmates around me said that you got this internship through your relationship, and I thought you were like that before, but now that I watched your show, I changed my opinion.”

Although Hazel no longer cared so much about what the outside world thought of her, she felt very happy when she heard what her senior sister said.

Hazel: "Senior sister, you're also great. I also watched your show tonight."

"Hahaha, didn't you have to memorize the script back then? You didn't take it seriously!" Sloane teased.

"I came here after 10 o'clock in the evening. When your show was broadcast, I had almost recited it." Hazel unbuttoned her coat and prepared to change clothes.

Sloane: "Hazel, do you live near the university? At this point, there is no bus or subway, how do you plan to go back?"

Hazel was stunned for a moment, then said: "I'll take a taxi."

Sloane: "It is very expensive to take a taxi back to university. I plan to stay here until after 6 o'clock and take the subway back."

Hazel blushed and explained: "Because it's my first time to work, my parents are more worried about me, so they gave me the taxi fare."

"Oh...it seems that your family's conditions are really good." Sloane was envious, "Did you know that there will be a popularity selection for trainee anchors? I asked the staff, and the staff said that the most popular intern anchors in previous years were all able to sign formal employment contracts with the station."

Hazel: "Oh, it seems that it hasn't started yet?"

"The voting channel will open at 12 noon tomorrow. Real-name voting, one ID card can only cast one vote." Sloane was a little worried, "I haven't figured out how to solicit votes yet, do you have a solution?"

Hazel shook her head: "If you hadn't told me this, I wouldn't have known about it!"

"Oh, your parents should be very supportive of your work, and they will definitely help you canvass for votes, right? I can't do it, my parents are both from the countryside.” Sloane felt a little regretful, “I really envy your good family.”

Hazel wanted to say something, but she didn’t want to lie.

So she changed quickly, then picked up her phone and checked.

Hazel: “Senior sister, the car I called has arrived downstairs, I’m leaving first.”

“You go! Be careful!” Sloane watched Hazel leave.

.....

When Hazel came home, she didn’t expect her parents and brother to be waiting for her in the living room.

Hazel was both moved and guilty.

“Why don’t you go to bed? I work the night shift alone, and you all stay up all night, and I will feel very uncomfortable.” Hazel put down her bag and pulled her parents up from the sofa.

“We slept through and didn’t get up until almost 3 o’clock.” Avery explained with a smile, “Today is your first day at work, and we are quite excited. Next time you go to work, we won’t stay up late.”

“Okay! Now get some rest! Before dawn, there are still a few hours!” Hazel urged.

“Are you hungry? Would you like something to eat?” Avery asked.

Hazel replied, “I’m not hungry. I just want to sleep now.”

“Then go to bed quickly. Wash your face first before going to bed.” Avery reminded her as she looked at the makeup on her daughter’s face.

Hazel: “Um.”

After watching her parents go back to the room, Hazel turned to look at

Robert: “Brother, you should go to sleep too! I really didn’t expect that you would be waiting for me at home.”

Chapter 2836

“I didn’t expect that either. After your show ended, Mom and Dad suddenly came out of the room and went downstairs to eat supper.” Robert looked shocked, “I think the two of them are too excited.”

Hazel: “It’s just an internship, why are they so excited?”

“I think you’ve grown up! We see you are so capable, and you can support yourself without relying on your family in the future. This is definitely something they should be proud of.”

“Okay Go! Brother, you should go to sleep too! Stop playing with your phone all the time.” Hazel pulled him and pushed him towards the elevator.

“I’m not playing with my phone, I’m looking at business information.” Robert showed Hazel a look at the phone interface, “Dad asked me to work at the grassroots level, so I can’t embarrass him.”

“How could you embarrass Daddy? You are so outstanding.” Hazel boasted, “Brother, you are in my heart, super invincible and powerful. You can do everything.”

“Thank you for complimenting me so much. But I still changed my ID card. In Dad’s company, I dare not be surnamed Foster.” Robert said.

Hazel: “Well, don’t the people in your company know your identity?”

“Yes! I have the ability to live and work alone.” Robert’s decision was largely influenced by Hazel.

“You will do well. Brother, you should go to rest quickly! You can’t stay up late in the future, and you have to keep an eye on our parents at home, and you can’t let them stay up late.” The more Hazel thought about it, the more she felt guilty.

Robert: “Okay. You go upstairs with me, and you go to bed early.”

Hazel: "Yes."

On the second floor, after returning to the room to remove her make-up,

Hazel changed into soft pajamas and lay down on the bed.

It made sense that she should be able to fall asleep soon.

But after turning off the lights, she kept her eyes open and didn't feel sleepy.

She replayed her performance tonight over and over again in her mind.

No matter how her family praises her, she must keep a clear head, because even if she was not good enough, her family would praise her.

It's a pity that she couldn't see the replay yet, and she couldn't objectively judge how her performance was.

There was a bit of tension in her heart, but also a bit of joy.

This joy came from the fact that she finally got a decent job.

No one could understand the earnest desire for a decent job after living at the bottom for more than 10 years.

The biggest regret in her heart was that she couldn't let her mother-in-law see her current life.

How happy her mother-in-law would be if she saw that her parents treated her so well and that she was working in a TV station now!

Thinking of this, her eyes couldn't help getting wet.

She had to go back to Thopiavelle in the future, because her mother-in-law is buried in Thopiavelle.

...

Not long after, It's dawn.

Hazel didn't wake up until noon.

After waking up, she rubbed her hungry stomach, washed up briefly, and went downstairs with heavy steps.

She slept well, but it was the first time she tried to work the night shift, and her body was very uncomfortable.

After all, it hurt to stay up late.

Chapter 2837

“Hazel, did you sleep well? How do you feel? Are you tired? I asked your aunt to make tonic soup for you.” Seeing her daughter, Avery immediately stepped forward to hold her hand.

Hazel didn’t want her mother to worry, so she replied with a smile, “I’ve slept well, but I’m just a little hungry.”

“It’s unscientific. Hospitals generally don’t arrange night shifts for doctors and nurses consecutively.” Avery said distressedly.

“Mom, I’m fine. I’m going to work one more day, so I can take two days off!”

Hazel walked towards the dining hall, “What kind of soup did you cook, it smells so good.”

“Eat first to replenish blood and energy. Have some more soup after dinner.”

Avery sat down at the dining table with his daughter.

“Mom, have you eaten yet? Where’s Dad?”

The house was quiet. Hazel looked at the time when she went downstairs, it was exactly 12 o’clock.

It made sense that mom and dad ate dinner at home around this time.

“Your father went to the company. We ate at 10 o’clock, so we’re not hungry right now.” Avery didn’t get up until after 9 o’clock today, and the meal at 10 o’clock happened to be between breakfast and lunch, so he should only eat two meals today.

“Mom, is your schedule messed up with Dad? Don’t stay up late with me anymore. Otherwise, I’ll feel really guilty.”

“No, last night I mainly wanted to be with you and let you know I’m not alone. Besides, I’m also curious about how you officially become the host. After watching your show last night, I am very satisfied. I will never worry about it again.” Avery looked at Hazel lovingly, “Baby, when you are working, you are full of brilliance.”

Hazel blushed when her mother praised her: “Mom, thank you for always praising me. But I know, you and Dad was even more powerful. You and Dad are my role models.”

“You can be a role model, but don’t put pressure on it. Because we don’t ask you to be successful. What is more important than success is a healthy body and an optimistic attitude.” Avery paused for a while, “You, let’s eat first.”

Hazel obediently finished her meal, and Avery immediately filled her with a bowl of soup.

After Hazel finished drinking the soup, Avery turned on her phone and showed her: “Baby, you’re on the hot search.”

Hazel: “...”

Hazel just ate a big meal, and she still hadn’t gotten back to normal. Her mom’s words left her speechless.

“Your TV station’s official Facebook released the activity for the popularity selection of trainee anchors, and attached photos of the eight of you and a link to the show replay... Because of your outstanding appearance and excellent hosting ability, everyone likes you very much.” Avery was actually very happy that everyone liked her daughter.

Avery was worried that her daughter won’t be able to bear the influence of fame.

A person’s words and deeds would be scrutinised closely once they became famous.

Moreover, after becoming famous, someone would try to investigate Hazel's identity background. She's afraid that her true identity would not be hidden for too long.

Hazel took her mom's mobile phone and scanned the comments of netizens on the official Facebook page.

–Hazel is so beautiful! Young and beautiful! She is superior to those in the entertainment industry in terms of personality and appearance!

–I was also attracted by Hazel's face. Her eyes are so clean, and her temperament is also very special. The point is that she is also very capable in business! If you don't believe me, watch her show!

–Sister Hazel laughed a little when the program finished sorting out the manuscript! That smile just hit my heart!

–It's finally time to vote! I voted for Sister Hazel!

...

In fact, there were also supporters for other trainee anchors under the comments, but most of them support Hazel.

"Hazel, what do you think?" Avery asked her daughter, "If you don't want netizens to pay too much attention, I can ask the program team to cancel this selection event."

"No need for mom. The host circle is not the entertainment circle.

Communication won't be as popular as in the entertainment industry, and it won't be long before this will be over." Hazel said and returned the phone to her mother, "But I didn't expect everyone to like me so much. I didn't think I was particularly good-looking either! "

As she spoke, Hazel touched her face.

Avery: "Aren't you good-looking? Layla told me in private that you look better than her!"

In Avery's eyes, both Layla and Hazel were the most beautiful.

Chapter 2838

—"How is it possible!" Hazel's cheeks were hot and she laughed, "In my eyes, mom, you and sister are the most beautiful."

"Haha, You and your sister are my children, and your mom thinks you are both beautiful." Avery said kindly, "Are you really not afraid of the troubles that will be brought to you after being on the trending search? Your dad and I don't like being on the trending search."

"I don't like it either. But seeing that everyone likes me, I'm still very happy."

Hazel never dreamed that she would become angry after only working for one day.

"You can get help handling it from your dad. Being on the trending searches won't help you if you don't want to join the entertainment circle." Avery didn't want Hazel to be in the center of public opinion.

"Can Dad help me get off the trending search?" Hazel didn't want to stay on the trending search either.

"Okay." Avery turned on the phone, intending to send a message to Elliot, "I'll let your dad handle it now."

"Okay." Hazel got up to get the water glass.

After sending the message, Avery walked towards Hazel.

Avery: "You go to rest later, you must ensure enough sleep, otherwise it will hurt your body."

Hazel: "Okay, I will do some exercise as soon as I am full."

Avery: "Yeah."

"How are you doing?" Hazel took the phone, came to her mom, and chatted with her.

“Sometimes it’s your older brother who returns to Aryadelle and we celebrate the New Year at home, and sometimes we go to Bridgedale to find your brother to celebrate the New Year. But basically it’s your older brother who comes back to celebrate the New Year.” Avery said softly, “This year is also your older brother’s return. Hazel, how do you want to celebrate the New Year this year? I listen to you.”

Hazel said warmly in her heart: “Just get together as a family to eat, watch TV, chat, and play games. I can’t think of anything else.”

“I’m discussing with your dad whether we should call your two aunts over to celebrate the New Year together.” Avery expressed her thoughts, “It will be more lively if there are more people. This year’s Spring Festival is the happiest year for our family, because you’re back.”

Hazel: “Okay! There will be more excitement if there are more people.”

“Do you know why Mom wants to invite them to celebrate the New Year together?” Avery continued, “Because you have been lonely for the past ten years. Mom wants you to be surrounded by lively people from now on.”

Avery guessed that lonely people should like excitement very much.

Hazel smiled and nodded: “Mom, thank you. In fact, I spend more time outside than at home every day, but I never feel lonely, because you and dad, brothers and sisters are all in my heart. You are always in my heart.”

“Hazel, your second brother envies you very much.” Avery patted her daughter’s head, “Do you know what he envies you for? He envies your strong heart and ability to endure hardship. This time he asked to use a false identity for an internship, just to see if he can endure hardship.”

“Second brother told me. Actually, I don’t think it’s necessary. Most people who endure hardship are forced to endure hardship, so no one would be willing to take the initiative to endure hardship, right?" Hazel laughed, "I think the second brother lived too comfortably, so he wants to suffer."

"It's good to let him suffer a little bit. He is the only one among your brothers and sisters. He has hardly suffered any grievances since he was a child. If he has to say that he has suffered any grievances, it is only from your sister."

"I can see it. Second brother really very cute. There is a kind of cuteness that emerges from the mud without staining." Hazel especially liked to be with Robert because she was the same age as him.

Besides that, Robert had a relatively simple heart. He knew a lot about hobbies and studies, but he was very young about some things in society.

Avery: "Your second brother will be very happy to hear you praise him like that."

Hazel: "Mom, I often praise him. Because I really like him. Haha!"

"Mom is really relieved to see that the relationship between your brothers and sisters is so good." Avery sighed, "Mom's life is worthwhile."

Hazel: "Mom, you still have a very, very long life to live."

Avery: "Yes."

Hazel went back to the room to rest.

She tossed and turned in bed, unable to fall asleep. She picked up her phone from her pillow, opened Facebook, and checked the public opinion on the Internet.

Her name had already been removed from the hot searches, but there were more comments on the TV station's official Facebook.

Chapter 2839

—Hazel entered the voting channel and noticed that she had received many more votes than the runner-up.

After quitting Facebook, she clicked on Whatsapp and saw many messages from her classmates and teachers.

Xiomara: Hazel, you are on fire! I am so happy for you! Your vote is so high! It's rising so fast! It seems that you are the king of popularity this time! I heard that the first place in the popularity selection can sign a formal contract with the TV station! Hazel, I envy you so much!

Sloane: You have many supporters before the voting starts. I'm jealous!

Professional class teacher: Hazel, I watched your program playback, and your progress is even greater. I hope you will not be arrogant or impetuous, and continue to work hard.

Hector Joly: Hazel, take a good rest during the day today, and there should be many more people watching your show tonight. Be good!

Hazel took her mobile phone and replied to their messages respectively.

After replying to the message, she turned her phone to silent, closed her eyes, and forced herself to sleep.

.....

Seeing Hazel's reply, Sloane's eyes turned red with anger.

Hazel's reply to her was: Sister, you are also great.

Even though Hazel didn't have any aura, Sloane found her reply particularly glaring.

It's not just Hazel's reply, she felt dazzling towards Hazel now.

If Hazel wasn't there, Sloane would get a lot of attention for sure. But Hazel made it so no one else could see her.

Hazel was prettier than her, and her hosting ability was not bad. In this case, unless Sloane's hosting ability was much better than Hazel's, Hazel's future career development would not be affected by Hazel.

But Sloane knew very well that her own strength was not much stronger than Hazel's. Therefore, she had no choice but to drive Hazel away.

The most effective way was to let Hazel have an accident when hosting, so that everyone could see that Hazel was not capable.

On Facebook today, Hazel was absolutely stunning. Imagine how hideous she would be if she broadcasted a programme with an accident.

At 10:30 p.m., Hazel came to the TV station.

The editor gave her the transcript of tonight's broadcast.

"Hazel, you're popular! I've been on stage for so many years, and I've seen so many trainee anchors, and no one has ever been as popular as you."

Hazel said bluntly: "I didn't expect the audience to like me. It's a great honor And I am very grateful."

"You work hard, and more and more people will like you in the future." The editor encouraged, "You want to read the manuscript, and if there is anything that is not smooth, I can help you correct it."

Hazel: "Okay, thank you."

At 2:50 a.m., Sloane's program ended.

Sloane went backstage and walked straight to Hazel.

"Hazel, I almost forgot to tell you that when I came to work, someone gave you flowers. Because you didn't come, I signed for the flowers for you."

Hazel was a little surprised: "Flowers? Where?"

Chapter 2840

—"Sorry, I put it on the cabinet in the tea room for you. Because the bouquet of flowers is really fragrant, and I am allergic to pollen." Sloane smiled mysteriously when she said this, "There is a greeting card inside, but I didn't peek. You can go and get it back now, because I'll take a taxi back today.”

Hazel was thinking about who sent the flowers, and the more she thought about it, the more curious she became.

She glanced at the time, and there were still a few minutes until the show started.

The tea room was just outside, and it took her no more than two minutes to walk there and back.

Thinking of this, she thanked Sloane: “Thank you! I haven't received any news yet!”

Sloane guessed: “Maybe I want to give you a surprise!”

Sloane quickly changed the suit jacket on her body. Her inner wear today was a white shirt, which was her own, so she put on her own coat, removed the wig on her head, and then wanted to return home.

“I told my parents today that your parents gave you the taxi fare to go home at night, so my parents also gave me an extra sum of money.” Sloane looked in the mirror and took off her wig, “rest here I can't sleep well in the living room. I always feel that there is a strange smell.”

Haze: “Well, go back and rest after you get off work! I'm going to get the flowers.”

“Go and get it!” Sloane said calmly. After finishing, she saw Hazel walking out from the mirror.

After Hazel walked out, Sloane immediately opened the folder from her desk, took out a few sheets of paper, then walked to Hazel's desk, took out a few sheets of her press release, and replaced them.

All done in less than a minute.

After she finished all this, she put on her bag and came out of the backstage with a calm expression on her face.

Hazel came out of the tea room with a bunch of blue enchantresses in her arms.

The two met in the hallway.

“I looked at the card, and there was only one sentence of blessing on it, but no signature. I don’t know who gave it to me.” Hazel walked in front of Sloane with the flowers in her arms.

“Maybe it’s your fan today? Don’t think about it, as long as this flower is not poisonous, you can accept it! This flower is quite beautiful, I hope one day I can receive flowers from fans.” Sloane said and took out her phone and looked at the time, “Hurry up and go to the studio! Your show is about to start.”

When Sloane said this, a staff member called Hazel’s name at the backstage door, Remind her that the show was about to start.

After Hazel said goodbye to Sloane, she hurried back to the backstage.

“Who sent the flowers? They are so beautiful!” the staff asked Hazel with a smile.

“I don’t know who gave it to me! It left no name behind.” Hazel replied sweetly.

Listening to their conversation, Sloane strode into the elevator with a calm expression on her face.

After leaving the TV building, Sloane took an hourly room in a nearby hotel.

The main reason why she opened the hourly room was not for rest.

But to watch Hazel’s show.

There was a TV in the hotel.

After she opened the room and entered the room, the first thing she did was to turn on the TV and tune the channels.

After switching to the news channel, Hazel's face appeared in front of her eyes.

When they broadcast the news, the manuscript was a nine-character draft, and the live teleprompter would capture the words on the manuscript into the teleprompter.

When the host was broadcasting, the manuscript needed to be moved to ensure that the teleprompter could capture the contents of the manuscript completely.

After the two news stories were broadcast, Hazel found that the manuscript below had turned into blank paper when the third news was broadcast halfway through.

The moment she saw the blank paper, her mind also went blank.

She got the manuscript from the editor at 10:30 p.m., and she recited the manuscript until 2:00 a.m. During this period, the manuscript was in her hands, so there was absolutely no problem.

When was the manuscript replaced? She couldn't think of it at all.

But now was not the reason to think about this question.

In the studio, the director saw Hazel in front of the camera with her head slightly lowered, and did not continue the broadcast, and immediately asked her: "Hazel, what's wrong with you?"

When the director's voice came from the headset, Hazel went from being shocked woke up.

Hazel took a quick glance at the end of the manuscript on the previous page, then looked up at the camera, and continued to broadcast.

At this time, there was not a word in the teleprompter.

She was facing the camera, relying on her own memory, reciting the press release.

When the third piece of news was broadcast, the camera immediately cut to the video corresponding to the third piece of news.

Hazel immediately said to the director: "My manuscript has been changed."

Hazel didn't expect to encounter such an unexpected situation on the second day of work!

In fact, she could memorize all the press releases tonight, but because of this accident, her nervousness reached its peak.

She was incredibly tense, and she frequently lost her balance and forgot words.

After hearing her words, the director immediately enlightened: "Don't panic, after the third video is finished, I'll insert an advertisement. I'll ask someone to print another copy of your press release and send it to you."

"Okay. Thank you for your hard work." After hearing the director's words, Hazel breathed a sigh of relief in the hotel.

Sloane sat by the bed, watching the news on TV, frowning tightly, and clenched her hands.

When she saw the astonishment and panic on Hazel's face when she turned over the blank paper, she thought that Hazel was going to mess up this time, but Hazel only paused for a few seconds before restarting the broadcast.

As the third news item's video was currently playing on TV, an advertisement appeared just as it was about to end.

Sloane gritted her teeth.

Normally, there were no commercials advertisement in her show.

The director must have inserted an advertisement to help her.

After the 90-second commercial ended, the screen switched back to the studio.

Hazel's face regained her composure, and on her desk was a reprinted press release.

The following program was broadcast smoothly...Sloane turned off the TV annoyedly, inserted her hands into the root of her hair, and scratched vigorously.

She underestimated Hazel!

Unexpectedly, Hazel was able to adjust her mood so quickly when she accidentally lost the manuscript, and finished the broadcast without the manuscript.

Sloane thought for a while, if she encountered such a situation, she would definitely not be able to do what Hazel did.

She lost!

Originally thought that Hazel's internship was not as good as her own, but now it seemed that she was wrong!

Studio 6.

After the show was over, Hazel returned to the backstage.

Several staff members came immediately.

"Hazel, who changed your manuscript? This kind of thing is really bad!

Fortunately, you reacted quickly and finished broadcasting the third news in time, otherwise you don't know how it will end."

"Yes Ah! When I saw that there were no words on the teleprompter, I panicked to death. Hazel, have you memorized all the scripts, right?"

Hazel's usual smile disappeared. She frowned slightly, thinking whether to express her guess.

She thought that the person who tampered with her manuscript was Sloane, but she had no evidence.

The dressing room was like this. She frequently used this space to get ready for work, apply makeup, and memorise manuscripts.

Everyone was actually a little tired because everyone had their own tasks to complete and didn't interact much, especially during the night shift.

Only Sloane chatted with her a little more. And her position was closest to Sloane's.

After she calmed down, she thought that she only went to the bathroom once tonight, and she left her work station when she went to get flowers from the tea room.

Chapter 2842

She didn't read her manuscript during these two gaps, and was replaced unexpectedly.

The person who changed her manuscript was too scheming.

The manuscripts of her first two news stories were all normal, and the manuscript of the third news was also half.

"Hazel, I didn't change your manuscript. I swear, I really didn't do it." It was Lennox, an intern anchor of Nantah University who spoke.

Lennox's character was a bit introverted, and he didn't usually talk to them very much.

Their workstations were cubicles, and Lennox's position was in the innermost.

"Is there surveillance in the room?" Hazel asked the staff.

She had no evidence and dared not speak nonsense.

Because if Sloane didn't do something, then she would have harmed Sloane.

The staff shook his head: "There are corridors outside the door, but not indoors.”

“Without monitoring, I have no way of knowing who did it.” Hazel was a little frustrated, but calm-headed, “Forget it, I was too careless. I have a long memory tonight, I will hold all the manuscripts in my hands from now on, and I will check them carefully before going on the show.”

“It is really difficult to do without monitoring. But tonight there are only a few of you in the backstage, and it will be your manuscript People, just these few people.” The staff defended Hazel, but said earnestly, “If you don’t memorize the manuscript in advance tonight, then you will definitely have a broadcast accident tonight. Even if you were faced, you can’t argue with it. Because the anchor must check the press release before the broadcast, which is written in the regulations.”

“Yes. I am too careless to create such an accident for others.” Hazel wasn’t so angry anymore.

It was because she was not experienced enough and trusted the people around her too easily that she was caught.

Her family always praised her for being cautious, but now the reality had poured cold water on her.

She would have to be more cautious in the future.

“Okay, don’t blame yourself. You performed very well tonight, there is no major problem. Tonight’s ratings are much higher than last night. You go back to get off work and have a good rest. I will tell Director Joly when he goes to work tomorrow.” The staff comforted Hazel.

“Don’t tell him.” Hazel hesitated, “Although this matter was manipulated by someone behind the scenes, it was indeed caused by my own negligence.”

The staff: “Even if the person cannot be found out, I still have to tell Director

Joly, don't think too much, get off work!"

Hazel: "Yeah."

On the way home, Hazel looked at the night scene outside the window and lost her mind.

Her intuition told her that Sloane should be the one who wanted to cause her to make mistakes in her work.

But as soon as she thought of this, Sloane's kind appearance when she talked to her tonight automatically appeared in her mind.

Without surveillance, without evidence, she had no way to blame Sloane.

So even if she suspected that Sloane did it, she could only feel sad in her heart.

Chapter 2843

After washing her face, she went to the bed and sat down.

She thought she would lie down and relax, but she sat stiffly, looking at the phone on the bedside table.

She really wanted to find someone to talk to.

But this matter could not tell the family.

If she told her parents and siblings, they would definitely help her out.

She didn't want to involve her family in the absence of evidence.

Thinking of this, she immediately picked up her mobile phone and sent a message to Hector. After briefly telling Hector what happened tonight, she begged Hector not to tell her parents about it.

After sending the message, she found Lucas's name in the address book.

Looking at his name, Hazel was silent for a while.

She was unaware of Lucas' current situation.

Time had passed more than half a year in the blink of an eye.

Although it was only half a year, it seemed like many years had passed.

Her identity had undergone a huge change, she had learned a lot of new knowledge, and she was like being reborn.

She wasn't sure if Lucas had experienced a similar rebirth in the new setting and school.

She took a deep breath, clicked on Lucas's profile picture, and then edited the message: Young Master, have you come home this winter vacation? I guess you may not be home. I don't know if my guess is right. Whether you go home or not, I hope you can be happy. This winter vacation, I started an internship. I am now an intern anchor and work in a TV station. I used to dream that I could have a decent job, but I never thought that my wish would come true so soon. Wishes come true too quickly, there is always a feeling of unreality.

Let me show you my selfie in the studio!

Do I look like an adult now? Young master, I often imagine that if we meet again, will you recognize me at a glance? I can definitely recognize you at a glance.

When I graduate from university, I will go to Thopiavelle to visit my mother-in-law. It would be great if you are also in Thopiavelle.

It's 9:00 a.m.

Elliot received the replay video of Hazel's second episode from Hector.

Elliot cast the video on the TV in the living room and watched it with Avery.

When he saw the tenth minute, Elliot frowned.

He saw Hazel looking down at the documents on the table, obviously the news hadn't finished yet.

Normally, this shouldn't happen.

There must have been some accident, so Hazel lowered her head and didn't look at the camera.

“Why doesn’t my daughter look at the camera?” Avery also saw the clue.

After Avery finished speaking, Hazel on the TV raised her head, looked at the camera again, and continued to broadcast the unfinished news just now.

“Maybe my daughter was nervous for a while!” Elliot replied, “Hector didn’t say anything, so it should be fine.”

“Oh... After all, it’s only the second time to go to work, so it’s understandable to be a little nervous.” Avery looked at On the TV, the daughter returned to the normal broadcasting state, and she breathed a sigh of relief.

After the two watched their daughter’s show in the living room, Avery picked up her phone and searched her daughter’s name on Facebook.

Under Hazel’s topic, Avery saw the latest Facebook of netizens.

Netizen A: At 9 minutes and 31 seconds of the latest program last night, Hazel suddenly looked down at the manuscript and stopped for 5 seconds. Normally, this is considered a broadcast accident, right? Can someone who understands tell me why Hazel stopped for 5 seconds?

Netizen B: I watched the live broadcast last night. It was the third news. She stopped suddenly. I thought the TV was stuck!

Chapter 2844

Netizen C: As a senior in the hosting industry, I have the right to speak. It’s not exactly a broadcast accident. It was a small mistake at best. It is normal for trainee anchors to make small mistakes. It is good for everyone to look at this issue rationally.

Netizen D: I think there is probably something wrong with her manuscript. Otherwise, she wouldn’t suddenly get stuck.

Netizen E: Don’t the hosts of this kind of TV station read scripts to the teleprompter? The singer holds a concert, and the lyrics have a teleprompter!

The teleprompter is malfunctioning!

“Husband, some netizens said that when our daughter was broadcasting, there might be a problem with the teleprompter.” Avery read the comments of netizens, and wanted to know what was going on.

It’s a pity that Hazel was sleeping, and Avery couldn’t ask her right now.

“How about I call Hector and ask?” Elliot was actually not that nervous about this matter. Because although his daughter made a small mistake, it did not really affect the broadcasting effect of the program.

Moreover, Elliot was afraid that his daughter had really made a mistake, and the two of them paid too much attention to this mistake, which would only make her more nervous and embarrassed.

Avery shook her head: “No need. Since Hector didn’t take the initiative to say anything, it means there is nothing wrong. Our daughter is a rookie anchor, and even if mistakes are made, it is inevitable.”

“Don’t talk about rookie anchors, even if they are professionals...It is inevitable that there will be small mistakes in the anchor for many years.”

Elliot said indifferently, “Our daughter is already good enough.”

“Well. I also think she is excellent. It seems that she was born to do this job.”

Avery saw her daughter as a host, and couldn’t help fantasizing that her daughter would become a popular and well-known anchor in Aryadelle in the future.

“Our daughter should have a better future.” Elliot was not satisfied that his daughter would only be a well-known host in the future.

Speaking of this, Avery thought of Robert.

“We didn’t see Robert after we got up. Is Robert still sleeping?”

Hearing Avery’s words, the maid immediately came over: “Robert went out at 8 o'clock. Isn't he going to work now? Is it? He said he has to open it every day!"

Avery had no idea Robert would value this job so highly.

"It feels like after Hazel came back, our family's life has undergone tremendous changes." Avery sighed, "I'm talking about spirituality."

"Isn't this good? Now that our kids are mature, we can take it easy and enjoy life." Elliot couldn't help but start planning, "Let's go on a trip in a few years!"

Avery looked at Elliot's expectant face and nodded, "Alright."

Elliot: "Where would you like to go? Let's make a plan."

"Let me think about it." Avery had travelled to many places, but the world was big, and there were still many places she had yet to visit.

She once told Elliot that when the children grew up and had their own families, the two of them would go and visit all the places they hadn't visited.

At 11:30am, Hazel woke up hungry.

Through today's and yesterday's experience, she decided to go home from get off work in the early morning and find something to fill her stomach before going to bed.

It's really uncomfortable to be woken up from hunger.

Hazel came down from upstairs and saw her parents in the living room.

"Mom and Dad." Hazel called obediently.

"Did you wake up from hunger again?" Avery walked in front of Hazel and took her to the dining room, "What time did you come back last night? Your mom doesn't even know when you come back!"

"Back at 4 o'clock." The smile on Hazel's face was very relaxed, "Mom, have you eaten yet?"

"Not yet! Let's eat together."

Avery and Hazel sat down at the dining table, and Elliot also walked over slowly.

The maid immediately brought the food to the table.

Chapter 2845

Hazel was very hungry, so she buried her head and ate a bowl of rice first.

Seeing Hazel eating in such a hurry, Avery immediately filled her with a bowl of soup.

“Drink some soup, don’t choke.”

“Mm... Mom, I’m really hungry. I feel hungry after going to work.” Hazel picked up the soup bowl and took a sip of soup, “Mom, I have two days off next.”

“Let’s take you out to do New Year’s shopping!” Avery had already made arrangements.

In the 10 years that Hazel lived outside, she lived in such poverty, so she certainly didn’t have a good year.

“Okay! What do you buy for the New Year?” Hazel put down the soup bowl to let her stomach relax.

Avery: “Typically, we’ll shop some lovely flowers and greenery, as well as lanterns, couplets, blessing figures, and some lovely lanterns. Fireworks are also present. Fireworks will be set to release on New Year’s Eve every year. However, we’ll adjust the time this year. If you are going to work, we’ll set off the fireworks before you leave or after you get home.”

Hazel listened to her mom’s words, feeling very special: “Let’s put it on before I go to work! Sleep well at night and don’t stay up late.”

Avery: “It’s rare to sleep well on New Year’s Eve. Isn’t there a square outside our community, and the square will basically set off fireworks all night.”

Hazel wondered: “Wouldn’t this keep those around you awake?”

Avery: "Only once a year, it's okay."

Hazel asked, "Oh. Do we have to go to that square to set off the fireworks?"

"We can set it off in the yard." Avery explained with a smile, "The neighbors are far away from us. And they also set off fireworks."

"Where is sister celebrating the New Year this year?" Hazel suddenly thought that her brother Hayden would be back soon, so she thought of her sister Layla.

After Hazel asked this question, Avery and Elliot were silent.

Neither of them had talked to Layla about it.

Layla did not take the initiative to tell them where to celebrate the New Year this year.

Theoretically, Layla should return home for the New Year since she hadn't yet received her certificates and Eric hadn't performed a wedding ceremony.

But they couldn't look at the relationship between Layla and Eric with ordinary eyes.

"Hazel, why don't you ask your sister in private." Avery lowered her voice when she said this.

"Okay! I'll ask her later." Hazel added another bowl of rice.

She was sure that after going to work, her appetite became bigger and her appetite got better and better.

After lunch, Hazel went back to her room to get her mobile phone.

After sending her sister a message, she started looking at unread messages on her phone.

Hector replied to her with a 'yes' and another sentence of 'I will investigate this matter, even if there is no evidence that I can't do anything to the mastermind behind the scenes, but I will not tolerate'.

After reading Hector's message, she saw a friend request.

She opened it and saw that it was Lennox.

She immediately accepted Lennox's friend request.

Lennox's show was behind her, he got off work later than Hazel, but woke up earlier than Hazel.

It was probably because of what happened last night that affected him.

Because there was no monitoring, he couldn't get rid of the suspicion.

Lennox immediately sent her a message: [Hazel, I didn't change your manuscript. I swear to God.]

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Chapter 2846

–Hazel: [After leaving my station, have you seen anyone who has been to my station?]

Lennox: [My desk is facing away from you. I was reciting manuscripts after work last night, and I really didn't notice who went to your desk.]

Hazel: [All right, it's all right. Don't think too much, just work hard.]

Lennox: [Hazel, you should have doubts, right?]

Hazel: [There is no evidence.]

Lennox: [So you plan to do nothing?]

Hazel: [Without evidence, I can't do anything.]

There was a thin piece of cellophane between them.

Lennox must have wanted to ask Hazel if she suspected Sloane.

But Hazel would not tell the truth to Lennox. If it weren't for what happened last night, neither of them would be friends.

There was no need to say anything because she couldn't even speak.

Lennox: [Then you should be more careful in the future. Also, I watched your program last night, and your ability to respond to emergencies is really strong. I want to learn from you.]

Hazel: [Thank you.]

After chatting with Lennox, Hazel saw Layla's reply: [Of course I'm going home for the New Year. Even if Eric and I get the certificate, I have to go home for the New Year!]

Seeing her sister's reply, Hazel immediately beamed with joy.

Mom and dad would be overjoyed if her sister returned for the New Year.

Hazel sent a message back to Layla: [Then you and my brother-in-law will celebrate the New Year separately?]

Layla: [I'll take him back to our house for the New Year! I've already talked to his parents but I haven't told him yet.]

Hazel couldn't help laughing: [Then why don't you talk to my brother-in-law first and then you'll talk to his parents.]

Layla: [Did Mom and Dad tell you to ask me?]

Hazel: [...um.]

Layla: [Why didn't they just ask me?]

Hazel: [Maybe it's because they're afraid of putting pressure on you.]

Layla: [What's the pressure. I have moved to Eric's house, so I will definitely go back to my own house during the holidays!]

Hazel: [Sister, I think what you said makes sense.]

Layla: [Tell mom and dad directly, just say that I go home for the New Year.]

Hazel: [Alright.]

Layla: [By the way, I saw on Facebook that you had a little accident on your show last night. I watched the video. Did you forget the words or something?]

Hazel thought about it and decided not to tell her sister the truth. Suddenly, she couldn't think of anything else to say. She could be too nervous!

Layla: [Oh, don't be nervous, do the job if you are happy, and quit if you are not. Just treat it normally.]

Layla's comfort made Hazel heal instantly.

After sending messages to Layla for a while, a new message popped up.

Seeing that the message was from Sloane, Hazel immediately clicked on the message without even thinking about it.

Sloane: [Hazel, I just woke up and saw the news that there was something wrong with your press release last night. What's going on?]

Looking at the text she sent, Hazel's mood, which had just calmed down, became turbulent again.

–pretend to be confused.

–The thief shouted, catch the thief.

–Know it well, ask questions knowingly.

At this moment, a series of similar words appeared in Hazel's mind.

Chapter 2847

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2847–Sloane sent another message: [Is it convenient for you to talk on the phone now? How about we talk on the phone!]

Hazel didn't want to hear Sloane's voice, so she replied: [It's not convenient for me now.]

Sloane: [All right! Hazel, I don't know what happened to your press release, but I can be sure that I haven't touched your release.]

Hazel: [The director said he would investigate. Just wait for the director's investigation results!] []

Sloane: [Mmmm! Are you taking two days off next? Me too. Do you want to come out and play?]

Hazel: [I want to be with my family.]

Sloane: [All right! Don't worry about what happened last night. I just watched a replay of your show, and you're doing really well!]

If a normal classmate or a normal colleague said this to her, she would reply with a 'thank you', but to Sloane, she couldn't say thank you.

She directly closed the Sloane dialog box.

"Hazel, have you sent a message to your sister?" Avery saw Hazel walking down the stairs, so she asked.

Hazel: "Sent it, my sister said that she will bring my brother-in-law back to celebrate the New Year this year."

"Oh, yes!" Avery smiled, "Hazel, do you want to rest for a while?"

"Mom, Right now, I can't sleep. No more." Hazel walked to her mother, "Let's go shopping!"

Avery: "Okay."

"Then I'll change clothes." Hazel let go of her mother and immediately ran upstairs.

Looking at her daughter's back, Avery could imagine how good her daughter was in a good mood at the moment.

At this time, Avery's cell phone rang.

Avery glanced at the call reminder, it was Layla's call.

Avery immediately answered the phone.

"Mom, can I ask you something?"

Avery looked at Elliot uncontrollably after hearing what Layla said.

Seeing his wife's eyes, Elliot immediately sensed that something was wrong.

"What's the matter? It's so mysterious, can't others know?" Avery saw that Elliot had come over, and knew that she couldn't hide this matter from him.

"That's...can you secretly give me your household registration booklet?"

Layla's voice was still low, "I asked Eric's mother for his family's household registration booklet."

Avery immediately understood Layla's intentions.

"You have to discuss this with Eric! Otherwise, are you going to trick him into the Civil Affairs Bureau?" Avery's temple twitched.

"Mom, it's not that I don't know him well. He's so awkward. If I don't take the initiative, I will never marry him." Layla sighed, "Mom, just help me!"

"Why are you so anxious all of a sudden?" Avery didn't want to help, but wanted to know what Layla was thinking.

Layla cleared her throat, and answered honestly: "I want to live with him."

"I know you two live together!" Avery said this, and immediately realized that what Layla meant was not what she understood, "Are you two sleeping in the same room?"

"Hmm. His house is too much space, and I'm afraid of sharing a room by myself." Layla made excuses for herself, "And I'm also afraid that something unexpected will happen to him..."

"You two didn't mess around, did you?" Avery blushed anxiously.

Avery wasn't afraid that Layla will get pregnant; she's afraid that Eric's body won't be able to handle it.

Like Eric, who had just gotten a new heart, it would be at least six months before he could have s*xual relations.

"Mom, what are you thinking!" Layla's voice suddenly rose, "Do I look like such an unreliable person? The doctor finally saved his life, how could I act recklessly! I just want to get a certificate from him. Because I think I already live with him now, so I can get the certificate as soon as possible.”

Avery breathed a sigh of relief: “You can have a household registration, you can get it yourself when you come back.”

“Oh... Dad is at home?” Layla asked.

“Yes! He’s right next to me. He heard everything you said to me just now.”

When Avery said this, she glanced at Elliot beside her.

The expression on Elliot’s face was very complicated.

“Later you go shopping with Hazel, I’ll wait for Layla at home.” Elliot said to Avery.

Chapter 2848

When Elliot said this, Avery’s phone was still on. So on the other side of the phone, Layla heard what her dad said clearly.

Layla didn’t say that she would come here to get the household registration book now! But after Dad said that, it made it impossible for Layla not to come.

“My daughter didn’t say she was coming now.” Avery reminded.

“Why, are you afraid of me?” After Elliot said these words calmly, he sat down on the sofa again.

Seeing Elliot’s appearance, Avery planned to have a good talk with Layla.

So Avery said to Layla: “If you’re not busy at the moment, come over here!

Tell your dad well, and he will give it to you.” At the end, she added: “Your sister and I are going out to buy new year’s goods.”

Layla whipped in pain: “Mom, can’t you go later? I’ll call Hazel, why don’t you go later!”

Avery: “Your dad wants to talk to you alone.”

Layla: “Okay! Daddy won’t scold me, will he?”

Avery: “He agrees with you moving to Eric’s house, so why would he object to you getting the certificate? As long as you speak well and be sincere, he will definitely not make things difficult for you.”

With her mom, Layla was a little less nervous.

“Why didn’t you call me when you went to buy New Year’s goods?” Layla changed the subject, “In the past, we went to do New Year’s goods together.”

“The situation is different this year! You have moved to Eric’s place, don’t Eric’s family have to do New Year’s goods? You usually work hard, and you have to take care of Eric, so I didn’t call you.” Avery explained her.

“I’m so busy at work...” After saying this, Layla thought that she was a little busy recently, and changed her words again, “I’m really a little busy these days. Then go buy new year’s goods! Help me Buy one, and I’ll take it directly to Eric’s house when the time comes.”

If Eric’s body didn’t have to rest at home, Layla would definitely go shopping with Eric to buy new year’s goods.

It’s just that the situation was special now, and Layla didn’t bother to do it alone.

“Okay! Think about it and see if you have anything special to add. If not, I’ll just buy it.” From the corner of Avery’s eyes, she saw Hazel walking down the stairs.

Layla: “You can buy whatever you want! Then I will go to find my dad now.”

Avery: “Well. Be careful driving on the road.”

Avery’s casual reminder stunned Layla.

The car she was driving now belonged to Eric because hers had been sent in for maintenance.

But Eric’s car was also excellent; if her dad asked, she only needed to come up with an excuse.

After Avery took Hazel out, Elliot immediately called for the driver and asked the driver to pick up Eric.

Obtaining a marriage certificate was a big deal.

Layla wanted to unilaterally force Eric to obtain the certificate, but Elliot felt ashamed.

How could Layla suffer such grievances?

As long as Elliot was alive, he couldn't ignore his daughter's affairs.

On the way back from work, Layla bought a bouquet of carnations when she passed by a flower shop in order to please her dad.

Although it was difficult to say, it was simple to say that it was difficult to please her dad.

Any gift for her dad was unnecessary because he didn't like snacks or flowers.

But her Dad was also easy to coax. His attitude would be much better if she just said something gentle to him.

Half an hour later, Layla drove back to Foster's house. She held flowers and kept a big smile on her face.

Chapter 2849

The bodyguard was in front of her, walked to the door of the villa first, and opened the door for her.

Before Layla changed her shoes, she saw her dad and... Eric sitting on the sofa.

The smile on Layla's face froze immediately.

Why was Eric here?

Did he come by himself, or did Dad find him?

"Dad." Layla called Dad first, then quickly changed her slippers, strode up to Eric, and asked, "Why are you here?"

“I asked the driver to pick him up.” Elliot looked at the flowers in his daughter’s arms, “Who did you buy them for?”

Layla immediately hugged the flowers in front of her daddy, “Of course it’s for you. Dad, why did you call him here?”

“Don’t you want to get the household registration book at home? Since you need to get the certificate, you got it alone?” Elliot took the flower and handed it to the waiting maid.

The maid immediately took the flowers and put them aside.

After Elliot finished speaking, Eric looked at Layla in surprise.

Obviously, Eric only knew about Layla’s plan after hearing what Elliot said.

“Why are you looking at me like that?” Layla looked straight into his eyes and said confidently, “I said the wedding will be held in half a year, but didn’t I say that I will get the certificate in half a year?”

Eric couldn’t say no to her.

After all, he had already accepted her to move to his house, and it would be very fake to refuse now.

Elliot picked up the water glass on the coffee table, took a sip of water, moistened his throat, and expressed his attitude.

“Eric, although you are relatively weak now, I can’t ask too much of you, but there must be rules. If you want to marry my daughter, you have to follow my rules.” Elliot made a request.

Layla raised her eyebrows: “What rules, Dad? Why didn’t I know you have rules?”

“You can’t be perfect without rules.” Elliot gave his daughter a cold look, “First of all, you must have a diamond ring for engagement. Secondly, you must knee on one knee.”

Layla couldn’t laugh or cry.

Unexpectedly, her dad, who was serious and unsmiling, would say such a thing.

“Dad, did you propose to my mom in this way? Why have I never heard of this process?” Layla was not as nervous as before.

“My marriage with your mom was arranged by the elders. It’s different from your situation.” Elliot said seriously, “If he doesn’t follow my instructions, I can’t give you the household registration book.”

Elliot had a tough attitude and a domineering tone. Layla knew that if she didn’t follow what her dad said, she would definitely not get the household registration book. So she immediately compromised: “Then I’ll go buy a diamond ring now.”

“He should buy it, not you.” Elliot corrected his daughter.

“Dad, he can’t go out. Mom said he has to recuperate at home.” Layla helped Eric speak, “We need to analyze specific things in detail! We can’t be so rigid.”

“As long as he has money, he can naturally buy a diamond ring without leaving home. It depends on whether he wants to buy it or not.” Elliot said lightly.

Layla understood what her dad meant. So she walked up to Eric and discussed with Eric: “You find someone to buy a diamond ring. I proposed to us today to get the certificate. Otherwise, it would be unfair for the two of us to live together. I don’t like it.”

Layla’s words made Eric nod his head.

Eric really couldn’t let Layla suffer this kind of grievance.

“Another day! Today is too hasty.” Eric couldn’t just buy a diamond ring for Layla.

He had to give her the best because he was going to marry her.

“But I want to get a certificate with you today. I don’t know why, I can’t control myself.” Layla begged, “You buy a ring and propose to me first.”

“There is a jewelry store near our neighborhood.” Layla held out her hand to Eric, “Give me your wallet. I’ll ask our driver to buy it.”

Chapter 2850

A look of embarrassment flashed across Eric’s eyes.

“I didn’t bring my wallet.”

When Elliot sent the driver to pick up Eric, Eric thought something serious happened, he didn’t have time to bring anything except his phone.

“Use my mobile phone to pay the bill. You can buy it with the driver.

Otherwise, the size may not be suitable.” Eric handed his mobile phone to Layla.

Layla took his mobile phone, pressed the power button, and the screen displayed to enter the password.

“What’s your mobile phone password?” Layla asked with a blushing face.

“Your birthday.” Eric’s face was also a little red, “All the passwords in the phone, the four-digit number is your birth month and day, and the six-digit number is your year, month and day.”

Layla wouldn’t be so embarrassed if it wasn’t at Mom and Dad’s.

She took Eric’s cell phone and ran out like an escape.

Elliot stared at Eric and asked, “When did you change the password to my daughter’s birthday?”

“After she moved to my house.” Eric explained, “In case I have an accident one day, she can help me deal with the funeral.”

“My daughter is here to handle the funeral for you.” Elliot sneered.

“My parents can also take care of my funeral.” Eric said calmly, “I know your family is not short of money, and Layla is not short of money, but I have nothing to give her now except money.”

This topic was a bit heavy.

Elliot didn't confront him like before, he had to win him to relieve his anger.

“As long as my daughter is with you, you must make her happy. Whatever she wants, as long as you can do it, you must listen to her.” Elliot made his request.

Eric: “Um.”

“Did Layla tell you what happened to my family during the New Year this year?” Elliot continued.

Eric shook his head: “No.”

“If you want to spend the New Year with your parents, you can. I just want my daughter to come back for the New Year.” Elliot expressed his attitude.

This year was Hazel's first year after returning to Foster's house, so Elliot paid special attention to it.

This year's Spring Festival, their family must spend the New Year together.

“I listen to Layla's arrangements. She has already drawn my parents into her camp. My parents listen to her now.” Eric was very helpful.

“Because your parents know that Layla is the best choice you can find.” In Elliot's eyes, his daughter was naturally the best in the world.

Eric had nothing to refute, so he didn't answer.

...

in the shopping mall.

As the end of the year approaches, the decorations in the shopping mall were full of New Year's flavor.

There were also many more people shopping than usual.

Both Hazel and Avery were wearing masks. Two bodyguards followed behind them, and the driver helped them carry their things.

“Mom, that tree is so beautiful!” When Hazel passed a flower shop, she was attracted by the peach tree inside.

The peach tree in the store was full of peach blossoms.

Fresh colors, especially the New Year atmosphere.

Chapter 2851

“That’s peach blossom.” Avery saw that Hazel liked it, so she went into the shop with her.

“Mom, isn’t peach blossom blooming this season?” Hazel asked suspiciously, “Is that a fake flower? But it looks so realistic.”

The owner of the store heard Hazel’s words and immediately explained: “This is a real peach blossom. If you don’t believe me, if you look closer, it still has the fragrance of peach blossoms! This is specially cultivated to bloom in January. Therefore, it is more expensive to sell.”

Avery didn’t ask the price, but carefully looked at the peach blossoms and trees.

“It seems to be true.” Avery looked at Hazel, “If you like it, we’ll buy it and take it home.”

Hazel really liked it very much, but there seemed to be only a peach tree in the store.

Hazel moved closer to her mom’s ear and whispered, “I think my sister will definitely like it.”

Avery took another look at peach blossom, maybe Layla would really like it.

“Mom, don’t talk, I’ll bargain.”

Hazel finished talking to her mom in a low voice, and then asked the shop owner how much this peach tree cost.

The shop owner saw that Avery and Hazel were dressed in decent clothes, so he immediately said, "You guys really know the goods. This peach blossom tree only blooms but does not bear fruit. It is a New Year's Eve flower imported from abroad. It is placed in the living room during the New Year. It can attract wealth and peach blossom luck, and it can survive for a long time if it is properly preserved! We bought this peach blossom tree in our store, and now we sell it to you at a cheap price."

Hazel didn't expect that a peach tree would sell for $30,000.

It was still a peach tree that only bloomed but did not bear fruit.

"Boss, if it's March, how much would you sell for such a big peach tree?"

Hazel asked the shop owner calmly.

The owner was stunned for a moment, he didn't expect Hazel to play cards a little bit out of routine.

"This... we don't sell peach trees in March... I don't know the market in March."

The Shop owner was a wise man who understood that neither the peach trees nor the peach blossoms could be sold for a high price because the peach blossoms bloom in March.

"Boss, we have several peach trees planted in our yard! It is bigger than the one you sold. When it blooms in March, the flowers bloom more beautifully than yours! Of course, the peach trees in our yard can't bloom now, so it can't compare with you."

"That's right! It's only valuable because it's blooming now." The shop owner blushed, thinking that this little girl was quite eloquent, "If you really want it, I can give it to you at a lower price.”

“Boss, how about $8888? Such a big tree will take up space in the store, so it’s better to sell it early to recover the cost. It’s already late January, and it will be February in a few days. I’m afraid your peach tree will lose one 8 by then.”

Hazel actually thinks that $8888 was expensive.”

It’s just that it’s approaching the end of the year, and everything was expensive.

This tree was also pretty big, and its flowers bloomed well. The shop owner might not want to sell it if the price was lower.

After all, there were many rich people in Avonsville, and there were probably many who are willing to pay a high price for it.

Chapter 2852

— “The boss just now, isn’t his wife and children in the store?” Hazel still felt that the price was too expensive, “If I didn’t think my sister would like it very much, I wouldn’t even buy $1888. “

“Hahaha, if your sister knew that you had invested so much money for her, she wouldn’t know how happy she would be.” Avery could feel her daughter’s sincerity.

“I don’t know what’s going on with Dad and sister.” Hazel was a little worried, “Dad won’t talk about sister, right?”

Avery shook her head: “Probably not. Your father is a loving father. Even if he wants to teach the child a lesson, he will speak well and not lose his temper.”

“I’m afraid that Dad won’t give my sister the household registration book.”

Hazel expressed her worry, “My sister has already moved to live with brother-in-law Eric, and I don’t think there is any need to stop them from being together.”

“If you can think that way, your father may not think so. It’s just that your sister is still too impulsive to do things. If she wants to get a certificate on a whim, she must get a certificate, and she doesn't give other people advance notice..." Avery said.

"After all, she and brother-in-law have gone through many tests. Now they only need a certificate and a formal wedding." Hazel could understand her sister's mood.

Avery: "Don't worry, your father won't embarrass them. Just wait for your sister's good news."

Avery and Elliot had been together for so many years, and she dare not say that she was a roundworm in his stomach, but she knew him very well.

"Yeah! Mom, what should we buy again?" Hazel lost her mind, and smiled again.

"Buy some more flowers and green plants, and then go buy lanterns and couplets... I also need to buy some red paper, and then I can write blessings by myself. Hazel, can you write with a brush?"

Hazel shook her head: "I won't."

Avery: "I'll teach you when the time comes, it's very simple."

Hazel: "OK!"

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Layla and Eric received their marriage certificate at the Civil Affairs Bureau.

Holding the newly released certificate, Layla took a photo with her mobile phone and sent it to the family group.

Layla: [I'm married I'm married I'm married!]

Robert: [Didn't you propose marriage?]

Layla: [Please, please! I begged in front of my dad!]

Robert: [You begged Eric in front of your dad?]

Layla: [beats] [He got down on one knee! And the diamond ring too!]

Layla: [The Diamond Ring.jpg]

Robert: [This diamond ring is a bit ordinary.]

Hayden: [Very ordinary.]

Hazel: [Congratulations sister and brother-in-law! The registration photos are so beautiful! The diamond ring is also beautiful! The style is simple and generous, so beautiful to wear!]

Robert: [Little sister, you are really the king of our family! pistachio!]

Chapter 2853

— Eric's house was not far from Foster's house, and Layla could come back whenever she wanted.

Elliot looked at the new year's goods that his wife and daughter had bought all afternoon, and sighed at their purchasing power.

They bought more New Year's goods this year than in previous years.

They bought a lot of flowers and green plants, which had already been sent to Eric's house.

They also bought countless big lanterns, small lanterns, and various colored lights.

Not only that, but they also bought a lot of colorful balloons and pumps.

Elliot looked at these colorful little things and asked, "Where are you going to hang the balloons?"

Avery: "The living room! When the time comes, the background wall will be filled with balloons to form the words Happy New Year. How festive!"

Elliot nodded: "It's indeed a celebration. Do you need my help to pump up the balloon?"

If Elliot kept himself busy, he wouldn't have time to worry about Layla and Eric getting married.

“Yes! Not only can you help cheer up, but you can also help hang the lanterns on the potted plants.” Avery arranged work for him.

“Hmm. You must be tired from shopping all afternoon, right? Take a break.”

Elliot took the pump and started pumping up the balloon.

“I’m not tired. I’m happy shopping with my daughter. My daughter is especially good at bargaining. In fact, I used to be very good at bargaining when I was young. But after being with you, I gradually lost this skill.” Avery complained, “I’ll take you with me next time we go shopping.”

“Yes.” Elliot also wanted to see how Hazel bargained.

Hazel had changed a lot since she returned to Foster’s house in summer until now.

When Hazel first returned to Foster’s house, she was obviously timid, afraid to speak, and there was timidity in her eyes. Now she was cheerful and confident.

“Mom and Dad, look!” Hazel hung a string of colored lights on a green leafy tree, and she turned on the switch of the colored lights. Suddenly, the green leafy tree shone with dazzling brilliance as if it would glow.

“It’s so beautiful.” Avery walked to her daughter, looked at the decorated tree, and smiled, “There are so many lanterns left!”

“These lanterns can be placed in the bushes in the yard.” Hazel had already thought about it in her heart, “I’ll take them to the yard and hang them up now.”

Avery: “It’s cold outside. I’ll get it after dinner.”

“Let’s eat when the second brother comes back from get off work!” Hazel felt a fire in her heart, and she didn’t feel cold at all.

Seeing that she insisted on going to the yard, Avery brought her a coat.

Avery also put on her coat and went to the yard with Hazel.

Seeing that the mother and daughter were going out, Elliot immediately turned on the lights in the yard.

It was only past five o'clock, and it was not completely dark yet.

The house had not been this lively for a long time.

Before Hazel came back, even if Layla and Robert were at home, it was not so lively.

Hazel was now full of enthusiasm for this home, no matter in a certain corner of the house or in the wide yard.

"Mom, it seems to be raining lightly. Go back to the house." After Hazel came out with a bag of lanterns, she felt the rain hitting her face.

It wasn't raining much, so she planned to dress up the lanterns before going back to the house.

Avery put her coat and hood on for her, and said, "I'll go to the house to get an umbrella."

Avery had already seen Hazel's determination not to go back to the house until she finished her work.

At half past six in the evening, Robert came home.

Seeing the glittering lanterns in the yard and the red lanterns under the eaves of the villa, Robert once wondered if he entered the wrong house.

"Is our family celebrating the new year early? Our company is not on holiday yet!" Robert muttered in a low voice and stopped the car. After getting out of the car, he walked a few steps to the door of the villa to change his shoes.

As a result, the living room was seen full of balloons.

"Ah! My sister posted it on Moments!" Hazel suddenly swiped to her sister's Moments, and screamed out loud.

Chapter 2854

— Layla posted 9 pictures in Moments.

They were the marriage certificate, a picture of her finger wearing a diamond ring, a selfie of her under the peach blossoms, and a group photo of her and Eric.

The photo of her and Eric was divided into the previous photo of the two of them and the current photo.

After reading these 9 pictures, the mood would rise accordingly, and she couldn't help but scream for their feelings.

"Your sister is not afraid that others will post the pictures she posted on the Internet!" After hearing Hazel's exclamation, Avery immediately walked to her and saw the circle of friends posted by Layla.

"Brother-in-law has quit the circle, even if everyone knows about the two of them, it shouldn't matter, right?" Hazel smiled brightly.

She substituted her sister. If she married the man she liked but couldn't make it public, the joy would be greatly reduced.

"It doesn't affect Eric anymore, but it might affect your sister. Don't underestimate Eric's influence. If some of his fans go to follow your sister, it will affect your sister, is it?" When Avery said this, she couldn't help but frowned, "Next, we have to arrange more bodyguards for Layla."

Elliot nodded.

"Okay, let's go eat first!" Avery was a little hungry, and looked at his son,

"Robert, are you tired from work today?"

Robert: "I thought you guys forgot my existence."

"You are such an old man, how could you forget you? I also heard you outside saying that our family celebrated the New Year early." Avery smiled kindly at his son, "We are all waiting for you to come back for dinner!"

Robert was immediately coaxed.

"When I first entered the yard, I almost thought I had gone through the wrong door. If I hadn't seen the car in the yard, I might really have turned around."

Robert walked up to his father, "Dad, did you take a video of the process of proposing to my sister?"

Elliot: "Do you want to see it?"

Robert's face was filled with gossip: "I'm just curious..."

"You don't have a girl you like, do you? Want to learn from your brother-in-law how to propose to a girl?" Avery's face was also full of gossip.

But Avery's gossip was about his youngest son, Robert.

Robert waved his hands again and again as if his tail had been stepped on:

"No, no, mom, don't guess. I have a very pure relationship with the girls in our class. Besides, even if I am really in love, it's impossible to propose to someone else!"

"You can propose marriage without graduating. Isn't there a lot of college students getting married and having children before graduating? As long as the person you are looking for is of good character, your parents will not stop you." Avery said enlightenedly.

"Mom, don't talk about it, I have goose bumps. I am still a child! My brother is not married, so I am not in a hurry." Robert was more homesick. He was sure that he was heteros*xual, but he was really in no hurry to find a woman to marry.

The family sat down at the table and began to eat dinner.

After dinner, Elliot called Robert aside and listened to his report on today's work.

Avery and Hazel were playing with the balloons that Dad had made in the living room.

About half an hour later, Avery's and Elliot's cell phones rang at the same time.

Their phones hadn't rang at the same time.

So the attention of the whole family was attracted by these two bells.

Avery immediately went to the coffee table to get her mobile phone.

Elliot's cell phone was on the sideboard.

Robert walked to the sideboard in two steps, picked up his dad's mobile phone, and handed it to him.

"Hello."

"Hello."

Avery and Elliot answered the phone at the same time.

Chapter 2855

— Elliot's call was from his assistant.

Avery's call was from Tammy.

"Boss, Eric officially announced his marriage to Miss Layla on his Facebook page. Many business partners called me and asked me if it was true."

Elliot's temple twitched.

He only knew that Layla had posted the wedding photo on Moments, but he didn't expect Eric to post it on Facebook as well.

"Let me see." After Elliot said, he minimized the call, opened Facebook with his slender fingers, and found Eric's Facebook page.

Eric also posted 9 pictures. It's exactly the same as what Layla posted in Moments.

But Eric provided the text.

His accompanying text is as follows:

–I’m married. I’m honored that my wife is the girl I have liked for a long time. I considered that I quit the circle and didn’t want to occupy public resources anymore, but I thought that even if I didn’t make it public online, some media friends would make it public, so let me come forward and explain it clearly to everyone!

My wife is not an insider, but everyone should be familiar with her. I hope fans and friends from the media will not bother her, thank you.

...

Eric’s Facebook page had only been posted for ten minutes, but it already has 100,000 comments and 500,000 likes.

The most popular comment was Tate Industries’s official Facebook page.

Tate Industries official Facebook: Congratulations to Eric! Congratulations boss! I wish the boss and Eric a happy wedding and a long and lasting life!

Tammy’s laughter kept coming from the phone: “I also commented on that Facebook. When I saw his Facebook page, there were only a few thousand comments. When my comment is posted and refreshed, it will be 20,000 f*cking. There are many comments! My comments were submerged in the vast ocean in an instant! I also planned to let Eric scoop me up, let me feel the joy of 999+ likes! But I was unable to locate my own comments.”

Avery’s mood was mixed: “I don’t know if this is a good thing or a bad thing. Eric’s influence is too great, and I’m afraid it will affect their future lives.”

“What are you afraid of? So many celebrities have officially announced their marriages, and I haven’t seen any impact on their lives.” Tammy’s laughter continued, “The two of them received their certificates today. Why didn’t you tell me about such an important matter? ah?”

“I took Hazel out shopping today, and I’ve been dressing up at home after shopping.” Avery replied, “I’ll take a look at Eric Facebook page.”

Tammy: “Go and see! It’s as lively as New Year’s Eve.”

After finishing the phone call, Avery opened Facebook.

As a result, Facebook was blank.

“Do you have internet? Why is there no internet on my phone?” Avery thought it was a problem with the internet.

Hazel immediately took her mother’s phone and took a look: “The network is connected! See if other apps can be opened.”

Hazel casually clicked on any other app, and it could be opened.

“Mom, it’s Facebook that’s pumped.”

“Oh...” Avery’s tone was a little regretful.

For a moment, she couldn’t tell what it was like.

The daughter’s marriage was settled, which was actually a matter of concern, but now that things were going so vigorously, Avery was vaguely worried.

“Mom, don’t worry. Brother-in-law must have thought it through before he decided to publish it on Facebook.” Hazel advised her mom, “Even if brother-in-law doesn’t publish it on Facebook, other media will report it. My brother-in-law took this action because he didn’t want to wrong my sister.”

After listening to her daughter’s analysis, Avery couldn’t help but laugh: “Your sister has liked to express herself in public since she was a child. She really doesn’t care if everyone knows about her marriage. It is estimated that Eric’s doing so will only make your sister happier.”

Chapter 2856

— “That’s right! It’s good for my sister to be happy.” Hazel felt that as long as she didn’t hurt others, of course she could be as happy as she could.

“The same goes for your sister. She didn’t tell us about such a big matter.”

Avery blamed.

“Maybe my sister doesn’t think it’s a big deal!” Hazel explained, “Mom, you don’t have to worry. I don’t think they will affect their lives if they make it public.”

Avery picked up the phone and clicked on Eric’s Facebook. At this time, there were already 200,000 comments...

The number one hot search was: Eric’s official announcement
The second hot search was: Eric was married

The third hot search was: Eric’s wife

The fourth hot search was: Tate Industries

The fifth hot search was: Who is Layla Tate?

The sixth hot search was: When the apricot blossoms and spring rain that year?

Avery looked at these words and suddenly remembered that this was the title of a TV series.

It was an idol drama filmed by Eric and Layla many years ago.

And Layla played the heroine when she was a child.

“Our family hasn’t been so lively on the Internet for many years.” Avery looked at the trending searches that had exploded, and had completely accepted this reality, “Your father is also on the trending searches.”

Hazel glanced towards the dining room.

Her Dad and the second brother were swiping their mobile phones over there, probably also watching the news on the Internet.

Elliot saw a Facebook under the topic of ‘Eric’s wife’.

This Facebook said that Eric quit the circle because of the request of the woman’s family.

It’s said that although Eric was top class, there was still a big gap between him and the real top rich Foster family.

It was this Facebook that was directly slaughtered by Eric's fans.

The following comments were all saying that Layla was not good enough for Eric.

If Elliot hadn't given Layla the account book yet, then he probably wouldn't.

"Dad, don't be angry. There are keyboard warriors on the Internet." Robert glanced at his dad's mobile phone screen, and then persuaded, "So long as Eric treats my sister well, my sister will be happy. "

Elliot listened to his son's advice and put down his phone.

At this moment, Elliot's cell phone rang.

He glanced at the screen. It was Layla calling.

Elliot answered the phone.

"Dad! Have you seen Facebook? I just came out of the shower and found that Eric had talked about the two of us on Facebook. Now our whole family is on the trending list!" Layla said in a very excited tone.

Elliot heard it.

If Layla hadn't been afraid that her dad would be angry, she probably wouldn't have made this phone call.

"Dad, you won't be angry, right? I posted on Moments first, and then I asked him to post on Facebook too... I didn't expect him to post directly on Facebook." Layla couldn't help laughing when she said this, "I didn't expect so many people to pay attention to him after he quit the circle."

"Do you like his fame?" Elliot questioned.

Chapter 2857

— "Hahaha, Dad, I think it's very interesting. I thought I would be the only one after he retired, but I didn't expect so many people to remember him." Layla explained, "Dad, don't be angry! He posted on Facebook because he thought that other paparazzi would also write about our news. It would be better for me if he made it public."

"Just as long as you're happy." Elliot wasn't being mean, but speaking the truth. Now that his daughter was married to Eric, all they needed was happiness in their lives.

"Dad, if you think this is bad, I'll ask him to delete that right now." Layla was afraid that her father would mind.

After all, it's not face-to-face chat, and she couldn't see each other's eyes and expressions.

"It's already been posted, so what's the use of deleting it now?" Even if Elliot was angry just before, he was not angry at this moment, "Let him hire more bodyguards, or send more bodyguards from my side. In the future, When you go out, don't worry about it. Be safe."

After hearing her dad's words, Layla breathed a sigh of relief: "I'm sure you won't be particularly angry, Dad. You needn't be concerned about us; I'll get more bodyguards."

After Layla hung up the phone, she swiped Eric's Facebook comments with her mobile phone.

Whether it's blessing them or scolding them, she looked cheerful. Because Eric was by her side right now, within reach.

"It's a good thing you quit the circle now, otherwise I'm really afraid that your fans will tear me apart." Layla teased.

"It's not my fans who would do that." Eric stretched out his fingers and stroked her hair, "Why did the hair come out without drying?"

"Isn't the heating turned on at home? I'm not going to sleep now. I'll do it later.” Layla moved to his side, “By the way, I will go to my house this year for the New Year, because my sister is back, and this is the first year We are all reunited.”

Eric: “Yes.”

Elliot had already told Eric.

“I asked your parents if they would like to come to our house to celebrate the New Year together, but they refused.” Layla glanced at Eric.

“You don’t have to take it to heart. In fact, the two of them live alone every year.” Eric explained, “In previous years, I basically had a job during the Spring Festival. I didn’t spend the New Year with them either.”

“If that’s the case, then you should spend the New Year with them.” Layla suddenly felt sorry for the two elders, “How about I go back to my house for the New Year and you spend the New Year with your parents?”

Eric thought for a while, and then said, “They may not be willing.”

“Why?” Layla didn’t understand. “My parents really want me to accompany them during the New Year. Who doesn’t want their children to accompany them during the New Year?”

Eric: “They want me to accompany you.”

Layla’s face suddenly turned red.

Her in-laws were truly wonderful people who never interfered with their lives and were always thinking of her.

“Then let’s go to my house on the 30th and your parents’ house on the first day of the new year. Or how about we go to your parents’ house one day earlier?” Layla discussed with him.

Eric: “Just discuss it with my parents. Don’t you often pass me by and make some decisions?”

Layla: "...You still hold a grudge! It's not because you keep rejecting me, it's annoying. Aren't you just sick? Anyone gets sick! You won't be able to go to work anyway, why don't you come and prepare for our wedding! We will hold the wedding when you are ready."

Chapter 2858

"If you want me not to say it, then you are not allowed to say it in the future."

Layla grasped his hands and looked into his clear eyes seriously. "Why do you think so much when life is only one day? while you are still alive Be happy; you and I need not worry about what occurs after death."

Eric felt that sometimes he was not as transparent as Layla.

Life is complicated by looking both forward and backward, avoiding this and considering that.

"I've thought about it a lot. Otherwise, I wouldn't be posting on Facebook."

Eric said calmly, "Marriage is not a lifelong bondage. If you want to separate at any time, we will separate."

After listening to his words, Layla was not comforted at all.

If it wasn't for his weakness, Layla might have slapped him.

Layla: "What are you talking about?!"

The two of them said such unlucky words on the first day they received their certificates.

"You can't speak, so you can express less opinions." Layla glared at him, then lay down and started playing with her mobile phone, "I got a lot of messages after you posted on Facebook."

Eric pulled back the quilt and covered her: "What messages?"

"It's just some classmates and ordinary friends I knew before! Ask me if it's true, and if it's true, can I invite them when I get married... I guess they are your fans.” Layla tapped on every message Checked it out, but didn’t reply. Since the wedding had not yet occurred, she was unable to make any promises.

“If you don’t want to go back, I won’t go back.” Eric thought for a while, “Your family doesn’t like too high-profile, so we won’t invite the media to our wedding.”

“The media really don’t need to be invited. When the time comes, let my parents make a guest list, and let your parents make a guest list, and then add our friends to it, won’t it be done?” Layla didn’t like to think about things too complicated.

This had something to do with the environment in which she had grown up. They had always guarded her throughout her life, whether it was her mother, father, or elder brother.

People who grew up in a honeypot have a simpler and purer heart.

Eric: “Hearing what you said, it seems really simple.”

“The main reason is that my parents should be happy to help us prepare for the wedding. Like the wedding menu, gifts, etc. If you don’t want to do it, I will let my parents do it. You just need to decide on the wedding theme. Just the tone.”

“Our wedding, I’ll do it myself.” Eric didn’t want to bother others too much.

“Do as you please, but don’t get tired. I do not wish to become a young widow.”

Eric: “...”

Time passed and Hayden returned home.

Back with Hayden, there were Mike and Chad.

This year was Hazel’s first Spring Festival when she returned to Foster’s house, not only Elliot and Avery attached great importance to this Spring Festival.

“Hazel, next time you go to Bridgedale, you can live in your own house.”

Chad said, “Your house has been renovated.”

“Thank you, Uncle Chad. I’ll take a look next time I have a chance during the holidays.” Hazel said gratefully.

“Now you have to go to University and practice again, I’m afraid it’s rare to have time to travel far.” Mike said with a trace of regret, “You shouldn’t practice so early.”

“As long as Hazel likes it.” Avery helped her daughter speak, “Her job is a night shift, if she doesn’t like that job, she probably won’t be able to stand it long ago.”

Mike nodded, and then took out a wooden box from the pile of luggage he brought back.

“Hazel, this is a gift I carefully crafted for you.” Mike thought that Hazel would definitely like it.

Hazel looked at the wooden box in front of her, and was so shocked that she couldn’t speak.

“What’s inside, it’s so well sealed, didn’t someone check it when it was shipped?” Avery started to open the wooden box, but found that the wooden box was nailed to death.

“It was nailed again after checking.” Mike said, and asked the bodyguard next to him, “Find me a tool that’s handy. I’ll pry it open.”

After a while, the bodyguard came over with tools.

Mike immediately asked the bodyguard to come on.

Before making a move, the bodyguard asked, “Are there any valuables inside?"

Chapter 2859

The bodyguard was afraid that he would accidentally damage the contents inside.

Mike thought for a moment.

Chad replied with a smile: "Don't worry, it's fine."

The bodyguard took a deep breath and pried open the wooden box.

Inside, there was a hard shell cardboard box.

"Hazel, open this cardboard box yourself!" Mike said to Hazel.

The nanny immediately brought a pair of scissors and handed them to Hazel.

Under the watchful eyes of everyone, Hazel carefully cut the glue on the cardboard box.

When the carton was opened, the things appeared but not fully.

Because there was a layer of yellow flannel inside.

The things were wrapped in yellow flannel and wrapped in foam.

Hazel handed the scissors to the nanny, and then picked up the entire yellow flannel.

The things inside were now held in Hazel's palm.

"Microphone?" Hazel hadn't taken the thing out of the fleece yet, but she had already grasped the shape.

"Yeah! Take it out and have a look." Mike smiled, "It's specially made for you."

Hazel took out the microphone, and in an instant, a golden light flashed across her eyes.

It's gold!

Golden Mic!

Hazel panicked all of a sudden.

Such a large golden microphone must be expensive.

Hazel didn't dare to accept gifts randomly.

"There is also a table inside." Mike took out the table from the box, "Put this golden microphone on this table and put it in your room."

Hazel couldn't laugh or cry: "Uncle Mike, I may not always be the host in the future."

Mike: "It's okay, at least you are the host now. If you stop being the host in the future, I will give you other gifts."

Avery: "Uncle Mike specially ordered a gift for you, just accept it! It's quite delicate."

Chapter 2860

"Since you are struggling, then don't be her bridesmaid." Mike said sharply, "She has a lot of friends, and there must be no shortage of bridesmaids for her. And their wedding will definitely invite a lot of people. Your sister likes it lively."

Hazel: "It's just that I really want to be a bridesmaid for my sister."

"You can stay with her all the time if you don't become her bridesmaid!" Mike joked with a smile, "You have never been married, so you don't know how troublesome it is to get married. At that time, there will not only be a bunch of bridesmaids, but also a bunch of best men, saying Maybe there are a bunch of games..."

Mike's words changed Hazel's face when she was frightened.

Hazel's personality was actually introverted, and she didn't like lively occasions very much.

She didn't consider that her dream was to be a host, but once she diverged from the press release, she lacked a lot of social graces.

To use a more popular Internet term now, it is called “social terror.”

“Don’t scare Hazel. Eric is not in good health, so it will definitely not be too noisy.” Avery said with a smile, “Why don’t you go to Eric now! Come over for dinner tonight. “

“Okay.” Mike said, looking at Hayden, “Let’s go together! See how Eric is doing now.”

Hayden nodded.

Santos family.

Eric finalized some small details with the wedding planner at home.

The planner was found by Elliot.

Because Eric wanted to handle it himself, and he was recovering, Elliot sent someone to help him.

Mike and the others didn’t call Eric in advance before they came, so Eric was a little surprised to see them coming.

Eric: “When did you arrive?”

Eric asked the nanny to pour tea for everyone.

“I just returned to Aryadelle today.” Mike stared at Eric for a while, then patted him on the shoulder, “How is your body?”

Eric: “Take medicine on time every day, everything is fine.”

“Yeah, as long as you can maintain the current state after taking the medicine, it’s fine.” Mike saw that his complexion was indeed much better than when he was just discharged from the hospital, “Layla is at work?”

“She’s been very busy recently. There are a lot of things at the end of the year.” Eric explained, “She plans to take a vacation after the wedding, so she has to work hard now.”

“Have you set a date for your wedding?” Mike continued to ask.

Chapter 2861

“Hahaha! The son-in-law of the Foster family. It’s different after getting the certificate, and he speaks with full confidence.” Mike laughed and teased, “You only need to make Layla happy in the future.”

“Understood.” When Eric said this, he suddenly looked at Hazel, “Hazel, I chatted with your sister last night. If you are not a bridesmaid, you can be a wedding master of ceremonies. It just so happens that you are studying this major. I will hand over the wedding host to you, what do you think?”

Hazel: “...”

This was too much to look down on her.

Everyone’s eyes fell on her face, and her face turned red instantly, as if a ball of fire was burning on her body.

“I, I’m afraid I can’t do well...” Hazel didn’t expect her sister and brother-in-law to trust her so much.

But her current ability was really not enough to preside over a grand formal wedding.

“What are you afraid of? Your sister and brother-in-law are not afraid of you screwing up, so you just play it.” Mike thought this idea was very good.

Marriage was supposed to be lively and fun.

“It’s not an idol drama, so it’s okay even if you make a mistake. You can just take the manuscript and read it without fear of forgetting the words!” Mike continued to encourage Hazel.

Hazel: “I’ll think about it.”

“Don’t think about it. If you feel a bit afraid of being a host by yourself, just give you a partner.” Given that she majored in this field, Mike thought Hazel would like to give it a shot. How could she work the night shift at the TV station if she didn’t enjoy being a host?

Hazel's heart was pounding, and she couldn't help but look at Hayden: "Elder brother, can this really be done?"

"Of course. For your sister's wedding, you can be a bridesmaid or host if you want." Hayden said fondly.

"Hahaha! With the experience of hosting your sister's wedding, you can host your elder brother's and second brother's weddings in the future." After Mike said this, the smile on Hayden's face disappeared immediately.

Hazel took a look at her elder brother, but held back her laughter and didn't dare to make a sound.

In the evening, Layla came back from get off work and took Eric back to her parents' house for dinner.

Everyone gathered together, the house had not been so lively for a long time.

"Since you all want to help me prepare for the wedding, can we hold the wedding after the New Year?" Layla wanted to hurry up and hold the wedding, but she had a problem on her mind, "You just leave after my wedding is over."

"It's still very cold after the year! Can't we wait for the weather to get warmer and hold it outdoors? I like outdoor weddings." Mike put forward his opinion.

The weddings that Eric was currently planning were in churches and resort hotels.

"I think both outdoors and indoors are fine. As long as the groom is Eric."

Layla sprinkled a handful of dog food in public.

Mike: "Okay, seeing how anxious you are, let's do it in the next year!"

"Then you can be a witness for us!" Layla arranged tasks for him.

"Okay! If there is anything else I can use, just tell me." Mike suddenly felt a little sad, "Time flies so fast! I always think of when you were a little milk baby, grabbing food from your brother, and you Occupying all the food, so I licked all the snacks first...”

Layla and Hayden: “...”

“Uncle Mike, I think it’s better to let Uncle Chad be the witness!” Layla changed her mind, “Otherwise, if you talk about my dark history at my wedding, how will I see people in the future?”

Chad couldn’t help laughing.

“Let him do it, let him do it! By the way, I still have a lot of photos of you when you were a child, many of which your mother has never seen. Do you want to show it to everyone at your wedding?” Mike said enthusiastically up

Chapter 2862

Layla immediately protested: “Don’t put the photos that my mother has never seen at the wedding! Uncle Mike, you have to embarrass me at my wedding to be happy, right?”

“You were very cute when you were young.” Mike complained.

Avery couldn’t help laughing: “Your Uncle Mike likes to take pictures of you crying.”

“Huh?” A series of question marks popped up in Layla’s mind, “What kind of hobby is this?”

“I think it’s fun! You liked to cry when you were young. Maybe it’s because of your brother’s background that you seem to be crying.” Avery analyzed, “Your brother is crying silently. When you cry, it feels like the whole room is crying.”

Layla: “...”

How was it possible for her to reveal such information to her younger siblings?

“Mike, you can send me the photos when the time comes.” Avery said to Mike, “These photos are still very precious if you look at them now.”

Layla sighed: "Mom, I remember that Robert was especially able to cry when he was a child."

"Yeah! Children love to cry. Your brother is a special case." Avery comforted her daughter, "You can indeed put some childhood photos at the wedding, it's quite fun."

"I have to choose the photos myself. I don't want everyone to laugh at me."

Layla still cared about her own image.

"Of course. Our family hasn't had a happy event for a long time. This time you get married, you should have a good time." Avery thought about it, "Your brother held a banquet when he was ten years old."

"Didn't you hold a banquet during the summer vacation?" Hazel asked.

"Only some relatives and friends were invited to that banquet. If the banquet was held normally, the scale would be several times larger than the last one."

Layla explained.

Hazel couldn't imagine that there were so many relatives in the family.

"Hazel, don't worry. Although there will be many guests at that time, it doesn't matter if you don't want to get to know them." Avery was afraid that Hazel would not adapt to the environment at that time.

"Mom, I'm fine. I'm probably not as timid as before." Hazel said. Her fear had subsided ever so slightly since she agreed to emcee her sister's wedding.

Maybe this was the process of growing up.

After dinner, all gathered in the living room to discuss Layla's wedding.

The four siblings sat on the other side.

"Brother, I'm about to get married, don't you plan to find a girlfriend?" Layla started.

"What's so great about getting married?" Hayden asked back.

Layla: "..."

Robert saw that his sister was deflated, so he said, "Brother, do you have any secrets? Tell us, we promise not to tell our parents."

Hayden coldly glanced at his younger brother: "With your big mouth, I can tell you everything. If there is something, I won't tell anyone."

Robert: "..."

Hayden didn't want to continue this topic, so he looked at Hazel, "Little sister, don't you want to learn how to drive? Come on, I'll teach you."

Robert: "Brother, let me do such trivial things as teaching my little sister to drive."

"Then you haven't taught my little sister yet?" Hayden asked.

Robert fought with his tongue: "I-I want to teach my little sister, but isn't my little sister an intern? I also have an intern, so..."

"Little sister, let's go. Your elder brother will teach you how to drive." Hayden stood up from his chair and said to Hazel, "Put on flat shoes."

Hazel didn't dare not listen to her elder brother's words, and immediately followed obediently.

Layla watched the two of them go out, and looked away: "I always feel that the elder brother is not very happy."

Chapter 2863

"Isn't elder brother like this all the time? He is also happy like this!" Robert didn't see anything unusual in his elder brother's mood.

"I'm about to get married, but my elder brother didn't help prepare for my wedding with my parents." Layla was puzzled, "Does it have to be late at night to teach my younger sister to drive?"

Robert: "Sister, it's kind of true for you to say that. I'll go and see them drive!"

Robert ran out immediately.

Hazel didn't expect that the two elder brothers would teach him how to drive together.

Before Robert came, she was still a little nervous, but after he came, she relaxed a lot.

"Little sister, you treat the car as a toy. Have you ever seen a child drive a toy car? Now this car is your toy car." Sitting in the back seat, Robert said to Hazel.

Hayden: "Don't listen to your second brother. You must concentrate on driving and show higher concentration than your work. As long as you are on the road, it means that any accident may happen."

"Brother, you will scare my little sister by saying that. Even if you don't drive, just walk on the road, accidents will happen. If you are unlucky, you will get stuck in your teeth when you drink water." Robert had a disagreement with his elder brother, "As long as you concentrate normally...that's fine, if you are too nervous, you will easily become a street killer."

Hayden glanced coldly at Robert from the rear-view mirror.

Robert immediately shut his mouth.

Hayden taught Hazel to open it once, and then asked her to try it.

"Don't be afraid, I'll sit by the side and watch. If there is a problem, I will take action in time." Hayden was not worried about Hazel's accident at all.

Hazel could feel the trust of her two elder brothers.

Fortunately, Hayden told her to only drive in a straight line now, and it's okay to go slower.

So she's moving at turtle speed...

Robert was in the back seat, almost falling asleep.

And Hayden was very patient, and kept praising Hazel for her good driving.

After more than an hour, they came back from practice.

Mike and Chad had already left.

Layla and Eric hadn't left yet.

"Little sister, how is your driving practice?" Layla asked Hazel.

Hazel: "It's not as difficult as I imagined. Elder brother said to practice more."

"Well, you will practice during the day. Although there are fewer cars on the road at night, the vision is not so good." Layla had been waiting for them to come back, and said goodbye, "We are going back too. I will come to you to play when I am on vacation."

The family sent Layla and Eric to the car.

After the car drove out, Avery looked at the vast night, and suddenly felt emotional: "Elliot, I finally understand why you feel sad. The daughter who was raised for so many years suddenly has her own home outside. The day Before When it's dark, we tell her to go home quickly, but now it's dark, the home she wants to go back to is not our home."

Elliot: "It's really cruel."

Hayden, Robert, and Hazel: "..."

"Hayden, go take a shower and rest." Avery thought Hayden had come back to Aryadelle today without feeling tired from the trip and had been busy until now.

"Mom, although Layla is married, she has always been a member of our family. When you want to see her, you can call her back at any time." Hayden persuaded her mom.

"Mom knows. The four of you are very obedient and sensible. Mom is really happy to have you. No matter where you settle down, as long as you live well, mom will be happy.” Avery explained her emotions just now, “Mom just like that, because... When you have a child in the future, you will understand the mother’s mood of worrying about gains and losses.”

Hayden was completely confused by what his mother said.

His mother never urged him to find a girlfriend, never urged him to get married but what she said just now seemed to be giving birth?

Chapter 2864

Hayden was not in a hurry before because his mother never urged him.

As long as his mother didn’t rush him, he was not in a hurry at all.

In addition, his life was filled with work every day, and he had no extra energy to think about other things.

He didn’t necessarily enjoy working, but he didn’t know what to do if he didn’t.

He felt that he should maintain a state of struggle, at least until he was thirty, and not be swayed by his children’s personal relationships.

After returning to the room, he took a shower first.

After taking a shower, his tiredness was gone.

He sat down by the bed, picked up his cell phone, and almost reflexively opened his work mailbox.

He went home on vacation early for the New Year.

The company had not yet started the holiday, and the company’s executives would send him emails to report work every day.

After reading the email, he glanced at the time, and forty minutes passed before he knew it.

He liked this life very much. He started his business very early and succeeded very early.

But what he did, apart from work, was nothing else.

Looking back suddenly, the age was not young.

He thought about it carefully, and it seemed that there was really no suitable opposite s-e-x around him.

He was used to working with men, used to dealing with men.

It's not that he hated women, but that he gave all his patience to his mother and sister.

In the beginning, it wasn't that he didn't hire women to work by his side at all, but the women he hired would find various ways to express his love to him after working by his side for a period of time.

This happened many times, and when he recruited people, he habitually recruited men.

This caused him to be surrounded almost by men.

It never occurred to him that he would be alone for the rest of his life.

It's just that he had never considered lifelong events, let alone future children.

What his mother said tonight made him unable to bear to think about this issue seriously.

What kind of woman would he like? Where should he go to meet his future partner?

His mind was in a mess and he had no clue at all.

His Mom and Dad were particularly enlightened parents, they would not arrange blind dates for their children like other parents.

So in this matter, he could only rely on himself.

Although he felt that he wanted to be introduced by his parents, they would definitely try their best to help him find one, but it was too embarrassing.

He might as well handle this issue on his own.

So first of all, he needed to figure out why he was looking for a woman.

Was it to have a baby? Or was it to have a talking partner?

He had been withdrawn since he was a child, and he didn't need a partner, so he could only find a woman to have children.

Because it was only for the purpose of having a child, it was sufficient to find a woman with attractive facial features and a pleasant personality.

There were a lot of women like this on the street.

Even he couldn't get them to marry. Continue to live a single life after having a baby.

Thinking of this, he felt that he was going crazy.

It was obviously a very simple thing, but he thought it was very complicated and scary.

Yes, it was terrible.

The thought of having a baby with a woman gave him headaches.

He picked up his phone and sent a message to his assistant: [Are you not married yet?]

The assistant replied in seconds: [No! Boss, why did you suddenly ask this?]

Hayden: [Why don't you get married?]

Assistant:.....

Wasn't it because he's too busy with work, so he didn't have time to get married?

But the assistant dared not tell the truth.

So after hesitating for a few seconds, the assistant replied: [I'm not in a hurry now. Moreover, I have been talking with my girlfriend for several years, and the relationship is quite stable. Whether we get married or not is just a matter of formality.]

Hayden: [Have you had any children?]

Chapter 2865

Assistant: [No. Boss, why did you suddenly ask me this? If my girlfriend is pregnant, I will not ask for leave because of it. My parents will take care of her, and I can also ask a nanny to take care of her.]

Hayden: [You are not young, why are you still not married?]

The assistant couldn't understand it at all.

The boss was really weird today!

Could it be that the boss was stimulated by something?

Assistant: [Boss, have you been urged to marry by your family? Don't your parents care about your personal affairs?]

Hayden: [My mother mentioned it very implicitly.]

Assistant: [Oh, maybe it's because your sister is getting married! Generally, the oldest in the family gets married first.]

Hayden: [Our family does not have these traditional habits.]

Assistant: [Boss, with all due respect, if I were your mother, I would rush you too.]

Hayden: [???

Assistant: [You have never been in a relationship, which is not normal. If I were your mother, I should take you to the hospital for a checkup.]

Hayden's eyes turned red after reading the assistant's message.

Without even thinking about it, he deleted the assistant!

After the assistant realized that the boss had deleted him, he immediately called Hayden.

Hayden was angry and didn't answer.

So the assistant sent Hayden a friend request: [Boss, I was wrong! Let me introduce you to a girlfriend!]

Hayden agreed to his request because the assistant wanted to introduce a girlfriend to him.

When he agreed to the assistant's friend application, the assistant sent him several pictures of women.

Hayden briefly glanced at the photo: [Why are you sending me so many women?]

Assistant: [Boss, this is all one person!]

Hayden: [...]

He looked at the photo again.

It was no exaggeration to say that every photo looked different.

Assistant: [Boss, this is the most beautiful woman among my relatives! Don't you think she's very pretty?]

Hayden: [I don't think so.]

Assistant: [Ah! Then I will go to other channels to help you find out! The most important thing is looks, right?]

Hayden: [No.]

Assistant: [Huh? Then tell me your requirements. I'll go for it as your required.]

Hayden: [I don't know.]

Assistant:

The assistant was about to scratch the hair on his head bald.

Hayden: [You don't need to worry about this matter, I will handle it myself.]

Assistant: [But your work schedule is full every day, how do you plan to find it? Ask your family to help introduce it? It's also okay, your parents will definitely help you find a very good woman, but in this case, there are also many shortcomings.]

Hayden: [What shortcoming?]

Assistant: [With your dedication to work, even if you have a wife, you must stay away from home every day. Doesn't your wife feel resentful? If you find it yourself, the other party will be wronged if you are wronged. your parents find it, if the other party goes to your parents to complain.]

Hayden: [Got it, I'll find it myself.]

Assistant: [Boss, you finally think about looking for a wife. I'm so happy for you.]

Hayden: [Don't talk about it.]

Assistant: [OK. I promise not to tell anyone, if your mother asks me, can I tell?]

Hayden: [No. I don't necessarily look for it.]

Assistant: [OK. Boss, I won't tell anyone, you should look for it or you have to look for it. Tell me if you have any difficulties, I will help you!]

Hayden threw the phone aside, turned off the lights and lay down.

At night, he had a nightmare.

In the dream, he was surrounded by a group of women. Some of these women were pure and some were coquettish. They all looked at him with smiles, approached him, and called him husband.

He was frightened into a cold sweat by this nightmare.

Chapter 2866

The next day, morning.

Avery went downstairs and saw Hayden sitting in the living room reading a magazine, and immediately walked up to him.

Avery: "Woke up so early? Why don't you sleep more?"

"Sleep well." Hayden put down the magazine and looked at his mother,

"Robert is working so hard now? When I woke up, he also got up. He said that the company has not yet a holiday, he has to go to work until the last day.”

Avery glanced at dining table: “Has Robert gone out?”

“Yes. He took breakfast and left.” Hayden said, “I think he drove a cheap car, is this specially bought for work?”

Avery nodded: “He wants to try the feeling of being an ordinary person, so he just let him go.”

“He must have been infected by little sister!” Hayden didn’t this opportunity, because everyone knew that he was Elliot’s son.

Although his business was not in Aryadelle, his reputation in Aryadelle was no less than that of Elliot.

As a result of Dream Maker’s worldwide popularity, wherever he travelled, there were people who knew him.

“Yeah! It’s good to let Robert feel how hard it is to be an ordinary person.”

Avery was a little hungry, and asked Hayden, “Have you had breakfast?”

“No.” Hayden placed the magazine on the bookshelf and informed his mother. Together, they walked to the dining room.

“Accompany me to see Layla’s wedding later.” Avery thought that Hayden should have nothing else to do, so she took the initiative to say, “Your father has something else to do today.”

“Okay.” Hayden picked up the Milk cup, took a sip of milk, “Are you planning to hold the wedding after the next year?”

Avery: “I chatted with Layla last night. She wanted to do it quickly. Let’s do it according to her will!”

Hayden didn’t say anything. Considering that Layla had already obtained a certificate with Eric, they were now legally married.

“Can you go to Bridgedale a little later after the next year? You can leave after your sister’s wedding.” Avery peeled the egg shells, and said calmly, “I have to tell Mike and the others later.”

“Okay. My little sister hasn’t come down yet, so you haven’t gotten up yet?” Hayden felt that the house was a little deserted.

“She probably stayed up late to practice last night. Your little sister is very hardworking.” Avery glanced at the wall clock in the dining room, “I’ll go to her room to see after eating.”

“Where’s Dad?” Hayden asked.

“He’s still sleeping! He went to bed very late last night. He was probably thinking about Layla’s wedding. It’s not good for him to interfere too much, or not to interfere.”

“Mom, are you not insomnia?” Hayden asked again.

“No! I sleep well. Since Hazel came back, I am very happy every day.” Avery showed a smile, “Layla and Eric are also very good together. I don’t have to worry about Layla being wronged. Although I feel a little sad occasionally, children will grow up. I was with your father back then, isn’t it the same?”

Chapter 2867

Avery: “Yes, you can use feelings as an adjustment to your work. Otherwise, working every day, don’t you find it boring?”

Hayden: “There are new problems at work every once in a while, and I don’t find it boring.”

If he felt that work was boring, he wouldn’t be so peacefully single until now.

Avery: “Then what do you think about this topic with your mother now?”

“Mom, I don’t resist getting married, but I don’t know how to find a wife.”

Avery’s face turned red.

This matter might be really difficult for Hayden. Otherwise, he wouldn't have told his mother so solemnly.

But this was not a problem for Avery.

"How about that, I'll call your Auntie Tammy later, she knows a lot of girls, I'll ask her to bring girls to meet you?" Avery took a deep breath, "You can chat casually first, then go on a blind date. What are your thoughts?"

Hayden wanted to refuse.

What the assistant said last night was deeply imprinted in his mind. But as soon as the words came out, he agreed.

After breakfast, Avery went upstairs to Hazel's room to have a look.

Hazel had already got up, but she was practicing basic skills in the room.

"Baby, let's practice after breakfast!" Avery had a smile on her face.

Hazel glanced at the time, and immediately walked to the door of the room: "I forgot to check the time. Mom, is brother up yet?"

Avery: "Your elder brother woke up early in the morning."

Hazel: "Ah? Why is there no sound? I thought elder brother didn't wake up."

"Our house is soundproof. Go and eat!" Avery couldn't restrain the joy in her heart, and secretly said to her daughter, "Probably your elder brother was stimulated by your sister's marriage. He took the initiative to tell me about finding a girlfriend."

Hazel was very excited: "Is elder brother looking for a girlfriend?"

"No, I'm looking for it, and I'm going to ask your Auntie Tammy to introduce me to a suitable girl for him."

Hazel nodded fiercely: "I must introduce you better."

"I haven't told your Auntie Tammy yet. Go down and have breakfast, I'll come and talk to your Auntie Tammy." After Avery told Hazel, she immediately went back to the master bedroom and called Tammy.

Elliot forced himself to wake up from the dream after hearing his wife's voice in the distance while he was sleeping.

"Did I wake you up by talking on the phone?" Avery had already finished talking with Tammy on the phone.

Tammy said that she would contact the girl immediately, and promised to meet the two of them at noon.

Elliot rubbed his sleepy eyes, and said in a hoarse voice, "Who were you talking to just now?"

"I was on the phone with Tammy! Husband, our son has decided to find a girlfriend!" Avery went to the bed and sat down, holding With Elliot's big palm, the joy on her face seemed to be that her son was about to get married soon.

"Which son?" Elliot frowned. He thought it was Robert, that's why he frowned. In his mind, Hayden was a member of the unmarried and infertile family.

"Hayden! Who else could it be? Robert hasn't graduated yet!" Avery touched Elliot's face, "I'm really surprised. It's rare that he can figure it out. I'll ask Tammy to help find a suitable candidate. I don't know many unmarried girls!"

"Is Tammy's introduction reliable? Why don't you let Gwen introduce it?" Elliot trusted his own sister more.

Chapter 2868

"Do you think that what Tammy introduces will surely catch our son's eyes? I didn't like it, let Gwen introduce it." Avery had already thought about it,

"Hayden has promised to stay at home until after Layla's wedding. He will stay at home for a long time! There is plenty of time to meet girls."

Elliot nodded and frowned slightly: "I'm not used to my son's sudden behavior. Is he stimulated?"

Avery nodded: "He should be stimulated. Layla is as old as him, and Layla is going to get married. Now, it's not that he doesn't want to start a family at all, and it's normal to have thoughts now."

Elliot responded, and suddenly a flame rose in his heart, wanting to help his son find a wife quickly.

But upon reflection, which girl in this world was deserving of such a superb son?

"Did he say what kind of wife he wants?" Elliot asked.

Avery shook her head: "He doesn't know at all. Because this is the first time in his life that he has considered this issue."

Elliot rubbed his eyebrows: "Then let's find more girl for him to choose from."

Avery: "Don't let my son will be picky and disrespectful to other girls. Let him get along with each other slowly."

"How long do we have to get along?" Elliot lifted the quilt and got out of bed,

"I'll talk to those around me later. Ask a friend, if you can find a girl who knows everything, that's the best."

"Don't spread the word. Otherwise, things will get serious, and I'm afraid it won't end well." Avery reminded, "Our son has a relatively low-key personality. "

"Since he told you the matter, he just wants us to help him." Elliot expressed his opinion, "Let's see how the girl Tammy introduced today!"

"Yes."

At 10 o'clock, In order to see the scene, Avery went out with Hayden and went to the church where Layla had her wedding ceremony.

Elliot took Hazel to the resort hotel where the wedding banquet was held in Layla.

“Dad, I’m really looking forward to my brother’s blind date today.” Hazel sat in the car with a look of anticipation.

“You want to go with them, right?” Elliot fastened his seat belt and signaled the driver to drive.

“Even if I go with them, I can’t go on a blind date with my brother.” Hazel expressed her thoughts, “I just want to see what Auntie Tammy introduces to my brother.”

Elliot: “Auntie sent you the photo.”

“Let’s see if brother and that girl are destined to be together!” Hazel said this, but changed the subject, “Dad, what are we going to the hotel for now?”

“Trying dishes.” Elliot replied, “Your sister will also come to eat at noon.”

Hazel: “What about mom and brother?”

“See how your brother is doing with each other.” Elliot’s face was very gentle. Seeing his dad’s gentle look, Hazel grinned, “Dad, do you really want to hug your grandson?”

Elliot glanced at Hazel, and the smile on his face remained unchanged: “No. Your eldest brother is abroad all year round. If he can find someone to accompany him, your mother and I will not be so worried. As for the grandson...we don’t force him. They can have children if they want. “

Hazel: “Dad, you are so open-minded.”

Elliot: “Because if you meet someone you really like, you will definitely want to have children with him. If you don’t like each other, there is no need to have children. You don’t even need to get married.”

Hazel deeply agreed with what her dad said.

Chapter 2869

Avery met and chatted with the person in charge of decorating the church site.

After a while, Tammy brought a young, beautiful and good-looking girl over to meet them.

“Avery, Hayden.” After Tammy greeted them with a smile, she introduced the girl beside her, “This is Luisa, the daughter of a friend of mine. She will graduate next summer. She has already started an internship. Now, she’s more free. I saw a coffee shop nearby, you can sit and chat slowly.”

Tammy knew how to take care of the mentality of young people.

She would never say too much to embarrass young people, and she would never be a light bulb.

Avery took a look at Luisa.

Luisa was very good-looking, with exquisite and foreign features, tall and slender, neither fat nor thin, just right.

Avery smiled and said to Hayden: “You go buy Luisa a cup of coffee! I haven’t seen your Auntie Tammy for a while, and we both have to chat alone.”

Hayden started walking.

Luisa immediately followed.

After seeing the two of them leave, Tammy held Avery’s hand and smiled from ear to ear.

“What do you think of Luisa? This is the best girl I know in my circle of friends. I didn’t introduce the girls in my relatives to Hayden because they are not good enough... Luisa is learning to dance and she has won many international awards. You can tell by her temperament, she is different from ordinary people.”

Avery was very satisfied with Luisa, “She is indeed very beautiful. Is this your friend’s daughter?”

“No, it’s the daughter of a poker friend of mine. Her family’s conditions are good, she’s an only child! But they are willing to let their daughter go to Bridgedale with Hayden to settle down. After all, Hayden is so good. Who wouldn’t want to marry their daughter to Hayden!” Tammy pulled Avery to sit down on the pew in the church, “Because her mother always mentioned Luisa to me, and showed me a video of Luisa dancing. So you said let me introduce a girlfriend to Hayden, I just thought of her. Would you like to watch the video of Luisa dancing?”

Avery nodded, “Let me see.”

Tammy found Luisa’s video and clicked on it for Avery to watch.

After watching it, Avery was attracted by Luisa’s dancing posture.

“This girl is really good, but I don’t know if Hayden likes it or not.” After watching the video, Avery thanked Tammy, “I don’t have any girls suitable for Hayden, let alone Hayden.”

“Don’t worry. As long as Hayden has this kind of heart now, he can easily find the girl he likes. If I can’t introduce you, you can ask Gwen to introduce her! Gwen knows more beautiful girls. She has so many friends. If it doesn’t work, let him go out to participate in some social activities. As long as he goes out more, he will definitely find his wife.”

Avery nodded.

in the coffee shop.

Hayden ordered a cup of latte, and then heard Luisa introduce herself.

Luisa had learned dance since she was a child, because her mother learned dance, and she was influenced by her mother.

Her father was in business, and she was the only daughter in the family.

Now as an intern, she had performed with her mentor all over the world to gain experience.

“Hayden, don’t you like me too much? I think you have been silent.” After Luisa finished talking about her family situation and her own situation, Hayden didn’t respond.

After thinking about it for a few seconds, Hayden asked politely, “What’s your relationship with Auntie Tammy?”

“My mother runs a dance training class, and Auntie Tammy used to dance in my mother’s training class. Later, they played cards together... they can be regarded as card friends!” Luisa said shyly.

Chapter 2870

Hayden heaved a sigh of relief.

Fortunately, Luisa was not a close family member of Aunt Tammy.

“Dance well, I believe you will have a better future.” Hayden politely rejected her.

Luisa was a smart person and understood Hayden’s implication.

“Hayden, do you not like my appearance and figure, or my profession? I don’t have to be a dancer.” Luisa made the last struggle.

“It’s not worth giving up your career for your family.” Hayden gave a loyal advice.

After a while, the waiter brought over two cups of coffee.

After the coffee was finished, Hayden checked the time and paid the bill.

When the two of them appeared in the church, Tammy and Avery didn’t know what they were talking about, and they laughed happily.

Seeing the two of them coming back, their laughter stopped abruptly.

They returned so soon?

Were they dissatisfied?

Was Luisa dissatisfied with Hayden, or was Hayden dissatisfied with Luisa?

Avery pondered in her heart.

And Tammy knew in her heart that Hayden must be dissatisfied with Luisa.

Because on the way here, Luisa had already checked Hayden's information on the Internet.

For Hayden, Luisa was 100% satisfied.

She even told Tammy that she was willing to give up her career for Hayden.

"Have you finished your coffee?" Avery took the lead to break the awkward situation, "Do you want to go outside again?"

"Mom, it's cold outside." Hayden gently reminded his mother not to match up again.

Avery looked at Luisa with regret: "Luisa, let's have a meal together later!"

"Auntie, thank you. But no need. I cooked at home, I can go back and eat."

Luisa politely refused.

Eating together would only feel awkward if the blind date didn't work out.

"I'll take you back." Tammy immediately walked out of the church with Luisa.

After the two of them left, Avery looked at Hayden and asked, "Can't you two chat together?"

"No." Hayden's eyes flashed with embarrassment, and he replied truthfully,

"Mom, don't you think her voice is a little harsh?"

Avery looked surprised: "Her voice...is it harsh? I think it's very sweet!"

"I got goosebumps when I heard it." Hayden felt goosebumps for the first time hearing someone speak.

He didn't say anything bad about Luisa in front of Luisa, because he knew that Luisa was a very good girl, but she just wasn't suitable for him.

"I see, you don't like this kind of sweet girl." Avery analyzed, "Next time I'll ask them to introduce you to someone who is not so sweet.”

“Mom, don’t bother. I’ll solve it myself.” Hayden said.

If Hayden hadn’t had a nightmare last night and was entangled by a group of girls, he wouldn’t have told his mother about finding a partner today.

Avery: “Don’t be shy! Blind dates are very normal.”

“Mom, I don’t want to go on a blind date.” After Hayden had this blind date experience today, he never wanted to go on a blind date a second time.

Avery respected Hayden’s decision: “Okay then! I’ll send your Auntie Tammy a message later, telling her not to help you find any more. If you find it yourself, you should go out more often! Otherwise, the company and the family will be separated every day. How do you find a girlfriend?”

Hayden: “Let’s talk about it after Layla’s wedding!”

At noon, the mother and son went to the hotel to meet Elliot and the others.

Unexpectedly... Gwen’s family also came.

“Auntie, uncle.” From the corner of Hayden’s eyes, he caught a glimpse of a young girl sitting with them.

Chapter 2871

This was brought by Gwen.

In the morning, Gwen heard from Elliot that Hayden was looking for a girlfriend, so she hurriedly brought a new model signed by her company recently.

Gwen’s vision in choosing models was very vicious.

This young girl had a unique classical beauty in facial features, a taller figure, and was not very old.

“Hayden, this is Hallie, a newcomer to our company, who is nineteen years old this year.” Gwen introduced to Hayden with a smile.

After Hayden's gaze stayed on Hallie's face for two seconds, he turned to look at Elliot.

It must be what his father said to his aunt, that's why his aunt brought the girl to introduce him.

"Hello, Hallie." After Hayden greeted Hallie, he changed the topic, "I'm a little hungry, let's eat!"

Elliot could see that Hayden was unhappy, could it be that he was unhappy with the girl Tammy introduced?

Elliot secretly took out his phone and sent a message to Avery under the table.

Not even a message.

After he edited the text on the phone, he showed it to Avery directly.

Because from the moment he put the phone under the table, Avery's gaze had been fixed on him.

After seeing the text on his screen clearly, Avery immediately took her mobile phone and typed a few words: [I don't like the son's vision is still relatively high. He doesn't want our introduction. He said he finds it by himself. So let's not mind our own business.]

"What are you two doing under the table!" Gwen saw that something was wrong with them, so she asked directly.

Avery immediately raised her head and smiled: "Your brother asked me why Tammy didn't come."

Gwen seemed to have been reminded, and immediately asked: "Why didn't Tammy come? Aren't you together in the morning?"

"She stated that she would return at night to eat." Avery said, "We have ordered two sets of menus in total. Let's see which one is delicious."

“Well, didn’t you say that Layla came? Why hasn’t she come yet?” Gwen glanced at the time, “Why don’t I call her!”

Just as Gwen finished speaking, Layla pushed open the door of the private room.

“Mom, aunt, uncle...” Layla didn’t come alone.

She brought her best friend Daisy with her.

“Daisy, come and sit down.” Avery knew Daisy, so she welcomed her warmly.

Layla sat down next to Hayden, but her eyes fell on Hallie who was next to Gwen.

Layla: “Auntie, who is this beautiful girl?”

“Uh... her name is Hallie, and she is a model. She just signed it and haven’t started working yet!” Gwen looked at Hayden when she said this After a glance, “Isn’t your brother still single? I thought he didn’t have any friends of the opposite sex around him, so I brought Hallie here to meet your brother.”

Daisy couldn’t help laughing out: “Layla, you don’t have any friends in private. Didn’t you talk to Aunt Gwen? It’s kind of funny for Brother Hayden to deal with two blind dates all at once, haha.”

Hayden couldn’t help but blush when he heard Daisy’s words.

“Auntie, did my dad tell you? My dad didn’t tell me.” Layla said, “My sister told me. It made me angry. This is the first time I took the initiative to find a girlfriend.”

“I told you about your brother’s conditions, if you want to find, what kind of girlfriend you can’t find!” Daisy came here to make up the numbers, “You don’t have to worry at all, okay. “

She had a boyfriend whom she had been dating for a long time. Although they broke up, she knew herself and felt that she was not good enough for

Hayden.

“But I think you are very good! Didn’t you also say that my brother is handsome?” Layla certainly hoped that her best friend could be with her brother.

Wasn’t this the same as kissing?

Avery glanced at Hayden.

Hayden didn’t talk much in the first place, and in this embarrassing situation, he couldn’t speak much anymore.

“Okay, everyone should be hungry too, let’s eat first!” Avery said with a smile.

Chapter 2872

Hazel looked at the nearly twenty dishes on the table and was full before eating.

This was the grandest banquet Hazel had ever had.

Basically, all the delicacies she could imagine were on the table.

There were so many dishes that she had no idea what it was.

Fortunately, the head chef stood by and introduced them.

“Little sister, why don’t you eat? Doesn’t it suit your appetite?” Layla sat next to Hazel, seeing that she didn’t seem to have any appetite, so she asked in a low voice.

“There are too many dishes, I don’t know which one to eat.” Hazel said. She was now an intern host, and she didn’t dare to eat openly like before.

If she gained weight and didn’t look good on camera, that’s not good.

“Taste every dish, keep the delicious ones, and replace the bad ones.” Layla picked up the serving chopsticks and picked up dishes for Hazel.

“Yeah.”

After a while, Gwen put down her chopsticks.

Due to her occupation, her appetite had always been small.

“Hayden, there are no outsiders here, so just tell us what you are looking for.

What factors are you most valued, such as appearance, figure, education, family background, age, personality... How about some key words?”

Gwen, as Hayden’s aunt, really wanted to help Hayden find a suitable girlfriend.

“If you really don’t know what you’re looking for, that’s fine. You’re still young, so there’s no need to rush to get married. First, find someone who fits your eyes and talk to them. After a little bit of settling in, you will find out through trial and error.” Ben gave a pertinent opinion.

“I don’t want to fall in love.” Hayden was being roasted on the fire.

Why were there no outsiders here?

Wasn’t Hallie an outsider?

Wasn’t Daisy an outsider?

Even without the two of them, Hayden would not be willing to tell so many people about his inner feelings.

He just wanted to tell his mother.

“Ah? You don’t want to fall in love, you want to get married and have children?” It’s not that Gwen had never seen such a situation, but she didn’t expect Hayden to be such a person.

These people look for girls just to reproduce; they don’t want to fall in love, get married, and start a family right away.

This kind of man was fickle and ungrateful. For Gwen, although she had no worries about eating and drinking with this kind of man, she could never get any affection from him.

“I don’t want to get married and have children either.” Hayden’s mood was much calmer than before, facing everyone's eyes, he said word by word, "I just chatted with my mother casually in the morning, if I need my aunt's help, I will tell you separately."

Gwen said 'Oh', "Hayden, I know you have your own ideas, but when it comes to finding a partner, you can't be too nervous. You see, the gap between me and your uncle used to be very big. Whether it's the living environment or the difference in education background, they are all very different, but he likes me and I like him, so we have a good relationship after being together for so many years. The person who is really suitable for you may not be what you are now The perfect look that I imagined in my mind."

Avery felt the same way: "Hayden, your aunt is right. You still need to get in touch with the opposite s-e-x more to find someone who really suits you."

Hayden responded and put down the dishes, looked at the time.

"Little sister, are you full? I'll take you back to rest when you're full. Aren't you going to work tonight?"

Hazel glanced at her parents, then stood up in a daze.

Hazel was not stupid, his brother made it clear that he didn't want to stay here any longer, so she found a reason to leave.

The siblings came out of the hotel and got into the car.

Chapter 2873

Hazel fastened her seat belt, looked at her brother's side face, hesitated for a moment, and opened her mouth cautiously: "Brother, Auntie and mother are kind, so don't be angry with them."

Hayden's expression on his face softened a bit: "No. I won't be angry with them."

"That's good." Hazel breathed a sigh of relief, "I-I think the girl my aunt brought is pretty, and my aunt has a really good eye.”

“There is no common language.” Hayden chatted with his sister alone without any psychological burden.

“Brother, you haven’t even tried to chat with others!” Hazel somehow remembered Lucas.

She remembered that when she was assigned to take care of Lucas on the first day, Lucas didn’t speak.

Lucas was similar to his elder brother, with a cold temper and an attitude of not allowing strangers to enter on his face.

But people were not bad.

“Brother, I knew someone before, and he didn’t like to talk to strangers just like you. I didn’t have any common topics with him, but we both had to communicate at that time... Slowly, the relationship between us talking too much.” Hazel wanted her elder brother to stop thinking so much and try to communicate with others first.

“Little sister, do you also think I should find a girlfriend?” Hayden asked.

“If you want to look for it, look for it, and if you don’t want to look for it, don’t look for it. As long as you are happy!” Hazel had a playful smile on her face, “Then why did you think of telling your mother this morning?”

Hayden: “Yesterday mom said that I will understand her thoughts when I have a child. I wonder if I should have a child to understand my parents’ thoughts.”

“I think it should be. But you can’t have a child just to understand what your parents think!” Hazel felt that her brother’s brain circuit was a bit strange, “If you really have a child, you have to be responsible for the child.”

Hayden: “I know.”

Hayden’s current social status, let alone raising a child, even raising a hundred children, was completely stress-free.

In the afternoon, Gwen accompanied Avery to pick out gifts for Layla's wedding.

The wedding candy in the gift had already been ordered, now she had to choose some other gifts.

"I went to a friend's wedding last time, and there was a bottle of aromatherapy in her gift. The fragrance was really good." Gwen said, "How about I ask that friend where I bought the aromatherapy?"

"Perfume is okay too?" Avery happened to walk to a cosmetics counter.

Gwen: "Perfume is also fine. But cheaper perfumes don't smell good, and good smells are not cheap."

"It's okay. Layla gets married, it doesn't matter how much it costs. The main thing is to make everyone happy." Avery said openly.

"Hahaha! It's not easy to make everyone happy. Give each person a gold bar to ensure everyone is happy." Gwen joked.

After hearing these words, Avery was stunned.

She talked with Elliot about the souvenirs, and she mentioned some souvenirs, but Elliot was not very satisfied. She felt that they were all too cheap to show that they attach importance to their daughter's wedding.

If he gave gold bars, Elliot wouldn't say anything, would he?

"Avery, don't you really want to order gold bars as a souvenir?" Seeing Avery in a daze, Gwen's heart pounded, "Even if you have money, you don't have to spend it like this?"

Avery: "How about I ask your brother?"

Gwen shrugged: "Ask, he promises to agree. When the time comes, Layla's wedding will definitely be hotly searched for the gold bars in the gift."

Avery took out her cell phone and dialed Elliot's number.

After Avery told Elliot her idea, Elliot said without hesitation, "Yes. Two more lines are engraved on it: the names of Layla and Eric are engraved on the top line, and happy wedding is engraved on the bottom."

Avery: "..."

Chapter 2874

— It's really nasty.

However, present gifts were indeed becoming more and more refined.

Like before when she and Elliot held a wedding, she also prepared a souvenir.

She remembered that they didn't pay too much attention to the presents at that time.

Because there were no elders to help them prepare for the wedding, the wedding was prepared by themselves.

"Honey, if you have no objections, I'll arrange for someone to order." Elliot thought an idea.

The daughter's wedding must be grand, and every detail must be brought out so that people could see how much the Foster family attached importance to their daughter.

Avery came back to her senses: "Well, good."

For dinner, she was still trying dishes at the hotel.

But there were more people coming at night than at noon.

Shea's family and Tammy's family were all there.

There were three tables in the banquet hall.

Tammy teased: "It's so lively that I feel like I'm having a banquet on the wedding day."

Jun: "The main reason is that there are so many children. In the past, the children didn't take up much space when they were young, but now they are all grown up."

Gwen answered, "That's right, Layla is going to get married. After Layla and Hayden get married, Robert and Hazel will also get married. There will be endless wedding banquets hahaha!"

Ben: "After this wedding banquet, it's time to eat the full moon banquet!"

"Yes!" Gwen glanced at Eric after saying this.

Thinking of Eric's body having undergone a heart transplant, Gwen was afraid he and Layla won't be able to have a child. So she glared at Ben.

"Why are you staring at me?" It's not that Ben didn't think of that, but felt that it wasn't a problem at all, so he added, "Even if Layla and Eric don't want children in the future, it's fine! There is no way to live without children as long as the relationship between the two is in place, everything else is nothing."

Layla's mood was completely unaffected, and she answered with a smile:

"Even if we can have children, I don't want children now. I haven't had enough fun yet!"

"You two, let's live a good life together!" Gwen said here, and changed the subject, "I went to pick out souvenirs with your mother in the afternoon, originally thinking about buying perfume, As a result, your mother suddenly thought of gold bars, and your father agreed."

When Layla heard it, she immediately looked at her parents.

Chapter 2875

— Furthermore, it was clear that Hayden and Layla had a good relationship because he was willing to pay the money for her.

As parents, Elliot and Avery were very relieved.

“Dad, Mom, why don’t you two talk?!” Layla felt that this matter was more outrageous than giving gold bars, but she felt that she couldn’t convince her brother and could only rely on her parents.

“What are you talking about?” Avery said, “If your brother wants to give you a car, let him do it! If you earn money, you spend it. As long as you spend it happily, it’s worth it.”

Elliot: “Your mother is right. Didn’t you say that your face is already invulnerable? Are you not happy that your brother treats you well?”

Layla wanted to cry but had no tears: “Isn’t this too expensive?! I’m getting married, not for charity...”

Robert: “Sister, you are... one of the jewels in our family’s eyes, so you should have this pomp! If I don’t have the financial strength now, I will definitely spoil you too!”

Robert’s words made the atmosphere in the banquet hall lively.

“Layla, your own brother, why are you being polite. If you don’t spend his money, he will spend it on his wife. Hahaha!” Gwen joked.

The topic suddenly came to Hayden’s finding a wife.

Adults were very interested in this topic.

“Hazel, you have to go to work tonight, can I go to watch the TV station with you?” Lilly asked Hazel in a low voice, “I haven’t been to a TV station yet!”

Hazel thought for a while, and then said: “I’ll send a message to my teacher to ask. If he says yes, then I’ll take you there later.”

Lilly: “If it’s that troublesome, forget it! I didn’t think it was so strict!”

“Hahaha! It’s because I’m just an intern anchor now. If I become a regular, I should have more confidence.” Hazel had already sent a message to Hector while he was talking.

“You will definitely become a regular, you broadcast well!” Lilly boasted, “I have watched every episode of your program.”

“Look at the replay, don’t stay up late watching it.” Hazel said seriously.

“Yeah. You stayed up late to watch the first episode, and you watched replays later.” Having said that, Lilly also picked up her phone and secretly showed it to Hazel, “I’ll show you this.”

Hazel looked at the picture on Lilly’s phone, it was a very beautiful jewelry.

“It’s so beautiful! Did you design this? What kind of jewelry is this?” Hazel was dumbfounded.

Lilly: “This is a brooch. I asked Sister Layla what jewelry she wanted, and Sister Layla said she had few broochs, so she wanted a brooch.”

Hazel: “Lilly, you are amazing! Your design is really beautiful and high-end! Have you shown it to my sister?”

Lilly shook her head: “I want to give her a surprise.”

“She will definitely like it very much.” Hazel said, seeing the screen of the phone light up, so she picked it up to look at it, “Lilly, my teacher agreed. He said he would tell the guard.”

“Then can I take Maria with you? If Maria knows that I will go to the TV station with you, she will definitely want to go too.” Lilly begged with a smile.

Hazel: “Of course. After eating, I’ll take you there! Otherwise, it will be too late and affect your rest.”

“Okay! Let’s go after we have a look.” Lilly was afraid of disturbing Hazel’s work.

Hazel: “Then you can talk to Aunt Shea later.”

“Mom will definitely agree.” Lilly was full of confidence.

After dinner, Hazel took Lilly and Maria to the TV station.

Originally, Hayden was going to send them there, but he was held back.

Let him escape at noon, but not let him hide at night.

Chapter 2876

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2876

— “Hayden, I remember you can drink! Come and have a drink with me!” Ben was very excited, and moved to Hayden’s side to pour wine for Hayden.

Hayden couldn’t refuse, so he could only accompany him.

“If it wasn’t for Eric’s operation, I would definitely drag him to drink with him.”

Ben blushed from drinking, but his reason was still clear, “So you can only drink with me!”

Hayden: “Uncle, I’ll drink two glasses with you. After drinking, you should stop. I remember you having a fatty liver.”

“Why do you have such a good memory? Your aunt usually doesn’t let me drink... I usually don’t... But today, isn’t it happy?” Ben picked up his glass and touched Hayden’s glass, “It’s okay to drink occasionally. I understand my physical condition.”

“Just have a drink.” Avery stopped, “It’s not Layla’s wedding today! Take it easy, Ben! No matter who gets married, your own body is the most important thing.”

After hearing what Avery said, Gwen taunted Ben: “He’s just addicted to alcohol. He’s looking for an excuse to drink! He said he wouldn’t be allowed to drink. He felt that life was in darkness, and life was worse than death. He secretly drank a glass or two every day. He thought I didn’t know! Hehe!”

Ben blushed: “Honey, then why don’t you scold me?”

Gwen glered at him: “I wanted to scold you, but it was useless. So I didn’t bother to scold. Drink as much as you like, and when you die from drinking, all your property will belong to me and my son. With the money, now you can be as happy and happy as you want.”

Ben: “...”

The wine in the glass suddenly lost its aroma.

“Forget it, stop drinking.” Ben put down his glass.

Gwen added: “Don’t assume that you don’t want to drink anymore; it’s just that you’ve had enough tonight after a few drinks.”

Ben: “Honey, don’t make trouble, I won’t drink secretly from now on.” After a pause, he said, “I’m going to start drinking now, and I’ll do it in front of you.”

Gwen: “...”

.....

TV station.

After the bodyguard stopped the car in the parking space, Hazel asked the bodyguard and the driver to wait outside.

“There are security guards in the stage, so it’s very safe.” Hazel explained to the bodyguards, and at the same time introduced to Lilly and Maria, “We go in every day, and there is a security gate. Dangerous items cannot be brought in.”

Lilly nodded.

Maria asked: “Sister Hazel, can we take pictures inside?”

Hazel: “It should be possible! As long as you don’t take pictures of others.”

Maria: “OK.”

After the three entered the TV station, Hazel took them to the floor where she worked.

In fact, other floors could also be visited, but there were basically no people on other floors at night.

“Hazel, how about the two of us pretending to be your fans and taking a group photo with you later?” Lilly suddenly had a big brain.

Hazel echoed: “Do you still have to get a pen and ask me to sign for you?”

Lilly: “Okay! This way it will have more of that flavor.”

Maria obediently took out a pen and paper from her bag.

“Maria, stop teasing me! Your sister is joking with me!” Hazel stuffed the little pen and paper back into her bag, “But we can take a group photo.”

“Where are we going to shoot?” Lilly asked.

Maria glanced at the entrance of the studio, so she asked Hazel in a low voice: “Sister Hazel, can we shoot at the entrance of the studio? I think that door is very cool.”

Hazel: “Haha, okay! Why don’t you go to the gate of Studio No. 6 to shoot! I broadcast in Studio No. 6 every time.”

Maria: “Yeah!”

Hazel led them to the No. 6 studio. She met a familiar staff member walking out with a water glass.

When the staff saw Hazel, they immediately greeted with a smile: “Hazel, you came to work so early? Is this your classmate?”

Hazel smiled and corrected: “The two of them are my good sisters.”

“Oh! Did you bring them to visit?”

“Uncle, let’s take a photo at the door and leave. I won’t disturb your work.”

Lilly was afraid of causing trouble to Hazel, so she spoke hastily.

“Hahaha! It’s okay if you want to play more! There are no people at night, and the leaders are not here.” The staff said kindly, and walked away with a water glass.

Chapter 2877

— “Sister Hazel, are the people here so nice?” Maria asked with a smile.

“Uh...everything is fine.” Of course Hazel would not tell them the bad things that happened to her.

After the three of them took a few photos in the corridor, Hazel took them to the backstage to have a look.

“I usually memorize manuscripts here. Make-up and styling are also done here.” Hazel’s voice was very low because there were colleagues around.

Lilly saw that a host was memorizing scripts, so she dragged Hazel out of the backstage.

“Hazel, thank you for satisfying our curiosity tonight. We should go back. You haven’t arrived at work yet, do you want to go back and have a rest?” Lilly asked.

Hazel glanced at the time, then shook her head: “I have to come back after a while, and I will memorize the manuscript here. I will send you down first.

Send me a message when you get home.”

Lilly: “Alright.”

“Lilly, call me next time you make jewelry, I want to see how you work too!”

Hazel was also curious about other industries.

Lilly: “Okay! Then I will call you next time.”

Hazel sent them to the car and watched the car drive away.

It’s still early before work, so she didn’t know if her manuscript had been printed out.

She was not in such a hurry to go up, so she walked towards a nearby milk tea shop.

The business of the milk tea shop was very good, and Hazel waited in line for a few minutes before it was her turn.

She ordered a Youlan Latte, and then looked around in the store, but there was no place.

After paying the bill, she came out of the shop with milk tea.

Coincidentally, amidst the noisy voices, she heard a familiar voice.

She seemed to have heard Lennox's voice.

It's no wonder that she was familiar with Lennox's voice, it's really a professional characteristic, Lennox's voice was better than ordinary people's.

People who learnt to broadcast and host, pronunciation and rhythm of speech would be more recognizable than ordinary people.

Hazel looked towards the source of the sound.

She first saw Sloane's face.

Sloane and Lennox were together.

Both of them were wearing masks, and they looked very intimate standing together, like a couple.

Lennox was standing in the queue to buy milk tea, and Sloane was standing by his side, chatting happily with him.

They didn't see Hazel.

It may be because Hazel was standing in the dark now, while they were standing under the light.

Hazel didn't know that the relationship between the two of them was so good.

Sloane was a sophomore, Lennox was a junior, Hazel always thought they were unfamiliar.

Unexpectedly, the two of them had such a good relationship in private.

So on the day her manuscript was replaced, even if Lennox saw that it was Sloane who did it, Lennox would not identify Sloane.

Thinking of this, Hazel felt anxious.

She felt so stupid.

She didn't even have any defense against them at all.

Hazel seemed to be frozen in place, watching them move forward little by little in a daze.

—Until watching Lennox buy two cups of milk tea.

Lennox handed a cup to Sloane.

After Sloane took it, she took a look at Lennox's milk tea, then directly pulled Lennox's arm towards her, and bit the straw of the cup of milk tea in Lennox's hand.

Chapter 2878

In an ordinary relationship with colleagues of the opposite s-e-x, it's impossible to suck each other's milk tea straw.

Were they dating?

Moreover, Lennox's program was behind the two of them, so there was no need to come to the TV station so early.

He came here specially to accompany Sloane.

After thinking about it, Hazel turned around and walked towards the TV station building.

Sloane and Lennox only had eyes for each other at this time, and they didn't see Hazel at all.

However, even if the two of them saw Hazel, they would not be afraid of anything.

In the selection of the popularity of trainee anchors, Sloane and Lennox's rankings were not bad.

As long as it was not the last one, there was a chance to stay in TV station in the future.

Half an hour later, Lennox and Sloane came to TV station.

The two of them entered the backstage, and when they saw Hazel was there, their faces showed surprise.

“Hazel, you came to work so early today? Earlier than me.” Sloane's workplace was relatively close to Hazel's, and Hazel could clearly smell the perfume on Sloane's body.

As expected of a woman in love, she was much more refined than before.

“Come memorize the manuscript.” Hazel said deliberately, “What if someone changes my manuscript again?”

The smile on Sloane's face remained unchanged, and she comforted: “You have to be more careful before going on the show. you will check the manuscript before going on the show next time.”

Sloane's words were mocking her for not being careful.

At this point, there were seniors from the TV station in the background.

After hearing what they said, the senior interjected: “Hazel, this is the first time that your script has been changed in the years since I joined the TV station! If this happened before, it is estimated that the backstage has already installed monitoring I can't blame you for not being careful, but some people's hearts are too vicious. Don't be affected by such disgusting things, after all, your current popularity ranks first among trainee anchors!”

The senior words made Hazel refreshed immediately, and all the unhappiness was swept away.

Hazel: “Thank you senior for your comfort. I am not angry about that matter anymore. I will memorize the manuscript in the future.”

“Well, don't you use Facebook? You are so popular on Facebook now, if you open a Facebook account, there will definitely be a lot of fans.” The senior reminded her, “Now is the era of watching traffic, if you can take advantage of this opportunity, everything will be convenient in the future!”

Hazel: "Thank you for reminding me, my studies are pretty good now.

Seriously, I don't want to spend too much energy on the Internet."

"You have a good attitude. If you develop steadily like this, you will surely succeed in the future." After the senior praised Hazel, he left work.

After the senior left, the atmosphere in the backstage immediately cooled down.

About a quarter of an hour later, there was a 'bang' in the office!

It was Sloane who slammed the table.

"What do you mean by what you said just now? What are you trying to do with your predecessors? Your manuscript has been changed? Which eye of yours saw that someone changed your manuscript? It couldn't be that you carelessly put the blank paper when you went in?!" The more Sloane thought about it, the more angry she became, and she decided not to bear it anymore.

After all, there was no surveillance in the backstage, and no one saw that it was her who changed the manuscript.

Then, she could confidently say that she didn't do it herself.

Moreover, Sloane felt that Hazel's character should be such that she couldn't win a quarrel.

Hazel turned her head and looked at Sloane: "Why are you yelling so loudly?

Did I mention you in what I said to senior just now? Or did you do it?

Otherwise, why would you think I'm weird? I'm obviously just scolding the person who changed my manuscript, but I didn't scold you."

Hazel didn't blush, and didn't yell at the top of her voice.

She sat in her workstation decently and calmly, looking at Sloane coldly.

Sloane was suddenly overwhelmed by Hazel's aura.

Hazel's reaction was completely different from Sloane's imagination.

She thought that Hazel would be frightened by herself, but seeing Hazel's appearance, she was not frightened at all.

It even felt like Hazel could fight back in the next second.

Chapter 2879

She didn't know how Hazel, a freshman, managed to have such a strong aura.

"Senior Lennox, am I right?" Hazel deliberately asked Lennox.

Lennox pushed the glasses on the bridge of his nose in embarrassment, and then said: "The matter is over, everyone should be more careful in the future."

"You said that the matter is over!" Hazel smiled playfully at Lennox, "Senior, you look good today, are you in love?"

After a while, Lennox said: "Hazel, why did you say that suddenly? How about I buy you milk tea!"

"No need." Hazel lifted the milk tea cup on the table and showed them, "I bought it myself." After a pause, she added, "I just bought it tonight."

Hazel said that on purpose.

Sloane and Lennox looked at each other in blank dismay, knowing in their hearts that Hazel had bumped into their affairs.

Otherwise, Hazel would not ask Lennox if he was in a relationship.

"There's no rule in TV Station that I can't fall in love in the office, right?"

Sloane sat down in her seat and secretly replied.

Hazel: "How about I help you ask?"

Sloane: "Are you going to complain that I am in love with Lennox? Hehe, it's so funny. Lennox and I are fellow villagers, don't you know?"

"When did I say you were in love with Lennox?" Hazel retorted innocently,

“Senior Sloane, you should memorize your manuscript quickly! Otherwise, what if you have an accident when you are unlucky on the show? “

Sloane cursed in a low voice, and then began to recite the manuscript.

Hazel took the manuscript and walked out.

At this point, the conference room was empty.

Hazel could go to the conference room to memorize manuscripts.

.....

Time flies, and it's the Spring Festival.

This year, the Foster family was extremely lively.

This was Hazel's first New Year's Eve at home after her return.

Elliot and Avery called Gwen's family and Shea's family over to celebrate the New Year together.

The two of them came over early in the morning.

However, everyone in the Foster family got up very early today.

They all cherished the present moment because the time of reunion was so precious.

“Hazel, I heard that you have to go to work tonight, so can't you change your shift? New Year's Eve tonight!” Gwen wanted Hazel to stay at home for the New Year's Eve.

“I can't transfer Hugh tonight. Everyone is going to celebrate the New Year.” Hazel said.

“Didn't your show start at three o'clock in the morning? Go to the TV station after the New Year's Eve! There must be time.” When Gwen said this, Avery immediately answered: “Why don't you go to the TV station at night? Bring back the press release and memorize it, and go to TV station after the New Year? This will not delay our New Year's Eve together, nor will it delay your work.”

Mom’s words moved Hazel’s heart.

“I’ll ask Teacher Joly if it’s okay.”

After Hazel finished speaking, Elliot said forcefully, “I’ll call him. As long as it doesn’t affect work, there’s nothing wrong with it.”

Hazel had to be obedient.

It’s breakfast time.

Everyone sat around and chatted freely.

“Let’s talk about New Year’s wishes!” Layla said, “Don’t talk about the health of the family, but the wish that I want to realize the most in my heart.”

Robert glanced at Layla and guessed: “Sister, couldn’t your wish be to have a baby?”

Chapter 2880

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2880 —

Layla: “Your brother-in-law has such good genes, it would be a waste not to have a child!”

Robert: “...”

Layla explained unhurriedly: “The reason why a wish is called a wish is because it has not yet been fulfilled, so it is just a wish.”

In fact, anyone who had become a parent could understand Layla’s thoughts.

“Layla, your wish will definitely come true. When Eric gets better, you can have a baby. I know a female friend who had a heart transplant, and she gave birth to a healthy baby.” Gwen Consolation Layla.

But Layla’s eyes suddenly brightened a little: “That’s great! Hehe, it seems that my wish may come true!”

“Sister! Is this what your wish is?” Robert couldn’t laugh or cry, “I just said casually Let's play!"

"Robert, I don't want to scold you for celebrating the new year today." Layla warned Robert with her eyes, "Tell me about your New Year's resolution!"

Robert: "I don't have any New Year's resolution... After all, I'm still too early to get married and have children, and I'm good at my homework, and I can't fail a class with my eyes closed."

Layla teased him: "Aren't you a grassroots salesman now? Don't you want to be promoted?"

Robert "Sister, I will get promoted even if I don't make a wish. My leader thinks highly of me. He said that there are not many young people who are as outstanding and willing to work as me."

Layla didn't want to listen to him anymore, and turned to look at Hayden:

"Brother, what is your New Year's wish?"

Robert: "Brother's wish must be to find a wife! Do you even need to ask?"

Hayden: "..."

Layla: "Hahaha! Robert, what is your little sister's wish?"

Layla thought that Robert's mouth was a bit annoying, but it was true Pretty accurate.

Robert: "Sister, do you regard me as a fortune-teller? But if you want to hear, I can continue to guess. I think the little girl's wish should be to improve her studies!"

Hazel immediately cheered: "Second brother, It's quite accurate. I really hope that I can study better."

Robert: "Thank you, little sister, for not breaking the stage. Your wish will definitely come true."

"Lilly, what is your wish?" Hazel asked Lilly with a smile.

Robert: "It's good that Lilly is healthy!"

"Robert, I didn't let you guess." Layla told him to shut up, "Lilly, tell me about your wish!"

Lilly: "Under the premise, I hope that I can become better. I hope that I can repay my parents after graduation."

When Lilly said these words, she was very devout and serious.

"Lilly, Mom and Dad don't need you to reciprocate." Wesley said moved.

"I know you don't ask for anything in return, but this is my wish!" Lilly insisted on her wish.

Wesley nodded.

Maria: "I hope to be admitted to the University where my sister is studying, learn a major from my sister, and work with my sister after graduation."

Everyone was very surprised.

"Maria, are you sure you want to study the same major as your sister in the future?" Avery heard of this for the first time.

Avery had always known that the two sisters were close, although they were not biological, they were no different from real sisters.

"I've made up my mind! My sister and I have already agreed that we will start a company and establish our own brand in the future." Maria said this grand goal.

Elliot praised: "It's good to have a clear idea. Maria, you should study hard.

When the time comes, uncle will give you money to start a company."

"Thank you uncle!" The two sisters thanked each other sweetly.

After several children expressed their wishes, everyone's eyes finally fell on Leerain.

They saw Leerain buried in eating noodles, as if in two worlds with the others.

Chapter 2881

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2881 —

“Leerain! It’s time for you to talk about your New Year’s resolution.” Gwen helplessly patted her son on the shoulder.

Leerain’s personality has changed a bit since he entered junior high school.

Gwen felt that her son might have reached the rebellious stage of youth.

“Full marks in the final exam, make mom happy.” Leerain raised his head from the noodle bowl, and told his mother his wish.

Gwen’s education was not good enough, so she paid close attention to her son’s study.

Gwen was naturally very happy that her son could say that.

“It’s too difficult to get full marks in the exam, and mom doesn’t require you to get full marks.” Gwen was afraid of putting too much pressure on her son.

“Leerain, you just want to make your mother happy, not your father?” Ben was a little jealous.

Leerain responded calmly: “Mom is happy, so aren’t you happy too?”

Ben was speechless.

Gwen was completely happy now.

After breakfast, the girls got together and chatted about beauty, skin care, clothing, accessories and gossip.

Leerain followed Robert and asked Robert to play games with him.

“Have you noticed that the children are no longer clingy when they grow up?”

Gwen felt a little sentimental.

Shea smiled and said, “Gwen, do you feel a little lonely? Didn’t you say you wanted to have a second child?”

Gwen said, “I had this idea, but I didn’t get pregnant. Afterwards, it became difficult to get pregnant.”

“Then let nature take its course. If you get pregnant, you will have it, and there is no pity if you don’t get pregnant.” Avery was afraid that Gwen would anger Ben because she couldn’t conceive a second child.”

“I’m just free, and people really can’t be too leisurely. But go to work, and I feel tired.” Gwen sighed, “Forget it, let’s talk about some happy things after New Year! I don’t plan to go home tonight. Let’s play cards to celebrate the new year!”

“Are you sure you want to stay up all night?” Avery asked.

Gwen: “That’s right! How are you going to sleep on such a happy day! You and brother, who will fight with me?”

Avery: “Me! Your brother is getting old, let him rest well.”

Not far away, Elliot heard the sound come.

Elliot: “I seem to hear you guys talking about me?”

Gwen laughed loudly: “Brother, are you a good ear? We don’t speak too loudly!”

At this time, Ben also came over and said to Elliot: “Avery said that you are old, let you sleep well tonight. They plan to play poker all night.”

Avery: “Gwen, your husband is even better. He heard every word we said.”

Ben raised his hand and swore: “I didn’t intend to eavesdrop. The main reason is that I heard you talking about the second child, so I knew you would definitely talk about me.”

“I don’t seem to blame you, do I?” Gwen asked him.

Ben nodded honestly: “No, wife.”

“Then stop eavesdropping on us.” Gwen waved at Ben, who immediately walked away.

“Ben listens to you so much now!” Avery couldn’t help laughing.

Gwen’s face was filled with a sweet smile: “The older he gets, the better his temper. My elder brother should be like this too? I feel like I haven’t seen him angry for a long time.”

Avery nodded: “Indeed. Before Hazel came back, he was seldom angry.

When Hazel came back, he was even less angry. By the way, we plan to travel for a while after the next year.”

“Very good! Anyway, the children are grown up, so you don’t need to keep an eye on them every day. Huh? Isn’t Layla going to have a wedding in the next year?”

“Yes. After Layla’s wedding, we will go out.” Avery had already told Elliot preliminarily booked the itinerary
